<sup>8</sup>Uzziel, Harhaiah's son, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs next to them; and Haniah, one of the perfumers, made repairs next to him. They restored Jerusalem as far as the Broad Wall. <sup>9</sup>Next to them Rephaiah, Hur's son, ruler of half the district of Jerusalem, made repairs. <sup>10</sup>Next to them Jedaiah, Harumaph's son, made repairs opposite his house, and Hat-tush, Hashabneiah's son, made repairs next to him.

<sup>11</sup>Malchijah, Harim's son, and Hasshub, Pahath-moab's son, repaired another section and the Tower of the Ovens. <sup>12</sup>Next to them Shallum, Hallohesh's son, ruler of half the district of Jerusalem, made repairs, along with his daughters.

<sup>13</sup>Hanun and the people of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate; they built it and set up its doors, bolts, and bars. They also repaired fifteen hundred feet of the wall, as far as the Dung Gate.

<sup>14</sup>Malchiah, Rechab's son, ruler of the district of Beth-haccherem, repaired the Dung Gate. He rebuilt it and set up its doors, bolts, and bars.

<sup>15</sup>And Shallum, Col-hozeh's son, ruler of the Mizpah district, repaired the Spring Gate. He rebuilt and covered it, and set up its doors, bolts, and bars. He also built the wall of the Pool of Shelah of the King's Garden, as far as the stairs that go down from David's City.

<sup>16</sup>After him, Nehemiah, Azbuk's son, ruler of half the Beth-zur district, repaired from the point opposite David's tombs as far as the artificial pool and the Warriors' House. <sup>17</sup>After him, the Levites made repairs: Rehun, Bani's son, and next to him Hashabiah, ruler of half the district of Keilah, made repairs for his district. <sup>18</sup>After him, their relatives made repairs: Binnui,<sup>1</sup> Henadad's son, ruler of half the district of Keilah.

<sup>19</sup>Next to him, Ezer, Jeshua's son, ruler of Mizpah, repaired another section opposite the ascent to the armory at the Angle. <sup>20</sup>After him, Baruch, Zabbai's son, thoroughly repaired

3:3 2Ch 33:14
3:5 Jdg 5:23
3:13 2Ch 26:9;
Neh 2:13;
Neh 12:31
3:15 Neh 2:14;
Is 8:6
3:16 2Ki 20:20;
Josh 15:58;
Neh 3:9, 12;
Is 7:3; 2:29
3:17 Josh 15:44;
Isa 23:1;
Neh 3:18
3:18 Neh 3:9;
Neh 3:12;
Neh 3:17
3:19 2Ch 26:9;
Neh 3:15

<sup>b</sup>Or didn't bring their neck into the service of <sup>1</sup>Or lords <sup>3</sup>Or Old Gate <sup>4</sup>Syr; Heb lacks and. <sup>1</sup>Lxx, Syr; Heb Bvavi

3:1 Eliashib the high priest: a priest related to Tobiah the Ammonite with whom Nehemiah had an ongoing animosity (Neh 13:4, 7-8). Eliashib's grandson was married to Sanballat's daughter (Neh 13:28; see note on Neh 2:10). Sheep Gate: on the northeast wall facing toward Moab. Tower of Hananel: northernmost portion of the wall (Zech 14:10; Jer 31:38).

3:2 people of Jericho: 345 of them returned with Zerubbabel (Neh 7:36; Ezra 2:34).

3:3 children of Hassenaah: also called Senaah, and numbers 3,930 descendants (Neh 7:38; Ezra 2:35 counts 3630 descendants). the Fish Gate: western wall, facing Tyre and the Mediterranean Sea.

3:4 Meremoth: returned with Zerubbabel (Neh 12:3). "the silver and the gold and the equipment were weighed out in our God's house into the care of the priest named Meremoth" (Ezra 8:33). At a later date when a public ceremony was carried out according to God's Instruction, Meremoth the priest was one of the signatories (Neh 9:38). Meshullam: He repaired two sections of the wall. His daughter was married to Tobiah's son (Neh 6:18). He was an advocate for Tobiah (Neh 6:17-19). He stood alongside Ezra when the latter stood on a platform for a public reading of God's word (Neh 8:4).

3:5 Tekoa: Amos' home town (Amos 1:1).

3:6 Mishneh Gate: The double gate led to the valley.

3:7 Gibeonite: "woodcutters and water haulers for the community and for the LORD's altar" (Josh 9:27). Mizpah: six miles north of Jerusalem in Benjaminite territory.

3:8 as far as the Broad Wall: on the north side, a defensive wall built by King Hezekiah during the expansion of Jerusalem (2 Chron 32:3-5; 2 Kgs 20:20).

3:13 Valley Gate: on the southwest corner, King Uzziiah built towers here (2 Chron 26:9).

3:15 Pool of Shelah: the Siloam Pool, built by King Hezekiah in preparation for the siege conducted by Assyria's King Sennacherib (2 Chron 32:2-4; Isa 8:6). stairs that go down from David's City: east side of the city.

3:16 opposite David's tombs: We don't know the exact location because kings would not have been buried within the city walls. This may be a reference to the opposite side of the Kidron Valley, on the Mount of Olives.

3:17 Hashabiah: one of the leaders of the Levites (Neh 12:24) who also signed on to the commitment to follow the commandments (Neh 10:11).

3:20 thoroughly: The Hebrew idiom is based in a "burning anger" or a passion for something. This idiom is nowhere else used in relation to the verb "to build," and here it shows the earnestness and zeal for the project at hand.

Nehemiah's Reconstruction of the Wall of Jerusalem

another section from the Angle to the door of the house of the high priest Eliashib. <sup>21</sup>After him, Meremoth, Uriah's son and Hakkoz's grandson, repaired another section from the door to the back of Eliashib's house.

<sup>22</sup>After him, the priests from the surrounding area made repairs. <sup>23</sup>After them, Benjamin and Hasshub made repairs opposite their house. After them, Azariah, Maaseiah's son and Ananiah's grandson, repaired beside his house. <sup>24</sup>After him, Binnui, Henadad's son, repaired another section from the house of Azariah to the Angle and to the corner. <sup>25</sup>Palal, Uzai's son, repaired<sup>m</sup> from the point opposite the Angle and the tower projecting from the upper house of the king at the court of the guard. After him, Pedaiah, Parosh's son, <sup>26</sup>and the temple servants living on Ophel made repairs<sup>n</sup> up to the point opposite the Water Gate to the east and the projecting tower. <sup>27</sup>After them, the people of Tekoa repaired another section opposite the great projecting tower as far as the wall of Ophel. <sup>28</sup>From the Horse Gate, the priests made repairs, each one opposite his own house.

<sup>29</sup>After them, Zadok, Immer's son, made repairs opposite his own house. After him, She-maiah, Shecaniah's son, the keeper of the East Gate, made repairs. <sup>30</sup>After him, Hananiah, Shelemiah's son, and Hanun, Zalaph's sixth son, repaired another section. After them, Meshullam, Berechiah's son, made repairs opposite his own room.

<sup>31</sup>After him, Malchiah, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs as far as the house of the temple servants and the merchants, opposite the Parade Gate,<sup>o</sup> and as far as the upper room at the corner. <sup>32</sup>And between the upper room of the corner and the Sheep Gate, the goldsmiths and the merchants made repairs.

Opposition mounts

4<sup>p</sup>When Sanballat heard that we were building the wall, he became angry and raged. He mocked the Jews, <sup>2</sup>saying in the presence of his associates and the army of Samaria: "What are those feeble Jews doing? Will they restore things themselves? Will they offer sacrifices? Will they finish it in a day? Will they revive the stones from the piles of rubble, even though they are burned?"

<sup>3</sup>Tobiah the Ammonite, who was beside him, added: "If even a fox climbs on whatever they build, their wall of stones will crumble."

<sup>4</sup>Listen, God; we are despised! Turn their insults to us<sup>q</sup> back on their heads and make them like plunder in a captive land. <sup>5</sup>Don't forgive their iniquity or blot out their sins from your sight. They have thrown insults at the builders!

<sup>6</sup>We continued to build the wall. All of it was joined together, and it reached half of its intended height because the people were eager to work. <sup>7</sup>But when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites, and the people of Ashdod heard that the work on the walls was progressing and the gaps were being closed, they were very angry. <sup>8</sup>They plotted together to come and fight against Jerusalem and to create a disturbance in it.

<sup>m</sup>Heb lacks repaired. <sup>n</sup>Heb lacks made repairs. <sup>o</sup>Or Hammiphkad Gate <sup>p</sup>3:33 in Heb <sup>q</sup>Heb lacks to us. <sup>r</sup>4:1 in Heb

3:25 court of the guard: near the palace of the king (Jer 32:2).

3:26 temple servants: In Hebrew idiom these are the Nethinim, "the given ones." These were individuals given to the service of the temple, and with a levitical heritage. According to Ezra and Nehemiah, in the post-exilic period, some of the Nethinim were descendants of the slaves that David had subordinated to the service of the temple (Ezra 8:20). Originally these were the Gibeonites who were woodcutters and water carriers for the service of the temple (Josh 9:27). They shared the work with the Levites, and were included in the tax exemption extended to all the temple personnel (Ezra 7:24). Ophel: a fortified hill or elevated settlement in the wider Jerusalem. The elevated part is called David's City.

3:28 Horse Gate: southeast of the temple (Jer 31:40).

3:32 Sheep Gate: The list of the designated locations for the repair comes full circle.

4:2 in the presence of his associates and the army of Samaria: Sanballat's insult was accompanied with a threat of violence. revive the stones from the piles of rubble: The Babylonian king Nebuchadnezzar and his army "burned God's temple down, demolished the walls of Jerusalem, and set fire to all its palaces" (2 Chron 36:19). Nehemiah and his associates use the rubble from that destruction for their repair.

4:4 Nehemiah's prayer implies that mocking and insulting the Jews is also an affront to Israel's God.

4:5 blot out: Nehemiah's prayer for God's justice against the enemies is the reversal of the psalmist's request for God's mercy: "Hide your face from my sins; wipe away all my guilty deeds!" (Ps 51:9). Nehemiah feels powerless against the pressure and insult from those who wish ill against Judah. He cries out to God to take vengeance against his opponents.

4:6 We continued to build the wall: Despite the threats and distractions from the Samaritans, the Jews continue the work.

4:7 the people of Ashdod: Some of the Jewish men had married women of Ashdod (Neh 13:23-24).

4:8 They plotted together: Verbal threats and intimidation

3:21 Eze 2:61.
Eze 8:33; Neh 3:4
3:24 Eze 3:9;
Neh 10:9
3:25 Eze 2:3;
Neh 12:39;
Jer 37:21;
Jer 32:2
3:26 2Ch 27:3.
2Ch 33:14;
Eze 2:43;
Neh 11:21
3:28 2Ki 11:14;
2Ch 23:15;
Jer 31:40
3:32 Neh 3:1,
Neh 12:39; Jn 5:2
4:1 Eze 4:1;
Neh 2:10
4:2 Jdg 9:31;
Eze 4:9
4:3 Neh 2:10,
Neh 4:7
4:4 Neh 4:5;
Ps 123:3,
Ps 79:12,
Ps 123:4;
5:4 Neh 4:4;
Ps 69:27,
Ps 69:28,
Ps 109:14;
Jer 18:23
4:7 Neh 2:10
4:8 Neh 4:7;
Ps 83:3

4:9 Neh 4:4-5;
Ps 50:15;
Mt 24:42
4:13 Neh 2:12,
Neh 4:17-18
4:14 Nm 14:9;
Dt 1:29;
2Sa 10:12;
Neh 1:5
4:15 2Sa 17:14;
Job 5:12
4:16 Neh 4:23
4:18 2Sa 20:8;
Neh 4:20
4:20 Ex 14:14;
Dt 1:30, Dt 3:22,
Dt 20:4
5:1 Ex 22:25;
Lv 25:35;
Dt 15:7; Neh 4:1

<sup>9</sup>So we prayed to our God and set a guard as protection against them day and night.

<sup>10</sup>But in Judah it was said,

"The carrier's strength is failing,
for there is too much rubble.

We are unable to rebuild the wall!"

<sup>11</sup>Meanwhile, our enemies were saying: "Before they know or see anything, we can be in their midst and start to kill them. We'll stop the work!"

<sup>12</sup>Now the Jews who were living near them came and said to us again and again, "You must return to us!"<sup>a</sup>

Armed guards protect the builders

<sup>13</sup>So I took up a position in the lowest parts of the space behind the wall in an open area.<sup>b</sup> Then I stationed the people by families, and they had their swords, spears, and bows. <sup>14</sup>After reviewing this, I stood up and said to the officials, the officers, and the rest of the people, "Don't be afraid of them! Remember that the LORD is great and awesome! Fight for your families, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your houses!"

<sup>15</sup>Then our enemies heard that we had found out and that God had spoiled their plans. So we all returned to doing our own work on the wall. <sup>16</sup>But from that day on, only half of my workers continued in the construction, while the other half held the spears, shields, bows, and body armor. Meanwhile, the leaders positioned themselves<sup>c</sup> behind the whole house of Judah, <sup>17</sup>who were building the wall. The carriers did their work with a load in one hand and a weapon in the other. <sup>18</sup>The builders built with swords fastened in their belts, and the trumpeter stayed by my side.

<sup>19</sup>Then I said to the officials, the officers, and the rest of the people, "The work is very spread out, and we are far apart from each other along the wall. <sup>20</sup>When you hear the trumpet sound, come and gather where we are. Our God will fight for us!" <sup>21</sup>So we continued the work, with half of them holding spears from dawn until dusk.

<sup>22</sup>I also said to the people at that time, "Let every man and his servant spend the night in Jerusalem so that we can guard during the night and work during the day."<sup>d</sup> <sup>23</sup>Neither I nor my relatives, nor my servants, nor my bodyguards took off our clothes, even when they sent for water.<sup>e</sup>

Internal unrest

5 Then there was a great protest of the people and their wives against their fellow Jews. <sup>2</sup>Some said, "With our sons and daughters we are many, and we all need grain to eat and stay alive."

<sup>a</sup>Or ten times from all sides <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>Heb lacks positioned themselves. <sup>e</sup>Heb uncertain had been ineffective. The Samaritan opposition and their collaborators decide to provoke a physical confrontation with the Jews in order to halt the construction and cause damage to the city.

4:9 we prayed to our God and set a guard: Nehemiah and his people double up on their work—laboring on the wall by day and remaining vigilant by night (Neh 4:22). They trust God with the protection of the city, but they also remain alert against a possible disturbance by Sanballat and his cronies. Nehemiah responded to the challenge with spiritual wisdom matched only by his practical thinking.

4:14 I stood up and said to the officials: Nehemiah's words of leadership are concise and to the point. He exhorts the community by reminding them that God is on their side and that the welfare of their families is at stake. They must not cave in to the military and verbal threat from Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites, and the people of Ashdod.

4:17 The carriers did their work with a load in one hand and a weapon in the other: Nehemiah's builders show the same vigilant and responsible attitude that Gideon's 300 soldiers showed (Judg 7:4-7).

4:18 the trumpeter stayed by my side: See Isaiah 62:6; Ezekiel 33:6.

4:20 Our God will fight for us: Compare with Exodus 14:14 ("The Lord will fight for you. You just keep still").

5:1-19 In this chapter, the reader is introduced to another side of Nehemiah's leadership. Members of the community approach Nehemiah and call his attention to the injustices committed by the officials in the city. Nehemiah is asked to redress serious social and financial grievances. His debt reform is aimed at not only relieving the burden of the oppressed in a temporary manner, but he succeeds in reforming the hardened attitude of the oppressors toward the poor. Nehemiah's compassionate approach to social inequality is based in changing the system that enabled the abuse. Nehemiah's first-person account changes topics abruptly. His attention to the reconstruction of the Jerusalem wall shifts to the prolonged social problem that had plagued the majority of the community. 5:1 a great protest: The building project had been carried out by the various segments of the society working side by side. Under Nehemiah's leadership, people of different social classes worked together for a common cause. In reality, however, the community was separated by different

<sup>3</sup>Others said, "We have to mortgage our fields, our vineyards, and our houses in order to get grain during the famine."

<sup>4</sup>Still others said, "We have had to borrow money against our fields and vineyards in order to pay the king's tax."

<sup>5</sup>"We are of the same flesh and blood as our kin, and our children are the same as theirs. Yet we are just about to force our sons and daughters into slavery, and some of our daughters are already slaves! There is nothing we can do since our fields and vineyards now belong to others."

<sup>6</sup>I was very angry when I heard their protest and these complaints. <sup>7</sup>After thinking it over, I brought charges against the officials and the officers. I told them, "You are all taking interest from your own people!" I also called for a large assembly in order to deal with them. <sup>8</sup>"To the best of our ability," I said to them, "we have bought back our Jewish kin who had been sold to other nations. But now you are selling your own kin, who must then be bought back by us!" At this they were silent, unable to offer a response.

<sup>9</sup>So I continued, "What you are doing isn't good! Why don't you walk in the fear of our God? This will prevent the taunts of the nations that are our enemies! <sup>10</sup>I myself, along with my family and my servants, am lending them money and grain. But let's stop charging this interest! <sup>11</sup>Give it back to them, right now. Return their fields, their vineyards, their olive orchards, and their houses. And give back the interest on money, grain, wine, and oil that you are charging them."

<sup>12</sup>They replied, "We'll return everything, and we won't charge anything else.* We'll do what you've asked."

So I called the priests and made them swear to do what they had promised. <sup>13</sup>I also shook out the fold of my robe, saying, "So may God shake out everyone from their house and property if they don't keep this promise. So may they be shaken out and emptied!"

The whole assembly said, "Amen," and praised the LORD. And the people did as they had promised.

Generous Governor Nehemiah

<sup>14</sup>In addition, from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah (that is, from the twentieth to the thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes for a total of twelve levels of wealth, influence, and status. They didn't live in unity or solidarity. These differences and the oppression of the poor caused a serious strain among the residents of Judah.

*Heb lacks everything . . . anything else.

<sup>5:2</sup> we all need grain to eat and stay alive: Destitute parents cry out for help. They describe the dire situation in terms of the most basic needs for mere survival.

<sup>5:3</sup> We have to mortgage our fields, our vineyards, and our houses: In exchange for the food farmers had borrowed during the famine, creditors took away their land, their source of subsistence, food, and income. When a crop failed, farmers needed to borrow seed, supplies, and funds for the following year's planting. In this manner, the vicious cycle of poverty, destitution, and vulnerability repeated itself. The poor were exposed to the greed of the wealthy. Opportunists were eager to exploit the misfortune of their fellow citizens. Just for basic survival, people pledged their property as well as the lives of their children to the creditors.

<sup>5:5</sup> There is nothing we can do: Taking out loans was a big gamble. When a farmer couldn't repay the loan, the family would lose everything. They would first lose the land that had been passed down in the family for generations. Then the farmer's wife and children would be sold as slaves.

<sup>5:6</sup> I was very angry: Nehemiah was a compassionate man. When he saw the injustice and inhumanity, he didn't remain calm or apathetic. He was genuinely moved by the despair of the victims. Nehemiah here exemplifies righteous indignation. "God is a righteous judge, a God who is angry at evil every single day" (Ps 7:11).

<sup>5:4</sup> Ex 22:25; Eze 4:13; Neh 5:3
<sup>5:5</sup> Lv 25:39; 2Ki 4:1; Mt 18:25

<sup>5:6</sup> Ex 11:8; Nm 16:15; Neh 13:8

<sup>5:7</sup> Ex 22:25; Lv 25:36; Dt 23:19; Ps 15:5; Is 1:23; Eze 22:12

<sup>5:8</sup> Lv 25:47-48; Jer 34:8

<sup>5:11</sup> 1Sa 8:14; 2Ki 5:26; Neh 5:3-4; Is 58:6

<sup>5:12</sup> 2Ch 28:15; Eze 10:5; Neh 10:29

<sup>5:13</sup> Dt 27:15; 1Ch 16:36; Neh 8:6; Acs 18:6

<sup>5:14</sup> Eze 7:1; Neh 2:1

<sup>5:7</sup> taking interest from your own people: prohibited by the instruction from Moses (Exod 22:25; Lev 25:36, Deut 15:2,3; 23:19,20; 24:10-13, Ps 15:1, 5; Ezek 22:12; 45:9).

<sup>5:8</sup> now you are selling your own kin, who must then be bought back by us: Apparently, Nehemiah and his associates had bought the freedom of some of the Hebrew slaves, who were owned by foreigners. The practice of usury at the time in Judah allowed Jews to enslave other Jews.

<sup>5:9</sup> Why don't you walk in the fear of our God?: The awareness of divine existence should lead to ethical behavior. Nehemiah tells the Jews who had enslaved their own people that they should do the right thing.

<sup>5:12</sup> We'll return everything: Nehemiah's preaching produces an immediate change of hearts and minds. Compare with the words of a prophet who was preaching during the Babylonian exile at about the same time: "Turn, turn away from all your sins. Don't let them be sinful obstacles for you. Abandon all of your repeated sins. Make yourselves a new heart and a new spirit. Why should you die, house of Israel?" (Ezek 18:30-31).

<sup>5:13</sup> So may God shake out: People used to carry some of their personal belongings in the folds of their robes. Nehemiah's symbolic act effectively conveys the message that disobedience to God's commandments would cause them to be emptied out as objects are shaken out of one's pocket.

<sup>5:14</sup> neither I nor my family ate from the governor's food allowance: Nehemiah, as a governor, had the right to be supported by the community. But he decided not to

5:17 2Sa 9:7;
1Ki 18:19
5:18 1Ki 4:23, 22
6:1 Neh 2:10,
Neh 4:1
6:2 2Sa 3:27;
1Ch 8:12;
Neh 11:35

years), neither I nor my family ate from the governor's food allowance. <sup>15</sup>The earlier governors who had come before me laid heavy burdens on the people. They took food and wine from them as well as <sup>17</sup>forty shekels of silver. Even their servants oppressed the people. But because I was God-fearing, I didn't behave in this way.

<sup>16</sup>Instead, I devoted myself to the work on this wall. We acquired no land, and all my servants were gathered there for the work. <sup>17</sup>One hundred fifty Jews and officials, along with those who came to us from the surrounding nations, gathered around my table. <sup>18</sup>One ox, six choice sheep, and birds were prepared each day. Every ten days there was a large amount of wine. Yet even with this I didn't ask for the governor's food allowance because of the heavy burden the people had to carry.

<sup>19</sup>Remember in my favor, my God, all that I've done for this people!

Nehemiah avoids his enemies

6 Now when Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had rebuilt the wall and that there were no gaps left in it (although I hadn't yet hung the doors in the gates), <sup>2</sup>Sanballat and Geshem sent me this message: "Come, let's meet together in one of the villages" in the plain of Ono."

But they wanted to harm me, <sup>3</sup>so I sent messengers to tell them, "I'm doing important work, so I can't come down. Why should the work stop while I leave it to come down to you?"

<sup>4</sup>They sent me a message like this four times, and every time I gave them a similar reply. <sup>5</sup>But the fifth time, Sanballat sent his servant to me in the same way, except that now he carried an open letter. <sup>6</sup>It stated:

It is reported among the nations and confirmed by Geshem<sup>a</sup> that you and the Jews intend to rebel. This is why you are rebuilding the wall. According to these reports, you intend to become their king. <sup>7</sup>You have also appointed prophets to make this announcement about you in Jerusalem: There is a king in Judah! Now, the king will hear of these reports, so come; let's talk together.

†Heb uncertain <sup>a</sup>LXX, Vulg; MT at Hakkephirim <sup>b</sup>Or Gashmu

burden the financially vulnerable province with further expenses. He might have been sensitive and considerate to the ongoing financial contribution of the community toward the repair of the wall (Neh 5:18).

5:15 because I was God-fearing, I didn't behave in this way: Nehemiah didn't abuse his position of authority in the manner of his predecessors. His basic decency and awareness of ethical principles came from his knowledge of God and the commandments.

5:16 We acquired no land: Because of the famine and destitution in the province, Nehemiah could have taken advantage of the circumstances to make himself rich. Instead, he volunteered himself and his servants to the work that would benefit the province.

5:19 Remember in my favor, my God, all that I've done for this people!: Nehemiah appeals to the God who rewards for faithful obedience (see Deut 11:13-21; Isa 40:10; Jer 25:14).

6:1-19 Nehemiah's leadership was effective. Despite the political pressure from inside and outside of Judah, the repair of the Jerusalem wall was near to its completion. Nehemiah's faith and determination paid off. The opposition group, headed by Sanballat, continued to try to thwart the project by spreading false rumors and resorting to intimidation. When Nehemiah's enemies saw that the neglected province was prospering under Nehemiah's forward thinking and organization, they decided to eliminate him. Sanballat and his opposition group devised a plan to assassinate Nehemiah. They resorted to various means to intercept Nehemiah in order to harm him. Knowing that he was a devout man, his enemies hired Shemaiah to pose as a prophet delivering counsel from God. Nehemiah didn't cave to pressure. He remained resilient in prayer and discernment. His unbending will and courage showed that he was a man of integrity and faith. The wall was finished after 52 days.

6:1-2 plain of Ono: the valley of artisans (Neh 11:35), approximately a two-day journey from Jerusalem. Along with the descendants of Lod and Hadid, there were about 725 Jewish residents there (Ezra 2:33; Neh 7:37). Had Nehemiah traveled to this location, he would have been removed from the security and safety of Jerusalem.

6:4 four times: Nehemiah's enemies were persistent. Their wicked plan against Nehemiah wasn't going to collapse easily. His sense of duty isn't swayed by distraction or threat. Nehemiah fends off the threat every time. Compare with Deuteronomy 1:21, 20:4; Psalm 44:6-8; Isaiah 26:3.

6:5-7 the fifth time: a second scheme. Sanballat's plot escalates.

6:6 you and the Jews intend to rebel: The enemies fabricate rumors of a Jewish conspiracy. They claim that the Jews are carrying out the fortification of the wall with the intention of throwing off imperial rule. Such reports to the Persians could have brought down the wrath of the imperial government in the form of military action against the province and brutal punishment upon its leaders.

6:7 You have also appointed prophets: The enemies accuse Nehemiah of using prophets to legitimize his ambition to become the king of Judah. They might have been familiar with the tradition that prophets lent their support to Nehemiah's predecessor Zerubbabel, when he and the high priest Jeshua led the rebuilding of the Jerusalem temple (Ezra 5:1-2). There is a king in Judah: The enemies make up charges of rebellion and treason against Nehemiah (Ezra

<sup>8</sup>So I sent him this reply: "Nothing that you say has happened. You are simply inventing this."

<sup>9</sup>All of them were trying to make us afraid, saying, "They will be discouraged, and the work won't get finished." But now, God, strengthen me!

<sup>10</sup>Later I went to see Shemaiah, Delaiah's son and Mehetabel's grandson, who was confined to his house, and he said:

"Let's meet together in God's house, inside the temple itself.

Let's shut the doors of the temple, for they are coming to kill you;
they are coming to kill you tonight!"

<sup>11</sup>But I replied, "Should someone like me run away? Who like me would go into the temple to save his life? I won't go in!" <sup>12</sup>Then I realized that God hadn't sent him at all but that he spoke this prophecy against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. <sup>13</sup>He was hired to frighten me and to make me sin by acting in this way. Then they could give me a bad name and discredit me. <sup>14</sup>My God, remember these deeds of Tobiah and Sanballat! Also remember Noadiah the prophetess and the rest of the prophets who have been trying to frighten me.

<sup>15</sup>So the wall was finished on the twenty-fifth day of the month of Elul. <sup>b</sup>It took fifty-two days. <sup>16</sup>When our enemies heard about this, all of the nations around us were afraid and their confidence was greatly shaken. They knew that this work was completed with the help of our God.

<sup>17</sup>In addition, in those days the officials of Judah sent many letters to Tobiah, and Tobiah's letters were coming to them. <sup>18</sup>Many in Judah were bound to him by solemn pledge because he was the son-in-law of Shecaniah, Arah's son, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam, Berechiah's son. <sup>19</sup>They also kept talking about his good deeds in my presence and then reported back to him what I said. In addition, Tobiah sent letters to intimidate me.

<sup>b</sup>August–September

4:12-16) They accuse him and his supporters of planning to rid themselves of the Persian imperial yoke and proclaim Nehemiah king over the province of Judah. Such an accusation could have had fatal consequences. the king will hear of these reports, so come: Sanballat thought he could use the bogus allegation to make Nehemiah leave his base.

6:9 But now, God, strengthen me!: Nehemiah appeals to God for stamina to succeed. He finds strength and solace in his God (cf. Ps 73:26; Isa 49:4; Hab 3:19; Zech 12:5).

6:10-11 A false prophet counsels Nehemiah to seek refuge in the temple from an imminent assassination plot. Nehemiah doesn't cower in fear. Instead, he stands his ground. Nehemiah's refusal to hide in the sanctuary is informed by his faith in God's protection and his commitment to serve as a positive example to his community. In fact, his code of conduct and integrity save his life from the evil scam. Who like me would go into the temple to save his life?: Only the priests were allowed to enter the inner sanctum (Num 1:51; 3:10; 18:7). A true prophet of God wouldn't advise Nehemiah to break the holy ordinances.

6:12 Then I realized that God hadn't sent him at all: As a man who maintained communion with God in habitual prayer, Nehemiah was equipped with discernment. He sees through the various conspiracies and spiritual deceptions. 6:13 make me sin by acting in this way: Nehemiah's violation of the sacred space would have been a sin. His cowardly action would have also caused him to lose credibility in the eyes of his people.

6:14 My God, remember: Nehemiah's prayer is like a curse that asks God to enact justice against those who tried to intimidate him through repeated threats of violence.

6:15 Elul: In the Jewish tradition, the sixth month of the Jewish year (August/September) is a time of turning away from sin, examining oneself, and reconciling with God and others. The physical work took 52 days. Nehemiah and his workers had labored in the hottest season of the year.

6:16 The successful and speedy completion of the Jerusalem wall caused great dismay among the enemies in the neighboring nations. All the scare tactics and deceitful plans had failed. The triumphant outcome despite the adverse circumstances bore testimony of God's power and favor. It was the Lord who had made the work of Nehemiah and his people prosper (Pss 46:10; 100:3; Isa 37:20). Nehemiah is quick to acknowledge God's assistance.

6:18 Many in Judah were bound to him by solemn pledge: Some members of the community kept a close relationship with those who had wished ill of Judah. They were in alliance by marriage. These were the channels through which Nehemiah's opponents were able to keep close tabs on Nehemiah's affairs.

6:19 talking about his good deeds in my presence and then reported back to him what I said: Nehemiah deplored the actions of these men who risked the welfare of their own province and people by helping his opponents. Tobiah continued to torment Nehemiah, and Tobiah's defenders were simply traitors to their own city and people. They cared more about their personal political ties and interests than the community's.

6:8 Job 13:4;
Ps 52:2
6:9 Neh 6:14;
Ps 71:1, Ps 138:3
6:10 Neh 6:11;
Jer 36:5
6:12 Neh 2:10;
Eze 13:22
6:13 Neh 6:6;
Jer 20:10
6:14 Neh 13:29;
Eze 13:17
6:18 Eze 2:5;
Neh 3:4

7:2 Ex 18:21;
Neh 1:2, Neh 2:8
7:5 1Ch 9:3;
2Ch 12:15
7:7 Est 2:2;
Neh 12:1

The wall is complete

7When the wall had been built and I had hung the doors, the gatekeepers, singers, and Levites were appointed. 2Then I put my brother Hanani and Hananiah the commander of the fortress in charge of Jerusalem. Hananiah was a faithful man who revered God more than many.

3I said to them, "The gates of Jerusalem aren't to be opened during the hottest time of the day. While the gatekeepers<sup>d</sup> are still on duty, have them shut and bar the doors. Also, appoint guards from among those who live in Jerusalem. Station some at their watch posts and some in front of their own houses."

Nehemiah registers the families

4Now although the city was wide and large, only a few people were living within it, and no<sup>e</sup> houses had been rebuilt. 5My God then prompted me to assemble the officials, the officers, and the people so that they could be registered by families. I found the record of the families who were the first to return, and I found the following written in it:

6These are the people of the province who returned from the captivity of those exiles whom Babylon's King Nebuchadnezzar had taken into exile. They all returned to Jerusalem and Judah, everyone to their own town.

7They came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Nehum, and Baanah.

The number of the people of Israel:

8 The family of Parosh	2,172
9 of Shephatiah	372
10 of Arah	652
11 of Pahath-moab, that is, of the descendants of Jeshua and Joab	2,818
12 of Elam	1,254
13 of Zattu	845
14 of Zaccai	760
15 of Binnui	648
16 of Bebai	628
17 of Azgad	2,322
18 of Adonikam	667
19 of Bigvai	2,067
20 of Adin	655

<sup>c</sup>Or He <sup>d</sup>Or while they <sup>e</sup>Or not enough

7:1-7:3 Nehemiah's leadership didn't end with his successful mobilization of the Judean community in the rebuilding of the wall. According to his initial request to the Persian emperor, Nehemiah's goal for coming to the province had been accomplished. However, the second half of the book shows that Nehemiah was concerned for the long-term interest of his people. The narrative changes from Nehemiah's attention to the physical structure of Jerusalem to his efforts toward building the community's identity and morality. Instead of returning to Susa, he launched a rigorous religious reform. In Nehemiah's view, the existence and survival of the Jewish people wasn't simply compromised by the broken walls. The continuity of the Jewish identity was endangered by the community's neglectful attitude toward the Instruction from the Lord. He turned his attention to the neglected festivals and the Sabbath, violations of sacrificial rituals, and overall negligence toward God's teachings.

7:1 singers, and Levites were appointed: In addition to ensuring the security and safety of Jerusalem, Nehemiah launches a reform of worship practices by summoning the Levites and temple singers to perform their roles. His organization of the temple personnel is aimed at guaranteeing a regular and functional set of worship practices in Jerusalem.

7:2 Hanani and Hananiah: possibly the same individual, because the two names seem to be alternate ways to spell the name, and because brother is singular.

7:3 Nehemiah makes arrangements for proper maintenance and security for the city. Jerusalem continues to be threatened and watchmen are set to guard the walls.

7:4 Nehemiah was a visionary. He saw that increasing the population in Jerusalem was the necessary next step for boosting the security and prosperity of the province.

7:5 I found the record of the families who were the first to return: Occupational and genealogical lists boost the credibility of the leadership. In the ancient world, public records of genealogies were kept in royal archives. Ezra-Nehemiah contains numerous decrees, edicts, diplomatic correspondence, lists, and genealogies. The author seems to draw material from an archive. He makes reference to "the official records" in Nehemiah 12:23. Nehemiah carries out a census of those who returned from Babylon to Judah. He credits God with the idea to keep track of the population growth in Judah. Contrast with the consequences in 2 Samuel 24 when David organized a census. 7:6-60 Nehemiah reviews the old records. The list contains the names of the families that had returned to their ancestral land since the days of Zerubbabel. The list is arranged according to the family name, place of origin, and function

21 of Ater, that is, of the descendants of Hezekiah	98
22 of Hashum	328
23 of Bezai	324
24 of Hariph	112
25 of Gibeon	95
26 The people of Bethlehem and Netophah	188
27 of Anathoth	128
28 of Beth-azmaveth	42
29 of Kiriath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth	743
30 of Ramah and Geba	621
31 of Michmas	122
32 of Bethel and Ai	123
33 of the other Nebo	52
34 the inhabitants of the other Elam	1,254
35 of Harim	320
36 of Jericho	345
37 of Lod, Hadid, and Ono	721
38 of Senaah	3,930
39 The priests: the descendants of Jedaiah, that is, of the house of Jeshua	973
40 of Immer	1,052
41 of Pashhur	1,247
42 of Harim	1,017
43 The Levites: the descendants of Jeshua, that is, of Kadmiel, of the descendants of Hodaviah	74
44 The singers: the descendants of Asaph	148
45 The descendants of gatekeepers: of Shallum, Ater, Talmon, Akkub, Hatita, and Shobai	138
46 The temple servants: the descendants of Ziha, Hasupha, Tabbaoth, 47 Keros, Sia, Padon, 48 Lebanah, Hagabah, Shalmal, 49 Hanan, Giddel, Gahar, 50 Reaiah, Rezin, Nekoda, 51 Gazzam, Uzza, Paseah, 52 Besai, Meunim, Nephushesim, 53 Bakbuk, Hakupha, Harhur, 54 Bazlith, Mehida, Harsha, 55 Barkos, Sisera, Temah, 56 Neziah, and Hatipha.
57 The descendants of Solomon's servants: Sotai, Sophereth, Perida, 58 Jaala, Darkon, Giddel, 59 Shephatiah, Hattil, Pochereth-hazzebaim, and Amon.
60 All of the temple servants and the descendants of Solomon's servants totaled 392.
61 The following came up from Tel-Melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer, but were unable to prove that their family or their descent was from Israel:
62 the descendants of Delaiah, Tobiah, and Nekoda, 642.
63 And of the priests: the descendants of Hobaiah, Hakkoz, and Barzillai (who had mar- ried one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite and was called by his <sup>f</sup> name) 64 looked for their entries in the genealogical records, but they weren't found there, so they were excluded from the priesthood as unclean.
65 The governor ordered that they shouldn't eat of the most holy food until a priest arose who could consult Urim and Thummim.
66 The whole assembly together totaled 42,360. 67 This number doesn't include their 7,337 male and female servants; they also had 245 male and female singers, 68 736 horses, 245 mules, 69 435 camels, and 6,720 donkeys.

<sup>f</sup>Or their <sup>g</sup>Ezra 2:66; MT lacks they also . . . mules. <sup>h</sup>7:68 in Heb at the temple. King David is said to have created the organization of the proper worship at the temple. He separated the Levites into divisions and functions. He instituted the musicians, gatekeepers, and treasurers (1 Chron 23–26). The list here is similar to the one found in Ezra 2. 7:66–67 The total number of the returnees reported here is

7:73 1Ch 9:2;
Ezr 3:1,
Ezr 2:70;
8:1 Ex 34:27;
Lv 26:46; Dt 5:1;
Josh 8:33;
Ezr 7:6;
Neh 3:26;
Mal 4:4

8:2 Lv 23:24;
Nm 29:1;
Dt 31:11;
Neh 8:9

8:3 Dt 31:11;
Josh 8:35;
Neh 8:1; Jer 36:6;
Acs 13:15

8:6 Neh 5:13;
1 Tim. 2:8

8:7 Dt 33:10;
Ezr 10:23;
Neh 9:4

<sup>70</sup>Some of the heads of families made a donation for the work. The governor gave to the treasury 1,000 darics of gold, 50 bowls, and 530 priestly robes. <sup>71</sup>Some of the heads of families gave 20,000 darics of gold and 2,200 manehs of silver to the treasury for the work. <sup>72</sup>The rest of the people gave 20,000 darics of gold, 2,000 manehs of silver, and 67 priestly robes.

<sup>73</sup>So the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, some of the people, the temple servants, and all Israel settled in their towns.

Ezra reads the Instruction aloud

8 When the seventh month<sup>1</sup> came and the people of Israel were settled in their towns, <sup>1</sup>all the people gathered together in the area in front of the Water Gate. They asked Ezra the scribe to bring out the Instruction<sup>2</sup> scroll from Moses, according to which the LORD had instructed Israel.

<sup>2</sup>So on the first day of the seventh month, Ezra the priest brought the Instruction before the assembly. This assembly was made up of both men and women and anyone who could understand what they heard. <sup>3</sup>Facing the area in front of the Water Gate, he read it aloud, from early morning until the middle of the day. He read it in the presence of the men and the women and those who could understand, and everyone listened attentively to the Instruction scroll.

<sup>4</sup>Ezra the scribe stood on a wooden platform that had been made for this purpose. And standing beside him were Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiyah, Uriah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his righthand side; while Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hash-baddanah, Zechariah, and Meshullam stood on his lefthand side.

<sup>5</sup>Standing above all of the people, Ezra the scribe opened the scroll in the sight of all of the people. And as he opened it, all of the people stood up. <sup>6</sup>Then Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God, and all of the people answered, "Amen! Amen!" while raising their hands. Then they bowed down and worshipped the LORD with their faces to the ground.

<sup>7</sup>The Levites—Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, and Pelaiiah<sup>1</sup>—helped the people to understand the

<sup>1</sup>7:69 in Heb <sup>2</sup>September–October, Tishrei <sup>3</sup>Heb Torah <sup>4</sup>Vulg 1 Esdr 9:48; MT and the Levites

49,942 (42,360 + 7,337 + 245). But the sum of the numbers given in this chapter is actually 31,089 (29,818 in Ezra 2).

8:1–18 Ezra along with Nehemiah led the Judean community in a covenant renewal ceremony. In a solemn and public gathering, the Instruction from the Lord was read in front of all the people who were assembled. Ezra (the priest and scribe) and Nehemiah (the governor) deemed it a priority to turn people's hearts toward the Lord's commandments. In order to prevent another catastrophe such as the Babylonian exile, Ezra and Nehemiah believed that God's people had to abandon idolatry and devote their allegiance to the Lord. When the people heard God's word, they changed their hearts and lives. The community celebrated the Festival of Booths.

8:1 all the people gathered together: The Hebrew idiom is "as one person." The whole community gathered in unity to hear the Lord's word. They came willingly. Ezra: In his dual capacity as a scribe and priest, he had come to Jerusalem 13 years prior to Nehemiah. The description of Ezra's public reading of the Instruction is reminiscent of Moses' role as a mediator of the Instruction between God and Israel. the Instruction scroll from Moses: The exact contents of Ezra's scroll are uncertain. It's possible that he brought with him from Babylon a copy of the Pentateuch or a collection of legal material or the Deuteronomic teachings or the Priestly code.

8:2 on the first day of the seventh month: The Instruction from Moses commanded that every seventh year, during the Festival of Booths, the whole congregation of Israel were to gather for a public reading of the Instruction. This was an occasion that flattened social hierarchy because "everyone—men, women, children, and the immigrants who live in your cities" were to gather to "hear it, learn it, and revere the LORD your God, carefully doing all the words of this Instruction" (Deut 31:10–12). The Lord's word belonged to every member of the community, without discrimination. Joshua too had assembled all the people of Israel for a public reading of the Instruction and communal commitment to the Lord (Josh 8:30–35).

8:3 from early morning until the middle of the day: Ezra reads the Lord's word for five or six hours. The length of time devoted to the reading reveals the seriousness and attentiveness of the general audience.

8:5 all of the people stood up: Inward and outward reverence is shown for God's word (1 Kgs 8:14), a practice still experienced in our times during worship.

8:6 raising their hands: an expression of awe at God's majesty (cf. Pss 134:2; 141:2; Lam 3:41). They bowed down and worshipped the Lord: an act of humility and surrender, shown by bowing down (Deut 26:10; Ps 86:9).

8:7 helped the people to understand the Instruction: The Levites help the people make sense out of the Lord's word. Presumably it had been a long time since the community heard the Lord's Instruction. It isn't clear here whether the Levites provide a translation, explain the meaning of obscure passages in the scripture, or both. It's possible that the Levites translated the Instruction from Hebrew to Aramaic, which had become the common language for most Jews. Therefore, it's probable that the Hebrew language and the content of the Instruction while the people remained in their places. <sup>8</sup>They read aloud from the scroll, the instruction from God, explaining and interpreting it so the people could understand what they heard.

<sup>9</sup>Then Nehemiah the governor, Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all of the people, "This day is holy to the LORD your God. Don't mourn or weep." They said this<sup>m</sup> because all the people wept when they heard the words of the Instruction.

<sup>10</sup>"Go, eat rich food, and drink something sweet," he said to them, "and send portions of this to any who have nothing ready! This day is holy to our LORD. Don't be sad, because the joy from the LORD is your strength!"

<sup>11</sup>The Levites also calmed all of the people, saying, "Be quiet, for this day is holy. Don't be sad!" <sup>12</sup>Then all of the people went to eat and to drink, to send portions, and to have a great celebration, because they understood what had been said to them.

The people celebrate the Festival of Booths

<sup>13</sup>On the second day, the heads of the families of all the people, along with the priests and the Levites, gathered together around Ezra the scribe in order to study the words of the Instruction. <sup>14</sup>And they found written in the Instruction that the LORD had commanded through Moses that the Israelites should live in booths during the festival of the seventh month.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>15</sup>They also found that they should make the following proclamation and announce it throughout their towns and in Jerusalem: "Go out to the hills and bring branches of olive, wild olive, myrtle, palm, and other leafy trees to make booths, as it is written."

<sup>16</sup>So the people went out and brought them, and made booths for themselves, each on the roofs of their houses or<sup>o</sup> their courtyards, in the courtyards of God's house, in the area by the Water Gate, or in the area by the Gate of Ephraim.

<sup>17</sup>The whole assembly of those who had returned from captivity made booths and lived in them. This was something that the people of Israel hadn't done since the days of Joshua,<sup>p</sup> Nun's son, and there was very great rejoicing.

<sup>m</sup>Heb lacks They said this. <sup>n</sup>September–October, Tishrei <sup>o</sup>Or and <sup>p</sup>Heb Jeshua

Instruction might have seemed somewhat foreign to many in the assembly.

8:8 explaining and interpreting it so the people could understand what they heard: The Levites facilitated the knowledge and interpretation of the Instruction. They translated and interpreted this early scripture into the common language, to make clear how the community would apply God's teaching.

8:9 This day is holy to the LORD your God. Don't mourn or weep: the day of the blowing of the trumpets (Neh 8:2). While listening to Lord's word, people felt convicted of their sin. They realized that they hadn't kept the commandments. They had been living in disobedience and ignorance. The Lord's word gave them insight to their spiritual condition. It helped them to understand God's will. The Levites announce to the people that it is a day of joy and celebration, and it ought not to be marked by expressions of sorrow (Ps 126:5).

8:10 eat rich food: The Hebrew idiom is "eat the fat." The Instruction prohibited eating fat (Lev 7:23-25). Nehemiah probably meant that people should eat, drink, and be merry, as they celebrated such a joyous occasion (cf. Eccl 9:7). send portions of this to any who have nothing ready: The communal celebration includes acts of charity. Those who have the means are encouraged to share gifts of food with poor members of the community. the joy from the LORD is your strength: God's word is made clear to them. The exuberant joy stems from rediscovering God's mighty acts of salvation and sustained love of God for the people.

8:13-14 gathered together around Ezra the scribe in order to study: After the public reading of the Instruction and celebration, the people went back to their towns. However, the following day, the leaders of the community come back to study the Instruction with Ezra. During the study, they learn about the teaching for the Festival of Booths.

8:14 the Israelites should live in booths: The celebration lasts seven days. This holiday was in remembrance of the Israelites' dwelling in tents in the wilderness, during the time of exodus. God then dwelled in a meeting tent, while the people lodged in booths, which are temporary huts (Lev 23:43; Hos 12:9). The festival was to be accompanied by the reading of the Instruction (Deut 31:10-13). This was a joyous occasion, when people celebrated with thanksgiving the produce from the threshing floor and wine press (Deut 16:13). It was originally a local agricultural festival. The writer of Deuteronomy prescribed it to be one of the three pilgrimage festivals when each year "every male among you must appear before the presence of the LORD your God in the location he will select" (Deut 16:16). The Festival of Unleavened Bread and the Festival of Weeks were the other two annual pilgrimage festivals celebrated in Jerusalem. According to the humanitarian and charitable instructions of Deuteronomy, individual piety and communal attention were to turn to the needs of the poor and destitute. While thanking God for the bountiful gifts, this was a season for sharing. In addition to the ethical dimension of this festival, living in temporary shelters ought to remind people of the fleeting nature of life (Pss 90:12; 102:11-12; Eccl 12:1-6). This was a time of self examination and thanksgiving.

8:17 This was something that the people of Israel hadn't done since the days of Joshua: The Israelites in the wilderness,

8:10 Est. 9:22, 19; Ps 89:16; Joel 2:23
8:12 Neh 8:10; Jer 15:16
8:14 Gn 33:17; Ex 3:11; Lv 23:34
8:15 Lv 23:40; Dt 16:16; Is 41:19
8:16 2Ki 14:13; 2Ch 25:23; Neh 12:39
8:17 Josh 1:1; 1Ki 8:2; 2Ch 30:21

8:18 Lv 23:36;

Nm 29:35;
Dt 31:10-11;9:1 Josh 7:6;
1Sa 7:6;
Neh 8:1-29:2 Lv 26:40;
Ezr 10:11;
Neh 13:3;
Ps 106:69:5 Dt 28:58;
1Ch 16:363:6 Gn 1:1;
Dt 6:4;
2Ki 19:15;
Is 37:16;
Ps 146:69:7 Gn 11:31;
Josh 24:3;
2Ch 20:79:8 Gn 15:18;
Dt 7:1;
Josh 23:14;
Neh 9:7

The Lord's Instruction Ezra reads the Instruction from the Lord in front of the whole community of Judah. The people ask the priest and scribe Ezra to bring out "the Instruction scroll from Moses" (Neh 8:1). Here Ezra presents God's word before men, women, and anyone who has the ability to understand (Neh 8:2). Ezra becomes a second mediator between God and Israel, compared to Moses. As Ezra stands on a wooden platform to read the instruction in front of the people, the text includes his scribal title (Neh 8:4). The next day, "the heads of the families of all the people, along with the priests and the Levites, gathered together around Ezra the scribe in order to study the words of the Instruction" (Neh 8:13). The assembled leaders are determined to devote themselves to the study and application of God's expectations. The survival and success of the people of God depends on the commitment to this teaching by the entire community. According to Ezra 7:25-26, the Persian government had given Ezra full imperial support to implement the observance of the Instruction in Judah.

<sup>10</sup>He read from God's Instruction scroll every day, from the first until the last day of the festival.<sup>9</sup> They kept the festival for seven days and held a solemn assembly on the eighth day, just as the Instruction required.

Remembering the Lord's mighty deeds

9 On the twenty-fourth day of this month, the people of Israel were assembled. They fasted, wore funeral clothing,<sup>f</sup> and had dirt on their heads.<sup>g</sup> <sup>2</sup>After the Israelites separated themselves from all of the foreigners, they stood to confess their sins and the terrible behavior of their ancestors. <sup>3</sup>They stood in their place and read the Instruction scroll from the LORD their God for a quarter of the day. For another quarter of the day, they confessed and worshipped the LORD their God.

<sup>4</sup>On the stairs of the Levites stood Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani. They cried out with a loud voice to the LORD their God. <sup>5</sup>Then the Levites—Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah—said:

Stand up and bless the LORD your God.

From everlasting to everlasting bless your glorious name, which is high above all blessing and praise.

<sup>6</sup>You alone are the LORD.

You alone made heaven, even the heaven of heavens, with all their forces.

You made the earth and all that is on it, and the seas and all that is in them.

You preserve them all, and the heavenly forces worship you.

<sup>7</sup>LORD God, you are the one who chose Abram.

You brought him out of Ur of the Chaldeans and gave him the name Abraham.

<sup>8</sup>You found him to be faithful before you, and you made a covenant with him.

<sup>9</sup>Heb lacks of the festival. <sup>f</sup>Or sackcloth <sup>g</sup>Or on them

while dwelling in temporary huts, had looked forward to their permanent residence in the promised land. The exiles who had now returned from Babylon could look forward to a fresh new start. They had just recommitted themselves to the covenant and restored their relationship with God.

8:18 just as the instruction required: On the eighth day, a solemn assembly was summoned. Regular activities were banned (Num 29:35-39).

9:1 They fasted, wore funeral clothing, and had dirt on their heads: After the hearing of the Instruction, the people continued to purge their sins. They denied themselves all self-gratifying pleasures. They expressed their changed hearts and lives in genuine acts of remorse, humility, and self-denial (Ps 51:17).

9:2 terrible behavior of their ancestors: See Leviticus 26:40; Isaiah 43:27; Lamentations 5:7.

9:4 They cried out with a loud voice to the Lord: The people prayed with deep passion. They sought the Lord with genuine earnestness.

9:5 Stand up and bless the Lord your God: Their devotion to God was expressed physically. The people felt so moved that they couldn't worship God by sitting still. bless your glorious name: See Psalm 72:19.

9:6-37 Nehemiah's prayer falls in line with other prayers seeking forgiveness and reconciliation, which arose following the destruction of the temple and Jerusalem (e.g., Ezra 9; Neh 1; Ps 106; Dan 9:5-14). This prayerful psalm highlights God's mighty acts of salvation and hope after God's judgment. The psalm draws on many traditions and sayings throughout the OT.

9:6 See 2 Kings 19:15; Isaiah 37:16; Psalm 148:4.

9:7 See Genesis 15:7; 17:5.

9:8 See Genesis 15.

You promised to give to his descendants the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, and the Girgashites.
And you have kept your promise because you are righteous.

9:10; Ex 3:20;
Jer 32:20;
Dn. 9:15
9:11 Ex 14:21;
Ps 78:13
9:12 Ex 13:21-22;
Dt 1:33;
Neh 9:19
9:13 Ex 20:1
9:14 Gn 2:3;
Ex 20:8;
Eze 20:12
9:15 Ex 16:15;
Nm 20:7;
Dt 18; Ps 78:24
9:17 Ex 34:6;
Nm 14:4;
Ps 86:15
9:18 Ex 32:4;
Ps 106:19;
Acs 7:41
9:19 Ex 13:21;
Neh 9:12, 27;
Ex 13:22
9:20; Ex 16:15;
Nm 11:17;
Josh 5:12;
Ps 143:10;
Is 63:11
9:21 Dt 8:4

- <sup>9</sup>You saw the affliction of our ancestors in Egypt and heard their cry at the Reed Sea.<sup>t</sup>
- <sup>10</sup>You performed signs and wonders against Pharaoh, all his servants, and the people of his land.
You knew that they had acted arrogantly against our ancestors.
You made a name for yourself, a name that is famous even today.
- <sup>11</sup>You divided the sea before them so that they went through it on dry land.
But you cast their pursuers into the depths, as a stone into the mighty waters.
- <sup>12</sup>With a pillar of cloud you led them by day and with a column of lightning by night;
they lit the way in which the people should go.
- <sup>13</sup>You came down upon Mount Sinai and spoke with them from heaven.
You gave them proper judgments and true Instruction, good statutes and commandments.
- <sup>14</sup>You made known to them your holy Sabbath, and gave them commandments, statutes, and Instruction through your servant Moses.
- <sup>15</sup>When they were hungry, you gave them bread from heaven;
when they were thirsty, you brought water out of the rock for them.
You told them to go in to possess the land that you had sworn to give them.
- <sup>16</sup>But our ancestors acted arrogantly.
They were stubborn and wouldn't obey your commandments.
- <sup>17</sup>They refused to obey, and didn't remember the wonders that you accomplished in their midst.
They acted arrogantly and decided to return to their slavery in Egypt.
But you are a God ready to forgive, merciful and compassionate, very patient, and truly faithful.
You didn't forsake them.
- <sup>18</sup>Even when they had cast an image of a calf for themselves, saying, "This is your God who brought you up out of Egypt," and holding you in great contempt,
- <sup>19</sup>you, in your great mercy, didn't abandon them in the wilderness.
The column of cloud continued to guide them on their journey during the day, and the column of lightning lit their path during the night.
- <sup>20</sup>You gave your good spirit to teach them.
You didn't withhold your manna from them, and you gave them water for their thirst.
- <sup>21</sup>You kept them alive for forty years—they lacked nothing in the wilderness!
Their clothes didn't wear out,
and their feet didn't swell.

<sup>t</sup>Or Red Sea

9:9 See Exodus 3:7, 4:31.
9:10 See Deuteronomy 4:34; Isaiah 20:3; Jeremiah 32:20-21; Psalm 135:9.
9:11 See Isaiah 63:12; Psalm 78:13; Exodus 15:5.
9:12 See Exodus 13:21; 20:22; Numbers 14:14; 2 Chronicles 6:27.
9:13 See Exodus 19:11; 20:22; Malachi 2:6.
9:15 See Exodus 6:8; 16:4; Numbers 14:30; 20:8; Deuteronomy 11:31; Psalm 105:40; Ezekiel 20:6, 15, 28, 42.

9:16 See Deuteronomy 10:16; 11:28; 2 Kings 17:14; Jeremiah 7:26; 17:23; 19:15.
9:17 See 1 Samuel 8:19; Jeremiah 11:10; Joel 2:13.
9:18 See Exodus 32:4, 8; Deuteronomy 9:16.
9:19 See Daniel 9:18; Isaiah 54:7.
9:20 See Exodus 15:22-27; 16:1-36; Pss 78:15; 143:10.
9:21 See Deuteronomy 2:7; 8:4; 29:4.

9:22 Nm 21:21;
Dt 2:26
9:23 Gn 22:17
9:26 Jdg 2:12;
1Ki 14:9;
Neh 9:27
9:29 Lv 18:5;
Neh 9:16;
Zech. 7:11
9:30 2Ki 17:13;
1Pt 1:11;
2Pt 1:21
9:32 Dt 7:9, 21;
1Ki 8:23;
2Ki 17:3; Dn. 9:4

- 22 You gave them kingdoms and peoples, and assigned to them every side.<sup>a</sup>
They took possession of the land of King Sihon of Heshbon and the land of King Og of Bashan.
- 23 You multiplied their descendants as the stars of heaven.
You brought them into the land that you had told their ancestors to enter and possess.
- 24 So the descendants went in and possessed the land.
Before them, you subdued the Canaanites who inhabited the land.
You also handed over to them their kings and the neighboring peoples, to do with as they wished.
- 25 They captured fortified cities and productive land, and took possession of houses filled with all kinds of good things:
Excavated cisterns, vineyards, olive orchards, and a great many fruit trees.
They ate until they were satisfied and grew fat, and delighted themselves in your great goodness.
- 26 But they were disobedient, rebelled against you,
and turned their back on your Instruction.
They killed your prophets who had warned them so that they might return to you.
They held you in great contempt.
- 27 Therefore, you handed them over to the power of their enemies who made them suffer.
But when they cried out to you in their suffering, you heard them from heaven.
Because you are merciful, you gave them saviors who saved them from the power of their enemies.
- 28 But after they had rest from this, they again started doing evil against you.
So you gave them over to the power of their enemies who ruled over them.
Yet when they turned and cried to you, you heard from heaven and rescued them many times because of your great mercy.
- 29 You also warned them to return to your Instruction, but they acted arrogantly and didn't obey your commands.
They sinned against your judgments, even though life comes by keeping them.<sup>b</sup>
They turned a stubborn shoulder, became headstrong, and wouldn't obey.
- 30 You were patient with them for many years and warned them by your spirit through the prophets.
But they wouldn't listen,
so you handed them over to the neighboring peoples.
- 31 In your great mercy, however, you didn't make an end of them.
Neither did you forsake them, because you are a merciful and compassionate God.
- 32 Now, our God, great and mighty and awesome God, you are the one who faithfully keeps the covenant.
Don't treat lightly all of the hardship that has come upon us, upon our kings, our officials, our priests, our prophets, our ancestors, and all your people,
from the time of the kings of Assyria until today.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>b</sup>Them refers to judgments.

9:22 See Numbers 21; 32:33; Deuteronomy 2-3; Psalm 135:11.

9:23 See Genesis 22:17; 24:4; Exodus 32:13; Judges 2:1.

9:24 See Deuteronomy 4:1; 8:1; 10:11; 1 Chronicles 17:10.

9:25 See Deuteronomy 3:5; 6:11; 8:7; Joshua 14:12.

9:26 See 1 Kings 14:9; 18:4; Ezekiel 23:35; Ps 1:17; Amos 3:13; 2 Chronicles 24:19.

9:27 The people remember God's forgiving nature. See Exodus 14:10; Joshua 24:7; Ezekiel 39:23.

9:30 See Zechariah 7:12; 1 Samuel 8:19; Amos 3:13.

9:33 Gn 18:25;
 Job 2:10;
 Ps 106:6;
 Lam. 1:18;
 Dn. 9:14
 9:34 2Ch 23:16;
 Neh 10:1
 9:38 2Ch 23:16;
 Ezz 10:3;
 Neh 10:1

- <sup>33</sup>You have been just in all that has happened to us;
 you have acted faithfully, and we have done wrong.
- <sup>34</sup>Our kings, our officials, our priests, and our ancestors haven't kept your Instruction.
 They haven't heeded your commandments and the warnings that you gave them.
- <sup>35</sup>Even in their own kingdom, surrounded by the great goodness that you gave to them, even in the wide and rich land that you gave them,
 they didn't serve you or turn from their wicked works.
- <sup>36</sup>So now today we are slaves, slaves in the land that you gave to our ancestors to enjoy its fruit and its good gifts.
- <sup>37</sup>Its produce profits the kings whom you have placed over us because of our sins.
 They have power over our bodies and do as they please with our livestock.
 We are in great distress.

Commitment to follow the Instruction

<sup>38</sup>Because of all this,<sup>w</sup> we are making a firm agreement in writing, with the names of our officials, our Levites, and our priests on the seal.

10<sup>v</sup>Upon the seals are the names of Governor Nehemiah, Hachaliah's son, and Zedekiah; <sup>2</sup>Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah,
<sup>3</sup>Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, <sup>4</sup>Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch, <sup>5</sup>Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah,
<sup>6</sup>Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch,
<sup>7</sup>Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin,
<sup>8</sup>Maaziah, Bilgai, Shemaiah; these are the priests.

<sup>9</sup>The Levites: Jeshua, Azaniah's son; Binnui of the descendants of Henadad; Kadmiel;

<sup>10</sup>and their associates:
 Shebaniah, Hodiah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan,
<sup>11</sup>Mica, Rehob, Hashabiah,
<sup>12</sup>Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, <sup>13</sup>Hodiah, Bani, Beninu.

<sup>14</sup>The leaders of the people: Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, <sup>15</sup>Bunni, Azgad, Bebai,
<sup>16</sup>Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, <sup>17</sup>Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur, <sup>18</sup>Hodiah, Hashum, Bezai, <sup>19</sup>Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai, <sup>20</sup>Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir, <sup>21</sup>Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua,
<sup>22</sup>Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah,
<sup>23</sup>Hoshea, Hananiah, Hasshub,

<sup>w</sup>10:1 in Heb <sup>v</sup>This refers to great distress in 9:37. <sup>v</sup>10:2 in Heb

9:32 See Exodus 18:8; Numbers 20:14; Deuteronomy 7:9; 10:17.
 9:33 See Jeremiah 12:1; Psalm 119:137.
 9:34 See 2 Kings 17:15.
 9:36 See Jeremiah 2:7.
 9:37 See 1 Samuel 8:11-18.
 9:38 making a firm agreement: The Hebrew idiom is "cut a covenant." People make a pledge to keep the Lord's Instruction.

10:1-27 Following the prayer of the community in which they profess their faith and agree to change their hearts and lives, the people are ready to seal their covenant with God. The pledge to obedience is sealed by four distinctive groups of the community's religious and political leaders—Nehemiah the governor (10:1), the priests (10:2-8), the Levites (10:9-13), and the leaders of the people (10:14-27).
 10:1 Upon the seals: This is an official document.

10:28 1Ch 9:2;
Ezr 2:36; Neh 9:2
10:29 2Ki 23:3;
Neh 5:12;
Ps 119:106
10:30 Ex 34:16;
Dt 7:3; Ezr 9:12

<sup>24</sup>Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek,

<sup>25</sup>Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah,

<sup>26</sup>Ahiah, Hanan, Anan,

<sup>27</sup>Malluch, Harim, Baanah.

<sup>28</sup>The rest of the people, the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the temple servants, and all who have separated themselves from the neighboring peoples to follow the Instruction from God, together with their wives, their sons, their daughters, and all who have knowledge and understanding. <sup>29</sup>They join with their officials and relatives, and make a solemn pledge to live by God's Instruction, which was given by Moses, God's servant, and to observe faithfully all the commandments, judgments, and statutes of our LORD God.

<sup>30</sup>We won't give our daughters in marriage to the neighboring peoples, nor take their daughters in marriage for our sons.

<sup>31</sup>If the neighboring peoples bring merchandise or any grain to sell on the Sabbath, we won't buy it from them on the Sabbath or on any holy day.

Every seventh year we won't plant crops, and we will return anything held in debt.

<sup>32</sup>We pledge ourselves to keep the commandment and pay one-third of a shekel each year for the service of our God's house, <sup>33</sup>for the stacks of bread and the regular grain offering and the regular entirely burned offering, for the sabbaths and the new moons and the appointed festivals, for the holy offerings and the purification offerings to make reconciliation for Israel, and for all the work of our God's house.

<sup>34</sup>We have also cast lots among the priests, the Levites, and the people so that we bring the wood offering into our God's house by families at the appointed times every year, to burn on the altar of the LORD our God, as it is written in the Instruction.

<sup>35</sup>We will also bring the early produce of our soil and the early fruit from all trees every year to the LORD's house.

<sup>36</sup>We will also bring the oldest offspring of our children and our cattle, as it is written in the Instruction, and the oldest males of our herds and flocks to our God's house, to the priests who serve in our God's house.

<sup>37</sup>We will also bring the first of our dough, our contributions, the fruit of every tree, the wine, and the oil to the priests at the storerooms of our God's house. We will also bring one-tenth of the produce of our soil to the Levites, for it is the Levites who collect the tenth-part gifts in all the towns where we work.

<sup>38</sup>A priest from the family of Aaron must be with the Levites when they collect the tenth-part gifts. Then the Levites must bring up one-tenth of the tenth-part gifts to our God's house, to the storerooms of the treasury. <sup>39</sup>The Israelites and the Levites must bring the contribution of grain, wine, and oil to the storerooms where the sanctuary equipment is kept, and where the priests on duty, the gatekeepers, and the singers reside. We won't neglect our God's house!

10:28-39 A covenant commitment ceremony. The community takes upon itself the covenantal obligations voluntarily. Some of the expectations noted here are not found in the Instruction (that is, Genesis through Deuteronomy) in its current form.

10:28-29 Those who were determined to obey the Lord's Instruction pledge their allegiance with their entire household (cf. Josh 24:15).

10:28 all who have separated themselves: See Ezra 6:21.

10:30 See Exodus 34:11-16; Deuteronomy 7:1-4; Ezra 9:1-10:44.

10:31 to sell on the Sabbath: The Sabbath Instruction taught in Exodus 20:8-11 doesn't say that buying food is a form of work. However, Leviticus 25:2-7 and Isaiah 58:13-14 show that the Sabbath teachings did evolve. Every seventh year we won't plant crops, and we will return anything held in debt: Ezra combines the Instruction about the seventh fallow year (Exod 23:10-11) with the Instruction about the year of remission (Deut 15:1-8).

10:32 pay one-third of a shekel each year for the service of our God's house: The Instruction stipulated half a shekel (Exod 30:11-16). The annual offering for the upkeep of the temple might have been reduced due to the impoverished condition of Judah in post-exilic times.

10:33 for all the work of our God's house: for the regular working of the Jerusalem temple.

10:34 cast lots: See 1 Chronicles 24:5, 7; 25:8-9; 26:13; Proverbs 18:18; Joshua 14:1-2. the wood offering: The Lord instructed Aaron and his sons that the fire on the altar must burn continually (Lev 6:8-13). The prescription for donations of the wood isn't found in the Instruction.

10:35-39 The Instruction prescribes offerings for the priests and Levites.

10:35 the early fruit: See Numbers 18:12-13.

10:36 the oldest offspring of our children and our cattle: See Exodus 22:29-30; Numbers 18:15-17.

10:37 one tenth of the produce of our soil: See Numbers 18:26-32.

10:38 The priests received a tenth of the Levites' income (Num 18:26-28).

10:39 We won't neglect our God's house: The regular functioning of the temple and the livelihood of its personnel were provided for by the prescribed donations given by the community. At the conclusion of the covenantal

Inhabitants of Jerusalem

11 The leaders of the people lived in Jerusalem. The rest of the people cast lots to bring one out of ten to live in the holy city of Jerusalem, while the remaining nine stayed in the other towns. <sup>2</sup>The people blessed those who agreed to live in Jerusalem.

<sup>3</sup>These are the leaders of the province who lived in Jerusalem; while the Israelites, the priests, the Levites, the temple servants, and the descendants of Solomon's servants lived in the towns of Judah on their own property in their towns. <sup>4</sup>Some of the descendants of Judah and Benjamin settled in Jerusalem.

From the family of Judah: Athaiah son of Uzziiah son of Zechariah son of Amariah son of Shephatiah son of Mahalalel of the family of Perez; <sup>5</sup>and Maaseiah son of Baruch son of Colhozeh son of Hazaiah son of Adaiah son of Joiarib son of Zechariah son of the Shilonite. <sup>6</sup>All of the family of Perez who lived in Jerusalem totaled 468 courageous people.

<sup>7</sup>From the family of Benjamin: Sallu son of Meshullam son of Joed son of Pedaiiah son of Koliaih son of Maaseiah son of Ithiel son of Jeshaiiah. <sup>8</sup>And after him were Gabbai and Sallai: 928. <sup>9</sup>Joel son of Zichri was their supervisor, and Judah son of Hassenuah was second in charge of the city.

<sup>10</sup>Of the priests: Jedaiah son of Joiarib, Jachin, <sup>11</sup>Seraiah son of Hilkiah son of Meshullam son of Zadok son of Meraioth son of Ahitub the officer of God's house, <sup>12</sup>and their associates who carried out the work in the temple: <sup>8</sup> 222. There was also Adaiah son of Jeroham son of Pelaliah son of Amzi son of Zechariah son of Pashhur son of Malchijah, <sup>13</sup>and his associates, heads of families: 242. There was also Amashsai son of Azarel son of Ahzai son of Meshillemoth son of Immer <sup>14</sup>and their associates, for a total of 128 courageous people. Their supervisor was Zabdiel, Haggedolim's son.

<sup>15</sup>Of the Levites: Shemaiah son of Hasshub son of Azrikam son of Hashabiah son of Bunni; <sup>16</sup>as well as Shabbethai and Jozabad, who were some of the leaders of the Levites in charge of the outside work on God's house; <sup>17</sup>also Mattaniah son of Mica son of Zabdi son of Asaph the leader who began the thanksgiving with prayer, and Bakbukiah, who was the second among his associates; and Abda son of Shammua son of Galal son of Jeduthun. <sup>18</sup>All the Levites in the holy city totaled 284. <sup>19</sup>The gatekeepers: Akkub, Talmon, and their associates who guarded the gates totaled 172. <sup>20</sup>The rest of Israel, the priests, and the Levites were in all the towns of Judah, each of them in their own property. <sup>21</sup>But the temple servants lived in Ophel, with Ziha and Gishpa in charge of them. <sup>22</sup>The supervisor of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi son of Bani son of Hashabiah son of Mattaniah ceremony, the people proclaim the solemn pledge. They firmly declare their devotion and service to the Lord's house. neglect: Following the Babylonian conquest, the Jerusalem temple lay in ruins for many years. The despair, in part, owed to the negligence of the Judean community. Whether because of external political pressure, internal discord, or economic hardship, the community had let the house of God remain in dilapidated condition for a very long time. Now that the people had recommitted themselves to God and God's commandments, they were intent on making sure that the temple would be fully functional and supplied regularly with all the basic necessities.

*Or house

11:1-2 the holy city: This expression about Jerusalem is found in Isaiah 48:2; 52:1; Daniel 9:24. Initially, Jerusalem wasn't a desirable place for the returnees to settle. The marks of devastation were still visible. Nehemiah was a visionary. Continuing with his plan to restore the city to its previous vitality, after the reconstruction of the wall, he encouraged people to reside in Judah's capital city. The words in the post-exilic chapters of Isaiah were fulfilled. The ancient ruins were built up, the former devastations raised up, the ruined cities—the devastations of many generations—repaired (Isa 61:4). The community cooperated and heeded Nehemiah's appeal. Those selected by lot as well as others who volunteered resettled to Jerusalem. The community praised these individuals' spirit of volunteerism. The surviving population in Judah during the Persian period was probably about a thousand people. 11:3-36 Nehemiah's census of those who settled in Jerusalem.

11:3 Israelites: This designation originally referred to the 12 tribes who descended from Jacob. After Solomon's death, David's united kingdom split into Israel and Judah. The 10 northern tribes, Israel, revolted against Rehoboam's rule and proclaimed Jeroboam king. The southern kingdom of Judah consisted of two tribes—Judah and Benjamin. Those who returned from the Babylonian exile to Judah frequently employed the term "Israel" for strategic reasons. The designation served to stress continuity with the past while looking forward to the fulfillment of God's promises for a restored nation in the future. The Lord's covenant with all Israel carried on with the restoration of Judah. the Levites: settled in the cities allotted to them. temple servants: See note on Nehemiah 3:26.

11:11 the officer of God's house: See Numbers 3:32; 1 Chronicles 9:11; 2 Chronicles 19:11.

11:17 son of Asaph: The descendants of Asaph were appointed as temple singers by the command of David. (2 Chron 35:15; Neh 11:22).

11:1 Is 48:2;
Matt. 4:5
11:3 1Ch 9:2;
Ezr 2:43;
Neh 7:57
11:4 Gn 38:29;
1Ch 9:3
11:10 1Ch 9:10;
Neh 12:6,
Neh 12:19

11:24 Gn 38:30;
Nm 26:20
12:1 Ezr 2:2;
Neh 7:7;
Hg 1:1, 12
12:7 Ezr 3:2;
Neh 12:20-21
12:12 Ezr 2:2;
Neh 12:1
12:22 Ezr 10:6;
Neh 12:11
12:23 1Ch 9:14;
Ezr 10:6;
Neh 12:22
12:27 2Sa 6:5;
1Ch 15:16, 28;
2Ch 5:13

son of Mica, from the family of Asaph, who were the singers in charge of the work of God's house.

<sup>23</sup>There was a command from the king setting out the daily requirements of the singers.

<sup>24</sup>Advising the king in all matters concerning the people was Pethahiah, Meshezabel's son, from the family of Zerah, Judah's son.

<sup>25</sup>As for the villages with their fields, some of the people of Judah lived in Kiriath-arba and its villages, in Dibon and its villages, in Jekabzeel and its villages, <sup>26</sup>in Jeshua, in Moladah and Beth-pelet, <sup>27</sup>in Hazar-shual, in Beer-sheba and its villages, <sup>28</sup>in Ziklag, in Meconah and its villages, <sup>29</sup>in En-rimmon, Zorah, Jarmuth, <sup>30</sup>Zanoah, Adullam, and their villages, Lachish and its fields, and Azekah and its villages. So they settled from Beer-sheba to the Hinnom Valley.

<sup>31</sup>The people of Benjamin also lived from beyond Geba, at Michmash, Aija, Bethel and its villages, <sup>32</sup>Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, <sup>33</sup>Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim, <sup>34</sup>Hadid, Zeboim, Neballat, <sup>35</sup>Lod, and Ono, the valley of artisans. <sup>36</sup>Some divisions of the Levites in Judah were joined to Benjamin.

12 These are the priests and the Levites who came up with Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, <sup>2</sup>Amariah, Malluch, Hattush, <sup>3</sup>Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth, <sup>4</sup>Iddo, Ginnethon, <sup>5</sup>Abijah, <sup>6</sup>Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah, <sup>7</sup>Shemaiah, Joiarib, Jedaiah, <sup>8</sup>Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedaiah.

These were the leaders of the priests and of their associates in the days of Jeshua. <sup>9</sup>The Levites: Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and also Mattaniah, who was in charge of the thanksgiving songs along with his associates. <sup>10</sup>Bakbukiah and Unn and their associates stood opposite them in the service.

<sup>11</sup>Jeshua was the father of Joiakim, Joiakim the father of Eliashib, Eliashib the father of Joiada, <sup>12</sup>Joiada the father of Jonathan, and Jonathan the father of Jaddua.

<sup>13</sup>These were the heads of the priestly families in the days of Joiakim: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; <sup>14</sup>of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan; <sup>15</sup>of Malluch, <sup>16</sup>Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Joseph; <sup>17</sup>of Harim, Adna; of Meraioth, Helkai; <sup>18</sup>of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam; <sup>19</sup>of Abijah, Zichri; of Miniamin, of Moaddiah, Piltai; <sup>20</sup>of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan; <sup>21</sup>of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; <sup>22</sup>of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber; <sup>23</sup>of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethanel.

<sup>24</sup>In the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua, the Levites and the priests were recorded as heads of families in the rule of <sup>25</sup>Darius the Persian.

<sup>26</sup>The Levites who were heads of families were recorded in the official records until the time of Johanan, Eliashib's son. <sup>27</sup>These were the leaders of the Levites: Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua, Kadmiel's son, and their associates who stood opposite them to praise and give thanks in turn according to the commandment of David, the man of God, namely, <sup>28</sup>Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, and Obadiah.

Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers standing guard by the storerooms of the gates. <sup>29</sup>These served in the days of Joiakim, Jeshua's son and Jozadak's grandson, and in the days of Governor Nehemiah and of Ezra the priest and scribe.

Dedication of the wall

<sup>27</sup>When it was time for the dedication of Jerusalem's wall, they sought out the Levites in all the places where they lived in order to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with joy, with thanks and singing, and with cymbals, harps, and lyres.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Ginnethoi <sup>b</sup>LXX; MT Malluchi <sup>c</sup>LXX, Vulg; MT upon

11:36 Some divisions of the Levites in Judah were joined to Benjamin: Those Levites who were not residing in Jerusalem were distributed throughout the regions of Judah and Benjamin.

12:1 The writer compiles the list of the priests and Levites who returned from Babylon. The list goes as far back as the time of Zerubbabel and Jeshua, 537 BCE. Priests and Levites played a pivotal role in restoring the regular worship at the Jerusalem temple.

12:10 Jeshua was a high priest who shared leadership with Zerubbabel. The names of the succeeding five generations of high priests are given here. Jeshua is a son of Jehozadak (See Hag 1:1; 2:2; Zech 6:11, where Jeshua is translated "Joshua"). This list resumes where 1 Chronicles 6:3-15 left off, at the beginning of the Babylonian exile in 587 BCE.

12:12-21 In his reform of worship practices, David instituted 24 divisions of priests (1 Chron 24:1-18).

12:22 Darius the Persian: probably Darius I who ruled 550-486 BCE; Darius II ruled 423-404 BCE.

12:27-39 The author picks up where he left off at the end of Nehemiah 7. The wall has been built, and Nehemiah

<sup>28</sup>The singers also gathered together both from the region around Jerusalem and from the villages of the Netophathites, <sup>29</sup>also from Beth-hagilgal and from the region of Geba and Azmaveth, because the singers had built themselves villages around Jerusalem. <sup>30</sup>After the priests and the Levites purified themselves, they purified the people, the gates, and the wall.

<sup>31</sup>Then I<sup>d</sup> brought the leaders of Judah up onto the wall and organized two large groups to give thanks. The first group went in procession on the wall toward the right, in the direction of the Dung Gate. <sup>32</sup>Following them went Hoshaiiah and half the officials of Judah, <sup>33</sup>along with Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, <sup>34</sup>Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, and Jeremiah. <sup>35</sup>There were also some young priests with trumpets—Zechariah son of Jonathan son of Shemaiah son of Mattaniah son of Micaiah son of Zaccur son of Asaph—<sup>36</sup>along with his associates Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani. They brought<sup>e</sup> the musical instruments of David the man of God. Ezra the scribe went in front of them.

<sup>37</sup>When they reached the Fountain Gate they went straight up by the stairs of David's City, on the ascent to the wall, past the house of David to the Water Gate on the east. <sup>38</sup>The second group went in procession to the left.<sup>f</sup> I followed them with half of the people along the wall past the Tower of the Ovens to the Broad Wall, <sup>39</sup>past the Gate of Ephraim and over the Mishneh Gate,<sup>g</sup> the Fish Gate, the Tower of Hananel, and the Tower of the Hundred as far as the Sheep Gate. They came to stop at the Gate of the Guard.

In God's house

<sup>40</sup>Then both groups of those who gave thanks stood in God's house. I was there too along with the half of the officials who were with me. <sup>41</sup>Also there were the priests Eliakim, Maa-seiah, Miniamin, Micaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah with trumpets. <sup>42</sup>Also there were Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. The singers sang with Jezrahiah as their leader.

<sup>43</sup>They offered great sacrifices on that day and rejoiced, for God had made them rejoice with great joy. The women and children also rejoiced, and the sound of the joy in Jerusalem could be heard from far away.

<sup>44</sup>On that day, people were appointed over the rooms for the things to be stored, the contributions, the early produce, and the tenth-part gifts. They were to gather into them the portions required by the Instruction for the priests and for the Levites from the fields belonging to the towns, for the people of Judah were delighted with the ministry of the priests and the Levites.

<sup>45</sup>They performed the service of their God and the service of purification, as did the singers and the gatekeepers, according to the command of David and his son Solomon.

<sup>d</sup>Or I, Nehemiah <sup>e</sup>Heb lacks they brought. <sup>f</sup>Or opposite <sup>g</sup>Or Old Gate has set up the doors. The gatekeepers, the singers, and the Levites have been appointed. Now the much anticipated moment of celebration has arrived. The community gathers as a unit to give thanks and dedicate the walls before God. Nehemiah organizes two groups of musicians for the thanksgiving procession. The first group marches on the wall toward the right—counterclockwise (12:31-37). The second group marches clockwise (12:38-39). The building of the wall was the community's joint effort (Neh 3). Nehemiah stresses that the celebration event is a communal achievement when continuity of the old tradition and the announcement of a new age came together. Musicians and temple officials installed by David march alongside Ezra who had led the community in reconciling and re-committing to the Lord (12:36).

12:27-29 Temple singers and Levites are summoned from their respective settlements to Jerusalem in order to lead the people in the celebration.

12:30 I they purified the people: The purification ceremony most likely involved water (see Exod 19:19; 2 Chron 29:5-19).

12:31 I brought the leaders of Judah up onto the wall: This is a triumphant day. Nehemiah's adversary, Tobiah the Ammonite, had mockingly announced: "If even a fox climbs on whatever they build, their wall of stones will crumble" (Neh 4:3). But the wall stood strong and mighty against any possible threat from the surrounding nations. The Judean community stands together and their morale is high. The wall is a testimony that the Lord is with them.

12:43 The women and children also rejoiced: The occasion is marked by egalitarian and free spirit. Just like at the public reading of the Instruction, also at the dedication of the wall, everyone in the Judean community unites their hearts and minds as one people of the Lord.

12:44 the contributions, the early produce, and the tenth-part gifts: People's enthusiasm and anticipation for a spiritually and morally restored community of God also translates into their voluntary and generous financial contributions to God's house. the people of Judah were delighted with the ministry of the priests and the Levites: Now that the officials of the temple were properly reinstalled, the people could look forward to the return of regular worship.

12:45-47 The temple service and other regular functions that David had instituted are finally reinstated.

12:37 Neh 2:14
12:39 2Ki 14:13;
2Ch 25:23;
Neh 3:1
12:43 Josh 8:35;
2Ch 20:13;
Matt. 21:15
12:44 1Ch 9:26;
2Ch 31:11;
Neh 13:13

12:47 Nm 18:21;
Neh 10:38

13:1 Dt 23:3,
Dt 31:11;
2Ki 23:2; Neh 9:3

13:2 Nm 22:3;
Dt 23:4;
Josh 24:9

13:10 Dt 12:19;
Neh 12:29;
Mal 3:8

13:12 2Ch 31:5;
Neh 12:44;
Mal 3:10

13:13
2Ch 31:12;
Neh 12:44;
Ac 6:1

13:14 Neh 5:19;
Heb. 6:10

13:15
Ex 20:8; 34:21;
Dt 5:12;
Neh 10:31;
Is 63:3

<sup>46</sup>Long ago, in the days of David and Asaph, there was a leader of the singers, and there were songs of praise and thanks to God.

<sup>47</sup>In the days of Zerubbabel and of Nehemiah all Israel gave the daily portions for the singers and the gatekeepers. They also set aside the portion for the Levites, and the Levites set aside the portion for the Aaronites.

Restoring the temple

13 On that day, when the scroll from Moses was being read to the people, they found written in it that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever enter God's assembly. <sup>2</sup>This is because they hadn't met the Israelites with food and water but instead hired Balaam against them to curse them. Yet our God turned the curse into a blessing. <sup>3</sup>When the people heard this law, they separated out from Israel all those of mixed descent.

<sup>4</sup>Now before this, however, Eliashib the priest, who was appointed to be in charge of the storerooms of our God's house and who was related to Tobiah, <sup>5</sup>prepared a large room for Tobiah to use. This was the room where they had previously kept the grain offering, the incense, and the equipment, together with the tenth-part gifts of grain, wine, and oil. These items were for the Levites, singers, and gatekeepers as well as the portions for the priests.

<sup>6</sup>I wasn't in Jerusalem while this was happening because I had gone to Babylon's King Artaxerxes in the thirty-second year of the king. After some time, I asked the king's permission <sup>7</sup>and returned to Jerusalem. That was when I saw the wrong that Eliashib had done on behalf of Tobiah by preparing him a room in the courtyards of God's house. <sup>8</sup>I was very angry and threw all of Tobiah's household furniture out of the room. <sup>9</sup>Then I gave orders that the rooms be purified, and I put back the temple equipment, along with the grain offering and the incense.

<sup>10</sup>I also found out that the Levites hadn't been given their portions, so they and the singers who did the work had gone back to their fields. <sup>11</sup>So I scolded the officials, asking, "Why is God's house being neglected?" I gathered them together and set them in their stations.

<sup>12</sup>Then all Judah brought the tenth-part gifts of the grain, wine, and oil into the storehouses. <sup>13</sup>I appointed the priest Shelemiah, the scribe Zadok, and Pedaiah of the Levites to be in charge over the storehouses. I also appointed Hanan, Zaccur's son and Mattaniah's grandson, as their assistant. These men were considered trustworthy, and their task was to hand out shares to their colleagues.

<sup>14</sup>Remember me, my God, concerning this. Don't erase my good deeds that I have done for my God's house and for its services.

Keeping the Sabbath

<sup>15</sup>In those days I saw people in Judah using the winepresses on the Sabbath. They were also collecting piles of grain and loading them on donkeys, as well as wine, grapes, figs, and 13:1 no Ammonite or Moabite should ever enter God's assembly: See Deuteronomy 23:3-5.

13:2 Yet our God turned the curse into a blessing: See Numbers 22-24.

13:4-5 The high priest Eliashib was closely related to Sanballat the Horonite through marriage (Neh 3:1, 20). Eliashib's grandson married Sanballat's daughter (Neh 13:28). While Nehemiah was away, Eliashib had converted one of the temple storerooms into an accommodation for Tobiah the Ammonite, a close associate of Sanballat's. A high priest emptied a large storeroom in the temple to house an archenemy of the community. Tobiah and Sanballat had fiercely opposed Judah's reconstruction of the Jerusalem wall. They had threatened the community and falsely accused Nehemiah and his company of rebellion. Eliashib was a close friend to the adversary of Judah. From the perspective of Nehemiah, Eliashib was not conducting himself in the manner of a high priest, who ought to be guarding the interests of God's house and God's people. Instead, Eliashib had acted sacrilegiously by installing in the temple an Ammonite (Tobiah), whom the Lord's instruction had banned.

13:6 Babylon's King Artaxerxes: Artaxerxes was a Persian king. He also ruled Babylon.

13:10 the Levites hadn't been given their portions: See Numbers 18:24. During Nehemiah's absence, the community stopped bringing their offerings to the temple. The Levites had to return to their old source of livelihood, and the temple service was interrupted.

13:11 I gathered them together and set them in their stations: Nehemiah summons the Levites back to Jerusalem and reinstates the worship in Jerusalem. The temple officials return to their assignments.

13:12 Residents of Judah resumed their contributions to the temple. Once again, the Levites and the priests could count on a regular income in order to go about the temple activities without being occupied with financial worries.

13:13 trustworthy: One of God's distinctive characteristics is faithfulness (see Deut 7:9; 32:4; 2 Chron 31:20; Neh 7:2; Ps 31:5). Nehemiah appoints treasurers to be responsible for collecting the tenth part of the people's produce and proper distribution among the temple officials.

13:15-16 Nehemiah notices the violation of the sabbath instructions. God had strictly charged the every kind of load, and then bringing them to Jerusalem on the Sabbath. I warned them at that time against selling food.

<sup>16</sup>In addition, people from Tyre who lived in the city were bringing in fish and all kinds of merchandise and selling them to the people of Judah on the Sabbath. This happened in Jerusalem itself!

<sup>17</sup>So I scolded the officials of Judah: "What is this evil thing that you are doing?" I asked. "You are making the Sabbath impure!" <sup>18</sup>This is just what your ancestors did, and God brought all this evil upon us and upon this city. And now you are bringing more wrath upon Israel by making the Sabbath impure!"

<sup>19</sup>So when it began to grow dark at the gates of Jerusalem before the Sabbath, I gave orders that the doors should be shut. I also ordered that they shouldn't be reopened until after the Sabbath. To make sure that no load would come into the city<sup>b</sup> on the Sabbath, I stationed some of my own men at the gates. <sup>20</sup>Once or twice the traders and sellers of all kinds of merchandise spent the night outside Jerusalem. <sup>21</sup>But I warned them: "Why are you spending the night by the wall? If you do that again, I will lay hands on you!" At that point, they stopped coming on the Sabbath. <sup>22</sup>I also commanded the Levites to purify themselves and to come and guard the gates in order to keep the Sabbath day holy.

Remember this also in my favor, my God, and spare me according to the greatness of your mercy.

Marrying foreign women

<sup>23</sup>Also in those days I saw Jews who had married women of Ashdod, Ammon, and Moab.

<sup>24</sup>Half of their children spoke the language of Ashdod or the language of various peoples; they couldn't speak the language of Judah.

<sup>25</sup>So I scolded them and cursed them, and beat some of them, and pulled out their hair. I also made them swear a solemn pledge in the name of God, saying, "You won't give your daughters to their sons in marriage, or take their daughters in marriage for your sons or yourselves. <sup>26</sup>Didn't Israel's King Solomon sin on account of such women? Among the many nations there was no king like him. He was well loved by his God, and God made him king over all Israel. Yet foreign wives led even him into sin!" <sup>27</sup>Should we then listen to you and do all this great evil, acting unfaithfully toward our God by marrying foreign women?"

<sup>b</sup>Heb lacks the city.

Israelites to remember (Exod 20:8) and observe the seventh-day Sabbath (Exod 31:12-17; Isa 58:13-14). Despite the prohibition of work, residents of Judah were engaging in field labor (contrary to Exod 34:21; Num15:32-36), treading winepresses, loading donkeys, and carrying out business transactions (cf. Amos 8:5; Jer 17:21-27). The instruction also prohibited traveling (Exod 16:29-30) and kindling fire (Exod 35:2-3) on the Sabbath. After the exile, the observance of the Sabbath as well as the dietary laws became particularly important markers of Jewish identity and faith. God's blessings are attached to faithful observance of the Sabbath (Isa 56:1-7).

13:19 So when it began to grow dark: In the Jewish calendar, the Sabbath and other holidays begin at sunset.

13:23-31 Identity was one of the primary concerns for post-exilic Judah. The Babylonian destruction of Jerusalem and ensuing exile were traumatic experiences for the Jewish people. Ezra and Nehemiah viewed the catastrophic events as God's punishment for Israel's failure to live by the teachings expected from a covenantal relationship with the Lord. These two men were determined to prevent history from repeating itself. They took issue with intermarriage. Union between Jewish men and non-Jewish women entailed social and economic ties with the surrounding tribal alliances that could compromise Judah's self-interest. We don't know if the women from other tribes renounced their native cultures or religions. They may have taught their children in their own language, customs, and religious traditions. Ezra and Nehemiah saw the foreign spouses as potential cause for the Jewish men to worship idols and abandon their faith, which could sweep throughout the restored covenantal community. In the view of the priest Ezra and the governor Nehemiah, the syncretistic practices of their Jewish ancestors (e.g., worshipping other gods) had incurred the judgment of God, after repeated warnings by the prophets. So in the view of the leaders, the non-Jewish women posed a threat to the survival of the Jewish community and its covenant with the Lord. Nehemiah condemned intermarriage in the strongest terms, and he firmly demanded that Jewish men marry only Jewish women. But, in contrast to Ezra, he stopped short of insisting on divorce for men who married outside the Jewish community.

13:25 You won't give your daughters: See Exodus 34:11-16; Deuteronomy 7:1-6.

13:26 Didn't Israel's King Solomon sin on account of such women?: Solomon loved many foreign women (1 Kgs 11:1). He entered into marriage alliances with women from the list of nations which the Lord had forbidden. Solomon accumulated 700 wives and 300 concubines. In Nehemiah's view, Solomon's foreign wives led the king to separate from the covenantal relationship with the Lord. These alliances with the wives (and their tribes) initiated Solomon into their respective idolatrous practices. This

13:18 Nm 32:14;
Josh 22:18;
Ezr 9:13;
Jer 17:21, 27;
Ezr 20:13
13:23 Ru 1:4;
1Ki 11:1; Ezr 9:1;
Neh 13:1;
13:25 Dt 7:3;
Neh 13:17;
Is 50:6

<sup>28</sup>Now one of the sons of Joiada son of the high priest Eliashib was a son-in-law of Sanballat the Horonite. So I chased him away from me.

<sup>29</sup>Remember them, my God, because they have defiled the priesthood and the covenant of the priests and the Levites!

<sup>30</sup>So I purified them of everything foreign and established the services of the priests and Levites with specific duties for each person. <sup>31</sup>I also provided for the wood offering at appointed times as well as for the early produce.

Remember me, my God, for good.

was the basis of God's warning about royalty in 1 Kings 11:1-13.

13:28 So I chased him away from me: According to the Instruction, a priest was to marry of his own kind (Lev 21:14).

ESTHER

The book of Esther was written to help Jewish believers live faithfully in an unfaithful—and sometimes openly hostile—world. Its themes of human courage and God's protection continue to inspire Christians and Jews to this day, especially as they struggle with the relationship between faith and culture.

The story is set during the reign of Ahasuerus (Xerxes I), a Persian king who ruled from 486 to 465 BCE. The first verse of the book ("This is what happened back when Ahasuerus lived") says that the story was written at a later date. Most scholars think it was written about 80 years after the events it describes. This gap is important, because it keeps us from getting too caught up in historical uncertainties. For example, we have no record of a Persian queen named Esther, and the Greek historian Herodotus places Ahasuerus at the famous Battle of Salamis, though the book of Esther describes him crowning his new queen in Susa. Unlikely details also aren't surprising for this type of story. For example, the 180-day drinking binge for the entire army described in Esther 1:3-4, or the 75-foot-tall stake for impaling a person that Haman sets up in Esther 5:14.

While Esther is listed among the Historical Books in Christian Bibles, Jews place it with the Wisdom books. The author's goal was to tell a story set in Israel's past to make important points for the author's audience. Readers should remember that Esther's author is a master of using humor to make serious points.

Three major themes deserve special mention. The first is the importance of proportion. Ahasuerus and Haman provide examples of actions that are out of all proportion. (Ahasuerus' famous drinking binge is one example; Haman's decision to wipe out an entire people because he was insulted is another.) But Esther shows remarkable restraint in the face of horrible danger for herself and her people. The second theme is the challenge of living a faithful life in an unfaithful world. The Jews in the book of Esther demonstrate courage and creativity in the face of difficulty and danger. The third theme is the importance of the written word. There are at least 63 references to writing or written texts in the book of Esther. This, when combined with the power of particular texts to determine either life or death (see Esth 3:12-14; 8:9-14), suggests that the entire book may be a meditation on this theme.

The Esther scroll in a silver container
iStockPhoto

God is never mentioned in the book of Esther. Nevertheless, God is a powerful character who operates "behind the scenes," directing one fantastic coincidence after another. The author may also be trying to protect readers from any accidental pronunciation of the divine name during the Jewish Festival of Purim, which traditionally requires the scroll of Esther to be read aloud in a carnival-like atmosphere.

Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic Bibles contain six additional passages (104 verses in all) that don't appear in Jewish or Protestant Bibles. These verses are based on the Greek translation of the Hebrew Bible and are often labeled as "Additions to Esther." The additions tend to be more pious in tone and make liberal use of the name for God.

I. Chapter One

- A. Ahasuerus displays his power and wealth (1:1-9)
- B. Vashti sparks a state crisis (1:10-12)
- C. The king and his advisors react (1:13-22)

II. Chapter Two

- A. The king decides to seek a new queen (2:1-4)
- B. Esther is caught in the royal dragnet (2:5-11)
- C. Esther is chosen as queen (2:12-18)
- D. Mordecai saves the king's life (2:19-23)

III. Chapter Three

- A. Mordecai refuses to bow to Haman (3:1-4)
- B. Haman seeks to destroy the Jews (3:5-15)

IV. Chapter Four

- A. Mordecai and Esther learn about the deadly edict (4:1-8)
- B. Mordecai and Esther confer (4:9-14)
- C. Esther commits herself to plead for her people (4:15-17)

V. Chapter Five

- A. Esther throws a banquet for the king and Haman (5:1-8)
- B. Haman plots to impale Mordecai (5:9-14)

VI. Chapter Six

- A. The king is reminded of Mordecai's loyalty (6:1-3)
- B. Haman is forced to honor Mordecai (6:4-13)

VII. Chapter Seven

- A. Esther pleads for her people (7:1-6)
- B. Haman's wicked plan is exposed and punished (7:7-10)

VIII. Chapter Eight

- A. Esther pleads for her people again (8:1-6)
- B. A counter-edict is crafted and celebrated (8:7-17)

IX. Chapters Nine and Ten

- A. The Jews defend themselves against their attackers (9:1-19)
- B. The Feast of Purim is established (9:20-32)
- C. Mordecai's power and authority (10:1-3)

Queen Vashti

1 This is what happened back when Ahasuerus lived, the very Ahasuerus who ruled from India to Cush—one hundred twenty-seven provinces in all. <sup>2</sup>At that time, Ahasuerus ruled the kingdom from his royal throne in the fortified part of Susa. <sup>3</sup>In the third year of his rule he hosted a feast for all his officials and courtiers. The leaders of Persia and Media attended, along with his provincial officials and officers. <sup>4</sup>He showed off the awesome riches of his kingdom and beautiful treasures as mirrors of how very great he was. The event lasted a long time—six whole months, to be exact! <sup>5</sup>After that the king held a seven-day feast for everyone in the fortified part of Susa. Whether they were important people in the town or not, they all met in the walled garden of the royal palace. <sup>6</sup>White linen curtains and purple hangings were held up by shining white and red-purple ropes tied to silver rings and marble posts. Gold and silver couches sat on a mosaic floor made of gleaming purple crystal, marble, and mother-of-pearl. <sup>7</sup>They served the drinks in cups made of gold, and each cup was different. The king made sure there was plenty of royal wine. <sup>8</sup>The rule about the drinks was “No limits!” The king had ordered everyone serving wine in the palace to offer as much as each guest wanted. <sup>9</sup>At the same time, Queen Vashti held a feast for women in King Ahasuerus’ palace.

<sup>10</sup>On the seventh day, when wine had put the king in high spirits, he gave an order to Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seven eunuchs who served King Ahasuerus personally. <sup>11</sup>They were to bring Queen Vashti before him wearing the royal crown. She was gorgeous, and he wanted to show off her beauty both to the general public and to his important guests. <sup>12</sup>But Queen Vashti refused to come as the king had ordered through the eunuchs. The king was furious, his anger boiling inside. <sup>13</sup>Now, when a need arose, the king would often talk with certain very smart people about the best way to handle it. They were people who knew both the kingdom’s written laws and what judges had decided about cases in the past. <sup>14</sup>The ones he talked with most often were Carshena, She-thar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan. They were seven very important people in Persia and Media who, as the kingdom’s highest leaders, were in the king’s inner circle. So the king said to them, <sup>15</sup>“According to the law, what should I do with Queen Vashti since she didn’t do what King Ahasuerus ordered her through the eunuchs?”

<sup>16</sup>Then Memucan spoke up in front of the king and the officials. “Queen Vashti,” he said, “has done something wrong not just to the king himself. She has also done wrong to all the officials and the peoples in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus. <sup>17</sup>This is the reason: News of what the queen did will reach all women, making them look down on their husbands. They will say, ‘King Ahasuerus ordered servants to bring Queen Vashti before him, but she refused to come.’ <sup>18</sup>This very day, the important women of Persia and Media who hear about the queen will tell the royal officials the same thing. There will be no end of put-downs and arguments. <sup>19</sup>Now, if the king wishes, let him send out a royal order and have it written into the laws of Persia and Media, laws no one can ever change. It should say that Vashti will never again come before King Ahasuerus. It should also say that the king will give her royal place to someone better than she. <sup>20</sup>When the order becomes public through the whole empire,

1:1 Ahasuerus: the Hebrew name for a Persian emperor (Xerxes I), who reigned from India to Ethiopia from 486 to 465 BCE. one hundred twenty-seven provinces: the first of many details that demonstrate the king’s immense power.

1:2 Susa: one of four historical Persian capitals.

1:3-4 six whole months: an absurdly long party. The storyteller uses the details to tell readers that the king’s actions are out of proportion.

1:5-8 After 180 days, the king throws another banquet that lasts an additional seven days. The description of this banquet adds local character and highlights the king’s “more is better” philosophy.

1:9-15 Queen Vashti sparks a state crisis when she refuses to obey the king’s command to attend his banquet wearing the royal crown (1:11). This may mean that she was to appear wearing only the royal crown. It’s understandable why she would refuse to parade in front of drunken men.

Her act of defiance (or modesty) sets up the chapter’s ultimate irony: The king who commands wealth and power can’t even control his wife.

1:13-20 Seven eunuchs (Esth 1:10, see sidebar, “Eunuchs” at Esth 2) were unable to bring the queen to the king’s banquet, and now seven very important people (1:14) are called to advise Ahasuerus on how to deal with his wife’s disobedience. The outrageous response resembles Haman’s reaction to Mordecai’s disobedience in Esther 3:6, which also results in a law. The fact that all of this also happens on the seventh day of the feast (Esth 1:10) reflects the Bible’s use of the number seven to represent completeness or perfection.

1:19 No sources outside of the Bible say that the laws of Persia and Media couldn’t be changed, but this detail is important for the plot of the book of Esther (see Esth 8:8).

1:1 Est 4:6;
Est 8:9; Est 9:30;
Dn 6:1

2:1 Est 1:19,
Est 7:10
2:2 1Ki 1:2
2:3 Est 2:8,
Est 2:12,
Est 2:15
2:4 Est 1:9,
Est 2:1, Est 2:17
2:8 Neh 1:1;
Est 2:3
2:12 Ps 45:8;
Prov 27:9; Is 57:9

vast as it is, all women will treat their husbands properly. The rule should touch everyone, whether from an important family or not.”

<sup>21</sup>The king liked the plan, as did the other men, and he did just what Memucan said. <sup>22</sup>He sent written orders to all the king’s provinces. Each province received it written in its own alphabet and each people received it in its own language. It said that each husband should rule over his own house.

Finding a new queen

2 Sometime later when King Ahasuerus was less angry, he remembered Vashti, what she had done, and what he had decided about her. <sup>2</sup>So his young male servants said, “Let the king have a search made for beautiful young women who haven’t yet married. <sup>3</sup>And let the king choose certain people in all the royal provinces to lead the search. Have them bring all the beautiful young women together to the fortified part of Susa, to the women’s house, to the care of Hegai the king’s eunuch in charge of the women so that he might provide beauty treatments for them. <sup>4</sup>Let the young woman who pleases you the most take Vashti’s place as queen.” The king liked the plan and implemented it.

<sup>5</sup>Now there was a Jew in the fortified part of Susa whose name was Mordecai, Jair’s son. He came from the family line of Shimei and Kish; he was a Benjaminite. (<sup>6</sup>Benjaminites had been taken into exile away from Jerusalem along with the group, which included Judah’s King Jeconiah, whom Babylon’s King Nebuchadnezzar exiled to Babylon.) <sup>7</sup>Mordecai had been a father to Hadassah (that is, Esther), though she was really his cousin, because she had neither father nor mother. The girl had a beautiful figure and was lovely to look at. When her parents died, Mordecai had taken her to be his daughter. <sup>8</sup>When the king’s order and his new law became public, many young women were gathered into the fortified part of Susa under the care of Hegai. Esther was also taken to the palace to the care of Hegai, the one in charge of the women. <sup>9</sup>The young woman pleased him and won his kindness. He quickly began her beauty treatments and gave her carefully chosen foods. He also gave her seven servants selected from among the palace servants and moved her and her servants into the nicest rooms in the women’s house. (<sup>10</sup>Esther hadn’t told anyone her race and family background because Mordecai had ordered her not to.) <sup>11</sup>Each day found Mordecai pacing back and forth along the wall in front of the women’s house to learn how Esther was doing and what they were doing with her. <sup>12</sup>According to the rules for women, the moment for each young woman to go to King Ahasuerus came at the end of twelve months. (She had six months of treatment with pleasant-smelling creams and six months with fragrant oils and other treatments for women.) <sup>13</sup>So this is how the young woman would go to the king: They gave her anything that she asked to take with her from the women’s house to the palace. <sup>14</sup>In the evening she would go in, and the next morning she would return to the second women’s

1:22 The law will be translated and published in multiple languages so that residents couldn’t claim that they didn’t understand the will of the king.

2:1 Sometime later: enough time for the king to clear his head and get rid of his anger. remembered Vashti... decided about her: The king appears to have regrets.

2:2-4 Even though taking advice from his advisors got him into this situation, Ahasuerus is ready to sign up for more of the same. This time he agrees to the plan his young male servants have for finding a new queen.

2:5-7 The narrative shifts away from the palace and introduces us to two little-known Jewish subjects of the king: Mordecai and his cousin/adopted daughter, Esther. Mordecai’s family line is particularly important because it links him to the tribe of Benjamin and the house of Saul (see 1 Sam 9:1-2). This connection is important background to the rivalry that develops between Mordecai and Haman the “Agagite” (see note on Esth 3:1). Esther is triply disadvantaged in this story: She is a woman, an exile, and an orphan. The fact that she is beautiful is—considering the king’s plan to find a queen—a troubling detail.

2:8 were gathered: a reminder that the search for a new queen has little in common with a modern beauty contest. Esther and her fellow contestants don’t choose to compete, and they don’t get to go home when it’s over (Esth 2:12-14).

2:9 Esther’s inner qualities are hinted at here as she wins the favor of Hegai.

2:10-11 These verses reveal much about Esther, Mordecai, and their situation. Esther hides her Jewish identity, not out of embarrassment, ambition, or fear but because Mordecai orders her to do so. Mordecai’s anxiety shows his deep concern. His cousin/adopted daughter is in danger, as a woman and as a Jew.

2:12 Esther’s Hebrew name, Hadassah, means “myrtle”—a plant whose leaves have a beautiful fragrance. Her Hebrew name suggests that she smells just fine without the 12-month treatments! The extensive length of the treatments reflects the king’s lack of proportion, and it also guarantees that none of the young women are pregnant. 2:13-14 The rules of the contest make it clear that the young women don’t get to return home, but instead go to a second women’s house under the care of another eunuch (see sidebar, “Eunuchs”).

house under the care of Shaashgaz. He was the king's eunuch in charge of the secondary wives. She would never go to the king again unless he was so pleased that he called for her by name. <sup>15</sup>Soon the moment came for Esther daughter of Mordecai's uncle Abihail, whom Mordecai had taken as his own daughter, to go to the king. But she asked for nothing except what Hegai the king's eunuch in charge of the women told her. (Esther kept winning the favor of everyone who saw her.)

<sup>16</sup>Esther was taken to King Ahasuerus, to his own palace, in the tenth month (that is, the month of Tevet)<sup>a</sup> in the seventh year of his rule. <sup>17</sup>The king loved Esther more than all the other women; she had won his love and his favor more than all the others. He placed the royal crown on her head and made her ruler in place of Vashti. <sup>18</sup>The king held a magnificent, lavish feast, "the feast of Esther," for all his officials and courtiers. He declared a public holiday<sup>b</sup> for the provinces and gave out gifts with royal generosity. <sup>19</sup>When they gathered the young women to the second women's house,<sup>c</sup> Mordecai was working for the king at the King's Gate. <sup>20</sup>Esther still wasn't telling anyone her family background and race, just as Mordecai had ordered her. She continued to do what Mordecai said, just as she did when she was in his care.

Mordecai saves the king

<sup>21</sup>At that time, as Mordecai continued to work at the King's Gate, two royal eunuchs, Bigthan and Teresh, became angry with King Ahasuerus. They were among the guards protecting the doorway to the king, but they secretly planned to kill him. <sup>22</sup>When Mordecai got wind of it, he reported it to Queen Esther. She spoke to the king about it, saying the information came from Mordecai. <sup>23</sup>The matter was investigated and found to be true, so the two men were impaled on pointed poles.<sup>d</sup> A report about the event was written in the royal record with the king present.

Haman plans to destroy Mordecai

3 Sometime later, King Ahasuerus promoted Haman, Hammedatha the Agagite's son,<sup>e</sup> by promoting him above all the officials who worked with him. <sup>2</sup>All the royal workers at the

<sup>a</sup>December–January <sup>b</sup>Or remission of taxes <sup>c</sup>Or to the women's house a second time <sup>d</sup>Or hanged the two men on gallows <sup>e</sup>Or the braggart

2:15 What Esther chooses isn't as important as the fact that she's wise enough to ask Hegai for advice about it. 2:16–18 Ahasuerus' decision to make Esther his queen puts her in Vashti's "place" (Esth 1:19; 2:4). The parallel is made even more complete by the banquet he throws in her honor. These references to Vashti remind us that Esther is in a dangerous position. 2:19–23 Mordecai is in the right place at the right time to uncover the conspiracy. This is a real stroke of providence, as is his secret relationship with the queen. (Note that this is the first time Esther is referred to by that title.)

Eunuchs Eunuchs play an important role in the book of Esther. A eunuch is a boy or a man who has been castrated (usually without his consent) so that he might be usefully employed or enslaved as a palace servant with reduced threat to those he serves. This practice has been known since ancient times. For obvious reasons, eunuchs were the guardians of choice for the women of a royal household, but were also put in charge of other domestic duties.

Eunuchs are depicted in a variety of roles in the book of Esther:

- 1:10–12 Seven eunuchs are named in order to accompany Vashti.
- 2:3, 8–9, 15 Hegai is the eunuch in charge of the women gathered to be "contestants"; he grants Esther special favors and advice.
- 2:21–23; 6:2 Bigthan and Teresh plot unsuccessfully to kill the king and are executed.
- 4:4–17 Eunuchs (especially Hathach) serve as trusted messengers between Esther and Mordecai.
- 7:9 Harbona points out the huge stake in Haman's backyard, cleverly suggesting it as an appropriate fate for Haman.

Bigthan and Teresh illustrate that not all of the eunuchs in this book are positive characters, but even their foiled assassination plot plays a role in the story's happy ending. Hegai, Hathach, and Harbona each play a crucial role in supporting Esther and Mordecai's cause. Like the Jewish people in this story, they demonstrate courage and creativity in the face of limited power and dangerous circumstances.

2:17 Est 1:11
2:16 Gn 29:22;
Est 1:3
2:21 Est 6:2
2:23 Dt 21:22;
Est 6:1, Est 10:2
3:1 Nm 24:77;
Est 5:11

Impalement—thrusting a living human body onto a sharp stake, usually between the legs—was a common form of execution in ancient Persia.

3:1 Readers expect a reward for Mordecai after he saves the king's life at the end of Esther 2, but the promotion goes to a new character, Haman. the Agagite's son: Haman is a descendant of the Amalekites' King Agag. Saul failed to execute Agag, and this disobedience (1 Sam 15:3) resulted in Saul's losing his kingship (1 Sam 15:28–29). Haman's family history intersects with Mordecai's, who is a descendant of Saul (see note on Esth 2:5–7).

3:5 Est 5:9;

Est 7:10

3:6 Ps 83:4

3:7 Lv 16:8;

Est 6:15;

Est 9:24;

Prv 16:33

3:8 Lv 26:33;

Ac 16:21

3:10 Gn 41:42;

Est 8:2

3:12 2Sa 8:17;

1Ki 21:8; Est 8:8

4:1 2Sa 13:19;

Est 7:1; Dn 9:3;

Jon 3:6

King's Gate would kneel and bow facedown to Haman because the king had so ordered. But Mordecai didn't kneel or bow down.<sup>3</sup> So the royal workers at the King's Gate said to Mordecai, "Why don't you obey the king's order?"<sup>4</sup> Day after day they questioned him, but he paid no attention to them. So they let Haman know about it just to see whether or not Mordecai's words would hold true.<sup>5</sup> (He had told them that he was a Jew.)<sup>6</sup> When Haman himself saw that Mordecai didn't kneel or bow down to him, he became very angry.<sup>7</sup> But he decided not to kill only Mordecai, for people had told him Mordecai's race. Instead, he planned to wipe out all the Jews, Mordecai's people, throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus.<sup>8</sup> In the first month (that is, the month of Nisan)<sup>9</sup> in the twelfth year of the rule of King Ahasuerus, servants threw pur, namely, dice, in front of Haman to find the best day for his plan. They tried every day and every month, and the dice chose the thirteenth<sup>10</sup> day of the twelfth month (that is, the month of Adar).

<sup>8</sup>Then Haman said to King Ahasuerus, "A certain group of people exist in pockets among the other peoples in all the provinces of your kingdom. Their laws are different from those of everyone else, and they refuse to obey the king's laws. There's no good reason for the king to put up with them any longer. <sup>9</sup>If the king wishes, let a written order be sent out to destroy them, and I will hand over ten thousand kikkar of silver<sup>11</sup> to those in charge of the king's business. The silver can go into the king's treasuries."

<sup>10</sup>The king removed his royal ring from his finger and handed it to Haman, Hammedatha the Agagite's son, enemy of the Jews. <sup>11</sup>The king said to Haman, "Both the money and the people are under your power. Do as you like with them." <sup>12</sup>So in the first month, on the thirteenth day, royal scribes were summoned to write down everything that Haman ordered. The orders were for the king's rulers and the governors in charge of each province, as well as for the officials of each people. They wrote in the alphabet of each province and in the language of each people. They wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed the order with the king's royal ring. <sup>13</sup>Fast runners were to take the order to all the provinces of the king. The order commanded people to wipe out, kill, and destroy all the Jews, both young and old, even women and little children. This was to happen on a single day—the thirteenth day of the twelfth month (that is, the month of Adar).<sup>14</sup> They were also to seize their property. <sup>14</sup>A copy of the order was to become law in each province and to be posted in public for all peoples to read. The people were to be ready for this day to do as the order commanded. <sup>15</sup>Driven by the king's order, the runners left Susa just as the law became public in the fortified part of Susa. While the king and Haman sat down to have a drink, the city of Susa was in total shock.

A crisis for the Jews

4 When Mordecai learned what had been done, he tore his clothes, dressed in mourning clothes, and put ashes on his head. Then he went out into the heart of the city and cried

<sup>6</sup>Or stand <sup>8</sup>March–April <sup>10</sup>See LXX and 3:13. <sup>11</sup>A kikkar weighed approximately seventy-five pounds.

<sup>12</sup>February–March

3:2-3 Mordecai's refusal to bow down to Haman may not be rooted in his concern about idolatry or worshipping Haman. Bowing down to another human being was a common custom of respect (see 2 Sam 14:4; Ruth 2:10). The story provides only two clues about Mordecai's behavior. The first is that Mordecai saves the king's life, but Haman gets the promotion. So Mordecai may have had personal reasons for resenting Haman. The second and more likely clue, however, is the bad blood between their two families (see note on Esth 3:1). More important than why he refuses to bow down are the results of that refusal. 3:4 Mordecai has publicly identified himself as a Jew. The workers seem to want to test Mordecai's power (or the power of his God) against that of Haman. The issue of whose words would hold true turns out to be one of the most important questions in the book when the king and Haman's edict (Esth 3:12) is pitted against Esther and Mordecai's edict (Esth 8:9). The words of Haman's wife and friends in Esther 6:13 about his inability to win against Mordecai may indicate that there were rumors about Jewish invincibility.

3:5-7 Haman's reaction is wildly out of proportion to the insult. (His arrogance makes Ahasuerus look like an amateur.) His use of dice to choose the best day for killing a whole people is perverse. The irony is that Mordecai's God controls this game of chance.

3:10-11 royal ring: the keys to Ahasuerus' kingdom.

3:12 royal ring: Putting the king's name on the law and sealing it with his ring (the ancient version of notarizing it) signal the king's knowledge and approval, and make the law irrevocable.

3:13 wipe out, kill, and destroy: Haman used only the word "destroy" in his proposal to Ahasuerus (Esth 3:9). The words for "destroy" and "enslave" sound similar in Hebrew. It is possible that the storyteller is suggesting that Ahasuerus may have been agreeing only to the enslavement of his subjects. This wordplay makes sense of Esther's argument in Esther 7:4 where she says, "If we simply had been sold as male and female slaves, I would have said nothing."

4:1-3 Tearing garments, wearing mourning clothes, and out loudly and bitterly. <sup>2</sup>He went only as far as the King's Gate because it was against the law for anyone to pass through it wearing mourning clothes. <sup>3</sup>At the same time, in every province and place where the king's order and his new law arrived, a very great sadness came over the Jews. They gave up eating and spent whole days weeping and crying out loudly in pain. Many Jews lay on the ground in mourning clothes and ashes. <sup>4</sup>When Esther's female servants and eunuchs came and told her about Mordecai, the queen's whole body showed how upset she was. She sent everyday clothes for Mordecai to wear instead of mourning clothes, but he rejected them.

<sup>5</sup>Esther then sent for Hathach, one of the royal eunuchs whose job it was to wait on her. She ordered him to go to Mordecai and find out what was going on and why he was acting this way. <sup>6</sup>Hathach went out to Mordecai, to the city square in front of the King's Gate. <sup>7</sup>Mordecai told him everything that had happened to him. He spelled out the exact amount of silver that Haman promised to pay into the royal treasury. It was in exchange for the destruction of the Jews. <sup>8</sup>He also gave Hathach a copy of the law made public in Susa concerning the Jews' destruction so that Hathach could show it to Esther and report it to her. Through him Mordecai ordered her to go to the king to seek his kindness and his help for her people. <sup>9</sup>Hathach came back and told Esther what Mordecai had said.

<sup>10</sup>In reply Esther ordered Hathach to tell Mordecai: <sup>11</sup>"All the king's officials and the people in his provinces know that there's a single law in a case like this. Any man or woman who comes to the king in the inner courtyard without being called is to be put to death. Only the person to whom the king holds out the gold scepter may live. In my case, I haven't been called to come to the king for the past thirty days."

<sup>12</sup>When they told Mordecai Esther's words, <sup>13</sup>he had them respond to Esther: "Don't think for one minute that, unlike all the other Jews, you'll come out of this alive simply because you are in the palace. <sup>14</sup>In fact, if you don't speak up at this very important time, relief and rescue will appear for the Jews from another place, but you and your family will die. But who knows? Maybe it was for a moment like this that you came to be part of the royal family."

<sup>15</sup>Esther sent back this word to Mordecai: <sup>16</sup>"Go, gather all the Jews who are in Susa and tell them to give up eating to help me be brave. They aren't to eat or drink anything for three whole days, and I myself will do the same, along with my female servants. Then, even though it's against the law, I will go to the king; and if I am to die, then die I will." <sup>17</sup>So Mordecai left where he was and did exactly what Esther had ordered him.

Esther acts

5 Three days later, Esther put on royal clothes and stood in the inner courtyard of the palace, facing the palace itself. At that moment the king was inside sitting on his royal throne and facing the palace doorway. <sup>2</sup>When the king noticed Queen Esther standing in the entry court, he was pleased. The king held out to Esther the gold scepter in his hand, and she came forward and touched the scepter's tip.

rubbing ashes on one's head are all traditional signs of mourning, along with loud weeping and wailing (see Joel 1:5; 2:13; Jon 3:6-8; Job 1:20).

4:4 The fact that Esther's female servants and eunuchs come to tell her about Mordecai's appearance and behavior signals that they are aware of at least some sort of relationship between them. This increases our sense of her danger. Esther's reaction is profound, but she may not have known the reason for Mordecai's grief (see Esth 4:5).

4:5-9 Esther risks revealing her Jewish identity by sending her eunuch, Hathach, to speak with Mordecai. The fact that Mordecai knows the exact amount of Haman's bribe suggests that he has inside information about the conversation that took place between Haman and Ahasuerus. This level of knowledge contrasts with Esther's relative isolation. Her isolation ends abruptly when Mordecai sends her—through Hathach—an actual copy of the law. His order to go to the king to seek his kindness contradicts his earlier order to keep her true identity a secret (Esth 2:10).

4:12-13 Mordecai seems to assume that Esther's message reflects a lack of courage. Yet her reply clarifies her reasons for hesitating (Esth 4:10-11).

4:14 another place: Mordecai doesn't specify the source of the Jews' rescue. His words reflect his general faith in God's providence and protection.

4:15-16 Esther's words make it clear that she isn't a coward. (Her earlier hesitation could be because of caution, an effort to make sure Mordecai's command was based on full information.) By declaring a general fast—in which she and her female servants will participate—she signals her piety, her humility, and the extent to which she openly identifies with her people. Through fasting and prayer, Esther seeks to enlist God's blessing and aid when she goes to the king to plead for their lives.

4:17 Mordecai is now taking orders from Esther.

5:1 Three days later: refers to the three-day fast by Esther at the end of Esther 4. Providence is Esther's ally: Ahasuerus just happens to be sitting on his throne, looking her way, as she stands in the forbidden inner courtyard.

5:2-3 scepter: a symbol of authority and power. half the

4:11 Est 5:2,
Est 8:4

4:16 Gn 43:14;
2Ch 20:3;
Ezr 8:21; Est 5:1

5:1 Est 4:11,
Est 4:16, Est 6:4

5:2 Est 4:11,
Est 8:4

5:3 Est 7:2,
Est 9:12; Mk 6:23
6:1 Est 2:23;
Dn 6:18
6:2 Est 2:21-22
6:3 Gn 40:23;
Est 2:5, Est 2:21,
Est 3:2, Est 4:1
6:4 Est 4:11,
Est 5:14, Est 7:9
6:6 Est 5:11,
Est 6:7, Est 6:11

<sup>3</sup>Then the king said to her, "What is it, Queen Esther? What do you want? I'll give you anything—even half the kingdom."

<sup>4</sup>Esther answered, "If the king wishes, please come today with Haman for the feast that I have prepared for him."

<sup>5</sup>"Hurry, get Haman," the king ordered, "so we can do what Esther says." So the king and Haman came to the feast that Esther had prepared. <sup>6</sup>As they sipped wine, the king asked, "Now what is it you wish? I'll give it to you. What do you want? I'll do anything—even give you half the kingdom."

<sup>7</sup>Esther answered, "This is my wish and this is what I want: <sup>8</sup>If I please the king, and if the king wishes to grant my wish and my desire, I'd like the king and Haman to come to another feast that I will prepare for them. Tomorrow I will answer the king's questions."

Haman boasts, complains, and acts

<sup>9</sup>That day Haman left Esther's place happy, his spirits high, but then he saw Mordecai in the King's Gate. Mordecai neither stood up nor seemed the least bit nervous around him, so Haman suddenly felt great rage toward Mordecai. <sup>10</sup>But Haman held himself back and went on home. He sent word that his friends and his wife Zeresh should join him there. <sup>11</sup>Haman boasted to them about his great wealth and his many sons. He told all about how the king had honored him by promoting him over the officials and high royal workers. <sup>12</sup>"Best of all," Haman said, "Queen Esther has invited no one else but me to join the king for food and drinks that she has prepared. In fact, I've been called to join the king at her place tomorrow!" <sup>13</sup>But all this loses its meaning every time I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the King's Gate."

<sup>14</sup>So his wife Zeresh and all his friends told him: "Have people prepare a pointed pole seventy-five feet high. In the morning, tell the king to have Mordecai impaled on it. Then you can go with the king to the feast in a happy mood." Haman liked the idea and had the pole prepared.

Honor for Mordecai

6 That same night, the king simply couldn't sleep. He had the official royal records brought in, and his young male servants began reading them to the king. <sup>2</sup>They came to the report about Mordecai informing on Bigthan and Teresh. (They were the two royal eunuchs among the guards protecting the king's doorway, who secretly planned to kill King Ahasuerus.)

<sup>3</sup>"What was done to honor and reward Mordecai for this?" the king asked.

His young male servants replied, "Nothing was done for him, sir."

<sup>4</sup>"Who is that out in the courtyard?" the king asked. (Haman had just entered the outer courtyard of the palace. He had come to tell the king to impale Mordecai on the pole that he had set up for him.)

<sup>5</sup>The king's servants answered, "That's Haman standing out in the courtyard, sir." So the king said, "Have him come in."

<sup>6</sup>When Haman entered, the king asked him, "What should be done for the man whom the king really wants to honor?"

Haman thought to himself, Whom would the king really want to honor more than me?

<sup>7</sup>So Haman said to the king, "Here's what should be done for the man the king really wants kingdom: This may be an overstatement, or another instance of Ahasuerus' excessive behavior (see Esth 3:10-11).

5:4 The wording of the invitation suggests that the dinner is a carefully considered plan. In Hebrew, Haman's invitation comes across as an afterthought. Esther is careful to flatter Ahasuerus; she is trying to soften him up.

5:5-6 Notice how eager the king is to take orders from his queen. This contrasts with his failure to get Vashti to take an order from him (Esth 1:10-12).

5:7-8 Why does Esther issue this second invitation? The author keeps us guessing. The fact that we can't be sure she hasn't lost her nerve creates dramatic tension. When she promises that she will answer the king's questions tomorrow, readers are as eager as the king must be for this matter to be resolved.

5:9-13 Whatever Esther's reasons are, the delay between the two dinners sets up a meeting between Haman and Mordecai. (Those who recognize God's presence behind the scenes may see this as evidence of divine providence at work.) Haman announces his accomplishments to his family and friends. His insecurity is larger than his arrogance. Even with all his wealth and status, one insult sends him into a meltdown.

5:14 Nothing cheers up Haman like the prospect of impaling his enemy before the dinner (see Esth 2:23). Further irony derives from the fact that Mordecai is already sentenced to death as a result of Haman's law. seventy-five feet: roughly the height of a six-story building.

6:1-2 Providence is at work again, first in the fact of the king's insomnia, and second in the precise passage from the royal records selected to put him back to sleep. The selection may also reflect the will of the young male servants who chose it.

6:6-9 The speed and detail of Haman's proposal suggests to honor. <sup>8</sup>Have servants bring out a royal robe that the king himself has worn and a horse on which the king himself has ridden. It should have a royal crest on its head. <sup>9</sup>Then hand over the robe and the horse to another man, one of the king's officials. Have him personally robe<sup>k</sup> the man whom the king really wants to honor and lead him on the horse through the city square. As he goes, have him shout, "This is what the king does for the man he really wants to honor!"

<sup>10</sup>Then the king said to Haman, "Hurry, take the robe and the horse just as you've said and do exactly that for Mordecai the Jew, who works at the King's Gate. Don't leave out a single thing you've said!"

<sup>11</sup>So Haman took the robe and the horse and put the robe on Mordecai. He led him on horseback through the city square, shouting as he went, "This is what the king does for the man he really wants to honor!" <sup>12</sup>Afterward, Mordecai returned to the King's Gate, while Haman hurried home feeling great shame, his head covered.

<sup>13</sup>Haman told his wife Zeresh and all his friends everything that had happened to him. Both his friends<sup>l</sup> and his wife said to him, "You've already begun to lose out to Mordecai. If he is of Jewish birth, you'll not be able to win against him. You are surely going to lose out to him."

Haman's demise

<sup>14</sup>They were still discussing this with him when several royal eunuchs arrived. They quickly hurried Haman off to the feast that Esther had prepared. <sup>1</sup>When the king and Haman came in for the banquet with Queen Esther, <sup>2</sup>the king said to her, "This is the second day we've met for wine. What is your wish, Queen Esther? I'll give it to you. And what do you want? I'll do anything—even give you half the kingdom."

<sup>3</sup>Queen Esther answered, "If I please the king, and if the king wishes, give me my life—that's my wish—and the lives of my people too. That's my desire. <sup>4</sup>We have been sold—I and

6:8 1Kl 1:33
6:9 Gn 41:43
6:10 Est 2:19
6:11 Est 8:15
6:13 Est 5:10,
Est 5:14
7:1 Est 5:8

The Banquets in Esther

1. Xerxes' banquet for the nobility (1:2-4)
2. Xerxes' banquet for all the men in Susa (1:5-8)
3. Vashti's banquet for the women (1:9)
4. Esther's enthronement banquet (2:18)
5. Haman and Xerxes' banquet (3:15)
6. Esther's first banquet (5:4-8)
7. Esther's second banquet (7:1-9)
8. The Jews' feasting in celebration of Mordecai's glory and the counterdecree (8:17)
9. The first feast of Purim: Adar 14 (9:17, 19)
10. The second feast of Purim: Adar 15 (9:18)

<sup>k</sup>LXX sing robe and lead, cf Heb plural verbs <sup>l</sup>LXX; Heb wise ones that he has fantasized about being honored in such a way before. Wearing the king's clothing and riding the king's horse are signs that one has the power of the king (see 1 Kgs 1:33). Since Haman already has the king's signet ring, the only thing Haman lacks is the queen. The humor of this scene derives from the fact that we know more than either of the characters do. Haman and Ahasuerus are having a conversation that only the readers really understand.

6:10-11 Haman's fantasy turns into a nightmare when he is ordered to honor Mordecai in just the ways he had hoped to be honored himself. Ahasuerus seems unaware of the "mixed message" of honoring someone who is sentenced to death.

6:13 Haman's wife and friends are quick to distance themselves from him when they hear what has happened. (Note their use of the second person you.) Their emphasis on Mordecai's Jewish faith seems to reflect their sense that the Jews have some secret weapon that will give them the advantage (see also Esth 3:4).

7:1-2 The setting, the guest list, and the king's words are the same as the feast in Esther 5:6.

7:3 give me my life—that's my wish—and the lives of my people too: Esther takes advantage of the king's two-part question to craft a two-part request that links her life with the lives of her people. The king doesn't yet know who Esther's people are. This request must come as quite a shock. Someone has threatened the life of the queen and the lives of her people! Esther has certainly gotten his attention.

7:4 We have been sold—I and my people: This statement is difficult to understand without reference to the possible wordplay in Haman's original request (see note on Esth

7:9 Est 1:10,
Est 5:14
7:10 Est 9:25
8:1 Est 2:7

my people—to be wiped out, killed, and destroyed. If we simply had been sold as male and female slaves, I would have said nothing. But no enemy can compensate the king for this kind of damage.”

<sup>5</sup>King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther, “Who is this person, and where is he? Who would dare do such a thing?”

<sup>6</sup>Esther replied, “A man who hates, an enemy—this wicked Haman!” Haman was overcome with terror in the presence of the king and queen. <sup>7</sup>Furious, the king got up and left the banquet for the palace garden. But Haman stood up to beg Queen Esther for his life. He saw clearly that the king’s mood meant a bad end for him.

<sup>8</sup>The king returned from the palace garden to the banquet room just as Haman was kneeling on the couch where Esther was reclining. “Will you even molest the queen while I am in the house?” the king said. The words had barely left the king’s mouth before covering Haman’s face with dread.<sup>m</sup>

<sup>9</sup>Harbona, one of the eunuchs serving the king, said, “Sir, look! There’s the stake that Haman made for Mordecai, the man who spoke up and did something good for the king. It’s standing at Haman’s house—seventy-five feet high.”

“Impale him on it!” the king ordered. <sup>10</sup>So they impaled Haman on the very pole that he had set up for Mordecai, and the king’s anger went away.

Esther acts again

8 That same day King Ahasuerus gave Queen Esther what Haman the enemy of the Jews owned. Mordecai himself came before the king because Esther had told the king that he was family to her. <sup>2</sup>The king took off his royal ring, the one he had removed from Haman, and gave it to Mordecai. Esther put Mordecai in charge of what Haman had owned.

<sup>3</sup>Esther again spoke before the king. She bowed at his feet, wept, and begged him to treat her kindly. She wanted him to overturn the evil plot of Haman the Agagite—his secret plan directed against the Jews. <sup>4</sup>The king held out the gold scepter to Esther, and she got up and stood before him. <sup>5</sup>She said, “If the king wishes, and if I please him—that is, if the idea seems right to the king, and if he still sees me as a good person—then have people write something to call back the order—the order that put into effect the plan of Haman, Hammedatha the Agagite’s son, that he wrote to destroy the Jews in all the royal provinces. <sup>6</sup>How can I bear to watch the terrible evil about to sweep over my people? And how can I bear to watch others destroy my own family?”

<sup>m</sup>Or the face of Haman was covered.

3:13). If Ahasuerus thought that Haman was suggesting that he “enslave” the people in question rather than “destroy” them, then this makes sense.

7:6-7 This may seem like an odd moment for the king to storm outside, but he has been indecisive in the past (see Esth 1:13-15; 2:2-4). His absence sets the scene for Haman’s last mistake.

7:8-10 Several signs indicate that God is working in this scene, even though God is never mentioned. First, Ahasuerus returns from the garden just in time to see Haman throwing himself on the queen’s couch. Second, a handy eunuch is nearby, ready with a suggestion on how the king might handle this dilemma. Third, the huge stake on which Haman had hoped to impale Mordecai is visible from the palace window. (Note that if Haman’s ego hadn’t been so large, then his stake wouldn’t have been so high, and he might have saved himself from this horrible and shameful death.)

8:1-2 A false finale. With Haman dead, Mordecai is out of immediate danger. He has both power and property, thanks to Esther’s gift of Haman’s house (she shuns any reward for herself) and Ahasuerus’ gift of his signet ring. But Mordecai isn’t going to have long to enjoy these rewards. Haman may be dead, but his law is still very much alive.

8:3-4 The text is unclear about how much time has passed between Esther 8:2 and 8:3. Since Esther 8:4 indicates that the king extends the gold scepter again, this scene isn’t simply a continuation of the previous one.

8:5-6 After using even more flattery and palace protocol than she did in Esther 5:8 and 7:3, Esther makes an impassioned plea for the king to call back the order. The fact that she specifies precisely which order may seem strange. Does she think Ahasuerus has forgotten? Perhaps she has noticed that her husband isn’t very smart. In any case, he has done nothing to address the situation and seems to consider the case closed. Her description carefully avoids blaming Ahasuerus and puts all the emphasis on Haman. Her closing outburst signals her complete identification with her people and a total lack of self-concern (contrast Mordecai’s remark in Esth 4:13).

8:7-8 The king’s reminder that the royal laws are irrevocable (see notes on Esth 1:19; 3:12) highlights his lack of imagination. Once again, the most powerful man in the empire is portrayed as helpless (see Esth 1:12). The best

Mordecai writes a new law

<sup>7</sup>King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther and to Mordecai the Jew, "Look, I've given Esther everything Haman owned. And Haman himself my servants have impaled on the pole because he planned to attack the Jews. <sup>8</sup>So you yourselves write to the Jews whatever you like in the name of the king and seal the letters with the king's royal ring. Anything written in the name of the king and sealed with the king's royal ring can't be called back." <sup>9</sup>So that was when the royal scribes were summoned—on the twenty-third day of the third month (that is, the month of Sivan).<sup>a</sup> They wrote exactly what Mordecai ordered to the Jews, rulers, governors, and officials of the provinces from India to Cush—one hundred twenty-seven in all. They wrote in the alphabet of each province and in the language of each people. <sup>10</sup>They wrote in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed the order with the king's royal ring. He sent letters with riders mounted on royal horses bred from mares known to run fast.<sup>b</sup> <sup>11</sup>The order allowed Jews in each town to join together and defend their lives. The Jews were free to wipe out, kill, and destroy every army of any people and province that attacked them, along with their women and children. They could also take and keep anything their attackers owned. <sup>12</sup>The one day in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus on which they could do so was the thirteenth day of the twelfth month (that is, the month of Adar). <sup>13</sup>A copy of the writing was to become law in each province and be on public display for all its peoples to read. The Jews were to be ready on this day to get back at their enemies. <sup>14</sup>The riders mounted on royal horses left Susa, spurred on by the king's order, and the law also became public in the fortified part of Susa.

<sup>15</sup>Mordecai went out from the king's presence in a blue and white royal robe wearing a large gold crown and a white and red-purple coat. The city of Susa greeted him with shouts of joy. <sup>16</sup>For the Jews it was a day of light, happiness, joy, and honor. <sup>17</sup>In every province and in every town—wherever the king's order and his law arrived—for the Jews it was a day of happiness and joy. For them it meant feasts and a holiday. Many people in the land became Jews themselves, out of fear of the Jews.

The fateful day

9It was on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month (that is, the month of Adar)<sup>c</sup> that the king's order and his law were to be enforced. On the very day that the enemies of the Jews hoped to overpower them, the tables were turned against them. The Jews overpowered their enemies instead. <sup>2</sup>The Jews joined together in their towns in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus to defend themselves against those who tried to harm them. No one was able to stand in their way because everyone was afraid of the Jews. <sup>3</sup>All the leaders of the provinces, rulers, governors, and those in charge of the king's business helped the Jews because they were afraid of Mordecai. <sup>4</sup>Because Mordecai was very important in the palace, news about him was sweeping through the provinces. Indeed, Mordecai was becoming more and more important every day. <sup>5</sup>The Jews put down all their enemies with sword blows, killing, and destruction. They did whatever they wanted with those who hated them. <sup>6</sup>In the fortified part he can do is to tell Esther and Mordecai to write whatever they like in his name (see Esth 3:12-15).

<sup>a</sup>May–June <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>February–March

8:9-14 Mordecai attempts to counter the specifics of Haman's original edict in Esther 3:12-15. There are important differences, however. Mordecai's law gives permission to wipe out, kill, destroy, and plunder under certain circumstances; Haman's law gives orders for the same under any circumstances. Mordecai's edict is for self-defense; Haman's encourages undisguised aggression. Mordecai's law specifies that violence be used in response to every army... that attacked them (8:11), while Haman's law directs violence against the general Jewish population (Esth 3:13). along with their women and children could mean that Mordecai's law also targets the attackers' women and children. But the Hebrew could also mean that the Jews had permission to defend themselves against any army that attacked the Jews' women and children.

8:17 fear of the Jews: The fear that the Jewish people can't be defeated (see Esth 3:4; 6:13; and perhaps Esth 9:2) may well fuel the sudden conversions.

9:1 the king's order and his law: This description contrasts with Esther's diplomatic emphasis in Esther 8:5 that the law was Haman's. Eleven months have passed since the publication of the king's/Haman's law (Esth 3:12) and nine months since the publication of the counter-law (Esth 8:9). The central question in the book—"whether or not Mordecai's words would hold true" (Esth 3:4)—is about to be settled. Another theme—the reversal of expectations and fortunes—is emphasized as well.

9:2-4 Working behind the scenes, God has been busy during these nine months. Both Mordecai's power and Persian fears have grown significantly, though the name for God is never mentioned in this book. God's influence may be detected off-stage and in the book's numerous

9:10 Gn 14:23;
Est 3:1,
Est 3:10,
Est 5:11,
Est 8:11

9:20 Est 2:5,
Est 2:21, Est 3:2,
Est 4:1, Est 5:14
9:22 Ps 30:11

of Susa, the Jews killed five hundred people. <sup>7</sup>They also killed Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha, <sup>8</sup>Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha, <sup>9</sup>Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vaizatha. <sup>10</sup>These were the ten sons of Haman, Hammedatha's son, the enemy of the Jews. But the Jews didn't lay a hand on anything their enemies owned. <sup>11</sup>That same day, a report concerning the number killed in the fortified part of Susa reached the king.

<sup>12</sup>So the king said to Queen Esther in the fortified part of Susa, "The Jews have killed five hundred people as well as the ten sons of Haman. What have they done in the rest of the royal provinces? What do you wish now? I'll give it to you. What is your desire? I'll do it this time too."

<sup>13</sup>Esther answered, "If the king wishes, let the Jews who are in Susa also have tomorrow to do what the law allows for today. And let them also impale the ten sons of Haman on pointed poles." <sup>14</sup>The king ordered that this be done, and the law became public in Susa. They impaled the ten sons of Haman just as she said. <sup>15</sup>The Jews in Susa joined together again, this time on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar. In Susa, they killed three hundred people, but they didn't lay a hand on anything the people owned.

<sup>16</sup>The Jews out in the royal provinces also joined together to defend their lives. They put to rest the troubles with their enemies and killed those who hated them. The total was seventy-five thousand dead, but the Jews didn't lay a hand on anything their enemies owned. <sup>17</sup>They acted on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar. Then on the fourteenth day they rested, making it a day of feasts and rejoicing. (<sup>18</sup>The Jews in Susa joined together for self-defense on the thirteenth and fourteenth days of the month. But they rested on the fifteenth day of the month and made it a day of feasts and joyous events.) <sup>19</sup>That is why Jews who live in villages make the fourteenth day of the month of Adar a day of rejoicing and feasts, a holiday. It is a day on which they send gifts of food to each other.

The new holiday of Purim

<sup>20</sup>Mordecai wrote these things down and sent letters to all the Jews in all the provinces, both near and far, of King Ahasuerus. <sup>21</sup>He made it a rule that Jews keep the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month of Adar as special days each and every year. <sup>22</sup>They are the days on which the Jews finally put to rest the troubles with their enemies. The month is the one "coincidences." Perhaps this is part of the "relief and rescue... from another place" that Mordecai refers to in Esther 4:14.

9:10 the Jews didn't lay a hand on anything their enemies owned: This restraint is remarkable (see also Esth 9:5, 16), especially since the counter-law allowed them to plunder their enemies' goods (Esth 8:11). The explanation for this restraint may lie in the story in 1 Samuel 15 about Mordecai's ancestor Saul, and Haman's ancestor Agag (see notes on Esth 2:5-7; 3:1). By the Jews' refusal to take the property of their enemies and with the killing of Haman's 10 sons, Mordecai and the Jews may at last be able to close this unhappy chapter in Israel's history. Note that the sons of Haman are "killed" and not executed, which implies that they are among the Persian attackers.

9:13-15 Esther's response may seem bloodthirsty. But the rules for the second day will be the same as for the first: The Jews will be allowed to defend themselves against those who attack them. If no one attacks, then no one will Reversals in the Book of Esther The book of Esther is famous for its reversals—that is, the number of times we expect one thing and the opposite occurs. One example of this is the royal procession in chapter 6. Haman clearly expects to be the one being honored (Esth 6:6), but Mordecai turns out to be the man of the hour (Esth 6:10-11). Another example is when Haman is executed on the very stake he has erected for Mordecai's execution. Sometimes these reversals seem to be built into the structure of the book. The two banquets of the Jews in Esther 9:20-32 are the mirror image of the two Persian banquets in Esther 1:1-8. In Esther 2:10-20 Esther identifies as a Gentile, while in Esther 8:17 the Gentiles identify as Jews. The anti-Jewish edict of Esther 3:12-15 corresponds to the pro-Jewish edict of Esther 8:9-14.

die. The fact that 300 attackers are killed on the second day makes her request seem more wise than ruthless. The impalement of Haman's sons may seem excessive, but we could see it as an attempt at prevention. It should also be noted that the sons were already dead, which eliminates the element of torture.

9:16-19 seventy-five thousand: emphasizes the importance of the threat and the miraculous nature of the people's deliverance. The two-day defense explains the celebrations held on different days. The detail about the custom of sending gifts of food is important because it recognizes that those who are saved by grace are called to respond with acts of grace toward others.

9:20-32 This section summarizes Mordecai's role in establishing these Purim celebrations (named for Haman's use of pur, or dice, in Esth 3:7) as annual reminders of their providential deliverance. Oddly, the retelling of the Purim story in Esther 9:24-25 changes important details. Verse 25 makes it sound as if Ahasuerus simply dashed off a memo, when everything turned around for them from sadness to joy, and from sad, loud crying to a holiday. They are to make them days of feasts and joyous events, days to send food gifts to each other and money gifts to the poor. <sup>23</sup>The Jews agreed to continue what they had already begun to do—just what Mordecai had written to them. <sup>24</sup>Indeed, Haman, Hammedatha the Agagite's son, the enemy of all the Jews, had planned to destroy the Jews. He had servants throw pur (that is, the dice) to find the best month and day to trouble greatly and destroy them. <sup>25</sup>But when Esther came before the king, his written order said: The wicked plan that Haman made against the Jews should turn back on him instead. So they impaled him and his sons on pointed poles. <sup>26</sup>That is why people call these days Purim, by using the ancient word pur. It all fit with what this letter said, with what they saw happen, and with what they themselves went through. <sup>27</sup>The Jews agreed that they, their children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, as well as all non-Jews who become Jews, should always keep these two days. They agreed to follow the written rules—and at the proper time too—every year. <sup>28</sup>So forever every family, province, and town remembers to keep these days. These days of Purim won't die out among the Jews. They will remember to keep them forever. <sup>29</sup>Queen Esther daughter of Abihail, along with Mordecai the Jew, wrote with her full royal power to show that this second letter about Purim was correct. <sup>9</sup> <sup>30</sup>Letters conveying good wishes and words of friendship were sent to all the Jews throughout the one hundred twenty-seven provinces in the kingdom of Ahasuerus. <sup>31</sup>Their aim was to make sure that the Jews kept these days of Purim at the proper time, following the rule that Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had made. The rule fit well with what they themselves had agreed to do forever and with other things they did—like fasting and lamenting. <sup>32</sup>Esther's order made these features of Purim part of the law, so it was written down.

The fame of Mordecai

10 King Ahasuerus taxed the entire kingdom, including the islands of the Mediterranean. <sup>2</sup>Now some may want to know about all the king's mighty, great deeds. They may also want a full report about how important Mordecai became after the king honored him. Are they not written in the official records of the kings of Media and Persia? <sup>3</sup>Certainly, Mordecai the Jew was second only to King Ahasuerus in importance. The Jews also admired him greatly, and his many brothers and sisters were proud of him. He always wanted to do good things for his Jewish people and to speak up for all his family whenever they needed help.

<sup>9</sup>Or wrote a second time to show that this letter single-handedly dispatching both Haman and his sons. Many scholars think that the material in Esther 9:20–10:3 was added later.

10:1–3 Esther's complete absence from the book's conclusion is puzzling. It is even more ironic that Mordecai is applauded for speaking up for all his family whenever they needed help (10:3). This is precisely what Esther did to save her people! At the end of the book he is a changed man. Instead of endangering his people's lives through ill-considered acts of rebellion (Esth 3:2; 5:9), he wants to do good things for his Jewish people and to speak up for all his family whenever they [need] help (10:3). We might hear this description as a tribute to what Mordecai has learned from Esther. Perhaps it is fitting that Esther, like God, isn't mentioned here at the end of her own story. Even if she is not named, she is there behind the scenes working tirelessly for her people's welfare.

9:24 Est 3:6–7.

Est 3:10,
Est 9:10

9:25 Est 7:10,
Est 9:13; Ps 7:16

9:26 Est 9:20

9:27 Est 8:17;
Is 56:3, Is 56:6;
Zec 2:11

9:29 Est 2:15,
Est 9:20

9:30 Est 1:1,
Est 8:9

9:31 Est 4:1,
Est 4:3, Est 4:16

9:32 Est 2:20,
Est 9:26

1914 1915 1916

1917 1918
1919

1920
1921 1922
1923 1924

1925 1926 1927 1928 1929

1930 1931 1932 1933 1934
1935

1936

1937
1938
1939

1940 1941
1942 1943
1944

1945 1946
1947 1948
1949

The book receives the name Job from the central character, who is a “person of absolute integrity” (Job 1:1), but who experiences great suffering. Job’s distress isn’t caused by something he did—though his friends think it is. Rather, Job’s suffering results from his experience of natural evil, from the ill effects of natural events (windstorm, lightning and related fires, disease), and moral evil (the intruding activities of the Sabeans and Chaldeans). The book focuses on issues about nature and God’s care of creation. Following Job 1–2, the 3rd chapter raises issues about creation. The dialogue between Job and his friends focuses on how to interpret the natural order (Job 4–37). Then the focus of God’s response in Job 38–41 is to understand how creation works; to that end, it has largely to do with meteorology, zoology, and cosmology.

The book has more than one key issue, but at the top of the list is the problem of suffering. The book of Job shows that suffering may occur because of the nature of the world that God created and because God allows the natural order to be what it was created to be. God permits but doesn’t manage what happens in creation. God created a world filled with risks to human well-being, including water, the law of gravity, and wild animals. While these are resources that can enhance human well-being, God doesn’t provide danger-free zones to keep people like Job from the harm they can cause. Much suffering is creation-based. Human beings are finite, with limited strength, intelligence, and quickness. No individual can control every creature or end all the wickedness (Job 40:10-14).

The book of Job looks at evil and suffering from several points of view: Job’s, Job’s friends’, Elihu’s, God’s, and those of the writers of the prologue (Job 1–2) and the epilogue (Job 42). Life after death is an open question (see Job 14:14) and isn’t an answer to the problem of suffering (see Job 19:25-26, “I know that my redeemer is alive”). God’s negative critique of the friends’ views and positive critique of Job’s view (Job 42:7-8) invite questions and close attention to who is speaking (see Job's point of view in Job 1:21; 2:10). Believers are invited to "revere God" (Job 1:9) no matter what they face in life. Job's response to suffering needs greater knowledge of the world in which he lives (Job 38-41). Even so, God's critique of Job's view reveals God's openness to Job's hard questions. God's speeches seem to carry the most basic view on suffering that the book offers, and readers are invited to follow God's example in critiquing the several points of view in the book.

The heavens (Job 38:33-34)
iStockPhoto

Most readers understand that Job is a tale or a story, set in an unknown period of time in an unidentifiable land called Uz (Job 1:1). The book is neither historical literature nor biography nor autobiography. Job reminds us of literature that begins with the phrase "once upon a time," and some readers recognize it as "dramatic fiction." However, the writers of Job are steeped in the biblical tradition, and they occasionally provide a parody of older biblical texts, such as Psalm 8 or Psalm 139.

The portrait of Job reflects an experience of deep suffering, with Job as a fictional pious man. The book isn't a report about a literal transaction between God and an Adversary (or Satan) that could have been caught on a heavenly camera. The book's strategy is to take the reader into the world of the story and away from the reader's time and place (and familiar ideas) to provide a neutral space to consider these important issues.

The book of Job is part of the wisdom literature tradition. The purpose is to teach by posing key questions about suffering. The reader should open the book of Job and think, "what if" or "let's suppose for the sake of argument." Like other wisdom literature, the book offers a framework for understanding by working through different points of view. This type of literature was found elsewhere in the ancient Near East (e.g., "The Babylonian Theodicy" or the "Sumerian Job"). The character Job is mentioned elsewhere in the OT as a model character from an ancient time (see Ezek 14:14, 20).

The "lament" or "complaint" is prominent in Job's speeches. The lament is a common human response to suffering (see the intro. to the book of Psalms and Pss 3-7). The lament also serves the broader purpose of a dispute between Job and his friends and between Job and God. Job keeps his faith in God throughout the dialogue. He understands that his relationship with God allows him to speak his mind without having to worry about God ending the relationship. Job's understanding of the relationship is one of the reasons for God's positive response to what Job says (see Job 42:7-8). Job will come to see (Job 42:1-6) that, in spite of appearances, God was and is faithful. Job 38-41 shows God's faithfulness in letting the creation be what it is, even with all the suffering that creation may bring.

The present form of the book is the result of a complex process of editing over many years. The Hebrew is also very difficult to translate, with many unique or rare words. The introduction (prologue; Job 1:1-2:13) and conclusion (epilogue; Job 42:7-17) take the form of a story, frame the book, and may reflect an ancient tale about suffering. To this narrative are added poetic texts from various sources (Job 3:1-42:6). The date of the book is uncertain, but a reasonable suggestion is 6th to 4th century BCE. The one NT reference to Job occurs in James 5:11 and highlights Job's "endurance" or "persistence" (not his patience, as is often thought).

I. Prologue (1:1-2:13)

II. Dialogue between Job and Friends (3:1-37:24)

- A. Job and friends Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar (3:1-27:23)
- B. Reflections on wisdom (28:1-28)
- C. Job's defense (29:1-31:40)
- D. Disputes from Elihu (32:1-37:24)

III. Dialogue between Job and God (38:1-42:6)

- A. God's first response to Job (38:1-39:30)
- B. Job's first response to God (40:1-5)
- C. God's second response to Job (40:6-41:34)
- D. Job's second response to God (42:1-6)

IV. Epilogue (42:7-17)

Job's piety and life of bliss

1 A man in the land of Uz was named Job. That man was honest, a person of absolute integrity; he feared God and avoided evil. 2He had seven sons and three daughters, 3and owned seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred pairs of oxen, five hundred female donkeys, and a vast number of servants, so that he was greater than all the people of the east. 4Each of his sons hosted a feast in his own house on his birthday. They invited their three sisters to eat and drink with them. 5When the days of the feast had been completed, Job would send word<sup>a</sup> and purify his children.<sup>b</sup> Getting up early in the morning, he prepared entirely burned offerings for each one of them, for Job thought, Perhaps my children have sinned and then cursed<sup>c</sup> God in their hearts. Job did this regularly.

Job's motives questioned

6One day the divine beings<sup>d</sup> came to present themselves before the LORD, and the Adversary<sup>e</sup> also came among them. 7The LORD said to the Adversary, "Where did you come from?"

The Adversary answered the LORD, "From wandering throughout the earth."

8The LORD said to the Adversary, "Have you thought about my servant Job; surely there is no one like him on earth, a man who is honest, who is of absolute integrity, who reveres God and avoids evil?"

9The Adversary answered the LORD, "Does Job revere God for nothing? 10Haven't you fenced him in—his house and all he has—and blessed the work of his hands so that his possessions extend throughout the earth? 11But stretch out your hand and strike all he has. He will certainly curse you to your face."

12The LORD said to the Adversary, "Look, all he has is within your power; only don't stretch out your hand against him." So the Adversary left the LORD's presence.

Job passes the test

13One day Job's sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother's house. 14A messenger came to Job and said: "The oxen were plowing, and the donkeys

<sup>a</sup>Heb lacks word. <sup>b</sup>Or them <sup>c</sup>Or blessed. The verb for bless is a euphemism for curse in 1:11; 2:5, 9; whereas in 1:10, 2:1 and 42:12 it has its usual meaning. <sup>d</sup>Or children of God <sup>e</sup>Heb hassatan

1:1-2:13 Five scenes set the stage for the drama of Job's suffering. The episodes alternate between Job's situation on earth (1:1-5, 13-22; 2:7-13) and the meeting between God and the Adversary in heaven (1:6-12; 2:1-6). Finally, Job's friends appear on the scene to comfort him, and they discern that he's in excruciating pain (2:13). The prologue is set up to raise questions for the readers. Does God send suffering directly into the lives of individuals for no reason (2:3)? Or does God have a reason, for example, to test Job's faith? Is God responsible for everything that happens—good and evil (1:21)? Does God make bets with the Adversary? Note that without the bet there would have been no "test." Given the "wager," the test is for God's sake, not Job's, so that God can show that the Adversary is wrong and that God is right about Job. The storyteller poses a challenge to the reader: whether to accept or reject the picture of God in the prologue.

1:1-5 Job is a person of integrity who has wealth and status. He honors his children, and at the end of their festival celebrations, he makes sure that any sins his family may have committed have been forgiven by God.

1:1 Uz: Location uncertain, perhaps between Arabia and Edom (see Lam 4:21). person of absolute integrity: in relationship with God and with people, removing any suggestion that sin caused Job's suffering (see Job 1:11; 2:3).

1:5 purify his children . . . entirely burned offerings: acts that took away all negative effects of the sin. Job acts as a priest in a traditional sense. Job did this regularly: Faithfulness is a key description of Job's identity and relationships.

1:6-12 God meets with the divine beings (often called the heavenly council, see Jer 23:18-22; Ps 29:1), questioning a member named Adversary.

1:6-12 the Adversary: or the Accuser. In Hebrew this investigator is called "the satan," and this is not the same being that is later referred to as the devil (see 2 Cor 2:11). This accusing voice is like that of a prosecuting attorney, who raises questions about Job's integrity. See 1 Chronicles 21:1.

1:9-10 Would Job revere God if he wasn't fenced in (protected) and blessed?

1:11 strike all he has: The Adversary figure may essentially be typical of how God lets the creation work. In effect, God gives the Adversary permission to let moral and natural evil loose on Job, an example of God letting the natural creation be what it often becomes.

1:12 power: God permits but doesn't manage the Adversary's actions. This exchange between God and the Adversary likely shows that God offers no special protection to creatures from whatever life throws their way. The divine "wager" is unparalleled in the Bible, as is the idea that God would be manipulated or incited by the Adversary (see Job 2:3). Job never finds out about the wager or the Adversary, who isn't mentioned in the book after Job 2:3. The sufferings that Job experiences are not direct wounds from God or the Adversary but are mediated by everyday realities in a complex created order (lightning and associated fires, windstorms, diseases) and a sinful world (violent robbers). Note that the "test" is for God's sake, not Job's, so that God can show that the Adversary is wrong and that God is right about Job.

1:13-22 Job and his family experience natural disasters and human evil.

1:1 Job 1:8;

Jer 25:20;

Eze 14:14;

Eze 14:20;

Jas 5:11

1:2 Job 42:13

1:3 Gn 12:16;

Gn 13:2;

Gn 30:43;

Job 29:25;

Job 42:12

1:5 Gn 8:20;

Job 42:8

1:6 1Ch 21:1;

Job 2:1; Zec 3:1;

Rev 12:9

1:7 1Pt 5:8

1:8 Nm 12:7;

Job 1:1; Job 2:3

1:9 1Ch 21:1;

Job 1:6-7;

Job 1:10; Job 2:4

1:10 Job 42:12;

Ps 34:7

1:11 Job 2:5;

Job 19:21

1:12 Job 2:4

1:13 Job 1:4

1:14 1Ki 19:19;

Jer 51:31

1:15 Gn 10:7
 1:16 Gn 19:24;
 1Ki 18:38;
 2Ki 1:12
 1:17 Gn 11:26,
 Gn 11:31
 1:18 Job 1:4,
 Job 1:19
 1:19 Job 1:18;
 Jer 4:11;
 Hos 13:15;
 Mt 7:27
 1:20 Gn 37:29,
 Gn 37:34;
 Exr 9:3
 1:21 1Sa 2:7,
 1Sa 3:18;
 Job 2:10;
 Ecc 5:15; 1Ti 6:7
 1:22 Job 2:10
 2:3 Job 1:1,
 Job 1:8, Job 27:6
 2:4 Job 1:9
 2:5 Job 1:11,
 Job 19:20
 2:6 Job 1:12
 2:7 Ex 9:9;
 Dt 28:35
 2:8 Job 42:6;
 Jer 6:26;
 Eze 27:30;
 Jon 3:6;
 Mt 11:21
 2:9 2Ki 6:33;
 Job 2:3, Job 2:10
 2:10 Job
 1:21-22; Ps 39:1;
 Jas 5:11

were grazing nearby <sup>15</sup>when the Sabeans took them and killed the young men with swords. I alone escaped to tell you.”

<sup>16</sup>While this messenger was speaking, another arrived and said: “A raging fire fell from the sky and burned up the sheep and devoured the young men. I alone escaped to tell you.”

<sup>17</sup>While this messenger was speaking, another arrived and said: “Chaldeans set up three companies, raided the camels and took them, killing the young men with swords. I alone escaped to tell you.”

<sup>18</sup>While this messenger was speaking, another arrived and said: “Your sons and your daughters were eating and drinking wine in their oldest brother’s house, <sup>19</sup>when a strong wind came from the desert and struck the four corners of the house. It fell upon the young people, and they died. I alone escaped to tell you.”

<sup>20</sup>Job arose, tore his clothes, shaved his head, fell to the ground, and worshipped. <sup>21</sup>He said: “Naked I came from my mother’s womb; naked I will return there. The LORD has given; the LORD has taken; bless the LORD’s name.”

<sup>22</sup>In all this, Job didn’t sin or blame God.

Job’s Adversary refuses to give up

2One day the divine beings came to present themselves before the LORD. The Adversary 2also came among them to present himself before the LORD. 2The LORD said to the Adversary, “Where have you come from?”

The Adversary answered the LORD, “From wandering throughout the earth.”

<sup>3</sup>The LORD said to the Adversary, “Have you thought about my servant Job, for there is no one like him on earth, a man who is honest, who is of absolute integrity, who reveres God and avoids evil? He still holds on to his integrity, even though you incited me to ruin him for no reason.”

<sup>4</sup>The Adversary responded to the LORD, “Skin for skin—people will give up everything they have in exchange for their lives. <sup>5</sup>But stretch out your hand and strike his bones and flesh. Then he will definitely curse<sup>f</sup> you to your face.”

<sup>6</sup>The LORD answered the Adversary, “There he is—within your power; only preserve his life.”

The test intensifies

<sup>7</sup>The Adversary departed from the LORD’s presence and struck Job with severe sores from the sole of his foot to the top of his head. <sup>8</sup>Job took a piece of broken pottery to scratch himself and sat down on a mound of ashes. <sup>9</sup>Job’s wife said to him, “Are you still clinging to your integrity? Curse<sup>g</sup> God, and die.”

<sup>10</sup>Job said to her, “You’re talking like a foolish woman. Will we receive good from God but not also receive bad?” In all this, Job didn’t sin with his lips.

<sup>f</sup>Or bless <sup>g</sup>Or bless

1:15-17 Sabeans... Chaldeans: raiding tribal groups from Arabia and Mesopotamia.

1:16 fire... from the sky: lightning.

1:19 a strong wind: See Job 27:20b-23.

1:20 tore his clothes... worshipped: traditional rituals of mourning (see Job 2:12; 2 Sam 13:31; Jer 16:6).

1:21 Naked I came from my mother’s womb... naked I will return there: a saying about the limits and weaknesses of human life—from birth to death (see Eccl 5:15). In the midst of his suffering Job continues to trust God and doesn’t sin. See sidebar, “The Lord Has Given; the Lord Has Taken.”

2:1-6 Returning to the heavenly scene, the divine beings, including the Adversary, interact with God about what they have observed during their travels to earth.

The Lord Has Given; the Lord Has Taken

This claim of Job regarding God’s role in human life needs careful consideration. Recall that Job’s point of view comes from great suffering. Is this confession about God being recommended to readers, or might it be a conventional viewpoint that the book ends up criticizing? (See Job’s change in understanding in Job 42:3.) Notice how Job’s view evolves from Job 1:21 to Job 2:10. Job’s words shift from statement to question, from the personal name “LORD” to “God,” from first person singular to the more impersonal plural. Beginning in the next chapter and throughout much of the book, Job sharply criticizes God’s ways.

2:3 incited me to ruin him for no reason: God repeats the question voiced in Job 1:8 and notes that the Adversary is provoking God. This is God’s memory of what the Adversary said in Job 1:9-11.

2:4 Skin for skin: People will do anything to save their skin. God should strike Job and watch: Job will strike back. Once again, God gives the Adversary permission (see Job 1:12).

2:7-10 The Adversary strikes Job with disease.

2:8 scratch himself... mound of ashes: rituals of mourning (see Job 1:20).

2:9 Curse God, and die: Job’s wife challenges Job, setting up a key issue for the rest of the book: Can a person remain righteous without concern for his or her own self-interest?

2:10 foolish woman: Job speaks strong words to his wife

Job's three friends come to comfort him

<sup>11</sup>When Job's three friends heard about all this disaster that had happened to him, they came, each one from his home—Eliphaz from Teman, Bildad from Shuah, and Zophar from Naamah. They agreed to come so they could console and comfort him. <sup>12</sup>When they looked up from a distance and didn't recognize him, they wept loudly. Each one tore his garment and scattered dust above his head toward the sky. <sup>13</sup>They sat with Job on the ground seven days and seven nights, not speaking a word to him, for they saw that he was in excruciating pain.

2:11 Gn 25:2;
Job 4:1, Job 8:1,
Job 11:1,
Job 18:1
2:12 Gn 37:29;
Josh 7:6;
Job 1:20;
Lam 2:10;
Eze 27:30
2:13 Gn 50:10;
Is 47:1
3:1 Job 1:22,
Job 2:10,
Job 6:1, Job 9:1;
Jer 20:14
3:3 Job 10:18;
Jer 20:14
3:6 Job 23:17,
Job 30:26
3:8 Job 41:1,
Job 41:10,
Job 41:25;
Ps 74:14
3:9 Job 41:18

Job responds differently

3 Afterward, Job spoke up and cursed the day he was born.

<sup>2</sup>Job said:

- <sup>3</sup>Perish the day I was born,
the night someone said,
“A boy has been conceived.”
- <sup>4</sup>That day—let it be darkness;
may God above ignore it,
and light not shine on it.
- <sup>5</sup>May deepest darkness claim it and a cloud linger over it;
may all that darkens the day terrify it.
- <sup>6</sup>May gloom seize that night;
may it not be counted in the days of a year;
may it not appear in the months.
- <sup>7</sup>May that night be childless;
may no happy singing come in it.
- <sup>8</sup>May those who curse the day curse it,
those with enough skill to awaken Leviathan.
- <sup>9</sup>May its evening stars stay dark;
may it wait in vain for light;
may it not see dawn's gleam, in response to her advice to curse God. receive good from God... also receive bad? See sidebar, “The Lord Has Given; the Lord Has Taken” at Job 1. Also compare the softer didn't sin with his lips with the stronger statement in Job 1:22.

2:11-13 Three friends visit Job from nearby villages (precise location unknown) to comfort him. When they see him, they engage in cultural rituals for grieving (see Job 1:20; 2:8) and sit in silence for a week.

2:12 scattered dust above his head toward the sky; probably a negative act, thought to induce boils (see Exod 9:8). The friends continue to critique Job throughout the dialogue. 2:13 excruciating pain: The phrase summarizes Job's situation at this point and introduces a shift in Job's way of looking at suffering.

3:1-37:24 These disputes are started by Job's angry lament (Job 3). Job argues with his friends (and God) about the reasons for his suffering and the nature of God's creation. The friends believe that the orders of creation are fixed, strictly rewarding people according to their deeds. So because Job is suffering, he must have done something to deserve that pain. Job holds a similar understanding of the created order, but he believes, in view of his integrity, that God isn't taking care of the world very well (see 9:20-24).

3:1-27:33 The interaction between Job and his friends consists of three cycles of four speeches each (3-14; 15-21; 22-27). Generally, the friends' speeches end without completing the normal cycle. Bildad's response in Job 25 is brief, and Zophar's is missing. Job's speeches, however, get longer or more intense, as he leaves the friends' disapproving responses behind and challenges God directly. Job's argument with both friends and God is about the nature of God's created order, and the presence or absence of God's activity in that order. For the friends, that created moral order is rigidly fixed. Justice is a guaranteed system of reward and punishment. In effect, the world runs like a machine, so God doesn't act freely but only reacts within a tightly woven system. This view of creation will be challenged and corrected. For God, as the divine speeches will make clear, the creation is not so rigidly fixed, and God doesn't manage the details of what God created. God's relationship to creation is limited by the nature of creation itself, so that (innocent) suffering can happen.

3:1-26 Job laments his suffering situation.

3:1-10 Job draws correlations between his own creation (birth) and the creation as a whole (see Gen 1:1-2:4; Jer 20:14-18).

3:3 Perish the day I was born: Job doesn't try to place a curse on his birthday or somehow undo creation. Rather, he thinks that all days in such a creation are actually like the day of his birth. His very birth shows that this world isn't a just order. God's creation is involved in what Job has become: one who suffers. Because this created order makes such suffering possible, its very status should be seen as cursed. He declares his own life to be like that world, having the ongoing status of being cursed, filled with darkness and death, like the chaotic situation prior to creation in Genesis 1:2.

3:8 May those who curse the day curse it: Professionals

3:18 Job 39:7

3:19 Job 30:23;
Ecc 12:53:23 Job 19:8;
Ps 88:8; Lam 3:73:25 Job 9:28,
Job 30:15

<sup>10</sup>because it didn't close the doors of my mother's womb,<sup>h</sup> didn't hide trouble from my eyes.

Job laments his misfortune

- <sup>11</sup>Why didn't I die at birth, come forth from the womb and die?
- <sup>12</sup>Why did knees receive me and breasts let me nurse?
- <sup>13</sup>For now I would be lying down quietly;
I'd sleep; rest would be mine
- <sup>14</sup>with kings and earth's advisors, who rebuild ruins for themselves,
- <sup>15</sup>or with princes who have gold, who fill their houses with silver.
- <sup>16</sup>Or why wasn't I like a buried miscarried infant, like babies who never see light?
- <sup>17</sup>There the wicked rage no more;
there the weak rest.
- <sup>18</sup>Prisoners are entirely at ease;
they don't hear a boss's voice.
- <sup>19</sup>Both small and great are there;
a servant is free from his masters.
- <sup>20</sup>Why is light given to the hard worker, life to those bitter of soul,
- <sup>21</sup>those waiting in vain for death, who search for it more than for treasure,
- <sup>22</sup>who rejoice excitedly, who are thrilled when they find a grave?
- <sup>23</sup>Why is light given<sup>i</sup> to the person whose way is hidden, whom God has fenced in?
- <sup>24</sup>My groans become my bread;
my roars pour out like water.
- <sup>25</sup>Because I was afraid of something awful, and it arrived;
what I dreaded came to me.
- <sup>26</sup>I had no ease, quiet, or rest, and trembling came.

Eliphaz tries to comfort Job

- 4 Then Eliphaz, a native of Teman, responded: <sup>2</sup>If one tries to answer you, will you be annoyed?
But who can hold words back?
- <sup>3</sup>Look, you've instructed many and given strength to drooping hands.
- <sup>4</sup>Your words have raised up the falling; you've steadied failing knees.

<sup>h</sup>Heb lacks mother's. <sup>i</sup>Heb lacks is light given.

were hired to speak curses. These curses can create a chaotic situation, symbolized by Leviathan—a sea monster, dragon, or large animal (e.g., a crocodile). The creature is described more fully by God in Job 41:1-34.

3:11-26 Job laments.

3:24-26 groans . . . roars . . . trembling: repeatedly voicing the question, Why? (Job 3:11-12, 16, 20, 23). Job wishes he had died at birth and could be with others who have died. He would then be at rest (Job 3:13, 17, 26). Death is better than the suffering he has had to endure. For Job, God's creation is out of whack, a disorderly place where nothing of importance can be trusted. God will respond (Job 38-41) and claim that disorderly elements and random events are an important part of the framework of the world God created (e.g., darkness, unruly waters, Leviathan). But Job's viewpoint must be openly and thoroughly voiced before the divine response can be appreciated.

4:1-5:25 Eliphaz's first response.

4:1-6 Eliphaz is a caring voice initially, reminding Job of his own comforting words to other sufferers. In like manner, Job's religion (faith in God) should be the source of your confidence . . . your hope in such a time. Beginning with

- <sup>5</sup>But now it comes to you, and you are dismayed;
it has struck you, and you are frightened.
<sup>6</sup>Isn't your religion the source of your confidence;
the integrity of your conduct, the source of your hope?

4:16 1Ki 19:12
4:17 Job 9:2,
Job 14:4,
Job 15:14,
Job 25:4
4:18 Job 15:15
4:19 Job 10:9,
Job 13:28,
Job 33:6, 2Co 4:7, 2Co 5:1
4:20 Job 20:7
4:21 Job 36:12;
Prv 5:23

Sinners don't live long

- <sup>7</sup>Think! What innocent person has ever perished?
When have those who do the right thing been destroyed?
<sup>8</sup>As I've observed, those who plow sin and sow trouble will harvest it.
<sup>9</sup>When God breathes deeply, they perish;
by a breath of his nostril they are annihilated.
<sup>10</sup>The roar of a lion and snarl of the king of beasts—yet the teeth of lions are shattered; <sup>11</sup>the lion perishes without prey, and its cubs are scattered.

A frightening dream

- <sup>12</sup>But a word sneaked up on me;
my ears caught a hint of it.
<sup>13</sup>In profound thoughts, visions of night, when deep sleep falls on people, <sup>14</sup>fear and dread struck me;
all of my bones shook.
<sup>15</sup>A breeze swept by my face;
the hair of my skin bristled.
<sup>16</sup>It stopped. I didn't recognize its visible form, although a figure was in front of my eyes.
Silence! Then I heard a voice:
<sup>17</sup>"Can a human be more righteous than God, a person purer than their maker?"

Its interpretation

- <sup>18</sup>If he doesn't trust his servants and levels a charge against his messengers, <sup>19</sup>how much less those who dwell in houses of clay, whose foundations are in dust,
and who are crushed like a moth?
<sup>20</sup>They are smashed between morning and evening;
they perish forever without anyone knowing.
<sup>21</sup>Isn't their tent cord pulled up?
They die without wisdom.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>j</sup>Heb lacks the source. <sup>k</sup>Some interpreters end the quotation here rather than 4:17.

showing respect for Job and his integrity, Eliphaz's words to Job will become harsher over the course of the dialogue (see Job 22:1-11).

4:7-11 From Eliphaz's point of view, the creation is wonderfully ordered by God, and contrary to what Job thinks, it can be trusted. The innocent finally don't perish, but those who sow trouble will harvest it (see Job 5:1-16; Eccl 8:12-13; Hos 10:13). This pattern of action connected to its consequence is consistent, even among the strongest of creatures (lion, 4:10-11). This must be the explanation for Job's suffering. Therefore, what has Job done to deserve these consequences?

4:12-17 Eliphaz believes that God gave him knowledge. In visions of night, he saw a visible form and heard a voice speaking (4:13-16). The basic claim he heard is that human beings aren't righteous and pure before God (4:17).

4:18-21 This difference is true even of servants and messengers (divine beings), and is certainly the case with

5:1 Job 15:15
 5:2 Prv 12:16
 5:3 Ps 37:35-36;
 Jer 12:1-2
 5:4 Job 4:11;
 Ps 127:5
 5:5 Job 1:15
 5:7 Gn 3:17;
 Job 14:1;
 Ecc 2:22-23
 5:8 Job 8:5;
 Ps 50:15
 5:9 Job 9:10,
 Job 11:7,
 Job 37:5; Ps 40:5;
 Is 40:28
 5:11 1Sa 2:7
 5:12 Neh 4:15;
 Ps 33:10; Is 8:10
 5:13 Job 37:24;
 1Co 3:19
 5:14 Dt 28:29;
 Job 12:25,
 Job 18:18;
 Is 59:10; Am 8:9
 5:17 Ps 94:12;
 Prv 3:11;
 Heb 12:5;
 Jas 1:12; Jas 5:11
 5:18 Dt 32:39;
 1Sa 2:6; Ps 147:3;
 Is 30:26; Hos 6:1
 5:19 Ps 34:19,
 Ps 91:3, Ps 91:10;
 Prv 24:16;
 1Co 10:13
 5:20 Ps 33:19,
 Ps 37:19, Ps 91:7,
 Ps 144:10

Life's problems

- 5 Call out. Will anyone answer you?
 To which holy one will you turn?
<sup>2</sup>Surely anger can kill the foolish; fury can kill the simple.
<sup>3</sup>I've seen the foolish take root and promptly curse their house.
<sup>4</sup>Their children are far<sup>1</sup> from safety, crushed in the gate without a deliverer.
<sup>5</sup>The hungry devour<sup>2a</sup> their crops; it's taken even from the thorns,<sup>2b</sup> and the thirsty pant after their yield.
<sup>6</sup>Surely trouble doesn't come from dust, nor does distress sprout from the ground.
<sup>7</sup>Surely humans are born to distress, just as sparks rise up.

The answer is God

- <sup>8</sup>But I would seek God, put my case to God, <sup>9</sup>who does great things beyond comprehension, wonderful things without number; <sup>10</sup>who provides rain over the earth's surface, sends water to the open country, <sup>11</sup>exalts the lowly, raises mourners to victory;
<sup>12</sup>who frustrates the schemes of the clever so that their hands achieve no success, <sup>13</sup>trapping the wise in their cleverness so that the plans of the devious don't succeed.
<sup>14</sup>They encounter darkness during the day, and at noon they fumble about as at night.
<sup>15</sup>Yet he rescues the orphan<sup>o</sup> from the sword of their mouth, the needy from the grip of the strong; <sup>16</sup>so the poor have hope and violence shuts its mouth.

Divine favor

- <sup>17</sup>Look, happy is the person whom God corrects;
 so don't reject the Almighty's instruction.
<sup>18</sup>He injures, but he binds up;
 he strikes, but his hands heal.
<sup>19</sup>From six adversities he will deliver you;
 from seven harm won't touch you.
<sup>20</sup>In famine he will ransom you from death; in war, from the power of the sword.

<sup>1</sup>Or May their children be far from safety. <sup>2a</sup>Or May the hungry devour their crops. <sup>2b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>o</sup>Heb lacks orphan.

human beings, who  dwell in houses of clay (bodies). They live for a short time, and then like a  tent cord  pitched for the night, they are  pulled up  and forgotten (see Job 15:14-16).

5:1-7 Eliphaz points out that no one will respond to Job's angry cries, even a  holy one , or angel (see Job 4:18).

5:2  anger can kill : It will have widespread ill effects on homes, children, and crops.

5:6-7 Such troubles don't  come from ... the ground . Human beings are responsible for any troubles they experience.

5:8-16 In such a time, Eliphaz commends that Job seek God, who is then described as creator, one who  exalts the lowly  (5:11) and  rescues ... the needy from the grip of the strong  (5:15), yet  frustrates the schemes of the clever  (5:12). These are strong prophetic themes (see Amos 5:12; 8:4-6). Because of God's saving activity,  the poor have hope, and violence  has no power (5:16). For Job, this way of thinking is much too tidy.

5:17-27 For Eliphaz, God  corrects ... injures ... strikes  Job in and through his experience of suffering (5:17-18). If Job turns his life around and accepts God's  instruction  (or discipline), he will be healed and live long, with many

- 21 You will be hidden from the tongue's sting, and you won't fear destruction when it comes.
- 22 You will laugh at destruction and hunger;
you won't be afraid of wild beasts;
23 for you will make an agreement with the stones of the field;
and the beasts of the field will be at peace with you.
- 24 You will know that your tent is secure.
You will examine your home and miss nothing.
- 25 You will know that you'll have many children.
Your offspring will be like the grass of the earth.
- 26 You will come to your grave in old age as bundles of grain stacked up at harvesttime.
- 27 Look, we've searched this out, and so it is;
listen and find out for yourself.

5:21 Ps 31:20,
Ps 91:5
5:22 Is 35:9,
Is 65:25;
Eze 34:25;
Hos 2:18
5:23 Hos 2:18
5:24 Job 8:6
5:25 Ps 72:16,
Ps 112:2
5:26 Gn 15:15,
Gn 25:8;
Job 42:17;
Prv 9:11,
Prv 10:27
6:2 Job 31:6
6:3 Prv 27:3
6:4 Job 30:15,
Ps 38:2
6:7 Job 3:24;
Eze 4:14;
Dn 10:3

Job defends his anger

- 6 Job responded:
6<sup>a</sup> Oh, that my grief were actually weighed,
all of it were lifted up in scales;
7 for now it's heavier than the sands of the sea; therefore, my words are rash.<sup>b</sup>
- 8 The Almighty's arrows are in me;
my spirit drinks their poison,
and God's terrors are arrayed against me.
- 9 Does a donkey bray over grass or an ox bellow over its fodder?
10 Is tasteless food eaten without salt, or does egg white<sup>c</sup> have taste?
11 I refuse to touch them;
they resemble food for the sick.

He wishes to die

- 12<sup>a</sup> Oh, that what I've requested would come and God grant my hope; 13 that God be willing to crush me, release his hand and cut me off.
- 14 I'd still take comfort, relieved<sup>d</sup> even though in persistent pain;
for I've not denied the words of the holy one.
- 15 What is my strength, that I should hope;
my end, that my life should drag on?
16 Is my strength that of rocks,
my flesh bronze?
17 I don't have a helper for myself;
success has been taken from me.

He accuses his friends

- 18 Are friends loyal to the one who despairs,<sup>e</sup> or do they stop fearing the Almighty?

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>Heb uncertain descendants and a peaceful relationship with all of nature (cf. Elihu's word in Job 36:10-12; see Hos 2:18; Ezek 34:25; 37:26).

6:1-7:21 Job's response to Eliphaz. His thinking moves from indicting his friends and God (Job 6) to complaining to God (Job 7).
6:1-7 Job's words are rash (6:2-3) because the grief he suffered is so heavy—at the hands of a God who has hunted him down! Such food (6:6-7) is obviously not what he deserves or needs (see Ps 69:20-21).

6:8-13 Job again wishes for death at the hands of God, and he would die in comfort, knowing that he hadn't denied God or done anything to deserve such persistent pain (6:10). He has no strength (6:11-12) in himself to endure such suffering.
6:14-21 Job accuses his friends of not being loyal and

7:1 Job 14:5-6,
Job 14:14
7:2 Lv 19:13;
Job 14:6

- 15 My companions are treacherous like a stream in the desert, like channels that overrun their streambeds, 16 like those darkened by thawing ice, in which snow is obscured
17 but that stop flowing in dry times and vanish from their channels in heat.
18 Caravans turn aside from their paths;
they go up into untamed areas and perish.
19 Caravans from Tema look;
merchants from Sheba hope for it.
20 They are ashamed that they trusted;
they arrive and are dismayed.
21 That's what you are like;† you see something awful and are afraid.

He appeals to his friends

- 22 Have I said, "Give me something?
Offer a bribe from your wealth for me?
23 Rescue me from the hand of my enemy?
Ransom me from the grip of the ruthless?"
24 Instruct me and I'll be quiet; inform me how I've erred.
25 How painful are truthful words, but what do your condemnations accomplish?
26 Do you intend to correct my words, to treat the words of a hopeless man as wind?
27 Would you even gamble over an orphan, barter away your friend?
28 Now look at me—would I lie to your face?
29 Turn! Don't be faithless.
Turn now! I am righteous.
30 Is there wrong on my tongue, or can my mouth not recognize disaster?

The human condition

- 7 Isn't slavery everyone's condition on earth, our days like those of a hired worker?
<sup>2</sup> Like a slave we pant for a shadow, await our task like a hired worker.
<sup>3</sup> So I have inherited months of emptiness; nights of toil have been measured out for me.
<sup>4</sup> If I lie down and think—When will I get up?—
night drags on,‡ and restless thoughts fill me until dawn.
<sup>5</sup> My flesh is covered with worms and crusted earth;
my skin hardens and oozes.
<sup>6</sup> My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle; they reach their end without hope.¶

†Heb uncertain ‡Heb uncertain ¶Or thread

being treacherous in their behavior toward him (6:14-15). They are like a stream in the desert that runs full when it rains, but dries up when the heat comes (6:15, 17; see Jer 15:18).

6:18-21 They are like Caravans that look for water, but when they don't find it, they are dismayed and afraid.

6:22-30 Job pleads with his friends to show that what he has said or done deserves such a response. Rather than condemn him and treat him like property, they should see that he is a righteous man who doesn't lie but discerns the truth in his suffering (6:28-30).

7:1-10 Job compares the human condition to slavery. Describing his own suffering, he speaks of his emptiness... the night [that] drags on, and restless thoughts (7:3-4), and a body that is covered with sores and dry skin (7:5). He is without hope and pleasure (7:6-7).

- 7 Remember that my life is wind;
my eyes won't see pleasure again.
- 8 The eye that sees me now will no longer look on me;
your eyes will be on me, and I won't exist.
- 9 A cloud breaks apart and moves on—like the one who descends to the grave▼ and won't rise, 10 won't return home again, won't be recognized in town anymore.

7:4 Dt 28:67;
Job 7:13
7:5 Job 2:7,
Job 17:14,
Job 24:20;
Is 14:11
7:9 2Sa 12:23;
Job 14:13
7:14 Gn 41:8
7:15 1Ki 19:4;
Jon 4:3; Rev 9:6
7:16 Job 6:9,
Job 9:21,
Job 10:1,
Job 10:20;
Ps 39:13
7:18 Job 14:3;
Ps 17:3

Job wants to be left alone

- 11 But I won't keep quiet;
I will speak in the adversity of my spirit, groan in the bitterness of my life.
- 12 Am I Sea✳ or the Sea Monster<sup>7</sup> that you place me under guard?
- 13 If I say, "My couch will comfort me," my bed will diminish my murmuring.
- 14 You scare me with dreams, frighten me with visions.
- 15 I would choose strangling and death instead of my bones.
- 16 I reject life;✳ I don't want to live long;
leave me alone, for my days are empty.

A parody of Psalm 8

- 17 What are human beings, that you exalt them, that you take note of them, 18 visit them each morning, test them every moment?
- 19 Why not look away from me;
let me alone until I swallow my spit?
- 20 If I sinned, what did I do to you, guardian of people?
Why have you made me your target so that I'm a burden to myself?
- 21 Why not forgive my sin, overlook my iniquity?
Then I would lie down in the dust;
you would search hard for me,
and I would not exist.

Bildad defends God

- 8 Bildad from Shuah responded:
8<sup>2</sup> How long will you mouth such things such that your utterances become a strong wind?

✳Heb Sheol   ✳Heb Yam, a sea god   <sup>7</sup>Heb Tannin, a sea dragon   ✳Heb lacks life.

Like thread on a weaver's shuttle (7:6) and a vanishing cloud (7:9) he is on his way to the grave (called "Sheol" in Hebrew).

7:8 Job addresses God directly for the first time (your is singular), as he does from time to time in the dialogue.

7:11-16 Job speaks to God in especially harsh terms, accusing God of watching over him as if he were Sea or a Sea Monster (7:12; Leviathan, see Job 3:8) or chaos embodied. He is being treated as a disorderly element in creation. He seeks comfort (7:13), but God harasses him with terrifying dreams and visions (7:14). leave me alone: Death is better than life with such a God!

7:17-21 Job parodies Psalm 8, which speaks of human beings (7:17) as "only slightly less than divine" and filled "with glory and grandeur" and "putting everything under their feet." For Job, however, humans aren't actually called to such a vocation in God's world, but to be the object of God's relentless control, that is, God's target (7:20). If God would only let me alone long enough to swallow my spit! (7:19) Job speaks in mocking terms: If I sinned . . . forgive it and move on! I'm done with this life and done with you! (7:20-21).

8:1-22 Bildad's first response. Bildad responds that if Job would turn to God, he would experience creation as good—unlike the wicked, who experience it as a threat.

8:1-7 Bildad is appalled by what Job had to say about God

8:9 Gn 47:9;
1Ch 29:15;
Job 7:6, Job 14:2;
Ps 102:11

- <sup>3</sup> Does God pervert justice, or does the Almighty distort what is right?
<sup>4</sup> If your children sinned against him, then he delivered them into the power of their rebellion.
<sup>5</sup> If you will search eagerly for God, plead with the Almighty.
<sup>6</sup> If you are pure and do the right thing, then surely he will become active on your behalf and reward your innocent dwelling.
<sup>7</sup> Although your former state was ordinary, your future will be extraordinary.

Tradition

- <sup>8</sup> Ask a previous generation and verify the findings of your ancestors, <sup>9</sup> for we are only recently here and don't know because our days on earth are a shadow.
<sup>10</sup> Won't they instruct you and tell you; will words not<sup>a</sup> proceed from their hearts?

Examples from nature

- <sup>11</sup> Does papyrus grow apart from a marsh?
Does a reed flourish without water?
<sup>12</sup> While still tender, uncut,
it will wither before every other grass.
<sup>13</sup> So are the paths of all who forget God.
Hope perishes for the godless, <sup>14</sup> whose confidence is a fragile thing,<sup>b</sup> their trust, a spider's web.
<sup>15</sup> He leans on its web, and it doesn't stand;
grasps it, and it can't remain in place.
<sup>16</sup> It's like a well-watered plant in the sun;
its runners spread over its gardens.
<sup>17</sup> Its roots are entwined over a pile of rocks, for it sees a home among stones.
<sup>18</sup> If it's uprooted from its place, it lies, saying, "I can't see you."
<sup>19</sup> Surely its way is a joy, for from the dust other plants<sup>c</sup> sprout.

God's faithfulness

- <sup>20</sup> Surely God won't reject integrity, won't strengthen the hand of the wicked.
<sup>21</sup> He will still fill your mouth with joy, your lips with a victorious shout.

<sup>a</sup>Heb lacks not. <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Heb lacks plants.

and God's justice. He even suggests that Job's children suffered as they did because of their sin (8:4). If Job would plead with God (8:5-6), and does what is right (ironically, as in Job 1:1, 8), God will become active on [Job's] behalf, and his future will be extraordinary (8:6-7).

8:8-10 If Job were to inquire of his ancestors, they would instruct him in the truth. And, it is implied, he would agree with his friends' point of view on these matters.

8:11-19 Using imagery from the plant world, two plants (representing the wicked and the righteous) seem to be contrasted. Bildad asserts regarding all who forget God that their Hope perishes like plants without water (8:13). Their future is no firmer than a spider's web (8:14). Another plant comes into view (8:16), a well-watered plant in the sun (which therefore doesn't wither). Its roots are grounded in a home among stones (not a fragile spider's web), and even if it is uprooted, it can ignore that, for other plants sprout from it, making life a joy (8:17-19).

8:20-22 A word of assurance for Job. Because God won't reject integrity (a term used for Job in Job 1:1, 8), Job still has a chance for a positive future, while his foes will vanish.

22 Those who hate you will be clothed with shame, and the tent of the wicked will vanish.

Hymnic praise

9 Job responded:

- 21 I know for certain that this is so;
and how can anyone be innocent before God?
- 3 If one wants to contend with him,
he won't answer one in a thousand.
- 4 He is wise<sup>d</sup> and powerful;
who can resist him and prosper?
- 5 Who removes mountains, and they are unaware;
who overthrows them in anger?
- 6 Who shakes the earth from its place,
and its pillars shudder?
- 7 Who commands the sun, and it does not rise,
even seals up the stars;
8 stretched out the heavens alone and trod on the waves of the Sea;<sup>e</sup> 9 made the Bear and Orion, Pleiades and the southern constellations;
- 10 does great and unsearchable things, wonders beyond number?

A mismatch

- 11 If God goes by me, I can't see him;
he glides past, and I can't perceive him.
- 12 If he seizes, who can bring back?
Who can say to him, "What are you doing?"
- 13 God won't retract his anger;
the helpers of Rahab bow beneath him.
- 14 Yet I myself will answer him;
I'll choose my words in a contest<sup>f</sup> with him.
- 15 Even if I'm innocent, I can't answer;
I must plead for justice.
- 16 If I were to call and he answered me,
I couldn't believe that he heard my voice.
- 17 Who bruises me with a tempest and multiplies my wounds for no reason?
- 18 He doesn't let me catch my breath, for he fills me with bitterness.
- 19 If the issue is strength—behold power!
If justice—who calls God to meet me?

<sup>d</sup>Or wise in heart; cf 37:24 <sup>e</sup>Heb Yam, a sea god <sup>f</sup>Heb lacks in a contest.

9:1–10:22 Job's response to Bildad. Job's is a painful reply, with sharp questions about God's justice and purpose in creation. Job challenges any claims that justice is integral to the created order. Strikingly, Job is basically right about the creational order. As God's speeches will later show (Job 38–41), God hasn't created a machine. 9:1–10 Job agrees with Bildad that no one is innocent before God (9:2); but given who humans are and who God is, that's no news. To contend with God about these matters is futile (9:3). God has every advantage, and no one can resist him successfully (9:4). Look at what God does in the world of nature! God controls every creature, including the monsters of chaos (Sea; see Job 7:12) and the southern constellations of the heavens (9:9; see Job 38:31–33; Amos 5:8–9).

9:10 wonders beyond number: But, in fact, God's world is a mess, so disorderly that one's innocence has no relationship to whether they suffer. 9:11–19 But Job claims, God's power in nature isn't matched by a gracious divine interaction with human beings. Job 9:19 summarizes these points well by agreeing with the friends: God is in control. Regardless of the ill effects God's action may produce in human life, God can't be called to account. Mocking God's control over creation, even the forces of chaos like Rahab (=Sea, 9:13; see Job 26:12; 7:12) bow beneath this God. Still Job will take God on. An innocent one shouldn't have to plead for justice (9:15). Even then, God wouldn't listen. God would continue the attack, including storms and disease. God's actions fill Job with bitterness (9:18).

9:2 Job 4:17,
Job 25:4;
Ps 130:3,
Ps 143:2;
Ro 3:20
9:3 Job 10:2,
Job 40:2
9:7 Is 13:10;
Jl 2:10, Jl 3:15
9:8 Ps 104:2;
Is 40:22
9:9 Gn 1:16;
Job 37:9,
Job 38:31–32;
Am 5:8
9:10 Job 5:9
9:17 Job 2:3,
Job 16:14,
Job 34:6
9:19 Job 9:4;
Jer 49:19

9:20 Job 15:6;

Phi 3:12

9:23 Job 24:12;

Heb 11:36

9:24 Job 10:3.

Job 12:6;

Job 12:17;

Job 16:11;

Jer 12:1

9:25 Job 7:6-7;

Jer 51:31

9:30 Jer 2:22

9:31 Jer 2:22

9:33 1Sa 2:25;

Job 9:19;

Job 16:21

There is no justice

- <sup>20</sup>If I'm innocent, my mouth condemns me;
I have integrity; but God declares me perverse.
- <sup>21</sup>I'm blameless, yet don't know myself;
I reject my life.
- <sup>22</sup>It's all the same;
therefore, I say God destroys the blameless and the sinners.
- <sup>23</sup>If calamity suddenly kills, he mocks at the slaying<sup>a</sup> of innocents.
- <sup>24</sup>The earth is handed over to the wicked;
he covers the faces of its judges.
If not God, then who does?

Job wants an arbitrator

- <sup>25</sup>My days are swifter than a runner;
they flee and don't experience good.
- <sup>26</sup>They sweep by like ships made of reeds, as an eagle swoops on prey.
- <sup>27</sup>If I say, "I'll forget my lament, put on a different face so I can smile,"
- <sup>28</sup>I'm still afraid of all my suffering;
I know that you won't declare me innocent.
- <sup>29</sup>I myself am thought guilty;
why have I tried so hard in vain?
- <sup>30</sup>If I wash myself with snow, purify my hands with soap,
- <sup>31</sup>then you'll hurl me into a slimy pit so that my clothes detest me.
- <sup>32</sup>God is not a man like me—someone I could answer—so that we could come together in court.
- <sup>33</sup>Oh, that<sup>b</sup> there were a mediator between us;
he would lay his hand on both of us, <sup>34</sup>remove his rod from me, so his fury wouldn't frighten me.
- <sup>35</sup>Then I would speak—unafraid—for I'm not that way.

Complaint to God

- 10 I loathe my life; I will let loose my complaint;
I will speak out of my own bitterness.
- <sup>2</sup>I will say to God, Don't declare me guilty;
tell me what you are accusing me of doing.
- <sup>3</sup>Does it seem good to you that you oppress me, that you reject the work of your hands and cause the purpose of sinners to shine?

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>b</sup>Or There is no

9:20-24 Job believes that he is innocent and has integrity in these matters, but once he opens his mouth in defense, God declares him perverse (9:20). God treats the blameless and the sinners alike (9:22). They are all the same to God. Any judges that may be around are fired (9:24). Finally, it's the wicked who rule the day. Job blames God for not creating an order that connects to actual human behaviors.

9:25-35 Given this terrible and unjust situation, Job realizes that he can't resolve the situation. I can't forget my lament and put on a different face (9:27). But God can't resolve it either: God won't declare me innocent (9:28). Even if I change my life and seek to purify myself (9:30), God will respond by hurl[ing] me into a slimy pit (9:31). Because God is not a man like me (9:32), he can't be brought into court. Job wishes for a mediator (9:33), a third party, who would arbitrate between God and himself. In such a court, Job could speak—unafraid (9:35), knowing that he is innocent. 10:1-7 Job's lament deepens regarding God's treatment of him. I loathe my life. God, don't just declare me guilty (10:2), tell me why. Why do you oppress me, one of your faithful ones, and let the obvious sinners thrive (10:3)? Does that seem good to you? If you were a human being, your accusing me of sin would be understandable (10:6). But you are God, and You know that I'm not guilty (10:7).

- <sup>4</sup>Do you have physical eyes;
do you see like a human?
<sup>5</sup>Are your days like those of a human, your years like years of a human, <sup>6</sup>that you search for my wrongdoing and seek my sin?
<sup>7</sup>You know that I'm not guilty, yet no one delivers me from your power.

Creator

- <sup>8</sup>Your hands fashioned and made me;
yet you want to destroy me utterly.
<sup>9</sup>Remember that you made me from<sup>i</sup> clay, and you will return me to dust.
<sup>10</sup>Didn't you pour me out like milk, curdle me like cheese?
<sup>11</sup>You clothed me with skin and flesh, wove me from bones and sinews.
<sup>12</sup>Life and kindness you gave me, and you oversaw and preserved my breath.

No hiding place

- <sup>13</sup>These things you hid in your heart;
I know this is the case with you.
<sup>14</sup>If I sin and you observe me, you won't consider me innocent of wrongdoing.
<sup>15</sup>If I were guilty, doom to me;
I'm innocent, but can't lift my head, full of shame and facing my misery.
<sup>16</sup>I could boast like a lion, and you would hunt me;
you would do awesome things to me again.
<sup>17</sup>You continue to send your witnesses against me and increase your anger toward me, a swift army against me.<sup>j</sup>

Death wish

- <sup>18</sup>Why did you let me emerge from the womb?
I wish I had died without any eye seeing me.
<sup>19</sup>Then I would be just as if I hadn't existed, taken from the belly to the grave.
<sup>20</sup>Aren't my few days coming to an end?
Look away from me so I can brighten up a little <sup>21</sup>before I go and don't return to a land of deepest darkness, <sup>22</sup>a land whose light is like gloom, utter darkness and confusion,
such that light shines like gloom.

<sup>i</sup>Or like <sup>j</sup>Heb uncertain

10:8 Job 10:3;
Ps 119:73
10:9 Gn 2:7;
Gn 3:19;
Job 4:19;
Ecc 12:7
10:10 1Sa 17:18
10:11 Ps 139:13
10:12 Gn 2:7;
Job 33:4;
Ac 17:28
10:13 Job 23:13
10:15 Job 9:15;
Job 10:7;
Ps 23:18; Is 3:11
10:22 1Sa 2:9;
Job 3:13;
Job 10:21

10:8-12 These verses are a parody of Psalm 139:13-16. Job speaks of himself as an individual whom God created, but created for trouble.

10:10 pour me out like milk, curdle me like cheese: probably a metaphor for the initial stages of formation in the womb. God's knowledge of Job, indeed participation in his development and birth, should tell God that he is innocent.

10:13-17 God must have hidden all the positive evidence! If I were a sinner and guilty, then the divine behavior would be understandable (10:14-15). But I'm innocent! I shouldn't be full of shame and misery. If Job were to boast like a lion regarding his integrity, God would still hunt him down and repeat the attack (10:16). God's anger at him would continue, even increase; God would even bring a swift army against him (10:17).

10:18-22 Why . . . ? I wish I had died: in the womb. See Jeremiah 20:14-18.

10:20-22 I've got few days . . . before I disappear in the darkness and gloom: Perhaps there is no expectation of an afterlife.

11:2 Psv 10:19

11:3 Job 17:2

11:6 Ezz 9:13

11:7 Job 5:9;

Job 37:23;

Ps 145:3;

Ecc 3:11;

Ro 11:33

11:12 2Ch 6:36;

Job 5:13;

Job 12:2-3;

Job 39:5

Zophar's rebuke

- 11 Zophar from Naamah responded:
1 Should all these words go unanswered or a wordy man be justified?
2 Will your idle talk silence everyone; will you mock and not be put to shame?
3 You've said, "My teaching is pure, and I'm clean in God's<sup>k</sup> eyes."

Divine secrecy

- 4 But oh, that God would speak, open his lips against you 5 and tell you secrets of wisdom; for sound insight has two sides.
 Know that God lets some of your sin be forgotten.
6 Can you find the secret of God or find the extent of the Almighty?
7 They are higher than the heavens—what can you do?
 Deeper than the underworld<sup>l</sup>—what can you know?
8 Its measurement is longer than the earth and broader than the sea.
9 If God passes by, imprisons someone, and calls a trial, who can stop him?
10 He knows worthless people, sees sin, and certainly<sup>m</sup> takes note.
11 A stupid person becomes intelligent when a wild ass of a person is born tame.<sup>n</sup>

Abiding hope

- 12 If you make your mind resolute and spread your palms to him, 13 if you throw out the sin in your hands and don't let injustice dwell in your tents, 14 then you will lift up your face without blemish;
 you will be secure and not fear.
15 You will forget trouble;
 you will remember it as water that flows past.
16 A life span will rise brighter than noon;
 darkness will be like morning.
17 You will be secure, for there is hope;
 you will look around and rest safely.
18 You will lie down without anyone to scare you;
 many will beg for your favor.
19 The eyes of the wicked will grow faint; flight has vanished from them;
 their hope is a dying gasp.

<sup>k</sup>Or your <sup>l</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>m</sup>Or does not <sup>n</sup>Or a wild ass's colt can be born a man

11:1-20 Zophar's first response. Zophar claims that God's ways are beyond questions and hence Job is wrong to challenge God about the created world.

11:1-4 Zophar scolds Job for his lack of self-control and for being so wordy (11:2). For him, Job's claim that his teaching is pure is simply idle talk (11:3-4). Job should be put to shame for what he has been saying.

11:5-12 Zophar desires that God would speak to Job the wisdom needed for such a time. Job should realize that God's ways are higher and Deeper than he is aware. what can you know?: God is like a traveling judge who sees everything. who can stop him from passing judgment God knows the sinners and takes note. Job is like a stupid person who has as much chance of becoming intelligent: a wild ass of a person does of becoming tame.

11:13-20 If Job would spread [his] palms in prayer to God and turn away from his sin, he would be secure and not fear. All of his trouble will be a distant memory and a life. brighter than noon will replace the darkness of his morning. On the other hand, if Job continues in his ways, his eyes will fail like those of the wicked. There will be no escape (flight from his suffering, and hope will be a dying gasp.

A living joke

- 12 Job responded:
 1<sup>2</sup> Surely you are the people, and wisdom will die with you.
 3<sup>1</sup> I am also intelligent;
 I'm not inferior to you.
 Who isn't like these people?<sup>o</sup> 4<sup>1</sup> I'm a joke to friends who called to God and he answered;
 the innocent and blameless one is a joke, 5<sup>a</sup> a torch<sup>p</sup> of contempt to one who is idle, a fixed point for slipping feet.

Proverbial wisdom

- 6<sup>1</sup> Raiders' tents are prosperous and God's provokers secure, who carry God in their hands.<sup>q</sup> 7<sup>1</sup> But ask Behemoth, and he will teach you,
 the birds in the sky, and they will tell you;
 8<sup>1</sup> or talk to earth, and it will teach you;
 the fish of the sea will recount it for you.
 9<sup>1</sup> Among all these, who hasn't known that the LORD's hand did this?
 10<sup>1</sup> In whose grasp is the life of every thing, the breath of every person?
 11<sup>1</sup> Doesn't the ear test words and the palate taste food?
 12<sup>1</sup> "In old age is wisdom; understanding in a long life."

God's majesty

- 13<sup>1</sup> With him are wisdom and power; counsel and understanding are his.
 14<sup>1</sup> If he tears down, it can't be rebuilt;
 if he ties a person up, he can't be set free.
 15<sup>1</sup> If he restricts water, they have drought;
 if he lets it loose, it overturns the land.
 16<sup>1</sup> With him are might and success;
 the deceiver and the deceived are his.

<sup>o</sup>Heb lacks people. <sup>p</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>q</sup>Heb uncertain

12:1–14:22 Job's response to Zophar. Job's long speech first addresses the friends (12:1–13:17) and then moves to God (13:18–14:22).

12:1–5 Job opens with sarcastic comments about his friends. They think that they are such special people that when they die, wisdom will die. Job is not inferior to them (12:3). Nobody is. Job is a joke to friends who have called upon God and whose prayers have been answered, unlike Job's (12:4–5). Job claims that he is innocent and blameless, but to those who are idle (and not suffering) that claim is a joke, indeed a matter of obvious contempt, a point from which one is bound to fall.

12:6–12 Life is unfair, and God is responsible. Those who steal from others are prosperous, and those who provoke God, who claim to have God within their control, are secure. 12:6–9 ask any beast you can imagine (including Behemoth, one of the mightiest of animals; see Job 40:15), or the birds, or the earth itself, or the fish and they'll teach you the truth that is obvious to every creature: the Lord has done this to me. The world of nature is an important source of knowledge about God and world. The natural world is imagined as a teacher of human beings (12:7–9, which is the only use of the Lord's name in the dialogue). But in this context nature is a teacher with respect to God's abuse of the suffering Job.

12:10–11 life of every thing: Even human breath is in God's control. Such knowledge is as obvious as words to the ear and the taste of food to the palate.

12:12 Quoting a proverb, such wisdom is available to anyone who has lived a long life.

12:13–25 A mocking closing word about God's control of the world. See sidebar, "A Cruel World."

12:13 God has all wisdom and power. But Job calls into question God's mostly negative use of these attributes (cf. Prov 8:14–16). The list of divine actions claims that God controls all matters, in both history and nature, among both individuals and nations. Everything that happens, with special attention to the negative actions of religious,

12:4 Job 16:10,
 Job 17:2,
 Job 17:6,
 Job 30:11,
 Ps 91:15
 12:8 Job 12:9
 12:14 Job 11:10;
 Is 22:22; Rev 3:7

12:24 Job 12:20;
Ps 107:40

- 17 He leads advisors away barefoot;
makes madmen of judges;
18 unties the belt of kings, binds a garment around their loins; 19 leads priests away barefoot;
overthrows the well-established;
20 silences the talk of trusted people;
takes away elders' discernment; 21 pours contempt on royalty;
loosens the belt of kings;
22 discloses deep secrets of darkness, makes utter darkness enter the light; 23 makes nations prominent and destroys them,
expands nations and leads them astray;
24 takes away the power to think from earth's leaders, making them wander in untraveled wastelands.
25 They feel their way in the dark without light;
he makes them stumble like drunks.

Self-defense

- 13 Look, my eye has seen it all;
my ear has heard and understood it.
2 Just as you know, I also know;
I'm not inferior to you.
3 But I want to speak to the Almighty;
I would gladly present my case to God.

Friends attacked

- 4 You, however, are plasterers of lies;
ineffective healers, all of you.
5 Would that you were completely quiet;
that would be your wisdom.
6 Hear my teaching and pay attention to the arguments of my lips.
7 Will you speak injustice for God, speak deceit on his behalf?
8 Will you be partial or contend for God?
9 Will it go well when he searches you, or can you fool him as you fool people?
10 He will certainly correct you if you've been secretly partial.
11 Wouldn't his majesty scare you and dread of him fall on you?
12 Your old sayings are proverbs made of ashes, your sayings defenses made of clay.

A Cruel World In Job 12:13-25, Job launches into a defense against the accusations of the friends and the actions of God. He claims that God's governance is entirely random and doesn't have Job's and the creatures' best interest at heart. He admits to God's wisdom as a creator, and to God's power, but says that they are used in randomly and negatively against people like him. From Job's point of view, God's creation is poorly designed. This is because the system of reward and punishment doesn't work very well, with the result that justice is skewed and creation is chaotic. God is finally responsible for this descent of the creation into chaos.

© 2011 by Thomas Nelson

judicial and political leaders, is because God has done it, not because of human failure. And look at the chaos that results. The resulting claim is an example: God even "takes away the power to think from earth's leaders . . . makes them stumble like drunks" (Job 12:24-25).

13:1-3 The friends can't add to Job's knowledge (see Job 12:2), so Job demands to speak directly to the all-powerful one in court.

13:4-12 Job sharply attacks the friends, accusing them of being plasterers of lies (see Ps 119:69) and ineffective healers. The best wisdom they could offer him would be to shut up and listen to his own arguments. They are false witnesses for God in this court case, and God will certainly correct any biases they have (as in Job 42:7-8). They will be filled with dread. What they say is worthless, best described as ashes and clay.

Job will speak out

- <sup>13</sup> Be quiet and I will speak, come what may.
- <sup>14</sup> For what reason will I take my flesh in my teeth, put my life in jeopardy?
- <sup>15</sup> He will slay me; I'm without hope;<sup>a</sup>
I will surely prove my way to his face.
- <sup>16</sup> Also this will be my vindication, that a godless person won't come before him.
- <sup>17</sup> Listen closely to my words
so that my remarks will be in your ears.

13:18 Job 23:4
13:26 Job 20:11;
Ps 29:7
14:1 Job 5:7;
Ecc 2:23
14:2 Job 8:9;
Ps 103:15;
Is 40:6; Jas 1:10;
1Pt 1:24
14:3 Job 7:18;
Ps 8:4; Ps 143:2;
Ps 144:3

Against God

- <sup>18</sup> Look, I have laid out my case;
I know that I'm innocent.
- <sup>19</sup> Who would dare contend with me, for then I would be quiet and die.
- <sup>20</sup> Only don't do two things to me, then I won't hide from your face.
- <sup>21</sup> Remove your hand far from me and don't terrify me with your anger.
- <sup>22</sup> Then call and I'll answer, or I'll speak and you can reply.
- <sup>23</sup> How many are my offenses and sins?
Inform me about my rebellions and sins.
- <sup>24</sup> Why hide your face from me and consider me your enemy?
- <sup>25</sup> Will you cause a wind-tossed leaf to tremble, or will you pursue dry straw?
- <sup>26</sup> You even write bitter things about me, make me inherit my youthful indiscretions.
- <sup>27</sup> You tie up my feet and restrict all actions;
you stamp marks on the bottom of my feet.

Human destiny

- <sup>28</sup> Surely a person wastes away like refuse, like clothing that a moth eats.
- 14 All of us<sup>a</sup> are born of women, have few days, and are full of turmoil.
- <sup>2</sup> Like a flower, we<sup>b</sup> bloom, then wither, flee like a shadow, and don't last.
- <sup>(3)</sup> Yes, you open your eyes on this one;
you bring me into trial against you.)

<sup>a</sup>Or Though he slay me, yet I will trust him. <sup>b</sup>Heb adam <sup>c</sup>Or he; also he in 14:5-6

13:13-17 Job promises to speak out, even though he will be putting his life in jeopardy, like prey in a beast's mouth. He believes that he has no hope. God will slay him, if he tries to show that he is right before the face of God (see Exod 33:20). But Job finds vindication in coming before God, because a godless person wouldn't dare to do such a thing.

13:18-27 Job speaks directly to God (though possibly not until 13:20). Confident that he is innocent, he lays out his case before God. If God should challenge him, he is ready to die. He specifies two conditions for this face-to-face encounter: (1) don't threaten me with your hand (see Job 1:11; 2:5); and, (2) don't terrify me with your anger. If you don't do these things, then we can speak with each other. Job challenges God: Name my sins! Assuming that God won't be able to do so, Job asks Why? (see Job 10:18). God turns his face (presence) away and treats Job like an enemy. Given that Job is no more than a leaf or dry straw compared to God, why such a threat? God has even written down bitter things against Job (as in a court procedure) and remembered some of Job's youthful indiscretions. God restrict[s] Job's movements and even marks the bottoms of [his] feet so that his steps can be traced.

13:28-14:6 Human beings, like refuse and moth-eaten clothing (13:28), are here one minute and gone the next. We're alive but only for a few turmoil-filled days (14:1), and Like a flower or a shadow (14:2), we don't last long (see Pss 102:11; 103:15). Why should God bother to bring such a short-lived one into trial (14:3)? Nobody can make the guilty innocent (14:4). The number of our days [is] fixed

14:4 Job 15:14;

Ps 51:5; Jn 3:6

14:5 Job 7:1;

Job 21:21;

Ps 39:4

14:7 Job 19:10

14:8 Is 11:1

14:9 Job 29:19

14:10 Job 14:12;

Job 14:14

14:11 Is 19:5

14:12 Ps 102:26

14:13 Gn 8:11;

Job 6:6; Is 26:20

14:14 Job 7:1;

Job 13:15

14:15 Job 10:3;

Job 13:22

14:16 Job 10:6;

Job 10:14;

Job 31:4;

Job 34:21;

Ps 139:1

14:17 Dt 32:34;

Hos 13:12

4Who can make pure from impure?

Nobody.

5If our days are fixed, the number of our months with you, you set a statute and we can't exceed it.

6Look away from us that we may rest, until we are satisfied like a worker at day's end.

Trees versus humans

7Indeed there is hope for a tree.

If it's cut down and still sprouting and its shoots don't fail,

8if its roots age in the ground and its stump dies in the dust,

9at the scent of water, it will bud and produce sprouts like a plant.

10But a human dies and lies there; a person expires, and where is he?

11Water vanishes from the sea; a river dries up completely.

12But a human lies down and doesn't rise until the heavens cease; they don't get up and awaken from sleep.

Momentary hope

13I wish you would hide me in the underworld,<sup>a</sup> conceal me until your anger passes, set a time for me, and remember me.

14If people die, will they live again? All the days of my service I would wait until my restoration took place.

15You would call, and I would answer you; you would long for your handiwork.

16Though you now number my steps, you would not keep a record of my sin.

17My rebellion is sealed in a bag; you would cover my sin.

God crushes hope

18But an eroding mountain breaks up, and rock is displaced.

19Water wears away boulders; floods carry away soil; you destroy a people's hope.

20You overpower them relentlessly, and they die; you change their appearance and send them away.

21Their children achieve honor, and they don't know it; their children become insignificant, and they don't see it.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol

by God and we can't exceed that time limit (14:5). So God, leave us alone so that we may rest until our limited days are done (14:6).

14:7-12 There is hope for a tree, even when cut down, to return to life, but not for human beings (14:7-10). They are like water that dries up. When they die, they are gone for good (that is, until the heavens cease) (14:11-12).

14:13-17 Job pleads with God: hide me in the underworld (Sheol, the home of the dead) until your anger passes (14:13). He wonders whether people will live again after they die (14:14). If it were so, Job would wait long for such a restored relationship. Such a time would be different from the present (14:15). God would no longer keep a record of [Job's] sin, but it would be sealed in a bag and thrown away forever (14:16-17).

14:18-22 But Job's hope is only momentary. By using destructive images (earthquake, flood), Job speaks of God as one who destroy[s] a people's hope (14:18-19). God overpower[s] them relentlessly until they die, never to be seen again (14:20). They won't see how the lives of their children turn out, whether for good or evil (14:21). Job concludes with an image of their negative end in Sheol, the realm of the dead: in bodily pain and mourn[ing] for themselves (14:22).

<sup>22</sup>They only feel the pain of their body, and they mourn for themselves.

Job's intelligence questioned

- 15 Eliphaz answered:
<sup>2</sup>Will the wise respond with windy knowledge and fill their belly with the east wind?
<sup>3</sup>Will they argue with a word that has no benefit and with unprofitable words?
<sup>4</sup>You are truly making religion ineffective and restraining meditation before God.
<sup>5</sup>Your mouth multiplies your sins a thousand times;
you opt for a clever tongue.
<sup>6</sup>Your mouth condemns you, not I;
your lips argue against you.
<sup>7</sup>Were you born the first Adam, brought forth before the hills?
<sup>8</sup>Did you listen in God's council; is wisdom limited to you?
<sup>9</sup>What do you know that we don't know; what do you understand that isn't among us?
<sup>10</sup>Both the graybeard and the aged are with us;
those much older than your father.
<sup>11</sup>Are God's comforts not enough for you, a word spoken gently with you?
<sup>12</sup>Why has your mind seized you, why have your eyes flashed, <sup>13</sup>so that you return your breath to God and utter such words from your mouth?
<sup>14</sup>What are humans that they might be pure, and those born of woman that they might be innocent?
<sup>15</sup>If he doesn't trust his holy ones and the heavens aren't pure in his eyes, <sup>16</sup>how much less those who are abominable and corrupt, for they drink sin like water.

The wicked's downfall

- <sup>17</sup>Listen to me; I will argue with you;
what I've seen, I will declare to you;
<sup>18</sup>what the wise have told and have not concealed from their family, <sup>19</sup>to whom alone the earth was given and no stranger passed in their midst.
<sup>20</sup>All the days of the wicked are painful;
the number of years reserved for the hateful; <sup>21</sup>a sound of terror pierces<sup>v</sup> their ears;
when safe, raiders overtake them.

<sup>v</sup>Heb lacks pierces.

15:1-35 Eliphaz's second response. In this second round of speeches the anger of Job and friends is intensified.

15:1-16 Eliphaz responds sharply, accusing Job of a windy... word that has no benefit (15:2-3). It's just talk! Hot air! In so doing, Job, you are undervaluing the importance of religion and its practices (15:4). Your own speaking condemns you, not I. Your own words argue against you (15:5-6). You act as if you were present at creation and listened to God's council (15:7-8; see Jer 23:18, 22). Job doesn't know any more about these matters than his friends. In fact, they're surrounded by the learned aged in a way that Job isn't (15:9-10). Eliphaz asks: why are God's comforts not enough for you or a word that your friends have spoken gently (15:11; see Job 2:11)? Why has your mind so hardened, and why is your anger so evident in those flashing eyes and sharp words? Have you returned your good spirit (breath) to God (15:12-13; see Gen 2:7)? Human beings aren't innocent! If even God's angels aren't pure (see Job 4:18-19), how much less humans (like Job) who drink sin as if it were life-giving water (15:14-16).

15:17-35 Eliphaz challenges Job to Listen to his arguments, drawn from the traditions of the wise, early in human life on the earth (15:17-19). A catalog of negatives about the future of the wicked and hateful (or ruthless)

15:8 Jer 23:18
 15:13 Job 15:25;
 Mal 3:13
 15:14 Job 14:4,
 Job 25:4;
 Prv 20:9;
 Ecc 7:20
 15:15 Job 4:18,
 Job 5:1, Job 25:5

15:26 Job 15:25;
Job 16:14;
Ps 75:5
16:2 Job 13:4
16:4 2Ki 19:21;
Ps 22:7,
Ps 109:25;
Lam 2:15;
Mt 27:39
16:5 Job 29:25

- 22 They can't count on turning away from darkness;
they are destined for a sword.
- 23 They wander about for bread. "Where is it?"
They know that their day of darkness is fixed.
- 24 Adversity and stress scare them, master them like a king ready to strike;
- 25 for they raise a fist against God and try to overpower the Almighty.
- 26 They run toward him aggressively, with a massive and strong shield.
- 27 They cover their face with grease and make their loins gross.
- 28 They lived in ruined cities, unoccupied houses that turn to rubble.
- 29 They won't get rich; their wealth won't last;
their property won't extend over the earth.
- 30 They can't turn away from darkness;
a flame will dry out their shoots, and they will be taken away by the wind from his mouth.
- 31 They shouldn't trust in what has no worth,
for their reward will be worthless.
- 32 Before their branch is formed,
before it is green,
- 33 like the vine, they will drop early grapes and cast off their blossoms like the olive.
- 34 The ruthless gang is barren, and fire consumes the tents of bribers.
- 35 They conceive toil and give birth to sorrow;
their belly establishes deceit.

Job's response

- 16 Then Job answered:
2 I've heard many things like these.
All of you are sorry comforters.
- 3 Will windy talk ever cease;
what bothers you that you must argue?
- 4 In your situation I could speak like you;
I could put words together to oppose you,
shake my head over you.
- 5 I could heap up words, strengthen you with my speech;
my trembling lips would be held in check.
- 6 If I speak, my pain is not eased;
if I hold back, what have I lost?

The innocent are God's targets

- 7 Now God has surely worn me out.
You have destroyed my entire group, follows (15:20). Their entire lives will be painful. They will live with the sound of terror and raiders will overtake them when they think they are safe (15:21). They will be unable to escape from pervasive darkness and death. They will search for food, knowing that their end is near (15:22-23). They are faced with Adversity... ready to strike, because they are challenging the Almighty God (15:24-27; Shaddai means Almighty: "the mountain God" or "mountain one"). Dressed up like warriors, they engage God in battle, but their prosperity (grease, fatness) won't save them. But they will live in ruined cities and houses that have become rubble. Their wealth won't last nor will their property endure. Their crops will dry out and be blown away (15:28-30).

Their reward will be worthless, and they will die young (15:31-33). These ruthless ones are barren and fire will consume their ill-gotten homes. Pregnant with deceit, they will give birth only to sorrow (15:34-35). Such is Job's future. 16:1-17:16 Job's response to Eliphaz. Job responds in kind. 16:1-6 Job's criticism of the three friends is sharp indeed: sorry comforters, windy talk[ers] (16:2-3). If Job were to do to them what they're doing to him, he could speak words that oppose them and shake [his] head over them. But he would do a better job than they do, speaking in a way that would strengthen them and his anger would be held in check. Whether he speaks or not, his pain continues (16:4-6). 16:7-17 Job challenges God for the attacks made on him,

- <sup>8</sup> seized me, which became grounds for an accusation.¶
My leanness rises to bear witness against me.
- <sup>9</sup> His anger tears me and afflicts me;
he slashes at me with his teeth.
My enemy pierces me with his eyes.
- <sup>10</sup> They open their mouths at me and strike my cheek in a taunt;
they gang up on me.
- <sup>11</sup> God delivers me to a criminal and forces me into the hands of the wicked.
- <sup>12</sup> I was at rest, but he shattered me, seized me by the back of my neck,
dashed me into pieces;
he raised me up for his target.
- <sup>13</sup> His archers surround me;
he cuts my kidneys open without pity and doesn't care,
pours my gall on the ground,
- <sup>14</sup> bursts me open over and over, runs against me like a strong man.
- <sup>15</sup> I've sewed rough cloth over my skin and buried my dignity in the dust.
- <sup>16</sup> My face is red from crying, and dark gloom hangs on my eyelids.
- <sup>17</sup> But there is no violence in my hands, and my prayer is pure.

16:14 Job 9:17
16:18 Gn 4:10;
Is 26:21;
Eze 24:7
16:19 Gn 31:50;
Job 31:2;
Ps 113:5; Ro 1:9;
Phi 1:8
16:20 Job 12:5;
Ps 88:9; Ps 142:2;
Lam 2:19
16:21 Job 31:35

Lingering hope

- <sup>18</sup> Earth, don't cover my blood;
let my outcry never cease.
- <sup>19</sup> Surely now my witness stands in heaven;
my advocate is on high;
- <sup>20</sup> my go-between, my friend.¶
While my eyes drip tears to God, <sup>21</sup> let him plead with God for a human being, like a person pleads for a friend.
- <sup>22</sup> A number of years will surely pass, and then I'll walk a path that I won't return.

Another lament

- 17 My spirit is broken, my days extinguished,
the grave,¶ mine.
- <sup>2</sup> Surely mockers are with me, and my eye looks on their rebellion.

¶Heb uncertain ¶Go-between and friend are plural in Heb. ¶Or graves

using both second (“you”) and third (“they”) person references, and concluding with a claim of innocence (16:7-8, 17). God, You have destroyed my entire social world and my leanness has become grounds for an accusation on the part of others. God’s anger is compared to a starving beast, baring its teeth and with eyes focused on him (16:7-9). I was at rest, but God made me a target for His archers, throwing me down like a rock, dash[ing] me into pieces, slashing my innards open with weapons. God has acted without pity and doesn’t care for me at all (16:10-14). I have been reduced to a shameful existence, forever covered with rags; my dignity is gone, and I can’t stop crying (16:15-16). God: Look closely, there is no blood on my hands and my prayer to you is sincere (16:17).

16:18–22 Job addresses the earth: don’t cover my blood so that it can continue to provide evidence of my innocence (16:18; see Gen 4:10-11 regarding Abel’s blood). The identity of the witness/advocate/friend to which Job appeals in tears is uncertain. But Job identifies the witness as a being in heaven (see Job 5:1; 9:33; 19:25; 33:23), probably a divine messenger who could act as a go-between and plead with God on Job’s behalf (16:19-21). In but a few years, Job will be no more (16:22).

17:1-16 Job voices another lament, with his friends especially in view. My spirit is broken and I am near death. I am surrounded by mockers (his “friends”; 17:1-2). God, take me up on my integrity in this matter. Who among the friends would be willing to do likewise (17:3)? God, You’ve closed

17:8 Job 15:34,
Job 34:30,
Is 52:14
17:16 Job 3:17,
Job 21:26
18:5 Job 21:17;
Prv 13:9,
Prv 20:20,
Prv 24:20

- <sup>3</sup>Take my guarantee.
Who else is willing to make an agreement?
- <sup>4</sup>You've closed their mind to insight; therefore, you won't be exalted.
- <sup>5</sup>He denounces his friends for gain, and his children's eyes fail.
- <sup>6</sup>He makes me a popular proverb;
I'm like spit in people's faces.
- <sup>7</sup>My eye is weak from grief;
my limbs like a shadow—all of them.
- <sup>8</sup>Those who do the right thing are amazed at this;
the guiltless become troubled about the goddess.
- <sup>9</sup>The innocent clings to his way;
the one whose hands are clean grows stronger.
- <sup>10</sup>But you can bring all of them again, and I won't find a wise one among you.
- <sup>11</sup>My days have passed;
my goals are destroyed, my heart's desires.
- <sup>12</sup>They turn night into day; light is near because of the darkness.
- <sup>13</sup>If I hope for the underworld<sup>a</sup> as my dwelling, lay out my bed in darkness,
- <sup>14</sup>I've called corruption "my father,"
the worm, "my mother and sister."
- <sup>15</sup>Where then is my hope?
My hope—who can see it?
- <sup>16</sup>Will they go down with me to the underworld;<sup>a</sup> will we descend together to the dust?

Attack from a friend

- 18<sup>2</sup>Bildad from Shuah answered:
<sup>2</sup>How long? Would you all stop talking.
Try to understand and then we can speak.
- <sup>3</sup>Why are we considered beasts, ignorant in your sight?
- <sup>4</sup>To you who tear yourself in rage—will earth be forsaken for your sake, a rock be dislodged from its place?

Evil people's fate

- <sup>5</sup>To be sure, the light of the wicked goes out;
the blaze of their fire doesn't shine.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>b</sup>Heb Sheol

the friends' mind to insight into my situation, so you won't be exalted by what they do (17:4). Recall this proverb: If you betray your friends, your children will die (17:5). Job complains about his reputation in his community (see Job 16:7); he is thought of no more highly than spit in the face (17:6). Job continues: Because of my grief, I don't see well, and my arms and legs don't function very well (17:7). Upright people in the community are amazed at what is happening to me and they are troubled by what the goddess (i.e., the friends) are doing. But these people who do the right thing remain committed to their way and grow stronger in support of me (17:8-9). One could gather all three friends, and I would not find a wise one among them (17:10). my goals and my heart's desires are at an end. Yet, Job expresses hope that his night will turn into day and that darkness means that light will soon dawn for him (17:11-12). hope becomes a repeated theme in these verses. Returning to the theme of the underworld, also called "darkness," "corruption," "worm," and "dust" to refer to the home of the dead (Sheol), Job wonders where he can find hope (17:13-16). Can hope be found in the underworld (see Job 14:13-17)?

18:1-21 Bildad's Second Response. He focuses on the dismal end of the wicked, among whom Job would be included if he continues on his present course.

18:1-4 When will you (Job) stop talking like this? If you would Try to understand, then we might be able to speak. Why do you treat us like animals (18:2)? Why are you so angry? You only tear yourself up and you should know that the very order of the earth won't be affected by what you are doing (18:4).

18:5-21 Various images depict the fate of the wicked:

- <sup>6</sup>The light in their tent becomes dark, and their lamp above doesn't shine.
- <sup>7</sup>Their strong strides slow down;
their plans trip themselves.
- <sup>8</sup>They are caught by their feet in a net;
they walk on mesh.
- <sup>9</sup>A trap grabs them by the heel;
a snare tightens on them.
- <sup>10</sup>A rope is hidden on the ground for them;
a trap for them along the path.
- <sup>11</sup>Terrors round about scare them;
they follow their steps.
- <sup>12</sup>Their offspring hunger; calamity is ready for their spouses.
- <sup>13</sup>It eats some of their skin.
Death's firstborn consumes their limbs.
- <sup>14</sup>They are snatched from the safety of their tent;
it parades them before the king of terrors.
- <sup>15</sup>Nothing they own remains in their tent;
sulfur is scattered over their home.
- <sup>16</sup>Their roots dry out below;
their branches wither above.
- <sup>17</sup>The memory of them will perish from the earth;
they will achieve no recognition abroad.
- <sup>18</sup>They are thrust from light into darkness, banished from the world.
- <sup>19</sup>They have no offspring or descendants among their people, no survivor in their dwelling place.
- <sup>20</sup>Their successors are appalled at what happens to them; their predecessors pull their hair.
- <sup>21</sup>These are surely the dwelling places of the evil;
this is the place of the one who doesn't know God.

18:14 Job 8:22;
Prv 14:32
18:15 Gn 19:24;
Ps 11:6;
Eze 38:22
19:4 Prv 9:12;
Ga 6:5
19:5 Ps 35:26;
Ps 38:16;
Ps 55:12

Failed friendship

- 19 Then Job responded: <sup>2</sup>How long will you harass me and crush me with words?
<sup>3</sup>These ten times you've humiliated me;
shamelessly you insult me.
<sup>4</sup>Have I really gone astray?
If so, my error remains hidden inside me.
<sup>5</sup>If you look down on me and use my disgrace to criticize me, <sup>6</sup>know then that God has wronged me and enclosed his net over me.

God's treatment of Job

- <sup>7</sup>If I cry "Violence!" I'm not answered;
I shout—but there is no justice.

from light to dark, from strong strides to stumbling, being caught in a net or a trap. Terrors are round about and follow their steps (18:5-11). Their offspring and spouses will suffer calamity. Disease and Death itself consumes their bodies. The safety of their homes will disappear in the face of death and their possessions will be lost in fires. Like a tree, their roots and branches will die out, and they won't be remembered. Their children will die, banished from the world (18:12-19). Those who remain will be appalled at what has happened to them. This is the fate of those who don't know God (Job included; 18:20-21).

19:1-29 Job's response to Bildad. Job's complaint against his friends and God reaches a new level, though he expresses hope that he won't be blamed.

19:1-6 Job condemns the friends who harass and crush him with words. Again and again, the friends humiliated and insult[ed] Job (19:2-4). Job argues that if he has gone astray, that is between him and God. If the friends use Job's suffering as a basis to criticize him for something he has done, they should know that God is the problem (19:5-6).

19:7-12 Job goes on to detail God's treatment of him

19:9 Job 29:14;
Ps 89:39,
89:44;
Lam 5:16

19:10 Job 14:7
19:14 Job 19:19;
Ps 38:11;
Jer 20:10

19:16 Job 19:15
19:21 Job 1:11;
Ps 38:2

19:23 Is 30:8

19:25 Psv 23:11;
Is 43:14; Is 59:20

- <sup>8</sup>He walled up my path so I can't pass and put darkness on my trail, <sup>9</sup>stripped my honor from me, removed the crown from my head, <sup>10</sup>tore me down completely so that I'll die, and uprooted my hope like a tree.
<sup>11</sup>His anger burns against me;
he considers me his enemy.
<sup>12</sup>His troops come as one and construct their siege ramp<sup>b</sup> against me; they camp around my tent.

Social ostracism

- <sup>13</sup>He has distanced my family from me;
my acquaintances are also alienated from me.
<sup>14</sup>My visitors have ceased;
those who know me have forgotten me.
<sup>15</sup>My guests and female servants think me a stranger;
I'm a foreigner in their sight.
<sup>16</sup>I call my servant, and he doesn't answer;
I myself must beg him.
<sup>17</sup>My breath stinks to my wife;
I am odious to my children.
<sup>18</sup>Even the young despise me;
I get up, and they rail against me.
<sup>19</sup>All my closest friends despise me;
the ones I have loved turn against me.

Misery

- <sup>20</sup>My bones cling to my skin and flesh;
I have escaped by the skin of my teeth.
<sup>21</sup>Pity me. Pity me. You're my friends.
God's hand has truly struck me.
<sup>22</sup>Why do you pursue me like God does, always hungry for my flesh?

Brief hope

- <sup>23</sup>Oh, that my words were written down, inscribed on a scroll <sup>24</sup>with an iron instrument and lead, forever engraved on stone.
<sup>25</sup>But I know that my redeemer<sup>c</sup> is alive and afterward he'll rise upon the dust.

<sup>b</sup>Or their road <sup>c</sup>Or avenger

Redeemer The best known words in the book of Job are found in Job 19:25 (see especially the music and lyrics for Handel's Messiah). This language isn't used in the NT, though Christians commonly link it to the person and work of Jesus. This absence may in part be due to the fact that the text is difficult to translate and interpret. The identity of the redeemer (Heb. go'el) is uncertain. The word could refer to God as the liberator of God's people (see Isa 41:14; 43:14). But most likely an "avenger" or "vindicator" is in view (see Num 35:12-28)—one who rights a wrong that has been committed against someone. Job believes that his friends and God wronged him, and that he needs a third party (probably a divine messenger) to speak on his behalf.

(see Job 16:7-14). Job says: When I cry out that I am being abused, God doesn't respond with justice—as a just God should. God blocked my path to a just hearing of my cause and keeps that avenue full of darkness (19:7-8). He has stripped me of my honor, removed my dignity as a human being (crown; see Ps 8:5). My hope is gone, uprooted . . . like a tree (see Job 14:7-12). I will die (19:9-10). God's anger burns against me; God considers me his enemy and sends his troops against . . . my tent to kill me (19:11-12).

19:13-19 God's action has cut me off from everyone: my family, acquaintances, visitors, those who know me, servants, wife and children, the young, and All my closest friends. All those I have loved—they have turned against me (19:19). Job has even become a servant to his servants; he is isolated and alone.

19:20-22 Job is skin and bones, and has escaped death by the skin of [his] teeth. Job repeatedly calls on his friends to pity him (19:21). He asks them, "Why do you pursue me like God does?" (see Job 13:25). God and friends seem to be acting together (19:22).

19:23-27 Job voices some hope in the darkness of his life. He expresses a desire that, in case he dies, his words about his innocence will be inscribed in a form that lasts forever (19:23-24; see Job 13:18). He confesses: I know that my redeemer is alive, echoing earlier statements about his hope for a mediator (Job 9:33; 16:19-21; see Job 5:1; 33:23; see sidebar, "Redeemer"). Job claims that his friends and God have wronged him. He wants that action reversed, probably by a divine messenger, a mediator who has direct access to God and can rise up for him (as in a courtroom)

<sup>26</sup>After my skin has been torn apart this way—
then from my flesh<sup>d</sup> I'll see God, <sup>27</sup>whom I'll see myself—my eyes see,<sup>e</sup> and not a stranger's.
I am utterly dejected.

19:26 Ps 17:15;
Mt 5:8;
1Co 13:12;
Phi 3:21; 1Jn 3:2
19:27 Ps 73:26
20:8 Ps 73:20,
Ps 90:5; Is 29:7-8
20:15 Job 20:10;
Prv 23:8;
Is 57:17;
Jer 22:17; Mt 2:2

Warning

<sup>28</sup>You say, "How will we pursue him so that the root of the matter can be found in him?"<sup>f</sup> <sup>29</sup>You ought to fear the sword yourselves, for wrath brings punishment by the sword.
You should know that there is judgment.

Traditional belief

20 Zophar from Naamah said: <sup>2</sup>Therefore, my troubled thoughts make me turn back—because of my inner turmoil.
<sup>3</sup>I hear teaching that insults me, but I am forced to answer based on my own understanding.<sup>g</sup> <sup>4</sup>Do you know this from long ago—from when humans were placed on earth—<sup>5</sup>that the rejoicing of the wicked is short, the joy of the godless, brief?
<sup>6</sup>Though their height reaches heaven and their heads touch the clouds, <sup>7</sup>they will perish forever like their dung;
those who saw them will say, "Where are they?"
<sup>8</sup>They will disappear like a dream, and none will find them,
carried away like a nighttime vision.
<sup>9</sup>The eye that saw them will do so no more;
they won't be seen again at home.
<sup>10</sup>Their children will repay the poor;
their hands will give back their wealth.
<sup>11</sup>Vigor filled their bones and now sleeps with them in the dust.
<sup>12</sup>Though wickedness is sweet in their mouths, they hide it under their tongues; <sup>13</sup>they like it, won't let it go;
they hold it in their cheeks.
<sup>14</sup>Food turns their stomachs, becoming a cobra's poison inside.
<sup>15</sup>They swallow wealth and vomit it;
God dislodges it from their belly.

<sup>d</sup>Or without my flesh or in my flesh <sup>e</sup>Or have seen <sup>f</sup>Heb manuscripts; MT in me <sup>g</sup>Heb uncertain

on the earth (dust) and plead his case, using his inscribed words. This defense would best happen before his death (perhaps after his death in Sheol, but probably not a reference to his resurrection; cf. Dan 12:2), though he would be near death, with his skin . . . torn apart. Then, Job's eyes (and not another's) will actually see God (Job 13:15-16; see Job 42:5). But, even with this hope, he is utterly dejected, doubting that this will happen.

19:28-29 Job recognizes that his friends want to pursue his case and get to the root of the matter. But he says that they ought to fear death themselves, because what they have done to him deserves judgment.

20:1-29 Zophar's second response. Zophar raises the issue of the fate of the wicked, and Job responds. Zophar is troubled and in turmoil over what Job has been saying. He is insulted in view of his own understanding, which is deeply rooted in his culture (20:2-4). A list of what will happen to the wicked follows. He has Job in mind. Though the wicked seem to be joyful and on a "high," they will soon perish forever like their dung. They will disappear and not be seen again; Their children will suffer because of parents' misdeeds—their mistreatment of the poor is highlighted (20:10, 19; see Job's defense, Job 29:12-16; 31:13-23)—and their Vigor will die away (20:5-11). On the surface, things may be sweet, but their wickedness will eat away at them from within like bad food and the poison of snakes. They will vomit it all up at God's prompting and it kills them (20:12-16). In the end, they won't experience the good

20:18 Job 20:10,
Job 20:15
20:20 Ecc 5:13
21:2 Job 21:34
21:3 Job 11:3,
Job 16:10,
Job 16:20,
Job 17:2
21:4 Job 7:11
21:7 Job 12:6,
Ps 37:35,
Ps 73:3; Jer 12:1;
Hab 1:13

- <sup>16</sup>They suck cobra's poison;
a viper's tongue kills them.
- <sup>17</sup>They won't experience streams, rivers of honey, and brooks of cream.
- <sup>18</sup>They won't receive the reward for their labor;
they won't enjoy the wealth from their business.
- <sup>19</sup>They crushed and abandoned the poor;
stole a house they didn't build;
- <sup>20</sup>didn't know contentment in their belly; couldn't escape with their treasure.
- <sup>21</sup>Nothing remained of their food, so their riches will not endure.
- <sup>22</sup>Even in their plenty, they are hard-pressed;
all sorts of trouble come on them.
- <sup>23</sup>Let God<sup>b</sup> fill their belly, unleash his burning anger on them, rain punishing blows on them.
- <sup>24</sup>If they flee an iron weapon,
a bronze bow pierces them.
- <sup>25</sup>They pull it out, but it sticks out from their backs;
its shaft in their liver brings terror.
- <sup>26</sup>Complete darkness waits for their treasured possessions; fire that no one stoked consumes them;
what's left in their tent is ruined.
- <sup>27</sup>Heaven exposes their guilt;
earth opposes them.
- <sup>28</sup>Their household wealth will be carried off by rushing streams on the day of his anger.
- <sup>29</sup>This is a wicked person's lot from God, their heritage decreed by God.

Grant me a hearing

- 21 Then Job answered:
<sup>2</sup>Listen carefully to my remarks and let that comfort you.
- <sup>3</sup>Bear with me so I can speak, I myself;
and after my reply you can mock.
- <sup>4</sup>Are my complaints against another human;
why is my patience short?
- <sup>5</sup>Turn to me and be appalled;
lay your hand over your mouth.
- <sup>6</sup>If I recall it, I'm scared;
shaking seizes my body.

The success of the wicked

- <sup>7</sup>Why do the wicked live, grow old, and even become strong?

<sup>b</sup>Or him

things of life, receive the reward for their work, know contentment or have riches that endure (20:17-21). Even now, all sorts of trouble come their way (20:22). God will punish them. They won't be able to escape his burning anger. It will bring terror to them, fire will consume their treasured possessions, God will expose their guilt, and their wealth will be carried off (20:23-28). These ill effects of wickedness will be God's doing, for God's world works this way and Job's wickedness is "coming home" (20:29).
21:1-34 Job's response to Zophar. Job disputes Zophar's claims.

21:1-6 Job asks: Listen carefully to what I have to say. My impatience is because my complaints have been directed to God, not to other humans. His friends should be appalled at his suffering. When he recall[s] what has happened to him and what he has said about God (see Job 19:7-12), he is scared.

21:7-16 Job counters Zophar's claims by pointing to the success of the wicked in life and health.

21:7-12 Their children thrive, their houses are safe, their herds multiply, and they enjoy life. God isn't punishing them.

- <sup>8</sup>Their children are always with them, their offspring in their sight, <sup>9</sup>their houses safe from dread,
God's punishing stick not upon them.
<sup>10</sup>Their bull always breeds successfully; their cows give birth and never miscarry.
<sup>11</sup>They send forth their little ones like sheep; their infants bounce around.
<sup>12</sup>They raise drum and lyre, rejoice at the sound of a flute.
<sup>13</sup>They spend their days contentedly, go down to the grave<sup>1</sup> peacefully.
<sup>14</sup>They say to God, "Turn away from us;
we take no pleasure in knowing your ways; <sup>15</sup>who is the Almighty<sup>1</sup> that we should serve him, and what can we gain if we meet him?"
<sup>16</sup>Look, isn't their well-being the work of their own hands?
A sinner's logic is beyond me.

21:8 Ps 17:14
21:9 Job 9:34
21:13 Job 7:9,
Job 14:13,
Job 21:23,
Job 24:19,
Job 36:11
21:14 Job 22:17
21:17 Job 18:5,
Job 18:6; Ps 90:7;
Prv 13:9
21:18 Job 13:25;
Ps 1:4, Ps 35:5, Ps
83:13;
Is 17:13
21:22 Job 4:18;
Is 40:13, Is 40:14;
Ro 11:34
21:24 Prv 3:8
21:28 Job 8:22

Desired vindication

- <sup>17</sup>How often does the lamp of the wicked flicker or disaster come upon them, with its fury inflicting pain on them?
<sup>18</sup>Let them be like straw in the wind, like dry grass stolen by a storm.
<sup>19</sup>God stores up his punishment for his children.
Let him destroy them so they know.
<sup>20</sup>Let their own eyes witness their doom.
Let them drink from the Almighty's wrath.
<sup>21</sup>What do they care about their household after they die, when their numbered days are cut off?

A common fate

- <sup>22</sup>Will they instruct God—he who judges the most powerful?
<sup>23</sup>Someone dies in wonderful health, completely comfortable and well, <sup>24</sup>their buckets full of milk, their bones marrow-filled and sound.
<sup>25</sup>Another dies in bitter spirit, never having tasted the good things.
<sup>26</sup>They lie together in the dust and worms cover them.

Further disagreement

- <sup>27</sup>Look, I know your thoughts;
your plans harm me.
<sup>28</sup>You say, "Where is the official's house?
Where is the tent, the dwelling of the wicked?"
<sup>29</sup>Haven't you asked travelers or paid attention to their reports?

<sup>1</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>1</sup>Heb Shaddai or Mountain One

21:13-16 The wicked live contentedly and die peacefully. At the same time, they are vocal in saying that they don't serve God (21:15). Isn't their well-being the work of their own hands rather than God's? Their logic makes no sense to Job (21:16).

21:17-21 The wicked don't often suffer pain (21:17; cf. Job 18:5-21). Let them be carried away by the wind! May God destroy them with the punishment and wrath he stores up! They don't care what happens to them or their families.

21:22-26 Will the friends instruct God in matters of judgment? Who can make any sense of the way that human beings experience life and death? There's no direct relationship between the way they live and the way they die. Death and worms are the future of everyone.

21:27-34 Job knows the friends' plans will harm him (21:27). They claim that wicked rulers get what they deserve, but in truth, the wicked are spared from disaster and rescued from the fury of others. Their behavior isn't

22:2 Job 35:7;
Lk 17:10
22:3 Job 35:7
22:17
Job 21:14-15;
Ps 4:6

- <sup>30</sup> On the day of disaster the wicked are spared;
on the day of fury they are rescued.
- <sup>31</sup> Who can criticize their behavior to their faces;
they act, and who can avenge them?
- <sup>32</sup> They are carried to their graves;
someone keeps guard over their tombs.
- <sup>33</sup> The soil near the desert streambed is sweet to them;
everyone marches after them—those before them, beyond counting.
- <sup>34</sup> How empty is your comfort to me;
only deceit remains in your responses.

Job's sins

- 22 Then Eliphaz from Teman answered:
<sup>2</sup> Can a human being be useful to God?
Can an intelligent person bring profit?
- <sup>3</sup> Does the Almighty delight in your innocence?
Does he gain when you perfect your ways?
- <sup>4</sup> Does he rebuke you for your piety, bring you in for judgment?
- <sup>5</sup> Isn't your wickedness massive, your iniquity endless?
- <sup>6</sup> You have taken payments from your family for no reason;
stripped the naked, leaving no clothes; <sup>7</sup> denied water to the thirsty, withheld bread from the starving.
- <sup>8</sup> (The powerful own land;
the favored live in it.)
- <sup>9</sup> You have sent widows away empty;
crushed orphans' resources.
- <sup>10</sup> For this reason, snares surround you;
sudden dread brings panic to you <sup>11</sup> or a darkness that you can't see; rushing water will cover you.

God's activity

- <sup>12</sup> Isn't God in the heights of heaven;
see how high the topmost stars are?
- <sup>13</sup> You say: "What does God know?
Can he judge through thick clouds?"
- <sup>14</sup> Clouds conceal him so he can't see while he walks on heaven's rim."
- <sup>15</sup> Will you keep the ancient way traveled by sinful persons, <sup>16</sup> who were snatched prematurely when a river flooded their foundations, <sup>17</sup> who say to God, "Turn away from us; what can the Almighty do to us?"
- <sup>18</sup> Yet he filled their houses with good things;
a sinner's logic is beyond me.

criticiz[ed] nor are their act[s] condemned. Even their graves are guard[ed] closely, and the soil in which they are buried is sweet, and many follow in their train. Everything the friends say is without comfort to Job and full of deceit. 22:1-30 Eliphaz's third response. Eliphaz begins the third cycle of the dialogue, sharpening his critique of Job. 22:1-11 Eliphaz begins with a series of rhetorical questions. Can a human being be useful to God? Does God gain anything from your behavior? Is God moved one way or another by your piety? Of course not. God can't be affected by what people do (22:2-4). Your wickedness is massive, Job (22:5). You take payments from your family and mistreat the less fortunate: the naked, thirsty, starving, widows, and orphans (22:6-7, 9). But you favor the powerful (22:8). And you will pay for it (22:10-11).

22:12-20 Eliphaz makes distinctions between his high, all-seeing God and Job's God, who is removed from the world (22:12). Job is like the sinful who question: what can the Almighty do to us? (22:17). At the same time, the sinners believe God is the one responsible for the good things they do have (22:18). What kind of logic is that (see Job 21:16)? The righteous laugh at this view and mock them, knowing that their enemies will be destroyed (22:19-20).

- <sup>19</sup>The righteous see and rejoice;
the innocent mock them:
<sup>20</sup>our enemies are certainly cut off; fire will devour what's left of them.

Turn to God

- <sup>21</sup>Get along well with God and be at peace; from this something good will come to you.
<sup>22</sup>Receive instruction from his mouth;
put his words in your mind.
<sup>23</sup>If you return to the Almighty,<sup>a</sup> you will be restored;
if you keep wrongdoing out of your tent.
<sup>24</sup>Lay your prized possession in the dust, your gold from Ophir on a rock in a desert streambed.
<sup>25</sup>The Almighty will be your prized possession, silver piled up for you.
<sup>26</sup>Then you will take pleasure in the Almighty; lift up your face to God.
<sup>27</sup>You will pray to him, and he will hear you;
you will fulfill your solemn promises.
<sup>28</sup>If you decree something, it will stand; light will shine on your ways.
<sup>29</sup>When they're humbled, you will say: "Cheer up;
God will rescue the lowly.
<sup>30</sup>He will deliver the guilty;
they will be saved by your pure hands."

Grant me a trial

- 23 Job answered:
<sup>2</sup>Today my complaint is again bitter;<sup>1</sup> my strength is weighed down because of my groaning.
<sup>3</sup>Oh, that I could know how to find him—come to his dwelling place; <sup>4</sup>I would lay out my case before him, fill my mouth with arguments, <sup>5</sup>know the words with which he would answer, understand what he would say to me.
<sup>6</sup>Would he contend with me through brute force?
No, he would surely listen to me.
<sup>7</sup>There those who do the right thing can argue with him;
I could escape from my judge forever.

God's hiddenness

- <sup>8</sup>Look, I go east; he's not there, west, and don't discover him;
<sup>9</sup>north in his activity, and I don't grasp him;
he turns south, and I don't see.
<sup>10</sup>Surely he knows my way;
when he tests me, I will emerge as gold.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Shaddai or Mountain One; also in 22:25 and 24:1 <sup>1</sup>Vulg, Syr, Tg; MT my complaint is rebellious.

22:21-30 Eliphaz tells Job: Get along well with God . . . Receive instruction, and turn away from your sin (Job couldn't admit that sin is his problem). Then you will be restored (22:23). Give up your valuables and make God your prized possession (22:25). Then your relationship with God will be filled with pleasure. You will pray to God and God will hear you. Your word will be good and light will shine on your ways (2:28). If the righteous experience trouble, you will give them a gracious word: God will come to deliver them because of who you are (22:30).

23:1-17 Job's response to Eliphaz. Job hopes for a hearing with God.

23:1-7 Job's reply is filled with complaint: I wish that I could find God. I would lay out my case for my innocence in God's presence (23:1-4) and understand God's response to me. God would surely listen to me and would not reply with sheer force (23:6). those who do the right thing can argue with God. If I could do that, I would be able to prove my innocence.

23:8-12 In vain Job has looked for God in every direction

23:11 Ps 17:5,

Ps 44:18,

Ps 125:5

23:12 Job 22:22;

Ps 119:11,

Ps 119:103;

Jer 15:16; Mt 4:4

24:1 Is 2:12;

Ac 1:7

11 My feet have stayed right in his tracks.

I have kept his way and not left it,

12 kept the commandments from his lips and not departed, valued the words from his mouth more than my food.

Dread

13 He is of one mind; who can reverse it?
What he desires, he does.

14 He carries out what is decreed for me and can do many similar things with me.

15 Therefore, I am scared by his presence;
I think and become afraid of him.

16 God has weakened my mind;
the Almighty has frightened me.

17 Still I'm not annihilated by darkness;
he has hidden deep darkness from me.

Absence of justice

24 Why doesn't the Almighty establish times for punishment?<sup>m</sup>
Why can't those who know him see his days?

2 People move boundary stones, herd flocks they've stolen,

3 drive off an orphan's donkey, take a widow's ox as collateral,

4 thrust the poor out of the way,
make the land's needy hide together.

5 They are like the wild donkeys in the desert;
they go forth at dawn searching for prey;
the wasteland is food for their young.

6 They gather their food in the field, glean in unproductive vineyards,

7 spend the night naked, unclothed, in the cold without a cover,

8 wet from mountain rains, with no refuge, huddled against a rock.

9 The orphan is stolen from the breast;
the infant<sup>n</sup> of the poor is taken as collateral.

10 The poor go around naked, without clothes, carry bundles of grain while hungry,

11 crush olives between millstones,<sup>o</sup> tread winepresses, but remain thirsty.

12 From the city, the dying cry out;
the throat of the mortally wounded screams, but God assigns no blame.

<sup>m</sup>Heb lacks for punishment. <sup>n</sup>Reading Heb we'ul (infant) for we'al (against) <sup>o</sup>Heb uncertain to present his case. If God tests me, he would find that I have not departed from his way (see Ps 17:3-5). I have valued God's word . . . more than my life.

23:13-17 Job thinks that whatever God wills, God gets done. Hence, Job is scared by what God might do. Yet darkness hasn't overcome him. Job is still alive.

24:1-25 The identity of the speaker of this section is unclear. It's difficult to know its relationship to Job's speech in Job 21:7-13, because the speaker seems to agree with the friends about the fate of the wicked (24:18-25; see Job 27:13-23; cf. Zophar in Job 20).

24:1-12 The "Why?" question returns. The world is out of order. God doesn't assign the wicked their times for punishment and the righteous never see such times. continues to be everywhere in the world. Property stolen by moving boundary stones (see Deut 19:14); animals are taken by force from the needy, who then have to huddle together in order to survive (24:2-4). Difficulties of the needy are described: like wild anir they have to forage for food for their young in wasteland and unproductive vineyards (see Deut 24:19-22); spend night . . . in the cold with little clothing; and huddle in rain among the rocks. Their children are enslaved (Deut 24:7), used as collateral for payment of debts. poor are hungry and thirsty, though they work with fit and drink. They cry out, but God pays no attention.

Sinners' conduct

- <sup>13</sup>They rebel against light, don't acknowledge its direction,
don't dwell in its paths.
- <sup>14</sup>The murderer rises at twilight, kills the poor and needy;
at night, they are like a thief.
- <sup>15</sup>The adulterer's eye watches for twilight, thinking, No eye can see me, and puts a mask over his face.
- <sup>16</sup>In the dark they break into houses;
they shut themselves in by day;
they don't know the light.
- <sup>17</sup>Deep darkness is morning to them because they recognize the horror of darkness.
- <sup>18</sup>They are scum on the water's surface; their portion of the land is cursed;
no one walks down a path in the vineyards.
- <sup>19</sup>Drought and heat steal melted snow, just as the underworld<sup>p</sup> steals sinners.
- <sup>20</sup>The womb forgets them;
the worm consumes them;
they aren't remembered,
and so wickedness is shattered like a tree.
- <sup>21</sup>They prey on the barren, the childless, do nothing good for the widow.
- <sup>22</sup>They drag away the strong by force;
they may get up but without guarantee of survival.
- <sup>23</sup>They make themselves secure;
they are at ease.
His<sup>q</sup> eyes are on their ways.
- <sup>24</sup>They are exalted for a short time, but no longer.
They are humbled then gathered in like everyone else;
cut off like heads of grain.
- <sup>25</sup>If this isn't so, who can prove me a liar and make my words disappear?

Inferior humans

- 25 Bildad from Shuah replied:
<sup>2</sup>Supreme power and awe belong to God;
he establishes peace on his heights.
<sup>3</sup>Can his troops be counted?
On whom does his light not rise?

<sup>p</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>q</sup>Or God's

24:13-25 Rather than light, the wicked choose darkness, a theme associated with sins of murder, burglary, and adultery (24:13-17). They are at home in the darkness. These verses seem to agree with the ideas of Job's friends: The wicked will suffer the ill effects of their sins (see Job's view in Job 21:7-13)—at least over time. They are scum, their land is cursed, and many customers won't come to their vineyards. They will be carried off to the underworld as quickly as snow by the heat. Their mothers will forget them, the grave consumes them, and they will soon be forgotten, shattered like a tree (24:18-20). Job returns to themes of 24:1-12: the wicked continue to prey on the less fortunate. Though they continue to exercise such power, there is no guarantee of survival. They may be at ease, but God's eyes keep track of them. They may be exalted, but in time—like everyone else—they will be harvested like grain. prove to me that this isn't so!

25:1-6 Bildad's third response. The brevity of this response, and the absence of a concluding speech from Zophar, may testify that text has been damaged and parts have been lost. At the same time, it could mean that the friends have run out of arguments.

25:1-3 Bildad is awed by God's power and his peacemaking, the numbers of his divine messengers, and the range of his light that illumines the world and everything in it (see Job 26:14). A person can't be righteous (innocent) before such a God (Job 25:4-6). The heavenly bodies aren't perfect, so how much less a human being, who is but a

25:4 Job 4:17,
Job 9:2, Job 14:4,
Job 15:14;
Ps 143:2

25:5 Job 15:15
25:6 Ps 22:6;
Is 41:14

26:5 Ps 88:10
26:7 Job 9:8

26:8 Job 36:27,
Job 37:11,
Prv 30:4

26:10 Job 38:8;
Ps 33:7;
Prv 8:27,
Prv 8:29;
Jer 5:22

26:14 Job 4:12

27:2 Ru 1:20;
Job 34:5

- <sup>4</sup>How can a person be innocent before God;
one born of a woman be pure?
<sup>5</sup>If even the moon is not bright and the stars not pure in his eyes, <sup>6</sup>how much less a human, a worm, a person's child, a grub.

Sarcasm

- 26<sup>1</sup>Then Job said:
<sup>2</sup>How well you have helped the weak, saved those with frail arms, <sup>3</sup>advised one lacking wisdom, informed many with insight!
<sup>4</sup>With whom have you spoken;* whose breath was expelled from you?

Truth about God

- <sup>5</sup>The dead writhe, the inhabitants beneath the waters as well.
<sup>6</sup>The grave<sup>a</sup> is naked before God;
the underworld<sup>c</sup> lacks covering.
<sup>7</sup>He stretched the North<sup>a</sup> over chaos, hung earth over nothing; <sup>8</sup>wrapped up water in his clouds, yet they didn't burst out below;
<sup>9</sup>hid the face of the full moon,<sup>v</sup> spreading his cloud over it; <sup>10</sup>traced a circle on the water's surface, at the limit of light and darkness.
<sup>11</sup>Heaven's pillars shook, terrified by his blast.
<sup>12</sup>By his power he stilled the Sea; split Rahab with his cleverness.
<sup>13</sup>Due to his wind, heaven became clear; his hand split the fleeing serpent.
<sup>14</sup>Look, these are only the outer fringe of his ways;
we hear only a whispered word about him.
Who can understand his thunderous power?

Job rejects Bildad's argument

- 27<sup>1</sup>Then Job took up his topic again: <sup>2</sup>As God lives, who rejected my legal claim, the Almighty, who made me bitter,

*Or told words <sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>b</sup>Heb Abaddon <sup>c</sup>Heb Zaphon <sup>v</sup>Or throne; Heb uncertain worm and a grub (maggot), bound for death and decay? This theme is articulated both by Job's friends (Job 4:17; 15:14-16) and Job himself (Job 9:2).

26:1-14 This text may continue Bildad's speech (or it may be Zophar's missing speech; see note on Job 25:1-6). Or Job may be interrupting Bildad. The outline is similar to Genesis 1 and Psalm 104.

26:1-4 Some scholars attach these verses to Job 27. Job responds mockingly. How have the friends helped the weak or given insight to the ignorant? Have they even spoken to others or voiced their concerns (breath)?

26:5-14 These words are similar to Job's in Job 9:1-13. God is present and active even among The dead... beneath the waters, in The grave (Sheol) or underworld (Abaddon). God's work is now rehearsed in difficult images. The North (Zaphon, the home of the gods, the sky) is stretched out (Isa 42:5; 45:12) over chaos (26:7)—not literally nothing, but without form (see Gen 1:2). God then created the clouds, which hold water without burst[ing] open and hide the moon (see translation note). God also created the distant horizon (a circle or boundary when observed across the sea). In the creation of the world, God's powerful word stilled the Sea (chaos, also called Rahab and fleeing serpent; see Job 3:8; Isa 27:1) and the pillars (mountains) that hold up the sky heaved up from the sea, as if terrified by that creative word (see Ps 104:6-9). And God's wind (see Gen 1:2) cleared the skies (26:11-13). This description of God's creative work is only a whispered word regarding God's much more complete and powerful ways (26:14).

27:1-23 Job continues his defense. All or part of this speech may be Zophar's missing speech. Job's friends, however, may be especially in mind.

27:1-6 The phrase, As God lives (27:2), introduces a solemn

27:3 Gn 2:7;
 Job 33:4;
 Ac 17:25
 27:5 Job 2:9
 27:6 Job 2:3;
 Ac 23:1,
 Ac 24:16

- <sup>3</sup>as long as breath is in me and God's breath is in my nostrils—<sup>4</sup>my lips will utter no wickedness;
 my tongue will mumble no deceit.
<sup>5</sup>I will not agree that you are right.
 Until my dying day, I won't give up my integrity.
<sup>6</sup>I will insist on my innocence, never surrendering it; my conscience will never blame me for what I have done.<sup>w</sup>

Job curses his enemies

- <sup>7</sup>Let my enemy be like the wicked, my opposition like the vicious.
<sup>8</sup>For what hope has the godless when God cuts them off, when he takes them away.
<sup>9</sup>Will God hear their cries when distress comes to them; <sup>10</sup>will they delight in the Almighty, call God at any time?

Job's view of his enemies' fate

- <sup>11</sup>I will teach you God's power, not hide what pertains to the Almighty.
<sup>12</sup>Look, those of you who recognize this—why then this empty talk?
<sup>13</sup>This is the wicked's portion with God, the inheritance that the ruthless receive from the Almighty.
<sup>14</sup>If their children increase, they belong to the sword; their offspring won't have enough bread.
<sup>15</sup>Their survivors will be buried with the dead;
 their widows won't weep.
<sup>16</sup>If they store up silver like dust, amass clothing like clay, <sup>17</sup>they may amass, but the righteous will wear it;
 the innocent will divide the silver.
<sup>18</sup>They built their houses like nests, like a hut made by a watchman.
<sup>19</sup>They lie down rich, but no longer;
 open their eyes, but it's missing.
<sup>20</sup>Terrors overtake them like waters;
 a tempest snatches them by night;
<sup>21</sup>an east wind lifts them, and they are gone, removes them from their places, <sup>22</sup>throws itself on them without mercy;
 they flee desperately from its force.
<sup>23</sup>It claps its hands over them, hisses at them from their place.

<sup>w</sup>Or for my days

pledge to God, whom Job then blames. God is responsible for reject[ing] Job's claim that he is innocent. I will not agree that God is right about me (27:5). I will never speak words of wickedness or deceit (27:4). I am a person of integrity and have a clear conscience (see Job 29:1-25).

27:7-10 Job curses his enemy (27:7), probably the friend who has just spoken (but each of the friends is in mind). They have no hope (27:8) in the wake of God's judgment. God won't hear their cries of distress (27:9-10). Will they even call upon God in such a time?

27:11-23 Job will teach his friends about God's power in view of all of their empty talk (27:11-12). He then describes the future that these wicked will receive from God. Many of their children will die young and not have enough to eat. Those who survive will only live to be buried with the dead and their widows won't weep for them (27:14-15). Any fortune they save (money and clothing) will be given to the righteous. The many houses they build are only flimsy hut[s]. They go to sleep rich, but when they awake, their treasures will be missing (27:16-19). They will experience the Terrors associated with storms and their displacing effects, which will afflict them without mercy.

28:1 Mal 3:3

28:8 Job 41:34

28:15

Pv 3:13-14,

Pv 8:10,

Pv 8:19,

Pv 16:16

28:19 Ex 28:17;

Pv 8:19;

Eze 28:13;

Rev 21:20

28:22 Job 26:6

Expertise in mining

28 There is a sure source of silver, a place where gold is refined.

<sup>2</sup>Iron is taken from the earth;
rock is smelted into copper.

<sup>3</sup>Humans<sup>a</sup> put an end to darkness, dig for ore to the farthest depths,
into stone in utter darkness,

<sup>4</sup>open a shaft away from any inhabitant, places forgotten by those on foot, apart from any human they hang and sway.

<sup>5</sup>Earth—from it comes food—is turned over below ground as by fire.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Its rocks are the source for lapis lazuli;
there is gold dust in it.

<sup>7</sup>A path—
no bird of prey knows it;
a hawk's eye hasn't seen it;

<sup>8</sup>proud beasts haven't trodden on it;
a lion hasn't crossed over it.

<sup>9</sup>Humans thrust their hands into flint, pull up mountains from their roots,

<sup>10</sup>cut channels into rocks; their eyes see everything precious.

<sup>11</sup>They dam up the sources of rivers;
hidden things come to light.

Wisdom's value

<sup>12</sup>But wisdom, where can it be found;
where is the place of understanding?

<sup>13</sup>Humankind doesn't know its value;
it isn't found in the land of the living.

<sup>14</sup>The Deep<sup>a</sup> says, "It's not with me";
the Sea<sup>a</sup> says, "Not alongside me!"

<sup>15</sup>It can't be bought with gold;
its price can't be measured in silver,

<sup>16</sup>can't be weighed against gold from Ophir, with precious onyx or lapis lazuli.

<sup>17</sup>Neither gold nor glass can compare with it;
she can't be acquired with gold jewelry.

<sup>18</sup>Coral and jasper shouldn't be mentioned;
the price of wisdom is more than rubies.

<sup>19</sup>Cushite topaz won't compare with her;
she can't be set alongside pure gold.

<sup>20</sup>But wisdom, where does she come from?
Where is the place of understanding?

<sup>21</sup>She's hidden from the eyes of all the living, concealed from birds of the sky.

<sup>22</sup>Destruction<sup>b</sup> and Death have said,
"We've heard a report of her."

<sup>a</sup>Or they <sup>7</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>8</sup>Heb Tehom, a reference to a divine being in the grave or underworld <sup>a</sup>Heb Yam, a sea god <sup>b</sup>Heb Abaddon

28:1-28 Reflections on wisdom. How this chapter fits in the book is uncertain. See sidebar, "Wisdom."

28:1-11 Precious stones and metals, such as silver, gold, iron, copper, and lapis lazuli, though deeply hidden in the earth, are accessible to human beings (28:1-6). Such treasures aren't available to animals and birds (28:7-8), but through the excavating work of Humans they can come to light (28:9-11).

28:12-28 But such human work Isn't able to reveal wisdom. Where then can wisdom . . . be found (see 28:20)? Unlike precious metals, humans can't discover it or purchase it. Wisdom doesn't have a humanly identifiable "place" in

- <sup>23</sup> God understands her way;
he knows her place;
<sup>24</sup> for he looks to the ends of the earth and surveys everything beneath the heavens.
<sup>25</sup> In order to weigh the wind, to prepare a measure for waters, <sup>26</sup> when he made a decree for the rain,
a path for thunderbolts, <sup>27</sup> then he observed it, spoke of it, established it, searched it out, <sup>28</sup> and said to humankind: "Look,
the fear of the LORD is wisdom;
turning from evil is understanding."

Job's previous blessing

- 29 Job took up his subject again:
<sup>2</sup> Oh, that life was like it used to be, like days when God watched over me;
<sup>3</sup> when his lamp shone on my head,
I walked by his light in the dark;
<sup>4</sup> when I was in my prime;
when God's counsel was in my tent; <sup>5</sup> when the Almighty was with me,
my children around me;
<sup>6</sup> when my steps were washed with cream and a rock poured out pools of oil for me.

Previous honor

- <sup>7</sup> When I went out to the city gate, took my seat in the square, <sup>8</sup> the young saw me and drew back;
the old rose and stood; <sup>9</sup> princes restrained speech, put their hand on their mouth; <sup>10</sup> the voices of officials were hushed, their tongue stuck to their palate.

Job's implementation of justice

- <sup>11</sup> Indeed, the ear that heard blessed me;
the eye that looked commended me, <sup>12</sup> because I rescued the weak who cried out,
the orphans who lacked help.
<sup>13</sup> The blessing of the perishing reached me;
I made the widow's heart sing;
<sup>14</sup> I put on justice, and it clothed me, righteousness as my coat and turban;

the world. Wisdom is hidden from every eye, both human and nonhuman, dead in Sheol (Abaddon, see Job 26:6) or alive. But God understands and knows, for the knowledge of everything in the world (wind, waters, weather) is available to the one who has created them (28:23-27). wisdom and understanding are made available to humans by God, but only through the fear of the Lord (the reference is to awe, not terror) and turning from evil.

29:1-31:40 Job's final defense. Job brings the dialogue to a climax by building a case for his own innocence in the face of God's irresponsible work as creator. Job's response highlights the missing link between the sound and worthy ways in which he has lived and how God has treated him. Job seeks to bring God into court to answer the Wisdom Job 28 may be a separate look at the conversation, focusing on the depth and breadth of wisdom. It could also continue Job's speech in chapter 27, challenging the friends' conviction that they are the wise ones in this conversation (though Job's anger isn't evident) and claiming that he's the one who has wisdom. A key verse is Job 28:28: "the fear of the LORD is wisdom; turning from evil is understanding." The opening verses of the book identify Job in these terms (Job 1:1, 8; see Prov 9:10), and this provides a key point in Job's defense that he presents before God (Job 29-31), saying in essence "I have such wisdom!" A key question is raised in Job 28:12: "But wisdom, where can it be found"? Only God knows the way and place of wisdom (Job 28:23). Yet wisdom is available to human beings, that is, to those who fear the Lord and turn away from evil. Job is such a person.

28:28 Ps 111:10;
Prov 1:7, Prov 3:7,
Prov 9:10,
Ecc 12:13
29:2 Jer 31:28
29:12 Ps 72:12;
Prov 21:13
29:13 Job 22:9
29:14 Job 19:9;
Ps 132:9;
Is 59:17, Is 61:10;
Eph 6:14

charges regarding the poor divine design and ways of taking care of the created order (see Job 31:35). Job contrasts his life prior to suffering (Job 29) with his present difficulties (Job 30) and ends with a series of curses aimed internally toward himself, with which he should be visited if he has spoken wrongly (Job 31).

29:1-6 Job wishes that life was like it used to be . . . when I was in my prime. God was close, my children around, and life was easy. God isn't mentioned in the balance of the chapter.

29:7-10 Job had a key role in city life and was respected by all levels of society (for the city gate, see Ruth 4:1-12).

29:11-17 Job's respect from others is related to his life of justice, with special leadership offered by care for the less fortunate and against their enemies.

29:15 Nm 10:31;
Job 29:16
29:16 Job 29:15;
Prv 29:7
29:17 Ps 3:7
29:18 Ps 30:6
29:22 Dt 32:2
29:23 Zec 10:1
30:1 Job 30:9
30:3 Job 24:5;
Job 38:27;
Zep 1:15
30:4 1Ki 19:4

- <sup>15</sup> I was eyes to the blind, feet to the lame.
<sup>16</sup> I was a father to the needy;
the case I didn't know, I examined.
<sup>17</sup> I shattered the fangs of the wicked, rescued prey from their teeth.

Job's expected blessing

- <sup>18</sup> I thought, I'll die in my nest, multiply days like sand,<sup>c</sup> <sup>19</sup> my roots opening to water, dew lingering on my branches, <sup>20</sup> my honor newly with me, my bow ever successful in my hand.

Previous honor

- <sup>21</sup> People listened to me and waited, were silent for my advice.
<sup>22</sup> After my speech, they didn't respond.
My words fell gently on them;
<sup>23</sup> they waited for me as for rain, opened their mouth as for spring rain.
<sup>24</sup> I smiled<sup>d</sup> on them; they couldn't believe it.
They never showed me disfavor.
<sup>25</sup> I decided their path, sat as chief.
I lived like a king with his troops, like one who comforts mourners.

Mockers

- 30 But now those younger than I mock me, whose fathers I refused to put beside my sheepdogs.
<sup>2</sup> Their strength, what's it to me, their energy having perished?
<sup>3</sup> Stiff from want and hunger, those who gnaw dry ground,
yesterday's desolate waste, <sup>4</sup> who pluck off the leaves on a bush, the root of the broom—a shrub is their food.
<sup>5</sup> People banish them from society, shout at them as if to a thief; <sup>6</sup> so they live in scary ravines, holes in the ground and rocks.
<sup>7</sup> Among shrubs, they make sounds like donkeys;
they are huddled together under a bush, <sup>8</sup> children of fools and the nameless, whipped out of the land.

Specific mocking behavior

- <sup>9</sup> And now I'm their song;
I'm their cliché!
<sup>10</sup> They detest me, keep their distance, don't withhold spit from my face.

<sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>Or laughed at 29:18-20 Job thought he would have a very positive future, filled with blessings and honor.

29:21-25 At that time, people listened carefully to Job as their leader, and he was to them like a spring rain, never regarded with disfavor.

30:1-8 But now: Job voices a deep lament regarding his present distress. I am mock[ed] by the lowliest of peoples, the outcasts of society, whose fathers couldn't be compared well with sheepdogs. Their strength is gone; they are desperate for food. They are banish[ed] from their communities, living like animals.

30:9-15 Yet these lowly people mock me, detest me,

- <sup>11</sup> Because he loosened my bowstring and afflicted me, they throw off restraint in my presence.
- <sup>12</sup> On the right, upstarts* rise and target my feet, build their siege ramps against me,
- <sup>13</sup> destroy my road, profit from my fall, with no help.
- <sup>14</sup> They advance as if through a destroyed wall;<sup>f</sup> they roll along beneath the ruin.
- <sup>15</sup> Terrors crash upon me;
they sweep away my honor like wind;
my safety disappears like a cloud.

30:19 Gn 18:27;
Job 2:8, Job 42:6;
Ps 69:2

30:25
Ps 35:13-14;
Ro 12:15

30:29 Ps 44:19;
Is 13:21, Is 34:13;
Jer 9:11; Mi 1:8

31:1 Prv 4:25;
Mt 5:20

Accusation against God

- <sup>16</sup> Now my life is poured out on me;
days of misery have seized me.
- <sup>17</sup> At night he bores my bones;
my gnawing pain won't rest.
- <sup>18</sup> With great force he grasps<sup>g</sup> my clothing;<sup>h</sup> it binds me like the neck of my shirt.
- <sup>19</sup> He hurls me into mud;
I'm a cliché, like dust and ashes.
- <sup>20</sup> I cry to you, and you don't answer;
I stand up, but you just look at me.
- <sup>21</sup> You are cruel to me, attack me with the strength of your hand.
- <sup>22</sup> You lift me to the wind and make me ride;
you melt me in its roar.
- <sup>23</sup> I know you will return me to death,
the house appointed for all the living.

Job's agony

- <sup>24</sup> Surely he won't strike someone in ruins
if in distress he cries out to him,
- <sup>25</sup> if I didn't weep for those who have a difficult day or my soul grieve for the needy;
- <sup>26</sup> for I awaited good, but evil came;
I expected light, but gloom arrived.
- <sup>27</sup> My insides, churning, are never quiet;
days of affliction confront me.
- <sup>28</sup> I walk in the dark, lacking sunshine;
I rise in the assembly and cry out.
- <sup>29</sup> I have become a brother to jackals,
a companion to young ostriches.
- <sup>30</sup> My skin is charred;
my bones are scorched by the heat.
- <sup>31</sup> My lyre is for mourning, my flute, a weeping sound.

Lust

31 I've made a covenant with my eyes;
how could I look at a virgin?

*Heb uncertain <sup>f</sup>Or a wide opening <sup>g</sup>LXX <sup>h</sup>Heb uncertain

humiliate me (spit in my face). God has taken away my power and so they target me as if I were a city under siege—with no help available. My honor is swept away, Terrors reign, and my safety disappears.

30:16-23 days of misery! And gnawing pain! God throws me in the mud (see Job 9:31). I've become like dust and ashes (see Job 2:8)! I cry to God for justice, but there is no answer; God just look[s] at me. Indeed, God is cruel to me, attack[ing] me, tossing me about in the wind. death is near!

30:24-31 One would think that God would not strike one in distress. I would weep for those who are needy! But though I waited for good or light, gloom or evil came. My insides are churning and I'm distressed. I walk in the dark, but my cries aren't heard. I'm like an animal among animals, especially those that live in desolate places. My body wastes away and I weep like my flute.

31:1-40 By stating at least nine solemn pledges, Job recites a series of sins he has not committed. The pledges

31:5 Job 15:31;
Ps 12:2
31:6 Job 6:2;
Is 40:12;
Dn 5:27
31:7-8 Dt 24:14
31:14 Job 31:13
31:15 Job 10:3;
Job 34:19;
Prv 14:31;
Mal 2:2;
Mal 2:10

- <sup>2</sup>What is God's portion for me<sup>1</sup> from above, the Almighty's inheritance from on high?
<sup>3</sup>Isn't it disaster for the wicked, destruction for workers of iniquity?
<sup>4</sup>Doesn't he see my ways, count all my steps?

Deceit

- <sup>5</sup>If I have walked with frauds or my feet have hurried to deceit, <sup>6</sup>let him weigh me on accurate scales;
let God know my integrity.
<sup>7</sup>If my step has turned from the way, if my heart has followed my eyes or a blemish has clung to my hands, <sup>8</sup>then let me sow and another reap;
let my offspring be uprooted.

Adultery

- <sup>9</sup>If my heart has been drawn to a woman and I have lurked at my neighbor's door, <sup>10</sup>then may my wife grind for another and others kneel over her; <sup>11</sup>for that's a crime;
it's a punishable offense;
<sup>12</sup>indeed, it's a fire that consumes to the underworld,<sup>1</sup> uprooting all my harvest.

Slaves

- <sup>13</sup>If I've rejected the just cause of my male or female servant
when they contended with me, <sup>14</sup>what could I do when God rises;
when he requires an account, what could I answer?
<sup>15</sup>Didn't the one who made me in the belly make them; didn't the same one fashion us in the womb?

The defenseless

- <sup>16</sup>If I have denied what the poor wanted, made a widow's eyes tired, <sup>17</sup>eaten my morsel alone, and not shared any with an orphan (<sup>18</sup>for from my youth I raised the orphan as a father, and from my mother's womb I led the widow),<sup>2</sup> <sup>19</sup>if I ever saw someone dying without clothes, the needy naked; <sup>20</sup>if they haven't blessed me fervently,<sup>1</sup> or if they weren't warmed by the wool from my sheep; <sup>21</sup>if I have lifted my hand against the orphans, when I saw that I had help in the city gate—

<sup>1</sup>Heb lacks for me. <sup>2</sup>Heb Abaddon. <sup>3</sup>Heb lacks orphan . . . widow. <sup>4</sup>Or his loins

usually begin with "if" (e.g., 31:5, 9), with consequences then often specified. If he has committed any of these sins, he deserves his suffering. The pledges range from "lust" (31:1-4) to "abuse of the land" (31:38-40). Job 31:1-4 may state the theme with an illustration. Making a covenant (a pledge) with my eyes is followed by a statement of the effects (portion) of any sin if the covenant is violated (31:2-3). Job speaks generally about his situation: If God see[s] my ways and count[s] all my steps, he should know I'm innocent (31:4)! Note Job's hope for a mediator and a written indictment (31:35).

31:5-8 If God were to weigh me . . . my integrity in these matters would become evident. If my heart has followed my eyes, then let me pay the penalty. A new solemn pledge may occur with the "if" in 31:7.

31:9-12 If my heart has been drawn to a woman other than my wife, then let her (and me) suffer for it. The effects of this crime are likened to an all-consuming fire.

31:13-15 If I have mistreated my servant, I couldn't defend myself when God requires an account. After all, the servant was fashion[ed] by God as I was.

31:16-23 If I have mistreated the poor and needy (and my

- <sup>22</sup> may my arm fall from my shoulder, my forearm be broken at the elbow—
<sup>23</sup> for God's calamity is terror to me;
I couldn't endure his splendor.

False worship

- <sup>24</sup> If I've made gold my trust, said to fine gold: "My security!" <sup>25</sup> if I've rejoiced because my wealth was great, when my hand found plenty;
<sup>26</sup> if I've looked at the sun when it shone, the moon, splendid as it moved;
<sup>27</sup> and my mind has been secretly enticed, and threw a kiss with my hand, <sup>28</sup> that also is a punishable offense, because I would then be disloyal to God above.

Other's misfortune

- <sup>29</sup> If I have rejoiced over my foes' ruin or was excited when evil found them, <sup>30</sup> I didn't let my mouth sin by asking for their life with a curse.
<sup>31</sup> Surely those in my tent never said:
"Who has been filled by Job's food?"
<sup>32</sup> A stranger didn't spend the night in the street;
I opened my doors to the road.

Concealing sin

- <sup>33</sup> If I have hidden my transgressions like Adam,<sup>m</sup> concealing my offenses inside me <sup>34</sup> because I feared the large crowd;
the clan's contempt frightened me;
I was quiet and didn't venture outside.

Sealing the solemn pledge

- <sup>35</sup> Oh, that I had someone to hear me!
Here's my signature;<sup>n</sup> let the Almighty respond, and let my accuser write an indictment.
<sup>36</sup> Surely I would bear it on my shoulder, tie it around me like a wreath.
<sup>37</sup> I would give him an account of my steps, approach him like a prince.

Abuse of the land

- <sup>38</sup> If my land has cried out against me, its rows wept together;
<sup>39</sup> if I have eaten its yield without payment and caused its owners grief,

<sup>m</sup>Or like a human <sup>n</sup>Heb tau, the last letter of the Hebrew alphabet story shows I haven't; 31:18), then let my body suffer the calamity of God.

31:24-28 If I have placed my trust in money/possessions or worshipped the sun and moon, then let me be punished for being disloyal to God above.

31:29-32 If I have rejoiced over others' misfortune, then I would have cursed them. But my story shows I haven't done so. No one has questioned my generosity, and I've opened my doors to those in need.

31:24 Ps 52:7;
Lk 12:15;
1Ti 6:17

31:25 Dt 8:17;
Est 5:11;
Job 31:28;
Ps 62:10;
Eze 28:5

31:26 Dt 4:19,
Dt 17:3; Jer 8:2,
Jer 44:17;
Eze 8:16

31:27 Dt 11:16;
1Ki 19:18;
Hos 13:2

31:28 Dt 17:2;
Josh 24:27;
Job 31:11,
Job 31:24-25

31:31 Job 22:7

31:32 Gn 19:2;
Jgs 19:20-21;
Mt 25:35;
Heb 13:2

31:33 Gn 3:8;
Prv 28:13

31:34 Ec 23:2

31:35 Job 13:22,
Job 19:23,
Job 23:3,
Job 27:7,
Job 30:28

31:33-34 If I have tried to hide my sins like Adam (see Gen 3:8-13), I would have avoided the crowd. But I haven't done so.

31:35-37 Is anybody listening? I present a written case with my signature. Let me see a written indictment from God, my accuser! I would bear it publicly as a badge of honor and give God a precise account of my unselfish behavior. In Job 42:6, Job retracts his case.

31:38-40 If I have abused my land or its owners, may it yield poisonous weeds.

32:7 Job 12:12
 32:8 Job 33:4,
 Job 35:11,
 Job 38:36;
 Prv 2:6; Ecc 2:26
 32:9 Job 12:20;
 1Co 1:26

<sup>40</sup> may briars grow instead of wheat, poisonous weeds instead of barley.

Job's words are complete.

Introduction of Elihu

32 These three men stopped answering Job because he thought he was righteous.<sup>o</sup> <sup>2</sup>Elihu son of Barachel the Buzite from the clan of Ram was angry, angry with Job because he considered himself more righteous than God. <sup>3</sup>He was also angry with his three friends because they hadn't found an answer but nevertheless thought Job wicked. <sup>4</sup>Elihu had waited while Job spoke, for they were older than he. <sup>5</sup>When Elihu saw that there had been no response in the speeches of the three men, he became very angry.

Elihu's justification for speaking

<sup>6</sup>Elihu son of Barachel the Buzite said:

I'm young and you're old,
 so I held back, afraid to express my opinion to you.

<sup>7</sup>I thought, Let days speak; let multiple years make wisdom known.

<sup>8</sup>But the spirit in a person, the Almighty's breath, gives understanding.

<sup>9</sup>The advanced in days aren't wise;
 the old don't understand what's right.

<sup>10</sup>Therefore, I say: "Listen to me; I'll state my view, even I."

<sup>11</sup>Look, I waited while you spoke, listened while you reasoned,
 while you searched for words.

<sup>12</sup>I was attentive to you, but you offered no rebuke to Job,
 no answer from you for his words.

<sup>13</sup>Be careful you don't say, "We've found wisdom; God, not a person, will defeat him."

<sup>14</sup>Now Job<sup>p</sup> hasn't addressed me, and I won't quote you to him.

<sup>15</sup>They are troubled, no longer answer;
 words now escape them.

<sup>16</sup>I waited, but they didn't speak, for they stood but answered no more.

<sup>17</sup>I will answer. Indeed, I will state<sup>q</sup> my piece;
 I too will declare my view,

<sup>18</sup> for I'm full of words.
 The spirit in my belly compels me.

<sup>o</sup>Or was righteous in his own eyes <sup>p</sup>Or he <sup>q</sup>Heb lacks will state.

32:1–37:24 The speeches of Elihu. Little is known about Elihu (though more than is known about the friends). His name means "he is my God." While listening to the dialogue, he sees that an impasse is reached, and is angry with Job and his friends. He enters the conversation as a self-selected mediator (see Job 9:33; 16:19–21) and is perhaps prompted to speak by Job's cry in Job 31:35 (see 32:12; 33:23). Elihu is younger than the friends (32:4, 6), which may explain his silence to this point and his high opinion of himself. It's disputed whether these chapters were added late. Elihu's words often repeat what comes before and after, but his speeches conclude on a creational theme (36:24–37:24) and hence introduce the divine speeches.

32:1–5 Elihu's identification as a Buzite (32:2) links him to Abraham (Gen 22:20–21), and the clan of Ram links him to David (Ruth 4:19). Job may also be related to Elihu through Uz (see Job 1:1), the brother of Buz. Both Elihu and the friends react negatively to Job because he thought he was righteous, even more righteous than God (32:1–2). But Job's suffering is evidence that God punishes the wicked (see Job 36:6). The multiple uses of the word angry (32:2–3, 5) for Elihu set the tone for what follows. The friends haven't been successful in their defense of God. Elihu angrily comes to the rescue.

32:6–22 Elihu makes a case for his silence to this point. He is afraid and the friends are older, hence having more wisdom (32:7). But he argues that being older doesn't like new wineskins it will burst.

- <sup>19</sup> Look, my belly is like unopened wine;
- <sup>20</sup> I will speak and get relief;
I will open my lips and respond.
- <sup>21</sup> I won't be partial to anyone, won't flatter a person;
- <sup>22</sup> for I don't know flattery;
otherwise my maker would quickly whisk me away.

32:21 Lv 19:15;
Prv 29:5

33:4 Gn 1:2,
Gn 2:7; Job 27:3,
Job 32:8

33:16 Gn 2:7;
Job 4:19,
Job 10:9

Elihu's appeal to be heard

- 33 But now, listen to me, Job; pay attention to all my words.
- <sup>2</sup> Notice that I am opening my mouth;
my tongue is speaking in my mouth.<sup>f</sup>
- <sup>3</sup> My words come from a virtuous heart;
my lips speak knowledge clearly.
- <sup>4</sup> God's spirit made me;
the Almighty's breath enlivens me.
- <sup>5</sup> If you are able, answer me;
lay out your case<sup>g</sup> before me and take a stand.
- <sup>6</sup> Notice that I'm just like you to God;
I also was pinched from clay.
- <sup>7</sup> Surely fear of me shouldn't scare you;
my pressure on you shouldn't be heavy.

The argument

- <sup>8</sup> You certainly said in my hearing;
I heard the sound of your words:
- <sup>9</sup> "I'm pure, without sin;
I'm innocent, without offense.
- <sup>10</sup> Notice that he invents arguments against me;
he considers me his enemy, <sup>11</sup> ties up my feet, watches all my paths."
- <sup>12</sup> Now you're wrong about this; I'll answer you, for God is greater than anybody.
- <sup>13</sup> Why do you contend with him, saying that he doesn't answer all your words?<sup>h</sup>
- <sup>14</sup> God speaks in one way, in two ways, but no one perceives it.
- <sup>15</sup> In the dream, a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls upon humans,
during their slumber on a bed,

<sup>f</sup>Or palate <sup>g</sup>Heb lacks your case. <sup>h</sup>Or his words

necessarily mean wiser. Rather than age, it is God's creating breath (32:8; see Job 33:4-6; Gen 2:7) that gives understanding. Elihu urges the friends: Listen to my point of view (32:10)! I have waited and been attentive to what you have had to say. Elihu joins the dialogue because the friends didn't rebuke Job for his words (32:11-12). He warns them: Be careful about claiming wisdom; you are human beings, not God (32:13). Job hasn't addressed me (32:14), and Job's troubled friends have been reduced to silence (32:15-16). And so Elihu asserts: I will now answer; I'm full of words which compel me to speak (32:17-18). If I don't speak, my belly will burst like new wineskins (32:19). And so Elihu will speak and get relief, without partiality or flattery, lest God silence him (32:20-22).

33:1-7 Elihu addresses Job directly, urging him: pay attention (33:1)! I have a virtuous heart and can articulate knowledge clearly (33:3). Indeed, God's breath enlivens me like it does you (see Job 32:8; 10:8). answer me! State your case (33:5; on Job's dispute; see Job 13:18; 23:4)! Don't be afraid!

33:8-33 Elihu doesn't give Job a chance to respond and goes on to argue his case with Job and to defend God. I heard you say: "I'm innocent! God's arguments against me have been invent[ed], and he treats me as if I were his enemy" (33:8-11; see parallels in Job 13:18-27). Elihu responds sharply: you're wrong about this! God isn't a mortal (33:12). Why do you claim that God doesn't answer you (33:13)? God speaks in several possible ways. First, God speaks in a dream or vision that people don't often understand to be from God (33:14-15). Then God opens people's ears to hear warnings about deeds of pride and keeps them from dying (in the pit) (33:16-18). Second, God

34:3 Job 12:11

- 16 then he opens people's ears,
 scares them with warnings, 17 to turn them from a deed and to smother human pride.
 18 He keeps one from the pit,
 a life from perishing by the sword.
 19 Or a person may be disciplined by pain while in bed, bones ever aching 20 until a person loathes food, an appetite rejects a delicacy; 21 the flesh wastes away, no longer visible;
 the bones, once hidden, protrude.
 22 A life approaches the pit; its very being draws near the death dealers.
 23 Surely there's a messenger for this person, a mediator, one out of a thousand to declare one's integrity to another 24 so that God has compassion on that person and says,
 "Rescue this one from going down to the pit;
 I have found a ransom."
 25 That person's flesh is renewed like a child's;
 they regain their youth.
 26 They pray to God, and God is pleased with them;
 they behold God's presence with a joyful shout.
 God rewards a person's righteousness.
 27 They sing before people and say:
 "I have sinned, perverted justice, but didn't experience the consequences.
 28 He ransomed me from crossing into the pit;
 my life beholds light."
 29 Look, God does all this, twice, three times with persons 30 to bring them back from the pit, to shine with life's light.
 31 Listen, Job; hear me;
 be quiet, and I will speak.
 32 If you have words, answer me;
 speak, for I want to be innocent.
 33 If not, you must hear me;
 be quiet, and I will teach you wisdom.

- 34 Elihu continued:
 1 Hear my words, wise ones;
 knowledgeable ones, listen to me, 2 for the ear tests words like the palate tastes food.
 3 Let's choose for us what's right;
 let's determine among ourselves what's good;

speaks by allowing people to be disciplined through sickness, with ill effects that bring death (the pit) near (33:19-22). But certainly a messenger (a divine mediator; see Job 16:19-21) is made available (even if rarely, once in a thousand times, see Job 9:3) to intercede on behalf of a person of integrity (33:23-25). Then God will have compassion, will be pleased with these prayers, and the one who has been sick experiences God's presence and responds with joy (they in 33:26-27 is, apparently, any such person). God rewards the righteousness of such a person (or, restores his righteousness). And they sing: Even though "I have sinned,

I didn't experience the consequences. God rescued me from death (the pit) and I see the light of life." God does these things often (=twice, three times), but not always (33:27-30). Elihu's point is that people don't necessarily suffer the effects of their sins, and if they are prayed for and are righteous, God rescues them. Listen to me, Job! speak if you can; if not . . . be quiet and I will teach you what is wise in this matter (33:31-33).

34:1-37 Elihu addresses the wise, defending God's exercise of justice. Like you taste food, so test my words (34:1-4; see Job 12:11). choose what is right and good. Job has said,

- <sup>5</sup> for Job has said, "I'm innocent;
God has denied my just cause;
- <sup>6</sup> because of my cause I'm thought a liar;
my wound from an arrow is incurable, even though I didn't rebel."
- <sup>7</sup> Who is a man like Job?
He drinks mockery like water <sup>8</sup> and travels a path with wrongdoers, walking with evil persons.
- <sup>9</sup> Indeed he said, "No one is rewarded for delighting in God."
- <sup>10</sup> Therefore, intelligent ones, hear me; far be it from God to do evil and the Almighty to sin,
- <sup>11</sup> for he repays people based on what they do, paying back everyone according to their ways.
- <sup>12</sup> Surely God doesn't act wickedly;
the Almighty doesn't distort justice.
- <sup>13</sup> Who placed earth in his care, and who gave him dominion over the entire world?
- <sup>14</sup> If he were to decide to do it—to gather his spirit and breath back to himself—<sup>15</sup> all flesh would die together, and humans would return to dust.
- <sup>16</sup> But if you have understanding, hear this;
pay attention to the sound of my words.
- <sup>17</sup> Will one who hates justice rule;
will you condemn the most righteous one?
- <sup>18</sup> Will you say to a king, "Worthless!"
to royalty, "Evil!"
- <sup>19</sup> Who shows no favor to princes nor regards the rich over the poor, for they are all the work of God's hands?
- <sup>20</sup> In the middle of the night they suddenly die;
people are shaken and pass away.
The mighty are removed, not by a human hand.
- <sup>21</sup> God's eyes are on human ways, and he sees all their steps.
- <sup>22</sup> There's no darkness, no deep darkness, where evildoers can hide themselves;
- <sup>23</sup> surely no time is set for a person to appear before God in judgment.
- <sup>24</sup> He shatters the mighty without examining them; makes others take their place.
- <sup>25</sup> Thus he regards their deeds, overturns them at night, and they are crushed.
- <sup>26</sup> He strikes them because of their wickedness at a place where people can see it.
- <sup>27</sup> Because they turned from following him and didn't value all his ways,

34:10 Gn 18:25;
Dt 32:4;
Job 8:3;
Job 36:23;
Ro 9:14
34:11 Ps 62:12;
Prv 24:12;
Jer 17:10;
Jer 32:19;
Mt 16:27

"I'm innocent (see Job 27:2-6; 33:9) and God has denied me justice. I'm thought a liar and have been deeply wound[ed] by God's arrow, even though I've not deserved it" (34:5-6). But, to Job, mocking others and traveling with evil persons are like drinking water! Job has said that it doesn't pay to delight in God (34:9; see Job 29:18-20; 1:9). Wise ones, hear me out! A highly repetitive essay follows. God doesn't sin, do evil or distort justice, but stands in judgment over those who do (34:10-12). No human being gave God dominion over the earth. If God were to gather his . . . breath back to himself (see Gen 2:7), all living things would die (34:13-15). pay attention to me! Would God rule if he hate[d] justice? God is righteous and shouldn't be condemn[ed]; nor should the divine rule be considered Evil. God doesn't grant special favors to the rich—all are God's creatures. All will die suddenly, even the powerful (34:16-20). Evildoers can't

34:30 Job 8:13;
Job 34:17;
Prv 29:2
35:7 Job 22:2-3;
Prv 9:12;
Lk 17:10;
Ro 11:35

- 28 causing the cry of the poor to reach him, he hears the cry of the afflicted.
- 29 Still, if he remains quiet, who can condemn;
if he hides his face, who can see him?
- 30 He prevents a lawless person from ruling, from capturing people.
- 31 Has Job said to God,
“I have borne punishment; I won’t sin again?”
- 32 You teach me what I can’t see;
if I’ve sinned, I won’t do it again.”
- 33 Will he repay you because you reject sin, for you must choose, not I;
declare what you know.
- 34 Smart people say to me,
the wise who hear me, 35 “Job speaks without knowledge;
his words aren’t astute.”
- 36 I wish Job would be tested to the limit because he responds like evil people.
- 37 He adds rebellion to his sin;
mocks us openly and adds to his words against God.

Sin’s impact

- 35 Elihu continued:
3 Do you think it right?
You say, “I’m more just than God.”
- 3 Yet you ask, “What does it benefit you?
What have I gained by avoiding sin?”
- 4 I’ll answer you,
and your friends along with you.
- 5 Look at the heavens and see;
scan the clouds high over you.
- 6 If you’ve sinned, how have you affected God?
Your offenses have multiplied;
what have you done to him?
- 7 If you are righteous,
what do you give to him?
Or what does he receive from your hand?
- 8 Your evil affects others like you, and your righteousness affects fellow human beings.
- 9 People cry out because of heavy oppression;
shout under the power of the mighty.
- 10 But no one says, “Where is God my maker; who gives songs in the night;
11 who teaches us more than the beasts of the earth, makes us wiser than the birds in the sky?”
- 12 Then they cry out; but he doesn’t answer, because of the pride of the wicked.

hide from God because there’s no deep darkness to God (34:21-22). There’s no “it wasn’t my time” in God’s world. In the right time God shatters the mighty, overturns, crush[es], and strikes them—because of their wickedness, their failure to follow God’s value[s], and their mistreatment of the poor and the needy (34:23-28). God’s silence or lack of explanation doesn’t mean indifference. God does act against such lawless people. who can condemn God (34:29-30)? Job must choose to reject sin—God won’t punish him for that (Job 34:31-33). Smart people see that Job’s speaking lacks insight (34:34-35). In view of that, Elihu concludes with a wish that Job would be tested to the limit (34:36-37).

35:1-16 Elihu responds to Job’s claim to be righteous. He argues that God is free to do what God wills, that human beings have no effect on God (see Job 22:2-4). Doesn’t Elihu end up contradicting himself (see God’s “anger” in 35:15)? Elihu begins by quoting Job: “I’m more just than God” (or, “I am righteous before God”). Moreover, avoiding sin hasn’t carried any benefit (35:2-3). Elihu answers both Job and the friends. Look how distant the sky is (see Job

- <sup>13</sup>God certainly doesn't respond to a deceitful cry;
the Almighty doesn't pay attention to it.
- <sup>14</sup>Although you say that you don't see him,
the case is before him;
so wait anxiously for him.
- <sup>15</sup>Even though his anger is now held back, a person doesn't know it's only delayed.<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>16</sup>So Job mouths emptiness;
he piles up ignorant words.

Reason for continuing

- 36 Continuing, Elihu said, <sup>2</sup>Wait a little while so I can demonstrate for you that there is still something more to say about God.
- <sup>3</sup>I will draw from my broad knowledge, attribute justice to my maker.
- <sup>4</sup>My words are certainly truthful;
one with total knowledge is present with you.

Divine discipline

- <sup>5</sup>Look, God is mighty and doesn't reject anyone;
he is mighty in strength and mind.
- <sup>6</sup>He doesn't let the wicked live, but grants justice to the poor.
- <sup>7</sup>He doesn't avert his eyes from the righteous;
he seats kings on thrones forever,
and they are lifted up.
- <sup>8</sup>If they are tied with ropes, caught in cords of affliction, <sup>9</sup>he informs them about their offenses and their grave sins.
- <sup>10</sup>He opens their ears with discipline and commands them to turn from wrong.
- <sup>11</sup>If they listen and serve, they spend their days in plenty,
their years contentedly.
- <sup>12</sup>But if they don't listen,
they perish by the sword,
breathe their last without understanding.
- <sup>13</sup>Those with impious hearts become furious;
they don't cry out even though he binds them.
- <sup>14</sup>They die young;
they are among the holy ones.
- <sup>15</sup>He saves the weak in their affliction, opens their ears through oppression.
- <sup>16</sup>Surely he draws you up from the brink of trouble to a wide place without distress;
your table is set with rich food.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain

22:12). Hence, whether you've sinned or been righteous, you haven't affect[ed] God. What you do affects other human beings, not God (35:4-8). People may cry out because of being oppressed, but they don't confess God as their maker and teacher who gives songs to sing in the night and wisdom (35:9-11). If they do, God doesn't answer because of their pride and deceitfulness (35:12-13). Job, your case is before God even though you don't see God, so wait for him with fear and anxiety. That's because his anger is only delayed. All of your arguments are but empty and ignorant words (35:14-16).

36:1-4 By continuing his defense of God's justice and power, Elihu has a prideful claim about his own complete knowledge of God. God the creator is just, and I know all about it (see Job 37:16).

36:5-25 Elihu makes basic claims about the nature of God. God is mighty in strength and mind and, in principle, doesn't reject anyone. Regarding God's treatment of the wicked and the righteous, life and death are at stake for everyone from the poor to kings (36:6-7). If they experience affliction, they are informed of the reasons (their sins) and God disciplines them, command[ing] them to turn away

36:27 Gn 2:5-6;
Job 5:9, Job 26:8;
Ps 147:8

- 17 You are overly concerned about the case of the wicked;
justice will be upheld in it.
- 18 Don't let them lure you with wealth;
don't let a huge bribe mislead you.
- 19 Will he arrange your rescue from distress or from all your exertions of strength?
- 20 Don't wish for the night when people vanish from their place.
- 21 Take care; don't turn to evil because you've chosen it over affliction.
- 22 Look, God is inaccessible due to his power;
who is a teacher like him?
- 23 Who has repaid him for his action, and who would ever say, "You've done wrong"?
- 24 Remember to praise his work that all of us have seen.
- 25 Every person has seen him;
people can observe at great distance.

God's control of the storm

- 26 Look, God is exalted and unknowable;
the number of his years is beyond counting.
- 27 He draws up drops of water that distill rain from his flood; 28 the clouds pour moisture and drip continually on humans.
- 29 Even if one perceives a spreading cloud and the thunder of his pavilion,▼
- 30 look how he spreads lightning across it and covers the seabed;
31 for by water▼ he judges peoples and gives food in abundance.
- 32 He conceals lightning in his palms and orders it to its target.
- 33 His thunder announces it;
even cattle proclaim its rising.

37 Oh, my mind is disturbed by this and is more troubled than usual.

▼ Or canopy    ▼ Or them from sin. If they listen, it will go well for them. If they don't, they will perish (36:8-12). The wicked don't cry out to God, even when they suffer greatly at his hands. They die young and join the community of the dead. God saves the weak and opens their ears through oppression (36:13-15; see Job 33:28-30). This is a positive angle from which to think about suffering. Addressing Job directly, Elihu speaks of God's past positive action in his life, freeing him from distress and hunger. But Job is overly concerned about issues of justice (36:16-17). He is warned that the wealth of the wicked may mislead him in his thinking about justice. God would rescue him, not his own strength (36:18-19). When people die, Don't wish for the same end. Take care! Just because you are suffering, don't turn to evil (36:20-21). God's power and knowledge make God inaccessible. God can't be repaid for what God has done, and it can't be said to God: You've done wrong (36:22-23). praise God's work; it can be observe[d] by everyone if they would but look (36:24-25).

36:26-37:20 Elihu urges Job to praise God for the creation and its generosity. In hymnic rhythms, he moves from autumn with its rains (36:27-33), to winter with its snow and ice (37:1-13), to summer with its heat and wind (37:14-22). This theme introduces God's speeches in Job 38-41. The high God is eternal and is unknowable (36:26). God's creative acts in providing rains with its effects are listed in detail. God gathers drops of water from here and there to produce rain, which falls from the clouds and waters the earth and its creatures (36:27-28). We may not understand how the weather works, with its clouds, thunder, lightning, and its creation of seas. But by the provision of such water, people's lives are governed and food is produced in abundance (36:29-31). God's lightning, announced by thunder, emerges from conceal[ed] places (behind clouds) to hit its target. even cattle proclaim such wonders (36:32-33)!

37:1-20 Creation themes continue. Elihu is troubled by these sounds in creation (37:1). Just listen to the rumble and the raar. They come from God (37:2). The whole sky lights up across the horizon from the lightning strikes,

37:9 Job 9:9;
Ps 147:17;
Is 21:1 37:10
Job 38:29-30;
Ps 147:17
37:15 Job 36:30
37:16 Job 36:4

- <sup>2</sup> Listen closely to the rumble of his voice, the roar issuing from his mouth.
- <sup>3</sup> He looses it under the whole sky, his lightning on earth's edges.
- <sup>4</sup> After it, a voice roars;
he thunders with a mighty voice, and no one can stop it when his voice is heard.
- <sup>5</sup> God roars with his wondrous voice;
he does great things we can't know.
- <sup>6</sup> He says to the snow, "Fall to earth," and to the downpour of rain, "Be a mighty shower."
- <sup>7</sup> He stamps the hand of every person so all can know his work.<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>8</sup> The wild beast enters its lair, lies down in its den.
- <sup>9</sup> The storm comes from its chamber,
the cold from the north wind.
- <sup>10</sup> By God's breath ice forms; water's expanse becomes solid.
- <sup>11</sup> He also fills clouds with moisture;
his lightning scatters clouds.
- <sup>12</sup> He overturns the circling clouds;<sup>b</sup> by his guidance they do<sup>c</sup> their work, doing everything he commands over the entire earth.
- <sup>13</sup> Whether for punishment, for his world, or for kindness, God makes it all happen.
- <sup>14</sup> Hear this, Job;
stop and ponder God's mighty deeds.
- <sup>15</sup> Do you realize that when God commands them, his clouds produce lightning?
- <sup>16</sup> Do you understand the positioning of the clouds, the amazing deeds of one with perfect knowledge, <sup>17</sup> you whose clothes are hot when earth is calmed by the south wind?
- <sup>18</sup> Can you form the sky with him, hard like a mirror made of metal?
- <sup>19</sup> Tell us what we should say to him;
we can't present our case due to darkness.
- <sup>20</sup> Should someone inform him that I wish to speak, or would anyone say he wants to be devoured?

Divine splendor

- <sup>21</sup> For now, no one can look at the sun;
it is bright in the sky;
the wind has passed and cleared away the clouds.

<sup>a</sup>Or that everyone he has made can know it <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Heb lacks they do.

followed by the thunder—the voice of God. No human being can stop God's roar, God's wondrous voice, we can't know all that God does. God causes the snow and the rain to fall. Indeed, it falls so that all can experience the work of God. It causes even the wild beast to go to its den (37:3-8). The storm and the cold from the north wind come from their sources (probably, from God's chamber). God's breath forms ice, and water freezes over. The clouds are filled with rain and scatter[ed] by lightning. God overturns them so that the rain falls; they do the work that God commands them to do across the world (37:9-12). God makes it all happen for a purpose: for judgment, for the land, or for kindness (37:13). Elihu concludes by speaking more personally: Job, stop and ponder these things. These natural events occur at God's commands. Job, do you understand these amazing deeds of a God with perfect knowledge? Can you understand the warming effects of the south wind? Can you participate with God in form[ing] the hard-surfaced sky? The implied answer is that Job can't understand (37:14-18). Job, can you Tell us what we should say to God? We can't write up our case because of the darkness. Perhaps someone should inform God that I wish to speak. Yet, why would anyone want to be devoured (37:19-20)? 37:21-24 This conclusion is basically a negative response

37:22 Ps 93:1,
Ps 104:1; Is 2:10

37:23 Job 8:3,
Job 11:7,
Job 36:5;
Lam 3:33;
Ro 11:33

38:1 Job 40:6;
Eze 1:4; Na 1:3

38:2 Job 34:35,
Job 35:16,
Job 42:3

38:3 Job 40:7,
Job 42:4

38:4 Ps 104:5;
Prv 30:4

38:5 Is 40:12

38:6 Job 26:7

38:7 Job 1:6;
Ps 148:2;

Lk 2:13-14;
Rev 22:16

38:10 Job 26:10;
Ps 104:9

38:11 Job 38:8;
Ps 65:7; Ps 89:9,
Ps 93:4

38:12 Ps 74:16

<sup>22</sup>From the north comes golden light, the awesome splendor of God.

<sup>23</sup>As for the Almighty, we can't find him—he is powerful and just, abundantly righteous—he won't respond.

<sup>24</sup>Therefore, people fear him;
none of the wise<sup>a</sup> can see him.

The Lord answers from a whirlwind

38 Then the LORD answered Job from the whirlwind:

<sup>2</sup>Who is this darkening counsel with words lacking knowledge?

<sup>3</sup>Prepare yourself like a man;
I will interrogate you, and you will respond to me.

The establishing of order

<sup>4</sup>Where were you when I laid the earth's foundations?
Tell me if you know.

<sup>5</sup>Who set its measurements? Surely you know.
Who stretched a measuring tape on it?

<sup>6</sup>On what were its footings sunk;
who laid its cornerstone, <sup>7</sup>while the morning stars sang in unison and all the divine beings shouted?

<sup>8</sup>Who enclosed the Sea<sup>b</sup> behind doors when it burst forth from the womb, <sup>9</sup>when I made the clouds its garment, the dense clouds its wrap,

<sup>10</sup>when I imposed<sup>c</sup> my limit for it, put on a bar and doors

<sup>11</sup>and said, "You may come this far, no farther; here your proud waves stop?"

<sup>12</sup>In your lifetime have you commanded the morning, informed the dawn of its place

<sup>13</sup>so it would take hold of earth by its edges and shake the wicked out of it?

<sup>a</sup>Or wise in heart; cf 9:4 <sup>b</sup>Heb Yam, a sea god <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain to Job's plea for a hearing (Job 31:35). For now, the light in the sky is blinding, a sign of the awesome splendor of God, one who is powerful, just, and righteous. We can't find him... he won't respond to us... no one can see him. Therefore, fear him! Job must wait for God to answer (see Job 38:1).

38:1-42:6 The dialogue between Job and God.

38:1-39:30 God's first response to Job focuses on the "design" of creation. The range of interest in creation is remarkable. Some insight into suffering is thereby made available to Job (and the reader).

38:1-3 The Lord appears in a whirlwind (38:1). This storm is a means of divine revelation (see Ezek 1:4). It's an example of creation's chaotic elements, to which God now gives major attention. Job should understand that creation reveals God's ways in the world, including issues of suffering. Inviting response, God interrogate[s] Job, not because he has sinned but because he has interpreted his suffering in terms of wrongheaded knowledge (darkening counsel) of the way in which God's world works. God's numerous questions to Job are designed to challenge Job's understanding and to increase knowledge, not shut it down. Job, get to work on these questions (Prepare yourself) (38:2-3).

38:4-15 God created the world according to a certain design (measurements), using the image of a building. God laid its foundations, accompanied by joyful singing from both heavenly bodies and divine beings (messengers, sometimes call angels)—but not human beings (38:4-7; see Prov 8:30-31). God's creation of the chaotic Sea (see Job 3:8; 7:12) and its cloud-cover is imaged in female terms as birth from the womb and wrapping a newborn child in blankets. God established a limit for the sea's activity through fixed shorelines, imagined in terms of a house or room (38:8-11). And God sees to the ongoing workings of this creation, not Job. The light of the morning and dawn exposes the wicked, described as being shake[en] out from under a blanket thought to cover them. Also, like a seal changes the appearance of the clay, so the Light reveals the wicked like a colorful garment. Light is taken away from them, and their strength (upraised arm) disappears (38:12-15).

God and Creation God's response to Job (and, indirectly, to Job's friends) is a verbal re-creation of an amazingly diverse universe. It's as though the reader is taken up into a literary space-ship and shown a splendid creation. God doesn't take Job into the temple or into the depths of his whole being. God takes him out where the wild things are. God gives Job a nature lesson, introducing him to a wide range of matters about forms of life, the heavenly bodies, and the universe itself. This world is well-ordered and basically logical, with images of care and nurture, especially for animals, whose freedom is celebrated. At the same time, images of wildness and strangeness are present: wild seas; wild animals; wild weather (rain, hail, ice, snow, lightning); and Behemoth and Leviathan, the inhabitants of an ancient prehistoric park. For all the world's order and logic, it doesn't run like a machine—there are randomness and unclear patterns, and unpredictable elements and play characterize its complex life. Lifting up these dimensions of God's speeches is crucial, if only because natural evil is a basic factor in Job's suffering.

By appearing in the whirlwind, God is disclosed as the God of creation, not the God of Israel or the God of redemption or the God who intervenes to make sure nothing goes wrong. God highlights Job's limited knowledge and ability and the dynamic "nature of nature." Human sin may also come into play in thinking about suffering (Job 40:11-14), perhaps recalling the intruders in Job 1:13-17. But God's focus remains on nature, raising issues more of creational design than personal justice.

The issue is not so much what Job couldn't know or do, but that he doesn't know or act with enough vision regarding God's "design" (Job 38:2; 42:3). God's questions (Who are you? Where are you? What do you know? Are you able?) challenge Job to probe the creation more deeply, with a greater appreciation for its design. They also challenge him to engage more deeply in his vocation on behalf of God's creatures of great worth and value. This focus on vocation relative to the nonhuman creation best explains the lack of attention to human beings in the speeches from God.

<sup>14</sup>Do you turn it over like clay for a seal, so it stands out like a colorful garment?

<sup>15</sup>Light is withheld from the wicked, the uplifted arm broken.

The vast beyond

<sup>16</sup>Have you gone to the sea's sources, walked in the chamber of the deep?

<sup>17</sup>Have death's gates been revealed to you;
can you see the gates of deep darkness?

<sup>18</sup>Have you surveyed earth's expanses?
Tell me if you know everything about it.

<sup>19</sup>Where's the road to the place where light dwells; darkness, where's it located?

<sup>20</sup>Can you take it to its territory;
do you know the paths to its house?

<sup>21</sup>You know, for you were born then; you have lived such a long time!<sup>d</sup>

<sup>22</sup>Have you gone to snow's storehouses, seen the storehouses of hail

<sup>23</sup>that I have reserved for a time of distress, for a day of battle and war?

<sup>24</sup>What is the way to the place where light is divided up;
the east wind scattered over earth?

<sup>d</sup>Or the number of your days is many

38:16-24 Job hasn't been to the sources of the sea or to the chaos waters of the deep (see Gen 1:2). The dark underworld and its gates to the realm of the dead are unknown to Job (see Job 14:13-14; 17:13-16). He doesn't know how big the earth is, or everything about it (38:16-18). Job doesn't know the sources of light and darkness, or how to get there (38:19-20). In probably the only sarcastic point, Job should know these things, for he was born way back then (38:21)! Moving to heavenly places (through Job 38:38), Job hasn't been to the storehouses of snow and hail that God has reserved for difficult times (see Josh 10:11). Nor has Job been to the sources of light and wind (38:22-24).

38:28 Jer 14:22
 38:29 Job 6:16,
 Job 37:10;
 Ps 147:16-17
 38:31 Job 9:9;
 Am 5:8
 38:32 Job 9:9
 38:36 Job 32:8;
 Ps 51:6; Ecc 2:26

Meteorological facts

- 25 Who cut a channel for the downpours and a way for blasts of thunder 26 to bring water to uninhabited land, a desert with no human 27 to saturate dry wasteland and make grass sprout?
28 Has the rain a father who brought forth drops of dew?
29 From whose belly does ice come;
 who gave birth to heaven's frost?
30 Water hardens like stone;
 the surface of the deep thickens.
31 Can you bind Pleiades' chains or loosen the reins of Orion?
32 Can you guide the stars at their proper times, lead the Bear with her cubs?
33 Do you know heaven's laws, or can you impose its rule on earth?
34 Can you issue an order to the clouds so their abundant waters cover you?
35 Can you send lightning so that it goes and then says to you, "I'm here"?
36 Who put wisdom in remote places, or who gave understanding to a rooster?<sup>a</sup> 37 Who is wise enough to count the clouds, and who can tilt heaven's water containers 38 so that dust becomes mud and clods of dirt adhere?

Lion and raven

- 39 Can you hunt prey for the lion or fill the cravings of lion cubs?
40 They lie in their den, lie in ambush in their lair.
41 Who provides food for the raven when its young cry to God, move about without food?

Mountain goat and doe

- 39 Do you know when mountain goats give birth;
 do you observe the birthing of does?
2 Can you count the months of pregnancy;
 do you know when they give birth?
3 They crouch, split open for their young, send forth their offspring.
4 Their young are healthy; they grow up in the open country, leave and never return.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain

38:25-38 Job doesn't know how the weather works, including the downpours that bring water to desolate lands and make the grass sprout—even where no humans live!—and dew and frost and ice, using images of father and mother (38:25-30). Job can't control the movements of the stars and the heavenly bodies or the laws that bring rain and lightning (38:31-35). Counting or controlling the clouds and the effects of rain aren't in his power (38:36-38; cf. Job 36:26-37:20).

38:39-41 Considering animals and birds (through Job 39:30), Job can't provide for them. Rather, the young ravens are said to cry to God for their food! If God so cares for the animals, how much more does God care for human beings? Most of the animals are wild and have no special relationship to human beings.

39:1-4 The text continues the focus on animals and birds. The world of animals is amazingly complex and continues to thrive apart from any human activity. Such a world is a wondrous creation of God, without human input. With our increased knowledge of the animal world, we today

Wild donkey

- <sup>5</sup>Who freed the wild donkey, loosed the ropes of the onager <sup>6</sup>to whom I gave the desert as home, his dwelling place in the salt flats?
<sup>7</sup>He laughs at the clamor of the town, doesn't hear the driver's shout, <sup>8</sup>searches the hills for food and seeks any green sprout.

39:5 Gn 16:12;
Job 6:5,
Job 11:12,
Job 24:5;
Ps 104:11
39:6 Job 24:5;
Ps 107:34;
Jer 2:24, Jer 17:6
39:7 Job 3:18
39:16 Lam 4:3

Wild ox

- <sup>9</sup>Will the wild ox agree to be your slave, or will it spend the night in your crib?
<sup>10</sup>Can you bind it with a rope to a plowed row; will it plow the valley behind you?
<sup>11</sup>Will you trust it because its strength is great so that you can leave your work to it?
<sup>12</sup>Can you rely on it to bring back your grain to gather into your threshing floor?

Ostrich

- <sup>13</sup>The ostrich's wings flap joyously, but her wings and plumage are like a stork.
<sup>14</sup>She leaves her eggs on the earth, lets them warm in the dust, <sup>15</sup>then forgets that a foot may crush them or a wild animal trample them.
<sup>16</sup>She treats her young harshly as if they were not hers, without worrying that her labor might be in vain; <sup>17</sup>God didn't endow her with sense, didn't give her some good sense.
<sup>18</sup>When she flaps her wings high, she laughs at horse and rider.

Horse

- <sup>19</sup>Did you give strength to the horse, clothe his neck with a mane, <sup>20</sup>cause him to leap like a locust, his majestic snorting, a fright?
<sup>21</sup>He<sup>f</sup> paws in the valley, prances proudly, charges at battle weapons, <sup>22</sup>laughs at fear, unafraid.
He doesn't turn away from the sword;
<sup>23</sup>a quiver of arrows flies by him, flashing spear and dagger.
<sup>24</sup>Excitedly, trembling, he swallows the ground; can't stand still at a trumpet's blast.
<sup>25</sup>At a trumpet's sound, he says, "Aha!"
smells the battle from afar, hears<sup>g</sup> officers' shouting and the battle cry.

<sup>f</sup>Or they <sup>g</sup>Heb lacks hears.

know more about these animals than the author of Job did. So, for example, we can know when goats and does give birth, and we can observe such activity.

39:5-8 The freedom of the wild donkey and onager to roam in the desert is emphasized. God gave them the unfriendly wilderness areas as a home and voices that sound like laughs.

39:9-12 The freedom and strength of the wild ox are stressed, along with Job's inability to control it to do his work.

39:13-18 The ostrich is known for its unusual appearance and was thought to be uncaring toward its young. At the same time, it can outrun a swift horse with its  rider. 39:19-25 God, not Job, created the horse to be strong, fast (swallows the ground), and unafraid in warfare; horses are even eager to engage in battle.

39:26 Lv 11:16;
Dt 14:15; Jer 8:7
40:1 Job 38:1
40:2 Job 9:3,
Job 33:13;
Is 45:9
40:3 Job 42:1
40:4 Job 21:5,
Job 29:9,
Job 42:6
40:5 Job 9:15
40:6 Job 38:1
40:8 Job 27:2
40:9 Ps 89:13
40:14 Ps 20:6;
Is 63:5

Hawk and eagle

- <sup>26</sup>Is it due to your understanding that the hawk flies, spreading its wings to the south?
<sup>27</sup>Or at your command does the eagle soar, the vulture build a nest on high?
<sup>28</sup>They dwell on an outcropping of rock, their fortress on rock's edge.
<sup>29</sup>From there they search for food;
their eyes notice it from afar, <sup>30</sup>and their young lap up blood;
where carcasses lie, there they are.

The LORD speaks and Job answers

- 40 The LORD continued to respond to Job:
<sup>2</sup>Will the one who disputes with the Almighty correct him?
God's instructor must answer him.
<sup>3</sup>Job responded to the LORD:
<sup>4</sup>Look, I'm of little worth. What can I answer you?
I'll put my hand over my mouth.
<sup>5</sup>I have spoken once, I won't answer;
twice, I won't do it again.

A challenge from the LORD

- <sup>6</sup>The LORD answered Job from the whirlwind:
<sup>7</sup>Prepare yourself like a man;
I will interrogate you, and you will respond to me.
<sup>8</sup>Would you question my justice, deem me guilty so you can be innocent?
<sup>9</sup>Or do you have an arm like God;
can you thunder with a voice like him?
<sup>10</sup>Adorn yourself with splendor and majesty; clothe yourself with honor and esteem.
<sup>11</sup>Unleash your raging anger; look on all the proud and humble them.
<sup>12</sup>Look on all the proud and debase them;
trample the wicked in their place.
<sup>13</sup>Hide them together in the dust;
bind their faces in a hidden place.
<sup>14</sup>Then I, even I, will praise you, for your strong hand has delivered you.

Behemoth

- <sup>15</sup>Look at Behemoth, whom I made along with you;
he eats grass like cattle.

39:26-30 That the hawk and eagle and vulture fly and soar has nothing to do with human efforts or understanding. They are experts in the search for food.

40:1-5 Job's first response to God. God continues to question Job and he must answer, inasmuch as he engaged in an argument with God (40:2). The reference to Job as God's instructor would be ironic (but the translation is difficult). Humbled (of little worth) in the presence of God (though not confessing wrongdoing), Job promises to keep his mouth shut and not answer God again. God speaks in such a way that Job isn't silenced (40:3-5). God may even consider Job's initial response too self-effacing, so God continues to speak until Job responds in less self-negating ways (Job 42:1-6).

40:6-41:34 God's second response to Job.

40:6-14 God begins the second response (still from the whirlwind) by repeating the call that began the first speech (Job 38:3), but not the initial question (Job 38:2). God continues with questions to Job, focusing initially on justice (40:8; the only time God does this). Why does Job raise issues of God's justice (see Job 27:5)? Does God need to be found guilty so that Job might be innocent? Is this an either/or situation? Does Job have power (arm) that compares to God's power? Or "voice" (see Job 37:1-7)? If so, act like it! Take on all the trappings of a king and Unleash your raging anger against the wicked, pass judgment on the proud (the only time that moral evil is addressed by God). Make them disappear into the dust of death (where Job himself wished to go; Job 14:13)! If you do this (and both of them know he can't), I will praise you as victorious against your foes (40:9-14).

40:15-24 God introduces a creature called Behemoth (paired with Leviathan, Job 41:1). The interpretation of these figures varies, from animals (hippopotamus and God Speaks God's speeches are disputes. They challenge Job's accusations. At the same time, they affirm key parts of Job's claim about the creation. God's world has significant chaotic elements, but Job's negative interpretation of that disorder needs to be challenged. Why did God create a natural world that produces so much suffering? A basic reason is that such a creation is necessary if it would be other than a drab, dull, ever-the-same world. God sustains such a world because of its creative potential. Only in such a world is there genuine possibility for growth, creativity, novelty, and surprise. Suffering from the ill effects of the workings of nature is the cost of living in such a creative place. In the end, God takes responsibility for these forms of Job's suffering. The book is filled with questions, from Job and God, encouraging readers to ask their deepest questions about suffering. The dialogue in the book of Job suggests that responding to questions with questions is an excellent strategy for understanding the problems of suffering, evil, and self-interest.

40:19 Job 41:33
40:20 Ps 104:14,
Ps 104:26
40:21 Ps 68:30;
Is 19:6, Is 35:7
40:22 Lv 23:40;
Is 44:4
40:23 Gn 13:10
40:24 Job 41:2
41:1 Job 3:8;
Ps 74:14,
Ps 104:26,
Is 27:1
41:4 Ex 21:6

- <sup>16</sup>Look, his strength is in his thighs, his power in stomach muscles.
<sup>17</sup>He stiffens his tail like a cedar;
the tendons in his thighs are tightly woven.
<sup>18</sup>His bones are like bronze tubes, his limbs like iron bars.
<sup>19</sup>He is the first of God's acts;
only his maker can come near him with a sword.
<sup>20</sup>Indeed, the hills bring him tribute, places where all the wild animals play.
<sup>21</sup>He lies under the lotuses, under the cover of reed and marsh.
<sup>22</sup>The lotuses screen him with shade;
poplars of the stream surround him.
<sup>23</sup>If the river surges, he doesn't hurry;
he is confident even though the Jordan gushes into his mouth.
<sup>24</sup>Can he be seized by his eyes?
Can anyone pierce his nose by hooks?

Leviathan

- 41<sup>a</sup>Can you draw out Leviathan with a hook, restrain his tongue with a rope?
<sup>2</sup>Can you put a cord through his nose, pierce his jaw with a barb?
<sup>3</sup>Will he beg you at length or speak gentle words to you?
<sup>4</sup>Will he make a pact with you so that you will take him as a permanent slave?
<sup>5</sup>Can you play with him like a bird, put a leash on him for your girls?
<sup>6</sup>Will merchants sell him;
will they divide him among traders?

<sup>a</sup>40:25 in Heb

crocodile) to mythic figures to symbolic forces of evil. These creatures may be animals (see Job 12:7). They eat grass like cattle, though their reputation in that world has drawn them into the realm of fantasy and myth (like the dragon in our culture). It is doubtful that these figures are an evil force, as any links they have to ancient Near Eastern themes are literary, not substantive. If one does think of these creatures in terms of "chaos," that doesn't make them evil (cf. Gen 1:2). They are the first creatures made by God, with remarkable strength. They eat food (tribute) and seem to play with wild animals among the trees and plants (40:15-22). They are comfortable in and around the river

(40:23). This means they are good creatures, part of God's diverse and wonderful world. At the same time, these creatures reveal the kind of good creation wherein human beings can be hurt, because these creatures are beyond human control and can't be seized or pierce[d]. These creatures aren't even fully within divine control (40:24). God has set limits for the creatures (e.g., Job 38:8-11), but within those limits no sense of direct divine management seems to be in view.

41:1-34 The same basic points may be stated about Leviathan (41:1-2; see Job 3:8; Pss 74:14; 104:26; Isa 27:1). It's probably to be identified with the crocodile (with its

41:10 Job 3:8
 41:11 Ex 19:5;
 Dt 10:14;
 Ps 24:1;
 Ro 11:35;
 1Co 10:26
 41:18 Job 3:9

- 7 Can you fill his hide with darts, his head with a fishing spear?
 8 Should you lay your hand on him,
 you would never remember the battle.
 9 Such hopes<sup>1</sup> would be delusional;
 surely the sight of him makes one stumble.
 10 Nobody is fierce enough to rouse him;
 who then can stand before me?
 11 Who opposes me that I must repay?
 Everything under heaven is mine.
 12 I'm not awed by his limbs, his strength, and impressive form.
 13 Who can remove his outer garment;
 who can come with a bridle for him?
 14 Who can open the doors of his mouth, surrounded by frightening teeth?
 15 His matching scales are his pride, closely locked and sealed.
 16 One touches another;
 even air can't come between them.
 17 Each clings to its pair; joined, they can't be separated.
 18 His sneezes emit flashes of light;
 his eyes are like dawn's rays.
 19 Shafts of fire shoot from his mouth;
 like fiery sparks they fly out.
 20 Smoke pours from his nostrils like a boiling pot over reeds.
 21 His breath lights coals;
 a flame shoots from his mouth.
 22 Power resides in his neck;
 violence dances before him.
 23 The folds of his flesh stick together;
 on him they are tough and unyielding.
 24 His heart is solid like a rock, hard like a lower millstone.
 25 The divine beings dread his rising;
 they withdraw before his thrashing.
 26 The sword that touches him won't prevail;
 neither will the dart, spear, nor javelin.
 27 He treats iron as straw, bronze as rotten wood.
 28 Arrows can't make him flee;
 slingstones he turns to straw.
 29 He treats a club like straw;
 he laughs at the lance's rattle.
 30 His abdomen is like jagged pottery shards;
 its sharp edges leave a trail in the mud.

<sup>1</sup>Or his hopes reputation enhanced and imagery exaggerated). It's one of God's good creations, though dangerous to human life. Job can't restrain or capture it. Job won't be able to *spea*k or make a pact or play with it. It can't be killed or sold. Any effort to do so would be delusional (41:3-9). Given that Leviathan is a creature of God's making, who can stand before God and oppose him? Not Job. Everything under heaven is God's! Leviathan's maker isn't awed by his form and strength (41:10-12). Job, however, can't control him, given his teeth and closely knit scales and other ominous features (41:12-17). Shafts of fire shoot from his mouth, and Smoke pours from his nostrils (41:19-20). Even the divine messengers dread his presence (41:25)! Nothing in all creation can prevail against him (41:26-30). The "trail" he

- <sup>31</sup>He causes the depths to churn like a boiling pot, stirs up the sea like a pot of scented oils, <sup>32</sup>leaves a bright wake behind him;
the frothy deep seems white-haired.
<sup>33</sup>None on earth can compare to him;
he is made to be without fear.
<sup>34</sup>He looks on all the proud;
he is king over all proud beasts.

Job's second response

42 Job answered the LORD:

- <sup>1</sup>I know you can do anything;
no plan of yours can be opposed successfully.
<sup>3</sup>You said, "Who is this darkening counsel without knowledge?"
I have indeed spoken about things I didn't understand, wonders beyond my comprehension.
<sup>4</sup>You said, "Listen and I will speak;
I will question you and you will inform me."
<sup>5</sup>My ears had heard about you, but now my eyes have seen you.
<sup>6</sup>Therefore, I relent<sup>l</sup> and find comfort on dust and ashes.

Epilogue

<sup>7</sup>After the LORD had spoken these words to Job, he said to Eliphaz from Teman, "I'm angry at you and your two friends because you haven't spoken about me correctly as did my servant Job. <sup>8</sup>So now, take seven bulls and seven rams, go to my servant Job, and prepare an entirely burned offering for yourselves. Job my servant will pray for you, and I will act favorably by not making fools of you because you didn't speak correctly, as did my servant Job."

<sup>9</sup>Eliphaz from Teman, Bildad from Shuah, and Zophar from Naamah did what the LORD told them; and the LORD acted favorably toward Job. <sup>10</sup>Then the LORD changed Job's fortune when he prayed for his friends, and the LORD doubled all Job's earlier possessions. <sup>11</sup>All his brothers, sisters, and acquaintances came to him and ate food with him in his house. They comforted and consoled him concerning all the disaster the LORD had brought on him, and each one gave him a qesitah<sup>m</sup> and a gold ring. <sup>12</sup>Then the LORD blessed Job's latter days more than his former ones. He had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, leaves when moving through the sea is remarkable (41:31-32). None on earth can compare to him. He is king over all proud beasts (41:33-34).

<sup>l</sup>Heb lacks You said. <sup>k</sup>Heb lacks You said. <sup>l</sup>The verse is capable of several translations: I despise or relent, no direct object; repent of or concerning dust and ashes. <sup>m</sup>A monetary unit

42:1-6 Job's second response to God. Job confesses that no divine plan can be opposed in any final way (42:2). Responding to two of God's questions (Job 38:2; 40:7), Job admits to speaking about things [he] didn't understand. Job has moved from simply hearing about God to seeing God (hoped for in Job 19:26-27) and the nature of God's creation (and his place within it; 42:3-5). See sidebar, "God Speaks" at Job 40.

42:6 A difficult text to interpret (see translation note). Job doesn't confess his sins. Rather, Job relent[s] by turning away from his earlier convictions about God, and find[s] comfort even while sitting on dust and ashes (see Job 2:8)—or, he sets aside his remorse in order to return to normal life (see Job 30:19).

42:7-17 Epilogue. The prose literary style returns to that of Job 1-2. God's evaluation of the words of Job and his friends is strategically placed at the beginning (42:7-8). The friends thought that Job had insulted God and therefore would be punished further. God, by pronouncing the rightness of Job's words and condemning theirs in a public way, affirms that Job's suffering, contrary to their way of thinking, was innocent and that his complaints didn't risk his standing with God (which is shown by God restoring Job's fortunes). Even more, God provides a sacrificial means by which the wrongs of the friends can be forgiven. Contrary to their own view of reward and punishment, the friends won't suffer the consequences of their "folly."

42:7-8 God speaks to the friends in anger with a repeated negative evaluation of their words (probably both words about God and the absence of words to God; see Job 13:7-10) and a positive evaluation of Job's words (though not necessarily all his words; Job 38:2). Yet God provides for a positive future for the friends through Job's prayers.

42:9-12 The end of the book is bittersweet. when [Job] prayed, God responded and doubled his lost possessions.

41:34 Job 28:8

42:2 Gn 18:14;
Mt 19:26

42:3 Job 38:2;
Ps 40:5, Ps 131:1,
Ps 139:6

42:5 Is 6:5;
Ro 10:17

42:6 Job 2:8,
Job 30:19,
Job 40:4

42:7 Job 2:11,
Job 4:1, Job 32:3,
Job 42:8

42:8 Nm 23:1;
Job 1:5; 1Jn 5:16

42:10 Dt 30:3;
Ps 14:7

one thousand yoke of oxen, and one thousand female donkeys. <sup>13</sup>He also had seven sons and three daughters. <sup>14</sup>He named one Jemimah,<sup>q</sup> a second Keziah,<sup>o</sup> and the third Kerenhappuch.<sup>p</sup> <sup>15</sup>No women in all the land were as beautiful as Job's daughters; and their father gave an inheritance to them along with their brothers. <sup>16</sup>After this, Job lived 140 years and saw four generations of his children. <sup>17</sup>Then Job died, old and satisfied.

<sup>q</sup>Dove <sup>o</sup>Cinnamon <sup>p</sup>Jar for Dark Cosmetic God also provided Job with 10 children, though his oldest children are dead.

42:13-16 In this new world, only Job's daughters are given names. Their beauty is noted and they share an inheritance with their brothers (cf. Num 27:1-8).

42:17 Job, finally, is satisfied to live in such a world.

PSALMS

The book of Psalms, also called the Psalter, is a collection of 150 poems. Originally, leaders wrote and used psalms in worship. Most of the poems are either songs of praise (hymns) or prayers (often for help) that were sung or spoken. The writers tell about going into God's house (the temple) and performing acts of worship, including playing music and singing, shouting joyfully, lifting up hands in prayer, making sacrifices, and fulfilling promises to God.

Later communities passed along the psalms as sacred text or scripture. Human words to God became understood as God's word to humans. As the Psalms were accepted as scripture, their value for instruction became more important. Communities saw that the Psalms could teach people about God, God's will, and faithful living.

The Psalms and Worship

To appreciate how to use the Psalms in worship, it helps to know that there are different types of psalms. The psalms in the book of Psalms often combine elements from more than one type of psalm and arrange these elements in different ways. The major types are as follows:

Prayers for help: Individuals and communities in distress pray to God and ask for help. These prayers are known as laments, complaints,

Tambourine
Todd Bolen/BiblePlaces.com

or protests. The main elements include a description of the trouble (the complaint itself), petition for God's help, and expressions of trust and/or praise. These prayers were probably offered in the temple, and later in synagogues, or perhaps even in small religious meetings that would have taken place in homes. These prayers for help are called individual laments when it is a person who is in distress (sometimes because of problems with enemies) and who asks God for help.

Communal prayers for help: When the community is in distress and someone speaks for the community, these prayers are called communal or community laments (see Pss 44; 74).

Songs of praise: Also known as hymns, these psalms invite other people to praise God and provide reasons for praise. The songs of praise were sung to music in worship (see Pss 33; 100). Several songs of praise announce that God rules or address God as king. Because they celebrate God's coming to the throne as king, these psalms are called coronation or enthronement psalms (Pss 29; 47; 93; 95–99).

Psalms of thanks: Like the songs of praise, these psalms look back at the past and offer or invite thankfulness to God for God's help in getting out of trouble (see Pss 30; 116).

Psalms of trust: These psalms confess faith in God's guidance, provision, and care. Though they are usually spoken about God, sometimes parts of the psalm are prayers to God (see Pss 16; 23).

Wisdom psalms: Some psalms offer direct instruction to the faithful, and are usually called wisdom psalms. Such instruction may be like a religious teaching, spoken in a place of worship (see Pss 37; 49; 73). Some of these psalms (or portions of them) are spoken as God's speech to the people (see Pss 50; 81), and are called prophetic exhortations since they offer warnings and encouragement.

Instruction psalms: Three psalms, each placed at a key position in the Psalter, feature the concept of torah, "instruction" (see Pss 1; 19; 119).

Royal psalms: These psalms feature the earthly king, either as subject or speaker or both (see Pss 2; 18; 20; 21; 45; 72; 101; 110; 132; 144; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2).

Songs of Zion: These psalms focus attention on Jerusalem (see Pss 46; 48; 76; 84; 87; 122; 132; 137; see sidebar, "Psalms 46–48: Jerusalem, Zion, and God's Kingship" at Ps 48).

Entranceliturgies: Two psalms appear to have been used originally as part of ceremonies when people came to the temple (see Pss 15; 24).

Historical psalms: Several psalms focus on reciting major events in the history of the people (see Pss 78; 105; 106; 136).

Several dimensions shaped the development of the Psalms from worship materials into scripture. Editors included titles for many psalms—for example, proper names, information, worship instructions such as "For the music leader," references to musical instruments, or names of melodies to which certain psalms were sung. David is the name that is mentioned the most in the psalm titles, appearing 73 times (see Ps 3). It is unlikely that David wrote any of these psalms, so the phrase "of David" could also be translated "dedicated to David" or "for David" or "in honor of David." The phrase seems to be a way of honoring David's memory and influence. The poets who likely wrote the psalms were members of levitical guilds, such as those of Korah (see Pss 42–43; 1 Chron 9:19; 2 Chron 20:19) and Asaph (see Ps 50; 1 Chron 16:5, 7; 25:1–2; Ezra 3:10).

The patterns of psalm titles also indicate collections that were shaped into five books or divisions. Each "book" ends with a short hymn of praise to God (see Pss 41:13; 72:18–19; 89:52; 106:48). The planned shaping took place over time to form what is now the Psalter (see sidebars, "Books II–III and the Elohistc Psalter" at Ps 42; "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89; "Book V" at Ps 107). This shaping draws attention to the concept of torah, or "instruction," since the five-book arrangement recalls the five books of Moses (Genesis–Deuteronomy) that are called "The Torah." In addition, Psalm 1 uses God's "Instruction" (Ps 1:2) to introduce the Psalms, and the central placement of Psalms 19 and 119 in Books I and V calls attention to God's "Instruction" (see sidebars, "Torah [Instruction]: Psalms 15–24"; "Book V" at Ps 107). The arrangement invites readers to use the Psalms to learn about God and God's will. In other words, readers are able to see the Psalms in the context of worship in ancient Israel and Judah and to hear the Psalms as expressions of faith. Devotion to God and God's will for the world is the center of that faith, and the major dimensions of that faith form the central components of the Psalter's "Instruction."

God rules the world: God is often addressed as king (see Ps 5:2), and the shape of the Psalter highlights Psalms 93 and 95–99, a collection of songs of praise that proclaim God's rule (see sidebars, "Psalms 46–48: Jerusalem, Zion, and God's Kingship"; "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89).

God wants worldwide justice, righteousness, and peace: The placement of Psalms 96 and 98 suggests that God comes into the world to establish justice and righteousness, which are the foundations for peace (see Pss 9:8; 10:18; 72:1–7, 12–14; 82:1–4; 97:2; 99:4; 146:7; see sidebars, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89; "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82).

The role of God's "anointed" and God's people: Psalm 2 highlights the role of the earthly king, God's "anointed one." The king is responsible for ensuring that God's will for justice, righteousness, and peace become reality in the world (Ps 72:1–7); but Psalm 89 tells about rejecting David's kingship. So these psalms seem to suggest that God's people inherited the responsibility to do God's will in the world (see Pss 105:15; 144:11–14; 149:6–9; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2).

The nature of true happiness: The Hebrew word translated "truly happy" occurs more than twenty times in the Psalms. A portrait of happiness involves constant attention to God's "instruction" and dependence on God for life, protection, and future (see Pss 1:1–2; 2:12; see sidebar, "True Happiness" at Ps 1).

Waiting for God: Because God rules amid the reality of constant opposition to God, God's will, God's "anointed one," and God's people, the life of faith involves deep trust in God and hope in the completion of God's purposes (see Pss 5:3; 25:3, 5, 21; 27:14; 31:24; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). The claim that God rules in the middle of widespread opposition also suggests that God exercises power not as force but as love (see sidebar, "God's Faithful Love" at Ps 6).

J. Clinton McCann Jr.

1:1 Ps 26:4-5;
 Prov 1:22;
 Prov 4:14;
 Jer 15:17

1:2 Josh 1:8;
 Ps 112:1;
 Ps 119:1;
 Ps 119:16;
 Ps 119:35

1:3 Gn 39:3;
 Nm 24:6;
 Ps 92:12;
 Jer 17:8;
 Eze 47:12

1:4 Job 21:18;
 Ps 35:5; Is 17:13;
 Hos 13:3;
 Mt 3:12

1:5 Ps 5:5

1:6 Ps 37:18;
 Na 1:7; 2Ti 2:19

BOOK I (Psalms 1–41)

Psalm 1

- <sup>1</sup>The truly happy person doesn't follow wicked advice, doesn't stand on the road of sinners,
 and doesn't sit with the disrespectful.
- <sup>2</sup>Instead of doing those things, these persons love the LORD's Instruction, and they recite God's Instruction day and night!
- <sup>3</sup>They are like a tree replanted by streams of water, which bears fruit at just the right time and whose leaves don't fade.
 Whatever they do succeeds.
- <sup>4</sup>That's not true for the wicked!
 They are like dust that the wind blows away.
- <sup>5</sup>And that's why the wicked will have no standing in the court of justice—neither will sinners in the assembly of the righteous.
- <sup>6</sup>The LORD is intimately acquainted with the way of the righteous, but the way of the wicked is destroyed.

True Happiness The first word in the Psalms (in Hebrew) is translated “truly happy” (Ps 1:1). This word occurs more than twenty times, for example in the final psalms of Books I–IV (see Pss 41:1; 72:17; 89:15; 106:3) and in the collection that concludes the Psalter (see Ps 146:5). In the Psalms, true happiness is God-centered. It means constantly focusing on God's will (see Pss 1:1; 94:12; 119:1), which means doing justice and righteousness (see Pss 106:3; 112:1; 128:1). Justice involves caring for the poor (see Pss 41:1; 72:1-7, 12-14, 17). Being righteous doesn't mean doing everything right but relying on God for forgiveness and grace (see Ps 32:1-2). True happiness also means depending upon God rather than self, trusting and hoping in God (see Pss 40:4; 84:12; 146:5), seeking God's presence in worship and elsewhere (see Pss 84:4; 89:15; 119:2), and always relying on God for strength and protection (including taking “refuge” in God; see Pss 2:12; 34:8; 84:5). The “truly happy” are called “the righteous” (see Ps 1).

1:1-6 Psalm 1 introduces the book of Psalms and invites readers to hear the psalms as sources of teaching about God and God's will for the world. Psalm 1 is a “torah psalm” (see also Pss 19; 119) emphasizing the concept of Instruction. The Hebrew term torah occurs twice in Psalm 1:2.

1:1 The truly happy person: True happiness refers to learning from God's teaching, and always doing what God wants (see Pss 2:12; 41:1; Josh 1:8; see sidebar, “True Happiness” at Ps 1). wicked: The word names those who oppose God, God's will, and God's faithful people. It occurs in Psalm 1:4-6 and elsewhere in the Psalms too (see sidebar, “The Enemies” at Ps 3). sinners: In the larger point of view of the Bible, everyone is sinful (see Pss 14:2-3; 143:2), and the writers of the psalms sometimes confess their own sin (see Pss 32:1-2; 51:1-5). Here and in Psalm 1:5, “sinners” are those who don't listen to God or even try to follow God's Instruction. disrespectful: The word occurs most often in Proverbs to describe persons who refuse to be taught (Prov 1:22; 9:7-8; 13:1).

1:2 Instruction: The books of Genesis–Deuteronomy were known as The Torah, or The Instruction. These books contain many specific commandments. The psalmist may have had The Torah in mind; but the Hebrew word torah can mean God's will in the broadest sense—that is, it can refer to what the Psalms call God's justice, righteousness, and peace (see Pss 72:1-7; 96:10-13; 98:9).

1:3 tree: The faithful are like trees, and their soil is in the temple (see Pss 52:8; 92:12-15; see also Jer 17:7-8). The picture of the tree suggests that following God's Instruction gives an experience of God's presence (see sidebar, “Psalms 46–48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship”; “Book V” at Ps 107). succeeds: The success of the faithful isn't outward or visible (see Pss 3:1-2; 5:8; 6:2-3; 13:2). It comes from being connected to God and being protected there (see Ps 2:12). The wicked always appear to be doing well (see Pss 10:6, 10-11; 11:2-3; 73:3-12).

1:4-6 Even if the wicked appear to prosper, the faithful always give themselves to God and trust that God and God's ways will finally win.

1:5 neither . . . the righteous: The punishment of the wicked results from their choice to cut themselves off from God and God's people by failing to follow God's Instruction. The faithful will be known as “the righteous.” The term doesn't imply sinlessness (see Ps 32:1-2), but devotion to and reliance on God rather than on oneself.

Psalm 2

- <sup>1</sup>Why do the nations rant?
Why do the peoples rave uselessly?
- <sup>2</sup>The earth's rulers take their stand;
the leaders scheme together against the LORD and against his anointed one.
<sup>3</sup>"Come!" they say.
"We will tear off their ropes and throw off their chains!"
- <sup>4</sup>The one who rules in heaven laughs;
my Lord makes fun of them.
- <sup>5</sup>But then God speaks to them angrily;
then he terrifies them with his fury:
<sup>6</sup>"I hereby appoint my king on Zion, my holy mountain!"
- <sup>7</sup>I will announce the LORD's decision:
He said to me, "You are my son,
today I have become your father.
- <sup>8</sup>Just ask me, and I will make the nations your possession;
the far corners of the earth will be your property.
- <sup>9</sup>You will smash them with an iron rod;
you will shatter them like a pottery jar."
- <sup>10</sup>So kings, wise up!
Be warned, you rulers of the earth!
- <sup>11</sup>Serve the LORD reverently—trembling, <sup>12</sup>kiss his feet<sup>a</sup>

2:1 Ps 46:6;
Ac 4:25-26
2:2 In 1:41
2:3 Jer 5:5
2:4 Ps 11:4;
Ps 37:13;
Ps 59:8; Prv 1:26;
Is 40:22
2:5 Ps 21:9;
Ps 76:7
2:6 Ps 48:2;
Ps 110:2; Is 9:7
2:7 2Sa 7:14;
Mt 3:17;
Ac 13:33;
Heb 1:5; Heb 5:5
2:8 Ps 22:27;
Ps 72:8
2:9 Rev 2:27;
Rev 12:5;
Rev 19:15
2:10 2Sa 23:3;
Ps 2:11; Ps 72:11;
Prv 8:15;
Prv 16:12
2:11 Phi 2:12;
Heb 12:28
2:12 Ps 5:11;
Ps 34:8; Ps 84:12;
Jer 17:7; Rev 6:16

God's Anointed One The "anointed one" (Hebrew meshiakh or "messiah") is a human king (see 1 Sam 9:16). Psalms that feature the king are royal psalms (Pss 2; 18; 20; 21; 45; 72; 89; 101; 110; 132; 144) and appear many times in the book of Psalms. Some royal psalms occur at key places—as part of the introduction to the Psalter (Ps 2) and at the end of Books II and III (Pss 72 and 89). The king (messiah) is important in the Psalms as one who represents God's rule and God's will (see Pss 2, 72; Deut 17:14-20).

David, the greatest king, receives credit for 73 psalms. The titles of 13 of these psalms mention specific events in David's life (see Pss 3; 7; 18; 34; 51; 52; 54; 56; 57; 59; 60; 63; 142). The editors of the book of Psalms used the titles to invite readers to identify with David's struggles and faith. It's revealing that most of the psalms assigned to David are prayers for help. These psalms picture David as one who suffers (see sidebar, "The Psalms and Jesus" at Ps 22). Psalm 89 speaks about rejecting the political rule of David's descendants. The royal psalms in Books IV and V may express hope for rebuilding a political rule (see Ps 101). Most likely they affirm that God will use human agents to complete God's will in the world (see Pss 105; 144; 149).

<sup>a</sup>Correction; Heb uncertain; MT rejoice with trembling, kiss the son (but with son in Aram, not Heb)

2:1-12 Psalm 2 is a royal psalm. It features the earthly king (see Pss 18; 20; 21; 45; 72; 89; 101; 110; 132; 144). The king was responsible for putting God's will into action in the world (see Ps 72). So Psalm 2 is a good fit with Psalm 1 to introduce the book of Psalms.

2:1 nations...peoples: Like the wicked in Psalm 1, they reject God and God's ways (Ps 2:2-3). Opposing God continues throughout the Psalter (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

2:2 anointed one: Kings were anointed with oil when they took office. The Hebrew term is meshiakh or messiah (see Pss 18:50; 20:6; 89:38, 51; 132:10; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2).

2:4 who rules in heaven: This phrase expresses an important theme in the Psalter: God's rule (see Pss 5:2; 93; 95-99). laughs...makes fun: Even when it's challenged, God's claim on the world and its people is secure (see Pss 37:13; 59:8).

2:6-9 It's likely that the give-and-take between God and the king was part of a ceremony for new kings. The ceremony usually took place in the temple area.

2:6 Zion, my holy mountain: the location of the temple. The term Zion often refers to the city of Jerusalem (see sidebar, "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship"). Something holy is something "set apart" or special (see Ps 93:5). 2:7 my son: Kings were known as God's sons (see Ps 89:26-27; 2 Sam 7:14; Mark 1:11; Heb 1:5).

2:8-9 Just ask...pottery jar: The language is forceful and violent, but it communicates God's universal claim that the world's rulers must recognize in Psalm 2:10-12.

2:11 Serve the LORD: The rebellious rulers of Psalm 2:2 are now given a chance to submit to God. The only other occurrence of this invitation is Psalm 100:2, immediately after a collection that clearly affirms God's universal rule of the world (see Pss 93; 95-99).

2:12 refuge: This derives from entrusting life and future

3:1 2Sa 15:12,
2Sa 15:14
3:3 Gn 15:1;
Ps 27:6, Ps 28:7,
Ps 119:114
3:4 Ps 2:6,
Ps 34:4, Ps 43:3,
Ps 77:1, Ps 142:1
3:5 Lv 26:6;
Ps 4:8; Pvr 3:24
3:6 Ps 23:4,
Ps 27:3,
Ps 118:10
3:7 Job 16:10,
Job 29:17;
Ps 58:6

or else he will become angry, and your way will be destroyed because his anger ignites in an instant.

But all who take refuge in the LORD are truly happy!

Psalm 3

A psalm of David, when he fled from his son Absalom.

<sup>1</sup> LORD, I have so many enemies!

So many are standing against me.

<sup>2</sup> So many are talking about me:

“Even God won’t help him.”

<sup>3</sup> But you, LORD, are my shield!

You are my glory!

You are the one who restores me.

<sup>4</sup> I cry out loud to the LORD, and he answers me from his holy mountain.

<sup>5</sup> I lie down, sleep, and wake up because the LORD helps me.

<sup>6</sup> I won’t be afraid of thousands of people surrounding me on all sides.

<sup>7</sup> Stand up, LORD!

Save me, my God!

In fact, hit all my enemies on the jaw;

shatter the teeth of the wicked!

Selah<sup>b</sup>

Selah

The Enemies The first line of the first prayer for help in the Psalms introduces what will be a constant feature of the psalmists’ experiences: “LORD, I have so many enemies!” (Ps 3:1). Even before Psalm 3, Psalms 1–2 make it clear that there’s opposition to God and God’s will, to God’s “anointed one,” and to God’s people. The exact identity of the enemies is unknown. It’s clear that they have no use for God and God’s will (see Pss 3:2; 10:4, 6, 11, 13), and that their behavior is misleading, destructive, violent, and sometimes deadly (see Pss 4:2; 5:6; 7:2; 17:9–12; 35:4). The enemies may be anything or anybody that opposes God’s will for justice, righteousness, and peace in the world. This invites present-day readers of the Psalms to identify their own enemies. The enemies are named with a variety of terms, including the wicked, foes, fools, evildoers, the arrogant, and the proud.

Precisely because the enemies are always present, the psalmists frequently request God to deal with the enemies. These requests often sound vengeful and violent (see Pss 3:7; 10:15; 17:13), but these are prayers of people who have been severely mistreated. The real point of these prayers isn’t personal payback but rather a deep desire that God set things right for those whose lives are threatened. In short, the vengeful-sounding requests for God to act are acts of hope as well as prayers for justice. They prepare us to hear the Lord’s Prayer, “Bring in your kingdom so that your will is done on earth as it’s done in heaven” (Matt 6:10).

<sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain; probably a musical term to God. In the midst of adversity, the psalmists constantly look to God for protection (see Pss 5:11; 7:1; 11:2; 14:6; 16:1; 25:20; 31:1, 19; 62:7–8). truly happy: The necessity of taking refuge in God shows that true happiness doesn’t mean the absence of threat or suffering (see Ps 1:1; see sidebar, “True Happiness” at Ps 1). The repetition of this phrase in Psalm 1:1 and Psalm 2:12 suggests that Psalms 1 and 2 serve together to introduce the Psalter.

3:1–8 This is the first prayer for help in the book of Psalms, the first of 73 psalms to mention David in the title, and the first of 13 psalms to be associated with a particular event in David’s life (see Pss 7; 18; 34; 51; 52; 54; 56; 57; 59; 60; 63; 142; see sidebar, “God’s Anointed One” at Ps 2). In this case, the title recalls David’s situation after the rebellion by his son Absalom (2 Sam 15–18). The editors of the Psalter probably added the titles well after the time of David in order to honor David. The titles may also invite readers to identify with David’s struggles and with his faith in the midst of them. As in several other prayers for help, the element of trust is prominent (see Pss 3:3–6, 8; 4; 31).

3:1 so many enemies: See sidebar, “The Enemies.” The repeated use of “so many” tells the extent of the opposition and the urgency of the situation.

3:2 The enemies disagree with the claim that concludes Psalm 2.

3:3 shield: This is a frequent image for God’s protection (see Pss 7:10; 18:2, 30; 28:7; 33:20; 59:11; 84:11; 115:9–11; 119:114; 144:2).

3:4 holy mountain: See Psalm 2:6.

3:6 thousands: Comes from the same Hebrew term as “so many” in Psalm 3:1–2, and emphasizes the extent of the opposition and the depth of God’s protecting presence (see Ps 27:3).

3:7–8 Save . . . Rescue: These two words translate the same Hebrew root translated as “help” in Psalm 3:2. So the writer <sup>8</sup>Rescue comes from the LORD!

May your blessing be on your people!

Psalm 4

For the music leader. With stringed instruments.

A psalm of David.

<sup>1</sup>Answer me when I cry out, my righteous God!
Set me free from my troubles!
Have mercy on me!
Listen to my prayer!

<sup>2</sup>How long, you people, will my reputation be insulted?
How long will you continue to love what is worthless and go after lies?

<sup>3</sup>Know this: the LORD takes personal care of the faithful.
The LORD will hear me when I cry out to him.

<sup>4</sup>So be afraid, and don't sin!
Think hard about it in your bed and weep over it!

<sup>5</sup>Bring righteous offerings, and trust the LORD!

<sup>6</sup>Many people say,
"We can't find goodness anywhere.
The light of your face has left us, LORD!"<sup>c</sup>

<sup>7</sup>But you have filled my heart with more joy than when their wheat and wine are everywhere!

<sup>8</sup>I will lie down and fall asleep in peace because you alone, LORD, let me live in safety.

Psalm 5

For the music leader. For the flutes. A psalm of David.

<sup>1</sup>Hear my words, LORD!
Consider my groans!

<sup>c</sup>Correction; MT Shine the light of your face on us, LORD!

affirms and depends on the divine help that the enemies say isn't possible. hit...shatter...the wicked: This is the first of many requests for God to take action against the enemies. The language is violent, but the issue isn't personal payback. Rather, the suffering psalmists, here and elsewhere, ask God to set things right for victims. In short, this and similar requests are essentially prayers for justice (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

4:1-8 Like Psalm 3, Psalm 4 is a prayer for help that features the element of trust (Ps 4:3-5, 7-8). As in many psalm titles, the mention of "the music leader" and a musical instrument suggest that people sang the psalms (see Ps 33:2; see sidebar, "Music and Singing" at Ps 33).

4:1 These requests for help are frequent. Answer me: See Psalms 13:3; 27:7; 55:2; 69:13, 16, 17; 86:1; 108:6; 143:7. Have mercy: See Psalms 6:2; 9:13; 25:16; 26:11; 27:7; 30:10; 31:9. The underlying Hebrew root is used as a fundamental characteristic of God in Exodus 34:6. Listen...prayer: See Psalms 39:12; 54:2; 84:8; 102:1; 143:1.

4:2-5 The writer talks to other people, probably his or her opponents, questions their behavior (4:2), and advises them to turn to God (4:3-5). As is often the case, the writer is a victim of slander (see Pss 5:6, 9; 7:14; 27:12; 31:13; 35:20; 36:3; 38:12; 52:2-4; 58:3-5; 140:1-5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

4:5 trust: As a frequent and important word in the Psalms, "trust" is a synonym for taking "refuge in the Lord" (Ps 2:12). 4:6 The light of your face: God's presence, which offers security and help (see Pss 27:1; 31:16; 36:9; 44:3; 67:1; 80:3, 7, 19; 89:15; 119:135; Num 6:25). Here that presence seems to be missing.

4:7-8 In response to the complaint of Psalm 4:6, the writer affirms an experience of God's presence and provision. As in Psalm 3:5, the writer can rest securely. peace: The Hebrew term is shalom, and it means complete well-being, a kind of peace the writer credits only to God. In Hebrew, the term "peace" is the first word of Psalm 4:8, and the final word is "safety," as if to say that God's providing and protecting presence cover the writer. Psalm 4:8 is often used as an evening prayer.

5:1-12 In this prayer for help, the psalmist's attention moves back and forth between the appeal to God in the midst of crisis (5:1-3, 7-8, 10) and descriptions of the opponents and how God views them (5:4-6, 9). Verses 11-12 combine appeal and celebration of God's protecting presence. As in Psalm 4:2-5, the writer may have been a victim of slander. In any case, the enemies' speech is misleading, hurtful, and destructive (5:5-6, 9; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). The writer stands with God (5:7-8), trusting that God would stand for what is true and right and with

Selah

3:8 Ps 37:39;
Is 43:11, Is 45:21;
Jon 2:9; Rev 7:10

4:1 Job 36:16;
Ps 3:4, Ps 6:1,
Ps 17:6;
Hab 3:19

4:2 Ps 3:3,
Ps 5:6, Ps 31:6,
Ps 57:4, Is 59:4

4:3 Ps 6:8

4:4 Ps 77:6;

Eph 4:26

4:5 Dt 33:19;
Ps 37:3, Ps 51:19,
Ps 62:8, Ps 115:9

4:6 Nm 6:25-26;
Ps 31:16, Ps 67:1,
Ps 119:135

4:7 Is 9:3

4:8 Ps 3:5;

Prv 3:24

5:1 Ps 17:1

Selah

Selah

5:2 Ps 44:4,
Ps 84:3
5:3 Ps 88:13,
Ps 119:147,
Ps 130:6; Is 26:9
5:4 Ps 11:5
5:5 Ps 1:5,
Ps 45:7
5:6 Ps 55:23;
Rev 21:8
5:7 Ps 138:2
5:8 Ps 25:4-5,
Ps 27:11
5:9 Ps 12:2,
Ps 52:2,
Ps 55:21;
Piv 29:5;
Ro 3:13
5:10 2Sa 15:31,
2Sa 17:14,
2Sa 17:23;
Ps 9:15-16
5:11 Ps 2:12,
Ps 64:10,
Ps 69:36
5:12 Ps 29:11,
Ps 32:10,
Ps 115:13
6:1 Ps 38:1

- <sup>2</sup> Pay attention to the sound of my cries, my king and my God, because I am praying to you!
- <sup>3</sup> LORD, in the morning you hear my voice.
In the morning I lay it all out before you.
Then I wait expectantly.
- <sup>4</sup> Because you aren't a God who enjoys wickedness; evil doesn't live with you.
- <sup>5</sup> Arrogant people won't last long in your sight;
you hate all evildoers; <sup>6</sup> you destroy liars.
The LORD despises people who are violent and dishonest.
- <sup>7</sup> But me? I will enter your house because of your abundant, faithful love;
I will bow down at your holy temple, honoring you.
- <sup>8</sup> LORD, because of many enemies, please lead me in your righteousness.
Make your way clear, right in front of me.
- <sup>9</sup> Because there's no truth in my enemies' mouths, all they have inside them is destruction.
Their throats are open graves;
their tongues slick with talk.
- <sup>10</sup> Condemn them, God!
Let them fail by their own plans.
Throw them out for their many sins because they've rebelled against you.
- <sup>11</sup> But let all who take refuge in you celebrate.
Let them sing out loud forever!
Protect them so that all who love your name can rejoice in you.
- <sup>12</sup> Because you, LORD, bless the righteous.
You cover them with favor like a shield.

Psalm 6

For the music leader. On stringed instruments.
According to the eighth.<sup>d</sup> A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup> Please, LORD, don't punish me when you are angry;
don't discipline me when you are furious.

<sup>d</sup> Perhaps a reference to an eight-string instrument; also in Ps 12 persons hurt by vicious and violent lies (5:4-6, 10-12; see Ps 9:18).

5:2 my king: This is the first mention of God as king; but God's claim on the world appears throughout the book of Psalms (see Pss 2:4, 10-12; 24:1-2, 7-10; 145:11-13; 146:10; 149:2; see sidebars, "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship"; "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89). The mention of God as king occurs often in Psalms 93; 95-99.

5:3 morning: An appointed time for prayer (see Pss 55:17; 59:16; 88:13; 92:2). wait expectantly: Because they often experience crisis, the writers wait expectantly. Their trust in God gives them hope.

5:7 your house... your holy temple: Victims of violent speech may have come to the temple, described here as God's house, to ask for priestly action and/or to seek protection. The speaker claims God's help against the opponents and commits to depend on God. faithful love: This is the first occurrence in the Psalms of this important word. It describes the core of God's character (see Exod 34:6), and it establishes the basis for a covenant with God in a committed relationship. It is often the reason to rejoice and give thanks, as well as the foundation for trusting God with one's life and asking God for help (see sidebar, "God's Faithful Love" at Ps 7).

5:8 your righteousness: A basic characteristic of God and God's Instruction or will (see Ps 72:1-3; see "rightly" in Ps 96:13; 98:9).

5:10 See Psalms 3:7-8; 7:6; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Psalm 3.

5:11 refuge: See Psalm 2:12.

5:12 shield: See Psalm 3:3, although the Hebrew word differs here and is less frequent (see Pss 35:2; 91:4).

6:1-10 While the enemies are present in this prayer for help (6:7-8, 10; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3), the real problem appears to be divine wrath (6:1). The language of 6:2-3 suggests that the speaker was ill, and the psalm seems to reflect the belief that sickness is punishment (see Pss 38:1; 41:4; Mark 2:1-12). But finally, the Psalmist views God as a healer, and so prays to God for help (6:2, 4). Psalm 6 is one of the church's seven Penitential Psalms (see Pss 32; 38; 51; 102; 130; 143). It doesn't mention any of the words for sin, but the speaker models penitence (or sorrow for sin) by depending on God's mercy to sustain life (6:2).

- <sup>2</sup> Have mercy on me, LORD, because I'm frail.
 Heal me, LORD, because my bones are shaking in terror!
- <sup>3</sup> My whole body* is completely terrified!
 But you, LORD! How long will this last?
- <sup>4</sup> Come back to me, LORD! Deliver me!
 Save me for the sake of your faithful love!
- <sup>5</sup> No one is going to praise you when they are dead.
 Who gives you thanks from the grave?†
- <sup>6</sup> I'm worn out from groaning.
 Every night, I drench my bed with tears;
 I soak my couch all the way through.
- <sup>7</sup> My vision fails because of my grief;
 it's weak because of all my distress.
- <sup>8</sup> Get away from me, all you evildoers, because the LORD has heard me crying!
- <sup>9</sup> The LORD has listened to my request.
 The LORD accepts my prayer.
- <sup>10</sup> All my enemies will be ashamed and completely terrified;
 they will be defeated and ashamed instantly.

6:2 Ps 41:4
 6:3 Ps 13:1,
 Ps 90:13;
 Jn 12:27
 6:4 Ps 17:13,
 Ps 31:16,
 Ps 69:16,
 Ps 80:14
 6:5 Ps 30:9,
 Ps 88:10,
 Ps 115:17;
 Ecc 9:10;
 Is 38:18
 6:6 Ps 42:3
 6:7 Job 17:7;
 Ps 31:9, Ps 38:10,
 Ps 88:9;
 Lam 5:17
 6:8 Ps 3:4,
 Ps 119:115,
 Ps 139:19;
 Mt 7:23
 6:9 Ps 116:1
 7:1 Ps 11:1,
 Ps 31:1, Ps 31:15;
 Hab 3:1

Psalm 7

A shiggayon‡ of David, which he sang to the LORD about Cush, a Benjaminite.

- <sup>1</sup> I take refuge in you, LORD, my God.
 Save me from all who chase me! Rescue me!

God's Faithful Love One of the most important words in the OT, including the Psalms, is a Hebrew word translated as "faithful love" (or sometimes "loyal love" when it is paired with "faithfulness"). "Faithful love" occurs often in all types of psalms. The word occurs twice in God's self-revelation to Moses (see "loyalty" in Exod 34:6-7). It's a one-word summary of God's character; and it isn't surprising that Exodus 34:6-7 is a brief statement of faith for Israel (see Num 14:18; Neh 9:17; Joel 2:13; Jon 4:2) that's echoed in Psalms 86:15; 103:8; and 145:8.

God's "faithful love" is a basic reason for praising God. Some songs of praise or thanks include "faithful love" in the first verse (see Pss 106:1; 107:1; 118:1; 136:1), or elsewhere in the psalm (see Pss 33:5, 18, 22; 98:3; 100:5; 103:4, 8, 11, 17; 117:2; 147:11). Many of the prayers for help use "faithful love" as the basis of appeal (see Pss 6:4; 25:6-7; 31:7, 16, 21; 44:26; 51:1; 57:3; 63:3); and the psalmists often speak about their hope and trust in God's "faithful love" (see Pss 5:7; 13:5; 23:6). The speakers affirm that God's "faithful love fills the whole earth" (Ps 33:5; see 36:5), and that it "is better than life itself" (Ps 63:3).

*Or soul; also in 6:4 †Heb Sheol ‡Perhaps lament

6:2 Have mercy: See Psalm 4:1. Heal me: The speaker affirms that God is a healer (Pss 30:2; 41:4; 103:3; 147:3; see also Exod 15:26; Isa 57:18-19; Jer 3:22; 33:6; Hos 7:1; 14:4). God heals both physical illness and things like "rebellion" (Jer 3:22) and "faithlessness" (Hos 14:4), suggesting that the language of sickness may be a metaphor.

6:4 faithful love: See Psalm 5:7.

6:5 This and similar passages (Pss 30:9; 88:10-12) may be the speakers' attempts to bargain with God. The speakers remind God that if they die, God will have one less worshipper. This makes sense, but these verses also state the speakers' deep desire to live. grave: See translation note. Sheol is the realm of the dead, where everyone went, and where God couldn't go (contrast Ps 139:8).

6:8-10 Why are these verses more upbeat? Perhaps because the speaker is responding positively to private words with the priest. Or perhaps these verses came after the speaker recovered from distress (later than Ps 6:1-7). But it is more likely that the speaker continued to suffer and to "wait expectantly" (Ps 5:3) and found comfort and hope in trusting life and future to God (see Ps 13:5-6).

7:1-17 Even more so than in most prayers for help, the speaker's opponents are present and powerful (7:1-2, 6, 9, 14-16; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). The psalmist's sincere pledge of innocence (7:3-5; see Pss 17, 26) suggests that he or she may have been falsely accused (see Ps 4:2-5). The reference to Cush is unclear because no one named Cush appears in the stories about David.

7:1 refuge: See Psalm 2:12.

7:3 1Sa 24:11;
Job 16:17
7:4 1Sa 24:7;
1Sa 26:9;
Ps 109:5
7:5 2Sa 22:43;
2Ki 9:33; Ps 7:4;
Is 10:6
7:6 Ps 3:7;
Ps 35:23;
Ps 44:23, Ps 94:2
7:8 Ps 18:20;
Ps 26:1, Ps 35:24,
Ps 43:1
7:9 1Ch 28:9;
Ps 11:5; Ps 26:2;
Jer 11:20;
Rev 2:23
7:10 Ps 3:3
7:11 Gn 18:25;
Nm 11:1; Ps 9:4,
Ps 50:6; Na 1:2
7:12 Dt 32:41
7:14 Job 15:35;
Is 33:11, Is 59:4;
Jas 1:15
7:15 Ps 9:15,
Ps 35:7, Ps 57:6;
Prov 26:27;
Ecc 10:8
7:16 Est 9:25

- <sup>2</sup>Otherwise, they will rip me apart, dragging me off with no chance of rescue.
- <sup>3</sup>LORD, my God, if I have done this—if my hands have done anything wrong, <sup>4</sup>if I have repaid a friend with evil or oppressed a foe for no reason—<sup>5</sup>then let my enemy not only chase but catch me, trampling my life into the ground,
laying my reputation in the dirt.
- <sup>6</sup>Get up, LORD; get angry!
Stand up against the fury of my foes!
Wake up, my God;<sup>b</sup> you command that justice be done!
- <sup>7</sup>Let the assembled peoples surround you.
Rule them from on high!<sup>1</sup>
- <sup>8</sup>The LORD will judge the peoples.
Establish justice for me, LORD, according to my righteousness and according to my integrity.
- <sup>9</sup>Please let the evil of the wicked be over, but set the righteous firmly in place because you, the righteous God, are the one who examines hearts and minds.

- <sup>10</sup>God is my shield;
he saves those whose heart is right.
- <sup>11</sup>God is a righteous judge, a God who is angry<sup>1</sup> every single day.
- <sup>12</sup>If someone doesn't change their ways, God will sharpen his sword, will bend his bow,
will string an arrow.
- <sup>13</sup>God has deadly weapons in store for those who won't change;
he gets his flaming arrows ready!
- <sup>14</sup>But look how the wicked hatch evil, conceive trouble, give birth to lies!
- <sup>15</sup>They make a pit, dig it all out, and then fall right into the hole that they've made!
- <sup>16</sup>The trouble they cause will come back on their own heads;

<sup>b</sup>Or for my sake <sup>1</sup>Correction; MT Come back to be exalted over them. <sup>1</sup>Heb lacks at evil.

7:6 get angry... that justice be done! This verse makes it clear that God's anger shows divine displeasure with wrongdoing and serves the purpose of establishing justice (see Pss 7:11; 3:7-8; 9:4; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). Wake up: Psalm 121:3 suggests that God never sleeps, but several prayers include the plea for God to awaken (see Pss 35:23; 44:23; 59:5). In both cases the psalmist is expecting God's attention.

7:8 my righteousness... my integrity: The psalmist doesn't claim sinlessness in general but innocence in this particular situation, and faithfulness in the relationship with God (see Ps 18:25).

7:11 righteous judge: Righteousness is the key concept in this psalm (see Ps 7:8, 9, 17). In the midst of being mistreated, the psalmist trusts God to set things right (see Ps 5:8; 1 Pet 2:23).

7:12-13 The image is violent, but the issue isn't simply payback. Rather, it is God's purpose and power to set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

7:14-17 The birth image in 7:14 communicates the total wickedness of the psalmist's enemies (see Job 15:35; Isa 59:4). The psalmist trusts that wickedness will finally self-destruct (see Pss 9:15; 35:7-8; 57:6; 141:10; Prov 26:27), a process in which she or he detects the divine work of "righteousness" (7:17), and for which God is to be praised.

the violence they commit will come down on their own skulls.

- 17 But I will thank the LORD for his righteousness;
I will sing praises to the name of the LORD Most High.

Psalm 8

For the music leader. According to the Gittith.<sup>k</sup> A psalm of David.

<sup>1</sup> LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name throughout the earth!

You made your glory higher than heaven!<sup>l</sup>

<sup>2</sup> From the mouths of nursing babies you have laid a strong foundation because of your foes, in order to stop vengeful enemies.

<sup>3</sup> When I look up at your skies, at what your fingers made—the moon and the stars that you set firmly in place—

<sup>4</sup> what are human beings that you think about them; what are human beings that you pay attention to them?

<sup>5</sup> You've made them only slightly less than divine, crowning them with glory and grandeur.

<sup>6</sup> You've let them rule over your handiwork, putting everything under their feet—

<sup>7</sup> all sheep and all cattle, the wild animals too, <sup>8</sup> the birds in the sky, the fish of the ocean, everything that travels the pathways of the sea.

<sup>9</sup> LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name throughout the earth!

7:17 Ps 9:2
8:1 Ps 81:1,
Ps 84:1, Ps 113:4,
Ps 148:13
8:2 Ps 44:16;
Mt 11:25,
Mt 21:16;
1Co 1:27
8:3 Gn 1:16;
Ex 8:19; Ps 19:1,
Ps 102:25,
Ps 111:2
8:4 Job 7:17;
Ps 8:3, Ps 144:3;
Heb 2:6
8:5 Gn 1:26;
Ps 21:5
8:6 Gn 1:26,
Gn 1:28;
1Co 15:27;
Eph 1:22
8:8 Gn 1:26

God the Creator It's probably not an accident that the first hallelu-yah in the Psalter comes at the end of a psalm that celebrates God's creation of the world (see Ps 104:35; see sidebar, "Hallelu-yah ["Praise the Lord!"] Collections" at Ps 104). And in this regard, again it's probably no accident that the first song of praise in the Psalter, Psalm 8, is also a celebration of God as creator. Psalms 8 and 104 are sometimes called creation hymns. This is helpful, but other psalms also offer important points of view on creation and its relationship to God. For instance, at God's "coming to establish justice on the earth" (Pss 96:13; 98:9), the whole creation responds, including "the sea and everything in it" (Pss 96:11; 98:7), "all the trees of the forest" (Ps 96:12), "the rivers" (Ps 98:8), and "the mountains" (Ps 98:8). This response affirms that God claims, values, and loves the whole creation (see also Ps 24:1). This shouldn't be surprising, since the first covenant in the Bible involves not only God and human beings but also "every living being" (Gen 9:10) and "the earth" itself (Gen 9:13). Accordingly, the Psalter moves toward a conclusion by inviting the whole creation—living and nonliving—to praise God (Pss 148:1-13; 150:6).

<sup>k</sup> Perhaps the name of an instrument (Tg) or melody. LXX About the winepresses; or About the Gittite; also in Pss 81 and 84 <sup>l</sup>Correction; Heb uncertain

8:1-9 This is the first song of praise in the Psalter. As if to follow through on the promise that "I will sing praises to the name of the LORD Most High" (Ps 7:17), the psalmist begins with a focus on God's name (8:1), which suggests reputation or character. Psalm 8 is unique among the songs of praise because it addresses God directly; that is, it is actually a prayer of praise. Following the prayers for help in Psalms 3-7, in which the psalmist is consistently opposed and harassed, the affirmation of the high status of human beings is particularly striking and important (8:5-8). Psalm 8, along with Psalm 104, is sometimes identified as a creation hymn (see sidebar, "God the Creator").

8:1 The psalm begins and ends with a declaration of God's universal rule. Lord, our Lord, how majestic: The first "LORD" is the personal divine name (Yahweh), while the second "Lord" is used elsewhere in relation to a king (see "master" in 1 Kgs 1:11, 43, 47). "Majestic" is an attribute of royalty (see "powerful" in Ps 136:18).

8:2 The pairing of military images and children is striking.

God is so powerful that God can use babies as the first line of defense; that is, God turns weakness into strength (see 2 Cor 12:9). This looks forward to the message of Psalm 8:3-8, in which small and helpless human beings are made "only slightly less than divine" (Ps 8:5).

8:3-4 Impressed by the vastness of the universe, the psalmist cannot help but be overcome by the apparent insignificance of humans.

8:5 God is described in royal terms (Ps 8:1, 9), and now so are human beings. Crowning . . . glory . . . grandeur: The vocabulary is associated elsewhere with kings (see Pss 21:5; 24:7-10; 29:1-3, 9).

8:6-8 You've let them rule: Ruling elsewhere is the role of kings. The human lordship involves everything (8:6). These verses recall Genesis 1:26-28. Human responsibility becomes key, as God shares God's power over creation with the human creature.

8:9 This verse is identical with Psalm 8:1. Because the psalm is bounded by praise for divine rule, it suggests that

9:1 Ps 26:7.

Ps 86:12.

Ps 111:1.

Ps 119:10.

Ps 138:1

9:6 Ps 34:16;

Is 14:22

9:7 Ps 93:2;

Lam 5:19

9:9 Ps 10:18;

Ps 74:21

9:11 Ps 105:1

9:12 Gn 9:5;

Ps 9:18, Ps 10:17

9:13 1Sa 1:11;

2Ki 19:16;

Job 38:17; Ps 4:1;

Mt 16:18

9:14 Ps 13:5;

Ps 20:5, Ps 21:1,

Ps 35:9, Ps 51:12

Psalm 9<sup>m</sup>For the music leader. According to Muth-labben.<sup>a</sup> A psalm of David.1 I will thank you, LORD, with all my heart;

I will talk about all your wonderful acts.

2 I will celebrate and rejoice in you;

I will sing praises to your name, Most High.

3 When my enemies turn and retreat, they fall down and die right in front of you

4 because you have established justice for me and my claim, because you rule from the throne, establishing justice rightly.5 You've denounced the nations, destroyed the wicked.

You've erased their names for all time.

6 Every enemy is wiped out, like something ruined forever.

You've torn down their cities—even the memory of them is dead.

7 But the LORD rules forever!

He assumes his throne for the sake of justice.

8 He will establish justice in the world rightly;

he will judge all people fairly.

9 The LORD is a safe place for the oppressed—

a safe place in difficult times.

10 Those who know your name trust you because you have not abandoned any who seek you, LORD.

11 Sing praises to the LORD, who lives in Zion!

Proclaim his mighty acts among all people!

12 Because the one who avenges bloodshed remembers those who suffer;

the LORD hasn't forgotten their cries for help.

13 Have mercy on me, LORD!

Just look how I suffer because of those who hate me.

But you are the one who brings me back from the very gates of death

14 so I can declare all your praises, so I can rejoice in your salvation in the gates of Daughter Zion.

<sup>m</sup>Ps 9 is an alphabetic acrostic poem (cf Ps 119) in Heb, with successive letters of the alphabet beginning every few lines, with only a few exceptions. Only ten letters are found in Ps 9; the sequence may be continued in Ps 10, suggesting that Pss 9–10 are a single poem. <sup>a</sup>Or Almuth labben; Heb uncertain, perhaps a reference to the melody; cf Pss 46:1; 48:14 human rule is properly exercised in submission to God and God's will for the whole creation.

9:1–10:18 Although the acrostic pattern isn't very clear in Psalm 10, it is likely that Psalms 9–10 belong together (see translation note m, and note that Ps 10 lacks a title). But there are differences between them. Psalm 9 starts with thanks and praise (9:1-2), because God has dealt with the opponents (9:3-6) and protected the mistreated (9:7-10). These dimensions are emphasized in Psalm 9:11-12, 15-16, 18, but the petitions in Psalm 9:13-14, 17, 19-20 look forward to Psalm 10. Psalm 10 contains extended complaints about the proud and effective power of the wicked (10:3-11, 13), accompanied by requests for God's help (10:1-2, 12, 15) and expressions of trust in God (10:14, 16-18), all of which are characteristic of a prayer for help.

9:1 wonderful acts: These could include major events like the exodus (see Exod 3:12; 15:11; Pss 77:11, 14; 78:12) or individual experiences of being rescued, such as the one the poet describes in Psalm 9:3 (see Ps 88:10, 12).

9:4 justice: A key word in this psalm (Pss 9:7-8, 16, 19; 10:18) and in the entire Psalter. It is regularly associated with God's rule, as here and in Psalm 9:7-8 (see also Ps 10:16-19), as well as in Psalms 96–99 (see especially Pss 96:13; 98:9; see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89).

9:5-6 See Psalms 3:7-8; 7:6.

9:7-8 See Psalm 9:4.

9:9 safe place: a synonym of the more frequent "refuge" (see Ps 2:12).

9:11 Zion: See Psalm 2:6.

9:12 who avenges bloodshed: The point isn't payback but rather divine action to value human life (see Gen 9:5; Ezek 33:6; Pss 3:7-8; 7:6). Because God values human life, God doesn't forget those who need help (see Ps 9:18).

- ☞ <sup>15</sup>The nations have fallen into the hole they themselves made!
 Their feet are caught in the very net they themselves hid!
<sup>16</sup>The LORD is famous for the justice he has done;
 it's his own doing that the wicked are trapped.
- <sup>17</sup>Let the wicked go straight to the grave,¶
 the same for every nation that forgets God.
- ☞ <sup>18</sup>Because the poor won't be forgotten forever, the hope of those who suffer won't be lost for all time.
- <sup>19</sup>Get up, LORD! Don't let people prevail!
 Let the nations be judged before you.
- <sup>20</sup>Strike them with fear, LORD.
 Let the nations know they are only human.

Higgayon. ° Selah

9:15 Job 18:8;
 Ps 7:15, Ps 57:6
 9:16 Ex 7:5
 9:17 Job 8:13;
 Ps 50:22
 9:18 Ps 9:12,
 Ps 12:5, Ps 71:5;
 Prv 23:18,
 Prv 24:14
 9:19 2Ch 14:11;
 Ps 3:7
 9:20 Is 31:3;
 Eze 28:2
 10:1 Ps 13:1,
 Ps 22:1, Ps 35:22
 10:2 Ex 18:11;
 Ps 7:16, Ps 9:16,
 Ps 73:6; Prv 5:22
 10:3 Ps 10:13,
 Ps 49:6, Ps 94:4

Selah

10:4 Ps 14:1,
 Ps 36:1, Ps 53:1;
 Eph 2:12
 10:5 Is 26:11
 10:6 Ps 14:1;
 Rev 18:7
 10:7 Job 20:12;
 Ps 12:2, Ps 36:3,
 Ro 3:14
 10:8 Ps 94:6;
 Prv 1:11;
 Hab 3:14
 10:9 Ps 17:12,
 Ps 59:3; Mt 7:2

Psalm 10<sup>a</sup>

- ☞ <sup>1</sup>Why do you stand so far away, LORD, hiding yourself in troubling times?
<sup>2</sup>Meanwhile, the wicked are proudly in hot pursuit of those who suffer.
 Let them get caught in the very same schemes they've thought up!
- <sup>3</sup>The wicked brag about their body's¶ cravings;
 the greedy reject the LORD, cursing.
- <sup>4</sup>At the peak of their wrath, the wicked don't seek God:
 There's no God—that's what they are always thinking.
- <sup>5</sup>Their ways are always twisted.
 Your rules are too lofty for them.
 They snort at all their foes.
- <sup>6</sup>They think to themselves,
 We'll never stumble.
 We'll never encounter any resistance.
- ☞ <sup>7</sup>Their mouths are filled with curses, dishonesty, violence.
 Under their tongues lie troublemaking and wrongdoing.
- <sup>8</sup>They wait in a place perfect for ambush;¶ from their hiding places they kill innocent people;
- ☞ <sup>9</sup>their eyes spot those who are helpless.
<sup>9</sup>They lie in ambush in secret places, like a lion in its lair.
 They lie in ambush so they can seize those who suffer!
 They seize the poor, all right, dragging them off in their nets.
- <sup>10</sup>Their helpless victims are crushed;
 they collapse, falling prey to the strength of the wicked.
- <sup>11</sup>The wicked think to themselves:
 God has forgotten.
 God has hidden his face.
 God never sees anything!

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain; or recitation (see Pss 1:2; 19:14) or melody (see Ps 92:3). ¶Heb Sheol ¶Pss 9 and 10 contain part of an acrostic poem and might originally be one poem in Heb. ¶Or soul's ¶Heb uncertain

9:15 See Psalm 7:14-17.

9:18 the poor won't be forgotten: God's special concern for the helpless and mistreated is seen throughout the Psalter (see Pss 9:12; 10:14, 17-18; 12:5; 14:6; 35:9-10; 40:17; 68:5-6; 70:5; 72:1-7, 12-14; 74:21; 76:9; 82:1-4; 86:1; 102:17; 103:6; 109:22, 31; 113:7-9; 140:12; 146:7-9; 147:6; 149:4; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82).

9:19-20 See Psalms 3:7-8; 7:6.

10:1-2 Although God seems to have dealt with the opponents in Psalm 9:3-6, here they are alive, well, and threatening.

10:3-11 This extended description of the wicked (see Ps 73:4-12) includes a look at their thought processes—that is, their denying God and any accountability to God (Ps 10:4, 6, 11; see Pss 10:13; 3:1-2; 12:4; 14:1; 36:1-2; 64:5-6; 73:9-11; 94:7).

10:9 like a lion: The enemies are often described as hungry

10:13 Ps 10:3

10:14 Dt 10:18;
Ps 68:5, Ps 146:9;
Hos 14:310:16 Ex 15:18;
Ps 29:10,
Ps 93:1;
Jer 10:10;
JTi 1:1710:17
1Ch 29:18;
Ps 9:12, Ps 9:18,
Ps 145:19;
Prv 10:2410:18 Dt 10:18;
Ps 9:911:1 Ps 7:1,
Ps 16:1, Ps 31:1411:2 Ps 7:10,
Ps 7:12, Ps 21:12,
Ps 37:14, Ps 58:7

11:3 Ps 82:5

11:4 Ps 2:4,
Ps 18:6, Is 66:1;
Hab 2:20;
Mt 5:34

11:5 Ps 5:5

12 Get up, LORD!Get your fist ready, God!
Don't forget the ones who suffer!13 Why do the wicked reject God?

Why do they think to themselves that you won't find out?

14 But you do see!You do see troublemaking and grief, and you do something about it!
The helpless leave it all to you.
You are the orphan's helper.15 Break the arms of those who are wicked and evil.

Seek out their wickedness until there's no more to find.

16 The LORD rules forever and always!

The nations will vanish from his land.

17 LORD, you listen to the desires of those who suffer.You steady their hearts; you listen closely to them, <sup>18</sup>to establish justice for the orphan and the oppressed, so that people of the land will never again be terrified.Psalm 11For the music leader. Of David.1 I have taken refuge in the LORD.So how can you say to me,<sup>t</sup>"Flee to the hills like a bird <sup>2</sup>because the wicked have already bent their bows;

they've already strung their arrows;

they are ready to secretly shoot those whose heart is right?"

3 When the very bottom of things falls out, what can a righteous person possibly accomplish?

4 But the LORD is in his holy temple.

The LORD! His throne is in heaven.

His eyes see—his vision examines all of humanity.

5 The LORD examines both the righteous and the wicked;his very being<sup>g</sup> hates anyone who loves violence.<sup>t</sup>Or my soul <sup>g</sup>Or soul beasts (see Pss 7:2; 17:12; 22:12-13, 16, 21-22; 34:10; 35:17; 57:4; 58:6; 59:6-7, 14-15; 68:30; 91:13).

10:12 See Psalm 9:5, 19-20.

10:14 But you do see: The psalmist clearly affirms what the wicked have denied in Psalm 10:11. In the midst of trouble, the psalmist trusts God to see and act. the orphan's helper: God regularly is a helper (see Pss 22:17; 33:20; 54:4; 70:5; 115:9-11; 146:5), especially for helpless ones like orphans (see Pss 10:18; 68:5; 94:6; 146:9; Exod 22:22-23; Deut 24:17-20).

10:15 See Psalm 10:12.

10:16-18 See Psalm 9:7-10. The trust expressed in Psalm 10:14 is supported here. God's rule and establishment of justice come in the midst of wickedness that is real and powerful (Ps 10:3-11). As always, the faithful psalmists "wait expectantly" (Ps 5:3; see Ps 13:5-6).

11:1-7 Because the psalmist addresses other people (11:1-2) rather than God, Psalm 11 has the characteristics of a statement of faith. It is usually categorized as a psalm of trust.

11:1 refuge: See Psalm 2:12. Because the psalmist has trusted life and future to God, she or he questions the advice of those who say to flee in the presence of threat.

11:2 As is often the case, the opponents have weapons ready to attack (see Pss 37:14; 57:4; 91:5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

11:3 The situation seems hopeless. Violence threatens to prevail. In response to the question here, the psalmist affirms faith in God (Ps 11:4-7).

11:4-5 holy temple... throne... in heaven: See Psalm 5:7. The holiest space (Exod 26:33; Heb 9:3) in the temple contained the sacred chest, which was viewed as God's earthly throne. But the psalmists realize that God's rule extends throughout the universe (see Ps 104:3). His eyes see: Here again, as in Psalm 10:14, the psalmist affirms what the wicked have denied in Psalm 10:11. examines... examines: The ultimate purpose of God's examining is to set things right (see Pss 11:7; 7:9). hates... violence: The strong language makes the point that God utterly opposes injustice and its destructive effects (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

- <sup>6</sup>God will rain fiery coals and sulfur on the wicked; their cups will be filled with nothing but a scorching hot wind <sup>7</sup>because the LORD is righteous! He loves righteous deeds.
 Those whose heart is right will see God's face.▼

Psalm 12

For the music leader. According to the Sheminith.▼ A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup>Help, LORD, because the godly are all gone;
 the faithful have completely disappeared from the human race!
<sup>2</sup>Everyone tells lies to everyone else;
 they talk with slick speech and divided hearts.
<sup>3</sup>Let the LORD cut off all slick-talking lips and every tongue that brags and brags, <sup>4</sup>that says, "We're unbeatable with our tongues!
 Who could get the best of us with lips like ours?"
- <sup>5</sup>But the LORD says,
 "Because the poor are oppressed,
 because of the groans of the needy,
 I'm now standing up.
 I will provide the help they are gasping for."✠
- <sup>6</sup>The LORD's promises are pure, like silver that's been refined in an oven, purified seven times over!
<sup>7</sup>You, LORD, will keep us,▼ protecting us from this generation forever.
<sup>8</sup>The wicked roam all over the place, while depravity is praised by human beings.

Psalm 13

For the music leader. A song of David.

- <sup>1</sup>How long will you forget me, LORD? Forever?
 How long will you hide your face from me?
<sup>2</sup>How long will I be left to my own wits, agony filling my heart? Daily?
 How long will my enemy keep defeating me?

▼Heb lacks heart, but see 11:2 and Pss 7:10; 32:11; 36:10. ✠Perhaps a reference to an eight-string instrument; also in Ps 6 ▼Heb uncertain ▼LXX; MT keep them

11:6 fiery coals and sulfur: symbols of God's judgment (see Gen 19:24). cups: another symbol of divine judgment (see Ps 75:8; Isa 51:17; Jer 25:15).

11:7 righteous! . . . righteous deeds: The repetition suggests that God's wrath in Psalm 11:6 is intended not so much to punish as to set things right (see Ps 7:6). see God's face: A visit to the temple may have afforded this opportunity (see Pss 1:3; 24:6; 27:8). In any case, the image suggests a direct experience of God's protecting presence (see Num 12:8). Other traditions suggest that God's face shouldn't be seen (cf. Exod 33:23).

12:1-8 There are three speeches in this psalm. The psalmist offers a prayer for help (12:1-4). Included within the prayer is the boastful exclamation of the wicked (12:4). And finally, God announces help for the victims of the wicked (12:5). The psalmist responds with a statement of trust (12:6-7), but a final complaint (12:8) recalls verse 1, surrounding the psalm with observations about the effective power of the wicked. So while trusting the divine promise the psalmist must still "wait expectantly" (Ps 5:3; see Ps 13:5-6).

12:1-4 Given the situation described in Psalm 11:3, the prayer here seems very fitting (see 1 Kgs 19:14). Self-important, dishonest, threatening speech is characteristic of the wicked (see Pss 4:2-5; 5:9; 41:6; 144:8; Isa 59:4; Ezek 13:8). The repetition of "lips" and "tongue[s]" reinforces the point, as does the psalmist's quotation of the wicked in verse 4 (see Ps 10:4, 6, 10, 13).

12:5 In its original setting in worship, the word from God may have been delivered by a priest or temple prophet (see Pss 50:5, 7-23; 81:11-16; 95:8-11). In any case, concern for and action on behalf of the poor and needy are at the heart of the justice and righteousness that God wills (see Ps 9:18; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82).

13:1-6 This psalm consists of the typical elements of a prayer for help: complaint (13:1-2), petition (13:3-4), and expression of trust/praise (13:5-6).

13:1 How long: The fourfold repetition that extends into Psalm 13:2 communicates urgency and desperation. With each line, the situation gets worse. forget me: See Psalm 9:12, 18, where God hasn't forgotten or won't forget. hide your face: often an indication of divine displeasure, from which the psalmist prays to be delivered (see Pss 22:24; 27:8-9; 30:7; 69:17; 88:14; 102:2; 143:7).

13:2 my enemy: It isn't clear who the enemy is or what the enemy is doing. As always in the prayers for help, however, the enemy is present (see Ps 13:4; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

11:6 Gn 19:24;
 Job 18:15;
 Ps 75:8;
 Ezek 36:22
 11:7 Ps 33:5
 12:1 Is 57:1;
 Mi 7:2
 12:2 1Ch 12:33;
 Ps 5:9; Ps 41:6;
 Jer 9:8; Ro 16:18
 12:3 Dn 7:8;
 Rev 13:5
 12:4 Ex 5:2;
 1Sa 2:3;
 Job 21:14-15;
 Jas 3:6
 12:5 Ecc 5:8;
 Is 33:10
 12:6 2Sa 22:31;
 Ps 18:30;
 Ps 19:8;
 Ps 119:140;
 Prv 30:5
 12:7 1Sa 2:9;
 Ps 16:1; Ps 37:28
 12:8 Ps 55:10;
 Prv 29:12
 13:1 Ps 89:46
 13:2 Ps 42:4;
 Ps 116:3;
 Jer 8:18

13:3 1Sa 14:29;
Ezr 9:8;
Ps 119:153;
Jer 31:39
13:4 Ps 25:2,
Ps 38:16
13:6 Ps 9:14
14:1 Ps 10:4,
Ps 53:1, Ro 3:10
14:2 Ps 102:19
14:3 Job 15:16;
Ecc 7:20;
Ro 3:10
14:4 Ps 79:6,
Ps 82:5; Is 64:7;
Jer 10:25; Mi 3:3
14:5 Ps 73:15,
Ps 112:2
14:6 Ps 46:1
14:7 Ps 53:6,
Ps 85:1, Ps 126:1

3 Look at me!

Answer me, LORD my God!
Restore sight to my eyes!
Otherwise, I'll sleep the sleep of death,
4and my enemy will say, "I won!"
My foes will rejoice over my downfall.

5 But I have trusted in your faithful love.

My heart will rejoice in your salvation.

6 Yes, I will sing to the LORD because he has been good to me.Psalm 14

For the music leader. Of David.

1 Fools say in their hearts, There is no God.

They are corrupt and do evil things;
not one of them does anything good.

2 The LORD looks down from heaven on humans to see if anyone is wise,

to see if anyone seeks God,

3but all of them have turned bad.

Everyone is corrupt.

No one does good—not even one person!

4 Are they dumb, all these evildoers, devouring my people like they are eating bread but never calling on the LORD?5 Count on it:<sup>a</sup> they will be in utter panic because God is with the righteous generation.6 You evildoers may humiliate the plans of those who suffer, but the LORD is their refuge.7 Let Israel's salvation come out of Zion!

When the LORD changes his people's circumstances for the better,
Jacob will rejoice; Israel will celebrate!

<sup>a</sup>Or There they will be; cf 53:5

13:3-4 Look at me!: An appropriate request, given that God seems to be hiding. Answer me: See Psalm 4:1. Restore sight: See Psalm 6:7. Otherwise... downfall: The three petitions are accompanied by three reasons for God to act, increasing the impression of urgency.

13:5-6 The movement from complaint and petition to trust/praise is typical, but here it seems more abrupt than usual. Verses 5-6 may have been added later, in which case the psalmist looks back on divine deliverance. Or the psalmist may be looking forward in faith to a future divine rescue, perhaps in response to a priestly action in a worship setting (see Ps 6:8-10). The effect of the psalm in its present form is to place pain next to praise, suffering next to glory, hurt next to hope, suggesting that they are simultaneous realities in the life of the faithful, and leaving the psalmist to "wait expectantly" (Ps 5:3). trusted: See Psalms 4:5; 9:10. faithful love: See note at Psalm 5:7. salvation: God's saving help makes life possible even when the psalmist is threatened with death (see Pss 7:10; 9:13-14).

14:1-7 Like several previous psalms, Psalm 14:1-4 describes the self-centered, destructive behavior of the wicked. Psalm 14:5-7 responds with a profession of trust in God's protective presence. Psalms 14 and 53 are nearly identical. 14:1 Fools: Foolishness here isn't a lack of intelligence but rather a failure to pay attention to God and God's purposes. It is synonymous with wickedness. There is no God: What the fools say recalls the speech and thoughts of the wicked in Psalms 3:2; 10:4, 6, 11, 13; 12:4.

14:2 wise: Wisdom comes from submitting to God (see Ps 2:10-11), but the foolish defend themselves against God.

14:3 not even one person: The accusation here seems to include all human beings (see Pss 12:1, 8; 143:2). This is how the apostle Paul understands Psalm 14:1-3 in Romans 3:9 (see also Luke 18:9-14), although the next verse of the psalm seems to exclude "my people" from the company of fools.

14:4 these evildoers: Here the wicked are defined as those who ignore God and oppose God's people. As always, their behavior is violent and destructive (see Pss 4:2-5; 5:6, 9; 7:14; 10:2, 7-11; 11:2; 12:2-4; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

14:5-6 As always in the midst of trouble, the psalmist trusts God to set things right (see Pss 3:8; 4:8; 5:12; 6:10; 7:16-17; 9:8-10; 10:17-18; 11:5-6; 12:2-4; 13:5-6). refuge: See Psalm 2:12.

14:7 The expression of trust continues, but it is stated in Psalm 15A psalm of David.*

- <sup>1</sup>Who can live in your tent, LORD?
Who can dwell on your holy mountain?
- <sup>2</sup>The person who lives free of blame, does what is right, and speaks the truth sincerely;
- <sup>3</sup>who does no damage with their talk, does no harm to a friend, doesn't insult a neighbor;
- <sup>4</sup>someone who despises those who act wickedly, but who honors those who honor the LORD;
someone who keeps their promise even when it hurts;
- <sup>5</sup>someone who doesn't lend money with interest,
who won't accept a bribe against any innocent person.
Whoever does these things will never stumble.

15:1 Ps 2:6,
Ps 23:6, Ps 24:3,
Ps 27:4, Ps 61:4

15:2 Zec 8:16;
Eph 4:25

15:3 Ex 23:1;
Lv 19:16;
Ro 1:30

15:4 Gn 49:6;
Dt 4:10;
Jgs 11:35;
Ps 101:4;
Mt 5:33

15:5 Ex 22:25;
Lv 25:36;
Dt 23:19;
Ps 55:22;
Eze 18:8

16:1 Ps 7:1,
Ps 17:8, Ps 25:20,
Ps 56:1, Ps 60:1

16:2 Ps 31:14,
Ps 73:25,
Ps 140:6

16:3 Ps 101:6,
Ps 119:63;
Pv 12:26;
Ac 9:13;
Ro 12:10

16:4 Ex 23:13;
Josh 23:7;
Ps 32:10

16:5 Ps 23:5,
Ps 73:26,
Ps 119:57,
Ps 142:5;
Lam 3:24

16:6 Job 22:26;
Ps 21:1, Ps 78:55;
Jer 3:19

Psalm 16A miktam<sup>a</sup> of David.*

- <sup>1</sup>Protect me, God, because I take refuge in you.
- <sup>2</sup>I say to the LORD, "You are my Lord.
Apart from you, I have nothing good."
- <sup>3</sup>Now as for the "holy ones" in the land, the "magnificent ones" that I was so happy about;
- <sup>4</sup>let their suffering increase because they hurried after a different god.<sup>b</sup>
I won't participate in their blood offerings;
I won't let their names cross my lips.
- <sup>5</sup>You, LORD, are my portion, my cup; you control my destiny.
- <sup>6</sup>The property lines have fallen beautifully for me;
yes, I have a lovely home.

<sup>a</sup>Perhaps inscription <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain in 16:3-4; Heb lacks because and god in 16:4.

community terms. changes his people's circumstances for the better: The phrase occurs frequently in material written after the exile to indicate return from life in Babylon (Jer 29:14; 30:3, 18; 31:23; 32:44; 33:7, 11; see Pss 85:1; 126:1).

15:1-5 Worshipers probably used this psalm as a liturgy for persons as they entered the temple (see Ps 24). In its present literary context, it shows the behavior and lifestyle of those who depend on God and have been shaped by God's Instruction (Pss 1:2; 19:7; see sidebar, "Torah [Instruction]": Psalms 15-24").

15:1 your tent . . . your holy mountain: A meeting tent was the place of worship in the wilderness (Exod 33:7-11; Num 12:5, 10). The temple was referred to as God's tent (see Pss 27:5-6; 61:4); and Zion, the "holy hill" or "holy mountain," was the site of the temple (see Pss 2:6; 3:4; 43:3). The temple is a symbol of God's presence, so the question may inquire about the shape of life as lived in the presence of God—that is, as God intends.

15:2-5 The list of behaviors covers attitude, speech, and action. The items in the list aren't requirements but rather descriptions of the faithful life that God intends.

15:2 free of blame: The Hebrew word means a wholeness derived from complete devotion to God and God's will. right: As God is righteous (see Pss 5:8; 9:7-8), so God's followers will pursue what is right.

15:5 who doesn't lend money with interest: As God helps the poor and needy (see Ps 9:18), so God's followers won't exploit those in poverty and need (see Deut 23:19-20; Ezek 18:8, 13, 17). won't accept a bribe: Bribes pervert the justice God desires (see Exod 23:7-8; Deut 16:19-20; 1 Sam 8:3). Whoever . . . stumble: In the Psalms those who follow

God's ways are constantly and frequently opposed, but relying on God provides a stable and enduring foundation for life as God intends it (see Pss 1:3; 2:12; 16:8; 17:5; 21:7; 62:2, 6; 112:6).

16:1-11 Psalm 16 starts with a petition in verse 1 and quickly becomes an eloquent profession of faith that readers usually call a psalm of trust. The psalmist speaks initially and finally to God (16:2-6, 9-11). In between, the psalmist speaks about God, perhaps as testimony to other worshippers. While Psalm 15 displays the shape of life lived in God's presence, Psalm 16 communicates the joy and confidence of living in the presence of and depending on God.

16:1 The opening request shows that the psalmist's confidence exists in the midst of threat. For identical or similar requests, see Psalms 17:8; 25:20; 86:2; 140:4; 141:9. refuge: See Psalm 2:12.

16:2 Lord: See Psalm 8:1. The psalmist expresses submission to God and reliance on God's provision. This recalls Exodus 20:3, the first of the Ten Commandments.

16:3-4 The psalmist distances himself or herself from the idol worshippers, despite their seeming success (see Ps 73:2-12; Exod 20:4).

16:5 my portion: See "portion" in Joshua 19:9. my cup: The image affirms that God has provided (see Pss 23:6; 116:13). my destiny: The allusion is to casting lots (see Josh 18:6, 8, 10; 19:51).

16:6 property lines: See "parcels" in Joshua 17:5. home: See "legacy" in Joshua 14:3; 17:6. In numerous ways, this psalm recalls the book of Joshua, in which God gives Israel a land as their new home, and so affirms that God is the

16:7 Ps 42:8,
Ps 73:24, Ps 77:6;
Is 11:2

16:8 Ps 15:5,
Ps 73:23,
Ps 110:5,
Ps 121:5;
Ac 2:25

16:9 Ps 4:7,
Ps 30:12

16:10 Ps 49:15,
Ps 86:13;
Ac 2:31,
Ac 13:35

16:11 Ps 21:6,
Ps 36:8; Mt 7:14

17:1 Ps 61:1,
Ps 86:1, Ps 142:1,
Ps 142:6

17:2 Ps 26:1,
Ps 99:4

17:3 Job 23:10;
Ps 139:1

17:4 Ps 119:9

17:5 Job 23:11;
Ps 44:18,
Ps 119:133

17:6 Ps 86:7,
Ps 116:2

17:8 Dt 32:10;
Ru 2:12; Ps 36:7,
Ps 63:7, Ps 91:4

<sup>7</sup>I will bless the LORD who advises me; even at night I am instructed in the depths of my mind.

<sup>8</sup>I always put the LORD in front of me;
I will not stumble because he is on my right side.

<sup>9</sup>That's why my heart celebrates and my mood is joyous;
yes, my whole body will rest in safety

<sup>10</sup>because you won't abandon my life<sup>c</sup> to the grave;<sup>d</sup> you won't let your faithful follower see the pit.

<sup>11</sup>You teach me the way of life.
In your presence is total celebration.
Beautiful things are always in your right hand.

Psalm 17

A prayer of David.

<sup>1</sup>Listen to what's right, LORD; pay attention to my cry!
Listen closely to my prayer; it's spoken by lips that don't lie!

<sup>2</sup>My justice comes from you; let your eyes see what is right!

<sup>3</sup>You have examined my heart, testing me at night.
You've looked me over closely, but haven't found anything wrong.
My mouth doesn't sin.

<sup>4</sup>But these other people's deeds?
I have avoided such violent ways by the command from your lips.

<sup>5</sup>My steps are set firmly on your paths;
my feet haven't slipped.

<sup>6</sup>I cry out to you because you answer me.
So tilt your ears toward me now—listen to what I'm saying!

<sup>7</sup>Manifest your faithful love in amazing ways because you are the one who saves those who take refuge in you, saving them from their attackers by your strong hand.

<sup>8</sup>Watch me with the very pupil of your eye!
Hide me in the protection of your wings,

<sup>c</sup>Or my soul <sup>d</sup>Heb Sheol

psalmist's true and enduring home, and the source of the psalmist's life.

16:7 bless: The Hebrew word translated "bless" essentially meant "to kneel," as in a gesture of submission to a master or king. In speaking about God in Psalm 16:8, the psalmist expresses loyalty to and reliance on God, including the willingness to be taught by God (see Ps 1:1-2; see sidebar, "Torah [Instruction]: Psalms 15-24").

16:8 I will not stumble: See Psalm 15:5, on my right side: God is available and accessible (see Pss 73:23; 109:31), a source of security and steadiness.

16:9 celebrates . . . safety: The psalmist does exactly what Israel does in Psalm 14:7 when it experiences God's saving help. The whole self participates—"heart," "mood," and "body."

16:10-11 grave . . . pit: These words indicate the threat of death from which the psalmist has been delivered (see Pss 6:5; 30:3, 9). teach me the way of life . . . celebration: God desires fullness of life, which is what the psalmist celebrates. As in Psalm 16:7, the psalmist receives instruction from God.

17:1-15 Like Psalm 7, Psalm 17 is a prayer for help by a person who seems to have been falsely accused, or somehow harmed by violent opponents (17:4, 9-12). In addition to the psalmist's solemn promise of innocence (17:3-5; see Pss 7:3-5; 26:1-7), the psalm consists of petition (17:1-2, 6-9, 13-14), complaint (17:10-12), and a statement of trust (17:15; note also the affirmations accompanying the petitions in 17:2, 6, 7).

17:1 lips that don't lie: The psalmist's speech contrasts sharply with the dishonest and violent speech of the wicked (see Pss 4:2-5; 5:6; 7:14; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

17:2 justice: The psalmist's petitions here and in Psalm 17:13 are motivated not by payback but rather by the desire for God to set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

17:3-5 The sincere pledge of innocence draws a sharp contrast between the psalmist's behavior and that of the violent opponents (see Ps 17:1). The claim isn't sinlessness in general but rather innocence in this particular case (see Ps 7:3-5, 8).

17:7-8 The petitions here lie at the heart of the psalm. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. refuge: As always, the psalmist entrusts life and future to God (see Ps 2:12). strong hand: See Psalm 16:11. pupil of your eye: This image symbolizes care and protection (see Deut 32:10; Prov 7:2). the protection of your wings: See Deuteronomy 32:11, where God is likened to an eagle protecting its young by "spread[ing] out his wings" (see also Pss 36:7; 57:1; 61:4; 63:7). In Psalms 36:7 and 63:7 the protection of God's "wings" seems to

17:13 Ps 3:7
 17:14 Lk 16:8,
 Lk 16:25
 17:15 Job 19:26;
 Ps 16:11; 1Jn 3:2

Torah (Instruction): Psalms 15–24 Because Book I has so many prayers for help, the sequence that begins with Psalm 15 is noticeable. Of the next nine psalms, only two are prayers for help; and Psalm 24 is an entrance liturgy like Psalm 15. Between Psalms 15 and 24, the psalms are arranged in a pattern known as a chiasm, as follows:

Psalm 15	entrance liturgy
Psalm 16	psalm of trust
Psalm 17	prayer for help
Psalm 18	royal psalm
Psalm 19	torah psalm
Psalms 20–21	royal psalms
Psalm 22	prayer for help
Psalm 23	psalm of trust
Psalm 24	entrance liturgy

A chiasm focuses on the first, last, and middle elements. In this case, Psalms 15, 19, and 24. Psalms 15 and 24 involve entering the temple, or living in God's presence as God intends. Neither psalm uses the word torah, but the pattern in the psalms suggests that life in God's presence will center on following God's Instruction. At the heart of Book I, Psalms 15 and 24 (in relationship with Ps 19) emphasize God's Instruction that is present at the beginning of the Psalter (Ps 1:1-2; see Ps 119). This focus on torah invites readers of the Psalms to look at the ways that the Psalms show the importance of commitment to live as God intends.

The pattern of Psalms 15–24 combines "Instruction" and kingship, since royal psalms surround Psalm 19. This pattern looks like the beginning of the Psalter where Psalm 1, which features Instruction, comes before Psalm 2, which highlights the importance of God's "anointed one" (see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2). The pairing is appropriate, since the king was given the task of doing God's will in the world (see Ps 72; Deut 17:14-20).

<sup>9</sup>away from the wicked who are out to get me, away from my deadly enemies who are all around me!

<sup>10</sup>They have no pity;<sup>e</sup> their mouths speak arrogantly.

<sup>11</sup>They track me down—suddenly, they surround me!
 They make their plans to put me in the dirt.

<sup>12</sup>They are like a lion eager to rip its prey;
 they are like a strong young lion lying in wait.

<sup>13</sup>Get up, LORD! Confront them! Bring them down!
 Rescue my life from the wicked—use your sword!

<sup>14</sup>Rescue me from these people—use your own hands, LORD!
 Rescue me from these people whose only possession is their fleeting life.<sup>f</sup>
 But fill the stomachs of your cherished ones; let their children be filled full so that they have leftovers enough for their babies.

<sup>15</sup>But me? I will see your face in righteousness; when I awake, I will be filled full by seeing your image.

<sup>e</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>f</sup>Heb uncertain happen in the temple, and it's possible that the reference to God's "wings" reminds worshippers of the winged creatures (seraphim) that adorned the sacred chest in the temple (see Pss 80:1; 99:1).

17:9-12 As always, the enemies are threatening (see Pss 3:1-2; 5:8-9; 7:14; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). lion: See Psalm 10:9.

17:13-14 Because the enemies are always present, so are the psalmists' requests that God set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

17:15 I will see your face: See Psalms 11:7; 24:6; 27:8. in righteousness: The psalmists regularly trust God to set things right (see Ps 5:8). when I awake: It's possible that those seeking help spent the night in the temple, praying for help. This affirmation may suggest that trust in God makes it possible to rest securely (see Pss 3:5; 4:8).

18:1 2Sa 22:1
 18:2 Ps 9:9,
 Ps 31:3, Ps 91:2,
 Ps 144:2, Lk 1:69
 18:3 Ps 48:1,
 Ps 96:4, Ps 145:3
 18:4 Ps 116:3
 18:5 2Sa 22:6;
 Job 11:8,
 Job 26:6, Ps 9:17,
 Ps 116:3
 18:6 Ps 120:1
 18:7 Jgs 5:4;
 Ac 4:31
 18:8 Ps 50:3,
 Ps 97:3
 18:9 Ps 144:5
 18:10 Ps 99:1,
 Ps 104:3
 18:11 Dt 4:11;
 Ps 97:2
 18:12 Josh
 10:11
 18:13 1Sa 2:10;
 Ps 29:3, Ps 104:7
 18:14 Ps 144:6
 18:15 Ex 15:8;
 2Sa 22:16;
 Ps 106:9

Psalm 18<sup>a</sup>

For the music leader. Of David the LORD's servant, who spoke the words of this song to the LORD after the LORD delivered him from the power of all his enemies and from Saul.

<sup>1</sup>He said: I love you, LORD, my strength.

<sup>2</sup>The LORD is my solid rock, my fortress, my rescuer.

My God is my rock—

I take refuge in him!—

he's my shield,

my salvation's strength,

my place of safety.

<sup>3</sup>Because he is praiseworthy,<sup>b</sup>

I cried out to the LORD, and I was saved from my enemies.

<sup>4</sup>Death's cords were wrapped around me; rivers of wickedness terrified me.

<sup>5</sup>The cords of the grave<sup>i</sup> surrounded me;

death's traps held me tight.

<sup>6</sup>In my distress I cried out to the LORD;

I called to my God for help.

God heard my voice from his temple;

I called to him for help, and my call reached his ears.

<sup>7</sup>The earth rocked and shook;

the bases of the mountains trembled and reeled because of God's anger.

<sup>8</sup>Smoke went up from God's nostrils; out of his mouth came a devouring fire;

flaming coals blazed out in front of him!

<sup>9</sup>God parted the skies and came down; thick darkness was beneath his feet.

<sup>10</sup>God mounted the heavenly creatures and flew;

he soared on the wings of the wind.

<sup>11</sup>God made darkness cloak him; his covering was dark water and dense cloud.

<sup>12</sup>God's clouds went ahead of the brightness before him;

hail and coals of fire went too.

<sup>13</sup>The LORD thundered in heaven;

the Most High made his voice heard with hail and coals of fire.

<sup>14</sup>God shot his arrows, scattering the enemy;

he sent the lightning and threw them into confusion.

<sup>15</sup>The seabeds were exposed;

the earth's foundations were laid bare at your rebuke, LORD, at the angry blast of air coming from your nostrils.

<sup>a</sup>This poem also occurs in 2 Sam 22 with some variations. <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>i</sup>Heb Sheol

18:1-50 Psalm 18 is nearly identical to 2 Samuel 22, where David prays this prayer for help. This fact, plus the mention of David and anointed one in 18:50, means that Psalm 18 recalls Psalm 2 and other royal psalms that feature the earthly king (see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2). Verses 3-6 summarize the basic content of Psalm 18. As in Psalm 2, the king is opposed and threatened (18:4-5), but he appeals to God, who hears (18:6) and helps (18:7-19). The king responds with grateful praise that rehearses details of his rescue (18:31-50). Between the account of God's help and the king's response, verses 20-30 focus on the character of the king (18:20-24) and God (18:25-30).

Because the king was viewed as the earthly agent of God's rule and was given the task of doing God's will (see Pss 2; 72), Psalm 18 is ultimately testimony to God's claim on the world. Psalm 144 offers a rereading of portions of Psalm 18.

18:1-6 Psalm 18:1 doesn't appear in 2 Samuel 22. The images of God communicate strength and safety. refuge: See Psalm 2:12. shield: See Psalm 3:3. Verses 4-5 describe the king's distress in cosmic terms, anticipating Psalm 18:7-15. his temple: see Psalms 2:6; 3:4.

18:7-15 The description of God's response to the king's cry for help begins with a theophany—that is, an appearance

- 16 From on high God reached down and grabbed me;
he took me out of all that water.
- 17 God saved me from my powerful enemy, saved me from my foes, who were too much for me.
- 18 They came at me on the very day of my distress, but the LORD was my support.
- 19 He brought me out to wide-open spaces;
he pulled me out safe because he is pleased with me.
- 20 The LORD rewarded me for my righteousness;
he restored me because my hands are clean, 21 because I have kept the LORD's ways.
I haven't acted wickedly against my God.
- 22 All his rules are right in front of me;
I haven't turned away from any of his laws.
- 23 I have lived with integrity before him;
I've kept myself from wrongdoing.
- 24 And so the LORD restored me for my righteousness because my hands are clean in his eyes.
- 25 You deal faithfully with the faithful;
you show integrity toward the one who has integrity.
- 26 You are pure toward the pure, but toward the crooked, you are tricky.
- 27 You are the one who saves people who suffer and brings down those with proud eyes.
- 28 You are the one who lights my lamp—
the LORD my God illumines my darkness.
- 29 With you I can charge into battle; with my God I can leap over a wall.
- 30 God! His way is perfect;
the LORD's word is tried and true.
He is a shield for all who take refuge in him.
- 31 Now really, who is divine except the LORD?
And who is a rock but our God?
- 32 Only God! The God who equips me with strength and makes my way perfect, 33 who makes my step as sure as the deer's, who lets me stand securely on the heights, 34 who trains my hands for war so my arms can bend a bronze bow.
- 35 You've given me the shield of your salvation;
your strong hand has supported me;
your help has made me great.

of God (see 18:9)—that uses typical language and images (see Pss 29:3-9; 50:2-3; 68:7-8; 77:17-18; 97:1-5; Exod 15:5-12; 19:14-16; Judg 5:4-5). The impressive cosmic phenomena—earthquake, clouds, lightning, thunder, wind—communicate God's universal power and claim on the whole world. God's anger (18:7, 15) derives from the reality of opposition to the king, the earthly agent of God's will.

18:16-19 The victory results from God's power, not the king's. all that water: Water often symbolizes mass disorder and threat (see Pss 32:6; 69:1-2). Just as the king's distress is described in cosmic terms, so is God's deliverance.

18:20-24 The king isn't bragging but rather stating that he is in the proper relationship to God (see Ps 72:1-7). Verse 22 is the central verse in this section, and it clearly

- 18:16 Ps 144:7
18:17 Ps 18:40,
Ps 34:4, Ps 34:19,
Ps 35:10,
Ps 38:19
18:24 1Sa 26:23
18:25 Ps 62:12;
Mt 5:7
18:26
Lv 26:23-24;
Prv 3:34
18:27 Ps 101:5;
Prv 6:17
18:28 1Ki 11:36;
Job 18:6,
Job 29:3;
Ps 132:17
18:29 Ps 118:10,
Ps 144:10
18:31 Dt 32:31,
Dt 32:39;
1Sa 2:2; Ps 86:8;
Is 45:5
18:32 Is 45:5
18:33 Dt 32:13;
Hab 3:19
18:35 Dt 33:27;
2Sa 22:36;
Ps 37:17;
Is 40:11, Is 41:10

suggests that God's guidance has been the reason for the king's righteousness (18:20, 24; see Deut 17:14-20, which says that the king is expected to read God's instruction every day). my hands are clean: See Psalms 24:4; 73:1.

18:25-30 The focus on God supports the conclusion that the king depends on God. deal faithfully: This is the verbal form of "faithful love" that occurs in Psalm 18:50, so this verse looks forward to the end of the psalm. integrity: The Hebrew root has the sense of "full, complete." The one who is fully focused on God will experience the fullness of God's presence (see Ps 15:2). shield . . . refuge: See Psalm 18:2.

18:31-50 These verses are the king's grateful response to the rescue described in Psalm 18:3, 16-19. The training and equipment for war (18:34, 39) should be understood as a function of the king's role to challenge those who oppose

18:39 Ps 18:32
 18:41 Jer 11:11
 19:42 2Ki 13:7;
 Ps 83:13; Is 10:6;
 Zec 10:5
 18:43 2Sa 3:1,
 2Sa 8:1; Is 55:5
 18:44 Ps 66:3
 18:45 Mi 7:17
 18:46 Ps 18:2
 18:50 Ps 89:20;
 Ps 144:10
 19:1 Gn 1:6;
 Ps 8:1; Ps 50:6;
 Ro 1:19-20
 19:2 Ps 74:16
 19:4 Ps 104:2;
 Ro 10:18

- <sup>36</sup>You've let me walk fast and safe, without even twisting an ankle.
- <sup>37</sup>I chased my enemies and caught them!
 I didn't come home until I finished them off.
- <sup>38</sup>I struck them down;
 they couldn't get up again;
 they fell under my feet.
- <sup>39</sup>You equipped me with strength for war;
 you brought my adversaries down underneath me.
- <sup>40</sup>You made my enemies turn tail from me;
 I destroyed my foes.
- <sup>41</sup>They cried for help,
 but there was no one to save them.
 They cried for help to the LORD,
 but he wouldn't answer them.
- <sup>42</sup>I crushed them like dust blown away by the wind;
 I threw them out like mud dumped in the streets.
- <sup>43</sup>You delivered me from struggles with many people;
 you appointed me the leader of many nations.
 Strangers come to serve me.
- <sup>44</sup>After hearing about me, they obey me;
 foreigners grovel before me.
- <sup>45</sup>Foreigners lose their nerve;
 they come trembling out of their fortresses.<sup>1</sup>
- <sup>46</sup>The LORD lives! Bless God, my rock!
 Let the God of my salvation be lifted high!
- <sup>47</sup>This is the God who avenges on my behalf, who subdues people before me, <sup>48</sup>who delivers me from my enemies.
 Yes, you lifted me high above my adversaries;
 you delivered me from violent people.
- <sup>49</sup>That's why I thank you, LORD, in the presence of the nations.
 That's why I sing praises to your name.
- <sup>50</sup>You are the one who gives great victories to your king, who shows faithful love to your anointed one—to David and to his descendants forever.

Psalm 19

For the music leader. A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup>Heaven is declaring God's glory;
 the sky is proclaiming his handiwork.
- <sup>2</sup>One day gushes the news to the next,
 and one night informs another what needs to be known.
- <sup>3</sup>Of course, there's no speech, no words—their voices can't be heard—<sup>4</sup>but their sound<sup>h</sup> extends throughout the world; their words reach the ends of the earth.

<sup>1</sup>Or prisons <sup>h</sup>LXX, Vulg, Sym; MT line or string

God's will and to "crush oppressors" (Ps 72:4; see Ps 21:8-12). The victory over cruelty is testimony to God's rule over peoples and nations (18:43), as well as to God's faithful love (18:50; see Ps 5:7; 2 Sam 7:15).

19:1-14 Because 19:1-6 focuses on creation and 19:7-14 focuses on instruction, Psalm 19 is often viewed as two separate psalms. But the two sections clearly belong together, and together they suggest that God's Instruction

(or Torah) is built into the very structure of the created order. Because it features God's Instruction, Psalm 19 is a torah psalm (see Pss 1; 119; see sidebar, "Torah [Instruction]: Psalms 15-24").

19:1-6 The creation itself testifies to God, silently but eloquently (see Pss 8:1, 9; 97:6). Many ancient cultures worshipped the sun (see 19:4-6) because of its life-giving light and heat.

God has made a tent in heaven for the sun.

<sup>5</sup>The sun is like a groom coming out of his honeymoon suite;
like a warrior, it thrills at running its course.

<sup>6</sup>It rises in one end of the sky; its circuit is complete at the other.
Nothing escapes its heat.

<sup>7</sup>The LORD's Instruction is perfect, reviving one's very being.<sup>1</sup>
The LORD's laws are faithful, making naive people wise.

<sup>8</sup>The LORD's regulations are right, gladdening the heart.
The LORD's commands are pure, giving light to the eyes.

<sup>9</sup>Honoring the LORD is correct, lasting forever.
The LORD's judgments are true.

All of these are righteous!

<sup>10</sup>They are more desirable than gold—than tons of pure gold!
They are sweeter than honey—even dripping off the honeycomb!

<sup>11</sup>No doubt about it:
your servant is enlightened by them;
there is great reward in keeping them.

<sup>12</sup>But can anyone know what they've accidentally done wrong?

Clear me of any unknown sin <sup>13</sup>and save your servant from willful sins.
Don't let them rule me.

Then I'll be completely blameless;
I'll be innocent of great wrongdoing.

<sup>14</sup>Let the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be pleasing to you, LORD, my rock and my redeemer.

Psalm 20

For the music leader. A psalm of David.

<sup>1</sup>I pray that the LORD answers you whenever you are in trouble.
Let the name of Jacob's God protect you.

<sup>2</sup>Let God send help to you from the sanctuary and support you from Zion.

<sup>1</sup>Or soul

19:7-14 In this section, what the sun does for the earth—energizing it and making life possible—will be claimed by the psalmist for God's Instruction. The various synonyms for Instruction look forward to Psalm 119.

19:7 perfect... being: "Perfect" has the sense of being complete or comprehensive. As nothing escapes the sun's heat (Ps 19:6), so God's Instruction touches everything, making life possible. wise: God intends wisdom that produces obedience (see Ps 2:10; Deut 4:6).

19:8 giving light: This is another way that Instruction functions like the sun, giving life (see Ps 13:3).

19:9 judgments... righteous!: This verse pairs these two concepts that are basic to life as God intends it (see Pss 5:8; 9:4; 96:13; 98:9).

19:11-14 The psalm has moved from the vastness of the heavens (Ps 19:1-6) to the individual worshipper, whose words (19:14) will be in harmony with creation's speech, because of God's life-giving Instruction (Ps 19:7-10) and God's willingness to forgive (19:12-13).

19:11 enlightened: The sense of this word fits the sun images, but the word can also mean "instructed," which fits with the focus on Instruction. reward: The psalm isn't commending a system of retribution, since the psalmist finally depends on God's forgiveness (Ps 19:12-13).

Rather, God's Instruction offers a path to a truly valuable and rewarding life.

19:13 blameless: The word doesn't mean sinless. It means "completion, wholeness," and is sometimes translated "integrity" (see Ps 18:25). Listening to God's Instruction and being forgiven by God, the psalmist will be fully in relationship to God.

19:14 redeemer: The term is grounded in the obligation of family members to help each other in times of trouble and loss (see Ruth 3:10-4:10). The cosmic God (Ps 19:1-6) is now pictured as a close relative who proves to be the ultimate helper.

20:1-9 Psalm 20 is a royal psalm that features God's anointed one (20:6), the king (20:8; see Pss 2; 18; 21). It may have been used in a public ceremony to offer prayer for the king as he prepared for battle (see Ps 18:34, 39; 1 Kgs 8:44-45). After the disappearance of the monarchy that came with the fall of Jerusalem and the Babylonian exile, Psalm 20 would have been heard as an affirmation of God's power to continue to provide for the life of God's people (see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2).

20:1-5 The people want God to help the king.

20:2 sanctuary... Zion: See Psalms 2:6; 18:6. Public

19:5 J1 2:16;

1Co 9:24;

Heb 12:1-2

19:6 Ps 113:3;

Ecc 1:5

19:7 Ps 23:3;

Ps 93:5, Ps 111:7;

Ps 119:130

19:8 Ps 12:6;

Ps 119:14

19:9 Ps 119:142

19:10 Ps 119:72;

Ps 119:103;

Ps 119:127;

Prv 8:10;

Prv 8:19

19:11 Prv 29:18

19:12 Ps 90:8

19:13 Nm 15:30;

Isa 25:39;

Ps 119:133;

Ro 6:12

19:14 Ex 6:6;

Ps 18:2;

Ps 104:34;

Is 43:14, Is 47:4

20:1 Ps 46:7;

Ps 46:11

20:4 Ps 21:2,
Ps 37:4,
Ps 145:19
20:7 2Ch 32:8;
Ps 33:17;
Prov 21:31;
Is 31:1
20:8 Mi 7:8
21:1 Ps 9:14,
Ps 28:7
21:3 2Sa 12:30;
1Ch 20:2
21:4 Ps 61:6,
Ps 91:16,
Ps 133:3
21:5 Ps 8:5,
Ps 45:3, Ps 96:6

- <sup>3</sup> Let God recall your many grain offerings;
let him savor your entirely burned offerings. Selah
- <sup>4</sup> Let God grant what is in your heart and fulfill all your plans.
- <sup>5</sup> Then we will rejoice that you've been helped.
We will fly our flags in the name of our God.
Let the LORD fulfill all your requests!
- <sup>6</sup> Now I know that the LORD saves his anointed one;
God answers his anointed one from his heavenly sanctuary, answering with mighty acts of salvation achieved by his strong hand.
- <sup>7</sup> Some people trust in chariots, others in horses;
but we praise the LORD's name.
- <sup>8</sup> They will collapse and fall, but we will stand up straight and strong.
- <sup>9</sup> LORD, save the king!
Let him answer us when we cry out!

Psalm 21

For the music leader. A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup> The king celebrates your strength, LORD;
look how happy he is about your saving help!
- <sup>2</sup> You've given him what his heart desires;
you haven't denied what his lips requested. Selah
- <sup>3</sup> You bring rich blessings right to him;
you put a crown of pure gold on his head.
- <sup>4</sup> He asked you for life, and you gave it to him, all right—long days, forever and always!
- <sup>5</sup> The king's reputation is great because of your saving help;
you've conferred on him glory and grandeur.
- <sup>6</sup> You grant him blessings forever;
you make him happy with the joy of your presence.
- <sup>7</sup> Because the king trusts the LORD, and because of the Most High's faithful love,
he will not stumble.
- <sup>8</sup> Your hand will catch all your enemies;
your strong hand will catch all who hate you.
- <sup>9</sup> When you appear, LORD, you will light them up like an oven on fire.

ceremonies would have taken place in and around the temple, which was viewed as God's earthly residence.

20:5 your requests: See Psalm 18:6 where the king requests help in a moment of crisis.

20:6-8 The people profess their faith that God saves and helps the king.

20:6 anointed one: See Psalms 2:2; 18:50. heavenly sanctuary: This phrase may refer to the temple (see Ps 20:2), which was viewed as the meeting point of heaven and earth. It also suggests that the people understood that God's presence was not limited to Zion (see Pss 29:9; 104:3; 150:1).

20:7 Deliverance will be God's achievement, not the king's (see Pss 18:25-30; 33:16-17; Prov 21:31). In short, king and people submit to God, rather than simply claiming that God is on their side.

20:9 save: the fourth occurrence of this Hebrew root in the psalm—see “helped” (Ps 20:5) and “saves” and “salvation” (Ps 20:6). Security is grounded in God's life-giving help (see Ps 13:5).

21:1-13 a royal psalm that features the earthly king. It celebrates the divine help that was requested for the king in Psalm 20 (see Pss 2; 18; 72; see sidebar, “God's Anointed One” at Ps 2).

21:1-7 The divine help prayed for in Psalm 20 has arrived.

21:1 your strength: This phrase, repeated in Psalm 21:13, indicates the king's submission to God (see Ps 20:7). your saving help: This phrase, repeated in Psalm 21:5 and also the keyword in Psalm 20 (see Ps 20:5, 6, 9), puts the focus on God.

21:3-6 See Psalm 72:5-11, 15-17.

21:7 trusts: The king was supposed to be the model Israelite (see Deut 17:14-20), including obedience and trust (see Pss 4:5; 9:10; 22:4-5; 31:6; 32:10). faithful love: See Psalms 5:7; 18:50. not stumble: See Psalm 15:5.

21:8-12 From the beginning of the Psalter, it's clear that God and the king's will are opposed (Ps 21:1-3); and it was the king's task to challenge oppressors (Ps 72:4). This section shows such a challenge (see Ps 18:31-50). The

- God will eat them whole in his anger;
fire will devour them.
- <sup>10</sup>You will destroy their offspring from the land;
destroy their descendants from the human race.
- <sup>11</sup>Because they sought to do you harm, they devised a wicked plan—but they will fail!
- <sup>12</sup>Because you will make them turn and run when you aim your bow straight at their faces!
- <sup>13</sup>Be exalted, LORD, in your strength!
We will sing and praise your power!

Psalm 22

For the music leader. According to the "Doe of Dawn." A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup>My God! My God, why have you left me all alone?
Why are you so far from saving me—so far from my anguished groans?
- <sup>2</sup>My God, I cry out during the day,
but you don't answer;
even at nighttime I don't stop.
- <sup>3</sup>You are the holy one, enthroned.
You are Israel's praise.
- <sup>4</sup>Our ancestors trusted you—they trusted you and you rescued them; <sup>5</sup>they cried out to you and they were saved;
they trusted you and they weren't ashamed.
- <sup>6</sup>But I'm just a worm, less than human;
insulted by one person, despised by another.
- <sup>7</sup>All who see me make fun of me—they gape, shaking their heads:
<sup>8</sup>"He committed himself to the LORD, so let God rescue him;
let God deliver him because God likes him so much."
- <sup>9</sup>But you are the one who pulled me from the womb, placing me safely at my mother's breasts.
- <sup>10</sup>I was thrown on you from birth;
you've been my God since I was in my mother's womb.
- <sup>11</sup>Please don't be far from me, because trouble is near and there's no one to help.

21:12 Ps 7:13
22:1 Job 3:24;
Mt 27:46;
Mk 15:34
22:2 Ps 42:3,
Ps 88:1; Lk 18:7
22:3 Lv 19:2;
2Ki 19:22;
Ps 99:9,
Ps 148:14; Is 6:3
22:4 Ps 78:53,
Ps 107:6
22:5 Ps 25:2,
Ps 71:1; Is 49:23
22:6 Job 25:6;
Is 41:14, Is 49:7,
Is 53:3
22:7 Ps 35:16,
Ps 109:25;
Mt 27:39;
Mk 15:29;
Lk 23:35
22:8 Ps 18:19,
Ps 91:14;
Mt 3:17,
Mt 27:43
22:9 Ps 71:6
22:10 Is 46:3,
Is 49:1
22:11 2Ki 14:26;
Ps 10:1, Ps 22:1,
Ps 71:12; Is 63:5

language is brutal, but it realistically describes the violence that victims experience when oppressors are challenged in an attempt to set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6). 21:10 This verse reflects the horrible violence of war, ancient and modern (see Ps 137:8-9; 2 Kgs 8:12; Isa 13:16; Hos 10:14; 13:6; Nah 3:10). For this reason, God's intent is for war to end (see Ps 46:8-9). 22:1-31 Psalm 22 is one of the longest and most intense of the prayers for help. Two sections of complaint and petition (22:1-11, 12-21a) are followed by two longer-than-usual sections of praise and affirmation of faith (22:21b-24, 25-31). The psalm offers an eloquent affirmation of God's presence in the midst of bitter suffering (22:21b-24). It also imagines a worldwide congregation in which even the dead will take part (22:27-30). Thus the psalm was an ideal resource for the Gospel writers as they told the story of Jesus, especially his suffering, death, and resurrection (see notes following; see sidebar, "The Psalms and Jesus" at Ps 22).

22:1-11 The word far in 22:1 and 11 marks the boundaries of this first section. The complaint is all the more bitter following the confidence expressed in Psalm 21.

22:1 My God... alone? The opening phrase is relatively rare, but does occur elsewhere (see Pss 63:1; 89:26; 102:24; 118:28; 140:6). These words became Jesus' cry from the cross in Matthew and Mark (Matt 27:46; Mark 15:34).

22:3-8 The praise and trust expressed in Psalm 22:3-5 emphasize the psalmist's failure to experience any rescue or help, so the complaint resumes in 22:6-8.

22:7 See Matthew 27:34; Mark 15:29.

22:8 See Matthew 27:43.

22:9-10 Again, as in Psalm 22:3-5, the affirmation draws attention to the current distress.

22:11 no one to help: The Psalms often affirm that God is a

22:12 Dt 32:14;
Ps 68:30;
Eze 39:18;
Am 4:1.
22:13 Job 16:10;
Ps 17:12;
Lam 2:16;
Lam 3:46.
22:15 Job 7:21;
Ps 104:29;
Jn 19:28.
22:16 Zec 12:10;
Mt 27:35;
Lk 23:33;
Jn 19:23;
Jn 20:25.
22:17 Lk 23:35.
22:18 Mt 27:35;
Mk 15:24;
Lk 23:34;
Jn 19:23-24.
22:19 Ps 18:1;
Ps 22:11;
Ps 38:22;
Ps 40:13, Ps 70:5.
22:20 Ps 35:17.
22:21 Nm 23:22;
2Ti 4:17.
22:22 Ps 35:18;
Ps 40:9;
Heb 2:12.
22:23 Ps 33:8;
Ps 50:23;
Ps 135:19-20.
22:24 Ps 13:1;
Ps 31:22; Heb 5:7.
22:25 Ps 35:18;
Ps 40:9, Ps 50:14;
Ps 61:8, Ps 66:13.

- 12 Many bulls surround me;
mighty bulls from Bashan encircle me.
- 13 They open their mouths at me like a lion ripping and roaring!
- 14 I'm poured out like water.
All my bones have fallen apart.
My heart is like wax; it melts inside me.
- 15 My strength is dried up like a piece of broken pottery.
My tongue sticks to the roof of my mouth;
you've set me down in the dirt of death.
- 16 Dogs surround me;
a pack of evil people circle me like a lion—oh, my poor hands and feet!
- 17 I can count all my bones!
Meanwhile, they just stare at me, watching me.
- 18 They divvy up my garments among themselves;
they cast lots for my clothes.
- 19 But you, LORD! Don't be far away!
You are my strength!
Come quick and help me!
- 20 Deliver me<sup>m</sup> from the sword.
Deliver my life from the power of the dog.
- 21 Save me from the mouth of the lion.
From the horns of the wild oxen you have answered me!
- 22 I will declare your name to my brothers and sisters;
I will praise you in the very center of the congregation!
- 23 All of you who revere the LORD—praise him!
All of you who are Jacob's descendants—honor him!
All of you who are all Israel's offspring—stand in awe of him!
- 24 Because he didn't despise or detest the suffering of the one who suffered—he didn't hide his face from me.
No, he listened when I cried out to him for help.
- 25 I offer praise in the great congregation because of you;
I will fulfill my promises in the presence of those who honor God.

<sup>m</sup>Or my soul; also in 22:29 helper (see Ps 10:14). The psalmist's petition in Psalm 22:11 is grounded in such trust, even though things look bleak in the moment.

22:12-21a The second section of complaint and petition is characterized by animal images (22:12-13, 16, 20-21; see Ps 10:9), and by frequent mention of parts of the body that are in distress (22:14-17). The threat is deadly (22:15), so the opponents can already claim the psalmist's belongings (22:18).

22:12 bulls from Bashan: Bashan was known for its moisture and lush pastureland, so the bulls from there would be particularly strong and menacing (see Amos 4:1).

22:15 See John 19:28.

22:18 See Matthew 27:35; Mark 15:24; Luke 23:34; John 19:23-24.

22:19-21a The final petition recalls the earlier one in Psalm 22:11 (see "far" and "help" in Ps 22:11, 19). The psalmist seems more confident, and the final appeal is followed immediately by the affirmation in Psalm 22:21b.

22:21b From... answered me!: There was no "answer" in Psalm 22:2, but now there is. It seems to come, however, in the midst of the threat, suggesting that the psalmist understands that God is present in the midst of suffering. In any case, Psalm 22:21b marks the shift to praise and affirmation (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6).

22:22-24 The psalmist becomes a witness to God's presence, inviting others to join the celebration. Verse 24 suggests that suffering hasn't separated the speaker from God, and perhaps even that God somehow shares the speaker's suffering (see Pss 9:12; 34:6; 35:10; 40:17; 140:12).

22:24 didn't hide his face: See Psalm 13:1.

22:25-31 The praise continues. The psalmist's expansive vision takes the form of a thanksgiving meal that includes not only sufferers like the psalmist (22:26) but also all the nations (22:27), the dead (22:29), and future generations (22:30).

22:25 ... promises: The fulfillment of promises was part of a thanksgiving sacrifice (see Pss 56:12; 61:8; 65:1; 66:13; 116:14, 17-18).

The Psalms and Jesus The Gospel writers couldn't tell the story of Jesus' suffering and death without using the Psalms. Like the psalmists in many of the prayers for help, Jesus was a righteous sufferer who was surrounded by enemies. The clearest link between the Psalms and Jesus is Psalm 22, one of the longest and most intense prayers for help. In the books of Matthew and Mark, Psalm 22:1 becomes Jesus' words from the cross (see Matt 27:46; Mark 15:43). Other experiences of the psalmist also fit with details of the passion stories (see Pss 22:6-8, 15; 69:21). While Jesus didn't want to suffer and die, he gave his life fully to God, as the suffering psalmists regularly do. In the book of Luke, Jesus' words from the cross come out of trust (see Ps 31:5; Luke 23:46).

Jesus' life and teaching also show links to the Psalms. Jesus' basic message announces God's reign (kingdom), and this message is also at the heart of the book of Psalms (see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God"). The Sermon on the Mount begins with the Beatitudes (see Matt 5:3-11), so both the Psalms and Jesus' teaching begin with a lesson about happiness (see Ps 1:1-2; sidebar, "True Happiness" at Ps 1). Jesus says that sufferers who pray for help are truly happy. These sufferers are afflicted and mistreated for doing what's right: They are humbled and shamed (compare Matt 5:5 with Ps 37:11) and are pure in heart (compare Matt 5:8 with Ps 24:4-6).

22:26 Ps 69:32
 22:27 Ps 2:8,
 Ps 86:9; Is 45:22
 22:28 Ps 47:7-8;
 Zec 14:9
 22:29 Ps 45:12,
 Ps 89:48;
 Is 26:19
 22:30 Ps 102:18
 22:31 Ps 78:6,
 Ps 102:18
 23:1 Ps 34:9-10,
 Ps 80:1; Is 40:11;
 Jn 10:11
 23:2 Ps 23:1,
 Ps 46:4,
 Eze 34:14;
 Jn 10:9; Rev 7:17
 23:3 Ps 5:8,
 Ps 19:7, Ps 31:3;
 Prv 8:20

- <sup>26</sup> Let all those who are suffering eat and be full!
 Let all who seek the LORD praise him!
 I pray your hearts live forever!
- <sup>27</sup> Every part of the earth will remember and come back to the LORD;
 every family among all the nations will worship you.
- <sup>28</sup> Because the right to rule belongs to the LORD, he rules all nations.
- <sup>29</sup> Indeed, all the earth's powerful will worship him;<sup>a</sup> all who are descending to the dust will kneel before him; my being also lives for him.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>30</sup> Future descendants will serve him; generations to come will be told about my Lord.
- <sup>31</sup> They will proclaim God's righteousness to those not yet born, telling them what God has done.

Psalm 23

A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup> The LORD is my shepherd.
 I lack nothing.
<sup>2</sup> He lets me rest in grassy meadows;
 he leads me to restful waters;
<sup>3</sup> he keeps me<sup>p</sup> alive.

<sup>a</sup>Correction; MT All the earth's powerful have eaten and will worship. <sup>b</sup>Correction with LXX; Heb uncertain
<sup>p</sup>Or my soul

22:26 eat: The worshippers ate portions of a thanksgiving sacrifice (see Lev 7:11-18; translation note n in Ps 22:29).

22:27 The expansive vision seems to point to Genesis 12:3 and God's will that blessing extend to "all the families of earth" (see Pss 47:9; 72:17).

22:28 The Psalms regularly affirm God's claim on the whole world (see Pss 2:4; 47; 93; 95-99; sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89).

22:29 all... dust: The psalmist imagines that even the dead, who normally would have no ability to relate to God (see Ps 6:5), will join the worldwide company of those who recognize God's rule and gather for worship (see Ps 49:15). The Gospel writers may have heard in this verse an expectation of Jesus' resurrection (see Matt 27:46).

22:31 God's righteousness: See Psalm 5:8.

23:1-6 This eloquent psalm of trust (see Ps 16) celebrates God's gift of and provision for life, both in times of crisis (23:4) and on a daily basis (23:1-3, 5-6). It is particularly appropriate following the bitter complaints of Psalm 22:1-21a, and it builds upon the praise and thanks offered in Psalm 22:21b-31 (for instance, both Pss 22 and 23 conclude with eating). Psalm 23:1-4 feature sheep and shepherd as the main images, while Psalm 23:5-6 speak of God as a generous host.

23:1 my shepherd: Psalm 22:28 proclaims God's rule; and rulers in the ancient world were known as shepherds, which basically means "feeders." Rulers were responsible to provide for their people, and this starts with food. Rulers, including Israel's kings, often failed to do so (see Ezek 34:1-10); and here God is proclaimed as the genuine and never-failing shepherd (see Pss 28:9; 74:1; 79:13; 80:1; 95:7; 100:3; Isa 40:11; Jer 31:10; Ezek 34:11-16). lack nothing: God will provide the food and other basic necessities that make life possible (see Deut 2:7; Neh 9:21).

23:2 grassy meadows... waters: For sheep, these locations mean food and water, the daily necessities of life.

23:3 keeps me alive: God wills life, and God makes it

23:4 Ps 3:6,
Ps 27:1; Is 43:2
23:5 Ps 16:5,
Ps 45:7; Ps 92:10,
Ps 104:15;
Lk 7:46
23:6 Ps 21:4,
Ps 27:4
24:1 Ex 9:29,
Ex 19:5,
Ps 50:12,
Ps 89:11;
1Co 10:26
24:2 Ps 104:5,
Ps 136:6
24:3 Ps 2:6,
Ps 15:1
24:4 Ps 73:1;
Mt 5:8

He guides me in proper paths for the sake of his good name.

<sup>4</sup>Even when I walk through the darkest valley,
I fear no danger because you are with me.
Your rod and your staff—they protect me.

<sup>5</sup>You set a table for me right in front of my enemies.
You bathe my head in oil;
my cup is so full it spills over!

<sup>6</sup>Yes, goodness and faithful love will pursue me all the days of my life, and I will live<sup>a</sup> in the LORD's house as long as I live.

Psalm 24

A psalm of David.

<sup>1</sup>The earth is the LORD's and everything in it, the world and its inhabitants too.

<sup>2</sup>Because God is the one who established it on the seas;
God set it firmly on the waters.

<sup>3</sup>Who can ascend the LORD's mountain?
Who can stand in his holy sanctuary?

<sup>4</sup>Only the one with clean hands and a pure heart;
the one who hasn't made false promises,
the one who hasn't sworn dishonestly.

<sup>a</sup>LXX; MT I will return

possible by daily provision (see John 10:1-18, especially v. 10). proper paths: For sheep, this is the difference between life and death. for... name: "Name" suggests nature or character; it is God's very nature to give the gift of life and the resources that sustain life.

23:4 darkest valley: The Hebrew word appears to be a combination of two shorter words that mean "shadow" and "death," and it is elsewhere related to distress and darkness (see Pss 44:19; 107:10; Job 3:5; 10:22; 16:16). you are with me: In this central line of the psalm, the speaker addresses God directly, emphasizing closeness with God. rod: a shepherd's tool for protecting the sheep, but also a symbol of royal rule (see Pss 23:1; 45:6; Gen 49:10).

23:5 Like the good shepherd, the generous host provides the daily necessities of life. table: food to eat. You... oil: a gesture of hospitality, communicating safety, shelter, and protection. This would be similar to the "proper paths" of Psalm 23:3. my cup... over!: There's plenty to drink.

23:6 goodness... love: Recalling Psalm 23:3, this pair of words describes the heart of God's character (see Ps 5:7; Exod 33:19; 34:6). The words "good" and "love" are paired in Psalms 100:5; 106:1; 107:1; 118:1. pursue me: It's usually the enemies who pursue or chase the psalmist (see Pss 7:5; 71:11; 109:16). Here the enemies are present; but they aren't a threat, and they may even be at the table (Ps 23:5). To be pursued or chased daily by God's "goodness and faithful love" is the best promise. I... live: A symbol of always being in God's presence.

24:1-10 Perhaps more than any other psalm, Psalm 24 clearly describes an original worship setting—more specifically, a worshippers' procession, involving entering into the temple area (24:3-6; see Ps 15) by bringing in the sacred chest that was viewed as the earthly throne of God, the heavenly king (24:7-10). In its present setting as a piece of literature, Psalm 24 joins Psalm 15 in portraying what it means to live under God's supreme claim and in line with God's Instruction (see sidebar, "Torah [Instruction]: Psalms 15–24").

24:1-2 As is appropriate for a worship setting, the psalm begins with a profession of faith in the God who claims the whole universe. It clearly suggests God's supreme power, which is communicated in Psalm 24:7-10 by the repeated references to God as king.

24:2 established... waters: The seas and waters symbolize the unruly forces (see Ps 18:6) that God formed into an ordered universe (see Pss 89:11; 102:25; 104:5-9; see sidebar, "God the Creator" at Ps 8).

24:3-6 Psalm 24:3 could have been spoken originally by an approaching worshipper, in which case 24:4-6 would have been the priestly response. Verses 4-6 aren't requirements, but rather they describe those who are willing to submit to God's claim and to be shaped by God's Instruction (see Ps 15:2-5).

24:3 See the similar question in Psalm 15:1.

24:4 clean hands: perhaps a reference to a ceremonial washing, but more likely a symbol of faithful behaviors like those mentioned later in 24:4 and in Psalm 15:2-5 (see Pss 18:20, 24; 73:13). pure heart: describes those who honor God and God's will (see Ps 73:1; Matt 5:8). the one... false promises: This formulation points to Exodus 20:7, the third of the Ten Commandments. Breaking a promise to God would mean treating God's name as something trivial or unimportant. the one... sworn dishonestly: The allusion here is to Exodus 20:16, the ninth of the Ten Commandments, which prohibits false testimony against neighbors.

- 5 That kind of person receives blessings from the LORD and righteousness from the God who saves.
- 6 And that's how things are with the generation that seeks him—that seeks the face of Jacob's God.<sup>f</sup>
- 7 Mighty gates: lift up your heads!
Ancient doors: rise up high!
So the glorious king can enter!
- 8 Who is this glorious king?
The LORD—strong and powerful!
The LORD—powerful in battle!
- 9 Mighty gates: lift up your heads!
Ancient doors: rise up high!
So the glorious king can enter!
- 10 Who is this glorious king?
The LORD of heavenly forces—
he is the glorious king!

Selah

Selah

24:5 Ps 115:13
24:6 Ps 27:8,
Ps 105:4
24:7
Ps 118:19-20;
Is 26:2; 1Co 2:8
24:8 Ex 15:3
24:10 Ex 15:18;
2Ch 20:6;
Neh 9:6; Ps 2:6,
Ps 10:16
25:1 Ps 86:4,
Ps 143:8
25:4 Ex 33:13;
Ps 5:8; Ps 27:11,
Ps 86:11,
Ps 143:8
25:5 Ps 43:3

Psalm 25<sup>a</sup>

Of David.

- 1 I offer my life<sup>e</sup> to you, LORD.
- 2 My God, I trust you.
Please don't let me be put to shame!
Don't let my enemies rejoice over me!
- 3 For that matter, don't let anyone who hopes in you be put to shame;
instead, let those who are treacherous without excuse be put to shame.
- 4 Make your ways known to me, LORD; teach me your paths.
- 5 Lead me in your truth—teach it to me—because you are the God who saves me.
- 6 I put my hope in you all day long.

<sup>a</sup>LXX, Syr; MT seek your face, Jacob <sup>b</sup>Ps 25 is an alphabetic acrostic poem; see the note at Pss 9–10. <sup>c</sup>Or soul; also in 25:13, 20 24:5 blessings . . . righteousness: Indicators of being in right relationship with God.

24:6 seeks . . . God: See Psalms 11:7; 27:8. The temple would have been understood to offer a direct experience of God's presence; and later, the study of and obedience to God's Instruction would also be understood to offer a direct experience of God (see Ps 1:3; see sidebar, "Book V" at Ps 107). 24:7-10 The gates and doors of the temple come to life in this processional exchange that probably involved the entrance of the sacred chest, symbolizing God's throne and God's presence, into the temple.

24:7 the glorious king: Repeated four times in this section, this phrase clearly affirms the divine power suggested in Psalm 24:1-2 (see Ps 5:2).

24:8 powerful in battle: Because of constant opposition, God fights and also enables the earthly king to resist oppression (see Pss 2:2-3, 8-11; 18:31-50; 21:8-12). But the battle here may be God's defeat of chaos (Ps 24:2), resulting in an ordered world (see Ps 24:1-2). Creation stories in other ancient cultures involved the gods defeating a being that embodied chaos.

24:10 Lord of heavenly forces: Translated in the King James Version as "Lord of hosts;" this phrase clearly refers to armies, and the heavenly forces may be the heavenly beings that were at God's command (see Ps 29:1).

25:1-22 Perhaps because of the acrostic pattern (see translation note s), the structure of Psalm 25 is irregular. Even so, it contains the typical elements of a prayer for help—sections of complaint and petition (25:2b-3, 4-7, 11, 16-18, 19-22), along with sections of praise and trust (25:8-10, 12-15).

25:1 offer my life: The verb here is sometimes used for making a sacrifice. Here, in effect, the psalmist offers her or his whole self to God (see Rom 12:1-2). See Psalms 86:4; 143:8 where trust also occurs in the context of the psalmist offering his or her life to God.

25:2 trust: See Psalm 4:5. put to shame: The first petition (Ps 25:2b-3) features a threefold occurrence of this phrase, which occurs again in the final petition (Ps 25:20). The enemies, who are present here as always in the prayers for help, constantly seek to exploit the psalmists (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

25:4-7 The enemies are absent from this second petition, and the focus is on the speaker and God.

25:4-5 teach: To trust God means to want to do God's will, so the speaker prays to be taught (see Ps 25:9, 12). hope: A

25:7 Job 13:26,
Job 20:11;
Ps 51:1;
Ps 109:26;
Ps 119:124

25:8 Ps 32:8,
Ps 92:15,
Ps 119:68;
Is 26:7

25:9 Ps 23:3,
Ps 27:11

25:10 Ps 103:18

25:11 Ex 34:9;
Ps 31:3, Ps 79:9

25:14 Prov 3:32;
Mt 13:11;
Jn 7:17, Jn 15:15

25:15
2Ch 20:12;
Ps 31:4, Ps 121:1,
Ps 123:2,
Ps 141:8

25:17 1 Ki 1:29;
Ps 34:6, Ps 34:17,
Ps 40:12,
Ps 107:6

25:18 2Sa 16:12

25:19 Ps 3:1,

Ps 35:19,
Ps 38:19

25:22 Ps 130:8

† 6 LORD, remember your compassion and faithful love—they are forever!

† 7 But don't remember the sins of my youth or my wrongdoing.
Remember me only according to your faithful love for the sake of your goodness, LORD.

‡ 8 The LORD is good and does the right thing;
he teaches sinners which way they should go.

• 9 God guides the weak to justice, teaching them his way.

▷ 10 All the LORD's paths are loving and faithful for those who keep his covenant and laws.

↳ 11 Please, for the sake of your good name, LORD, forgive my sins, which are many!

◻ 12 Where are the ones who honor the LORD?
God will teach them which path to take.

↳ 13 They will live a good life, and their descendants will possess the land.

◻ 14 The LORD counsels those who honor him;
he makes his covenant known to them.

↳ 15 My eyes are always looking to the LORD because he will free my feet from the net.

◻ 16 Turn to me, God, and have mercy on me because I'm alone and suffering.

↳ 17 My heart's troubles keep getting bigger—set me free from my distress!

• 18 Look at my suffering and trouble—forgive all my sins!

↳ 19 Look at how many enemies I have and how violently they hate me!

↳ 20 Please protect my life! Deliver me!
Don't let me be put to shame because I take refuge in you.

† 21 Let integrity and virtue guard me because I hope in you.

• 22 Please, God, save Israel from all its troubles!

keyword in the psalm (see Ps 25:3, 21). Trust and hope are inseparable (see Ps 27:14; Heb 11:1).

25:6 remember. The word occurs three times in Psalm 25:6-7. The psalmist is honest about sinfulness (Ps 25:7, 11, 18), but trusts that God will remember God's forgiving nature that is described in the rest of verse 6 and in verse 7. your compassion: This is a basic quality of God (see Exod 34:6). The Hebrew noun means a "womb," so God's compassion suggests God's motherly love. faithful love: Another basic quality of God (see Pss 25:7, 10; 5:7; Exod 34:6; sidebar, "God's Faithful Love" at Ps 7).

25:7 goodness: As in Psalm 25:6, another basic quality of God is mentioned (see Ps 23:6).

25:9 justice: a summary of God's typical purpose (see Ps 9:4).

25:10 loving and faithful: "Loving" repeats the word translated "faithful love" in Psalm 25:6-7. Faithfulness is yet another basic quality of God, often paired with "faithful love," as here (see Exod 34:6). who keep his covenant: It may seem here that God's love is restricted to those who obey (see also Ps 25:14), but the speaker hasn't been fully obedient, and so is finally dependent on God's kind and loving willingness to forgive (see Ps 25:7, 11, 18).

25:11 This third section of petition is the central line of the psalm, featuring again God's forgiveness.

25:12-15 Like Psalm 25:8-10, this is a section of affirmation. Note that the two sections of affirmation surround the central petition.

25:16-18 As in the second and third sections of petition (Ps 25:4-7, 11), the psalmist's sinfulness is clearly in view.

25:19-22 As in the first section of petition (Ps 25:2b-3), the enemies are present. The repetition of put to shame (25:20) and hope (25:21) also recall the beginning of the psalm.

25:20 refuge: See Psalm 2:12.

25:21 integrity: See Psalm 18:25.

25:22 This verse stands outside the acrostic structure, and it may have been added to give a clearly communal conclusion to a psalm that has featured mainly the voice of an individual.

Psalm 26Of David.*

- <sup>1</sup> Establish justice for me, LORD, because I have walked with integrity.
I've trusted the LORD without wavering.
- <sup>2</sup> Examine me, LORD; put me to the test!
Purify<sup>a</sup> my mind<sup>b</sup> and my heart.
- <sup>3</sup> Because your faithful love is right in front of me—
I walk in your truth!
- <sup>4</sup> I don't spend time with people up to no good;
I don't keep company with liars.
- <sup>5</sup> I detest the company of evildoers, and I don't sit with wicked people.
- <sup>6</sup> I wash my hands—they are innocent!
I walk all around your altar, LORD, <sup>7</sup> proclaiming out loud my thanks, declaring all your wonderful deeds!
- <sup>8</sup> I love the beauty<sup>c</sup> of your house, LORD;
I love the place where your glory resides.
- <sup>9</sup> Don't gather me<sup>d</sup> up with the sinners, taking my life along with violent people
- <sup>10</sup> in whose hands are evil schemes, whose strong hands are full of bribes.
- <sup>11</sup> But me? I walk with integrity.
Save me! Have mercy on me!
- <sup>12</sup> My feet now stand on level ground.
I will bless the LORD in the great congregation.

Psalm 27Of David.*

- <sup>1</sup> The LORD is my light and my salvation.
Should I fear anyone?

<sup>a</sup>LXX or investigate <sup>b</sup>Or kidneys <sup>c</sup>LXX, MT the dwelling of your house <sup>d</sup>Or my soul

26:1-12 As in Psalms 7 and 17, the speaker seems to have been falsely accused, and so prays for help (26:1-2, 9-10) at the same time that she or he proclaims innocence and loyalty to God (26:3-8, 11). An expression of trust concludes the psalm (26:12).

26:1 Establish justice: See Psalms 7:8; 9:4, 10:18; 17:1-2. As the rest of the verse indicates, the request for God to set things right is grounded in trust (see Ps 4:5). walked with integrity: This claim, repeated in Psalm 26:11, indicates right relationship with God (see Pss 7:8; 18:25; 19:13; 25:21).

26:2 Examine . . . test!: See Psalms 7:9; 11:4-5; 17:3; 139:23.

26:3-8 For similar declarations of innocence, see Psalms 7:3-5; 17:4-5.

26:3 faithful love: See Psalm 5:7.

26:4-5 Avoiding the opponents of God is a way of demonstrating loyalty to God and to God's will (see Ps 1:1-2).

26:6 wash my hands: See Psalms 24:4; 73:13. innocent: Not a claim of sinlessness, but of innocence in a particular case. walk . . . altar: Priests were required to wash before going to the altar (see Exod 30:17-21). A priest may have written the psalm, but the community certainly would have used it.

26:7-8 Having avoided God's opponents (Ps 26:4-5), the psalmist comes gratefully to God's house, the temple (see Ps 5:7), along with God's people (see Ps 26:12).

26:9 sinners: The psalmist here again and in Psalm 26:10 emphasizes avoidance of the opponents of God. (See Ps 1:1.)

26:10 bribes: An unfair and illegal way to victimize others (see Ps 15:5; Exod 23:8; Isa 1:23; Mic 3:11).

26:11 Save me!: See Psalm 13:5.

26:12 level ground: Symbolizes the security that comes when things are set right. The Hebrew root is associated elsewhere with right behavior (see Pss 7:10; 25:8). bless: See Psalm 16:7. The prayers for help typically end with expressions of assurance and/or praise (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6).

27:1-14 Psalm 27 contains typical elements of a prayer for help—affirmation of trust or praise (27:1-6, 13-14), along with a section of complaint and petition (27:7-12). It is unusual that an extended expression of trust comes first, but the result is that the psalmist's complaints and pleas are surrounded by sections of assurance.

27:1-6 That the opening statement of confidence comes before the prayer in Psalm 27:7-12 suggests that faith doesn't prevent difficulty or opposition. The psalmists constantly affirm their trust in the midst of widespread opposition.

27:1 my light: God's presence or "face" (Ps 27:8-9) is often

26:1 Ps 7:8;
Prv 20:7
26:2 Ps 7:9,
Ps 17:3, Ps 66:10,
Ps 139:23-24
26:3 2Ki 20:3;
Ps 86:11; 2Jn 1:4
26:4 Ps 1:1,
Ps 28:3
26:5 Ps 31:6,
Ps 139:21-22
26:6 Ex 30:19;
Dt 21:6; Ps 43:4,
Ps 73:13;
Mt 27:24
26:7 Ps 9:1
26:8 1Ch 29:3;
Ps 27:4, Ps
84:1-2
26:9 Ps 28:3,
Ps 55:23,
Ps 139:19
26:10 Ex 23:8
26:12 Ps 22:22,
Ps 22:25,
Ps 27:11, Ps 40:2,
Ps 107:32
27:1 Ex 15:2;
Ps 118:6,
Ps 118:14;
Is 12:2; Mt 7:8

27:2 Ps 14:4
 27:3 Ps 3:6
 27:4 Ps 23:6,
 Ps 26:8, Ps 63:2,
 Ps 65:4, Ps 84:2
 27:7 Ps 4:1
 27:8 Ps 24:6,
 Ps 105:4
 27:9 Ps 40:17,
 Ps 69:17,
 Ps 71:18,
 Ps 102:2,
 Ps 143:7
 27:10 Is 40:11,
 Is 49:15
 27:11 Ps 5:8,
 Ps 25:4-5,
 Ps 86:11,
 Ps 143:10
 27:12 Dt 19:16;
 Ps 35:11;
 Mt 26:59-60;
 Ac 9:1
 27:13 Job 28:13,
 Ps 52:5, Ps 116:9,
 Ps 142:5,
 Is 38:11
 27:14 Ps 31:24,
 Ps 62:5, Ps 130:5,
 Is 8:17
 28:1 Ps 18:2,
 Ps 35:22,
 Ps 83:1, Ps 88:4,
 Ps 143:7

The LORD is a fortress protecting my life.

Should I be frightened of anything?

- <sup>2</sup>When evildoers come at me trying to eat me up—it's they, my foes and my enemies, who stumble and fall!
- <sup>3</sup>If an army camps against me, my heart won't be afraid.
 If war comes up against me, I will continue to trust in this:
- <sup>4</sup>I have asked one thing from the LORD—it's all I seek:
 to live in the LORD's house all the days of my life, seeing the LORD's beauty and constantly adoring his temple.
- <sup>5</sup>Because he will shelter me in his own dwelling during troubling times;
 he will hide me in a secret place in his own tent;
 he will set me up high, safe on a rock.
- <sup>6</sup>Now my head is higher than the enemies surrounding me, and I will offer sacrifices in God's tent—sacrifices with shouts of joy!
 I will sing and praise the LORD.
- <sup>7</sup>LORD, listen to my voice when I cry out—have mercy on me and answer me!
- <sup>8</sup>Come, my heart says, seek God's face.<sup>7</sup> LORD, I do seek your face!
- <sup>9</sup>Please don't hide it from me!
 Don't push your servant aside angrily—
 you have been my help!
 God who saves me, don't neglect me!
 Don't leave me all alone!
- <sup>10</sup>Even if my father and mother left me all alone, the LORD would take me in.
- <sup>11</sup>LORD, teach me your way;
 because of my opponents, lead me on a good path.
- <sup>12</sup>Don't give me over to the desires of my enemies, because false witnesses and violent accusers have taken their stand against me.
- <sup>13</sup>But I have sure faith that I will experience the LORD's goodness in the land of the living!
- <sup>14</sup>Hope in the LORD!
 Be strong! Let your heart take courage!
 Hope in the LORD!

Psalm 28

Of David.

- <sup>1</sup>I cry out to you, LORD.
 You are my rock; don't refuse to hear me.
 If you won't talk to me,

<sup>7</sup>Correction; MT My heart says to/of you . . . see my face!

associated with light (see Ps 4:6). Should I fear anyone? Faith gets rid of fear (see Pss 23:6; 118:6; Mark 5:36).

27:3 an army: See Psalm 3:6.

27:4-6 It is possible that harassed persons sought refuge or asylum in the temple (see Pss 5:7; 17:15), but the language is probably metaphorical (see Pss 26:6-8; 84:1-4, 10). In any case, the psalmist finds security in God's presence (see Pss 23:6).

27:7-12 As always, the requests for help are made in the presence of powerful opposition (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

27:7 See Psalm 4:1.

27:8 God's face . . . your face: See Psalms 11:7; 24:6.

27:9 don't hide it: See Psalm 13:1. Don't . . . alone!: See Psalm 22:1.

27:10 Especially in the ancient world, being abandoned by family would put a person at great risk.

27:11 teach . . . path: See Psalm 25:4-5, 9, 12.

27:12 false witnesses . . . accusers: The psalmists are often the victims of deceitful and destructive speech (see Pss 4:2-5; 7; 17; 26).

27:13-14 The final statement of confidence comes with an invitation (27:14). Faith and hope are inseparable. the LORD's goodness: See Psalms 23:6; 25:7. Hope . . . Hope: See Psalms 5:3; 25:3, 5, 21.

28:1-9 Unlike Psalm 27, Psalm 28 contains the

- I'll be just like those going down to the pit.
- <sup>2</sup> Listen to my request for mercy when I cry out to you, when I lift up my hands to your holy inner sanctuary.
- <sup>3</sup> Don't drag me off with the wicked and those who do evil;
the type who talk nice to their friends while evil thoughts are in their hearts!
- <sup>4</sup> Pay them back for what they've done!
Pay them back for their evil deeds!
Pay them back for their handiwork!
Give back to them exactly what they deserve!
- <sup>5</sup> Because they have no regard for what the LORD has done, no regard for his handiwork,
God will tear them down and never rebuild!
- <sup>6</sup> Bless the LORD because he has listened to my request for mercy!
- <sup>7</sup> The LORD is my strength and my shield.
My heart trusts him.
I was helped, my heart rejoiced, and I thank him with my song.
- <sup>8</sup> The LORD is his people's strength;
he is a fortress of protection for his anointed one.
- <sup>9</sup> Save your people, God!
Bless your possession!
Shepherd them and carry them for all time!

28:2 Ps 5:7;
Ps 134:2;
Ps 141:2;
Lam 2:19;
1Ti 2:8

28:4 Ps 62:12;
Lam 3:64;
2Ti 4:14;
Rev 18:6;
Rev 22:12

28:5 Is 5:12

28:7 Ps 3:3;
Ps 13:5; Ps 16:9;
Ps 40:3; Ps 69:30

28:8 Ex 15:2;
Ps 20:6; Ps 27:1

28:9 Dt 9:29;
Ps 78:71; Ps 80:1;
Is 40:11; Is 63:9

29:1 1Ch 16:28;
Ps 96:7

Psalm 29

A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup> You, divine beings! Give to the LORD—give to the LORD glory and power!
- <sup>2</sup> Give to the LORD the glory due his name!
Bow down to the LORD in holy splendor!

typical elements of a prayer for help in the usual order—complaint and petition (28:1-5) followed by a section of praise and affirmation of faith (28:6-8). It seems that the request for mercy (28:2) has been answered, in which case Psalm 28 might be read as a psalm of thanks (28:6); but this isn't entirely clear, since the prayers for help regularly place complaint/petition and praise/affirmation together (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6). In any case, and less typically, the psalmist returns to petition in 28:9.

28:1 If . . . me: God's silence is often an issue (see Pss 35:22; 83:1; 109:1). the pit: God's continuing silence will mean death (see Pss 16:10; 30:3, 9).

28:2 I . . . hands: The posture of prayer (see Pss 63:4; 88:9; 141:2), offered perhaps facing the inner portion of the temple that contained the sacred chest (see Ps 134:2).

28:3-5 The psalmist suggests his or her innocence (see Pss 7:3-5; 17:3-5) and seems to be a victim of deceitful and malicious speech (see Ps 4:2-5). The request concerning the wicked in 28:4 isn't simply a matter of payback but rather a request for God to set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6; sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). their handiwork . . . his handiwork: By focusing on what they have done rather than on God's deeds, the wicked invite negative consequences (see Ps 1:6).

28:6 Bless: See Psalms 16:7; 26:12.

28:7 shield: See Psalm 3:3. trusts: See Psalm 4:5. heart rejoiced: Note the contrast between the psalmist's trusting and joyful heart and the "hearts" of "the wicked" that are filled with evil (Ps 28:3).

28:8 people's strength: What the psalmist claimed for him or herself (Ps 28:7), he or she now claims for the whole people. anointed one: See Psalm 2:2; the king also shares in God's strength.

28:9 Some psalms that focus primarily on an individual have a communal ending (see Pss 3:8; 5:11-12; 14:7; 25:22; 31:23-24; 51:18-19; 130:7-8). The appearance of further petition after the trust expressed in Psalm 28:6-8 suggests that God's people will always need to pray for help (see Ps 118:25).

29:1-11 Because it clearly describes God as enthroned and refers to God as "king" (29:10), Psalm 29 is usually included among the enthronement psalms, which are songs of praise that proclaim God rules or is king (see Pss 47; 93; 95-99; see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89). This makes sense, even though Psalm 29 is unique within this grouping.

29:1-2 Songs of praise typically include invitations to praise that are usually addressed to a human audience (cf. 29:1-2 with Ps 96:7-8). Psalm 29 has in view polytheism (belief in many gods; see Pss 58:1; 82:1) and/or the concept of a divine council that attends God (see Pss 24:10; 89:7; 103:20-21; 148:1-2; 1 Kgs 22:19). glory and power: Traits of kingship (see Pss 24:7-10; 96:3, 7-8), so looking forward to Psalm 29:9-10. glory due his name: "Glory" is due, because

29:3 Job 37:4-5;
Ps 18:13,
Ps 104:7
29:4 Ps 68:33
29:5 Jgs 9:15;
Ps 104:16;
Is 2:13, Is 14:8
29:6 Nm 23:22;
Dt 3:9; Ps 114:4,
Ps 114:6
29:8 Nm 13:26
29:9 Job 39:1
29:10 Gn 6:17;
Ps 10:16, Ps 93:1
30:1 Dt 20:5;
Ps 25:2, Ps 35:19,
Ps 35:24
30:2 Ps 6:2,
Ps 88:13,
Ps 103:3
30:3 1Sa 2:6;
Ps 16:10, Ps 28:1,
Ps 56:13,
Ps 86:13
30:4 Ps 97:12
30:5 Ps 103:9,
Ps 126:5;
Is 54:7-8;
2Co 4:17

- <sup>3</sup>The LORD's voice is over the waters;
the glorious God thunders;
the LORD is over the mighty waters.
- <sup>4</sup>The LORD's voice is strong;
the LORD's voice is majestic.
- <sup>5</sup>The LORD's voice breaks cedar trees—
yes, the LORD shatters the cedars of Lebanon.
- <sup>6</sup>He makes Lebanon jump around like a young bull, makes Sirion jump around like a young wild ox.
- <sup>7</sup>The LORD's voice unleashes fiery flames; <sup>a</sup>the LORD's voice shakes the wilderness—yes, the LORD shakes the wilderness of Kadesh.
- <sup>9</sup>The LORD's voice convulses the oaks, strips the forests bare,
but in his temple everyone shouts, "Glory!"
- <sup>10</sup>The LORD sits enthroned over the floodwaters;
the LORD sits enthroned—king forever!
- <sup>11</sup>Let the LORD give strength to his people!
Let the LORD bless his people with peace!

Psalm 30

A psalm. A song for the temple dedication. Of David.

- <sup>1</sup>I exalt you, LORD, because you pulled me up;
you didn't let my enemies celebrate over me.
- <sup>2</sup>LORD, my God, I cried out to you for help, and you healed me.
- <sup>3</sup>LORD, you brought me<sup>a</sup> up from the grave,<sup>a</sup> brought me back to life from among those going down to the pit.
- <sup>4</sup>You who are faithful to the LORD,
sing praises to him;
give thanks to his holy name!
- <sup>5</sup>His anger lasts for only a second,
but his favor lasts a lifetime.

<sup>a</sup>Or my soul <sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol

God is king (see "Glory!" in Ps 29:9). holy splendor: Splendor is also an attribute of kingship, and "holy splendor" may suggest God's unique power.

29:3-9 This section is a description of a powerful storm moving over the Mediterranean Sea onto the coast, with thunder (29:3-4), wind (29:5-6, 8-9), and lightning (29:7). The LORD's voice: In the thunder, the poet detects God's voice, not the work of Baal, who was the Canaanite god of the storm. Some suggest Psalm 29 was a Canaanite hymn that was reworked to be a song of praise to the Lord of Israel. The LORD's voice occurs seven times. Because seven is the number of wholeness, the repetition suggests the totality of God's power and claim on the world. in his temple: The phrase probably refers to the Lord's heavenly home (see Ps 20:6) and to the earthly temple where human worshippers gathered (see Ps 150:1, where the same ambiguity is present).

29:10 floodwaters: The unruly waters (see Ps 18:16) that God has ordered into a universe (see Pss 24:2; 93:3-4; 104:3), over which God now rules. king forever: See Psalm 5:2.

29:11 The responsibility of a king was to provide for his people (see Ps 23:1). strength: See Psalm 28:8. peace: See Psalm 4:8. In Psalm 72, the earthly king is God's agent for achieving "shalom" (see Ps 72:3, 7), which means complete well-being that results from establishing the justice and righteousness that God wills (see Pss 96:13; 98:9).

30:1-12 Psalm 30 gives thanks for the rescue described in 30:1-3, and described again as a sort of flashback in 30:6-10. The grateful celebration is the subject of 30:4-5, 11-12. Psalm 30 is one of a few psalms linked in its title to a specific occasion. A prayer of thanks would have been appropriate for the rededication of the temple in 515 BCE after it was rebuilt following the exile (see Ezra 6:16), or in 165 BCE after it was recovered following the defilement by Antiochus IV (see 2 Macc 10:7), or for the ongoing Festival of Dedication (Hanukkah), which originated in the 2nd century BCE and with which Psalm 30 is associated in rabbinic sources. Psalm 30, however, doesn't seem to have originated in conjunction with such occasions.

30:1-3 A summary of the psalmist's experience of deliverance.

30:2 healed me: The psalmist may have been healed from a life-threatening illness, but the language could be metaphorical (see Ps 6:2).

30:3 grave . . . pit: See Psalms 30:9; 6:5; 16:10; 28:1.

30:4 As is sometimes the case in the prayers for help, the psalmist invites others to share in the grateful celebration

Weeping may stay all night, but by morning, joy!

- <sup>6</sup>When I was comfortable, I said, "I will never stumble."
<sup>7</sup>Because it pleased you, LORD, you made me a strong mountain.
But then you hid your presence.
I was terrified.
<sup>8</sup>I cried out to you, LORD.
I begged my Lord for mercy:
<sup>9</sup>"What is to be gained by my spilled blood, by my going down into the pit?
Does dust thank you?
Does it proclaim your faithfulness?
<sup>10</sup>LORD, listen and have mercy on me!
LORD, be my helper!"
<sup>11</sup>You changed my mourning into dancing.
You took off my funeral clothes and dressed me up in joy <sup>12</sup>so that my whole being might sing praises to you and never stop.
LORD, my God, I will give thanks to you forever.

30:6 Job 29:18;
Ps 10:6
30:7 Dt 31:17;
Ps 5:12,
Ps 104:29,
Ps 143:7
30:8 Ps 142:1
30:9 Ps 6:5,
Ps 28:1, 18; 38:18
30:10 Ps 4:1,
Ps 17:1
30:11 Ps 149:3;
Jer 31:4,
Jer 31:13
30:12 Ps 16:9,
Ps 44:8
31:1 Ps 25:2,
Ps 71:1-2,
Ps 143:1
31:2 Ps 18:2,
Ps 71:2, Ps 86:1
31:3 Ps 18:2,
Ps 23:3
31:5 Dt 32:4;
Lk 23:46;
Ac 7:59
31:6 Dt 32:21;
Ps 26:5, Jer 10:8;
Jon 2:8
31:7 Ps 1:6,
Ps 9:2, Ps 9:13,
Ps 10:14,
Ps 31:21
31:8 Dt 32:30

Psalms 31

For the music leader. A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup>I take refuge in you, LORD.
Please never let me be put to shame.
Rescue me by your righteousness!
<sup>2</sup>Listen closely to me!
Deliver me quickly;
be a rock that protects me;
be a strong fortress that saves me!
<sup>3</sup>You are definitely my rock and my fortress.
Guide me and lead me for the sake of your good name!
<sup>4</sup>Get me out of this net that's been set for me because you are my protective fortress.
<sup>5</sup>I entrust my spirit into your hands;
you, LORD, God of faithfulness—you have saved me.
<sup>6</sup>I hate those who embrace what is completely worthless.
I myself trust the LORD.
<sup>7</sup>I rejoice and celebrate in your faithful love because you saw my suffering—you were intimately acquainted with my deep distress.
<sup>8</sup>You didn't hand me over to the enemy, but set my feet in wide-open spaces.

(see Pss 5:11; 22:23). sing praises... give thanks: These verbs occur again in Psalm 30:12, so the psalmist models what she or he invites others to do.

30:6-10 This flashback gives further details of the rescue summarized in Psalm 30:1-3. The psalmist moves from self-reliance (Ps 30:6) to dependence upon God (Ps 30:10). 30:9 See Psalms 6:5; 88:10-12; 115:17.

30:10 my helper. See Psalms 10:14; 22:11.

30:11-12 In contrast to the false confidence of Psalm 30:6, the psalmist is now committed to lifelong praise and never-ending thankfulness as a way of life. dancing: an expression of grateful praise (see Pss 149:3; 150:4; Exod 15:20; cf. Lam 5:15).

31:1-24 Psalm 31 is a prayer for help with the typical elements: complaint and petition (31:1b-2, 3b-4, 9-13, 15b-18) along with affirmations of trust and praise (31:1a, 3a, 5-8, 14-15a, 19-24). Psalm 31 is unique because the expressions of praise/trust begin, end, and pervade the psalm, giving it a character similar to the psalms of trust.

31:1a refuge: See Psalms 31:19; 2:12.

31:1b-2 The petitions contain several synonyms for "refuge" (Ps 31:1a). put to shame: See Psalms 31:17; 25:2, 20.

31:3b See Psalm 23:3. good name!: Name suggests character, and prepares for the psalmist's mention of God's traits in Psalm 31:5-8.

31:5 I... hands: The psalmist entrusts life fully to God (see Ps 31:15). In the Gospel of Luke, these become Jesus' words from the cross (see Luke 23:46; see sidebar, "The Psalms and Jesus" at Ps 22). faithfulness: a primary attribute of God (see Ps 25:10; Exod 34:6).

31:6 I hate: The strong language emphasizes the psalmist's loyalty to God (see Pss 26:4-5; 139:21-22).

31:7 faithful love: a basic quality of God, often paired with "faithfulness" that is mentioned in Psalm 31:5. The word

31:9 Ps 6:7

31:10 Ps 6:2,
Ps 32:3, Ps 102:331:11 Ps 38:11,
Ps 88:18

31:14 Ps 140:6

31:15 Job 24:1,
Ps 7:131:16 Nm 6:25;
Ps 4:6, Ps 6:4,
Ps 67:1, Ps 80:331:18 1Sa 2:3,
Ps 120:2;
Jud 1:1531:19 Ps 23:5;
Is 64:431:20 Ps 27:5,
Ps 32:7, Ps 64:231:21 1Sa 23:7;
Ps 17:7, Ps 28:6

<sup>9</sup>Have mercy on me, LORD, because I'm depressed.

My vision fails because of my grief,
as do my spirit and my body.

<sup>10</sup>My life is consumed with sadness;
my years are consumed with groaning.
Strength fails me because of my suffering,<sup>b</sup>
my bones dry up.

<sup>11</sup>I'm a joke to all my enemies, still worse to my neighbors.
I scare my friends,

and whoever sees me in the street runs away!

<sup>12</sup>I am forgotten, like I'm dead, completely out of mind;
I am like a piece of pottery, destroyed.

<sup>13</sup>Yes, I've heard all the gossiping, terror all around;
so many gang up together against me,
they plan to take my life!

<sup>14</sup>But me? I trust you, LORD!
I affirm, "You are my God."

<sup>15</sup>My future is in your hands.
Don't hand me over to my enemies, to all who are out to get me!

<sup>16</sup>Shine your face on your servant;
save me by your faithful love!

<sup>17</sup>LORD, don't let me be put to shame because I have cried out to you.
Let the wicked be put to shame;
let them be silenced in death's domain!<sup>c</sup>

<sup>18</sup>Let their lying lips be shut up whenever they speak arrogantly against the righteous with pride and contempt!

<sup>19</sup>How great is the goodness that you've reserved for those who honor you, that you commit to those who take refuge in you—in the sight of everyone!

<sup>20</sup>You hide them in the shelter of your wings,<sup>d</sup> safe from human scheming.
You conceal them in a shelter, safe from accusing tongues.

<sup>21</sup>Bless the LORD, because he has wondrously revealed his faithful love to me when I was like a city under siege!

<sup>b</sup>LXX, Syr; MT my sin <sup>c</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>d</sup>Correction; see Ps 61:5; MT in the hiding place of your face.

becomes a keyword in the psalm, occurring again in Psalm 31:16, 21 (see Ps 5:7; Exod 34:6; sidebar, "God's Faithful Love" at Ps 7).

31:9-13 The exact nature of the distress isn't clear, but it may have involved both physical and emotional suffering, as well as oppression, as in the other prayers for help (see Ps 4:2-5; sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

31:9 vision fails: See Psalms 6:7; 13:3.

31:10 bones: See Psalm 22:14, 17.

31:11 The suffering psalmists often are doubly mistreated by the responses of others, who shun or seek to take advantage. It isn't only the enemies who behave this way, but sometimes also the psalmist's family and friends. (See Pss 22:7; 38:11; 39:8; 41:9; 55:12-13; 69:7-12; 88:8, 18; Jer 20:8.)

31:13 terror all around: See Jeremiah 20:3, where the phrase is translated "Panic Lurks Everywhere." There are several parallels between Psalm 31 and Jeremiah 20, a reminder that in the case of the psalmists, the prophets, and Jesus, faithfulness led to suffering and opposition. they plan . . . my life: See Psalm 35:4.

31:14-15a The affirmation of trust here recalls Psalm 31:5.

31:16 shine your face: See Psalm 4:6.

31:17-18 The petitions against the wicked are motivated by the desire that things be set right for the mistreated (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6). lying lips: See Psalm 4:2-5.

31:19-24 The psalm ends, as it began, with confidence.

31:21 Bless: See Psalm 16:7.

31:23 pays the proud back: See Psalm 28:4.

22 When I was panicked, I said, "I'm cut off from your eyes!"
But you heard my request for mercy when I cried out to you for help.

23 All you who are faithful, love the LORD!
The LORD protects those who are loyal,
but he pays the proud back to the fullest degree.

24 All you who wait for the LORD, be strong and let your heart take courage.

31:22 Ps 6:9,
Ps 66:19,
Ps 116:11,
Is 38:11,
Lam 3:54
31:24 Ps 27:14
32:1 Ps 1:1,
Ps 85:2; Ro 4:7
32:2 Jn 1:47;
Ro 4:7; 2Co 5:19;
Rev 14:5
32:4 1Sa 5:6;
Ps 22:15; Ps 38:2,
Ps 39:10
32:5 Lv 26:40;
Ps 38:18,
Ps 51:3;
Prv 28:13;
1Jn 1:9
32:6 Ps 4:3,
Ps 69:1, Ps 69:13;
Is 43:2, Is 55:6
32:7 Ex 15:1;
Jgs 5:1; Ps 9:9,
Ps 27:5,
Ps 119:114
32:8 Ps 25:8,
Ps 25:12,
Ps 33:18
32:9 Prv 26:3; Jer 31:18; Jas 3:3
32:10 Prv 13:21,
Prv 16:20,
Jer 17:7; Ro 2:9
32:11 Ps 7:10,
Ps 33:1, Ps 64:10,
Ps 68:3, Ps 97:12

Psalm 32

A maskil* of David.

1 The one whose wrongdoing is forgiven, whose sin is covered over, is truly happy!

2 The one the LORD doesn't consider guilty—in whose spirit there is no dishonesty—that one is truly happy!

3 When I kept quiet, my bones wore out;
I was groaning all day long—every day, every night!—
4 because your hand was heavy upon me.

My energy was sapped as if in a summer drought.

5 So I admitted my sin to you;
I didn't conceal my guilt.
"I'll confess my sins to the LORD," is what I said.
Then you removed the guilt of my sin.

6 That's why all the faithful should pray to you during troubled times,<sup>f</sup> so that a great flood of water won't reach them.

7 You are my secret hideout!
You protect me from trouble.
You surround me with songs of rescue!

Selah

Selah

Selah

8 I will instruct you and teach you about the direction you should go.
I'll advise you and keep my eye on you.

9 Don't be like some senseless horse or mule, whose movement must be controlled with a bit and a bridle.<sup>g</sup>
Don't be anything like that!<sup>h</sup>

10 The pain of the wicked is severe, but faithful love surrounds the one who trusts the LORD.

11 You who are righteous, rejoice in the LORD and be glad!
All you whose hearts are right, sing out in joy!

*Perhaps instruction; it also appears in Pss 42, 44–45, 52–55, 74, 78, 88–89, 142; cf 47:7; the root is used in Ps 32:8. <sup>f</sup>Correction; MT at a time of finding only <sup>g</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>h</sup>Heb uncertain

31:24 See Psalms 5:3; 27:14.

32:1–11 Psalm 32 is a prayer (32:3–7) that intends to teach (32:1–2, 8–10), especially about the benefits of confessing sin and being forgiven. For this reason, it is the second of the church's seven Penitential Psalms (see Ps 6).

32:1–2 truly happy: The repetition recalls Psalm 1:1, making it clear that true happiness derives not from being sinless but rather from being forgiven (see sidebar, "True Happiness" at Ps 1). dishonesty: This seems to describe the psalmist's attempt to hide his or her sinfulness (see Ps 32:3).

32:3–5 Testimony gives way to prayer. The psalmist's problems (32:3–4) result not from divine wrath but rather from the failure to confess sin, and perhaps from the energy expended in pretending to be perfect (the "dishonesty" of Ps 32:2). While there is no description of the actual confession of sin, the psalmist reports that he or she has confessed and received forgiveness. Verse 5 proves to be a turning point. The words "sin[s]" (Ps 32:1, 5), "wrongdoing" (Ps 32:1), and "guilt" (Ps 32:2, 5) don't occur again after verse 5.

32:6–7 The psalmist addresses God, but clearly intends the faithful to overhear and learn from the prayer. great flood of water. See Psalm 18:16.

32:8–10 It isn't clear who the speaker is here. It could be God addressing the psalmist, but it is more likely the psalmist addressing others, as he or she more clearly does in Psalm 32:11. See Psalm 51:13 where the psalmist, anticipating forgiveness, promises to teach others.

32:10 faithful love: See Psalm 5:7 and sidebar, "God's Faithful Love" at Psalm 7.

32:11 As is often the case, the psalm ends with an invitation (see Pss 5:11–12; 22:26; 27:14; 31:23–24). whose hearts are right: The psalm makes it clear that to be righteous

33:1 Ps 32:11,
Ps 147:1
33:2 2Sa 6:5;
Ps 71:22, Ps 92:3,
Ps 144:9
33:3 Ps 40:3,
Ps 96:1, Ps 98:1,
Ps 144:9;
Is 42:10
33:4 Dt 32:4;
Ps 19:8
33:5 Ps 11:7,
Ps 119:64
33:6 Gn 1:1,
Gn 2:1; Heb 11:3
33:7 Ex 15:8;
Josh 3:16;
Job 38:8; Jer 5:22
33:8 Ps 96:9
33:9 Gn 1:3;
Ps 148:5-6;
Heb 11:3
33:10 2Sa 17:14;
Job 5:12; Ps 2:1;
Is 8:10, Is 19:3
33:11 Prv 19:21;
Is 46:10;
Heb 6:17
33:12 Ex 19:5;
Dt 7:6, Dt 33:29;
Ps 65:4;
Ps 144:15
33:15 Jer 32:19
33:16 Ps 44:6,
Ps 60:11

Psalm 33

- 1 All you who are righteous, shout joyfully to the LORD!
It's right for those who do right to praise God.
- 2 Give thanks to the LORD with the lyre!
Sing praises to him with the ten-stringed harp!
- 3 Sing to him a new song!
Play your best with joyful shouts!
- 4 Because the LORD's word is right, his every act is done in good faith.
- 5 He loves righteousness and justice;
the LORD's faithful love fills the whole earth.
- 6 The skies were made by the LORD's word, all their starry multitude by the breath of his mouth.
- 7 He gathered the ocean waters into a heap;
he put the deep seas into storerooms.
- 8 All the earth honors the LORD;
all the earth's inhabitants stand in awe of him.
- 9 Because when he spoke, it happened!
When he commanded, there it was!
- 10 The LORD overrules what the nations plan;
he frustrates what the peoples intend to do.
- 11 But the LORD's plan stands forever;
what he intends to do lasts from one generation to the next.
- 12 The nation whose God is the LORD, the people whom God has chosen as his possession, is truly happy!
- 13 The LORD looks down from heaven;
he sees every human being.
- 14 From his dwelling place God observes all who live on earth.
- 15 God is the one who made all their hearts,
the one who knows everything they do.
- 16 Kings aren't saved by the strength of their armies;
warriors aren't rescued by how much power they have.

means to depend upon God's grace (see Ps 1:5-6 and often in the prayers for help), not to do everything right. This is why the apostle Paul quotes Psalm 32:1-2 when he writes about righteousness in Romans 4 (see Rom 4:6-8). 33:1-22 Whether intended or not, the first verse of Psalm 33 is a very appropriate response to the invitation of Psalm 32:11. Psalm 33 is a song of praise; and following further invitations to praise in 33:1-2, later sections offer reasons for praise (33:4-19). The psalm concludes with an affirmation of faith (33:20-22). Although it isn't an acrostic poem (cf. Ps 34), the twenty-two verses match the number of letters in the Hebrew alphabet, suggesting God's total claim on the world and the full reach of God's faithful love (33:5, 18, 22).

33:1-3 Songs of praise typically begin with invitations to praise, as here (see Pss 29; 47; 95; 96-98; 113; 117; 146-150). 33:2 This is the first reference to musical instruments in the body of a psalm. Many of the Psalms would have been sung publicly to music, especially the songs of praise (see Pss 43:4; 57:8; 71:22; 81:2-3; 92:3; 98:5; 137:2; 144:9; 147:7; 149:3; 150:3-5; 2 Sam 6:5; 1 Chron 13:8; 25:1, 6; see sidebar, "Music and Singing" at Ps 33).

33:3 new song: elsewhere associated directly with the celebration of God's rule (see Pss 96:1; 98:1; 149:1; see also Pss 40:3; 144:9; Isa 42:10; Rev 5:9; 14:3). God's worldwide claim is also in view in Psalm 33.

33:4-5 The reasons for praise are summarized here with several important words that describe God's character and purposes.

33:4 right: See Psalms 5:8; 25:8; 92:15. good faith: Faithfulness is a basic quality of God (see Pss 25:10; 31:5; 36:5; 98:3; 100:5; Exod 34:6).

33:5 righteousness and justice: These words, often paired as here, summarize the content of God's will for the world (see Pss 5:8; 94; 72:1-7; 96:13; 98:9; 99:4; Isa 5:7; Amos 5:24). faithful love: Psalm 33:5b suggests that God's will for justice and righteousness is motivated by God's worldwide love (see Pss 33:18, 22; 5:7; 36:5).

33:6-9 God loves the world that God made (see Pss 8:1-5; 24:1-2; 104:1-24; 147:8-9; Gen 1:1-31; sidebar, "God the Creator" at Ps 8).

33:10-12 Every people and nation is subject to God, and God's will prevails (see Neh 4:15; Prov 19:21; 21:30-31; Isa 14:26-27; 25:1; 46:10-11).

33:13-15 God sees every person and his or her actions (see Pss 11:4; 14:2; 102:19).

33:14 dwelling place: The underlying Hebrew word sometimes has the sense of "enthroned" (see "rules" in Pss 2:4; 9:7; 99:1), and it is the clearest statement of the divine rule suggested throughout the psalm.

33:16-19 Even the most powerful human beings are subject to God (33:16-17; see Pss 2:8-11; 20:7; 146:3-4; Prov

- <sup>17</sup>A warhorse is a bad bet for victory; it can't save despite its great strength.
- <sup>18</sup>But look here: the LORD's eyes watch all who honor him,
all who wait for his faithful love, <sup>19</sup>to deliver their lives<sup>1</sup> from death and keep them alive during a famine.
- <sup>20</sup>We put our hope in the LORD.
He is our help and our shield.
- <sup>21</sup>Our heart rejoices in God because we trust his holy name.
- <sup>22</sup>LORD, let your faithful love surround us because we wait for you.

Psalm 34<sup>1</sup>

Of David, when he pretended to be crazy before Abimelech, who banished him so that he left.

- N <sup>1</sup>I will bless the LORD at all times;
his praise will always be in my mouth.
- 2 <sup>2</sup><sup>1</sup> praise the LORD—let the suffering listen and rejoice.
- 3 <sup>3</sup> Magnify the LORD with me!
Together let us lift his name up high!
- 7 <sup>4</sup>I sought the LORD and he answered me.
He delivered me from all my fears.
- 7 <sup>5</sup>Those who look to God will shine;
their faces are never ashamed.
- 1 <sup>6</sup>This suffering person cried out:
the LORD listened and saved him from every trouble.
- 7 <sup>7</sup>On every side, the LORD's messenger protects those who honor God;
and he delivers them.
- 8 <sup>8</sup>Taste and see how good the LORD is!
The one who takes refuge in him is truly happy!
- 9 <sup>9</sup>You who are the LORD's holy ones, honor him, because those who honor him don't lack a thing.
- 10 <sup>10</sup>Even strong young lions go without and get hungry, but those who seek the LORD lack no good thing.

<sup>1</sup>Or souls; also in 33:20 <sup>1</sup>Ps 34 is an alphabetic acrostic poem; see the note at Pss 9–10 or Ps 111. <sup>2</sup>Or my soul; also in 34:22

21:30–31), which means that they should look to God and God's love to secure their lives.

33:20–22 In keeping with Psalm 33:18–19 (note the occurrences of “wait” and “faithful love” in both verses 18 and 22), the psalmist and the worshipping congregation affirm that they depend upon God (see Pss 5:3; 27:14; 31:24).

34:1–22 Because of the opening praise (34:1–3) and the deliverance mentioned in verses 4 and 6, this acrostic psalm (see translation note j) is usually considered a psalm of thanks (see Ps 30). It also has a clear teaching purpose (34:11–14). The title seems to refer to David's experience in 1 Samuel 21:13; but the king in 1 Samuel 21 is Achish, not Abimelech.

Music and Singing The practice of singing and chanting in Jewish and Christian worship goes back to the origins of the Psalms. It is certain that the songs of praise were sung to music, and perhaps the prayers and other types were sung as well. The songs of praise often invite people to sing or speak about people singing (see Pss 33:2; 47:6–7; 66:2; 95:1; 96:1–2; 98:1, 5; 108:1; 138:1; 147:1, 7; 149:1). The Psalms are testimony to the beauty of music, as well as to the power of music to take us beyond ourselves so that we are more fully in touch with the presence and purposes of God. In this way, music helps praise, which involves the submission of the self to God in worship and in life.

The book of Psalms often refers to musical instruments (see Ps 33:2) and concludes with praise that involves instruments (Ps 150:3–5). Skilled musicians led music and singing (see 1 Chron 6:31–33; 16:5–6; 25:1–7) and worshippers joined in (see Pss 68:24–27; 118:2–4; 124:1; 129:1; 136:2–26, where the refrain is like a group response).

33:17 Ps 20:7;
Ps 147:10;
Pv 21:31;
Is 31:1

33:18 Job 36:7;
Ps 34:15;
Ps 147:11;
1 Pt 3:12

33:19 Job 5:20;
Ps 37:19;
Ac 12:11

33:20 Ps 62:1;
Ps 115:9;
Ps 130:6; Is 8:17

34:1
1Sa 21:12–13;
Eph 5:20;
1 Th 5:18

34:2 Ps 44:8;
Ps 119:74;
Is 45:25; Jer 9:24;
1 Co 1:31

34:3 Ps 35:27;
Ps 69:30;
Lk 1:46; Ro 15:6

34:4 Ps 77:2;
Mt 7:7

34:5 Is 60:5

34:7 Gn 32:1;
2 Ks 6:17;
Ps 91:11;
Dn 6:22;
Mt 18:10

34:8 Ps 2:12;
Heb 6:5; 1 Pt 2:3

34:9 Ps 23:1

34:10 Ps 23:1;
Ps 84:11

34:1–3 Even before Psalm 34:11–14, the teaching purpose is clear, since the suffering are to overhear the psalmist's praise (34:2), and to follow the psalmist's example (34:3).

34:1 bless: See Psalm 16:7.

34:4–10 Here again, the teaching purpose is clear. The psalmist's experience of rescue (34:4, 6) is to be an example, so that others will look to God (34:5). In 34:8–9, the psalmist directly invites others to depend on God for sustenance.

34:7 messenger: See Psalms 35:5–6; 91:11. The word seems to refer to members of God's heavenly court (see Ps 29:1–2).

34:8 Taste and see: If taste is taken literally, it could point to participation in a thanksgiving meal (see Ps 22:25–31);

34:11 Ps 32:8,
Ps 66:16,
Ps 111:10,
2Ti 3:15

34:12 Ecc 3:13;
1Pt 3:10-11

34:13 Prv 13:3;
Jas 1:26; 1Pt 2:1,
1Pt 2:22

34:14 Job 28:28;
Ps 37:27; Is 1:16;
Ro 14:19;
Heb 12:14

34:15 Job 36:7;
Ps 33:18;
1Pt 3:12

34:16 Job 18:17;
Ps 109:15;
Prv 10:7

34:17 Ps 34:15,
Ps 145:19;
Prv 15:29

34:18 Ps 51:17,
Ps 145:18,
Ps 147:3;
Is 57:15, Is 61:1

34:19 Ps 34:4,
Ps 34:17;
Prv 24:16;
2Ti 3:11

34:20 Ex 12:46;
Ps 34:19;
Jn 19:36

34:21 Ps 94:23

34:22 Gn 48:16;
Ex 6:6, Ex 15:13;
2Sa 22:31,
1Ki 1:29

35:1 Ex 14:25;
Ps 119:154;
Is 49:25

35:2 Ps 3:7,
Ps 44:26, Ps 91:4

- ↳ 11 Come, children, listen to me.
Let me teach you how to honor the LORD:
- ▢ 12 Do you love life;
do you relish the chance to enjoy good things?
- ⌋ 13 Then you must keep your tongue from evil and keep your lips from speaking lies!
- 14 Turn away from evil! Do good!
Seek peace and go after it!
- ⌋ 15 The LORD's eyes watch the righteous, his ears listen to their cries for help.
- ▢ 16 But the LORD's face is set against those who do evil, to eliminate even the memory of them from the earth.
- ⌋ 17 When the righteous cry out, the LORD listens;
he delivers them from all their troubles.
- ⌋ 18 The LORD is close to the brokenhearted;
he saves those whose spirits are crushed.

- ⌋ 19 The righteous have many problems, but the LORD delivers them from every one.
- ⌋ 20 He protects all their bones;
not even one will be broken.
- ▢ 21 But just one problem will kill the wicked, and those who hate the righteous will be held responsible.
- 22 The LORD saves his servants' lives;
all those who take refuge in him won't be held responsible for anything.

Psalm 35

Of David.

- 1 LORD, argue with those who argue with me;
fight with those who fight against me!
- 2 Grab a shield and armor;
stand up and help me!
- 3 Use your spear and ax<sup>1</sup> against those who are out to get me!

<sup>1</sup>Correction

but it means something like, "Experience it for yourself" how good: See Psalms 23:6; 25:8. refuge . . . truly happy: See Psalms 34:22; 2:12.

34:11-14 This is the most obvious teaching section.

34:11 children: See Proverbs 1:8; 3:1; 4:1. to honor: In Psalm 34:9, honoring God meant depending on God. The additional element of obedience is in view in this section, especially Psalm 34:13-14.

34:13 The enemies in the Psalms often engage in deceitful and malicious speech (see Ps 4:2-5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3), which those who honor God are to avoid (see Prov 4:24; 6:17, 19; 10:18).

34:14 Do good! This is the fourth occurrence of "good" (see Ps 34:8, 10, 12). Goodness isn't only something to be experienced but a course of action to pursue (see Isa 1:16-17; Amos 5:14-15). Seek peace: Peace, too, is something to be actively pursued as well as experienced (see Pss 4:8; 29:11).

34:15-22 The psalmist recognizes that the righteous (34:15, 19) have troubles (34:17), can be brokenhearted and crushed (34:18), and have many problems (34:19). The deliverance they experience doesn't prevent suffering (Ps 34:2, 6), but rather it involves the strength and resources to endure it (see Pss 13:5-6; 22:21b-24).

34:16 God opposes evil in order to set things right for the mistreated (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

34:21-22 will be held responsible . . . won't be held responsible: The wicked refuse to turn to God, and so they cut themselves off from the forgiveness that God offers. In this sense, they "will be held responsible."

35:1-28 Psalm 35 contains the typical elements of a prayer for help: petition, both for help (35:1-3, 17, 22-25) and against the enemies (35:4-6, 8, 19, 26); complaint (35:7, 11-12, 15-16); and expression of praise and trust (35:9-10, 18, 27-28). More uniquely, it also contains a description of a faithful response to the suffering of others (35:13-14). These elements seem to be in no particular order, perhaps reflecting the random conditions in the psalmist's life. If the psalm is divided into three sections (35:1-10; 11-18; 19-28), an expression of praise and trust would conclude each of the sections.

35:1-10 The military language and images (35:1-3) make this section particularly violent, but the psalmist is challenging violent opposition (35:4). The requests for help need not be heard as vengeful but rather as genuine appeals for God to set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6; sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

35:1 fight . . . fight: It is always a struggle to set things right in the face of violent and powerful opposition, so God must fight (see Pss 7:10-3; 18:31-50; 21:8-12; 46:8-9).

35:3 "I'm your salvation!": God's imagined speech gets Say to me:<sup>m</sup> "I'm your salvation!"

- 4 Let those who want me dead be humiliated and put to shame.
Let those who intend to hurt me be thoroughly frustrated and disgraced.
- 5 Let them be like dust on the wind—and let the LORD's messenger be the one who does the blowing!
- 6 Let their path be dark and slippery—and let the LORD's messenger be the one who does the chasing!
- 7 Because they hid their net for me for no reason, they dug a pit for me for no reason.
- 8 Let disaster come to them when they don't suspect it.
Let the net they hid catch them instead!
Let them fall into it—to their disaster!
- 9 But I will rejoice in the LORD;
I will celebrate his salvation.
- 10 All my bones will say, "LORD, who could compare to you?
You rescue the weak from those who overpower them;
you rescue the weak and the needy from those who plunder them."
- 11 Violent witnesses stand up.
They question me about things I know nothing about.
- 12 They pay me back evil for good, leaving me stricken with grief.
- 13 But when they were sick, I wore clothes for grieving, and I kept a strict fast.
When my prayer came back unanswered,<sup>n</sup>
- 14 I would wander around like I was grieving a friend or a brother.
I was weighed down, sad, like I was a mother in mourning.
- 15 But when I stumbled, they celebrated and gathered together—they gathered together against me!
Strangers<sup>o</sup> I didn't know tore me to pieces and wouldn't quit.
- 16 They ridiculed me over and over again, like godless people would do, grinding their teeth at me.
- 17 How long, my Lord, will you watch this happen?
Rescue me from their attacks;
rescue my precious life from these predatory lions!
- 18 Then I will thank you in the great assembly;
I will praise you in a huge crowd of people.
- 19 Don't let those who are my enemies without cause celebrate over me;
don't let those who hate me for no reason wink at my demise.
- 20 They don't speak the truth;
instead, they plot false accusations against innocent people in the land.
- 21 They speak out against me, saying, "Yes! Oh, yes! We've seen it with our own eyes!"

<sup>m</sup>Or my soul; also in 35:4, 7, 9, 12, 13, 17, 24 <sup>n</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>o</sup>Correction

35:8 Ps 7:15,
Ps 141:10;
Is 47:11; 1Th 5:3
35:9 Ps 9:14,
Ps 13:5; Is 61:10;
Lk 1:47
35:10 Ps 86:8
35:12 Ps 38:20,
Ps 109:5;
Prv 17:13;
Jer 18:20;
Jn 10:32
35:13 Job 30:25;
Ps 69:10-11
35:14 Ps 38:6
35:15 Job 30:1,
Job 30:8,
Job 30:12,
Job 31:29; Ps 7:2
35:16 Job 16:9;
Ps 22:7; Ps 37:12;
Lam 2:16;
Ac 7:54
35:17 Ps 6:3,
Ps 13:1,
Ps 22:20-21;
Hab 1:13
35:18 Ps 22:22,
Ps 22:25
35:19 Ps 38:19,
Ps 69:4; Prv 6:13,
Prv 10:10,
Jn 15:25
35:20 Ps 38:12;
Jer 9:8

to the point—that is, the psalmist's life is in danger and needs to be saved (see Ps 13:5).

35:4 want me dead: See Psalms 31:13; 37:12; 38:12; 40:14; 54:3; 63:9; 70:2; 86:14; 119:95; 1 Samuel 23:15; 1 Kings 19:10; Jeremiah 38:16. As this list suggests, the faithful are often threatened with death.

35:5-6 messenger: See Psalm 34:7.

35:7-8 See Psalms 35:19; 7:15-16.

35:9-10 The psalmist locates God with the mistreated (see Ps 9:18).

35:11-18 The psalmist's violent situation is seen again

(35:11-12, 15-16). The enemies may be using the psalmist's illness or setback (35:15) as an excuse to falsely accuse (35:11, 20) or to take advantage (see Pss 7; 17; 26).

35:13-14 In sharp contrast to the enemies, the psalmist models empathy in response to the suffering of others. In short, the psalmist doesn't assume that suffering is a sign of alienation from God, nor does the poet blame or seek to take advantage of those who are suffering.

35:17-18 See Psalm 22:21-22.

35:19 for no reason: See Psalms 35:7; 38:19; 69:4; John 15:25.

35:20 See Psalm 27:12.

35:25 Ps 35:21,
Ps 56:1, Ps 124:3;
Prv 1:12;
Lam 2:16

35:27 Ps 40:16,
Ps 70:4, Ps 149:4

35:28
Ps 51:14-15,
Ps 71:15,
Ps 71:24

36:1 Ps 18:1;
Ro 3:18

36:2 Dt 29:19;
Ps 49:18

36:3 Ps 5:9,
Ps 10:7, Ps 12:2

36:4 Prv 4:16;
Is 65:2, Mi 2:1;
Ro 12:9

36:5 Ps 57:10,
Ps 103:11,
Ps 108:4

36:6 Neh 9:6,
Ps 71:19;
Ps 104:14,
Ps 145:16;
Ro 11:33

22 But you've seen it too, LORD.

Don't keep quiet about it.

Please don't be far from me, my Lord.

23 Wake up! Get up and do justice for me; argue my case, my Lord and my God!

24 Establish justice for me according to your righteousness, LORD, my God.

Don't let them celebrate over me.

25 Don't let them say to themselves,

Yes! Exactly what we wanted!

Don't let them say, "We ate him up!"

26 Let all those who celebrate my misfortune be disgraced and put to shame!

Let those who exalt themselves over me be dressed up in shame and dishonor!

27 But let those who want things to be set right for me shout for joy and celebrate!

Let them constantly say, "The LORD is great—God wants his servant to be at peace."

28 Then my tongue will talk all about your righteousness;
it will talk about your praise all day long.

Psalm 36

For the music leader. Of the LORD's servant David.

1 I know the sinful utterance of the wicked:<sup>P</sup>

No fear of God confronts their own eyes,

2 because in their own eyes they are slick with talk about their guilt ever being found out and despised.<sup>Q</sup>

3 The words of their mouths are evil and dishonest.

They have stopped being wise and stopped doing good.

4 They plot evil even while resting in bed!

They commit themselves to a path that is no good.

They don't reject what is evil.

5 But your loyal love, LORD, extends to the skies;

your faithfulness reaches the clouds.

6 Your righteousness is like the strongest mountains;

your justice is like the deepest sea.

<sup>P</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>Q</sup>Heb uncertain

35:22 you've seen it too, LORD: See Psalm 10:14. don't be far. See Psalm 22:19.

35:23 Wake up! See Psalm 7:6.

35:24 Establish justice . . . righteousness: The purpose of divine opposition to the enemies is to do justice and to set things right (see Pss 35:23, 27-28; 3:7-8; 7:6; 26:1).

35:27 It is unusual that the psalmist prays for her or his supporters, but perhaps not surprising in view of the psalmist's attention to others in Psalm 35:13-14 (see Ps 40:16). at peace: "Shalom" names the reality that exists when justice and righteousness prevail (see Pss 4:8; 29:11; 34:14; 72:1-7).

36:1-12 Psalm 36 is usually categorized as a prayer for help. It contains complaint about the wicked (36:1-4) and petition for rescue from them (36:11). In between there is an eloquent profession of faith (36:5-9). This structure signals the normal reality of the psalmists; that is, they profess and practice their faith in the midst of opposition. Psalm 36:12 seems to be a prayerful look at the future of the wicked, not an actual description (see Ps 1:5-6).

36:1-4 As usual, the wicked are deceitful and destructive (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

36:1 I . . . wicked: The first word in Hebrew is usually translated "says" and followed by "the LORD." Here it is followed by the word rebellion, and the statement seems to be a satirical comment—that is, "rebellion," rather than God, speaks to the wicked. So they don't honor God.

36:2 The wicked regularly deny any accountability to God or others (see Ps 10:3-14, and especially 36:4, 6, 11, 13).

36:3 The speech of the wicked is always deceitful and destructive (see Ps 4:2-5).

36:4 See Micah 2:1.

36:5-9 This affirmation features several of the most important words in the OT, including faithful love/loyal love twice (36:5, 7, 10; sidebar, "God's Faithful Love" at Ps 6).

36:5-6 loyal love: See Psalms 36:7, 10; 5:7. faithfulness: See Psalms 25:10; 33:4. righteousness . . . justice: See Psalms 5:8; 9:4. The words "loyal love" and "faithfulness" summarize who God is, while the words "righteousness" and "justice" summarize God's will. The psalmist affirms that God's character and God's purposes fill the universe from top to bottom—that is, from the skies to the seas (see the similar affirmation in Ps 33:5). humans and animals: God wills life for all creatures (see Ps 150:6).

LORD, you save both humans and animals.

<sup>7</sup>Your faithful love is priceless, God!

Humanity finds refuge in the shadow of your wings.

<sup>8</sup>They feast on the bounty of your house;
you let them drink from your river of pure joy.

<sup>9</sup>Within you is the spring of life.
In your light, we see light.

<sup>10</sup>Extend your faithful love to those who know you; extend your righteousness to those whose heart is right.

<sup>11</sup>Don't let the feet of arrogant people walk all over me; don't let the hands of the wicked drive me off.

<sup>12</sup>Look—right there is where the evildoers have fallen, pushed down, unable to get up!

Psalm 37*

Of David.

✠ <sup>1</sup>Don't get upset over evildoers;

don't be jealous of those who do wrong, <sup>2</sup>because they will fade fast, like grass;
they will wither like green vegetables.

☐ <sup>3</sup>Trust the LORD and do good; live in the land, and farm faithfulness.

<sup>4</sup>Enjoy the LORD, and he will give what your heart asks.

☐ <sup>5</sup>Commit your way to the LORD! Trust him!
He will act <sup>a</sup>and will make your righteousness shine like the dawn, your justice like high noon.

☐ <sup>7</sup>Be still before the LORD, and wait<sup>d</sup> for him.
Don't get upset when someone gets ahead—someone who invents evil schemes.

☐ <sup>8</sup>Let go of anger and leave rage behind!
Don't get upset—it will only lead to evil.

<sup>9</sup>Because evildoers will be eliminated, but those who hope in the LORD—they will possess the land.

☐ <sup>10</sup>In just a little while the wicked won't exist!
If you go looking around their place, they won't be there.

*Ps 37 is an alphabetic acrostic poem; see the note at Pss 9–10 or Ps 111. <sup>a</sup>Correction with LXX, Vulg

36:7 shadow . . . wings: See Psalm 17:8.

36:8-9 The food and drink provided by God make life possible (see Pss 23:2-3; 85:10, 12; 104:27-28). your light . . . light: Light symbolizes God's presence, which brightens and enlivens human beings (see Pss 4:6; 27:1; John 1:5).

37:1-40 Psalm 37 is usually identified as a wisdom psalm, and may have been what we might call today a teaching sermon. The topic is the apparent prosperity of the wicked (37:7), which raises the issue of God's justice when dealing with evil (see Pss 49; 73; and the book of Job). Because it is an acrostic (see translation note r), Psalm 37 shows no clear structure, although repeated words, phrases, and ideas are noticeable.

37:1-2 Don't get upset over evildoers: This is one of the main pieces of advice to the righteous (see Ps 37:7-8; Matt 6:25). will fade fast: The righteous don't need to worry, because the wicked will soon be gone. This is a major theme (see Ps 37:9, 10, 15, 17, 20, 22, 28, 36, 38).

37:3 Trust: This is the positive statement of the advice not to be upset (see Pss 37:5; 4:5). do good: See Psalms 37:27; 34:14.

37:6 your righteousness . . . your justice: God will set things right for the threatened and mistreated (see Pss 5:8; 9:4, 18). Verses 12, 14, and 32 indicate how the faithful are being mistreated.

37:7 wait for him . . . gets ahead: For now, the wicked prosper, so the righteous must "wait" (see Ps 5:3) and live with trust (Ps 37:3, 5) and hope (Ps 37:9, 34; see Ps 27:14; 31:24).

37:9 will possess the land: Since land meant access to life in ancient Israel, this phrase may just mean something like "will live fully and securely." This may be correct, but it is possible that the psalm arose in a context in which poor farmers were oppressed, including being removed from their land, by a ruthless wealthy class (see advice to "farm faithfulness" in Ps 37:3, and prophetic texts like Isa 5:8; Amos 8:4-6; Mic 2:2, 9). In this case, the promise is that the people would get back their land that had been taken from them. In either case, the promise of the land is a theme throughout the psalm (see Ps 37:11, 22, 27, 29, 34), and it is the positive parallel to the destruction of the wicked.

36:7 Ru 2:12;
Ps 17:8, Ps 57:1,
Ps 91:4,
Ps 139:17

36:8 Ps 46:4,
Ps 63:5, Ps 65:4,
Is 25:6; Rev 22:1

36:9 Ps 27:1,
Jer 2:13; Jn 4:14;
1Pt 2:9

36:10 Ps 7:10;
Jer 22:16

36:12 Ps 1:5,
Ps 18:38,
Ps 28:3, Ps 55:23,
Ps 64:7

37:1 Ps 73:3,
Prv 3:31,
Prv 23:17,
Prv 24:1,
Prv 24:19

37:2 Ps 90:6,
Ps 92:7

37:3 Prv 3:5;
Is 26:4

37:4 Job 22:26;
Ps 21:2,
Ps 145:19;
Is 58:14; Mt 6:33

37:5 Ps 55:22;
Prv 16:3; 1Pt 5:7

37:6 Job 11:17;
Is 58:8, Is 58:10;
Mi 7:9

37:7 Ps 27:14,
Ps 37:1, Ps 40:1,
Ps 62:1; Jer 12:1

37:8 Eph 4:26,
Eph 4:31;
Col 3:8

37:9 Ps 25:13,
Ps 37:22;
Prv 2:21-22;
Is 57:13

37:10 Job 7:10,
Job 24:24

- 37:11
Ps 119:165;
Mt 5:5
- 37:12 Job 16:9;
Ps 35:16
- 37:13 1Sa 26:10;
Ps 2:4; Prv 1:26
- 37:14 Ps 11:2;
Ps 35:10
- 37:15 1Sa 2:4;
Ps 46:9
- 37:16 Prv 15:16;
Prv 16:8; 1Ti 6:6
- 37:20 Ps 68:2;
Ps 102:3
- 37:22 Ps 37:9
- 37:23 1Sa 2:9;
Ps 40:2,
Ps 147:11;
Prv 16:9,
Prv 20:24
- 37:24 Ps 37:17;
Ps 145:14;
Prv 24:16;
Mt 7:8
- 37:25 Ps 37:28,
Ps 109:10;
Heb 13:5
- 37:26 Dt 15:8;
Ps 37:21,
Ps 112:5; Lk 6:35
- 37:27 Ps 34:14
- 37:28 Ex 20:5;
Ps 21:10,
Ps 97:10;
Prv 2:22;
Is 14:20
- 37:29 Ps 37:9;
Prv 2:21
- 37:30 Prv 10:13,
Prv 10:31,
Prv 15:7;
Eph 4:29;
Col 4:6
- 37:31 Dt 6:6;
Ps 40:8,
Ps 119:11,
Is 51:7; Jer 31:33
- 11 But the weak will inherit the land;
they will enjoy a surplus of peace.
- † 12 The wicked plot against the righteous, grinding their teeth at them.
- 13 But my Lord just laughs at them because he knows that their day is coming.
- † 14 The wicked draw their swords and bend their bows to bring down the weak and the needy, to slaughter those whose way is right.
- 15 But the sword of the wicked will enter their own hearts!
Their bows will be broken!
- ‡ 16 Better is the little that the righteous have than the overabundant wealth of the wicked.†
- 17 The arms of the wicked will be broken, but the LORD supports the righteous.
- 18 The LORD is intimately acquainted with the lives of the blameless; their heritage will last forever.
- 19 They won't be ashamed in troubling times, and in a period of famine they will eat their fill.
- ‡ 20 But the wicked will die, the LORD's enemies will disappear—disappear like the beauty of a meadow—in smoke.
- ↳ 21 The wicked borrow and don't pay it back, but the righteous are generous and giving.
- 22 Those blessed by God will possess the land, but those cursed by God will be cut off.
- ‡ 23 A person's steps are made secure by the LORD when they delight in his way.
- 24 Though they trip up, they won't be thrown down, because the LORD holds their hand.
- ‡ 25 I was young and now I'm old,
but I have never seen the righteous left all alone, have never seen their children begging for bread.
- 26 They are always gracious and generous.
Their children are a blessing.
- ‡ 27 Turn away from evil! Do good!
Then you will live in the land forever.
- 28 The LORD loves justice.
He will never leave his faithful all alone.
- ↳ They are guarded forever, but the children of the wicked are eliminated.
- 29 The righteous will possess the land;
they will live on it forever.
- ‡ 30 The mouths of the righteous recite wisdom;
their tongues discuss justice.
- 31 The Instruction of their God is in their hearts;
they don't miss a step.
- ‡ 32 The wicked, on the other hand, target the righteous, seeking to kill them.

†LXX, Vulg, Syr; MT abundant wealth of many wicked

37:11 See Matthew 5:5. peace: See Psalms 37:37; 4:8; 29:11; 34:14.
37:13 See Psalm 2:4.
37:14–15 See Psalm 7:15–16.
37:18 See Psalm 1:6.

37:19 See Matthew 5:6.
37:21 See Psalms 37:26; 112:5; Acts 20:35.
37:23 See Psalm 15:5.
37:28 justice: See Psalms 37:6, 30; 9:4; 33:5.
37:31 Instruction: See Psalm 1:2.

<sup>33</sup>But the LORD won't leave the righteous to the power of the wicked, and won't let the righteous be found guilty when they are judged.

Ps <sup>34</sup>Hope in the LORD and keep his way!

He will lift you up so you can possess the land.

When the wicked are eliminated, you will see it for yourself!

<sup>35</sup>I myself have seen wicked powerful people, exalting themselves like a stately cedar.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>36</sup>But when I<sup>r</sup> came back, they were gone!

I looked all over for them, but they couldn't be found!

Ob <sup>37</sup>Observe those who have integrity and watch those whose heart is right because the future belongs to persons of peace.

<sup>38</sup>But wrongdoers will be destroyed all together;
the future of the wicked will be cut short.

Ps <sup>39</sup>The salvation of the righteous comes from the LORD;
he is their refuge in times of trouble.

<sup>40</sup>The LORD will help them and rescue them—rescue them from the wicked—and he will save them because they have taken refuge in him.

Psalm 38

A psalm of David. For the memorial offering.

<sup>1</sup>Please, LORD, don't punish me when you are mad;
don't discipline me when you are furious.

<sup>2</sup>Your arrows have pierced me;
your fist has come down hard on me.

<sup>3</sup>There's nothing in my body that isn't broken because of your rage;
there's no health in my bones because of my sin.

<sup>4</sup>My wrongdoings are stacked higher than my head;
they are a weight that's way too heavy for me.

<sup>5</sup>My wounds reek; they are all infected because of my stupidity.

<sup>6</sup>I am hunched over, completely down;
I wander around all day long, sad.

<sup>7</sup>My insides are burning up;
there's nothing in my body that isn't broken.

<sup>8</sup>I'm worn out, completely crushed;
I groan because of my miserable heart.

<sup>9</sup>Everything I long for is laid out before you, my Lord;
my sighs aren't hidden from you.

<sup>10</sup>My heart pounds; my strength abandons me.
Even the light of my eyes is gone.

<sup>11</sup>My loved ones and friends keep their distance from me in my sickness;
those who were near me now stay far away.

<sup>a</sup>LXX <sup>v</sup>LXX, Syr, Vulg

37:32 See Psalm 35:4.

37:36 See Psalm 36:12.

37:39-40 refuge: See Psalm 2:12.

38:1-22 Psalm 38 is a prayer for help. Because sin is involved in the psalmist's plight (38:3), and because the psalmist clearly confesses wrongdoing (38:18), Psalm 38 is the third of the church's seven Penitential Psalms (see Ps 6). The title's "memorial offering" means "to cause to remember," but the Hebrew root occurs in descriptions of grain offerings (see "token portion" in Lev 2:2, 9, 16).

38:1-10 After the first petition (38:1; see Ps 6:1), the psalmist's complaint includes an extended and graphic description of the physical effects of sin (38:3-10; see Pss 6:2-3; 32:3-4). Although the imagery may be metaphorical, Psalm 38 (like Ps 6) seems to reflect the belief that suffering is punishment for sin; but the psalmist also undercuts this belief by appealing to and entrusting the self to God. 38:11-14 Others, including those closest to the psalmist, use suffering as an excuse to shun (38:11; see Ps 31:11), as well as an opportunity to blame and harass the psalmist (38:12; see Pss 31:13; 35:4).

37:34 Ps 27:14,
Ps 37:9, Ps 52:5, 6,
Ps 91:8

37:35 Job 5:3,
Job 21:7,
Ps 37:36, Ps 73:3

37:36 Job 20:5,
Ps 37:10,
Ps 37:35

37:37 Is 57:2

37:40 1Ch 5:20,
Is 31:5, Dn 3:17,
Dn 6:23

38:1 Ps 6:1,
Ps 70:1

38:2 Job 6:4;
Ps 32:4;
Lam 3:12

38:3 Job 33:19;
Ps 6:2; Is 1:6

38:4 Ezz 9:6;
Ps 40:12

38:5 Job 19:17;
Ps 69:5

38:6 Job 30:28;
Ps 35:14, Ps 42:9,
Ps 43:2

38:7 Ps 38:3

38:8 Ps 22:1

38:9 Ps 6:6

38:10 Ps 6:7,
Ps 31:10, Ps 88:9

38:11 Job 19:13;
Ps 31:11,
Ps 88:18;
Lk 23:49

38:12 Ps 35:20
 38:13 Ps 39:2,
 Ps 39:9
 38:14 Job 23:4
 38:17 Ps 35:15
 39:1 1Ki 2:4;
 1Ch 16:41;
 Ps 62:1, Ps 77:1,
 Ps 119:9
 39:2 Ps 38:13
 39:3 Ps 1:2,
 Ps 119:15;
 Jer 20:9; Lk 24:32
 39:4 Ps 90:12
 39:5 Job 14:2;
 Ps 39:11,
 Ps 62:9, Ps 89:47,
 Ps 90:9

- <sup>12</sup>Those who want me dead lay traps;
 those who want me harmed utter threats, muttering lies all day long.
- <sup>13</sup>But I'm like someone who is deaf, who can't hear;
 like someone who can't speak, whose mouth won't open.
- <sup>14</sup>I've become like a person who doesn't hear what is being said, whose mouth has no good comeback.
- <sup>15</sup>But I wait for you, LORD!
 You will answer, my Lord, my God!
- <sup>16</sup>Because I prayed:
 "Don't let them celebrate over me or exalt themselves over me when my foot slips,"
- <sup>17</sup>because I'm very close to falling, and my pain is always with me.
- <sup>18</sup>Yes, I confess my wrongdoing;
 I'm worried about my sin.
- <sup>19</sup>But my mortal enemies are so strong;
 those who hate me for no reason seem countless.
- <sup>20</sup>Those who give, repay good with evil;
 they oppose me for pursuing good.
- <sup>21</sup>Don't leave me all alone, LORD!
 Please, my God, don't be far from me!
- <sup>22</sup>Come quickly and help me, my Lord, my salvation!

Psalm 39

For the music leader. To Jeduthun. A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup>I promised I would watch my steps so as not to sin with my tongue; promised to keep my mouth shut as long as the wicked were in my presence.
- <sup>2</sup>So I was completely quiet, silent.
 I kept my peace, but it did no good.
 My pain got worse.
- <sup>3</sup>My heart got hot inside me;
 while stewing over it, the fire burned.
 Then I spoke out with my tongue:
- <sup>4</sup>"Let me know my end, LORD.
 How many days do I have left?
 I want to know how brief my time is."
- <sup>5</sup>You've made my days so short;
 my lifetime is like nothing in your eyes.
 Yes, a human life is nothing but a puff of air!

Selah

38:15-17 The psalmist's expression of trust (38:15; see Pss 31:24; 33:2) is followed by his or her prayer (38:16; see Ps 35:26) and a reminder to God of the urgency of the situation (38:17).

38:18-20 Repeating "sin" and "wrongdoing" from Psalm 38:3-4, the psalmist confesses (38:18) and is intent upon pursuing good (38:20; see Ps 34:14). Even so, the enemies continue to oppose others (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3), for no reason: See Psalm 35:19.

38:21-22 It's unusual that the psalm concludes with a petition, the language of which recalls Psalms 22:1, 11, 19; 35:22. my salvation: The final phrase returns briefly to trust (see Ps 13:5).

39:1-13 Psalm 39 is a prayer for help. It has the typical elements: two sections of petition combined with complaint (39:4-6, 8-11) that surround an affirmation of trust (39:7), along with a final section of petition (39:12-13). Even so, Psalm 39 is unique. The opening description of the psalmist's silence (39:1-3) is unusual. So is much of the content of the complaints. Verses 8 and 10 are fairly typical, but it is unusual for a prayer for help to focus on the brevity of human life in general rather than a specific problem (see the final lines of Ps 39:5, 11; and see Ps 90, which also deals with human transience). Most surprising is 39:13. Instead of a petition for God's help or a final affirmation of trust or praise, there is the shocking request that God not care for the psalmist. The title mentions Jeduthun, who, according to 1 Chronicles, was appointed by David to serve in the temple (see Pss 62, 77; 1 Chron 16:41-42; 25:1-8).

39:1-3 The psalmist apparently tries to remain silent to avoid offending God (39:1a) or opening himself or herself to criticism by opponents (39:1b; see Ps 38:11-14). The strategy doesn't work.

39:4-6 This section of petition and complaint is more touching than offensive.

39:5-6 puff of air . . . pointlessly: See Psalms 39:11; 144:4. The same Hebrew word underlies puff of air and pointlessly. It occurs over thirty times in the book of Ecclesiastes (see Eccl 1:2, 14; 2:1, 15, 18), which identifies as "pointless"

- <sup>6</sup>Yes, people wander around like shadows;
yes, they hustle and bustle, but pointlessly;
they don't even know who will get the wealth they've amassed.
- <sup>7</sup>So now, Lord, what should I be waiting for?
My hope is set on you.
- <sup>8</sup>Deliver me from all my sins;
don't make me some foolish person's joke.
- <sup>9</sup>I am completely silent; I won't open my mouth because you have acted.
- <sup>10</sup>Get this plague of yours off me!
I'm being destroyed by the blows from your fist.
- <sup>11</sup>You discipline people for their sin, punishing them;
like a moth, you ruin what they treasure.
Yes, a human life is just a puff of air!
- <sup>12</sup>Hear my prayer, LORD!
Listen closely to my cry for help!
Please don't ignore my tears!
I'm just a foreigner—
an immigrant staying with you, just like all my ancestors were.
- <sup>13</sup>Look away from me so I can be happy again before I pass away and am gone.

Psalm 40

For the music leader. Of David. A psalm.

- <sup>1</sup>I put all my hope in the LORD.
He leaned down to me;
he listened to my cry for help.
- <sup>2</sup>He lifted me out of the pit of death,
out of the mud and filth,
and set my feet on solid rock.
He steadied my legs.
- <sup>3</sup>He put a new song in my mouth,
a song of praise for our God.
Many people will learn of this and be amazed;
they will trust the LORD.
- <sup>4</sup>Those who put their trust in the LORD, the very same situation described in Psalm 39:6 (see Ecc 2:18-21).

39:7 This expression of trust is like several others in the prayers for help (see Pss 38:15; 40:1).

39:8-11 The psalmist mentions sin in 39:8 and 39:11, seemingly to suggest a connection between sin and suffering (see Pss 6; 38), and perhaps a connection between sin and the shortness of human life (see Ps 90:7-11).

39:8 joke: See Psalm 31:11.

39:12 The psalmist's petitions are typical in the prayers for help (see Ps 4:1). foreigner...immigrant...were: By identifying as an outcast and needy person, the psalmist gives God a reason to hear and to help (see Pss 94:6; 146:9; Lev 19:10; 25:35). The mention of the ancestors recalls Leviticus 25:23 and 1 Chronicles 29:15, which characterize the people of God as immigrants who reside in a land owned by God. 1 Chronicles 29:15 also links this status to the brevity of human life and apparent hopelessness.

39:13 The surprising final request recalls Job 7:17-21; 10:20-22; 14:1-6, where Job asks God to "look away." The despair of 39:13 seems to go against the hope of Psalm 39:7. However, placing despair and hope alongside each other captures what is often the reality of the life of faith (see Ps 13:5-6). The harmony of Psalm 39 with Ecclesiastes and Job also suggests that, like these two books, Psalm 39 is a protest not so much against God, but rather against a too-limited understanding of God.

40:1-17 Verses 11-17 are clearly a prayer for help, featuring primarily the typical elements of petition (40:11, 13-15, and parts of 17) and complaint (40:12, and parts of 40:17). The affirmation of trust and praise is also typical of prayers for help, but it isn't usually this long. Neither does it usually come first, although there are other such cases (see Pss 9-10; 27; 41; 44; 89; 125).

40:1-10 This long section of trust and praise may be viewed as a separate psalm, but the description of a previous rescue (40:1-3) and the praise-oriented prayer serve as a solid foundation for petition in a new situation of distress as described in Psalm 40:11-17.

40:1 I put all my hope: The psalmist has done what previous psalmists have invited or done (see Pss 27:14; 33:20; 37:34; 39:7).

40:2 pit of death: See Psalms 16:10; 30:3, 9.

40:3 new song: See Psalms 33:3; 96:1.

40:4 trust...truly happy: See Psalms 1:1-2; 2:12; 4:5; 34:8.

39:6
Job 27:16-17;
Ps 127:2;
Ecc 2:26;
Lk 12:20

39:7 Ps 38:15

39:9 1Sa 3:18;
2Sa 16:10;
Job 1:21,
Job 2:10; Ps 39:2

39:10 Job 9:34,
Job 13:21

39:11 Job 13:28;
Ps 39:5; Is 50:9

39:12 Gn 47:9;
Lv 25:23;
1Ch 29:15;
Ps 119:19;
Heb 11:13

39:13 Job 7:19,
Job 10:20-21,
Job 14:6

40:1 Ps 27:14,
Ps 37:7

40:2 Ps 27:5,
Ps 37:23,
Ps 69:2, Ps 69:14;
Jer 38:6

40:3 Ps 33:3,
Ps 52:6, Ps 64:9

40:4 Ps 2:12,
Ps 34:8, Ps 84:12;
Jer 17:7

Selah

40:5 Ps 71:15,
Ps 92:5,
Ps 139:17-18
40:6 1Sa 15:22;
Ps 50:8, Ps 51:16;
Is 1:11; Heb 10:5
40:7 Gn 3:15;
Ps 40:8;
Lk 24:44; Ac 6:4;
1Co 15:3
40:8 Ps 37:31;
Jer 31:33; Jn 4:34
40:9 Josh 22:22;
Ps 22:22,
Ps 22:25,
Ps 119:13
40:10 Ps 89:1;
Ac 20:20
40:11 Ps 57:3,
Ps 61:7,
Prv 20:28
40:14 Ps 35:4,
Ps 35:26, Ps 70:2,
Ps 71:13
40:15 Ps 35:21,
Ps 70:3

who pay no attention to the proud or to those who follow lies, are truly happy!

<sup>5</sup>You, LORD my God!

You've done so many things—your wonderful deeds and your plans for us—no one can compare with you!

If I were to proclaim and talk about all of them,
they would be too numerous to count!

<sup>6</sup>You don't relish sacrifices or offerings; you don't require entirely burned offerings or compensation offerings—but you have given me ears!

<sup>7</sup>So I said, "Here I come!

I'm inscribed in the written scroll.

<sup>8</sup>I want to do your will, my God.

Your Instruction is deep within me."

<sup>9</sup>I've told the good news of your righteousness in the great assembly.

I didn't hold anything back—as you well know, LORD!

<sup>10</sup>I didn't keep your righteousness only to myself.

I declared your faithfulness and your salvation.

I didn't hide your loyal love and trustworthiness from the great assembly.

<sup>11</sup>So now you, LORD—don't hold back any of your compassion from me.

Let your loyal love and faithfulness always protect me,

<sup>12</sup>because countless evils surround me.

My wrongdoings have caught up with me—

I can't see a thing!

There's more of them than hairs on my head—
my courage leaves me.

<sup>13</sup>Favor me, LORD, and deliver me!

LORD, come quickly and help me!

<sup>14</sup>Let those who seek my life, who want me dead, be disgraced and put to shame.

Let those who want to do me harm be thoroughly frustrated and humiliated.

<sup>15</sup>Let those who say to me, "Yes! Oh, yes!"<sup>w</sup> be destroyed by their shame.

<sup>16</sup>But let all who seek you celebrate and rejoice in you.

Let those who love your salvation always say, "The LORD is great!"

<sup>w</sup>See Ps 35:21, 25.

40:5 The psalmist addresses God directly, and verse 5 could be viewed as the beginning of the "new song" of verse 3. No one can compare: See Psalm 97:9; Isaiah 40:18. wonderful deeds: This recalls the exodus out of Egypt (see Exod 3:20) and other historic deliverances of the whole people (see Ps 9:1).

40:6 Instead of sacrifice (see Pss 50:14, 23; 51:15-16; 1 Sam 15:22; Isa 1:12-17; Hos 6:6; Amos 5:21-24), the psalmist has ears to hear and to respond to God's will.

40:7 written scroll: This seems to be the psalmist's way of affirming that he or she belongs to God (see Pss 56:8; 69:28; 139:16).

40:8 will... Instruction... me: The psalmist has internalized God's will, and so is living out what Psalm 1:1-2 describe as true happiness.

40:9-10 As witness to God's deeds and God's will (see Pss 22:22, 26; 35:18), the psalmist mentions very important words that describe God's character and purposes. your righteousness: See Psalms 5:8; 33:5; 36:6. faithfulness: See Psalms 40:11; 25:10; 33:4. salvation: See Psalms 40:16; 13:5. loyal love: See Psalms 40:11; 5:7; 33:5; 36:6.

40:11-17 Psalm 40:11 makes the shift to petition and complaint. Psalm 40:12 seems to suggest that the psalmist's own sinfulness is involved (see Pss 6; 38; 39). If so, the psalmist claims God's forgiving love (40:11), and then suggests that it isn't justified that the opponents seek to take advantage (40:14-15). Ps 40:13-17 are nearly identical to Psalm 70.

40:13 come quickly: See Psalm 38:22.

40:14 seek my life: See Psalm 35:4.

40:16 See Psalm 35:27.

17 But me? I'm weak and needy.
Let my Lord think of me.
You are my help and my rescuer.
My God, don't wait any longer!

Psalm 41

For the music leader. A psalm of David.

- 1 Those who pay close attention to the poor are truly happy!
The LORD rescues them during troubling times.
- 2 The LORD protects them and keeps them alive;
they are widely regarded throughout the land as happy people.
You* won't hand them over to the will of their enemies.
- 3 The LORD will strengthen them when they are lying in bed, sick.
You will completely transform the place where they lie ill.
- 4 But me? I said, "LORD, have mercy on me!
Heal me because I have sinned against you."
- 5 My enemies speak maliciously about me:
"When will he die and his name disappear?"
- 6 Whenever they come to visit, they say nothing of value.
Their hearts collect evil gossip;
once they leave, they tell it to everybody.
- 7 All of those who hate me talk about me, whispering to each other,
plotting evil against me:
- 8 "Some horrible thing has been poured into him;
the next time he lies down, he won't get up.
- 9 Even my good friend, the one I trusted, who shared my food, has kicked me with his heel—a betrayer!
- 10 But you, LORD, please have mercy on me and lift me up so I can pay them back!
- 11 Then I'll know you are pleased with me because my enemy won't be shouting in triumph over me.
- 12 You support me in my integrity;
you put me in your presence forever.
- 13 Bless the LORD, the God of Israel, from forever to forever!
Amen and Amen!

*LXX, Syr; Vulg God won't

40:17 weak and needy: See Psalm 9:18. my help: See Psalm 10:14.

41:1-13 Psalm 41 contains a central section of petition and complaint (41:4-10) as in a typical prayer for help. Like Psalms 27 and 40, Psalm 41 begins with an affirmation of trust (41:1-3). Because it returns to trust in 40:11-12, the structure of Psalm 41 represents literally the normal situation of those who pray the prayers for help. They are confronted by opposition, but they surround themselves with trust in God's protecting and providing presence.

41:1-3 As Psalm 41:3 suggests, sickness seems to be involved in the psalmist's plight; and as is often the case, the enemies are out to take advantage of the situation (41:2; see Pss 41:5-8; 38:11-14; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

41:1 Those... truly happy!: See Psalm 1:1-2, where true happiness derives from following God's Instruction or will. Because God wills the well-being of the poor (see Ps 9:18; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82), those who follow God's Instruction will also pursue happiness by helping the poor.

41:2 happy people: See Psalm 2:12, where happiness comes from taking refuge in God. It is significant that this final psalm in Book I clearly recalls Psalms 1-2.

41:4-10 have mercy on me: This identical plea frames this section of petition and complaint.

41:4 Heal me: See Psalm 6:2. I have sinned: Sin and sickness are connected (see Pss 6; 32; 38; 39). Even so, the psalmist hopes that the trouble doesn't mean divine displeasure; and it's clear that the enemies aren't justified in blaming the psalmist or in seeking to take advantage (see Pss 35:13-14; 40:14-15).

41:7 See Psalm 31:13.

41:9 See Psalm 31:11; John 13:26.

41:10 pay them back: See Psalms 3:7-8; 7:6; 28:4.

41:12 my integrity: See Psalms 18:25, 26:1. in your presence: more literally, "in your face" (see Ps 11:7).

41:13 This doxology marks the conclusion of Book I, and

40:17 Ps 70:5,
Ps 86:1,
Ps 109:22

41:1 Prv 14:21

41:2 Ps 27:12

41:3 2Ki 1:16;

Ps 50:15,

Ps 73:26,

Ps 138:7;

Is 58:10

41:4 Ps 6:2,

Ps 51:4, Ps 147:3;

Hos 6:1

41:5 Job 18:17;

Ps 38:12,

Ps 102:8

41:6 Ps 12:2;

Prv 26:24

41:7 Ps 56:5;

Prv 16:28;

Mt 22:15;

Ro 1:29;

2Co 12:20

41:8 Ps 71:11

41:9 2Sa 15:12;

Job 19:19;

Ps 55:12,

Ps 55:20;

Is 13:18

41:10 Ps 3:3

41:11 Ps 25:2,

Ps 37:23,

Ps 147:11

42:1 Ps 84:1-2

42:2 Josh 3:10;
Ps 63:1, Ps 84:2,
Ps 143:642:3 Ps 42:10,
Ps 79:10,
Ps 102:9,
Ps 115:2,
Mt 7:1042:4 1Sa 1:15;
Ps 55:14,
Ps 122:1;
Is 30:2942:5 Ps 42:11,
Ps 43:5, Ps 71:14;
Lam 3:24;
Mt 26:38

BOOK II

(Psalms 42–72)

Psalm 42<sup>y</sup>For the music leader. A maskil<sup>a</sup> of the Korahites.

- <sup>1</sup> Just like a deer that craves streams of water, my whole being<sup>a</sup> craves you, God.
- <sup>2</sup> My whole being thirsts for God, for the living God.
When will I come and see God's face?<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>3</sup> My tears have been my food both day and night, as people constantly questioned me,
"Where's your God now?"

- <sup>4</sup> But I remember these things as I bare my soul:
how I made my way to the mighty one's abode,<sup>c</sup> to God's own house, with joyous shouts and thanksgiving songs—
a huge crowd celebrating the festival!
- <sup>5</sup> Why, I ask myself, are you so depressed?
Why are you so upset inside?
Hope in God!

Books II–III and the Elohist Psalter Psalms 42–83 are called the Elohist Psalter because they rarely use the name for God that is translated "LORD," preferring instead another Hebrew word, elohim, "God." The Elohist Psalter with 42 psalms probably arose and was passed on as one collection. At some point, the Elohist Psalter was joined to Pss 1–41 (Book I), after a few more psalms were added (Pss 84–89) to form the current Books II and III. It isn't by chance that Pss 42–83 starts with a Korah collection (see Pss 42–49) and ends with the final psalm of the Asaph collection (Pss 50, 73–83).

The Elohist Psalter would have had a Davidic flavor because of the Davidic collection at its core (Pss 51–72). Books II–III continue the Davidic theme in the concluding royal psalms (Pss 72; 89). But the Davidic focus proves to be tragic. Psalm 89 tells about the rejection of the Davidic covenant, reflecting the exile that began with the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BCE. Both Books II and III begin with individual prayers for help (Pss 42–43; 73) and continue with community prayers for help (Pss 44; 74). Almost all the community prayers for help in the Psalter are found in Book III (see Pss 74; 79; 80; 83; and perhaps 85), where there is less Davidic presence (Ps 86 is the only Davidic psalm in Book III). All this seems to look forward to the bad news of Psalm 89, to which Books IV and V will offer a response (see sidebars, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89; "Book V" at Ps 107).

<sup>y</sup>Pss 42–43 form one single poem; cf the note at Pss 9–10. <sup>a</sup>Perhaps instruction <sup>b</sup>Or soul; also in 42:2, 4, 5, 6, 11, 43:5 <sup>c</sup>Syr, Tg; MT and appear before God? <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain similar doxologies mark the ends of Books II–IV (see Pss 72:18–19; 89:52; 106:48). Bless: See Psalm 16:7.

42:1–43:5 Psalms 42 and 43 belong together. Psalm 43 lacks a title; and more importantly, the shared refrain (42:5, 11; 43:5) indicates a literary unity. The refrain also divides the prayer for help into three sections, all of which include the psalmist's deep desire to experience God's presence. The title mentions the Korahites (see Pss 42–49; 84–85; 87–88; see sidebar, "Books II–III and the Elohist Psalter"). Korah is mentioned in 1 Chronicles among the Levites who were responsible for music (see 1 Chron 6:22, 37), and the Korahites are identified as temple gatekeepers (1 Chron 9:19).

42:1–5 The first section is a complaint, a typical element of a prayer for help.

42:2 thirsts: Water is a necessity of life (see Ps 23:2). The psalmist professes that God is a necessity of life, and that his or her life depends on God (see Ps 63:1). When . . . face? The question seems to indicate a desire to visit the temple, especially since "God's own house" is mentioned in Psalm 42:4 (see also Pss 43:3–4; 5:7). The temple offered a direct experience of God's presence, which is described by the image of seeing God's face (see Pss 11:7; 24:6; 27:8).

42:3 "Where . . . now?" The question is a way of taunting the psalmist (see Pss 42:10; 79:10; 115:2; Joel 2:17; Mic 7:10).

42:4 Remembering former visits to the temple in more joyful times increases the psalmist's despair, as the refrain also suggests.

42:5 The refrain expresses trust, another typical element of a prayer for help. Hope in God!: See Psalms 5:3; 27:14; 31:24; 33:18, 20, 22; 37:34; 38:15; 39:7. The psalmist looks forward to the renewed experience of God's life-giving presence.

Because I will again give him thanks,
my saving presence and my God.

42:6 Dt 3:8;
2Sa 17:22;
Ps 61:2

<sup>6</sup>My whole being is depressed.
That's why I remember you from the land of Jordan and Hermon, from Mount Mizar.

42:7 Ps 69:1-2,
Ps 88:7; Jon 2:3

<sup>7</sup>Deep called to deep at the noise of your waterfalls;
all your massive waves surged over me.

42:8 Job 35:10;
Ps 63:6, Ps 77:6,
Ps 133:3,
Ps 149:5

<sup>8</sup>By day the LORD commands his faithful love;
by night his song is with me—a prayer to the God of my life.

42:9 Ps 13:1,
Ps 18:2, Ps 38:6,
Ps 43:2

<sup>9</sup>I will say to God, my solid rock, "Why have you forgotten me?
Why do I have to walk around, sad, oppressed by enemies?"

42:10 Ps 42:3

<sup>10</sup>With my bones crushed, my foes make fun of me, constantly questioning me: "Where's your God now?"

42:11 Ps 42:5,
Ps 43:5

<sup>11</sup>Why, I ask myself, are you so depressed?
Why are you so upset inside?
Hope in God!
Because I will again give him thanks,
my saving presence and my God.

43:1 1Sa 24:15;
Ps 7:8, Ps 26:1,
Ps 35:1

43:3 Ps 2:6,
Ps 57:3, Ps 84:1

43:4 Ps 21:6
43:5 Ps 42:5,
Ps 42:11

Psalm 43

- <sup>1</sup>Establish justice for me, God!
Argue my case against ungodly people!
Rescue me from the dishonest and unjust!
- <sup>2</sup>Because you are my God, my protective fortress!
Why have you rejected me?
Why do I have to walk around, sad, oppressed by enemies?
- <sup>3</sup>Send your light and truth—those will guide me!
Let them bring me to your holy mountain, to your dwelling place.
- <sup>4</sup>Let me come to God's altar—let me come to God, my joy, my delight—then I will give you thanks with the lyre, God, my God!
- <sup>5</sup>Why, I ask myself, are you so depressed?
Why are you so upset inside?
Hope in God!
Because I will again give him thanks,
my saving presence and my God.

42:6-11 This second section focuses on complaint, although Psalm 42:8 claims God's love amid God's apparent absence.

42:6 I remember you: The psalmist continues to remember (see Ps 42:4), and memory now seems to be contributing to the emerging sense of hope. Jordan . . . Mizar: The place names may indicate that the psalmist is outside of Israel or Judah. The locations seem to be in the region where the Jordan River begins, perhaps leading into the water images in Psalm 42:7 (see map 6, C1).

42:7-8 The water image communicates disorder and confusion (see Ps 18:16). Even so, the psalmist doesn't lose sight of God. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. his song: Giving the desire to visit the temple and the likelihood of being far away from it, the psalmist might naturally recall the songs that focus on Jerusalem as God's place (see Ps 46; see sidebar, "Psalms 46–48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship" at Ps 48).

42:9 forgotten me: See Psalm 13:1. As always in the prayers for help, the enemies are an oppressive presence (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

43:1-5 This final section suggests further complaint, but it also includes many petitions.

43:1 Establish justice: This and the other petitions in verse 1 grow out of faith and hope that God will set things right for the mistreated (see Pss 9:4, 18; 26:1).

43:3 light: See Psalms 4:6; 27:1. holy mountain: See Psalms 2:6; 3:4; 15:1. The psalmist looks forward to being led to the temple, as the desire has been from the beginning of the psalm (see Ps 42:1-2).

43:4 God's altar: See Psalm 26:6. thanks . . . lyre: See Psalm 33:2.

43:5 The final occurrence of the refrain is almost the same as the previous two, but following Psalm 43:3-4, the note of hope sounds more loudly than the depression and turmoil. The refrain itself, along with the entire poem, places hurt and hope together, as the prayers for help regularly do (see Ps 13:5-6).

44:1

Ex 12:26-27;
Jgs 6:13; Ps 42:1,
Ps 78:3

44:2 Ex 15:17;

Josh 3:10;
2Sa 7:10;
Ps 78:55, Ps 80:8

44:3 Dt 4:37;

Dt 7:8;
Josh 24:12;
Ps 4:6

44:4 Ps 5:2;

Ps 42:8, Ps 74:12

44:5 Dt 33:17;

Ps 60:12,

Ps 108:13;

Dn 8:4; Zec 10:5

44:6 Ps 20:7,

Ps 33:16; Hos 1:7

44:8 Ps 30:12,

Ps 34:2; Jer 9:24;

Ro 2:17

44:9 Ps 43:2,

Ps 60:1, Ps 60:10,

Ps 89:38,

Ps 108:11

44:11 Lv 26:33;

Dt 4:27,

Dt 28:64;

Ps 44:22,

Ps 106:27

44:13 Ps 79:4,

Ps 80:6, Ps 89:41

Psalm 44For the music leader. A maskil<sup>d</sup> of the Korahites.*

- <sup>1</sup>We have heard it, God, with our own ears;
our ancestors told us about it:
about the deeds you did in their days, in days long past.
- <sup>2</sup>You, by your own hand, removed all the nations, but you planted our ancestors.
You crushed all the peoples,
but you set our ancestors free.
- <sup>3</sup>No, not by their own swords did they take possession of the land—their own arms didn't save them.
No, it was your strong hand, your arm, and the light of your face because you were pleased with them.
- <sup>4</sup>It's you, God! You who are my king, the one who orders salvation for Jacob.
- <sup>5</sup>We've pushed our foes away by your help;
we've trampled our enemies by your name.
- <sup>6</sup>No, I won't trust in my bow;
my sword won't save me <sup>7</sup>because it's you who saved us from our foes, you who put those who hate us to shame.
- <sup>8</sup>So we glory in God at all times and give thanks to your name forever.

Selah

- <sup>9</sup>But now you've rejected and humiliated us.
You no longer accompany our armies.
- <sup>10</sup>You make us retreat from the enemy;
our adversaries plunder us.
- <sup>11</sup>You've handed us over like sheep for butchering;
you've scattered us among the nations.
- <sup>12</sup>You've sold your people for nothing, not even bothering to set a decent price.
- <sup>13</sup>You've made us a joke to all our neighbors;
we're mocked and ridiculed by everyone around us.
- <sup>14</sup>You've made us a bad joke to the nations, something to be laughed at by all peoples.
- <sup>15</sup>All day long my disgrace confronts me, and shame covers my face <sup>16</sup>because of the voices of those who make fun of me and bad-mouth me, because of the enemy who is out for revenge.

<sup>d</sup>Perhaps instruction

44:1-26 The first communal prayer for help in the Psalter, Psalm 44 must have arisen in response to a severe national setback. The fall of Jerusalem in 587 BCE and the following Babylonian exile could account for the origin of Psalm 44, although the people's profession of innocence in verses 17-22 doesn't seem to fit with the prophetic view that the exile was a deserved punishment. If Psalm 44 was composed before the exile, it would have spoken in a new way in light of the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BCE.

44:1-8 The first section is a review of God's historic deeds on Israel's behalf, pointing to the exodus out of Egypt (44:1) and even more clearly to the possession of the land (44:2-3, 5, 7). For these past life-giving actions, God is to be glorified and thanked (44:4, 6, 8).

44:1 See Psalm 78:4; Deuteronomy 6:20-25, which is a brief recital of God's deeds.

44:2-3 See Joshua 8-12. planted: See Exodus 15:17. light of your face: See Psalm 11:7.

44:4 my king: The historic deliverances are taken as evidence of God's rule (see Ps 5:2; Exod 15:18). The alternation between first person singular and plural voices is probably to be explained by the use of Psalm 44 in worship.

44:6 See Psalms 20:7; 33:16-17.

44:9-16 The thankful, trusting tone of verses 1-8 makes the complaint of verses 9-16 sound all the more painful.

44:13-16 See Psalms 42:3, 10; 79:4. The whole people are taunted as the individual psalmists often are as well (see Ps 31:11). The enemies are also present here (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

- 17 All this has come upon us, but we haven't forgotten you or broken your covenant.
- 18 Our hearts haven't turned away, neither have our steps strayed from your way.
- 19 But you've crushed us in the place where jackals<sup>a</sup> live, covering us with deepest darkness.
- 20 If we had forgotten the name of our God or spread out our hands to some strange deity, 21 wouldn't God have discovered it?
After all, God knows every secret of the heart.
- 22 No, God, it's because of you that we are getting killed every day—it's because of you that we are considered sheep ready for slaughter.
- 23 Wake up! Why are you sleeping, Lord?
Get up! Don't reject us forever!
- 24 Why are you hiding your face, forgetting our suffering and oppression?
- 25 Look: we're going down to the dust;
our stomachs are flat on the ground!
- 26 Stand up! Help us!
Save us for the sake of your faithful love.

Psalm 45

For the music leader. According to "The Lilies."
Of the Korahites. A maskil.<sup>b</sup> A love song.

- 1 A marvelous word has stirred my heart as I mention my works to the king.
My tongue is the pen of a skillful scribe.
- 2 You are the most handsome of men;
grace has been poured out on your lips.
No wonder God has blessed you forever!
- 3 Strap on your sword, great warrior, with your glory and grandeur.
- 4 Go and succeed in your grandeur!
Ride out on behalf of truth, humility, and righteousness!
Let your strong hand perform awesome deeds.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>a</sup>Or the sea monster(s) <sup>b</sup>Perhaps instruction <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain

44:17-22 Unlike many psalms in which the psalmists suggest that their suffering results from their sin (see Pss 6; 32; 38; 39; 40; 41), the people here affirm their innocence (see Pss 7; 17; 26).

44:17 your covenant: The suggestion is that God has broken the covenant, which was established at Sinai (see Exod 24:1-8) and renewed when the people entered the land (see Josh 24:14-28).

44:22 See Romans 8:36, where the apostle Paul quotes this verse. Along with texts like Isaiah 53 and the book of Job, Psalm 44 and the entire tendency to express lamentation led to changes about the meaning of suffering in the post-exilic era and beyond. In particular, people were aware that suffering isn't always evidence of punishment, nor of separation from God.

44:23-26 As is regularly the case in the prayers for help, God is the solution, even when God is also seen as the problem.

44:23 Wake up!: See Psalm 7:6.

44:24 hiding your face: See Psalm 13:1.

44:26 Help us!: See Psalm 10:14. Save us: See Psalm 13:5. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. As is often the case in the prayers for help, the appeal for help is based on God's character.

45:1-17 Psalm 45 belongs with other royal psalms that deal openly with the earthly king (see 45:1, 5, 11, 14-16; Ps 2; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2); but it is unique in several ways. For instance, the speaker introduces himself or herself in verse 1; and praise isn't offered directly to God, but rather to the king at his wedding (see "love song" in the title). The psalm shows the close relationship between God and God's anointed (45:7), and it would remind the king of his responsibilities in that relationship (see 45:4, 6-7).

45:2-9 The focus is on the king. The wedding setting is in view in 45:8-9.

45:3 glory and grandeur: See Psalm 21:5.

45:4, 7 righteousness: This repeated word makes it clear that the king has been blessed (Ps 45:2) and given power to do God's will (see Pss 5:8; 72:1-7). anointed: See Psalm 2:2.

44:17 Dt 6:12
44:18 Job 23:11;
Ps 78:57,
Ps 119:51,
Ps 119:157
44:19 Job 3:5,
Job 30:29;
Ps 23:4, Ps 51:8
44:20 Ps 61:9
44:21 Ps 139:1,
Jer 17:10
44:22 Is 53:7;
Jer 12:3; Ro 8:36
44:23 Ps 7:6,
Ps 35:23,
Ps 74:1, Ps 77:7,
Ps 78:65
44:24 Job 13:24;
Ps 13:1;
Lam 5:20
44:25 Ps 119:25
45:1 Jgs 5:14;
Ecc 7:6; Ps 2:6,
Ps 42:1, Ps 44:1
45:2 Ps 21:6,
Lk 4:22; Jn 1:14
45:3 Ps 21:5;
Is 9:6; Heb 4:12;
Rev 1:16,
Rev 19:15
45:4 Ps 21:8,
Ps 65:5;
Mt 11:29;
2Co 10:1;
Rev 6:2

45:5 Nm 24:8;
Dt 32:23;
Ps 21:12,
Ps 120:4
45:6 Heb 1:8-9
45:7 Ps 22;
Ps 33:5, Ps 89:20;
Is 61:1; Lk 4:18
45:8 1Ki 22:39;
Song 4:14;
Am 3:15;
Mt 2:11;
Jn 19:39
45:9 1Ki 2:19,
1Ki 9:28;
Job 22:24,
Job 28:16;
Is 13:12
45:10 Dt 21:13;
Ru 1:16
45:11 Ps 95:6;
Song 4:1; Is 54:5;
Lk 24:52;
Eph 5:33
45:12 Ps 22:29,
Ps 72:10
45:13 Ps 45:9;
Is 61:10;
Rev 19:7-8
45:14 Jgs 5:30;
Song 1:4;
Eze 16:18
45:15 Ps 4:7;
Is 35:10,
Is 51:11-12,
Is 61:10
45:16 Ps 68:27,
Ps 113:8;
1Pt 2:9; Rev 1:6,
Rev 5:10
45:17 Ps 138:4;
Mal 1:11
46:1 Ps 9:9

- <sup>5</sup>Let the peoples fall beneath you.
May your sharp arrows pierce the hearts of the king's enemies.
- <sup>6</sup>Your divine throne is eternal and everlasting.
Your royal scepter is a scepter of justice.
- <sup>7</sup>You love righteousness and hate wickedness.
No wonder God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of joy more than all your companions!
- <sup>8</sup>All your clothes have the pleasing scent of myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.
The music of stringed instruments coming from ivory palaces entertains you.
- <sup>9</sup>The royal princess is standing in your precious jewels;<sup>a</sup> the queen stands at your right, dressed in the gold of Ophir.
- <sup>10</sup>Listen, daughter; pay attention, and listen closely!
Forget your people and your father's house.
- <sup>11</sup>Let the king desire your beauty.
Because he is your master, bow down to him now.
- <sup>12</sup>The city of Tyre, the wealthiest of all, will seek your favor with gifts, <sup>13</sup>with riches of every sort for the royal princess, dressed in pearls,<sup>4</sup> her robe embroidered with gold.
- <sup>14</sup>In robes of many colors, she is led to the king.
Her attendants, the young women servants following her,
are presented to you as well.
- <sup>15</sup>As they enter the king's palace, they are led in with celebration and joy.
- <sup>16</sup>Your sons, great king, will succeed your fathers;<sup>5</sup> you will appoint them as princes throughout the land.
- <sup>17</sup>I will perpetuate your name from one generation to the next so the peoples will praise you forever and always.

Psalm 46

For the music leader. Of the Korahites. According to Alamothe.<sup>a</sup> A song.

- <sup>1</sup>God is our refuge and strength, a help always near in times of great trouble.
- <sup>2</sup>That's why we won't be afraid when the world falls apart, when the mountains crumble into the center of the sea, <sup>3</sup>when its waters roar and rage, when the mountains shake because of its surging waves.

Selah

<sup>a</sup>Syr; MT royal princess is among your precious ones. <sup>1</sup>Correction; Heb lacks for; Heb uncertain in 45:12-13
<sup>4</sup>Heb lacks great king. <sup>5</sup>Heb uncertain; see note at Pss 9-10 or Ps 111.

45:6-7 These verses were understood in late Judaism to refer to a coming messiah, and they were applied to Jesus by the early Christians to support their belief that Jesus was the Messiah (which in Greek is christos; see Heb 1:8-9). 45:10-15 The focus shifts to the bride and queen-to-be; and as in Psalm 45:8-9, sensuality and wealth are the order of the day. The "humility and righteousness" of verse 4 seem to have been lost in the shuffle of wedding-day activities, perhaps a realistic anticipation of the actual behavior of the Israelite and Judean kings, who often pursued their own self-promoting agendas rather than doing the will of God as they were supposed to do (see Pss 45:15-16; 72).

45:16-17 It isn't clear whether the speaker should be identified as the poet of Psalm 45:1 or God. In any case, the promise of 45:16-17 fits with the promises made elsewhere to the house of David (see Pss 72:15-17; 89:3-4, 28-29, 35-37; 2 Sam 7:12-16). The disappearance of the monarchy at the beginning of the exile in 587 BCE called these promises into question, and the Psalter reflects this (see Ps 89:38-51; see sidebar, "Books II-III and the Elohist Psalter" at Ps 42).

46:1-11 Because of the focus on Jerusalem, God's city in verses 4-5, Psalm 46 is classified as a Song of Zion (see Pss 48; 76; 84; 87; 122; 132; 137). Zion was a symbol of God's power and protecting presence, so to affirm the city was really to profess faith in God (see sidebar, "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship"). Therefore, Psalm 46 could also be considered a psalm of trust (see Pss 16; 23). The three occurrences of Selah mark the three sections of the poem.

46:1-3 Trust in God is expressed directly in this opening section.

46:1 refuge: See Psalm 2:12. strength: This word occurs elsewhere in contexts that clearly affirm God's rule, which Psalm 46 also asserts in verse 10 (see "power," "strength," or "strong" in Psalms 29:1; 93:1; 96:7; 99:4).

46:2-3 mountains crumble... mountains shake: In the

- 4 There is a river whose streams gladden God's city, the holiest dwelling of the Most High.
- 5 God is in that city. It will never crumble.
God will help it when morning dawns.
- 6 Nations roar; kingdoms crumble.
God utters his voice; the earth melts.
- 7 The LORD of heavenly forces is with us!
The God of Jacob is our place of safety.

46:4 Ps 36:8,
Ps 48:1, Ps 87:3,
Rev 22:1
46:5 Dt 23:14;
Ps 125:1; Is 12:6;
Jl 2:27; Zec 2:5
46:7 Nm 14:9;
2Ch 13:12;
Ps 9:9, Ps 46:11;
Is 8:10

Selah

- 8 Come, see the LORD's deeds, what devastation he has imposed on the earth—9 bringing wars to an end in every corner of the world, breaking the bow and shattering the spear, burning chariots with fire.
- 10 "That's enough! Now know that I am God!
I am exalted among all nations; I am exalted throughout the world!"

46:8 Ps 66:5
46:9 1Sa 2:4;
Ps 76:3; Is 2:4;
Eze 39:9; Mi 4:3
46:10 Is 2:11,
Is 2:17
46:11 Ps 46:7
47:1 2Ki 11:12
47:3 Ps 18:47
47:4 Am 6:8,
Am 8:7; Na 2:2;
1Pt 1:4

Selah

- 11 The LORD of heavenly forces is with us!
The God of Jacob is our place of safety.

Psalm 47

For the music leader. A psalm of the Korahites.

- 1 Clap your hands, all you people!
Shout joyfully to God with a joyous shout!
- 2 Because the LORD Most High is awesome, he is the great king of the whole world.
- 3 He subdues the nations under us, subdues all people beneath our feet.
- 4 He chooses our inheritance for us:
the heights of Jacob, which he loves.

Selah

ancient view of the world, the mountains held the dry land in place and held up the sky. The worst possible event would be for the mountains to crumble or shake. But the psalmist affirms that even if the worst were to happen, God can still be trusted, and so there is no reason to be afraid (see Ps 23:4).

46:4-7 The central section turns attention to Zion.
46:4 river. There is no river in Jerusalem. The river here is a symbol of life-giving power, in contrast to the threatening waters and waves of Psalm 46:3 (see the river in Ezek 47:1-12 and Rev. 22:1-12), holiest... High: Jerusalem was the site of God's earthly house, the temple (see Pss 2:6; 5:7).
46:5-6 never crumble... crumble: Note that "crumble" appears three times (see Ps 46:2). In the midst of natural and political turmoil, God's place is safe. the earth melts: a sign of submission, not destruction (see Ps 97:5).
46:7 The refrain (see Ps 46:11) emphasizes the good news of God's protecting presence. heavenly forces: See note at Psalm 24:10.
46:8-11 The focus returns to God in this final section.
46:8 devastation... earth: As it turns out, God's "devastation" is actually restoration, because what God destroys in Psalm 46:9 are the tools of war (see Isa 2:2-4; Mic 4:1-3). Given the violent and militaristic images for God and the fulfillment of God's purposes elsewhere in the Psalter (see Pss 2:8-11; 18:31-50; 21:8-12; 144:1-2; 149:6-9), it is especially important to note that here God ultimately "fights" for peace.

46:10 That's enough!... God!: This is essentially God's call for a cease-fire, an end to fighting that results from recognizing God's claim to rule all the nations and the world itself. I am exalted... throughout the world!: Elsewhere in the Psalter, exaltation is linked with proclaiming God's rule or respecting God as king (see "magnify" in Ps 99:5, 9; and "lift you up high" in Ps 145:1). The repetition emphasizes God's absolute claim on the world, and it suggests that war results from the self-assertion of human beings over against God and God's purposes for the world.

47:1-9 Psalm 47 is an enthronement psalm, a song of praise that affirms God's rule (see Pss 29; 93; 95-99). Verses 1-4 and 6-9 demonstrate the typical form of a song of praise: invitations to praise (47:1, 6) followed by reasons for praise (47:2-4, 7-9) that begin in both cases by proclaiming God as king of the whole world (47:2, 7). Verse 5 occupies the center of the psalm between the two sections of praise. The placement of Psalm 47 between two Songs of Zion is significant (see sidebar, "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship" at Ps 48).
47:1 clap: See Psalm 98:8; Nahum 3:19. all you people!: The songs of praise regularly invite a worldwide response (see Pss 66:1; 117:1). Shout joyfully!: The appropriate greeting for a king (see Pss 95:1-2; 98:4, 6).
47:3-4 He subdues... our inheritance: God's universal rule is illustrated by the gift of land for the people, their inheritance (see "legacy" in Josh 11:23), which he loves: See Psalm 78:68; Deuteronomy 7:8; Isaiah 43:4.

47:5 2Sa 6:15;
Ps 68:18, Ps 98:6;
Eph 4:8

47:6 Ps 68:4,
Ps 96:1, Ps 117:1,
Ps 145:1,
Ps 149:1

47:7 Zec 14:9;
1Co 14:15

47:8 1Ch 16:31

47:9 Ps 89:18

48:1 Ps 2:6,
Ps 46:4, Ps 87:1;
Is 2:3; Zec 8:3

48:2 Ps 50:2;
Lam 2:15;
Mt 5:35

48:3 Zec 2:5

48:7 1Kj 10:22,

1Kj 22:48;
Jer 18:17;
Eze 27:25

48:8 Ps 48:1,
Ps 87:5

<sup>5</sup>God has gone up with a joyous shout—the LORD with the blast of the ram's horn.

<sup>6</sup>Sing praises to God! Sing praises!
Sing praises to our king! Sing praises <sup>7</sup>because God is king of the whole world!
Sing praises with a song of instruction!<sup>1</sup>

<sup>8</sup>God is king over the nations.
God sits on his holy throne.

<sup>9</sup>The leaders of all people are gathered with the people of Abraham's God because the earth's guardians belong to God;
God is exalted beyond all.

Psalm 48

A song. A psalm of the Korahites.

<sup>1</sup>In the city belonging to our God,
the LORD is great and so worthy of praise!
His holy mountain <sup>2</sup>is a beautiful summit, the joy of the whole world.
Mount Zion, in the far north, is the city of the great king.
<sup>3</sup>God is in its fortifications, revealing himself as a place of safety.

<sup>4</sup>Look: the kings assembled themselves, advancing all together—

<sup>5</sup>when they saw it, they were stunned;
they panicked and ran away frightened.

<sup>6</sup>Trembling took hold of them right there—like a woman giving birth,

<sup>7</sup>or like the east wind when it smashes the ships of Tarshish.

<sup>8</sup>Just like we had heard, now we've seen it for ourselves in the city of the LORD of heavenly forces, in the city of our God.
May God make it secure forever!

Selah

<sup>1</sup>Or Sing praises with understanding or wisely (cf LXX, Vulg); Heb maskil; see the note at Ps 32.

47:5 God has gone up: In the original use of the psalm, verse 5 could have accompanied the symbolic act of God's enthronement, perhaps at the conclusion of a festal procession (see Ps 24:7-10). The Hebrew root translated "gone up" occurs again as "exalted" in verse 9, linking the center and the end of the psalm. blast... ram's horn: The blast of a ram's horn accompanies Solomon's enthronement (1 Kgs 1:34, 39).

47:7 song of instruction!: See translation note. The same Hebrew root is used in the command "Wise up!" in Psalm 2:10, where earthly kings are told to recognize God's rule.

47:8-9 Because God is "king of the whole world" (Ps 47:2, 7), the gathering of God's people must include all world leaders, along with the Israelites. This worldwide point of view, along with the mention of Abraham, recalls Genesis 12:3, where Abraham is promised that "all the families of earth will be blessed because of you" (see Ps 46:10 and Isa 2:2-4; Mic 4:1-3, where all nations are gathered so that God can "settle disputes" and end warfare).

48:1-14 Psalm 48 is a Song of Zion (see Ps 46), mentioning either the city or Zion (or both) in each of its three sections: verses 1-3, 4-8, 9-14. While Zion itself is praised, the real significance of the city is its ability to reveal God (48:3, 9-14; see sidebar, "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship"). Psalm 48 may have originated as a pilgrimage psalm (see Pss 120-134; see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120), inviting visitors to Look (48:4). Walk around (48:12), Examine (48:13), and finally to tell (48:13).

48:1-3 As this first section suggests, praise of Zion and praise of God are inseparable.

48:1 holy mountain: See Psalm 2:6.

48:2 beautiful... whole world: Zion is seen through the eyes of faith. Psalm 47 pictures God as "king of the whole world" (Ps 47:2, 7), and the one who presides over a gathering of all the nations that would have been held on Mount Zion (see Isa 2:2-4; Mic 4:1-3). far north: The underlying Hebrew, if taken as a proper noun, would be Zaphon, the mountain where the Canaanite gods and goddesses lived. The claim seems to be that the God of Israel has replaced the Canaanite gods as the true ruler of the world (see Ps 82). great king: See Psalms 5:2; 47:2, 7.

48:3 place of safety: See Psalm 46:7, 11.

48:4 As pilgrims approach Jerusalem, they are invited to view the city, imagining how it appeared to attacking armies and their leaders. As in Psalm 48:1-3, the city is seen through the eyes of faith. The sight of Jerusalem didn't really repel foreign invaders (see Ps 48:5-7); but to the eye of faith, the view of Jerusalem in the distance made a powerful impact. Verse 8 seems to signal the arrival of the pilgrims to Jerusalem.

48:7 east wind: The mention of the "east wind" may be meant to recall that it was a force during the sea crossing and the defeat of Pharaoh's armies (see Exod 14:21).

Psalms 46–48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship Psalms 46 and 48 are the first two of the several songs of Zion, all of which focus attention on Jerusalem (Zion) (see also Pss 76; 84; 87; 122; 132; 137). The intentional placement of Psalms 46 and 48 around Psalm 47 helps the reader or person praying the Psalms to understand and appreciate the importance of Jerusalem. Jerusalem is a particular place, the location of the temple in ancient times (see map 18). The temple was viewed as God's "house," that is, a place to experience God's presence. On the one hand, God's presence in this particular place declares God's claim on a particular people. On the other hand, Jerusalem reminds this particular people that their God is a God who claims all places and all people as God's own.

Psalm 47 appears between the first two songs of Zion to proclaim that "God is king over the nations" (Ps 47:8) and that God gathers all people as one, not just Israel (Ps 47:9; see Ps 87; Isa 2:2–4; Mic 4:1–3). While the particular place, Zion, is centrally important, a place to be treasured and visited by pilgrims (see Pss 48:1–3, 9–14; 84:10; 87:1–2; 122:1–2; 132:13–18), its fundamental importance is to testify to God's universal reign and to God's plan to establish justice, righteousness, and peace everywhere (see Pss 46:8–9; 48:9–11; 76:7–9; see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120).

48:9 Ps 26:3,
Ps 40:10
48:10 Mal 1:11
48:11 Ps 97:8
48:12 Neh 3:1
48:13 Ps 71:18
48:14 Ps 23:3;
Is 58:11
49:1 Ps 78:1,
Is 1:2
49:3 Ps 19:14,
Ps 37:30,
Ps 104:34,
Ps 119:130
49:4 Nm 12:8;
Ps 78:2; Prv 1:6

<sup>9</sup>We dwell on your faithful love, God, in your temple.

<sup>10</sup>Your praise, God, just like your reputation, extends to the far corners of the earth.
Your strong hand is filled with righteousness.

<sup>11</sup>Let Mount Zion be glad;
let the towns of Judah rejoice because of your acts of justice!

<sup>12</sup>Walk around Zion; go all the way around it; count its towers.

<sup>13</sup>Examine its defenses closely;
tour its fortifications so that you may tell future generations:

<sup>14</sup>"This is God, our God, forever and always!
He is the one who will lead us even to the very end."<sup>m</sup>

Psalm 49

For the music leader. A psalm of the Korahites.

<sup>1</sup>Listen to this, all you people!
Listen closely, all you citizens of the world—<sup>2</sup>people of every kind, rich and poor alike!

<sup>3</sup>My mouth speaks wisdom; my heart's meditation is full of insight.

<sup>4</sup>I will pay close attention to a proverb;
I will explain my riddle on the lyre.

<sup>m</sup>LXX; Heb uncertain; Heb al muth (unto death or against death), but see the notes at Pss 9–10, 46—the words might belong in the heading of Ps 49.

Tarshish: Probably in Spain (see Ps 72:10; Gen 10:4; 1 Kgs 10:22; Jer 10:9; Jon 1:3).

48:9–14 In this final section, the pilgrims are in your temple (48:9) and positioned to make their way around the city.

48:9 faithful love: The place itself is revelatory, putting pilgrims in touch with God's essential character (see Ps 5:7; Exod 34:6).

48:10–11 far corners... earth: The specific place has universal significance. righteousness... acts of justice: As in Psalm 48:9, the city itself reveals something about God—in this case, putting pilgrims in touch with God's basic will, which can be summarized as justice and righteousness (see Pss 5:8; 9:4; 33:5; 36:6; 96:13).

48:13 so that you may tell: The architectural tour of the city has a purpose: to prepare the pilgrims to be witnesses to God's character and will (see Ps 48:14). This mission is emphasized by a Hebrew play on words: "count" (Ps 48:12) and "tell," which translate the same Hebrew root. Again, the city itself reveals God's enduring claim on the people and the world.

49:1–20 The vocabulary of Israel's wisdom literature dominates the introduction of Psalm 49 (49:1–4), which is generally classified as a wisdom psalm. Its teaching about wealth (49:7–8, 12, 20) possibly was presented musically (see 49:4). The two main sections end with an identical refrain (49:12b, 20b).

49:1 all you people... all you citizens: Given the worldwide point of view of Psalms 46–48, it is appropriate that the psalmist addresses everyone.

49:3–4 wisdom... insight... proverb... riddle: These words appear often in the wisdom literature (see Prov 1:1–7). From the refrain, it's possible to guess what the psalmist may have had in mind as the riddle: How are people and animals alike?

49:6 Ps 10:3.

Ps 52:7;

Prov 11:28;

Jer 48:7;

Mk 10:24

49:7 Mt 16:26

49:8 Job 36:18;

Mt 16:26

49:9 Ps 16:10;

Ps 89:48

49:10 Ps 92:6;

Ps 94:8; Ecc 2:16;

Ecc 2:18;

Lk 12:20

49:11 Gn 4:17;

Ps 64:6

49:12 Ps 49:20;

Ecc 3:19;

2Pt 2:12

49:13 Lk 12:20

49:14

Job 24:19;

Ps 39:11; 1Co 6:2

49:15 Gn 5:24;

Ps 16:10;

Ps 73:24;

Hos 13:14

49:16 Ps 37:7

49:17 Job 27:19;

Lk 12:20; 1Ti 6:7

49:18 Dt 29:19;

Lk 12:19

49:20 Ps 49:12

- <sup>5</sup>Why should I be afraid in times of trouble, when the wrongdoing of my bullies engulfs me—<sup>6</sup>those people who trust in their fortunes and boast of their fantastic wealth?
<sup>7</sup>Wealth? It can't save a single person!
It can't pay a life's ransom-price to God.
<sup>8</sup>The price to save someone's life is too high—wealth will never be enough—<sup>9</sup>no one can live forever without experiencing the pit.

<sup>10</sup>Everyone knows that the wise die too, just like foolish and stupid people do,
all of them leaving their fortunes to others.

<sup>11</sup>Their graves<sup>a</sup> are their eternal homes, the place they live for all generations,
even if they had counties named after them!

<sup>12</sup>People won't live any longer because of wealth;
they're just like the animals that pass away.

<sup>13</sup>That's how it goes for those who are foolish, as well as for those who follow their lead, pleased with their talk.

<sup>14</sup>Like sheep, they're headed straight for the grave.<sup>o</sup>

Death will be their shepherd—but those who do right in their hearts will rule over them come morning!— their forms wasting away in the grave rather than having some dignified residence.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>15</sup>But God will save my life from the power of the grave, because he will take me.

<sup>16</sup>Don't be overly impressed when someone becomes rich, their house swelling to fantastic proportions,

<sup>17</sup>because when they die, they won't take any of it with them.
Their fantastic things won't accompany them down under.

<sup>18</sup>Though they consider themselves blessed during their lives, and even thank you when you deal well with them,<sup>q</sup> <sup>19</sup>they too will join the ancestors who've gone ahead;

they too will never see the light again.

<sup>20</sup>Wealthy people? They just don't understand; they're just like the animals that pass away.

Selah

Selah

<sup>a</sup>Correction with LXX <sup>o</sup>Heb Sheol; also again in 49:7, 15 <sup>p</sup>Heb uncertain in 49:13-14 <sup>q</sup>LXX, Syr

49:6 trust: The issue of trust is central in the Psalms; but trust is supposed to be directed to God, not to money and possessions (see Ps 4:5; 40:4; Mark 10:17-22; Luke 12:15).

49:7-9 These verses begin to answer the question of Ps 49:5-6—that is, life can't be bought. The answer may point to Exodus 13:11-16; 21:28-32 (see also Prov 13:8), which allow payment for human life in certain cases, but finally life is beyond purchase. Wealth?: See Psalms 52:7; 62:10. the pit: An image for death (see Ps 16:10).

49:10-12 Death destroys the false idea of human total power, and this is another reason that the wealthy aren't to be feared (see Pss 49:5-6; 39:4-6; Ecc 2:12-26).

49:13-14 As the translation note indicates, the Hebrew is difficult; but the psalmist does seem to distinguish between the final destinies of the foolish and those who do right (49:14). Verse 15 continues with this point of view.

49:15 But . . . grave: The unusual affirmation here is that God's power prevails over the power of "the grave" (see Ps 49:13-14; translation note), which was normally understood to mean that everyone went to Sheol, the realm of the dead, to which even God had no access (see Ps 6:5, but contrast Ps 139:8). he will take me: It isn't clear exactly what the psalmist means, but this affirmation again seems to push beyond the usual Israelite view of death (see Pss 22:29; 73:24; Gen 5:24; 2 Kgs 2:11-12; Rom 8:38-39; 14:7-8).

49:20 The refrain sounds more hopeful the second time, at least for those who trust God instead of their wealth.

Psalm 50A psalm of Asaph.*

- 1 From the rising of the sun to where it sets,
God, the LORD God, speaks, calling out to the earth.
- 2 From Zion, perfect in beauty, God shines brightly.
- 3 Our God is coming; he won't keep quiet.
A devouring fire is before him; a storm rages all around him.
- 4 God calls out to the skies above and to the earth in order to judge his people:
- 5 "Bring my faithful to me, those who made a covenant with me by sacrifice."
- 6 The skies proclaim his righteousness because God himself is the judge.
- 7 "Listen, my people, I will now speak;
Israel, I will now testify against you.
I am God—your God!
- 8 I'm not punishing you for your sacrifices or for your entirely burned offerings, which are always before me.
- 9 I won't accept bulls from your house or goats from your corrals
- 10 because every forest animal already belongs to me, as do the cattle on a thousand hills.
- 11 I know every mountain bird;
even the insects in the fields are mine.
- 12 Even if I were hungry, I wouldn't tell you because the whole world and everything in it already belong to me.
- 13 Do I eat bulls' meat?
Do I drink goats' blood?
- 14 Offer God a sacrifice of thanksgiving!
Fulfill the promises you made to the Most High!
- 15 Cry out to me whenever you are in trouble;
I will deliver you, then you will honor me."
- 16 But to the wicked God says,
"Why do you talk about my laws?
Why do you even mention my covenant?"

50:1 Josh 22:22;
1Ch 15:17;
2Ch 29:30;
Ps 113:3
50:2 Dt 33:2;
Ps 48:2, Ps 80:1,
Ps 94:1;
Lam 2:15
50:3 Lv 10:2;
Nm 16:35;
Ps 97:3; Dn 7:10
50:4 Dt 4:26,
Dt 31:28,
Dt 32:1; Is 1:2;
Mi 6:2
50:5 Ex 24:7
50:6 Ps 19:1,
Ps 75:7, Ps 97:6
50:7 Ex 20:2;
Ps 48:14, Ps 81:8
50:8 Ps 40:6,
Ps 51:16; Is 1:11,
Hos 6:6
50:9 Is 1:1
50:10 Ps 104:24
50:11 Mt 6:26
50:12 Ex 19:5;
Dt 10:14;
Ps 24:1;
1Co 10:26
50:14 Nm 30:2;
Dt 23:21;
Ps 22:25,
Ps 76:11,
Ps 107:22
50:15 Ps 22:23,
Ps 81:7, Ps 91:15,
Ps 107:6;
Zec 13:9
50:16 Is 29:13

Selah

50:1-23 Psalm 50 is neither prayer nor praise. Rather, for most of the psalm (50:5, 7-22), God speaks. So Psalm 50 is often seen as a prophetic preaching and instruction, and it may have been used like a levitical sermon. Asaph is mentioned in the title; and according to 1 Chronicles, he was among the Levites assigned by David to provide music in the temple (see 1 Chron 6:39; 16:7, where Asaph is associated with giving thanks; and see also 1 Chron 25:1-8, where Asaph is associated with prophecy, which may explain why the psalmist can deliver God's word in Ps 50).

50:1-3 These verses introduce the psalm by establishing God's authority to speak. From Zion... beauty: See Psalms 2:6; 48:1-2. Psalm 50:3 uses the traditional language of theophany (a description of God's appearance), communicating God's universal rule (see Pss 18:7-15; 97:1-5).

50:4-6 Continuing the introduction, these verses describe a dispute where the skies and the earth will serve as witnesses before a judge (see Deut 32:1; Isa 1:3; Mic 6:1-2). covenant... sacrifice: This recalls Exodus 24:1-8, the covenant ceremony in which the people promise twice to obey God (see Exod 24:3, 7); but Psalm 50 suggests that they haven't obeyed. The skies... righteousness: See Psalm 97:6, where a similar formulation also follows a theophany (appearance of God) and occurs in the context of affirming God's justice and righteousness (Ps 97:2, 8; see Pss 5:8; 9:4).

50:7-15 In this section, God's speech focuses on the people's worship. The people were apparently quite dutiful in offering sacrifices to God (50:8), but they seem to have misunderstood the purpose. God reminds them that God doesn't need their animal offerings.

50:7 God's opening line echoes the Shema (a prayer later used in Jewish worship) in Deuteronomy 6:4.

50:14 a sacrifice of thanksgiving! Fulfill the promises: Thanksgiving sacrifices would have normally involved animals (see Lev 7:11-18), but the point here is that thankfulness to God is the most important thing. Thankfulness should include the obedience to God that the people have promised (see Pss 22:25; 40:6; 51:16-17).

50:16-22 This section continues to address the same audience as Psalm 50:7-15. The suggestion is that by their obey God (see Exod 24:3, 7); but Psalm 50 suggests that they haven't obeyed. The skies... righteousness: See Psalm 97:6, where a similar formulation also follows a theophany (appearance of God) and occurs in the context of affirming God's justice and righteousness (Ps 97:2, 8; see Pss 5:8; 9:4).

50:7-15 In this section, God's speech focuses on the people's worship. The people were apparently quite dutiful in offering sacrifices to God (50:8), but they seem to have misunderstood the purpose. God reminds them that God doesn't need their animal offerings.

50:7 God's opening line echoes the Shema (a prayer later used in Jewish worship) in Deuteronomy 6:4.

50:14 a sacrifice of thanksgiving! Fulfill the promises: Thanksgiving sacrifices would have normally involved animals (see Lev 7:11-18), but the point here is that thankfulness to God is the most important thing. Thankfulness should include the obedience to God that the people have promised (see Pss 22:25; 40:6; 51:16-17).

50:16-22 This section continues to address the same audience as Psalm 50:7-15. The suggestion is that by their

50:17 1Ki 14:9;
Neh 9:26;
Prv 5:12
50:18 Ro 1:32;
1Ti 5:22
50:19 Ps 10:7;
Ps 36:3, Ps 52:2
50:20 Jer 9:4;
Mt 10:21
50:21 Ecc 8:11;
Is 57:11
50:22 Job 8:13;
Ps 7:2, Ps 9:17;
Is 17:10; Mi 5:8
50:23 Ps 50:14;
Ps 91:16
51:1 2Sa 12:1,
2Sa 24:10;
Ac 3:19
51:2 Ps 51:7;
Ac 22:16;
Heb 9:14;
1Jn 1:7, 1Jn 1:9
51:3 Ps 32:5;
Prv 28:13;
Is 59:12
51:4 Gn 20:6,
Gn 39:9;
2Sa 12:13;
Lk 15:21; Ro 3:4
51:5 Job 14:4,
Job 15:14;
Ps 58:3; Eph 2:3
51:6 Job 38:36;
Prv 2:6; Ecc 2:26

- 17 You hate discipline, and you toss my words behind your back.
18 You make friends with thieves whenever you see one;
you spend your time with adulterers.
19 You set your mouth free to do evil, then harness your tongue to tell lies.
20 You sit around, talking about your own siblings;
you find fault with the children of your very own mother.
21 You've done these things and I've kept quiet.
You thought I was just like you!
But now I'm punishing you;
I'm laying it all out, right in front of your face.
22 So consider this carefully, all you who forget God, or I'll rip you to pieces with no one to deliver you:
23 The one who offers a sacrifice of thanksgiving is the one who honors me.
And it is to the one who charts the correct path that I will show divine salvation."

Psalm 51

For the music leader. A psalm of David, when the prophet Nathan came to him just after he had been with Bathsheba.

- 1 Have mercy on me, God, according to your faithful love!
Wipe away my wrongdoings according to your great compassion!
2 Wash me completely clean of my guilt;
purify me from my sin!
3 Because I know my wrongdoings, my sin is always right in front of me.
4 I've sinned against you—you alone.
I've committed evil in your sight.
That's why you are justified when you render your verdict, completely correct when you issue your judgment.
5 Yes, I was born in guilt, in sin, from the moment my mother conceived me.
6 And yes, you want truth in the most hidden places;
you teach me wisdom in the most secret space.*

*Heb uncertain

misunderstanding and abuse of the sacrificial system, "my people" (Ps 50:7) have become the wicked (50:16). Verse 16 assumes an audience that knows God's laws and is in covenant relationship with God. Insofar as worship and ethics can be separated, verses 7-15 focus on worship, and verses 16-22 focus on ethics.

50:18 The references here are to the Ten Commandments (see Exod 20:14-16).

50:21-23 Although divine punishment is mentioned (50:21) and described (50:22), verse 23 shows that God's real purpose is to set things right and have the people live as God intends.

50:23 sacrifice of thanksgiving: See Psalm 50:14. It isn't clear whether the psalmist meant to say that animal sacrifices were neither necessary nor legitimate. Clearly, however, they aren't sufficient. God will thankfulness expressed in obedience, as the prophets often proclaim (see Isa 1:10-20; 58:1-14; Jer 7:1-15; Hos 6:6; Amos 5:21-24.) divine salvation: This means life as God intends it (see Ps 13:5).

51:1-19 Like other prayers for help, Psalm 51 includes complaint (51:3-5), petition (51:1-2, 6-12, 14a, 15a), and expressions of trust and praise (51:14b, 15b-17). Because the complaint involves the psalmist's own sin, Psalm 51 is the fourth of the church's Penitential Psalms (see Ps 6).

The title invites the reading of Psalm 51 in conversation with 2 Samuel 11:1-12:14 (see Ps 3), the story of David and Bathsheba, in which David broke at least half of the Ten Commandments. In this way, the story makes an appropriate context for hearing Psalm 51, even if the psalm didn't originate in this historical context.

51:1 The opening petitions invite more attention to God's character than to the psalmist's sin. Have mercy: See Psalm 4:1. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. compassion: See Psalm 25:6. All three of these basic qualities of God occur in God's self-revelation to Moses in Exodus 34:6, which comes at the conclusion of the gold calf incident that involved grievous sin on Israel's part. The firm belief about God's merciful character is apparently what enables the psalmist to confess sin so honestly and openly.

51:2-4 Similar to Psalm 32:1-5, Israel's basic words for sin occur here: guilt (51:2; see Ps 51:5), sin[ned] (51:2-4; see Ps 51:5), wrongdoings (51:3), and evil (51:4). The word translated wrongdoings suggests purposeful rebellion.

51:5 This verse has often been interpreted to mean that sexuality transmits "original sin," but it is better understood as a poetic expression of the widespread and unavoidable sin in the human situation.

- 7 Purify me with hyssop and I will be clean;
wash me and I will be whiter than snow.
- 8 Let me hear joy and celebration again;
let the bones you crushed rejoice once more.
- 9 Hide your face from my sins;
wipe away all my guilty deeds!
- 10 Create a clean heart for me, God;
put a new, faithful spirit deep inside me!
- 11 Please don't throw me out of your presence;
please don't take your holy spirit away from me.
- 12 Return the joy of your salvation to me and sustain me with a willing spirit.
- 13 Then I will teach wrongdoers your ways, and sinners will come back to you.

- 14 Deliver me from violence, God, God of my salvation, so that my tongue can sing of your righteousness.
- 15 Lord, open my lips,
and my mouth will proclaim your praise.
- 16 You don't want sacrifices.
If I gave an entirely burned offering, you wouldn't be pleased.
- 17 A broken spirit is my sacrifice, God.*
You won't despise a heart, God, that is broken and crushed.
- 18 Do good things for Zion by your favor.
Rebuild Jerusalem's walls.
- 19 Then you will again want sacrifices of righteousness—entirely burned offerings and complete offerings.
Then bulls will again be sacrificed on your altar.

51:7 Ex 12:22;
Nm 19:18;
Ps 51:2; Is 1:18;
Heb 9:19

51:8 Is 35:10

51:9 Ps 51:1;
Jer 16:17

51:10 Eze 11:19;
Eze 18:31;
Eze 36:26;
Mt 5:8; Ac 15:9

51:11 2Ki 13:23;
Is 63:10;
Eph 4:30

51:12 Ps 85:6

51:13 Ps 37:38;
Is 2:3; Lk 22:32;
Ac 9:21

51:14 2Sa 12:9;
Ps 35:28;
Ps 71:15

51:15 Ex 4:15;
Ps 35:28; Ps 63:3;
Ps 119:164;
Ps 119:175

51:16 1Sa 15:22;
Ps 40:6

51:17 Ps 34:18

51:18 Ps 69:35;
Ps 102:16;
Ps 122:6;
Ps 147:2

51:19 Dt 33:19;
Ps 4:5; Ps 66:13;
Ps 66:15; Mal 3:3

52:1 1Sa 21:7;
1Sa 22:9; Ps 103:
Ps 94:4

Psalm 52

*For the music leader. A maskil* of David, when Doeg the Edomite came and told Saul, "David has gone to Ahimelech's house."*

- 1 Hey, powerful person!
Why do you brag about evil?
God's faithful love lasts all day long.

*Correction †Perhaps instruction; it also appears in Pss 42, 44–45, 52–55, 74, 78, 88–89, 142; cf 47:7; the root is used in Ps 32:8.

51:7 Purify... hyssop: See Leviticus 14:49, 52; Numbers 19:18, where hyssop is used in cleansing rituals.

51:10-12 Create... God: God has the ability to create and re-create, activities associated elsewhere with God's spirit (see Gen 1:2). The threefold repetition of spirit suggests that new life is possible for the forgiven sinner. holy spirit: Isaiah 63:10-11 is the only other occurrence of this formulation in the OT. It seems here to designate the living and life-giving presence of God.

51:13-15 The forgiven sinner becomes a grateful witness to God's merciful character (see Ps 32:8-11). Every organ of speech is involved: tongue (51:14), lips (51:15), and mouth (51:15). Deliver me from violence: In the Psalms, those who pray are often victims of violence, often precisely because they are attempting to represent God's ways (see Ps 4:2-5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). my salvation: See Psalm 13:5. your righteousness: See Psalm 5:8. In this context, God uses forgiveness to set things right.

51:16-17 Humble thankfulness and obedient praise are what God desires, as the previous psalm has also suggested (see Ps 50:14, 23; see also Ps 40:6; Rom 12:1-2).

51:18-19 These verses were possibly added to the psalm by someone who wanted to suggest that Psalm 51:16-17 (and perhaps 50:23) shouldn't be understood as a prohibition of sacrificial offerings when made in the proper spirit. 52:1-9 Like Psalm 49, Psalm 52 addresses other people, until the concluding verse 9. So it has a teaching tone; and like Psalm 49, the lesson involves the temptation to trust wealth (52:7). The title suggests that Psalm 52 be read in light of 1 Samuel 21–22, in which case the powerful person (52:1) would be Doeg, whose message to Saul is quoted in the title (see 1 Sam 22:9; see Ps 3). After the words to the "powerful person" (52:1-5), the focus shifts to the righteous (52:6), who are quoted in 52:7. Verse 8 is the speaker's profession of faith, which continues in verse 9 in promises directed to God.

52:1 powerful person!: The person addressed here and then characterized in Psalm 52:2-4 sounds very much like the typical enemy, whose behavior is always deceitful, violent, and destructive (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). evil: The word occurs again in Psalm 52:3, and verses 2-4 describe "evil" in detail. faithful love: Psalm 52:1 already suggests that God's faithful love will prevail over

52:2 Ps 5:9,
Ps 50:19, Ps 57:4,
Ps 101:7

52:3 Jer 9:5;
Mi 3:2

52:4 Ps 120:3

52:6 Job 22:19;
Ps 40:3

52:8 Ps 1:3,
Ps 13:5, Ps 92:12;
Jer 11:16;
Hos 14:6

53:1 Ps 10:4,
Ps 14:1

53:2 2Ch 15:2;
Ps 33:13

53:3 Ps 14:3;
Ecc 7:20; Is 53:6;
Is 64:6; Ro 3:12

53:4 Hos 7:7

53:5 Lv 26:17;
Ps 141:7;

Prv 28:1; Jer 8:1;
Eze 6:5

<sup>2</sup>Your tongue devises destruction:
it's like a sharpened razor, causing deception.

<sup>3</sup>You love evil more than good;
you love lying more than speaking what is right.

<sup>4</sup>You love all destructive words;
you love the deceiving tongue.

<sup>5</sup>But God will take you down permanently;
he will snatch you up, tear you out of your tent,
and uproot you from the land of the living!

<sup>6</sup>The righteous will see and be in awe;
they will laugh at those people:

<sup>7</sup>"Look at them! They didn't make God their refuge.

Instead, they trusted in their own great wealth.
They sought refuge in it—to their own destruction!"

<sup>8</sup>But I am like a green olive tree in God's house;
I trust in God's faithful love forever and always.

<sup>9</sup>I will give thanks to you, God, forever, because you have acted.
In the presence of your faithful people,
I will hope in your name because it's so good.

Psalm 53

For the music leader, according to the mahalath. A maskil<sup>a</sup> of David.

<sup>1</sup>Fools say in their hearts, There's no God.
They are corrupt and do horrible deeds;
not one of them does anything good.

<sup>2</sup>God looks down from heaven on humans
to see if anyone is wise,
to see if anyone seeks God.

<sup>3</sup>But all have turned away.
Everyone is corrupt.
No one does good—not even one person!

<sup>4</sup>Are they dumb—these evildoers—devouring my people like they are eating bread
but never calling on God?

<sup>5</sup>There, where there was nothing to fear, they will be in utter panic because God will scatter the bones of those who attacked you.
You will put them to shame because God has rejected them.

<sup>a</sup>Perhaps instruction evil, and looks forward to Psalm 52:5. The concept of "faithful love" occurs again in Psalm 52:8, and so brackets the psalm; see Ps 5:7.)

52:2-4 The hurtful speech of the wicked is often highlighted in the prayers for help (see Ps 42:5).

52:5 God's response isn't merely retributive but rather aims to set things right for the mistreated (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

52:6 See Psalm 40:3, where God's act of setting things right has a positive impact on other people.

52:7 See Psalms 49:5-6; 62:10.

52:8 In contrast to those who will be uprooted (Ps 52:5), the psalmist is securely rooted and flourishing in the presence of God (see Pss 1:3; 92:13-14). God's house: The temple, representing God's presence (see Ps 5:7). I trust... faithful love: Note the direct contrast between the psalmist, who trusts God's "faithful love," and those who "trusted in their own great wealth" (Ps 52:7; see Ps 49:6; Matt 6:24; Luke 16:13).

52:9 I will give thanks... forever: As expected, the psalm concludes with thanks (cf. Ps 30:12). I will hope: See Psalms 5:3; 25:3, 5, 21; 27:14; 42:5, 11; 43:5. so good: See Psalm 23:6.

53:1-6 Psalm 53 is nearly identical to Psalm 14. Most likely the psalm was included in the Psalter twice because it appeared in two separate collections that were eventually brought together in the process of the Psalter's formation (see sidebar, "Books II-III and the Elohist's Psalter" at Ps 42). 53:5 This verse differs from Psalm 14:5-6. It recalls Psalm 52:5 and its description of the future of evildoers.

Selah

Selah

<sup>6</sup>Let Israel's salvation come out of Zion!
When God changes his people's circumstances for the better,
Jacob will rejoice; Israel will celebrate!

Psalm 54

For the music leader. With stringed instruments. A maskil▼ of David, when the Ziphites came and said to Saul, "Isn't David hiding among us?"

- <sup>1</sup>God! Save me by your name; defend me by your might!
- <sup>2</sup>God! Hear my prayer; listen to the words of my mouth!
- <sup>3</sup>The proud have come up against me;
violent people want me dead.
They pay no attention to God.
- <sup>4</sup>But look here: God is my helper;
my Lord sustains my life.
- <sup>5</sup>He will bring disaster on my opponents.
By your faithfulness, God, destroy them!
- <sup>6</sup>I will sacrifice to you freely;
I will give thanks to your name, LORD, because it's so good, <sup>7</sup>and because God has delivered me from every distress.
My eyes have seen my enemies' defeat.▼

Psalm 55

For the music leader. With stringed instruments. A maskil▼ of David.

- <sup>1</sup>God, listen to my prayer;
don't avoid my request!
- <sup>2</sup>Pay attention! Answer me!
I can't sit still while complaining.
I'm beside myself <sup>3</sup>over the enemy's noise, at the wicked person's racket,
because they bring disaster on me and harass me furiously.
- <sup>4</sup>My heart pounds in my chest because death's terrors have reached me.
- <sup>5</sup>Fear and trembling have come upon me;
I'm shaking all over.
- <sup>6</sup>I say to myself,
I wish I had wings like a dove!
I'd fly away and rest.

▼Perhaps instruction; it also appears in Pss 42, 44–45, 52–55, 74, 78, 88–89, 142; cf 47:7; the root is used in Ps 32:8. ▼Heb lacks defeat. ▼Perhaps instruction

54:1–7 Psalm 54 consists of the typical elements of a prayer for help: petition (54:1–2), complaint (54:3), and expressions of trust (54:4–5) and praise (54:6–7). The title refers to a situation in David's life when "Saul was looking to kill him" (1 Sam 23:15), anticipating verse 3 of the psalm (see Ps 3).

54:1 by your name: The appeal is to God's merciful and life-giving character (see Ps 23:3).

54:3 The proud . . . want me dead: See Psalms 35:4; 86:14.

54:4 my helper: See Psalm 10:14.

54:5 bring disaster . . . faithfulness . . . destroy them: The point isn't payback but setting things right for one whose life is threatened (Ps 54:3; see Pss 3:7–8; 7:6). This is why God's action is a matter of God's "faithfulness" (see Ps 25:10).

54:6 sacrifice . . . thanks: Certain sacrifices were meant to express thankfulness (see Ps 50:14, 23).

54:7 has delivered . . . enemies' defeat: The psalmist seems to be recalling past deliverances. In any case, the prayers for help regularly place together complaint/petition and expressions of trust and praise (see Pss 6:8–10; 13:5–6).

55:1–23 The typical elements of a prayer for help are present: petition (55:1–2a, 9a, 15, 23ab), complaint (55:2b–8, 9b–11, 12–14, 20–21), and expression of trust (55:16–19, 22–24). Their rather irregular arrangement seems to reflect the chaos that the psalmist was experiencing.

55:1–2a The opening petitions are familiar ones (see Pss 4:1; 5:1).

55:3 As usual in the prayers for help, the enemies threaten destruction (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

55:6–8 See Psalm 11:1, where the psalmist is advised to flee because of the threat of the wicked. See also Jeremiah 9:2–4, where the prophet wants to flee to escape

53:6 Ps 14:7

54:1 1Sa 23:19,
1Sa 26:1; Ps 20:1

54:5 Ps 89:49,
Ps 94:23,
Ps 143:12

54:6 Ps 44:8,

Ps 52:9,

Ps 116:17

54:7 Ps 59:10,

Ps 92:11,

Ps 112:8,

Ps 118:7

55:1 Ps 61:1

55:2 Ps 77:3,

Ps 86:6, Ps 142:2;

Is 38:14

55:4 Ps 18:4,

Ps 116:3

Selah

55:5 Is 21:4;

Eze 7:18

55:7 1Sa 23:14;

Jer 9:2

55:8 Is 4:6,

Is 25:4, Is 29:6

55:9 Gn 11:9;

Ps 11:5; Jer 6:7;

Hab 1:3

55:11 Ps 10:7

55:12 Ps 41:9

55:13 2Sa 15:12

55:14 Ps 42:4

55:15 Nm 16:30;

Nm 16:33;

Neh 4:5; Ps 9:17;

Ps 10:15

55:17 Ps 5:3,

Ps 88:13,

Ps 92:2, Ps 141:2;

Dn 6:10

55:18 Ps 56:2

55:19 Dt 33:27;

Ps 36:1

55:21 Ps 5:9;

Ps 12:2, Ps 28:3,

Ps 57:4; Psv 5:3

55:22 Ps 15:5,

Ps 37:5, Ps 37:24,

Ps 112:6; 1Pt 5:7

55:23 Job 15:32;

Ps 5:6, Ps 25:2;

Psv 10:27;

Ecc 7:17

7 I'd run so far away!

I'd live in the desert.

8 I'd hurry to my hideout, far from the rushing wind and storm.

9 Baffle them, my Lord!

Confuse their language because I see violence and conflict in the city.

10 Day and night they make their rounds on its walls, and evil and misery live inside it.11 Disaster lives inside it;
oppression and fraud never leave the town square.

12 It's not an enemy that is insulting me—

I could handle that.

It's not someone who hates me who is exalted over me—

I could hide from them.

13 No. It's you, my equal, my close companion, my good friend!

14 It was so pleasant when together we entered God's house with the crowd.

15 Let death devastate my enemies; let them go to the grave<sup>7</sup> alive because evil lives with them—even inside them!

16 But I call out to God, and the LORD will rescue me.

17 At evening, morning, and midday I complain and moan so that God will hear my voice.

18 He saves me,<sup>8</sup> unharmed, from my struggle, though there are many who are out to get me.

19 God, who is enthroned from ancient days, will hear and humble them because they don't change and they don't worship God.

20 My friend attacked his allies, breaking his covenant.

21 Though his talk is smoother than butter, war is in his heart;

though his words are more silky than oil,

they are really drawn swords:

22 "Cast your burden on the LORD—he will support you!

God will never let the righteous be shaken!"

23 But you, God, bring the wicked down to the deepest pit.

Let bloodthirsty and treacherous people not live out even half their days.

But me? I trust in you!

<sup>7</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>8</sup>Or my life or soul

harassment, including insults from those closest to him, as here (Ps 55:12-14).

55:10-11 The behaviors described here are often associated with the wicked (see Ps 10:7). The geographical references suggest a general breakdown of civility in the psalmist's setting.

55:12-14 The complaint becomes much more personal here. Complaints about close associates occur in other prayers for help (see Pss 31:11; 41:9), but it's unusual that the psalmist directly addresses the betrayer. Psalm 55:14 leads to the sad conclusion that the betrayer has been a fellow worshipper (see Ps 42:4).

55:15 Such petitions against the enemies (see also Ps 55:23) are frequent, since the enemies are always threatening. The point is setting things right for victims (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

55:16-19 The trust expressed in this section anticipates the invitation to others in Psalm 55:22, as well as the final line of the psalm. Verse 17 may refer to appointed times for prayer.

55:18 unharmed: Or "in peace" or "in well-being" (Heb. shalom; see Ps 4:8), which is the goal of God's acting to set things right.

55:19 God... enthroned: The psalmist's trust is grounded in the belief that, despite appearances, God rules the world (see Pss 2:4; 5:2; 96-99). So the psalmist can "wait expectantly" (Ps 5:3).

55:20-21 These verses recall Psalm 55:12-14.

55:22 Demonstrating the Psalms' ability to speak in various situations, the author of 1 Peter quotes the first line of this verse to address an audience of sufferers (see 1 Pet 5:7). The second line of this verse recalls Psalm 34:19.

55:23 trust: See Psalm 4:5. The abrupt placement of complaint/petition with a statement of trust is characteristic of the prayers for help (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6).

Selah

Selah

Psalm 56

For the music leader. According to "The Silent Dove of Distant Places." A miktam<sup>a</sup> of David, when the Philistines seized him in Gath.

- <sup>1</sup> God, have mercy on me because I'm being trampled.
All day long the enemy oppresses me.
- <sup>2</sup> My attackers trample me all day long because I have so many enemies.
Exalted one, <sup>3</sup>whenever I'm afraid,
I put my trust in you—<sup>4</sup>in God, whose word I praise.
I trust in God; I won't be afraid.
What can mere flesh do to me?
- <sup>5</sup> All day long they frustrate my pursuits;
all their thoughts are evil against me.
- <sup>6</sup> They get together and set an ambush—they are watching my steps, hoping for my death.
- <sup>7</sup> Don't rescue them for any reason!
In wrath bring down the people, God!
- <sup>8</sup> You yourself have kept track of my misery.
Put my tears into your bottle—aren't they on your scroll already?
- <sup>9</sup> Then my enemies will retreat when I cry out.
I know this because God is mine.
- <sup>10</sup> God: whose word I praise.
The LORD: whose word I praise.
- <sup>11</sup> I trust in God; I won't be afraid.
What can anyone do to me?
- <sup>12</sup> I will fulfill my promises to you, God.
I will present thanksgiving offerings to you
- <sup>13</sup> because you have saved my life from death, saved my feet from stumbling so that I can walk before God in the light of life.

Psalm 57

For the music leader. Do not destroy. A miktam<sup>b</sup> of David, when he fled from Saul into the cave.

- <sup>1</sup> Have mercy on me, God; have mercy on me because I<sup>c</sup> have taken refuge in you.

<sup>a</sup>Perhaps inscription <sup>b</sup>Perhaps inscription <sup>c</sup>Or my soul

56:1-13 Like other prayers for help, Psalm 56 contains petition and complaint (56:1-2, 5-7), along with expressions of trust and praise (56:3-4, 8-11, 12-13). As in some other prayers for help, the element of trust is prominent (see Ps 31), occurring after both sections of complaint/petition, and given further emphasis by the nearly identical verses 4 and 10-11. The title suggests a link between Psalm 56 and 1 Samuel 21:10-14, which tells about David's difficulties in Gath (see Ps 3).

56:1 have mercy: See Psalm 4:1.

56:2 trample: Note the occurrence of the word in both verses 1 and 2, giving emphasis to the psalmist's suffering, so many enemies: See Psalm 3:1. As usual, the opposition is widespread (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

56:3 trust: This is the key word in the psalm (see Pss 56:4, 11; 4:5; 55:23).

56:4 whose word I praise: A unique statement (see Ps 56:10), it seems to communicate trust in God's promise of presence and protection. I won't be afraid: See Psalms 23:4; 27:1. What ... me?: See Psalm 118:6, where this question also comes right after the statement that the psalmist won't be afraid.

56:6 hoping for my death: See Psalm 35:4. Hope is properly grounded in God (see Ps 27:14), but the wicked pin their future on oppressing others.

56:7 In wrath ... God!: Such requests assume that God is angered by injustice, and that God plans to set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

56:8 Put ... bottle: A request that the psalmist's grief and tears not be in vain (see Ps 6:6). your scroll: See Psalm 40:7.

56:9 God is mine: Not in the sense of being owned, but rather that God is my advocate (see "for me" in Ps 118:6-7).

56:11 See Ps 56:4. The refrain means that the concept of trust runs throughout the psalm, communicating the reality that trust is everywhere in the life of the psalmist.

56:12 fulfill my promises ... thanksgiving offerings: See Psalms 22:25; 50:14, 23.

56:13 As is often the case, the psalmist seems to suggest that deliverance has already happened (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6; 54:7). light of life: See Psalms 4:6; 27:1; 36:9; John 1:4.

57:1-11 Like other prayers for help, Psalm 57 contains petition (57:1a, 5) and complaint (57:4, 6); but unlike Psalm 56, the expression of trust and praise is prominent

56:1
1Sa 21:10-11;
Ps 57:1

56:3 Ps 11:1,
Ps 25:2, Ps 55:4,
Ps 55:23

56:4 Ps 27:1,
Ps 56:10-11,
Ps 118:6;
Heb 13:6

56:7 Ps 36:12,
Ps 55:23

56:8 2Ki 20:5;
Ps 39:12,
Ps 139:16;
Mal 3:16

56:10 Ps 56:4

56:11 Ps 56:4,
Ps 118:6

56:12 Ps 50:14

57:1 1Sa 22:1,
1Sa 24:3;
Ps 56:1, Ps 59:1,
Ps 142:1

57:3 Ps 18:16,
Ps 25:10,
Ps 40:11, Ps 43:3,
Ps 144:5

57:4 Ps 55:21,
Ps 59:7, Ps 64:3,
Pv 12:18,
Pv 30:14

57:5 Ps 57:11,
Ps 108:5,
Ps 113:4

57:6 Ps 7:15,
Ps 140:5,
Ecc 10:8

57:7 Ps 108:1,
Ps 112:7

57:8 Ps 16:9,
Ps 150:3

57:9 Ps 18:49

57:10 Ps 36:5,
Ps 108:4

57:11 Ps 57:5

58:1 Ps 57:1,
Ps 82:2

58:3 Ps 51:5,
Is 48:8, Eph 4:18

I take refuge in the shadow of your wings until destruction passes by.

<sup>2</sup>I call out to God Most High—to God, who comes through for me.

<sup>3</sup>He sends orders from heaven and saves me, rebukes the one who tramples me.
God sends his loyal love and faithfulness.

Selah

<sup>4</sup>My life is in the middle of a pack of lions.
I lie down among those who devour humans.
Their teeth are spears and arrows;
their tongues are sharpened swords.

<sup>5</sup>Exalt yourself, God, higher than heaven!
Let your glory be over all the earth!

<sup>6</sup>They laid a net for my feet to bring me down; they dug a pit for me, but they fell into it instead!

Selah

<sup>7</sup>My heart is unwavering, God—my heart is unwavering.
I will sing and make music.

<sup>8</sup>Wake up, my glory!
Wake up, harp and lyre!
I will wake the dawn itself!

<sup>9</sup>I will give thanks to you, my Lord, among all the peoples;
I will make music to you among the nations

<sup>10</sup>because your faithful love is as high as heaven;
your faithfulness reaches the clouds.

<sup>11</sup>Exalt yourself, God, higher than heaven!
Let your glory be over all the earth!

Psalm 58

For the music leader. Do not destroy. A psalm of David, a miktam.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Do you really speak what is right, you gods?
Do you really judge humans fairly?

<sup>2</sup>No: in your hearts you plan injustice;
your hands do violence on the earth.

<sup>3</sup>The wicked backslide from the womb;
liars go astray from birth.

<sup>d</sup>Perhaps inscription

(Ps 57:1b-3, 7-10) and the title points to 1 Samuel 22:1 and 24:3, both of which locate David in a cave (see Ps 3).

57:1 Have mercy: See Psalm 56:1. For good balance, it seems, the two identical petitions are matched later in the verse by two occurrences of “refuge.” refuge in you: See Psalm 2:12. refuge . . . wings: See Psalm 17:8

57:3 saves me: See Psalm 13:5. loyal love: See Psalm 5:7. faithfulness: Like “loyal love,” with which it is often paired, “faithfulness” is a basic quality of God (see Ps 25:10; cf. Rom 3:22-25; Gal 2:16). The two words occur again in Psalm 57:10.

57:4 The enemies are often described as threatening animals (see Pss 7:2; 10:9; see sidebar, “The Enemies” at Ps 3).

57:5 This verse is repeated in Psalm 57:11, forming a refrain. This first occurrence interrupts the complaint of verses 4 and 6, communicating the reality that God’s absolute claim on the world always exists amid opposition. your glory: See Psalm 29:1-2, 9, where “glory” is associated with God’s rule of the universe.

57:6 See Psalms 7:15-16; 9:15.

57:7-11 These verses occur in nearly identical form as Psalm 108:1-5. In the midst of opposition, the psalmist will trust and praise.

57:8 harp and lyre: See Psalm 33:2. wake the dawn: This memorable phrase suggests that the psalmist intends to start each day with praise (see Ps 55:17), and it indicates also the intensity of the praise.

57:9 The psalmist’s praise serves also as a testimony to others.

57:10 See Psalms 33:5; 36:5.

58:1-11 Because it contains complaint (58:3-5), petition (58:6-8), and expressions of assurance (58:9-11), Psalm 58 is usually understood as a prayer for help. But verses 1-2 are unusual, since they address not God but the gods.

58:1-2 Some readers suggest that Psalm 58:1-2 are addressed to powerful human rulers (see Ps 52:1) rather than you gods; but Psalm 82:2-4 also addresses the gods, accusing them of injustice, just as here.

58:3-5 As is often the case, the speech of the wicked is <sup>4</sup>Their venom is like a snake's venom—like a deaf cobra's—one that shuts its ears <sup>5</sup>so it can't hear the snake charmer's voice or the spells of a skillful enchanter.

<sup>6</sup>God, break their teeth out of their mouths!
Tear out the lions' jawbones, LORD!

<sup>7</sup>Let them dissolve like water flowing away.
When they bend the bow,
let their arrows be like headless shafts.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>8</sup>Like the snail that dissolves into slime, like a woman's stillborn child,
let them never see the sun.

<sup>9</sup>Before your pots feel the thorns, whether green or burned up,
God will sweep them away!<sup>f</sup>

<sup>10</sup>But the righteous will rejoice when they see vengeance done, when they wash their feet in the blood of the wicked.

<sup>11</sup>Then it will be said:
"Yes, there is a reward for the righteous!
Yes, there is a God who judges people on the earth."

Psalm 59

For the music leader. Do not destroy. A miktam<sup>g</sup> of David, when Saul sent men to watch the house in order to kill him.

<sup>1</sup>Oh, my God, deliver me from my enemies; put me out of reach from those who rise up against me.

<sup>2</sup>Deliver me from evildoers;
save me from the bloodthirsty.

<sup>3</sup>Look at how they lie in ambush for my life!
Powerful people are attacking me, LORD—but not because of any error or sin of mine.

<sup>4</sup>They run and take their stand—but not because of any fault of mine.

Get up when I cry out to you!
Look at what's happening!

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>f</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>g</sup>Perhaps inscription deceitful and destructive (see Ps 4:2-5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). The juxtaposition of 58:3-5 with 58:1-2 suggests that the wicked are allies of the unjust gods, as is the case in Psalm 82:2.

58:6-8 The prayer isn't for payback but rather for divine opposition to the "injustice" and "violence" mentioned in Ps 58:2 (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6). Verse 6 is similar to Psalm 3:7, and the enemies are often described as ravenous beasts (see Ps 10:9).

58:10 vengeance done: This is the triumph of God's will for justice over the "injustice" of the gods (Ps 58:2). wash ... the wicked: This particularly violent image was a standard one for defeat in the ancient world (see Ps 68:23; Deut 32:42-43).

58:11 a reward for the righteous: Given the widespread presence of the enemies and the suffering they inflict on the righteous who pray for help, the reward mentioned here is the promise of being connected to God who offers provision and protection (see the comment on "success" in Ps 1:3). a God who judges people on the earth: This verse recalls Psalm 58:1-2, repeating "judge" from verse 1 and "on the earth" from verse 2. The phrase, "God who judges," could be translated "God who establishes justice." That is, the psalmist trusts that God's will for the world and its people will finally prevail over the corrupt will of the gods (see Pss 9:4; 96:13; 98:9).

59:1-17 The typical elements of a prayer for help are present. The two sections of the psalm are composed in a similar way: a first section of petition and complaint (59:1-5, 11-13) is followed by a refrain (59:6, 14) that introduces further complaint (59: 7, 15). Each section concludes with assurance (59:8-10, 16-17) that features reference to my loving God (59:10, 17). The title associates Psalm 59 with Saul's threats to David's life (see 1 Sam 19:11; Ps 3).

59:3 ambush for my life: See Psalm 35:4. As always, the enemies are present and threatening destruction (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). not because ... sin of mine: The declaration of innocence here and in 59:4 suggests that the psalmist is a victim of false accusation (see Pss 59:12; 4:2-5; 27:12; 35:20; 7; 17; 26).

58:4 Dt 32:24,
Dt 32:33;
Job 20:16;
Ps 140:3;
Mt 23:33
58:5 Ecc 10:11;
Jer 8:17
58:6 Job 4:10,
Job 29:17; Ps 3:7,
Ps 10:15
58:7 Josh 7:5;
Ps 57:4, Ps 64:3,
Ps 112:10
58:8 Job 3:16;
Ecc 6:3
58:10 Dt 32:43;
Job 22:19;
Ps 32:11;
Ps 68:23, Ps 91:8
58:11 Gn 18:25,
Ps 67:4
59:1 1Sa 19:11,
Ps 20:1, Ps 57:1
59:3 1Sa 24:11;
Ps 7:3, Ps 56:6,
Ps 69:4

59:6 Ps 22:16,
Ps 59:14
59:7 Job 22:13;
Ps 57:4; Prv 15:2
59:9 Ps 9:9
59:10 Ps 21:3,
Ps 54:7, Ps 59:17
59:11 Dt 4:9;
Ps 3:3, Ps 84:9,
Ps 144:6
59:14 Ps 59:6
59:15 Job 15:23
59:17 Ps 59:9-10
60:1 2Sa 5:20,
2Sa 8:3,
2Sa 8:13;
1Ch 18:3;
Ps 44:9

5You are the LORD God of heavenly forces, the God of Israel!
Wake up and punish all the nations!
Grant no mercy to any wicked traitor!

Selah

6They come back every evening, growling like dogs, prowling around the city.

7See what they belch out with their mouths:
swords are between their lips!
Who can listen to them?<sup>b</sup>

8But you, LORD, laugh at them.
You mock all the nations.

9I keep looking for you, my strength, because God is my stronghold.

10My loving God will come to meet me.
God will allow me to look down on my enemies.

11Don't kill them, or my people might forget; instead, by your power shake them up and bring them down, you who are our shield and my Lord.

12For the sin of their mouths, the words that they speak, let them be captured in their pride.
For the curses and lies they repeat,

13finish them off in anger; finish them off until they are gone!
Then let it be known to the ends of the earth that God rules over Jacob.

Selah

14They come back every evening, growling like dogs, prowling around the city.

15They roam about for food, and if they don't get their fill, they stay all night.

16But me? I will sing of your strength!
In the morning I will shout out loud about your faithful love because you have been my stronghold, my shelter when I was distraught.

17I will sing praises to you, my strength, because God is my stronghold, my loving God.

Psalm 60

*For the music leader. According to "Lily." A testimony.
A miktam<sup>1</sup> of David. For instruction, when he went to war with Aram-naharaim and Aram-sobah, and when Joab returned and defeated Edom, killing twelve thousand in the Salt Valley.*

<sup>1</sup>God, you have rejected us—shattered us.

<sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>1</sup>Perhaps inscription

59:5 God of heavenly forces: See Psalm 24:10. Wake up: See Psalm 7:6. punish . . . grant no mercy: The pleas for God to deal with the enemies are frequent (see Ps 59:11-13), and they amount to prayers for justice (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6). The mention of the nations suggests the suitability of Psalm 59 as a community prayer during the exile or some period of national setback.

59:6 dogs: See Psalms 59:14; 10:9; 22:16, 20. the city: See Psalm 55:9-11.

59:8 See Psalm 2:4.

59:9 my strength . . . stronghold: The assurance here anticipates Psalm 59:17.

59:10 my loving God: See Psalm 59:17. The word translated "loving" is a form of the word regularly translated as "faithful love" (see Ps 59:16). So the psalmist associates God's faithful love with the affirmation that God is a source of strength (Ps 59:9-10, 16-17). Divine love is an effective power in the world.

59:16-17 The pairing of complaint (Ps 59:14-15) and praise is typical of the prayers for help (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6).

60:1-12 Psalm 60 is a communal prayer for help. It begins with a section that contains complaint and petition (60:1-5), the final one being answer us in 60:5. Verses 6-9 offer a divine answer, but it doesn't seem to solve the problem.

You've been so angry.
Now restore us!

<sup>2</sup>You've made the ground quake, splitting it open.
Now repair its cracks because it's shaking apart!

<sup>3</sup>You've made your people suffer hardship; you've given us wine and we stagger.

<sup>4</sup>Give a flag to those who honor you, so they can rally around it, safe from attack.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>5</sup>Save us by your power and answer us so that the people you love might be rescued.

<sup>6</sup>God has spoken in his sanctuary:
"I will celebrate as I divide up Shechem
and portion out the Succoth Valley.

<sup>7</sup>Gilead is mine;
Manasseh is mine;
Ephraim is my helmet;
Judah is my scepter.

<sup>8</sup>But Moab is my washbowl;
I'll throw my shoe at Edom.

I shout in triumph over Philistia!<sup>k</sup>

<sup>9</sup>I wish someone would bring me to a fortified city!
I wish someone would lead me to Edom!"

<sup>10</sup>But you have rejected us, God, haven't you?
God, you no longer accompany our armies.

<sup>11</sup>Give us help against the enemy;
human help is worthless.

<sup>12</sup>With God we will triumph;
he's the one who will trample our adversaries.

Psalm 61

For the music leader, with stringed instruments. Of David.

<sup>1</sup>God, listen to my cry; pay attention to my prayer!

<sup>2</sup>When my heart is weak,

<sup>j</sup>Or the bow; Heb uncertain <sup>k</sup>Syr, Ps 108:9; MT Celebrate over me, Philistia!

Verses 10-11 return to complaint and petition. An expression of trust concludes the psalm. Verse 9 mentions Edom, as does the title. The editors of the Psalter seem to be pointing to 2 Samuel 8 (see especially Ps 60:13-14), although the victories of David recorded there don't seem to fit with the distress of Psalm 60 (see Ps 3). Verses 5-12 are nearly identical to Psalm 108:6-13.

60:1 rejected us: a frequent complaint in the communal prayers (see Pss 60:10; 44:9, 23; 74:1; 77:7; 89:38).

60:2 The picture of an earthquake communicates the seriousness of the situation.

60:3 hardship: This word describes what the Israelites experienced in Egypt, so here God seems to reverse the exodus, according to the psalmist.

60:5 In light of Psalm 60:3, it is understandable that the people ask, in effect, for a new exodus.

60:6-9 The divine response to the people's petition suggests that God claims both Israel and Judah (60:7), as well as their enemies (60:8). In view of the exodus allusion in Psalm 60:3, 5, it is important to realize that Exodus 15:14-15 mentions the three nations named in verse 8; and their defeat leads to the people's secure settlement in the land. Verse 9 seems to suggest a situation in which Edom was a particular problem for God's people (see Ps 137:7; Isa 63:1-6; Obad).

60:10-12 God's claim upon the nations doesn't provide an immediate solution, so the people continue to complain and ask for help (see Pss 85; 126). The final verse affirms trust in God amid ongoing distress, as is typical of the prayers for help (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6).

61:1-8 The presence of petition (61:1-2c, 4), complaint (61:2ab), and expressions of trust and praise (61:3, 5, 8) are typical of a prayer for help. As in several other prayers, the element of trust is prominent (see Pss 31; 56), perhaps anticipating Psalm 62. Verses 6-7 are less typical; but having prayed for self, the psalmist prays for the king as well. The mention of the king could imply that the king was the speaker, but not necessarily (especially since the king seems to be referred to by someone else).

61:1 See Psalms 4:1; 5:2.

61:2 from the very ends of the earth: If taken geographically, this would suggest that the psalmist is outside the land

60:2 2Ch 7:14;
Ps 18:7
60:3 Ps 71:20,
Ps 75:8; Is 51:17;
Is 51:22;
Jer 25:15
60:5 Dt 33:12;
Ps 17:7; Ps 108:6
60:6 Gn 12:6,
Gn 33:17;
Josh 13:27;
Ps 89:35
Selah
60:7 Gn 49:10;
Dt 33:17;
Josh 13:31
60:8 2Sa 8:1-2;
Ps 108:9
60:10 Josh 7:12;
Ps 44:9; Ps 60:1
60:11 Ps 146:3;
Lam 4:17
60:12 Nm 24:18;
Ps 44:5; Is 63:3
61:1 Ps 4:1;
Ps 17:1,
Ps 55:1-2; Ps 64:1
61:2 Ex 17:4;
Ps 18:2; Ps 42:6,
Ps 77:3; Ps 94:22

61:3 Ps 14:6,
Ps 18:2, Ps 46:1,
Ps 59:9,
Prov 18:10

62:1 Ps 33:20,
Ps 39:1, Ps 62:5

62:2 Ps 18:2,
Ps 62:6

62:3 Is 30:13

62:4 Ps 4:2,
Ps 28:3, Ps 55:21

62:5 Ps 62:1

62:6 Ps 62:2

62:8 Isa 1:15,
Ps 37:3, Ps 37:5,
Ps 42:4, Is 26:4

I cry out to you from the very ends of the earth.

Lead me to the rock that is higher than I am

<sup>3</sup>because you have been my refuge, a tower of strength in the face of the enemy.

<sup>4</sup>Please let me live in your tent forever!

Please let me take refuge in the shelter of your wings!

<sup>5</sup>Because you, God, have heard my promises; you've given me<sup>1</sup> the same possession as those who honor your name.

Selah

<sup>6</sup>Add days to the king's life!

Let his years extend for many generations!

<sup>7</sup>Let him be enthroned forever before God!

Make it so love and faithfulness watch over him!

<sup>8</sup>Then I will sing praises to your name forever, and I will do what I promised every single day.

Psalm 62

For the music leader. According to Jeduthun. A psalm of David.

<sup>1</sup>Only in God do I<sup>m</sup> find rest;

my salvation comes from him.

<sup>2</sup>Only God is my rock and my salvation—my stronghold!—I won't be shaken anymore.

<sup>3</sup>How long will all of you attack others; how long will you tear them down<sup>n</sup>
as if they were leaning walls or broken-down fences?

<sup>4</sup>The only desire of this people is to bring others down low; they delight in deception.

With their mouths they bless, but inside they are cursing.

Selah

<sup>5</sup>Oh, I<sup>o</sup> must find rest in God only, because my hope comes from him!

<sup>6</sup>Only God is my rock and my salvation—
my stronghold!—I will not be shaken.

<sup>7</sup>My deliverance and glory depend on God.
God is my strong rock.

My refuge is in God.

<sup>8</sup>All you people: Trust in him at all times!

<sup>1</sup>Heb lacks me. <sup>m</sup>Or my soul <sup>n</sup>Correction; MT kill them <sup>o</sup>Or my soul

(see Ps 42:6); but the phrase can also be understood as describing an experience of God's absence, the rock that is higher than I am: The rock could be God (see Pss 61:3; 31:2; 62:2, 6-7); or perhaps the temple, which represents God's presence (see Ps 61:4); or perhaps any safe place (see Ps 27:5). God is regularly perceived to be high or higher than people (see Pss 113:4; 138:6).

61:3 refuge: See Psalms 61:4; 2:12; 62:7-8.

61:4 your tent: See Psalm 15:1. refuge... shelter of your wings: See Psalm 17:8.

61:5 The juxtaposition of assurance/praise (see Ps 61:8) with petition and complaint is typical of the prayers for help (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6).

61:6-7 Having prayed for his or her own safety and security, the psalmist now apparently prays for the security of the nation, which is represented by the king (see Ps 21:4; 72:15, 17; 89:29, 36-37). love and faithfulness: These two qualities of God are prominent in the promises to the Davidic line (see Ps 89:24, 33; see also Pss 5:7; 25:10).

61:8 do what I promised: See Psalm 22:25.

62:1-12 The element of trust in Psalm 61 anticipates the trust in Psalm 62 (see Ps 16) and the prominent trust in Psalm 63. So Psalms 61-63 form a triad of trust. Complaint appears in 62:3-4; but God is addressed directly only in 62:12, which contains neither complaint nor petition but rather a further profession of faith. On Jeduthun in the title, see Psalm 39.

62:1-2 Only in God: The word "only" occurs also in Psalm 62:2, 5-6. The effect is to intensify the profession of faith in God alone. The fact that verses 1-2 and 5-6 are almost the same further heightens this effect. my salvation: God is the source and ground of the psalmist's life (see Ps 3:5). my rock: See Psalm 61:2.

62:3-4 As usual, the enemies engage in deceitful and destructive behavior (see Pss 3:1-2; 42:5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). As in Psalm 4:2, the psalmist addresses the enemies directly here.

62:5 my hope: See Psalm 27:14.

62:7 refuge: See Psalms 62:8; 2:12; 61:3-4.

62:8 Having addressed the enemies in Psalm 62:3, the Pour out your hearts before him!

 God is our refuge!

Selah

62:10 Job 31:25;
 Is 61:8;
 Eze 22:29;
 Lk 12:15;
 1Ti 6:17
 62:11 Rev 19:1
 62:12 Job 34:11;
 Ps 86:5, Ps 103:8;
 Mt 16:27; Ro 2:6
 63:1 1Sa 23:14;
 Ps 42:2, Ps 84:2,
 Ps 143:6; Is 26:9
 63:2 Ps 27:4,
 Ps 68:24
 63:3 Ps 51:15,
 Ps 69:16,
 Ps 119:171
 63:6 Ps 42:8,
 Ps 119:55,
 Ps 119:148
 63:7 Ps 17:8,
 Ps 54:4, Ps 57:1
 63:8 Ps 18:35,
 Ps 37:24,
 Ps 41:12;
 Is 41:10; Hos 6:3

- 9 Human beings are nothing but a breath.
 Human beings are nothing but lies.
 They don't even register on a scale;
 taken all together they are lighter than a breath!
- 10 Don't trust in violence;
 don't set false hopes in robbery.
 When wealth bears fruit,
 don't set your heart on it.
- 11 God has spoken one thing—make it two things—that I myself have heard: that strength belongs to God, <sup>12</sup>and faithful love comes from you, my Lord—and that you will repay everyone according to their deeds.

Psalm 63

A psalm of David, when he was in the Judean desert.

- 1 God! My God! It's you—
 I search for you!
 My whole being<sup>p</sup> thirsts for you!
 My body desires you in a dry and tired land, no water anywhere.
- 2 Yes, I've seen you in the sanctuary;
 I've seen your power and glory.
- 3 My lips praise you because your faithful love is better than life itself!
- 4 So I will bless you as long as I'm alive; I will lift up my hands in your name.
- 5 I'm fully satisfied—as with a rich dinner.
 My mouth speaks praise with joy on my lips—
- 6 whenever I ponder you on my bed, whenever I meditate on you in the middle of the night—
- 7 because you've been a help to me and I shout for joy in the protection of your wings.
- 8 My whole being clings to you;
 your strong hand upholds me.
- 9 But what about those people who want to destroy me?
 Let them go into the bowels of the earth!

<sup>p</sup>Or my soul; also in 63:5, 8 psalmist now addresses the faithful (unless he or she is trying to change the wayward ones of verse 3). Trust: See Psalm 4:5.

 62:9 a breath... a breath: See Psalms 39:5, 11; 144:4. The transience of human beings makes them unsuitable as objects of trust (see Pss 118:8-9; 146:3-4).
 62:10 Wealth, especially when it is gotten dishonestly, isn't to be trusted either (see Pss 49:6-7; 52:7).
 62:12 faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. repay... deeds: See Psalms 7:15-16; 28:4.
 63:1-11 Because of the complaint voiced in 63:9a, followed by petition in 63:9b-10, Psalm 63 is often classified as a prayer for help. But like Psalm 61 and several others (see Pss 3; 4; 31), the element of trust is prominent; and verse 3 is one of the most eloquent statements of faith in the whole Bible. The title seems to point to 1 Samuel 23:14; 24:2, where Saul tries to kill David.
 63:1 my whole being: The underlying Hebrew word occurs also in Psalm 63:5 (translated "I"); 63:8; 63:9 (translated "me"). Its basic meaning is "vitality" or "life-force," and its fourfold occurrence reinforces the message that the psalmist's life is grounded completely in God. thirsts: See Psalm 42:1.

 63:2 in the sanctuary: The psalmist seems to have in mind past visits to the temple (see Ps 42:4).
 63:3 faithful love: See Psalm 5:7, where the word also occurs in association with visiting the temple. better than life itself: This memorable phrase emphasizes the depth of the psalmist's dependence upon God for life (see Ps 63:1).
 63:4 bless: See Psalm 16:7. lift up my hands: See Psalm 28:2.
 63:5 The language shifts from thirst to hunger, which God also satisfies. mouth... lips: No longer involved in eating because God has fully satisfied, mouth and lips are free to praise God (see Pss 63:3; 51:15).
 63:6 meditate... night: See Psalm 1:1-2, where thinking of God is to be constant.
 63:7 protection... wings: See Psalm 17:8.
 63:9 destroy me: See Psalm 35:4. The request involving the destroyers isn't a matter of payback but rather of justice for one whose life is threatened (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

63:10 Song 2:15;
Jer 18:21;
Lam 5:18;
Eze 35:5

63:11 Dt 6:13;
Job 5:16; Ps 21:1;
Is 65:16; Ro 3:19

64:1 Ps 55:2,
Ps 140:1

64:3 Ps 57:4

64:5 Job 22:13;
Ps 10:11, Ps 94:7,
Ps 140:5

64:6 Ps 49:11;
Jer 17:9

64:7 Ps 7:12-13,
Prv 29:1

64:8 Prv 12:13,
Prv 18:7

64:10 Ps 32:11

65:1 Dt 23:21;
Ps 2:6, Ps 21:13,
Ps 50:14,
Ps 56:12

65:2 Ps 86:9;
Is 66:23

65:3 Ps 79:9;
Heb 9:14

- <sup>10</sup> Let their blood flow by the sword!
Let them be food for wild jackals!
<sup>11</sup> But the king should rejoice in God; everyone who swears by God should give praise when the mouths of liars are shut for good.

Psalm 64

For the music leader. A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup> Listen to me when I complain, God!
Protect my life from the enemy's terror!
<sup>2</sup> Hide me from the secret plots of wicked people; hide me from the schemes of evildoers <sup>3</sup> who sharpen their tongues like swords.
They aim their arrow—a cruel word—<sup>4</sup> from their hiding places so as to shoot an innocent person.
They shoot without warning and without fear.
<sup>5</sup> They encourage themselves with evil words.
They plan on laying traps in secret.
“Who will be able to see them?” they ask.
<sup>6</sup> “Let someone try to expose our crimes!
We’ve devised a perfect plot!
It’s deep within the human mind and heart.”<sup>9</sup>

- <sup>7</sup> But God will shoot them with an arrow!
Without warning, they will be wounded!
<sup>8</sup> The LORD will make them trip over their own tongues;
everyone who sees them will just shake their heads.
<sup>9</sup> Then all people will honor God, will announce the act of God, will understand it was God’s work.
<sup>10</sup> Let the righteous rejoice in the LORD;
let them take refuge in him;
let everyone whose heart is in the right place give praise!

Psalm 65

For the music leader. A psalm of David. A song.

- <sup>1</sup> God of Zion, to you even silence is praise.
Promises made to you are kept—<sup>2</sup> you listen to prayer—and all living things come to you.
<sup>3</sup> When wrongdoings become too much for me, you forgive our sins.

<sup>9</sup>Heb uncertain

63:10 See Psalm 58:10 for a similarly violent picture that communicates the defeat of those who are out to oppress and kill.

63:11 the king: Here, as in Psalm 61:6-7, the mention of “the king” doesn’t mean that the king originally spoke the psalm. mouths . . . shut: Lying mouths are closed, in contrast to the speaker’s mouth that is open to praise God (Ps 63:5).

64:1-10 In this prayer for help, petition and complaint are intertwined (64:1-2) before giving way to pure complaint (64:3-6). Expressions of confidence and celebration (64:7-10) conclude the psalm.

64:1-6 As usual, the wicked are characterized by misleading and destructive activity, including their speech (64:3, 5; see Pss 4:2-5; 10:7-10; see sidebar, “The Enemies” at Ps 3). The wicked are quoted in 64:5-6; as elsewhere, they deny any accountability (see Ps 10:4, 6, 11, 13).

64:7-8 with an arrow: The arrow of the wicked (Ps 64:3) is matched by God’s arrow (see Ps 7:12-13). As in Psalm 7:15-16, the wicked are caught in their own schemes. The point isn’t payback nor even punishment but rather God’s determination to set things right for an “innocent person” (Ps 64:4) like the speaker (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

64:9-10 To our surprise, the life of the wicked turns out to be testimony to God and God’s work, eliciting joyful trust and praise (see Pss 7:17; 52:6-7; 58:10-11). refuge: See Psalm 2:12.

65:1-13 Psalm 65 is a psalm of thanks, not for a particular rescue as in Psalm 30 but rather for God’s being willing to listen (65:2), forgive (65:3), and secure the lives of God’s people and the world (65:4-5). God’s creative power is in view in verses 6-8, and verses 9-13 celebrate God’s provision of rain that makes the earth fruitful.

65:1 Zion: See Psalm 2:6. Promises . . . kept: See Psalm 22:25. 65:3 forgive: The underlying Hebrew word is rare in the book of Psalms (see Pss 78:38; 79:90), occurring much

- 4 How happy is the one you choose to bring close, the one who lives in your courtyards!
We are filled full by the goodness of your house,
by the holiness of your temple.
- 5 In righteousness you answer us, by your awesome deeds, God of our salvation—you, who are the security of all the far edges of the earth, even the distant seas.
- 6 You establish the mountains by your strength;
you are dressed in raw power.
- 7 You calm the roaring seas;
calm the roaring waves,
calm the noise of the nations.
- 8 Those who dwell on the far edges stand in awe of your acts.
You make the gateways of morning and evening sing for joy.
- 9 You visit the earth and make it abundant, enriching it greatly by God's stream, full of water.
You provide people with grain because that is what you've decided.
- 10 Drenching the earth's furrows, leveling its ridges, you soften it with rain showers;
you bless its growth.
- 11 You crown the year with your goodness;
your paths overflow with rich food.
- 12 Even the desert pastures drip with it, and the hills are dressed in pure joy.
- 13 The meadowlands are covered with flocks, the valleys decked out in grain—
they shout for joy;
they break out in song!

65:4 Ps 23:6,
Ps 27:4, Ps 33:12,
Ps 36:8, Ps 84:4
65:8 Gn 8:22;
Ps 2:8, Ps 104:20,
Ps 126:2,
Is 24:16
65:9 Lv 26:4;
Ps 46:4, Ps 68:9,
Ps 147:8
65:10 Dt 32:2
65:11 Job 36:28
65:13 Ps 98:8;
Is 30:23, Is 44:23,
Is 55:12
66:1 Ps 81:1,
Ps 95:1, Ps 98:4,
Ps 100:1

Psalm 66

For the music leader. A song. A psalm.

- 1 Shout joyfully to God, all the earth!
- 2 Sing praises to the glory of God's name!
Make glorious his praise!
- 3 Say to God:
"How awesome are your works!
Because of your great strength, your enemies cringe before you.

more frequently in Exodus and Leviticus in conjunction with rituals for reconciling the people to God. Here God takes the lead to reconcile, and God's plan is also suggested in Psalm 65:4.

65:4 filled full: This may point to the meal that could accompany a thanksgiving sacrifice, especially since the temple is mentioned later in the verse (see Ps 22:26). goodness: See Psalm 23:6. holiness... temple: Holiness is associated with Mount Zion, site of the temple in Psalms 2:6; 3:4; 48:2.

65:5 righteousness: See Psalm 5:8. awesome deeds: This recalls the exodus out of Egypt, the purpose of which was to reveal God's character throughout the world (see Exod 9:16). A worldwide point of view is clear here as well. our salvation: See Psalm 13:5.

65:7 See Psalm 46:3, 6, which also claims that God deals with the unruly waters and the nations.

65:9-13 God's creative power is clear in the provision of rain (see Ps 29) that means sustenance for human beings

(see grain in 65:9, 13, and food in 65:11). crown... goodness: God treats the earth royally, and the "goodness" of God's house (Ps 65:4) is now extended into the whole world (65:11), which is sometimes viewed as God's home (see Ps 104:3). Fittingly, the creation itself offers joyful praise (65:13; see Pss 96:11-12; 98:7-8; 148:1-12; see sidebar, "God the Creator" at Ps 8).

66:1-20 Psalm 66 starts out like a psalm of thanks or song of praise (66:1-9) with invitations to praise extended in verses 1, 3, and 8. It becomes a prayer in verse 10, and the speaker continues to address God through verse 15. Verses 16-20 again address other people, and this section is bracketed by the invitations in verses 16 and 20.

66:1 Shout joyfully... all the earth!: See Psalm 65:13. The songs of praise regularly invite a worldwide response (see Pss 47:1; 96:1; 97:1; 100:1; 103:20-22; 117:1; 148:1-12; 150:6).

66:3 awesome: See Psalms 66:5; 65:5.

66:4 Ps 22:27

66:6
Ex 14:21-22;
Josh 3:16

66:7 Ps 11:4

66:9 Ps 30:3,
Ps 55:22,
Ps 94:18,
Ps 121:366:10 Job 23:10;
Pv 17:3;
Is 48:10;

Zec 13:9; Mal 3:3

66:11 Lam 1:13

66:12 Is 43:2,
Is 51:23;
Rev 7:1466:13 Ps 22:25.
Ps 116:14;
Ecc 5:466:14 Gn 28:20,
Gn 35:3; Ps 18:666:16 Ps 22:23,
Ps 34:11,
Ps 71:15,
Ps 71:24

66:20 Ps 22:24

4All the earth worships you, sings praises to you, sings praises to your name!

Selah

5Come and see God's deeds;
his works for human beings are awesome:

6He turned the sea into dry land so they could cross the river on foot.

Right there we rejoiced in him!

7God rules with power forever;
keeps a good eye on the nations.

So don't let the rebellious exalt themselves.

Selah

8All you nations, bless our God!
Let the sound of his praise be heard!

9God preserved us among the living;
he didn't let our feet slip a bit.

10But you, God, have tested us—you've refined us like silver,

11trapped us in a net, laid burdens on our backs,

12let other people run right over our heads—we've been through fire and water.

But you brought us out to freedom!

13So I'll enter your house with entirely burned offerings.

I'll keep the promises I made to you,

14the ones my lips uttered, the ones my mouth spoke when I was in deep trouble.

15I will offer the best burned offerings to you along with the smoke of sacrificed rams.

I will offer both bulls and goats.

Selah

16Come close and listen, all you who honor God;
I will tell you what God has done for me:

17My mouth cried out to him with praise on my tongue.

18If I had cherished evil in my heart, my Lord would not have listened.

19But God definitely listened.
He heard the sound of my prayer.

20Bless God! He didn't reject my prayer; he didn't withhold his faithful love from me.

66:4 All the earth: This verse reports that "all the earth" responds as invited in Psalm 66:1 (see Ps 65:13).

66:5-6 Come: See Psalm 66:16. awesome: See Psalm 66:3; the word itself recalls the exodus out of Egypt, which is described briefly here (see Exod 14:1-21). Right there... in him!: Immediately following the crossing of the sea, the people celebrated Moses' victory song, which is also known as the Song of the Sea (Exod 15:1-21).

66:8 All you nations: As in Psalm 66:1, the invitation is expansive (see Ps 47). Bless: See Psalm 16:7.

66:10-12 The setbacks and hardships described here may refer to being captive in Egypt and/or the difficulties the people experienced in the wilderness. In any case, the description of the difficulties is framed by positive statements that the people have been set free (66:9, 12c).

66:13-15 The speaker responds with thanks for the divine rescue. keep the promises: See Psalm 22:25. burned offerings... bulls and goats: See Psalm 51:19. Sacrifices could be involved in the expression of thanks (see Ps 50:14, 23).

66:16 Come... listen: The invitation echoes Psalm 66:5, but now the focus has narrowed. what God has done for me: The speaker suggests that he or she has experienced something like a personal exodus (see Ps 66:5), to which he or she responds appropriately with praise (Ps 66:17; see Ps 66:6) and a positive expression of faith (Ps 66:18-20).

66:20 Bless God!: See Psalm 66:8. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7.

Psalm 67

For the music leader, with stringed instruments. A psalm. A song.

- 1 Let God grant us grace and bless us;
let God make his face shine on us, 2 so that your way becomes known on earth, so that your salvation becomes known among all the nations.

- 3 Let the people thank you, God!
Let all the people thank you!
4 Let the people celebrate and shout with joy because you judge the nations fairly and guide all nations on the earth.
5 Let the people thank you, God!
Let all the people thank you!
6 The earth has yielded its harvest.
God blesses us—our God blesses us!
7 Let God continue to bless us;
let the far ends of the earth honor him.

Psalm 68

For the music leader. Of David. A psalm. A song.

- 1 Let God rise up; let his enemies scatter;
let those who hate him run scared before him!
2 Like smoke is driven away, drive them away!
Like wax melting before fire, let the wicked perish before God!
3 But let the righteous be glad and celebrate before God.
Let them rejoice with gladness!
4 Sing to God! Sing praises to his name!
Exalt the one who rides the clouds!
The LORD is his name. Celebrate before him!

5 Father of orphans and defender of widows is God in his holy habitation.
6 God settles the lonely in their homes;

67:1-7 Except for verses 6-7, Psalm 67 is addressed to God, so it is usually identified as a prayer of thanks (see especially 67:3-5) and/or a prayer for blessing (see 67:1, 7). It may have been offered at harvesttime (see 67:6; Ps 65).
67:1 bless us... face shine on us: This verse recalls the Aaronic closing prayer (Num 6:22-27, especially 6:23-24), which features grace, blessing, and the light of God's face (see Pss 4:6; 31:16; 80:3, 7, 19). The language of blessing occurs also in 67:6-7, framing the psalm.
67:2 your way... on earth: See Psalm 119:135, where the light of God's face is related to the knowledge of God's will, your salvation... all the nations: See Psalm 80:3, 7, 19, where God's face effects salvation (see Ps 13:5). This verse makes it clear that God's blessing isn't just for "us" (Ps 67:1) but for the world (see Gen 12:1-3, where the promise of blessing to Abram is to extend to "all the families of earth"; Ps 47).
67:3-5 The identical verses 67:3 and 5 surround 67:4, which can be viewed as the central verse. The word people or nations occurs in every line of this section, supporting the worldwide reach of God's blessing. you judge the nations: This phrase could also be translated, "you establish justice among the nations," and justice is at the heart of God's will for the world (see Pss 9:4; 96:13; 98:9).
67:6 The earth... its harvest: This line may indicate that the psalm was originally used at harvest time; but beyond this possibility, it isn't coincidental that the positive statements about God's establishment of justice (Ps 67:4) is followed by the mention of food production. Setting the world right begins with the provision of food (see notes on Ps 72:3, 16; 85:12; 147:14).

67:7 Like the rest of the psalm, 67:7 includes us and the rest of the world in relationship to God.
68:1-35 One of the most difficult psalms to interpret, Psalm 68 seems to describe God's journey, leading God's people along the way (see 68:7), to Jerusalem (68:17), where God's presence is then celebrated in worship (68:24-27). Although God has won all along the way, 68:28-31 are petitions that give way to a final song of praise (68:32-35) that recalls 68:4.
68:1 This verse is very similar to Numbers 10:35, which records the short prayer that Moses said when the sacred chest containing the covenant was moved. Later worship processions may have utilized the chest, and Psalm 68 may have been used in such celebrations (see Ps 24).
68:2-3 Petitions for God to deal with the wicked are frequent in the prayers for help (see Ps 3:7-8; 7:6). When God sets things right, it is an occasion for God's people to rejoice (68:3; see Ps 64:10).
68:4 who... clouds: The Canaanite god Baal was known as the cloud-rider, and so the giver of rain and fruitfulness; but here it is Israel's God who fulfills this role and who deserves to be praised (see Pss 68:33-34; 65:9-13; 104:3; 29).
68:5 Father... widows: God attends especially to those who need the most help, and orphans and widows were

67:1 Nm 6:25;
Ps 4:1, Ps 4:6,
Ps 31:16,
Ps 119:135

67:2 Ps 98:2;
Lk 2:30;
Ac 18:25;
Ti 2:11

67:4 Ps 9:8,
Ps 96:10

67:6 Lv 26:4;
Ps 85:12;
Eze 34:27;
Hos 2:21;
Zec 8:12

68:1 Nm 10:35;
Ps 89:10, Ps 92:9,
Ps 132:8; Is 33:3

68:2 Ps 22:14,
Ps 37:20, Ps 97:5;
Mi 1:4

68:3 Ps 32:11,
Ps 64:10,
Ps 97:12

68:4 Ps 18:10,
Ps 68:33

68:5 Dt 10:18;
Ps 10:14,
Ps 146:9

68:6 Ps 69:33,
Ps 107:10,
Ps 107:14,
Ps 113:9,
Ps 146:7

Selah

Selah

68:7 Ex 13:21;
Jgs 5:4; Hab 3:13

68:8 Ex 19:18;
Jgs 5:4; Ps 77:18

68:9 Ps 65:9;
Eze 34:26

68:11 Ex 15:20

68:12
Josh 10:16;
Jgs 5:19; Jgs 5:30

68:13 Gn 49:14;
Jgs 5:16

68:14 Jgs 9:48

68:15 Nm
21:33; Ps 36:6,
Ps 68:22

68:16 Dt 12:5;
Ps 132:13-14

68:17 2Ki 6:17;
Is 66:15;
Dn 7:10; Hab 3:8

68:18 Jgs 5:12;
Ps 47:5; Ac 1:9;
Eph 4:8

68:19 Ps 65:5

68:20 Dt 32:39;
Rev 1:18

68:21 Ps 110:6;
Hab 3:13

he sets prisoners free with happiness,<sup>f</sup>
but the rebellious dwell in a parched land.

<sup>7</sup>When you went forth before your people, God, when you marched through the wasteland, <sup>g</sup>the earth shook!
Yes, heaven poured down before God, the one from Sinai—before God, the God of Israel!

<sup>9</sup>You showered down abundant rain, God;
when your inheritance grew weary, you restored it yourself, <sup>10</sup>and your creatures settled in it.

In your goodness, God, you provided for the poor.

<sup>11</sup>My Lord gives the command—many messengers are bringing good news:

<sup>12</sup>“The kings of armies are on the run!
The women back home divide the spoil.

<sup>13</sup>Even if you lie down among the sheepfolds, there are wings of a dove covered with silver;
its pinions covered in precious gold.”<sup>h</sup>

<sup>14</sup>When the Almighty<sup>i</sup> scattered the kings there, snow fell on Mount Zalmon.

<sup>15</sup>Mighty mountain, Mount Bashan; many-peaked mountain, Mount Bashan!

<sup>16</sup>You many-peaked mountain:
Why do you look with envy at the mountain God desired for his dwelling, the mountain where the LORD dwells forever?

<sup>17</sup>God’s chariots are twice ten thousand—countless thousands!
My Lord came from Sinai<sup>j</sup> into the sanctuary.

<sup>18</sup>You ascended the heights, leading away your captives, receiving tribute from people, even from those who rebel against the LORD God’s dwelling there.

<sup>19</sup>Bless the Lord!
The God of our salvation supports us day after day!

<sup>20</sup>Our God is the God of salvation, and escape from certain death comes through God my LORD.

<sup>21</sup>Yes, God will shatter the heads of his enemies—the very skulls of those who walk in guilt.

<sup>f</sup>Or skillfully; LXX, Vulg with strength; Heb uncertain <sup>g</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>h</sup>Heb Shaddai <sup>i</sup>Correction; MT My Lord was among them, the one from Sinai, in holiness.

among the most helpless people in ancient societies (see Pss 9:18; 10:14, 18; 94:6; 113:7-9; 146:9).

68:6-8 sets prisoners free: The Hebrew verb here is used frequently of the exodus, and an allusion to the exodus makes sense here, since later verses point to the wilderness wanderings and also mention Sinai (Ps 68:8, 17), where the people went shortly after leaving Egypt. went forth: God’s journey, it seems, began in Egypt. Like Psalm 68, Moses’ victory song or Song of the Sea (Exod 15:1-21; see Ps 66:6) moves from exodus to Jerusalem. Psalm 68:7-8 are very similar to Judges 5:4-5, which report about an event early in the people’s settlement of the land.

68:9 You . . . rain: God, not Baal, provides what the newly landed people need (see Ps 68:4).

68:10 your goodness: See Psalm 23:6. provided for the poor. See Psalm 9:18.

68:11-14 These verses are particularly difficult, but they seem to describe the military successes God gave the people as they moved toward, entered, and settled in Canaan in the books of Numbers through Judges. The location of Zalmon is unknown.

68:15-16 Mount Bashan: One of the desirable locations that God passed over in preference to Mount Zion (see Ps 22:12).

68:17-18 into the sanctuary: God and the people reach the destination of their journey as they approach the temple in Jerusalem. those who rebel . . . God’s dwelling there: Israel’s entry into the land was challenged, and Jerusalem was originally a Jebusite stronghold.

68:19 Bless: See Psalm 16:7; the invitation occurs again in Psalm 68:26, 35.

68:21-23 Similarly violent language occurs elsewhere to describe the defeat of enemies (see Pss 58:10; 137:8-9).

Selah

Selah

- 22 My Lord has spoken:
 "From Bashan I will bring those people back.
 I will bring them back from the ocean's depths 23 so that you can wash your feet in their blood, so that your dogs' tongues can lap up their share of your enemies."
- 24 They saw your procession, God—
 the procession of my God, my king, into the sanctuary.
- 25 First came the singers, then the musicians; between them the young women were playing hand drums:
- 26 "Bless God in the great congregation; bless the LORD from Israel's fountain!"
- 27 There's Benjamin leading them, though he's little;
 then the princes of Judah, their speaker;
 then the princes of Zebulun and the princes of Naphtali.
- 28 Summon your strength, God!
 Show how strong you are, God, just as you've done for us before, 29 from your temple above Jerusalem, where kings bring you gifts.
- 30 Rebuke the wild animals of the marshland, the herd of bulls among the calves of the peoples.
 Trample those who delight in money;
 scatter the peoples who take pleasure in battles.
- 31 Let ambassadors come from Egypt;
 let Cush stretch out its hands to God.
- 32 Sing to God, all kingdoms of the earth!
 Sing praises to my Lord.
- 33 Sing to the one who rides through heaven,
 the most ancient heaven.
 Look! God sends forth his voice, his mighty voice.
- 34 Recognize how strong God is!
 His majesty extends over Israel;
 his strength is in the clouds.
- 35 You are awesome, God, in your sanctuaries—the God of Israel who gives strength and power to his people!

Bless God!

Psalm 69

For the music leader. According to "The Lilies." Of David.

- 1 Save me, God, because the waters have reached my neck!
 2 I have sunk into deep mud. My feet can't touch the bottom!

68:24 your procession: See Psalm 42:4, where God's presence is celebrated joyfully. Psalm 24 also seems to describe a worship celebration. my king: See Psalms 5:2 and 24:7-10, including the recognition of God's reign as king, into the sanctuary: See Psalm 68:17.

68:25 See Psalm 33:2; see sidebar, "Music and Singing" at Psalm 33.

68:27 Benjamin... Naphtali: Four of the twelve tribes (sons) of Israel (Jacob) are named. See Judges 5:14, where Benjamin also leads the tribes. Benjamin and Judah were the tribes that formed the southern kingdom, Judah, when the kingdoms split, so the point of view seems Judean.

68:28-31 The shift to petition is somewhat unexpected, given the triumphs already described and the celebration of Psalm 68:24-27; but it indicates the reality that God's claim on the world never goes unopposed (see Pss 1-2).

wild animals: probably a symbol of human enemies (see Ps 10:9). who delight in money: See Psalms 49:5-9; 52:7; 62:10. who... in battles: See Psalm 46:8-10. Egypt... Cush: These two African countries (Cush is Ethiopia) are mentioned illustratively in the vision of a world reconciled to God and God's purposes (see Ps 67). Note the worldwide viewpoint reflected in Psalm 68:32.

68:32-35 The concluding invitations and positive statement emphasize God's strength (see Ps 59:9-10, 16-17), as well as God's claim upon Israel (68:35), the whole world (68:32), and indeed the whole universe (68:33-34). Bless God!: an appropriate concluding invitation that suggests submission to God's all-inclusive claim (see Ps 16:7).

69:1-36 Like Psalm 22, Psalm 69 is one of the longest of the prayers for help; and it derives its intensity from double rounds of combined petition and complaint

68:23 1Ki 21:19;
Ps 58:10
68:24 Ps 63:2
68:25 Ex 15:20;
Jgs 11:34
68:26 Dt 33:28;
Ps 26:12; Is 48:1
68:27 Jgs 5:18;
1Sa 9:21
68:28 Ps 29:11;
Is 26:12
68:29 1Ki 10:10;
1Ki 10:25;
2Ch 32:23;
Ps 72:10,
Ps 76:11
68:30 Job 40:21;
Ps 22:12,
Ps 120:7;
Eze 29:3
68:31 Is 45:14;
Zep 3:10
68:32 Ps 67:4
68:33 Dt 33:26;
Ps 18:10,
Ps 29:3-4, Ps 46:6
68:34 Ps 29:1
68:35 Ps 29:11;
Is 40:29
69:1 Ps 42:7
69:2 Ps 40:2,
Ps 69:14

Selah

69:3 Dt 28:32;
Ps 6:6, Ps 119:82,
Ps 119:123;
Is 38:14

69:4 Ps 35:19,
Ps 38:19,
Ps 40:12;
Jn 15:25

69:5 Ps 38:5,
Ps 44:21;
Jer 16:17

69:6 Gn 15:2;
Dt 3:24;
Josh 7:8;
2Sa 23:3;
1Ki 8:25

69:9 Ps 89:50,
Ps 119:139;
Jn 2:17; Ro 15:3

69:10 Ps 35:13

69:11 1Ki 9:7;
Ps 35:13;
Jer 24:9

69:12 Gn 19:1;
Job 30:9

69:15 Nm 16:33

69:16 Ps 25:16,
Ps 51:1, Ps 63:3,
Ps 69:13,
Ps 109:21

I have entered deep water; the flood has swept me up.

<sup>3</sup> I am tired of crying. My throat is hoarse.

My eyes are exhausted with waiting for my God.

<sup>4</sup> More numerous than the hairs on my head are those who hate me for no reason.

My treacherous enemies, those who would destroy me, are countless.

Must I now give back what I didn't steal in the first place?

<sup>5</sup> God, you know my foolishness;

my wrongdoings aren't hidden from you.

<sup>6</sup> LORD God of heavenly forces!—

don't let those who hope in you be put to shame because of me.

God of Israel!—

don't let those who seek you be disgraced because of me.

<sup>7</sup> I am insulted because of you.

Shame covers my face.

<sup>8</sup> I have become a stranger to my own brothers, an immigrant to my mother's children.

<sup>9</sup> Because passion for your house has consumed me, the insults of those who insult you have fallen on me!

<sup>10</sup> I wept while I fasted—even for that I was insulted.

<sup>11</sup> When I wore funeral clothes, people made fun of me.

<sup>12</sup> Those who sit at the city gate muttered things about me; drunkards made up rude songs.

<sup>13</sup> But me? My prayer reaches you, LORD, at just the right time.

God, in your great and faithful love, answer me with your certain salvation!

<sup>14</sup> Save me from the mud! Don't let me drown!

Let me be saved from those who hate me and from these watery depths!

<sup>15</sup> Don't let me be swept away by the floodwaters!

Don't let the abyss swallow me up!

Don't let the pit close its mouth over me!

<sup>16</sup> Answer me, LORD, for your faithful love is good!

Turn to me in your great compassion!

(69:1-12; 13-29). These two sections roughly parallel each other: for example, see Save me (69:1, 14), mud (69:2, 14), insulted/insults and shame (69:7, 19). They are followed by two sections that speak praise and trust (69:30-33, 34-36). Like Psalm 22, Psalm 69 was a resource for the Gospel writers as they told the story of Jesus (see references following; see sidebar, "The Psalms and Jesus" at Ps 22).

69:1-2 Save me: See Psalm 13:5. waters... deep water: Water symbolizes disorder and threat (see Ps 18:16).

69:3 tired of crying... eyes are exhausted: See Psalms 6:6-7; 13:3.

69:4-5 hate... no reason: See Psalms 35:7, 19; 38:19; 109:3; John 15:25. Later in the psalm, it becomes clear that the speaker is opposed because of faithfulness to God (see Ps 69:9). Whatever troubles the speaker had are made worse by those who blame and seek to take advantage (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). destroy me: See Psalm 35:4. Must... place?: The speaker may have been falsely accused of stealing (see Pss 27:12; 35:20; 7; 17; 26), but the question here may be a way of stating more generally that the speaker can't confess to any wrong that he or she didn't do. Even so, the speaker doesn't claim to be sinless, as 69:5 shows.

69:6 heavenly forces: See Psalm 24:10. don't... me: The two similar requests suggest that the psalmist doesn't want his or her suffering to discourage others from being faithful to God.

69:7 insulted because of you: The psalmist's suffering results not from sinfulness but from faithfulness (see Ps 69:9). This is the first occurrence of insulted, which becomes a keyword (see Ps 69:9-10, 19-20). See Psalm 22:7-8; Matthew 27:34; Mark 15:29.

69:8 See Psalms 31:11; 38:11; 88:8, 18; Jeremiah 12:6. The psalmist is unjustly blamed for the suffering, and so is shunned, even by the psalmist's own family.

69:9 See Psalm 69:7; John 2:7.

69:10-12 Even when the psalmist displays faithful humility and signs of penitence, he or she is mocked (see Ps 35:13-14). Even so, the psalmist remains faithful, as the immediately following petitions demonstrate.

69:13 faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. certain salvation: In the midst of deadly threat (Ps 69:4), the psalmist trusts that God will give life (see Ps 13:5).

69:14-15 The water image recalls Psalm 69:1-2. the pit: a symbol for deadly threat (see Ps 16:10).

69:16 faithful love: See Psalm 69:13. compassion: See Psalm 25:6. These are fundamental qualities of God (see Exod 34:6), upon which the psalmist grounds the plea for life.

17 Don't hide your face from me, your servant, because I'm in deep trouble.

Answer me quickly!

18 Come close to me!

Redeem me!

Save me because of my enemies!

19 You know full well the insults I've received;

you know my shame and my disgrace.

All my adversaries are right there in front of you.

20 Insults have broken my heart. I'm sick about it.

I hoped for sympathy, but there wasn't any;

I hoped for comforters, but couldn't find any.

21 They gave me poison for food.

To quench my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.

22 Let the table before them become a trap, their offerings a snare.

23 Let their eyes grow too dim to see;
make their insides tremble constantly.

24 Pour out your anger on them—let your burning fury catch them.

25 Let their camp be devastated;
let no one dwell in their tents.

26 Because they go after those you've already struck;
they talk about the pain of those you've already pierced.

27 Pile guilt on top of their guilt!
Don't let them come into your righteousness!

28 Let them be wiped out of the scroll of life!
Let them not be recorded along with the righteous!

29 And me? I'm afflicted.
I'm full of pain.
Let your salvation keep me safe, God!

30 I will praise God's name with song;
I will magnify him with thanks

31 because that is more pleasing to the LORD than an ox, more pleasing than a young bull with full horns and hooves.

32 Let the afflicted see it and be glad!
You who seek God—let your hearts beat strong again

33 because the LORD listens to the needy and doesn't despise his captives.

34 Let heaven and earth praise God, the oceans too, and all that moves within them!

35 God will most certainly save Zion and will rebuild Judah's cities so that God's servants can live there and possess it.

36 The offspring of God's servants will inherit Zion, and those who love God's name will dwell there.

69:17 hide your face: See Psalm 13:1.

69:18 Redeem me!: When a person was in trouble, a close relative was supposed to redeem him, so the word is sometimes translated as "next-of-kin." In view of Psalm 69:8, the psalmist relies on God in the midst of abandonment by family.

69:21 See Matthew 27:34; Mark 15:23; Luke 23:36; John 19:29-30.

69:22-29 The extended petitions against the enemies have no parallel in Psalm 69:1-12. The point isn't personal payback but rather setting things right for one who is afflicted (69:29; see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6). scroll of life: See Psalm 40:7.

69:30-36 The prayers for help regularly pair praise with complaint/petition (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6).

69:30-31 with thanks: Thanks could involve sacrifice, but not necessarily, and apparently not here (see Pss 50:14, 23; 51:16-17).

69:32-33 See Psalm 22:24, 26.

69:34 See the universal praise of God in Psalms 65:13; 148:12.

69:35-36 These verses may have been added to make the

69:17 Ps 27:9,
Ps 102:2,
Ps 143:7

69:19 Ps 22:6;
Heb 12:2

69:20 Job 16:2;
Ps 142:4; Is 63:5

69:21 Mt 27:34,
Mt 27:48,
Mk 15:23;
Lk 23:36;
Jn 19:28

69:22 Ro
11:9-10

69:23 Is 6:10,
Is 29:16; Dn 5:6;
Mt 13:14;
Jn 12:40

69:24 Ps 78:49,
Ps 79:6;
Jer 10:25;
Hos 5:10

69:25 Mt 23:38;
Lk 13:35;
Ac 1:20

69:26 Ps 109:16;
Is 53:4; Zec 1:15

69:27 Neh 4:5

69:28
Ex 32:32-33;
Lk 10:20;
Phi 4:3; Rev 3:5

69:31 Ps 50:9,
Ps 51:16

69:32 Ps 22:26,
Ps 34:2

70:2 Ps 6:10,
Ps 35:4, Ps 35:26,
Ps 71:13

70:4 Ps 35:27,
Ps 40:16

70:5 Ps 35:10,
Ps 40:17,
Ps 109:22,
Ps 141:1

71:1 Ps 22:5,
Ps 25:2, Ps 31:1

71:3 Ps 16:2

71:4 Ps 43:1,
Ps 140:1,
Ps 140:4

71:5 Ps 39:7;
Jer 17:7

71:6 Ps 22:9,
Ps 22:10, Ps 34:1,
Is 46:3

71:7 Is 8:18;
1Co 4:9

71:8 Ps 35:28,
Ps 51:15,
Ps 71:15

71:10 Ps 31:13,
Ps 56:6, Ps 83:3

Psalm 70

For the music leader. Of David. For the memorial offering.

- <sup>1</sup> Hurry, God, to deliver me;
hurry, LORD, to help me!
- <sup>2</sup> Let those who seek my life be ashamed and humiliated!
Let them fall back and be disgraced—those people who delight in my downfall!
- <sup>3</sup> Let those who say, "Aha! Aha!"
stop because of their shameful behavior.
- <sup>4</sup> But let all who seek you rejoice and be glad in you, and let those who love your saving help say again and again:
"God is great!"
- <sup>5</sup> But me? I'm poor and needy.
Hurry to me, God!
You are my helper and my deliverer.
Oh, LORD, don't delay!

Psalm 71

- <sup>1</sup> I've taken refuge in you, LORD.
Don't let me ever be put to shame!
- <sup>2</sup> Deliver me and rescue me by your righteousness!
Bend your ear toward me and save me!
- <sup>3</sup> Be my rock of refuge where I can always escape.
You commanded that my life be saved because you are my rock and my fortress.
- <sup>4</sup> My God, rescue me from the power of the wicked;
rescue me from the grip of the wrongdoer and the oppressor <sup>5</sup> because you are my hope, Lord.
You, LORD, are the one I've trusted since childhood.
- <sup>6</sup> I've depended on you from birth—you cut the cord when I came from my mother's womb.
My praise is always about you.
- <sup>7</sup> I've become an example to many people because you are my strong refuge.
- <sup>8</sup> My mouth is filled with your praise, glorifying you all day long.
- <sup>9</sup> Don't cast me off in old age.
Don't abandon me when my strength is used up!
- <sup>10</sup> Yes, my enemies have been talking about me;
those who stalk me plot together:

psalm address more directly the situation of the people after the exile (see Ps 51:18-19). Zion: See Psalm 2:6.

70:1-5 Psalm 70 is almost identical to Psalm 40:13-17, and this repetition suggests the existence of originally separate collections that were brought together to form the Psalter (see sidebar, "Books II-III and the Elohistic Psalter" at Ps 42). There is a difference between Psalm 40:17b and 70:5b, which repeats the word hurry from 70:1.

70:3 Aha! Aha!: Particularly following Psalm 69, the taunts here are recognizably similar to those directed at Jesus (see Ps 69:7).

71:1-24 Psalm 71 is a prayer for help, in which the typical elements are arranged in an alternating sequence: trust (71:1a), petition (71:1b-4), trust/praise (71:5-8), petition/complaint (71:9-13), trust/praise (71:14-17), petition (71:18), trust/praise (71:19-24). This pattern, plus the prominence of trust/praise in 71:14-24, makes Psalm 71 akin to the psalms of trust (see Pss 16; 31). The language of Psalm 71 is similar at several points to that found in other prayers for help, especially Psalms 22 and 31.

71:1 refuge: See Psalms 71:7; 2:12; 31:1.

71:2 by your righteousness: See Psalm 5:8. The psalmist's appeal is grounded in God's will and activity to set things right for those who need help (see Ps 9:18). "Righteousness" becomes a keyword (see Ps 71:15, 16, 19, 24).

71:3 See Psalm 31:2-3.

71:5 my hope: See Psalms 71:14; 9:18; 27:14. trusted: See Psalms 4:5; 31:6, 14.

71:6 See Psalm 22:9-10.

71:7 example: As in Psalm 69:6, the psalmist is aware that his or her life can be an example to others.

71:8 See Psalm 51:15.

71:9 old age: See Psalm 71:18. The psalmist seems to be advanced in years, although the language may be metaphorical.

71:10-11 As usual, the enemies are threatening and conspiring (see Pss 3:1-2; 4:2-5; 31:13; 35:15; 41:6-8; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

- 11 "God has abandoned him!
Pursue him!
Grab him because no one will deliver him!"
- 12 Don't be far from me, God!
My God, hurry to help me!
- 13 Let my accusers be put to shame, completely finished off!
Let those who seek my downfall be dressed in insults and disgrace!
- 14 But me? I will hope. Always.
I will add to all your praise.
- 15 My mouth will repeat your righteous acts and your saving deeds all day long.
I don't even know how many of those there are!
- 16 I will dwell on your mighty acts, my Lord.
LORD, I will help others remember nothing but your righteous deeds.
- 17 You've taught me since my youth, God, and I'm still proclaiming your wondrous deeds!
- 18 So, even in my old age with gray hair, don't abandon me, God!
Not until I tell generations about your mighty arm, tell all who are yet to come about your strength, 19 and about your ultimate righteousness, God, because you've done awesome things!
Who can compare to you, God?
- 20 You, who have shown me many troubles and calamities, will revive me once more.<sup>v</sup>
From the depths of the earth, you will raise me up one more time.
- 21 Please increase my honor and comfort me all around.
- 22 Then I'll give you thanks with a harp—
I will thank you for your faithfulness, my God.
I will make music for you with the lyre, holy one of Israel.
- 23 My lips will rejoice aloud when I make music for you; my whole being,<sup>w</sup> which you saved, will do the same.
- 24 My tongue, also, will tell of your righteousness all day long, because those who seek my downfall have been put to shame and disgraced.

71:1-1 Ps 7:2;
Mt 27:46

71:14 Ps 130:7

71:15 Ps 35:28;
Ps 40:5, Ps 66:16,
Ps 71:8, Ps 71:24

71:17 Dt 4:5,
Ps 26:7, Ps 71:5

71:18 Ps 22:31,
Ps 71:9, Ps 78:4;
Is 46:4

71:19 Ps 35:10,
Ps 36:5-6,
Ps 126:2; Lk 1:49

71:22 2Ki 19:22;
Ps 33:2, Ps 78:41,
Ps 89:18; Is 60:9

71:23 Ps 34:22,
Ps 103:4

72:1 1Ki 3:9

Psalm 72

Of Solomon.

- <sup>1</sup> God, give your judgments to the king.
Give your righteousness to the king's son.

<sup>v</sup>Qere; Kethib who have shown us . . . will revive us <sup>w</sup>Or soul

71:12 See Psalms 22:11, 19; 70:1.

71:13 Prayers against the enemies are frequent and tell of the psalmists' desire for things to be set right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

71:14-19 The hope spoken about in 71:14 (see Pss 5:3; 27:14) is the basis for the psalmist's testimony to God's activity. The psalmist has been committed to the educational task of passing on the faith to future generations (71:18; see Ps 78:4-8, where teaching children aims at instilling hope that will issue in obedience).

71:20 Even though the psalmist seems to link suffering to God (see Pss 6; 38), she or he doesn't view the suffering as punishment, and maintains hope in God's life-giving power. depths of the earth: An allusion to Sheol, the realm of the dead (see Ps 6:5).

71:22 faithfulness: See Psalm 25:10. In Psalm 92:2-3, God's faithfulness is also celebrated with harp and lyre (see Ps 33:2).

71:23-24 These verses suggest that rescue has already happened, but it is probably still expected. On this uncertainty and the regular pairing of complaint and praise in the prayers for help, see Psalms 6:8-10; 13:5-6.

72:1-20 a royal psalm (see Ps 2). It's clear from the first line that it's a prayer for the king; and it was probably used regularly when a new king was crowned or perhaps on the anniversary of a king's reign. Psalm 72 is one of two psalms credited to Solomon (see also Ps 127), and it's possible that it originated in Solomon's time. Psalm 72 concludes Book II; and Psalm 89, another royal psalm, concludes Book III. On the significance of this arrangement, see sidebar, "Books II-III and the Elohist Psalter" at Psalm 42.

72:1 your judgments . . . righteousness: The Hebrew root

72:2 Is 9:7;
Is 11:4; Is 32:1
72:3 Is 52:7
72:4 Is 11:4
72:5 Ps 72:17;
Ps 89:36-37
72:6 Dt 32:2;
2Sa 23:4;
Hos 6:3; Am 7:1
72:7 Ps 92:12;
Is 2:4
72:8 Ex 23:31;
1Ki 4:21; Ps 2:8;
Zec 9:10;
Rev 11:15
72:9 Is 49:23;
Mi 7:17
72:10 Gn 10:7;
1Ki 10:1;
Ps 45:12;
Ps 68:29; Is 43:3
72:11 Ps 86:9;
Ps 138:4;
Is 49:23
72:12 Job 29:12
72:13 Ps 109:31
72:14 1Sa 26:21;
Ps 69:18;
Ps 116:15
72:15 1Ki 10:10

- <sup>2</sup>Let him judge your people with righteousness and your poor ones with justice.
- <sup>3</sup>Let the mountains bring peace to the people;
let the hills bring righteousness.
- <sup>4</sup>Let the king bring justice to people who are poor;
let him save the children of those who are needy,
but let him crush oppressors!
- <sup>5</sup>Let the king live<sup>a</sup> as long as the sun,
as long as the moon, generation to generation.
- <sup>6</sup>Let him fall like rain upon fresh-cut grass, like showers that water the earth.
- <sup>7</sup>Let the righteous flourish throughout their lives, and let peace prosper until the moon is no more.
- <sup>8</sup>Let the king rule from sea to sea, from the river to the ends of the earth.
- <sup>9</sup>Let the desert dwellers bow low before him;
let his enemies lick the dust.
- <sup>10</sup>Let the kings of Tarshish and the islands bring tribute;
let the kings of Sheba and Seba present gifts.
- <sup>11</sup>Let all the kings bow down before him;
let all the nations serve him.
- <sup>12</sup>Let it be so, because he delivers the needy who cry out, the poor, and those who have no helper.
- <sup>13</sup>He has compassion on the weak and the needy;
he saves the lives of those who are in need.
- <sup>14</sup>He redeems their lives from oppression and violence;
their blood is precious in his eyes.
- <sup>15</sup>Let the king live long!
Let Sheba's gold be given to him!

<sup>a</sup>LXX; MT May they fear you.

underlying judgments occurs again as “justice” in Psalm 72:2 and 72:4 (“judge” in verse 2 is a different but synonymous root), and righteousness occurs again in verses 2-3. The repetition indicates that these words are keywords, and they are also very important throughout the Psalter. Together, they summarize God’s will for the world (see Pss 5:8; 9:4; 96:13; 98:9; see sidebar, “Book IV and the Rule of God” at Ps 89). The king’s role is to be the earthly agent who does God’s will (see sidebar, “God’s Anointed One” at Ps 2).
72:3 peace: The familiar Hebrew is shalom, the total well-being that exists when justice and righteousness are done. The word occurs again in Psalm 72. That the mountains bring peace suggests that sufficient food is a basic minimum for measuring whether or not “shalom” exists (see Ps 72:16).
72:4 poor . . . needy: The king had a special responsibility to care for those who were the most helpless in the community (see Ps 72:12-14). This responsibility suggests that the king is the earthly agent of God’s will, since God shows special concern for the weak and mistreated (see Ps 9:18; see sidebar, “The Poor and Needy” at Ps 82). crush oppressors: See Psalm 72:14. This responsibility explains why the king is often cast in the role of fighting—that is, the king is responsible for confronting those who oppose God’s will for justice and righteousness, and such opposition is widespread in the Psalter (see Pss 2:8-9; 18:31-50; 21:8-12; see sidebar, “God’s Anointed One” at Ps 2). In reality, the kings of Israel and Judah became oppressors themselves, and so evoked opposition from the prophets, who accused them of failing to take care of the poor and needy (see Isa 3:13-15; Amos 5:11; 8:4) and who demanded justice and righteousness (see Isa 1:27; 5:7; Amos 5:24).

72:5-7 sun . . . moon . . . rain . . . showers: The psalmist thinks that the king’s reign of justice and righteousness will endure (Ps 72:5, 7, 15, 17), and that it will contribute to the productivity of the land (Ps 72:6, 16). In short, justice and righteousness will have positive effects for the earth.

72:8-12 Having thought about the extent of the king’s reign in time (Ps 72: 5-7), the psalmist now turns to geographical space, imagining a worldwide sphere (see Ps 2:8-9).

72:8 the river: Probably the Euphrates (see map 8).

72:10 Tarshish: probably in Spain (see Ps 48:7). the islands: probably meant to be a symbol of very faraway places. Sheba: the region of the southern Arabian peninsula (see 1 Kgs 10:1; Isa 60:6). Seba: southern Arabia again (see Gen 10:7; Isa 43:3; 45:14).

72:11 What may sound like propaganda is the psalmist’s way of wishing that God’s purposes be universally honored, ultimately for the benefit of all (see Ps 72:17).

72:12-14 Insofar as the king deserves honor, it will be because he attends to the needs of the poor and needy (see Pss 72:4; 82:3-4).

Let him be prayed for always!
 Let him be blessed all day long!

- 16 Let there be abundant grain in the land.
 Let it wave on the mountaintops.
 Let its fruit flourish like Lebanon.
 Let it thrive like grass on the land.
- 17 Let the king's name last forever.
 Let his name endure as long as the sun.
 Let all the nations be blessed through him and call him happy.

- 18 Bless the LORD God, the God of Israel—the only one who does wondrous things!
- 19 Bless God's glorious name forever; let his glory fill all the earth!
 Amen and Amen!

20 The prayers of David, Jesse's son, are ended.

72:17 Gn 12:3,
 Gn 22:18;
 Ps 89:36; Lk 1:48
 72:18 Ex 15:11;
 1Ch 29:10;
 Ps 41:13,
 Ps 77:14,
 Ps 136:4
 72:19 Nm 14:21;
 Neh 9:5;
 Ps 41:13
 72:20 2Sa 23:1
 73:1 Ps 24:4,
 Ps 51:10; Mt 5:8
 73:2 Ps 94:18
 73:3 Job 21:7;
 Ps 37:1; Ps 37:7;
 Prv 23:17;
 Jer 12:1
 73:4 Ps 17:14
 73:5 Ps 73:12
 73:6 Ps 109:18;
 Prv 1:9
 73:7 Job 15:27;
 Ps 17:10;
 Jer 5:28
 73:8 Jud 1:16
 73:9 Rev 13:6

BOOK III
 (Psalms 73–89)

Psalm 73
 A psalm of Asaph.

- 1 Truly God is good to Israel, to those who have a pure heart.
- 2 But me? My feet had almost stumbled;
 my steps had nearly slipped
- 3 because I envied the arrogant;
 I observed how the wicked are well off:
- 4 They suffer no pain;
 their bodies are fit and strong.
- 5 They are never in trouble;
 they aren't weighed down like other people.
- 6 That's why they wear arrogance like a necklace,
 why violence covers them like clothes.
- 7 Their eyes bulge out from eating so well;
 their hearts overflow with delusions.
- 8 They scoff and talk so cruel;
 from their privileged positions they plan oppression.
- 9 Their mouths dare to speak against heaven!
 Their tongues roam the earth!

72:16 abundant grain: This means sufficient food, especially for the poor and needy. Sufficient food is the basic foundation for peace (see Ps 72:3, 6).

72:17 Let all the nations . . . blessed through him: An echo of the promise and mission assigned to Abram in Gen 12:1–3 (see Ps 47). happy: See Psalm 1:1–2, where happiness derives from doing God's Instruction or will; and this is precisely the king's task (see Deut 17:14–20).

72:18–19 This doxology is an appropriate conclusion to Psalm 72, since the king is supposed to do God's work. These verses also mark the end of Book II (see Ps 41:13).

72:20 probably meant to mark the conclusion of the Davidic collection that began with Psalm 51 (see sidebar, "Books II–III and the Elohistic Psalter" at Ps 42).

73:1–28 At the beginning of Book III and an extended collection of Asaph psalms (Pss 73–83; see Ps 50), Psalm 73 recalls Psalm 1. Like Psalm 1, it focuses on the wicked (73:3–13; see Ps 1:1, 4–6) and discerns their ultimate failure (73:27; see Ps 1:6). Psalm 73 is often identified as a wisdom psalm; but at verse 15 it becomes a prayer that functions like a profession of faith. The psalmist moves from doubt (73:2–3; 21–22) to trust (73:23–28).

73:1 good: The word brackets the psalm, occurring again in Psalm 73:28, which defines the core of goodness as the psalmist has come to understand it. pure heart: See Pss 73:13; 24:4.

73:2–3 well off: The underlying Hebrew word shalom is often translated "peace." This is the psalmist's problem: The wicked seem to be enjoying peace (see Ps 73:4–12), while the psalmist is suffering (see Ps 73:14). Faithfulness doesn't seem to pay, so the psalmist envies the wicked.

73:4–12 An extended description of how well the wicked are doing (see Ps 10:3–6). They are healthy, well-fed, care-free, and can get away with anything.

73:6 arrogance . . . violence: The self-important and destructive behavior of the wicked has been very clear throughout the prayers in Books I–II (see Ps 4:2–5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

- 73:11 Job 22:13
73:12 Ps 49:6,
Ps 73:3; Jer 12:1
- 73:13 Job 21:15,
Job 34:9; Ps 26:6;
Mal 3:14
- 73:14 Job 33:19;
Ps 73:5; Ps 94:12;
Ps 118:18;
Heb 12:5
- 73:15 Ps 14:5
- 73:16 Ecc 8:17
- 73:17 Ps 37:38,
Ps 77:13
- 73:18 Ps 35:6
- 73:20 Job 20:8;
Ps 78:65
- 73:21 Ac 2:37
- 73:22 Job 18:3;
Ps 49:10; Ps 92:6;
Ecc 3:18
- 73:23 Ps 16:8,
Ps 37:24; Ps 63:8;
Is 41:13
- 73:24 Ps 32:8,
Ps 48:14,
Ps 49:15
- 73:25 Ps 16:2,
Ps 42:1; Phi 3:8
- 73:26 Ps 16:5,
Ps 18:2; Ps 84:2;
Lam 3:24
- 73:27 Ex 34:15;
Nm 15:39;
Ps 119:155
- <sup>10</sup>That's why people keep going back to them, keep approving what they say.†
- <sup>11</sup>And what they say is this: "How could God possibly know!
Does the Most High know anything at all!"
- <sup>12</sup>Look at these wicked ones, always relaxed, piling up the wealth!
- <sup>13</sup>Meanwhile, I've kept my heart pure for no good reason;
I've washed my hands to stay innocent for nothing.
- <sup>14</sup>I'm weighed down all day long.
I'm punished every morning.
- <sup>15</sup>If I said, "I will talk about all this,"
I would have been unfaithful to your children.
- <sup>16</sup>But when I tried to understand these things, it just seemed like hard work
- <sup>17</sup>until I entered God's sanctuary and understood what would happen to the wicked.
- <sup>18</sup>You will definitely put them on a slippery path;
you will make them fall into ruin!
- <sup>19</sup>How quickly they are devastated, utterly destroyed by terrors!
- <sup>20</sup>As quickly as a dream departs from someone waking up, my Lord, when you are stirred up, you make them disappear.‡
- <sup>21</sup>When my heart was bitter, when I was all cut up inside,
- <sup>22</sup>I was stupid and ignorant.
I acted like nothing but an animal toward you.
- <sup>23</sup>But I was still always with you!
You held my strong hand!
- <sup>24</sup>You have guided me with your advice;
later you will receive me with glory.
- <sup>25</sup>Do I have anyone else in heaven?
There's nothing on earth I desire except you.
- <sup>26</sup>My body and my heart fail, but God is my heart's rock and my share forever.
- <sup>27</sup>Look! Those far from you die;
you annihilate all those who are unfaithful to you.

†Heb uncertain ‡Heb uncertain

73:10 The wicked attract a following. Even the psalmist seems tempted to join them (see Ps 73:2-3).

73:11 One of several instances where the wicked deny any accountability to God and others (see Ps 10:4, 6, 11, 13).

73:13-14 See Psalm 24:4. The psalmist can see no benefit to faithfulness (see Ps 73:2-3). Faithful behavior has brought nothing but suffering (see Ps 69).

73:15 This verse marks the beginning of a change, when the psalmist recalls an identity as one of God's children. talk: See Psalm 73:28, where doubting talk has been replaced by faithful praise-talk, marking the conclusion of the psalmist's change.

73:16-17 The psalmist's turning point continues, involving some kind of life-changing experience that seems to take place in the temple, suggesting that worship was transformative.

73:18-20 The psalmist, who had almost slipped (Ps 73:2), now understands that the wicked are really the ones on a slippery path (Ps 73:18). Their well-being (Ps 73:3-12) is an illusion (73:19-20).

73:21-22 The psalmist recalls the former doubt (Ps 73:2-3, 13-14).

73:23 with you: The psalmist realizes that suffering (Ps 73:14) doesn't mean separation from God.

73:24 guided me: See Psalm 23:3. receive . . . glory: perhaps an allusion to Genesis 5:24 and 2 Kings 2:11, where Enoch and Elijah are received by God. This verse seems to push the boundaries of the usual Israelite understanding of death (see Pss 22:29; 49:15).

73:25 An eloquent profession of fundamental, deep trust in God for life and future (see Pss 31:5, 15; 63:3; 142:5).

73:26 heart . . . my heart's rock: The word heart is a key-word in the psalm, occurring also in verses 1, 13, and 21. The repetition emphasizes the psalmist's change of heart. On God as "rock," see Psalms 19:14; 31:2; 61:2; 62:2, 6-7.

73:27-28 near God: The psalmist now knows true goodness, which is nearness to God (see Ps 73:1). refuge: See Psalm 2:12. talk: See Psalm 73:15.

<sup>28</sup>But me? It's good for me to be near God.
I have taken my refuge in you, my LORD God,
so I can talk all about your works!

Psalm 74

A maskil<sup>a</sup> of Asaph.

- <sup>1</sup>God, why have you abandoned us forever?
Why does your anger smolder at the sheep of your own pasture?
- <sup>2</sup>Remember your congregation that you took as your own long ago, that you redeemed to be the tribe of your own possession—remember Mount Zion, where you dwell.
- <sup>3</sup>March to the unending ruins, to all that the enemy destroyed in the sanctuary.
- <sup>4</sup>Your enemies roared in your own meeting place;
they set up their own signs there!
- <sup>5</sup>It looked like axes raised against a thicket of trees.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>6</sup>And then all its carvings they hacked down with hatchet and pick.
- <sup>7</sup>They set fire to your sanctuary, burned it to the ground;
they defiled the dwelling place of your name.
- <sup>8</sup>They said in their hearts, We'll kill all of them together!
They burned all of God's meeting places in the land.
- <sup>9</sup>We don't see our own signs anymore.
No prophet is left.
And none of us know how long it will last.
- <sup>10</sup>How long, God, will foes insult you?
Are enemies going to abuse your name forever?
- <sup>11</sup>Why do you pull your hand back?
Why do you hold your strong hand close to your chest?
- <sup>12</sup>Yet God has been my king from ancient days—
God, who makes salvation happen in the heart of the earth!
- <sup>13</sup>You split the sea with your power.
You shattered the heads of the sea monsters on the water.
- <sup>14</sup>You crushed Leviathan's heads.
You gave it to the desert dwellers for food!
- <sup>15</sup>You split open springs and streams;
you made strong-flowing rivers dry right up.
- <sup>16</sup>The day belongs to you! The night too!
You established both the moon and the sun.
- <sup>17</sup>You set all the boundaries of the earth in place.
Summer and winter? You made them!

<sup>a</sup>Perhaps instruction; the root is used in Ps 32:8. <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain

74:1-23 Psalm 74 is a communal prayer for help, which probably originated with the fall of Jerusalem in 587 BCE (see Ps 44). A first section of complaint and petition (74:1-11) is followed by a celebration of God's control and creative power (74:12-17). A series of petitions concludes the prayer (74:18-23).

74:1 abandoned us: See Psalm 44:9.

74:2 you redeemed: See Psalm 69:18 Mount Zion: See Psalm 2:6.

74:3 unending ruins... sanctuary: The temple on Mount Zion has apparently been ransacked and destroyed, as 74:4-9 also suggests.

74:9 our own signs: perhaps a reference to a banner or some physical symbol (see Num 2:2), or maybe a way of saying that nothing recognizable is left. No prophet: See Lamentations 2:9.

74:10 How long: a frequent question in the prayers for help (see Ps 13:1).

74:12-17 As is regularly the case in the prayers of individuals, complaint and celebration are placed side by side (see Ps 13:5-6).

74:12 my king: See Psalm 5:2. makes salvation happen: a positive statement of God's life-giving power.

74:13-14 split the sea: probably an allusion to the exodus, the perfect example that God "makes salvation happen" (Ps 74:12). sea monsters... Leviathan's heads: The sea and its creatures often symbolize the disorder that God tamed by divine creative power. Leviathan was the ultimate chaos monster (see Ps 104:26; Job 3:8; 41:1).

74:15 God makes water life-serving instead of life-threatening (see Ps 104:6-9)

73:28 Ps 118:17;
Heb 10:22;
Jas 4:8

74:2 Ex 15:16;
Ps 9:11;
Jer 10:16,
Jer 51:19

74:3 Ps 79:1

74:4 Nm 2:2;
Lam 2:7

74:5 Jer 46:22

74:6 1Ki 6:18,
1Ki 6:29,
1Ki 6:32,
1Ki 6:35

74:7 2Ki 25:9;
Ps 89:39;
Is 64:11

74:9 1Sa 3:1;
Lam 2:9;
Eze 7:26;
Am 8:11

74:11 Lam 2:3

74:12 Ps 44:4;
Is 33:22

74:13 Ex 14:21;
Is 27:1, Is 51:9,
Is 51:10,
Eze 29:3

74:14 Job 41:1;
Ps 104:26

74:15 Ex 17:6;
Nm 20:11;
Josh 3:13;
Ps 105:41

74:16 Gn 1:14;
Ps 8:3, Ps 104:19,
Ps 136:7

74:17 Gn 8:22;
Dt 32:8; Ac 17:26

74:19 Ps 68:10;
Song 2:14
74:21 Ps 9:9,
Ps 10:18,
Ps 35:10, Ps 86:1,
Ps 103:6
74:23 Ps 65:7
75:1 Ps 57:1,
Ps 145:18
75:2 Ps 102:13;
Is 11:4; Ac 17:31
75:3 1Sa 2:8;
Is 24:19
75:5 2Ch 30:8
75:6 Ps 3:3,
Ps 75:7
75:7 1Sa 2:7;
Ps 50:6, Ps 58:11,
Ps 147:6;
Dn 2:21
75:8 Job 21:20;
Ps 11:6, Ps 60:3;
Prv 23:30;
Jer 25:15

- 18 So remember this, LORD:
how enemies have insulted you,
how unbelieving fools have abused your name.
- 19 Don't deliver the life of your dove to wild animals!
Don't forget the lives of your afflicted people forever!
- 20 Consider the covenant!
Because the land's dark places are full of violence.
- 21 Don't let the oppressed live in shame.
No, let the poor and needy praise your name!
- 22 God, rise up! Make your case!
Remember how unbelieving fools insult you all day long.
- 23 Don't forget the voices of your enemies,
the racket of your adversaries that never quits.

Psalm 75

For the music leader. Do not destroy. A psalm of Asaph. A song.

- 1 We give thanks to you, God. Yes, we give thanks!
Your name is near. Your marvelous deeds are declared.
- 2 God says,<sup>c</sup> "When I decide the time is right,
I will establish justice just so.
3 The earth and all its inhabitants will melt, but I will keep its pillars steady."
- 4 I said to the arrogant,
"Don't be arrogant!"
To the wicked I said,
"Don't exalt your strength!
5 Don't exalt your strength so highly.
Don't speak so arrogantly against the rock."<sup>d</sup>
- 6 Because what exalts someone doesn't come from the east or west;
it's not from the south either.
- 7 Rather it is God who is the judge.
He brings this person down,
but that person he lifts up.
- 8 Indeed, there's a cup in the LORD's hand full of foaming wine, mixed with spice.

Selah

<sup>c</sup>Heb lacks God says. <sup>d</sup>LXX against God; MT speak with an arrogant neck

74:18 insulted you: See Psalm 74:22. God experiences the same abuse that the righteous experience in the prayers for help (see Ps 69:7, 9, 19-20).

74:19 your dove: a name for God's defenseless people. afflicted: Here and in Psalm 74:21 by mentioning "the oppressed . . . poor and needy," the psalmist appeals to God's special concern for the mistreated and defenseless (see Ps 9:18).

74:20 the covenant: See Psalm 44:17.

75:1-10 In Psalm 75, two expressions of praise (75:1, 9) elicit a divine response (75:2-3, 10). In between, the psalmist professes faith in God's intent to establish justice (75:7-8), daring even to challenge the wicked and call them to account (75:4-6).

75:1 This verse recalls Psalm 73:28; and as elsewhere, thanks and testimony to God's work go together (see Ps 9:1; 26:7).

75:2-3 The divine speech offers an appropriate response to the petitions of Psalm 74:18-23, as well as to the psalmist's words in Psalm 75:1.

75:2 time is right: See "appointed time" in Habakkuk 2:3, where the prophet also awaits God's acting to set things right. establish justice: See Psalms 9:4; 96:13; 98:9.

75:3 the earth . . . melt: an indication of submission (see Ps 46:6). pillars steady: God's establishment of justice will put the world on a stable and secure foundation (see Ps 46:5; 93:1; 96:10 compared to 82:5).

75:4 The wicked typically are haughty as well as deceitful and violent (see Ps 5:5; 73:6; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). The psalmists don't usually address their enemies, as here, but it happens occasionally (see Ps 4:2-5; 62:3-4).

75:7 the judge: This could be translated "the one who establishes justice," so recalling Psalm 75:2. The psalmist trusts that God's justice will be done. down . . . up: This directional language is important in the psalm. The word "exalt" in Psalm 75:4-6 suggests "up," and "lifted up" occurs in Psalm 75:10. This image is drawn into Jesus' teaching about being exalted or humbled (see Matt 23:12; Luke 14:11; 18:14; see also Ps 113:7-9).

75:8 a cup: For a similar image of being called to account, see Psalm 11:6.

He will pour it out,
and all of the earth's wicked people must drink it;
they must drink every last drop!

75:9 Ps 40:10,
Ps 76:6
75:10 Ps 89:17,
Ps 92:10,
Ps 101:8,
Ps 112:9;
Jer 48:25

<sup>9</sup>But I will rejoice<sup>e</sup> always;
I will sing praises to Jacob's God!

<sup>10</sup>God says:<sup>f</sup>
"I will demolish every bit of the wicked's power, but the strength of the righteous will be lifted up."

76:1 1Ch 29:10;
Ps 4:1, Ps 48:1,
Ps 48:3, Ps 50:1
76:2 Gn 14:18;
Ps 9:11,
Ps 132:13

Psalm 76

For the music leader. With stringed instruments. A psalm of Asaph. A song.

76:3 Ps 46:9;
Eze 39:9
76:7 Ps 89:7;
Na 1:6; Rev 6:17
76:9 Ps 9:7,
Ps 9:8

- <sup>1</sup>God is known in Judah;
his name is great in Israel.
<sup>2</sup>His dwelling place became Salem;
his habitation was Zion.
<sup>3</sup>It was there that he broke the fiery shafts of the bow, the shield, the sword—even the battle itself!

76:10 Ex 9:16
76:11 2Ch
32:23; Ps 50:14,
Ps 68:29; Ecc 5:4

Selah

77:1 1Ch 16:41;
Ps 3:4, Ps 39:1, Ps
50:1, Ps 62:1

- <sup>4</sup>You are ablaze with light, mightier than the mountains that give food.
<sup>5</sup>The bravehearted lie plundered.
They sank into deep lethargy.
All the strong troops couldn't even lift their hands!
<sup>6</sup>At your rebuke, Jacob's God, both chariot and horse were stopped dead-still.

<sup>7</sup>You! You are awesome!
Who can stand before you when you are angry?

- <sup>8</sup>You have announced judgment from heaven.
The earth grew afraid and fell silent <sup>9</sup>when God rose up to establish justice, when God rose up to save all of the earth's poor.

Selah

- <sup>10</sup>Even human rage will turn to your praise when you dress yourself with whatever remains of your wrath.<sup>g</sup> <sup>11</sup>Make promises to the LORD your God and keep them!
Let all around him bring gifts to the awesome one.
<sup>12</sup>He breaks the spirit of princes.
He is terrifying to all the kings of the earth.

Psalm 77

For the music leader. According to Jeduthun. Of Asaph. A psalm.

<sup>1</sup>I cry out loud to God—out loud to God so that he can hear me!

<sup>a</sup>LXX; MT I will declare <sup>b</sup>Heb lacks God says. <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain

76:1-12 Because of the focus on Zion in 76:1-3, Psalm 76 is usually classified as a song of Zion. As in other songs of Zion, Jerusalem is a symbol that testifies to God's rule, God's will, and God's protecting presence (see Pss 46, 48; see sidebar, "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship" at Ps 48).

76:1 Jerusalem itself has the ability to reveal God (see Ps 48:3). Greatness is associated elsewhere with God's rule (see Ps 95:3) and God's residence in Jerusalem (see Pss 48:2-3; 99:2-3).

76:2 Salem: The name is the same Hebrew root as shalom, "peace," and is a part of the name Jerusalem, which possibly means "gate of peace" (see Gen 14:18). Zion: See Psalm 2:6.

76:3 God wages peace, destroying all military hardware (see Ps 46:9).

76:4 ablaze with light: God's presence is often associated with light (see Ps 46). mountains that give food: See Psalm 72:3, 16.

76:5-6 Another view of God waging peace (see Ps 48:4-7).
76:7-9 God is angered by injustice (see also Ps 76:10), and God acts to establish justice (76:9), which means action on behalf of the poor (see Pss 9:4, 18; 72:2, 4; 82:3-4; 96:13; 98:9).

76:11 Make promises... bring gifts: Elements of a thanksgiving sacrifice (see Ps 22:25).

76:12 In order "to establish justice" (Ps 76:9), God must oppose powerful forces that stand for injustice (see Pss 2:2, 8-11; 18:31-50; 21:8-12; 149:6-9).

77:1-20 Verses 1-10 report the psalmist's trouble and distress; but God is addressed directly only in verse 4,

77:2 Gn 37:35;
Ps 50:15

77:3 Ps 42:5;
Ps 142:2

77:4 Gn 41:8

77:7 Ps 74:1,
Ps 85:1, Ps 85:5

77:9 Ps 25:6,
Ps 40:11;
Is 49:15

77:10 Ex 15:6

77:13 Ex 15:11;
Ps 63:2, Ps 73:17

77:14 Ps 72:18,
Ps 106:8

77:16 Ex 14:21;
Ps 114:3;
Hab 3:8,
Hab 3:10

77:19 Hab 3:15;
Ro 11:33

<sup>2</sup>During the day when I'm in trouble I look for my Lord.

At night my hands are still outstretched and don't grow numb;
my whole being<sup>b</sup> refuses to be comforted.

<sup>3</sup>I remember God and I moan.

I complain, and my spirit grows tired.

Selah ;

<sup>4</sup>You've kept my eyelids from closing.

I'm so upset I can't even speak.

<sup>5</sup>I think about days long past;

I remember years that seem an eternity in the past.

<sup>6</sup>I meditate with my heart at night;<sup>1</sup>

I complain, and my spirit keeps searching:

<sup>7</sup>"Will my Lord reject me forever?

Will he never be pleased again?"

<sup>8</sup>Has his faithful love come to a complete end?

Is his promise over for future generations?

<sup>9</sup>Has God forgotten how to be gracious?

Has he angrily stopped up his compassion?"

Selah

<sup>10</sup>It's my misfortune, I thought, that the strong hand of the Most High is different now.

<sup>11</sup>But I will remember the LORD's deeds;

yes, I will remember your wondrous acts from times long past.

<sup>12</sup>I will meditate on all your works;

I will ponder your deeds.

<sup>13</sup>God, your way is holiness!

Who is as great a god as you, God?

<sup>14</sup>You are the God who works wonders; you have demonstrated your strength among all peoples.

<sup>15</sup>With your mighty arm you redeemed your people; redeemed the children of Jacob and Joseph.

Selah ;

<sup>16</sup>The waters saw you, God—the waters saw you and reeled!

Even the deep depths shook!

<sup>17</sup>The clouds poured water, the skies cracked thunder; your arrows were flying all around!

<sup>18</sup>The crash of your thunder was in the swirling storm; lightning lit up the whole world;

the earth shook and quaked.

<sup>19</sup>Your way went straight through the sea; your pathways went right through the mighty waters.

<sup>b</sup>Or soul <sup>1</sup>LXX, MT I remember my song in the night.

and there is no petition. It seems that the psalmist is too depressed or distracted to pray, even though verses 1-2 suggest that the psalmist had prayed at some point. Even so, like the prayers for help, Psalm 77 accompanies the reported complaint with trust and praise (77:11-20).

77:2 hands... outstretched: The posture of prayer (see Ps 28:2).

77:7-10 God's essential character consists of the very things the speaker mentions in these verses: faithful love (77:8; see Ps 5:7), being gracious (77:9), showing compassion (77:9; see Ps 25:6). By way of the questions asked, the psalmist wonders whether God is really God anymore. The poet fears that God is different now (77:10). See Psalm 88:11-12 for a similar line of questioning.

77:11-14 Memory and thought had led to distress in Psalm 77:3-6, but no longer. Despite the poignant and painful questions of Psalm 77:7-9, the speaker now professes faith in what God has done: deeds and wondrous acts (77:11), works and deeds (77:12), and wonders (77:14). The psalmist is clearly in touch with God's incomparable greatness (77:13).

77:15-20 The most outstanding example of what God has done is the exodus out of Egypt, and it is clearly in view in these verses, along with hints about Sinai as well. The mention of waters (77:16, 19) and way... through the sea (77:19), along with Moses and Aaron (77:20), recalls the exodus (see Exod 14-15). The theophany (appearance of God) imagery in 77:17-18 (see Ps 18:7-15) recalls the people's arrival at Sinai (see Exod 19).

77:19 footprints left no trace: The psalmist affirms faith in God's life-giving work, even when visible evidence is lacking.

But your footprints left no trace!

<sup>20</sup>You led your people like sheep under the care of Moses and Aaron.

Psalm 78

A maskil<sup>1</sup> of Asaph.

- <sup>1</sup>Listen, my people, to my teaching;
tilt your ears toward the words of my mouth.
- <sup>2</sup>I will open my mouth with a proverb.
I'll declare riddles from days long gone—<sup>3</sup>ones that we've heard and learned about, ones that our ancestors told us.
- <sup>4</sup>We won't hide them from their descendants;
we'll tell the next generation all about the praise due the LORD and his strength—the wondrous works God has done.
- <sup>5</sup>He established a law for Jacob and set up Instruction for Israel, ordering our ancestors to teach them to their children.
- <sup>6</sup>This is so that the next generation and children not yet born will know these things, and so they can rise up and tell their children <sup>7</sup>to put their hope in God—never forgetting God's deeds, but keeping God's commandments—<sup>8</sup>and so that they won't become like their ancestors:
a rebellious, stubborn generation, a generation whose heart wasn't set firm and whose spirit wasn't faithful to God.
- <sup>9</sup>The children of Ephraim, armed with bows, retreated on the day of battle.
- <sup>10</sup>They didn't keep God's covenant;
they refused to walk in his Instruction.
- <sup>11</sup>They forgot God's deeds as well as the wondrous works he showed them.
- <sup>12</sup>But God performed wonders in their ancestors' presence—in the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.
- <sup>13</sup>God split the sea and led them through, making the waters stand up like a wall.
- <sup>14</sup>God led them with the cloud by day;
by the lightning all through the night.
- <sup>15</sup>God split rocks open in the wilderness, gave them plenty to drink—
as if from the deep itself!
- <sup>16</sup>God made streams flow from the rock, made water run like rivers.

<sup>1</sup>Perhaps instruction; the root is used in Ps 32:8.

77:20 sheep: See Psalms 78:71; 79:13; 80:1.
78:1-72 Psalm 78 is usually classified as a historical psalm (see Pss 105; 106; 136), since it relates major events in Israel's history. The teaching (78:1) isn't intended primarily to share information but rather to invite hope and obedience (78:7). Following the introduction (78:1-8), the historical recital is characterized by the people's disobedience, which evokes God's anger. But the divine anger is followed by God's being willing to forgive and restore (see Ps 106).

78:2 proverb: The Hebrew suggests a comparison: in this case, an invitation to compare one's behavior with that of the ancestors. riddles: If a riddle can be inferred from the content of the psalm (see Ps 49:4), it might be this: How can reciting a history of failure inspire a future of hope?

78:5 Instruction: See Psalms 78:10; 1:2. teach... children: See Deuteronomy 6:20-25.

78:7 put their hope: This seems to be the ultimate goal of the "teaching" (Ps 78:1), and it is something encouraged by the psalmists elsewhere as well (see Ps 27:14; 42:5).

78:9-11 These verses seem to look forward to Israel's typical response to God: disobedience and forgetfulness.

78:12-13 See Exodus 14:21-29; 15:8.

78:14-16 See Exodus 13:21-22; 17:1-7; Numbers 20:9-11.

77:20 Ex 13:21;
Ps 78:52, Ps 80:1;
Is 63:11

78:1 Ps 49:1;
Is 51:4, Is 55:3

78:2 Ps 49:4;
Prv 1:6;
Mt 13:35

78:3 Ps 44:1

78:5 Dt 4:9,
Dt 6:7, Ps 81:5,
Ps 147:19

78:6 Ps 22:31,
Ps 102:18

78:8 Ex 32:9;
Dt 31:27;
2K 17:14;
2Ch 30:7;
Ps 78:37

78:10 2K 17:15

78:12 Ex 7:1,
Ex 12:1;
Nm 13:22;
Ps 78:43;
Is 19:11

78:15 Ex 17:6;
Nm 20:11;
Ps 105:41,
Ps 114:8;
Is 48:21

78:20 Nm 20:11;
Ps 78:15,
78:16
78:24 Ex 16:4;
Neh 9:15;
Ps 105:40;
Jn 6:31
78:25 Ps 103:20
78:30 Nm 11:33
78:31 Nm 11:33;
Is 10:16
78:32 Nm 14:11;
Ps 78:22
78:33 Nm 14:29;
Nm 14:35
78:34 Nm 21:7;
Ps 63:1; Is 26:16;
Hos 5:15
78:35 Ex 15:13;
Dt 32:4
78:36 Is 29:13,
Is 57:11;
Eze 33:31
78:37 Ps 78:8;
Ac 8:21
78:38 Ex 34:6;
Ps 85:2,
Ps 106:43;
Is 30:18; Is 48:9
78:39 Gn 6:3;
Job 7:7;
Ps 103:14;
Jas 4:14
78:40 Ps 106:14;
Eph 4:30

- 17 But they continued to sin against God, rebelling against the Most High in the desert.
- 18 They tested God in their hearts, demanded food for their stomachs.
- 19 They spoke against God!
“Can God set a dinner table in the wilderness?” they asked.
- 20 “True, God struck the rock and water gushed and streams flowed, but can he give bread too?
Can he provide meat for his people?”
- 21 When the LORD heard this, he became furious.
A fire was ignited against Jacob;
wrath also burned against Israel
- 22 because they had no faith in God, because they didn’t trust his saving power.
- 23 God gave orders to the skies above, opened heaven’s doors, 24 and rained manna on them so they could eat.
He gave them the very grain of heaven!
- 25 Each person ate the bread of the powerful ones;<sup>k</sup>
God sent provisions to satisfy them.
- 26 God set the east wind moving across the skies and drove the south wind by his strength.
- 27 He rained meat on them as if it were dust in the air;
he rained as many birds as the sand on the seashore!
- 28 God brought the birds down in the center of their camp, all around their dwellings.
- 29 So they ate and were completely satisfied;
God gave them exactly what they had craved.
- 30 But they didn’t stop craving—even with the food still in their mouths!
- 31 So God’s anger came up against them:
he killed the most hearty of them;
he cut down Israel’s youth in their prime.
- 32 But in spite of all that, they kept sinning and had no faith in God’s wondrous works.
- 33 So God brought their days to an end, like a puff of air, and their years in total ruin.
- 34 But whenever God killed them, they went after him!
They would turn and earnestly search for God.
- 35 They would remember that God was their rock, that the Most High was their redeemer.
- 36 But they were just flattering him with lip service.
They were lying to him with their tongues.
- 37 Their hearts weren’t firmly set on him;
they weren’t faithful to his covenant.
- 38 But God, being compassionate, kept forgiving their sins, kept avoiding destruction;
he took back his anger so many times, wouldn’t stir up all his wrath!
- 39 God kept remembering that they were just flesh, just breath that passes and doesn’t come back.
- 40 How often they rebelled against God in the wilderness and distressed him in the desert!

<sup>k</sup>Or everyone ate the bread from heaven; Heb uncertain

78:17-39 See Exodus 17:1-7; 16:1-36; Numbers 11:33-34; Psalm 95:8-9. Psalm 78:38 recalls the gold calf incident, where God changes God’s mind about destroying the people (Exod 32:1-14), ultimately revealing the divine self as faithfully loving, merciful, and kind (Exod 34:6-7; see Ps 25:6-7).

78:40-41 These verses summarize the disobedience of the people in the wilderness.

- 41 Time and time again they tested God, provoking the holy one of Israel.
- 42 They didn't remember God's power—
the day when he saved them from the enemy;
- 43 how God performed his signs in Egypt, his marvelous works in the field of Zoan.
- 44 God turned their rivers into blood;
they couldn't drink from their own streams.
- 45 God sent swarms against them to eat them up, frogs to destroy them.
- 46 God handed over their crops to caterpillars, their land's produce to locusts.
- 47 God killed their vines with hail, their sycamore trees with frost.
- 48 God delivered their cattle over to disease,<sup>1</sup> their herds to plagues.
- 49 God unleashed his burning anger against them—fury, indignation, distress, a troop of evil messengers.
- 50 God blazed a path for his wrath.
He didn't save them from death,
but delivered their lives over to disease.
- 51 God struck down all of Egypt's oldest males;
in Ham's tents, he struck their pride and joy.
- 52 God led his own people out like sheep, guiding them like a flock in the wilderness.
- 53 God led them in safety—they were not afraid!
But the sea engulfed their enemies!
- 54 God brought them to his holy territory, to the mountain that his own strong hand had acquired.
- 55 God drove out the nations before them and apportioned property for them;
he settled Israel's tribes in their tents.
- 56 But they tested and defied the Most High God;
they didn't pay attention to his warnings.
- 57 They turned away, became faithless just like their ancestors;
they twisted away like a defective bow.
- 58 They angered God with their many shrines;
they angered him with their idols.
- 59 God heard and became enraged;
he rejected Israel utterly.
- 60 God abandoned the sanctuary at Shiloh, the tent where he had lived with humans.
- 61 God let his power be held captive, let his glory go to the enemy's hand.
- 62 God delivered his people up to the sword;
he was enraged at his own possession.
- 63 Fire devoured his young men, and his young women had no wedding songs.

<sup>1</sup>Correction; MT to hailstones

78:42-53 Psalm 78:42 recalls the whole exodus experience, and later verses focus on the plagues against Egypt (see Exod 7-10), including the death of the Egyptian oldest male child (Ps 78:51; see Exod 11:1-12:30) that immediately preceded the way toward the sea and the sea-crossing (Ps 78:52-53; see Exod 13:17-14:31). 78:54-55 These verses focus briefly on Sinai (Exod 19-24) and entry into the land (Josh 1-12).

78:56-59 The behavior described here seems to have in view the book of Judges, in which the people constantly disobey.

78:60-72 See 1 Samuel 4-6; Jeremiah 7:12-14. The sacred chest resided at Shiloh for a time. The Philistines captured it, moved it around, and eventually returned it. Its return made it available for David to move it to Jerusalem (2 Sam 6). The prominence of David and Zion (see Ps 2:6)

78:46 Ex 10:12,
Ex 10:14;
1Ki 8:37;
Ps 105:34; Jl 1:4
78:49 Ex 15:7;
Nm 25:4;
2S 24:16;
Ps 69:24;
Lam 4:11
78:50 Ex 9:3
78:53 Ex 14:19,
Ex 14:20,
Ex 14:27,
Ex 14:28;
Heb 11:29
78:54 Ex 15:17;
Ps 44:3
78:55 Ps 44:2,
Ps 135:12
78:57 Eze 20:27;
Hos 7:16

78:65 Ps 44:23,
Ps 73:20
78:67 Ps 78:60,
Ps 80:1, Ps 81:5,
Ps 105:17;
Jer 7:15
78:68
2Ch 6:6; Ps 87:2,
Ps 132:13
78:69 Ps 119:90;
Is 48:13
78:70 (Sa 16:11,
1Sa 16:12,
1Sa 16:13;
2Sa 7:8; Ps 89:20
78:72 1Ki 9:4
79:1 2Ki 25:9;
Jer 26:18;
Lam 1:10;
Mi 3:12
79:2 Dt 28:26;
Jer 7:33, Jer 16:4,
Jer 34:20
79:3 Jer 14:16,
Jer 16:4
79:4 Ps 44:13,
Ps 80:6; Dn 9:16
79:5 Ps 13:1,
Ps 74:1, Ps 74:10,
Ps 85:5, Ps 89:46
79:6 Ps 14:4,
Ps 69:24;
Jer 10:25;
2Th 1:8
79:8 Ps 116:6,
Ps 142:6; Is 64:9
79:9 2Ch 14:11;
Ps 25:11, Ps 65:3;
Jer 14:7

64 God's priests were killed by the sword, and his widows couldn't even cry.

65 But then my Lord woke up—as if he'd been sleeping!
Like a warrior shaking off wine,

66 God beat back his foes;
he made them an everlasting disgrace.

67 God rejected the tent of Joseph and didn't choose the tribe of Ephraim.

68 Instead, he chose the tribe of Judah, the mountain of Zion, which he loves.

69 God built his sanctuary like the highest heaven and like the earth, which he established forever.

70 And God chose David, his servant, taking him from the sheepfolds.

71 God brought him from shepherding nursing ewes to shepherd his people Jacob, to shepherd his inheritance, Israel.

72 David shepherded them with a heart of integrity;
he led them with the skill of his hands.

Psalm 79

A psalm of Asaph.

1 The nations have come into your inheritance, God!
They've defiled your holy temple.

2 They've left your servants' bodies as food for the birds;
they've left the flesh of your faithful to the wild animals of the earth.

3 They've poured out the blood of the faithful like water all around Jerusalem, and there's no one left to bury them.

4 We've become a joke to our neighbors, nothing but objects of ridicule and disapproval to those around us.

5 How long will you rage, LORD? Forever?
How long will your anger burn like fire?

6 Pour out your wrath on the nations who don't know you, on the kingdoms that haven't called on your name.

7 They've devoured Jacob and demolished his pasture.

8 Don't remember the iniquities of past generations;
let your compassion hurry to meet us because we've been brought so low.

9 God of our salvation, help us for the glory of your name!
Deliver us and cover our sins for the sake of your name!

are featured in Psalm 78:67-72 (see 1 Sam 16). Psalm 78:67 may reflect the destruction of the northern kingdom in 722 BCE, or at least demonstrates a Judean origin for the psalm.

79:1-13 Psalm 79 is a communal prayer for help that probably originated when the Babylonians destroyed Jerusalem in 587 BCE (see Pss 44; 74). The contrast with Psalm 78:67-72 is especially striking. Both sections of complaint and petition (79:1-5, 6-12) begin by focusing upon the nations (79:1-3, 6-7), and then they shift attention to the people (79:4, 8) and to God (79:5, 9-12). The psalm concludes with the people's promise to praise (79:13).

79:1 See Psalm 74:4-7; Lamentations 1:10. The prophets had warned that Jerusalem would be destroyed (see Mic 3:12; Jer 26:18).

79:2 Unburied bodies add to the defilement and uncleanness of the scene, and suggest divine punishment (see Deut 28:26).

79:3 See Ezekiel 22:1-12, where the people themselves shed blood in Jerusalem.

79:4 This verse looks forward to Psalm 79:12, where God is the object of insult. (See Ps 44:13).

79:5 See Psalm 74:1.

79:6 The petition (see also Ps 79:10) isn't simply a matter of payback but rather a request for God to set things right in a desperately bad situation (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

79:8-9 The admission of sin isn't typical of the communal prayers (cf. Ps 44:17-18), but it fits well with the prophetic view that the exile was a deserved punishment. compassion: See Psalm 25:6-7. The appeal is to God's characteristic concern for the mistreated (see Ps 79:11; 9:18).

- 10 Why should the nations say, "Where's their God now?"
 Let vengeance for the spilled blood of your servants be known among the nations before our very eyes!
- 11 Let the prisoners' groaning reach you.
 With your powerful arm spare those who are destined to die.
- 12 Pay back our neighbors seven times over, right where it hurts, for the insults they used on you, Lord.
- 13 We are, after all, your people and the sheep of your very own pasture.
 We will give you thanks forever;
 we will proclaim your praises from one generation to the next.

79:10 Ps 42:3,
 Ps 42:10, Ps 94:1,
 Ps 115:2; II 2:17

79:11 Ps 102:20;
 Mt 6:13

79:12 Gn 4:15;
 Lv 26:21,
 Lv 26:28; Is 65:6;
 Jer 32:18

79:13 Ps 44:8,
 Ps 74:1, Ps 95:7,
 Ps 100:3,
 Is 43:21

80:1 Ex 25:22;
 1Sa 4:4;
 2Sa 6:2;
 2Ki 19:15;
 Ps 99:1

80:2 Nm 2:18;
 Ps 35:23

80:3 Nm 6:25;
 Ps 4:6, Ps 80:19,
 Ps 85:4;
 Lam 5:21

80:4 Ps 59:5,
 Ps 79:5

80:5 Ps 42:3,
 Ps 102:9;
 Is 30:20

80:7 Ps 80:3

80:8 Ps 44:2;
 Is 5:1, Is 5:2;
 Jer 2:21;
 Eze 17:6

80:9 Josh 24:12

Psalm 80

For the music leader. According to "Lotus Blossoms."

A testimony of Asaph. A psalm.

- 1 Shepherd of Israel, listen!
 You, the one who leads Joseph as if he were a sheep.
 You, who are enthroned upon the winged heavenly creatures.
 Show yourself <sup>2</sup>before Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh!
 Wake up your power!
 Come to save us!
- 3 Restore us, God!
 Make your face shine so that we can be saved!
- 4 LORD God of heavenly forces, how long will you fume against your people's prayer?
- 5 You've fed them bread made of tears;
 you've given them tears to drink three times over!
- 6 You've put us at odds with our neighbors;
 our enemies make fun of us.
- 7 Restore us, God of heavenly forces!
 Make your face shine so that we can be saved!
- 8 You brought a vine out of Egypt.
 You drove out the nations and planted it.
- 9 You cleared the ground for it;
 then it planted its roots deep, filling the land.
- 10 The mountains were covered by its shade;
 the mighty cedars were covered by its branches.

79:10 "Where's their God now?": See Psalms 42:3, 10; 115:2. vengeance: As in Psalm 79:6, the ultimate goal is to set things right.

79:12 Pay back: As in Psalm 79:6, 10, the goal is to correct a situation in which both people and God were wronged and insulted (see Pss 79:4; 74:10).

79:13 This verse is evidence that the people continue to have faith during the worst of circumstances. sheep: See Psalms 77:20; 78:71; 80:1.

80:1-19 Like Psalm 79, Psalm 80 is a communal prayer for help (see also Pss 44; 74). The mention of Ephraim and Manasseh (80:2) may suggest that Psalm 80 originated in the northern kingdom; but if so, its present literary context suggests that it would have been understood in relation to the exile that began with the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BCE (see sidebar, "Books II-III and the Elohistic Psalter" at Ps 42).

80:1 Shepherd... sheep: See image of the sheep/shepherd in Psalms 77:20; 78:70-72; 79:13; 23:1. enthroned... creatures: "Shepherd" was a royal title (see 2 Sam 7:7; Ezek 34:1-16), so enthronement fits the context. The winged creatures were carved decorations on the sacred chest that served as the earthly throne of God (see 1 Sam 4:4; 2 Sam 6:2; Ps 99:1). Show yourself: a request for God to make an appearance.

80:2 Wake up: See Psalm 44:23.

80:3 This refrain occurs again in Psalm 80:7, 19. Restore us: The underlying Hebrew root is sometimes used in reference to the return from exile (see 1 Kgs 8:34; Jer 27:22), but it may also involve restoring life in a death-filled situation (see "Revive us" in Ps 80:18). Make... shine: another request for God to be present (see Pss 4:6; 67:1).

80:4 God of heavenly forces: See Psalm 24:10. fume: See Psalm 79:5.

80:5 bread made of tears: "Shepherd" (Ps 80:1) means "one who feeds," so this complaint is especially poignant.

80:6 See Psalms 44:13; 79:4.

80:8-11 The allegory about a vine tells about the people's experience from the exodus to entry into the land, and eventually growth into the Davidic kingdom that

80:12 Ps 89:40;
Is 5:5

80:13 Jer 5:6

80:16 Ps 39:11,
Ps 76:6

80:17 Ps 80:15,
Ps 89:21

80:18 Ps 71:20

80:19 Ps 80:3,
Ps 80:7

81:1 Ps 46:1,
Ps 66:1

81:3 Lv 23:24;
Nm 10:10

81:5 Ex 11:4;
Dt 28:49;

Ps 80:1, Ps 114:1;
Jer 5:15

81:6 Ex 1:14,
Ex 6:6; Is 9:4;
Is 10:27

81:7 Ex 2:23,
Ex 17:7,

Ex 19:19;
Nm 20:13;
Ps 50:15

- 11 It sent its branches all the way to the sea;
its shoots went all the way to the Euphrates River.<sup>m</sup>
- 12 So why have you now torn down its walls
so that all who come along can pluck its fruit, 13 so that any boar from the forest can tear it up, so that the bugs can feed on it?
- 14 Please come back, God of heavenly forces!
Look down from heaven and perceive it!
Attend to this vine,
15 this root that you planted with your strong hand, this son whom you secured as your very own.
- 16 It is burned with fire. It is chopped down.
They die at the rebuke coming from you.
- 17 Let your hand be with the one on your right side—with the one whom you secured as your own—18 then we will not turn away from you!
Revive us so that we can call on your name.
- 19 Restore us, LORD God of heavenly forces!
Make your face shine so that we can be saved!

Psalm 81

For the music leader. According to the Gittith. Of Asaph.

- 1 Rejoice out loud to God, our strength!
Shout for joy to Jacob's God!
- 2 Take up a song and strike the drum!
Sweet lyre along with harp!
- 3 Blow the horn on the new moon,
at the full moon, for our day of celebration!
- 4 Because this is the law for Israel;
this is a rule of Jacob's God.
- 5 He made it a decree for Joseph when he went out against the land of Egypt, when I heard a language I did not yet know:
- 6 "I lifted the burden off your shoulders;
your hands are free of the brick basket!"
- 7 In distress you cried out, so I rescued you.
I answered you in the secret of thunder.
I tested you at the waters of Meribah.

Selah

<sup>m</sup>Or the Great River

extended all the way to the Euphrates River (see map 8). The vine image confirms God's care and commitment, which now seem lacking (see Isa 5:1-7).

80:12-13 The destruction of the vine symbolizes the exile that began with the destruction of Jerusalem.

80:14 come back: This is a variation of the refrain in Psalm 80:3, 7, 19, since "come back" is the same Hebrew root as "restore."

80:15 this son: a reference to the people. See Hosea 11:1, where the people are described as God's son.

80:17 the one on your right side: This is sometimes interpreted to mean a Davidic descendant who might someday restore the monarchy, but it more likely refers to the people whom the vine symbolizes, that is, the vine that now needs to be restored as Psalm 80:15-16 suggest.

81:1-16 Psalm 81 started out like a song of praise (Ps 81:1-2); but because God speaks in verses 6-16, it is usually identified as a prophetic exhortation or a religious talk (see Ps 50).

81:2 Musical instruments were used in praising God (see Pss 33:2; 149:3; 150:3-5; and sidebar, "Music and Singing" at Ps 33).

81:3-4 Israel used a lunar calendar; and trumpet blasts marked the first day of the seventh month, an especially holy season (see Ps 81:9-11). Keeping the ceremony is demanded in Leviticus 23:23-24; Numbers 29:1-6.

81:5 The allusion is to God's actions against Egypt, leading up to the exodus. When I . . . know: The "I" seems to be the speaker, and what he or she hears apparently turns out to be the divine speech that begins in Psalm 81:6.

81:6 The exodus was Israel's freedom from enslavement in Egypt, including brick-making (see Exod 1:14).

81:7 The first line of this verse points to the exodus itself. After leaving Egypt, the people went to Sinai, which

- 8 Listen, my people, I'm warning you!
If only you would listen to me, Israel.
- 9 There must be no foreign god among you.
You must not bow down to any strange deity.
- 10 I am the LORD your God, who brought you up from Egypt's land.
Open your mouth wide—I will fill it up!
- 11 But my people wouldn't listen to my voice.
Israel simply wasn't agreeable toward me.
- 12 So I sent them off to follow their willful hearts;
they followed their own advice.
- 13 How I wish my people would listen to me!
How I wish Israel would walk in my ways!
- 14 Then I would subdue their enemies in a second;
I would turn my hand against their foes.
- 15 Those who hate the LORD would grovel before me, and their doom would last forever!
- 16 But I would feed you with the finest wheat.
I would satisfy you with honey from the rock."

81:8 Ps 50:7
81:9 Ex 20:3;
Dt 5:7; Dt 32:12;
Ps 44:20
81:10 Ex 20:2;
Ps 37:3, Ps 37:4
81:11 Ex 32:1;
Dt 32:15;
Dt 32:18;
Ps 81:12;
Ps 106:25
81:13 Dt 5:29;
Is 48:18
81:14 Am 1:8
81:16 Dt 32:13,
Dt 32:14;
Ps 147:14
82:1 2Ch 19:6;
Ps 58:11, Is 3:13
82:2 Dt 1:17;
Ps 58:1; Prv 18:5
82:3 Ps 10:18;
Is 1:17; Jer 22:3,
Jer 22:16
82:4 Job 29:12
82:5 Ps 11:3,
Ps 14:4; Prv 21:13

Psalm 82

A psalm of Asaph.

- 1 God takes his stand in the divine council;
he gives judgment among the gods:
- 2 "How long will you judge unjustly by granting favor to the wicked? Selah
- 3 Give justice to the lowly and the orphan; maintain the right of the poor and the destitute!
- 4 Rescue the lowly and the needy.
Deliver them from the power of the wicked!
- 5 They don't know; they don't understand;
they wander around in the dark.
All the earth's foundations shake.

seems to be what is meant by the mention of the secret of thunder (see Exod 19:16). On the way to Sinai, the people had stopped at Meribah (see Exod 17:1-7; Ps 95:8-9).

81:8 See Psalm 95:7.

81:9-10 Psalm 81:9 recalls the first of the Ten Commandments (Exod 20:3), and 81:10 quotes the introduction to the Ten Commandments (Exod 20:2). Sinai was recalled and celebrated at the Festival of Booths, which occurred in the seventh month (see Ps 81:3-4).

81:11 The description of the people's sin (see also Ps 81:8, 13) would fit well with the Day of Reconciliation, another ceremony in the seventh month (see Ps 81:3-4; Lev 16).

81:13 How... listen to me! This is the fourth occurrence of "listen" (see Ps 81:8, 11). God's frustration is clear, but God still wants the best for the people, as Psalm 81:14-16 suggests.

81:16 finest wheat: See Psalms 81:10; 147:14; Deuteronomy 32:14. honey: See Deuteronomy 32:13.

82:1-8 Unique in the Psalter, Psalm 82 is a description of a controversy in heaven, in which the God of Israel de-thrones all other gods. It amounts, therefore, to a statement about what defines true holiness. The basic requirement is justice, which is the keyword in the psalm (see Judgment In 82:1; judge in 82:2; justice in 82:3; and Judge in 82:8, all from the same Hebrew root).

82:1 the divine council... the gods: The Canaanite group of gods is in view (see Ps 58:1-2; cf. "divine beings" in Ps 29:1), and God has interrupted a meeting to pursue justice.

82:2 The question that God asks the gods amounts to an indictment. In Leviticus 19:15, God says that the people must not act unjustly or show favoritism. Compared to humans, the gods should demonstrate an even higher standard, but they have not.

82:3 Give justice... maintain the right: Justice and righteousness are a summary of God's will (see Pss 5:18; 9:4; 96:13; 98:9). The existence of justice and righteousness is measured by the well-being of the most helpless, which is why God always demonstrates special concern for the poor and needy (see Pss 9:18; 72:1-7, 12-14; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82).

82:4 See Psalm 72:12-14, where the earthly king is given the task of doing what God wills, and it's exactly what this verse says to do.

82:5 They... in the dark: The gods don't comprehend what God intends, or at least they don't grasp the significance of it. All... shake: The foundations of the earth are the mountains. When they shake, the whole world becomes unstable; and the way is open for mass disorder (see Ps 46:1-3; Isa 24:18-20; cf. Pss 93:1; 96:10). In short, the injustice of the gods is destroying the world.

82:6 Ps 82:1;
Jn 10:34
82:7 Job 21:32;
Ps 49:12;
Eze 31:14
82:8 Ps 2:8,
Ps 12:5, Ps 96:13;
Rev 11:15
83:1 Ps 28:1,
Ps 35:22,
Ps 109:1
83:3 Ps 27:5,
Ps 31:20
83:6 Gn 25:12;
1Ch 5:10;
2Ch 20:1,
2Ch 20:10;
Ps 137:7
83:7 Josh 13:5;
Eze 27:3; Am 1:9
83:8 Dt 2:9

The Poor and Needy The Psalms regularly locate God on the side of the helpless and the mistreated. This group of people includes the poor, the needy, the lowly, the destitute, the weak, the helpless, the orphan, the widow, and the immigrant. In fact, Psalm 82 suggests that the basic characteristic of divinity is advocating for the poor and needy (Ps 82:3-4); and this is why many readers consider Psalm 82 and its cry for justice and righteousness to be so important.

Such justice and righteousness are what the Psalms say that God “is coming” to do (see Pss 96:13; 98:9; see sidebar, “Book IV and the Rule of God” at Ps 89). In terms of practical performance, the earthly king was given the responsibility of establishing justice and righteousness (see Ps 72:1-7), which meant that the king was to seek the best for the poor and needy (see Ps 72:2, 4, 12-14). At a minimum, this responsibility meant the king was to pursue “peace,” which was to begin with the provision of food (see Pss 72:3, 16; 85:10, 12; 147:14).

Because the righteous are regularly mistreated by enemies (see sidebar, “The Enemies” at 3) and stand in need of help, it isn’t surprising that the psalmists often affirm that God defends and is with the poor and needy (see note on Ps 9:18).

<sup>6</sup>I hereby declare, “You are gods, children of the Most High—all of you!

<sup>7</sup>But you will die like mortals;
you will fall down like any prince.”

<sup>8</sup>Rise up, God! Judge the earth because you hold all nations in your possession!

Psalm 83

A song. A psalm of Asaph.

<sup>1</sup>God, don’t be silent!

Don’t be quiet or sit still, God,

<sup>2</sup>because—look!—your enemies are growling;
those who hate you are acting arrogantly.

<sup>3</sup>They concoct crafty plans against your own people;
they plot against the people you favor.

<sup>4</sup>“Come on,” they say, “let’s wipe them out as a nation!
Let the name Israel be remembered no more!”

<sup>5</sup>They plot with a single-minded heart;
they make a covenant against you.

<sup>6</sup>They are the clans of Edom and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Hagrites,

<sup>7</sup>Gebal, Ammon, Amalek, Philistia along with the citizens of Tyre.

<sup>8</sup>Assyria too has joined them—they are the strong arm for Lot’s children.

Selah

82:6-7 Because their behavior threatens to destroy the world, the gods are sentenced to death. This sounds harsh; but the point is to emphasize God’s commitment to justice and righteousness. In Psalm 89, God’s own “anointed” (Ps 89:38) has fall[en] down like any prince. When the king, God’s own “son” (Ps 2:7), fails to do justice and righteousness (see Ps 72), he, too, is dethroned (see Ps 89:38-51). The message is clear: God’s commitment to justice and righteousness is uncompromising.

82:8 Judge the earth: This could be translated “Establish justice on earth” (see Pss 96:13; 98:9). all nations . . . your possession!: See Psalms 24:1; 47:8-9; 67:2-7. God wills justice and righteousness for the whole world.

83:1-18 In this communal prayer for help, petition (83:1), and complaint (83:2-5) are followed by the naming of the enemies (83:6-8). Petitions against the enemies, supported by the memory of past divine actions, conclude the psalm (83:9-18). If Psalm 83 wasn’t written in response to the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BCE, it would certainly have taken on new meaning at that time in history (see Pss 44, 74, 79, 80).

83:1 Don’t be quiet: See Psalm 35:22.

83:2-5 As in Psalm 2:1-3, the enemies oppose God and those who belong to God.

83:6-8 Edom: See Psalms 60:8-9; 137:7; Isaiah 34:5-6. Ishmaelites: See Genesis 17:20; 25:18; 37:25-28. Moab: See Psalm 60:8; Judges 3:12-20; 1 Samuel 14:47; 2 Kings 3:4-24. the Hagrites: See 1 Chronicles 5:10, 19-20; Gebal: See Ezekiel 27:9. Ammon, Amalek: See Judges 3:13. Philistia: See Psalm 60:8; Exodus 15:14; 1 Samuel 4-6; Tyre: See Isaiah 23; Ezekiel 27-28; Assyria: a major power that destroyed the northern kingdom in 722 BCE (see Nah 1-3). It’s unlikely that all of these nations would have been involved in any single crisis. The suggestion may be widespread opposition to God and God’s people.

- 9 Do to them what you did to Midian, to Sisera, and to Jabin at the Kishon River.
- 10 They were destroyed at Endor;
they become fertilizer for the ground.
- 11 Make their officials like Oreb and Zeeb, all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna—
- 12 those who said, “Let’s take God’s pastures for ourselves.”
- 13 My God, make them like tumbleweeds, like chaff blown by wind.
- 14 Just like a fire consumes a forest,
just like flames set mountains ablaze, 15 pursue them with your storm, terrify them with your hurricane.
- 16 Cover their faces with shame, LORD, so that they might seek your name.
- 17 Let them be shamed and terrified forever.
Let them die in disgrace.
- 18 Let them know that you—your name is the LORD!—
you alone are Most High over all the earth.

83:9 Jgs 4:2,
Jgs 4:7, Jgs 4:15,
Jgs 5:21; 1s 9:4
83:10 Josh
17:11; 1Sa 28:7;
2Ki 9:37; Jer 8:2;
Zep 1:17
83:12 2Ch 20:11
83:13 Job 21:18
83:16 Ps 34:5
83:18 Ps 59:13,
Ps 97:9
84:1 Ps 27:4,
Ps 42:1, Ps 43:3
84:2 Ps 42:1,
Ps 42:2, Ps 63:1,
Ps 65:4, Ps 143:6
84:3 Ps 5:2
84:4 Ps 27:4,
Ps 65:4
84:5 Ps 28:8,
Ps 81:1

Psalms 84

For the music leader. According to the Gittith. Of the Korahites. A psalm.

- 1 How lovely is your dwelling place, LORD of heavenly forces!
- 2 My very being<sup>a</sup> longs, even yearns, for the LORD’s courtyards.
My heart and my body will rejoice out loud to the living God!

- 3 Yes, the sparrow too has found a home there;
the swallow has found herself a nest where she can lay her young beside your altars, LORD of heavenly forces, my king, my God!

- 4 Those who live in your house are truly happy;
they praise you constantly.

- 5 Those who put their strength in you are truly happy;
pilgrimage is in their hearts.

Selah

<sup>a</sup>Or soul

83:9 Midian: See Judges 6–8. Sisera... Kishon River: See Judges 4–5.
83:10 Endor: Not mentioned in Judges 4–5 (see Josh 17:11).
83:11–12 Oreb and Zeeb: See Judges 7:25; 8:15. Zebah and Zalmunna: See Judges 8:5–21. The stories from the book of Judges are used to recall past examples of God dealing with the enemies of the people. The book of Judges doesn’t include the quotation credited to Zebah and Zalmunna in Psalm 83:12.
83:13–18 The petitions against the enemies aren’t simply a matter of payback but rather setting things right (see Pss 3:7–8; 7:6; see sidebar, “The Enemies” at Ps 3). As Psalm 83:18 suggests, the ultimate desire is that God’s worldwide claim be recognized. When this would happen, the result would be justice for all (see Pss 82:8; 96:13; 98:9).
84:1–12 Like the other songs of Zion (see Pss 46; 48; 76; 87; sidebar, “Psalms 46–48: Jerusalem and God’s Kingship” at Ps 48), Psalm 84 demonstrates how the particular place—the temple on Zion—was able to put people in touch with God (see 84:2, 4–5, 11–12). The psalm probably originated in a pilgrim’s experience (see Pss 48; 122; sidebar, “The Pilgrimage Songs” at Ps 120).

84:1 The exclamation seems to come from a pilgrim’s first sight of the temple or the city of Jerusalem. Lord of heavenly forces: See Psalm 24:10.
84:2 See Psalms 42:1; 63:1.
84:3 my king: See Psalm 5:2. In Psalm 5, the psalmist is also going to visit the temple (see Ps 5:7).
84:4 truly happy: See Psalms 1:1–2; 2:12. Birds, and probably priests, actually lived in the temple areas (Ps 84:3). By extension, the psalmist suggests that life in God’s presence is the source of genuine contentment. “Truly happy” occurs again in Psalm 84:8, 12, supporting the conclusion that true happiness involves constantly seeking God and trusting God at all times. The connection to Psalm 1 probably suggests that at some point, study of and obedience to God’s Instruction was understood as a suitable substitute for actually visiting the temple—that is, God’s Instruction was a means of directly experiencing God (see Ps 1:3).
84:5 pilgrimage: Since the origin of the psalm probably lies in a traveler’s experience, it isn’t surprising that Psalm 84:6–7 describe a journey that ends at Zion. But this verse, along with the rest of the psalm, suggests also that the faithful life becomes a perpetual journey.

84:6 1J 2:23
 84:7 Dt 16:16;
 Job 17:9;
 Prv 4:18;
 Is 40:31;
 2Co 3:18
 84:8 Ps 20:1,
 Ps 59:5, Ps 76:6,
 Ps 81:1
 84:9 Gn 15:1;
 Ps 2:2, Ps 59:11
 84:10 Ps 27:4,
 Ps 84:2
 84:11 Gn 15:1;
 Ps 15:2, Ps 34:9,
 Ps 34:10;
 Is 60:19
 84:12 Ps 2:12,
 Ps 40:4; Jer 17:7
 85:1 Ps 14:7,
 Ps 77:7, Ps 126:1;
 Jer 30:18;
 Eze 39:25
 85:4 Ps 80:3,
 Ps 80:7
 85:5 Ps 74:1,
 Ps 79:5
 85:6 Ps 51:12,
 Ps 71:20,
 Ps 80:18,
 Ps 149:2; Hos 6:2
 85:7 Ps 50:23,
 Ps 106:4
 85:8 Ps 29:11

<sup>6</sup>As they pass through the Baca Valley,<sup>o</sup> they make it a spring of water.

Yes, the early rain covers it with blessings.

<sup>7</sup>They go from strength to strength, until they see the supreme God in Zion.<sup>p</sup>

<sup>8</sup>LORD God of heavenly forces, hear my prayer; listen closely, Jacob's God!

<sup>9</sup>Look at our shield, God; pay close attention to the face of your anointed one!

<sup>10</sup>Better is a single day in your courtyards than a thousand days anywhere else!
 I would prefer to stand outside the entrance of my God's house than live comfortably in the tents of the wicked!

<sup>11</sup>The LORD is a sun and shield;
 God is favor and glory.
 The LORD gives—doesn't withhold!—good things to those who walk with integrity.

<sup>12</sup>LORD of heavenly forces, those who trust in you are truly happy!

Psalm 85

For the music leader. Of the Korahites. A psalm.

<sup>1</sup>LORD, you've been kind to your land;
 you've changed Jacob's circumstances for the better.

<sup>2</sup>You've forgiven your people's wrongdoing;
 you've covered all their sins.

<sup>3</sup>You've stopped being furious;
 you've turned away from your burning anger.

<sup>4</sup>You, the God who can save us, restore us!
 Stop being angry with us!

<sup>5</sup>Will you be mad at us forever?
 Will you prolong your anger from one generation to the next?

<sup>6</sup>Won't you bring us back to life again so that your people can rejoice in you?

<sup>7</sup>Show us your faithful love, LORD!
 Give us your salvation!

<sup>8</sup>Let me hear what the LORD God says, because he speaks peace to his people and to his faithful ones.

<sup>o</sup>LXX; Vulg Valley of Tears <sup>p</sup>Correction; MT the God of gods will be seen in Zion 84:6 Baca: If an actual place (see translation note), the location is unknown.

84:7 see . . . Zion: Zion gives an experience of God's presence (see Pss 24:3-6; 48:3).

84:9 shield . . . anointed one: References to the earthly king (see Ps 2:2). It would have been natural for a pilgrim to Jerusalem to pray for the leader of the nation.

84:11 who walk with integrity: See Psalm 15:2, where integrity is associated with entrance to the temple (see also Ps 18:20). good things: See Psalm 23:6, where "goodness" pursues the one who has come to God's house; and the goodness consists of the provision of daily necessities, including food.

84:12 those who trust . . . truly happy: The move from Psalm 84:4 to 84:11-12 is important. Trusting God (Ps 84:12) becomes just as much a direct experience of God as living in God's house (Ps 84:4); it yields true happiness (see Ps 2:12; see note on Ps 84:4).

85:1-13 Psalm 85 begins like a psalm of thanks (85:1-3); but verses 4-7 consist of petitions and questions that suggest a national crisis. So Psalm 85 is often classified as a communal prayer for help (see Pss 44; 74; 79; 80; 83). The structural pattern of the psalm fits well the time after the return from Babylon when the people experienced renewed difficulties and conflicts. Verses 8-13 offer a lovely description of what God wants for people in all times and places. The pattern found in Psalm 85 also occurs in Psalm 126.

85:1 changed . . . better: The phrase usually describes the return from life in Babylon (see Pss 14:7; 126:1).

85:2 The opportunity to return from exile was grounded in God's forgiveness (see Isa 40:1-2).

85:3 burning anger: See Psalms 74:1; 79:5.

85:4-7 Somewhat unexpectedly, in view of Psalm 85:1-3, God is angry again.

85:7 faithful love: See Psalms 85:10; 5:7. your salvation: This means life as God intends it to be (see Pss 85:9; 13:5).

85:8-13 In this section, major qualities of God's character and God's will come alive to construct a picture of life as God intends it.

85:8 peace: The Hebrew shalom means complete well-being in line with God's will for human life (see Pss 85:10; 4:6; 29:11; 72:3, 7).

Selah

Selah

Don't let them return to foolish ways.

<sup>9</sup>God's salvation is very close to those who honor him so that his glory can live in our land.

<sup>10</sup>Faithful love and truth have met; righteousness and peace have kissed.

<sup>11</sup>Truth springs up from the ground; righteousness gazes down from heaven.

<sup>12</sup>Yes, the LORD gives what is good, and our land yields its produce.

<sup>13</sup>Righteousness walks before God, making a road for his steps.

Psalm 86

A prayer of David.

<sup>1</sup>LORD, listen closely to me and answer me, because I am poor and in need.

<sup>2</sup>Guard my life because I am faithful.
Save your servant who trusts in you—you! My God!

<sup>3</sup>Have mercy on me, Lord, because I cry out to you all day long.

<sup>4</sup>Make your servant's life<sup>a</sup> happy again because, my Lord, I offer my life to you, <sup>5</sup>because, my Lord, you are good and forgiving, full of faithful love for all those who cry out to you.

<sup>6</sup>Listen closely to my prayer, LORD; pay close attention to the sound of my requests for mercy.

<sup>7</sup>Whenever I am in trouble, I cry out to you, because you will answer me.

<sup>8</sup>My Lord! There is no one like you among the gods!
There is nothing that can compare to your works!

<sup>9</sup>All the nations that you've made will come and bow down before you, Lord;
they will glorify your name,

<sup>10</sup>because you are awesome and a wonder-worker.
You are God. Just you.

<sup>11</sup>Teach me your way, LORD, so that I can walk in your truth.
Make my heart focused only on honoring your name.

<sup>a</sup>Or soul; also in 86:4b, 13

85:9 his glory: signals God's presence. Honoring God and living as God intends offer a real experience of God's presence.

85:10 Faithful love and truth: These two words often occur together and describe God's fundamental character (see Exod 34:6, "great loyalty and faithfulness"; Pss 5:7; 25:10). righteousness: another basic characteristic of God and God's will (see Ps 5:8). "Righteousness" becomes a keyword in the psalm (see Ps 85:11, 13). This is appropriate, since verses 8-13 are a picture of things being completely right. The word that names the condition of things being completely right is shalom, so it is appropriate in this verse that righteousness and peace have kissed.

85:12 what is good: See Psalm 84:11. our land yields its produce: God's gift of "what is good" suggests sufficient food (see Ps 65:11), so the mention of the land's produce is appropriate here. An adequate supply of food is characteristic of the shalom that God wills (see Pss 67:6; 72:3, 16; 76:4). 86:1-17 Psalm 86 is one of only two prayers for help in Book III (see Ps 88), and the only psalm in Book III credited to David (see Ps 3). The fact that it interrupts a series of Korah psalms suggests that it may have been added to Book III so that all five books include a title about David. The elements of petition, complaint, and praise are typical; but the arrangement is somewhat unusual, since sections of petition and complaint (Ps 86:1-7, 14-17) surround a central section of praise. This structure symbolizes the reality that the psalmists regularly offer praise in the midst of widespread opposition.

86:1 poor and in need: See Psalms 9:18; 40:17; sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Psalm 82.

86:2 trusts: See Psalm 4:5.

86:4 I offer my life to you: See Psalms 25:1; 143:8.

86:5 good . . . forgiving . . . faithful love: As is often the case in the prayers for help, the focus here and throughout the psalm is on the character and typical activity of God (see Pss 86:2, 8, 10, 13, 15, 17; 5:7; 23:6; 85:8-13).

86:10-11 These two verses, which lie at the heart of the central section of the psalm, focus on God's activity. Just as God is the only God, the psalmist wants to pay attention only to this God. Teach me: Psalm 25 also features a focus on God's character, along with the psalmist's offering of life to God and the request to be taught. (See Ps 25:4-5.)

85:9 Is 46:13;
Zec 2:5; Jn 1:14
85:10 Ps 72:3,
Ps 89:14; Prv 3:3;
Ro 3:26

85:11 Is 45:8
85:12 Lv 26:4;
Ps 67:6,
Ps 84:11;
Zec 8:12;
Jas 1:17

85:13 Ps 89:14;
Is 58:8

86:1 Ps 31:2,
Ps 40:17

86:2 Ps 4:3,
Ps 16:1, Ps 25:2,
Ps 31:14

86:3 Ps 4:1,
Ps 57:1, Ps 88:9

86:4 Ps 25:1,
Ps 143:8

86:8 Ex 15:11;
Dt 3:24; Ps 89:6;
Jer 10:6

86:9 Ps 22:27,
Ps 66:4; Rev 15:4

86:10 Dt 6:4,
Dt 32:39;
Ps 72:18;
Is 37:16; 1Co 8:4

86:11 Ps 25:4,
Ps 25:5, Ps 25:12,
Ps 26:3;
Jer 32:39

86:13 Dt 32:22;
Ps 16:10, Ps 30:3,
Ps 56:13,
Ps 57:10

86:15 Ex 34:6;
Nm 14:18;
Neh 9:17;
Ps 86:5, Ps 111:4

86:16 Ps 25:16,
Ps 116:16

86:17 Is 6:17;
Ps 71:21; Is 12:1

87:1 Ps 48:1;
Is 28:16

87:2 Ps 78:67,
Ps 78:68

87:3 Ps 46:4;
Is 60:1

87:4 Ps 45:12,
Ps 68:31,
Ps 89:10

87:5 Ps 48:8

87:6 Ps 69:28;
Is 4:3; Eze 13:9

87:7 Ps 36:9,
Ps 68:25; Is 12:3

<sup>12</sup>I give thanks to you, my Lord, my God, with all my heart, and I will glorify your name forever,

<sup>13</sup>because your faithful love toward me is awesome and because you've rescued my life from the lowest part of hell.† <sup>14</sup>The arrogant rise up against me, God.

A gang of violent people want me dead.
They don't give a thought for you.

<sup>15</sup>But you, my Lord, are a God of compassion and mercy;
you are very patient and full of faithful love.

<sup>16</sup>Come back to me! Have mercy on me!
Give your servant your strength;
save this child of your servant!

<sup>17</sup>Show me a sign of your goodness so that those who hate me will see it and be put to shame—show a sign that you, LORD, have helped me and comforted me.

Psalm 87

A psalm of the Korahites. A song.

<sup>1</sup>God's foundation is set on the holy mountains.

<sup>2</sup>The LORD loves Zion's gates more than all of Jacob's houses combined.

<sup>3</sup>Glorious things are said about you, the city of God!

<sup>4</sup>I count Rahab and Babel among those who know me;
also Philistia and Tyre, along with Cush—each of these was born there.

<sup>5</sup>And of Zion it is said:

"Each person was born in it, but the one who will establish it is the Most High."

<sup>6</sup>The LORD makes a record as he registers the peoples:

"Each one was born there."

<sup>7</sup>And while they dance, people sing:

"The source of my life comes from you."

Selah

Selah

†Heb Sheol

86:14-17 The placement of praise (Ps 86:8-13) and complaint is typical of the prayers for help (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6), as is the following doubt about whether rescue has occurred (see Ps 86:13) or is still awaited (see 86:16-17).

86:13 help: See translation note; Psalm 6:5.

86:14 As is always the case in the prayers for help, the enemies are present and threatening (see Pss 3:1-2; 4:2-5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). want me dead: See Psalm 35:4.

86:15 Given the persistent focus on God's character (see Ps 86:5), the citation of Exodus 34:6 isn't surprising (see Pss 25:6; 103:8).

86:16 child of your servant: The psalmist is "a servant" (Ps 86:2, 16), and this phrase may suggest that he or she comes from a long line of servants (see Ps 116:16).

87:1-7 Like the other songs of Zion, Psalm 87 celebrates not only Jerusalem's glory but also the ability of the city to reveal God and God's life-giving claim on the world (see Pss 46; 48; 76; 84; 122; sidebar, "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and God's Kingship" at Ps 48).

87:1 holy mountains: See Psalms 2:6; 48:1.

87:2 Zion's gates: Even the architectural features of the city are important (see Pss 48:12-14; 2:6; 24:7-10).

87:3-7 Even though 87:3 follows well from Psalm 87:1-2, it seems to belong more clearly with 87:4-7. Verse 7 illustrates the Glorious things... said about Zion (Ps 87:3). Verses 4 and 6 mention the peoples, and both include Each... was born there. The effect is to focus attention on verse 5, which again affirms that Zion is the true hometown of everyone in the world (see Pss 24:1-2; 47:8-9; 67:2-7; 82:8).

87:3 Glorious things: In addition to Psalm 87:7, see the things said about Zion in Psalms 48:1-2; 84:14; 122:3-5. city of God: See Psalms 46:4; 48:1-2.

87:4 Rahab: Refers to Egypt (see Isa 30:7). Babel: A shortened form of Babylon, the empire that destroyed Jerusalem in 587 BCE. Philistia and Tyre: See Psalm 83:7. Cush: Refers to Ethiopia (see Ps 68:31; Isa 20:3-5). All of these cities or nations are traditional enemies. each... was born there: See also Psalm 87:5-6. This positive statement establishes God's claim upon all peoples, and it is in keeping with Genesis 12:3, where God wills a blessing for "all the families of earth" (see Isa 2:2-4; 19:23-25; Jer 1:10; Mic 4:1-3; Zeph 3:9-13; Zech 9:10).

87:6 makes a record: On the image of record-keeping, see Psalms 69:28; 139:16; Revelation 20:12. As in Psalm 87:4, the point is that all people belong to God.

87:7 source: or "springs," which would yield life-giving water (see Pss 104:10-11; 114:8). Jerusalem communicates God's life-giving will and power for all the world (see Ps 48:9-10).

Psalm 88

A song. A psalm of the Korahites. For the music leader.
According to "Mahalath Leannoth." A maskil<sup>a</sup> of Heman the Ezrahite.

- <sup>1</sup> LORD, God of my salvation, by day I cry out, even at night, before you—<sup>2</sup>let my prayer reach you!
Turn your ear to my outcry <sup>3</sup>because my whole being<sup>b</sup> is filled with distress; my life is at the very brink of hell.<sup>c</sup>
- <sup>4</sup>I am considered as one of those plummeting into the pit.
I am like those who are beyond help, <sup>5</sup>drifting among the dead, lying in the grave, like dead bodies—those you don't remember anymore, those who are cut off from your power.
- <sup>6</sup>You placed me down in the deepest pit, in places dark and deep.
- <sup>7</sup>Your anger smothers me;
you subdue me with it, wave after wave.
- <sup>8</sup>You've made my friends distant.
You've made me disgusting to them.
I can't escape. I'm trapped!
- <sup>9</sup>My eyes are tired of looking at my suffering.
I've been calling out to you every day, LORD—
I've had my hands outstretched to you!
- <sup>10</sup>Do you work wonders for the dead?
Do ghosts rise up and give you thanks?
- <sup>11</sup>Is your faithful love proclaimed in the grave, your faithfulness in the underworld?<sup>d</sup>
- <sup>12</sup>Are your wonders known in the land of darkness, your righteousness in the land of oblivion?
- <sup>13</sup>But I cry out to you, LORD!
My prayer meets you first thing in the morning!
- <sup>14</sup>Why do you reject my very being, LORD?
Why do you hide your face from me?

Selah

Selah

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>b</sup>Perhaps instruction; the root is used in Ps 32:8.

<sup>c</sup>Heb Abaddon

<sup>d</sup>Or soul, also in 88:14 <sup>e</sup>Heb Sheol

88:1-18 Although Psalm 88 is a prayer for help, it is unique in the book of Psalms. It petitions God only once (88:2), and there is no direct expression of praise or trust. In short, Psalm 88 is clearly focused on complaint. The three reports of crying or calling out mark the beginning of three sections (88:1-8, 9-12, 13-18). Each section contains the keyword dark[ness] (88:6, 12, 18). On Heman, see 1 Kings 4:32; 1 Chronicles 16:41; 25:1, 4-6.

88:1 God... salvation: This address of God suggests ongoing trust in God's life-giving power amid the darkness and complaining (see Ps 13:5). Although the trust is never directly affirmed, the psalmist is at least continuing to look to and talk to God. day... night: The outcry is constant (see Ps 55:17).

88:2 The only petition is a request to be heard rather than a clear request to be helped.

88:3 hell: See translation note v; Psalms 6:5; 86:13.

88:4 pit: See Psalm 16:10. The repetition of "pit" in Psalm 88:6 is accompanied by several other words and phrases that reveal death (see Ps 88:11-12).

88:8 See Psalms 88:18; 31:11; 38:11. Note that the psalmist accuses God directly in Psalm 88:6-8 and again in 88:14-18.

88:9 calling out... every day: See Psalm 88:1. Psalm 88:9 emphasizes the constancy of the outcry and so the urgency of the situation, which is already clear from all the hints about death (Ps 88:4-6, 11-12, 15-17).

88:10 See Psalm 30:9. ghosts: Residents of Sheol (see Ps 6:5), the realm of the dead, were thought to have a ghostlike existence that made them shadows of their former selves.

88:11 As in Psalm 88:4-6, several words and phrases in Ps 88:11-12 serve as synonyms for the realm of the dead. faithful love... faithfulness: fundamental qualities of God (see Pss 5:7; 25:6; Exod 34:6). The questions in Psalm 88:11-12 remind God of God's essentially life-giving character, and point out to God the contrast between the life God wills and the deathly realities surrounding the psalmist. See Psalm 77:7-9, where the speaker's questions have the same effect.

88:12 righteousness: Another fundamental attribute of God and God's will (see Pss 88:11; 5:8).

88:13 first... morning: Another time-centered note (see Ps 88:1, 9, 17), communicating the constancy and urgency of the outcry.

88:14 hide your face: See Psalm 13:1.

88:1 1Ki 4:31;
1Ch 2:6; Ps 22:2,
Ps 53:1; Lk 16:7
88:4 Ps 28:1,
Ps 143:7
88:5 Ps 31:22;
Is 53:8
88:6 Ps 69:15,
Ps 143:3;
Lam 3:55
88:7 Ps 32:4,
Ps 42:7; Jon 2:3
88:8 Job 19:13;
Ps 31:11,
Ps 88:18;
Jer 32:2
88:9 Job 11:13,
Job 16:20; Ps 6:7,
Ps 31:9; Ps 86:3
88:10 Ps 6:5,
Ps 30:9
88:12 Job 10:21

89:1 1Kg 4:31;
Ps 36:5, Ps 40:10,
Ps 89:5, Ps 89:8

89:2 Ps 36:5,
Ps 103:17

89:3 [Kj 8:16;
Ps 89:35,
Ps 132:11,
Is 55:3

89:4 2Sa 7:12;
Ps 89:29,
Ps 89:36; Is 9:7;
Lk 1:33

89:6 Ps 86:8,
Ps 113:5

89:7 Ex 3:5;
Lv 10:3; Ps 5:7,
Ps 47:2, Ps 76:7

89:8 Ps 35:10,
Ps 71:19

89:11 Gn 1:1;
1Ch 29:11;
Ps 24:1

- 15 Since I was young I've been afflicted, I've been dying.
I've endured your terrors. I'm lifeless.
- 16 Your fiery anger has overwhelmed me;
your terrors have destroyed me.
- 17 They surround me all day long like water;
they engulf me completely.
- 18 You've made my loved ones and companions distant.
My only friend is darkness.

Psalm 89

A maskil<sup>m</sup> of Ethan the Ezrahite.

- 1 I will sing of the LORD's loyal love forever.
I will proclaim your faithfulness with my own mouth from one generation to the next.
- 2 That's why I say, "Your<sup>7</sup> loyal love is rightly built—forever!
You establish your faithfulness in heaven."
- 3 You said,<sup>8</sup> "I made a covenant with my chosen one;
I promised my servant David:
4 "I will establish your offspring forever;
I will build up your throne from one generation to the next."<sup>9</sup>

Selah

- 5 Heaven thanks you for your wondrous acts, LORD—for your faithfulness too—in the assembly of the holy ones.
- 6 Is there any in the sky who could compare to the LORD?
Who among the gods is equal to the LORD?
- 7 God is respected in the council of the holy ones;
God is awesome and revered more than all those around him.
- 8 Who is like you, LORD God of heavenly forces?
Mighty LORD, your faithfulness surrounds you!
- 9 You rule over the surging sea:
When its waves rise up, it's you who makes them still.
- 10 It's you who crushed Rahab like a dead body;
you scattered your enemies with your strong arm.
- 11 Heaven is yours! The earth too!
The world and all that fills it—
you made all of it!
North and south—you created them!

<sup>m</sup>Perhaps instruction; the root is used in Ps 32:8.

<sup>7</sup>Heb lacks Your. <sup>8</sup>Heb lacks You said.

88:18 See verse 8. darkness: Given the content and tone of the whole psalm, it is fitting that its final word (in both English and Hebrew) is "darkness."

89:1-52 Because it rehearses at length the promises to David and his empire, Psalm 89 is usually identified as a royal psalm (see Ps 2; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2). It's also a statement of God's rule in the form of a hymn (89:5-14), and verses 15-18 clearly connect the reign of the earthly king and the reign of God (see Pss 2; 72). But the unexpected and remarkable shift at verse 38 sets Psalm 89 apart from all the other royal psalms. Verses 38-45 communicate the rejection of the monarchy and the end of the Davidic covenant, and verses 46-51 offer the complaint of an imagined Davidic survivor of the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BCE. There is no divine response, and verse 52 is the doxology that concludes Book III (see sidebar, "Books II-III and the Elohistc Psalter" at Ps 42).

89:1 The psalm starts like a song of praise, making its conclusion all the more unexpected. loyal love... faithfulness: See Psalms 5:7; 25:10. These are fundamental qualities of God, and each occurs six more times, making them keywords in the psalms (see Ps 89:2, 5, 8, 14, 24, 28, 33, 49) and making the conclusion of the psalm all the more surprising.

89:3 covenant... David: God is the speaker here, articulating the special relationship between God and the house of David. The word covenant is also a keyword in the psalm, occurring again in Psalm 89:28, 34, 39.

89:4 This verse recalls 2 Samuel 7:13-16, where the prophet Nathan relates God's promises to David and his descendants. The promises will be described in more detail in Psalm 89:19-37 with more connections to 2 Samuel 7.

89:5 assembly... holy ones: reflects the notion of God the king attended by a heavenly court (see Pss 89:7; 29:1-2; 1 Kgs 22:19).

89:8 LORD... heavenly forces: See Psalm 24:10.

89:10 Rahab can refer to Egypt (see Ps 87:4), but here refers to a mythic chaos monster that God subdued to order the creation (see Ps 89:11; Job 26:12; Isa 51:19).

89:11 See Psalm 24:1; Psalm 24 mentions a "battle" (Ps 24:8) that may point to God's conquest of unruly forces (see Ps 24:10).

- 12 The mountains Tabor and Hermon shout praises to your name.
- 13 You have a powerful arm; your hand is strong;
your strong hand is raised high!
- 14 Your throne is built on righteousness and justice;
loyal love and faithfulness stand in front of you.
- 15 The people who know the celebratory shout are truly happy!
They walk in the light of your presence, LORD!
- 16 They rejoice in your name all day long and are uplifted by your righteousness
- 17 because you are the splendor of their strength.
By your favor you make us strong
- 18 because our shield is the LORD's own;
our king belongs to the holy one of Israel!
- 19 Once you spoke in a vision to your faithful servants:
I placed a crown on a strong man.
I raised up someone specially chosen from the people.
- 20 I discovered my servant David.
I anointed him with my holy oil.
- 21 My hand will sustain him—
yes, my arm will strengthen him!
- 22 No enemy will oppress him;
no wicked person will make him suffer.
- 23 I will crush all his foes in front of him.
I will strike down all those who hate him.
- 24 My faithfulness and my loyal love will be with him.
He will be strengthened by my name.
- 25 I will set his hand on the sea.
I will set his strong hand on the rivers.
- 26 He will cry out to me:
"You are my father, my God, the rock of my salvation."
- 27 Yes, I'll make him the one born first—I'll make him the high king of all earth's kings.
- 28 I will always guard my loyal love toward him.
My covenant with him will last forever.
- 29 I will establish his dynasty for all time.
His throne will last as long as heaven does.
- 30 But if his children ever abandon my Instruction, stop following my rules—
- 31 if they treat my statutes like dirt, stop keeping my commandments—
- 32 then I will punish their sin with a stick, and I will punish their wrongdoing with a severe beating.
- 33 But even then I won't withdraw my loyal love from him.
I won't betray my faithfulness.
- 34 I won't break my covenant.
I won't renege on what crossed my lips.

89:12 Dt 3:8;
Josh 19:22;
Jgs 4:6; Job 26:7;
Jer 46:18

89:14 Ps 85:10,
Ps 85:13, Ps 89:2,
Ps 97:2

89:15 Ps 1:1,
Ps 4:6, Ps 44:3

89:16 Neh 8:10;
Ps 16:11,
Ps 20:5, Ps 30:5,
Ps 105:3

89:17 Ps 75:10,
Ps 89:24,
Ps 92:10,
Ps 112:9,
Ps 148:14

89:18 Ps 47:9,
Ps 71:22

89:19 1Sa 16:1;
2Sa 8:15,
2Sa 17:10;
1Ki 11:34;
Ps 89:3

89:20 1Sa 16:13;
Ac 13:22

89:21 Ps 80:17,
Ps 89:13

89:22 2Sa 7:10

89:23 2Sa 7:9

89:24 Ps 89:1,
Ps 89:17,
Ps 92:10,
Ps 132:17

89:25 Ps 72:8

89:26 2Sa 7:14;
Heb 1:5

89:27 Ex 4:22;
Nm 24:7;
Col 1:18;
Rev 1:5,
Rev 19:16

89:28 Ps 89:34;
Is 55:3; Jer 33:21

89:29 Dt 11:21;
Ps 89:4, Ps 89:36;
Is 9:7; Jer 33:17

89:30 2Sa 7:14;
Ps 119:53

89:31 2Sa 7:14

89:32 2Sa 7:14;
Job 9:34; Lam 3:1

89:33 2Sa 7:15

89:34 Nm 23:19;
Jer 33:20

89:12 Tabor and Hermon: important mountains, sometimes associated with the gods (see Judg 3:3; Hos 5:1).

89:14 righteousness and justice: The pair of words summarizes the content of God's will for the world (see Pss 5:8; 9:4; 72:1-4; 82:3; 96:13; 98:9; 97:2). See Psalm 36:5-6, where they are mentioned with "loyal love and faithfulness" (see Ps 89:1).

89:15 truly happy: See Psalms 1:1-2; 2:12; see sidebar, "True Happiness" at Psalm 1.

89:18 This verse signals the move to the focus on the earthly king in Psalm 89:19-37.

89:19 vision: recalls the word God spoke to Nathan to deliver to David in 2 Samuel 7:4-17.

89:20 anointed: See Psalms 89:38, 51; 2:2; 1 Samuel 16:3, 12-13; 2 Samuel 7:8; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Psalm 2.

89:21-27 See 2 Samuel 7:9-11, 14-15.

89:28 forever: See Psalm 89:36-37. Verses 28-37 emphasize the eternity of the covenant with David. Like 2 Samuel 7:14-15, allowance is made for punishment, but not for the kind of outright rejection that is described in Psalm 89:38-45.

89:35 Ps 132:11
 89:36 Ps 72:5,
 Ps 72:17,
 Ps 89:4, Ps 89:29;
 Lk 1:33
 89:37 Job 16:19;
 Ps 72:5
 89:38 Dt 32:19;
 1Ch 28:9;
 Ps 44:9, Ps 89:20,
 Ps 89:51
 89:39 Ps 74:7;
 Lam 2:7,
 Lam 5:16
 89:40 Ps 80:12;
 Lam 2:2
 89:41 Ps 44:13,
 Ps 79:4
 89:42 Ps 132
 89:43 Ps 44:10
 89:45 Ps 44:15,
 Ps 102:23,
 Ps 109:29
 89:46 Ps 13:1,
 Ps 79:5, Ps 80:4,
 Ps 90:13
 89:47 Job 7:7,
 Job 10:9,
 Job 14:1; Ps 39:5
 89:48 Ps 49:9,
 Ps 49:15
 89:49 Ps 89:3

- 35 By my own holiness I've sworn one thing:
 I will not lie to David.
 36 His dynasty will last forever.
 His throne will be like the sun, always before me.
 37 It will be securely established forever;
 like the moon, a faithful witness in the sky.
 38 But you, God, have rejected and despised him.
 You've become infuriated with your anointed one.
 39 You've canceled the covenant with your servant.
 You've thrown his crown in the dirt.
 40 You've broken through all his walls.
 You've made his strongholds a pile of ruins.
 41 All those who pass by plunder him.
 He's nothing but a joke to his neighbors.
 42 You lifted high his foes' strong hand.
 You gave all his enemies reason to celebrate.
 43 Yes, you dulled the edge of his sword and didn't support him in battle.
 44 You've put an end to his splendor.
 You've thrown his throne to the ground.
 45 You've shortened the prime of his life.
 You've wrapped him up in shame.

Selah

Selah

- 46 How long will it last, LORD?
 Will you hide yourself forever?
 How long will your wrath burn like fire?
 47 Remember how short my life is!
 Have you created humans for no good reason?
 48 Who lives their life without seeing death?
 Who is ever rescued from the grip of the grave?<sup>a</sup> 49 Where now are your loving acts from long ago, my Lord—the same ones you promised to David by your own faithfulness?

Selah

Book IV and the Rule of God Psalm 89 concludes Book III by reporting that the Davidic monarchy was rejected (Ps 89:38-51; see sidebars, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2; "Books II-III and the Elohistc Psalter" at Ps 42). This tragic conclusion invites a response, which comes right away in Book IV (Pss 90-106) and continues in Book V (Pss 107-150; see sidebar, "Book V" at Ps 107). Psalm 90 offers a point of view from before Israel had a monarchy. It is the only psalm attributed to Moses in the Psalter; and Moses led the people of God before they had a king, a land, or a temple, all of which were lost when the Babylonians defeated Judah and destroyed Jerusalem in 587 BCE. So Moses' prayer suggests that, in spite of the losses, a relationship with God is possible.

A hallmark of Moses' time and the later period before the monarchy was the idea that only God rules as king of the people (see Exod 15:18; Judg 8:22-23; 1 Sam 8:1-9). Not surprisingly, this idea lies at the heart of Book IV. In the enthronement collection (Pss 93; 95-99), each psalm either calls God "king" (Pss 95:3; 98:6) or affirms that God "rules" (Pss 93:1; 96:10; 97:1; 99:1). This affirmation responds well to the tragic conclusion of Book III, and God's reign may be the central statement of Book IV, as well as the primary theological claim of the entire Psalter (see Ps 5:2). In support of this claim, Psalms 96 and 98 say God "is coming to establish justice . . . in the world rightly" (Pss 96:13; 98:9). This summary of God's will recalls the importance of Instruction seen at the beginning of the Psalter (see Ps 1:1-2), and it connects with the royal psalms that feature God's "anointed one," who was given the task of doing justice and righteousness in the world (see Ps 72:1-7).

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol

89:41 joke . . . neighbors: See Psalm 79:4.

89:42 Compare this verse with Psalm 89:22 to see the extent of the reversal.

89:43-45 Compare with Psalm 18:34-39.

89:46-51 The complaint of an imaginary Davidic survivor is full of poignant questions, along with the petition, Remember (89:47, 50), which recalls Psalm 74:18, 22 near the beginning of Book III. The effect is to link

- <sup>50</sup> Remember your servant's abuse, my Lord!
Remember how I bear in my heart all the insults of the nations,<sup>b</sup> <sup>51</sup> the ones your enemies, LORD, use—the ones they use to abuse every step your anointed one takes.
- <sup>52</sup> Bless the LORD forever!
Amen and Amen!

BOOK IV
(Psalms 90–106)

Psalm 90

A prayer of Moses, the man of God.

- <sup>1</sup> Lord, you have been our help, generation after generation.
<sup>2</sup> Before the mountains were born, before you birthed the earth and the inhabited world—from forever in the past to forever in the future, you are God.
- <sup>3</sup> You return people to dust, saying, "Go back, humans," <sup>4</sup> because in your perspective a thousand years are like yesterday past, like a short period during the night watch.
<sup>5</sup> You sweep humans away like a dream, like grass that is renewed in the morning.
<sup>6</sup> True, in the morning it thrives, renewed, but come evening it withers, all dried up.
<sup>7</sup> Yes, we are wasting away because of your wrath;
we are paralyzed with fear on account of your rage.
<sup>8</sup> You put our sins right in front of you, set our hidden faults in the light from your face.
<sup>9</sup> Yes, all our days slip away because of your fury;
we finish up our years with a whimper.
<sup>10</sup> We live at best to be seventy years old, maybe eighty, if we're strong.
But their duration brings hard work and trouble because they go by so quickly.
And then we fly off.
<sup>11</sup> Who can comprehend the power of your anger?
The honor that is due you corresponds to your wrath.
<sup>12</sup> Teach us to number our days so we can have a wise heart.

<sup>b</sup>Correction; MT all of many peoples

the destruction of Jerusalem with the rejection of the Davidic rule.

89:52 See Psalm 41:13; see sidebar, "Books II–III and the Elohist Psalter" at Psalm 42.

90:1–17 After the painful conclusion of Book III in Psalm 89:38–51, it's significant that Book IV opens with the only psalm credited to Moses, who led the people of God before they had all the things that they lost in 587 BCE: land, temple, and monarchy. Psalm 90 is often identified as a wisdom psalm (90:12) that reflects on the shortness of human life (90:3–12). This makes sense, but Psalm 90 also serves as response to the crisis that is described at the end of Book III. The editors of the Psalter imagine Moses praying for the people in exile as Moses had interceded for the people in the presence of God's anger over their making of the gold calf (see Exod 32:1–14). Just as the gold calf incident ended with the covenant relationship in place (see Exod 33:12–34:27), so 90:13–17 clearly look toward a hopeful future, not a future of uselessness or hopelessness (see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89).

90:1–2 birthed the earth: a feminine image of God creating the world (see sidebar, "God the Creator" at Ps 8). forever... forever: The psalm begins with a focus on God's time, which is eternal, in contrast to human time (Ps 90:3–12).

90:3 dust: See Genesis 3:19.

90:4 the night watch: a period of three hours. Note again the contrast between God's time and human time (see Ps 90:1), a contrast that's also clear in Psalm 90:5–6.

90:7–11 Verses 7, 9, and 11 contain several words that describe God's displeasure (wrath, anger, fury). Divine wrath isn't only God's response to sin (90:8), but it is also God's opposition to the human pretense to be something other than mortal.

90:12 This verse marks a move from the discouraging

89:50 Ps 69:9,
Ps 74:18,
Ps 74:22
89:51 Ps 56:6,
Ps 74:10,
Ps 89:38
89:52 Ps 41:13,
Ps 72:19,
Ps 106:48
90:1 Dt 33:1,
Dt 33:27;
Ps 71:3, Ps 91:1,
Ps 91:9
90:2 Job 15:7
90:3 Gn 3:19;
Job 34:14,
Job 34:15,
Ps 104:29;
Ecc 12:7
90:4 Ex 14:24;
Jgs 7:19; 2Pt 3:8
90:8 Ps 19:12;
Ecc 12:14;
Jer 16:17;
Heb 4:13
90:9 Ps 39:5,
Ps 78:33
90:10 Ps 78:39
90:11 Neh 5:9;
Ps 76:7
90:12 Dt 32:29;
Ps 39:4

90:14 Ps 36:8,
Ps 65:4, Ps 85:6,
Ps 103:5,
Ps 143:8
90:15 Dt 2:14;
Ps 86:4, Ps 90:14;
Mt 5:4
90:17 Ps 27:4;
Is 26:12
91:1 Ps 27:5,
Ps 31:20, Ps 32:7,
Ps 121:5
91:2 Ps 18:2,
Ps 91:9, Ps 142:5
91:4 Ps 17:8,
Ps 35:2
91:5 Ps 27:1
91:6 2Ki 19:35
91:7 Gn 7:23;
Ex 12:13;
Josh 14:10
91:8 Ps 37:34,
Ps 58:10; Is 3:11;
Heb 2:2
91:9 Ps 71:3,
Ps 90:1, Ps 91:2
91:10 Prv 12:21
91:11 Ps 34:7;
Mt 4:6; Lk 4:10,
Lk 4:11;
Heb 1:14

- 13 Come back to us, LORD!
Please, quick!
Have some compassion for your servants!
14 Fill us full every morning with your faithful love so we can rejoice and celebrate our whole life long.
15 Make us happy for the same amount of time that you afflicted us—for the same number of years that we saw only trouble.
16 Let your acts be seen by your servants;
let your glory be seen by their children.
17 Let the kindness of the Lord our God be over us.
Make the work of our hands last.
Make the work of our hands last!

Psalm 91

- 1 Living in the Most High's shelter, camping in the Almighty's<sup>c</sup> shade,
2 I say to the LORD, "You are my refuge, my stronghold!
You are my God—the one I trust!"
3 God will save you from the hunter's trap and from deadly sickness.
4 God will protect you with his pinions;
you'll find refuge under his wings.
His faithfulness is a protective shield.
5 Don't be afraid of terrors at night, arrows that fly in daylight,
6 or sickness that prowls in the dark, destruction that ravages at noontime.
7 Even if one thousand people fall dead next to you, ten thousand right beside you—it won't happen to you.
8 Just look with your eyes, and you will see the wicked punished.
9 Because you've made the LORD my refuge, the Most High, your place of residence—10 no evil will happen to you; no disease will come close to your tent.
11 Because he will order his messengers to help you, to protect you wherever you go.

<sup>c</sup>Heb Shaddai

point of view of Psalm 90:7-11 to the more hopeful outlook of 90:13-17. Teach... wise heart: The sense seems to be this, "Teach us to live day by day depending upon God." Daily trust in God is true wisdom.

90:13 Come back: The same Hebrew verb underlies "return" in Psalm 90:3. God's "return" in this verse is much more positive. This verse also echoes Exodus 32:12, where Moses intercedes for the people, telling God to "calm down" (or "return," the same Hebrew verb) from divine anger for the sake of the people and their future.

90:14 morning: In Psalm 90:5-6, "morning" occurs in the context of human transience. Here, "morning" holds the possibility of joy and being fulfilled. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. "Faithful love" is precisely what is lacking in Psalm 89:49.

90:15 happy: Time still passes, but it now holds new possibility.

90:16-17 Make... last: With God's help, there is the possibility of something enduring amid the reality of the shortness of human life.

91:1-16 Psalm 91 is an eloquent poem about trust (see Pss 16; 23). After 91:1-2, which contain the psalmist's expression of trust directed to God, there follows an extended statement of faith that is spoken to an unnamed you (91:3-13). The psalm concludes with a divine word that explains why trust in God is well founded (91:14-16).

91:1 shade: See "protection" in Psalms 17:8; 63:7; and "shadow" in Psalms 36:7; 57:1.

91:2 refuge: See Psalms 91:4, 9; 2:12. trust: See Psalm 4:5.

91:4 under his wings: See Psalms 17:8; 36:7; 57:1; 63:7. faithfulness: See Psalm 25:10.

91:5-6 Notice that the various threats can come at all hours of the day and night.

91:7 See Psalm 3:6.

91:8 The psalmists often ask for and/or express confidence in God's disposal of the wicked and their threats. The ultimate issue is the setting of things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

91:9 place of residence: The same Hebrew word is translated "help" in Psalm 90:1.

91:11-12 messengers: God is often pictured as

- <sup>12</sup>They will carry you with their own hands so you don't bruise your foot on a stone.
- <sup>13</sup>You'll march on top of lions and vipers;
you'll trample young lions and serpents underfoot.
- <sup>14</sup>God says,<sup>d</sup> "Because you are devoted to me, I'll rescue you.
I'll protect you because you know my name.
- <sup>15</sup>Whenever you cry out to me, I'll answer.
I'll be with you in troubling times.
I'll save you and glorify you.
- <sup>16</sup>I'll fill you full with old age.
I'll show you my salvation."

91:13 Ps 58:4;
Lk 10:19
91:14 Ps 9:10,
Ps 59:1
91:15 1Sa 2:30;
Ps 50:15;
Jn 12:26
91:16 Ps 21:4,
Ps 50:23; Prv 3:2
92:1 Ps 135:3,
Ps 147:1
92:5 Ps 40:5,
Ps 111:2,
Ps 139:17;
Ro 11:33;
Rev 15:3
92:6 Ps 49:10,
Ps 73:22, Ps 94:8
92:7 Ps 37:2

Psalm 92

A psalm. A song for the Sabbath day.

- <sup>1</sup>It is good to give thanks to the LORD, to sing praises to your name, Most High;
- <sup>2</sup>to proclaim your loyal love in the morning, your faithfulness at nighttime
- <sup>3</sup>with the ten-stringed harp, with the melody of the lyre
- <sup>4</sup>because you've made me happy, LORD, by your acts.
I sing with joy because of your handiwork.
- <sup>5</sup>How awesome are your works, LORD!
Your thoughts are so deep!
- <sup>6</sup>Ignorant people don't know—fools don't understand this:
- <sup>7</sup>though the wicked spring up like grass and all evildoers seem to blossom, they do so only to be destroyed forever.
- <sup>8</sup>But you, LORD, are exalted forever!
- <sup>9</sup>Look at your enemies, LORD!
Look at how your enemies die,
how all evildoers are scattered abroad!
- <sup>10</sup>But you've made me as strong as a wild ox.
I'm soaked in precious ointment.
- <sup>11</sup>My eyes have seen my enemies' defeat;
my ears have heard the downfall of my evil foes.

<sup>d</sup>Heb lacks God says.

attended by a heavenly court, members of which can act on God's behalf (see Pss 29:1-2; 34:7). See Matthew 4:6 and Luke 4:10, where the devil quotes these verses to tempt Jesus to throw himself down from the top of the temple. Jesus refuses, because the promise of divine protection isn't intended to be used for personal advantage. Jesus does claim God's promise of protection from the cross (see Ps 31:5; see sidebar, "The Psalms and Jesus" at Ps 22).

91:13 The enemies are often described as dangerous animals (see Ps 10:9). In any case, the language is symbolic and not meant to be taken literally.

91:14-16 The subject "I"—that is, God—is accompanied by seven verbs. Seven is the number of completeness, so the effect is to affirm that God's promise of help is completely reliable. In the middle of this list is the promise I'll be with you, which summarizes the assuring message of the psalm (see Ps 23:4). my salvation: The word describes life as God intends it, and is especially meaningful in the midst of deadly threats (see Pss 91:3-7; 13:5).

92:1-15 Psalm 92 is usually identified as a psalm of thanks (see Ps 30) for what God has done for the psalmist (92:4, 10-11) and in the world (92:5-9). It also has a teaching dimension, especially 92:12-15. Psalm 92 is the only psalm assigned for the Sabbath day, although the origin of and reason for this label are unclear.

92:2 loyal love: See Psalm 5:7. faithfulness: See Psalm 25:10. Thankfulness begins with an appreciation of God's fundamental character (see Exod 34:6).

92:3 harp . . . lyre: See Psalm 33:2.

92:5 thoughts . . . deep: See Psalm 139:17-18.

92:6 fools: See Psalm 14:1.

92:7 the wicked: The mention of the flourishing of the wicked, followed by the certainty of their destruction (see also Ps 92:9, 11), recalls especially Psalms 1; 37; 73. The intent of God's defeat of the enemies isn't payback but

92:12 Ps 1:3,
Ps 52:8, Ps 72:7;
Hos 14:5,
Hos 14:6
92:13 Ps 100:4,
Ps 116:19,
Ps 135:2;
Is 60:21

92:14 Ps 1:3,
Ps 71:18; Jn 15:2
92:15 Dt 32:4;
Job 34:10;
Ps 18:2, Ps 25:8;
Ro 9:14

93:1 Ps 65:6,
Ps 96:10,
Ps 97:1, Ps 99:1,
Ps 104:1

93:2 Ps 9:7,
Ps 45:6, Ps 90:2
93:5 Ps 29:2

94:1 Dt 32:35;
Ps 50:2, Ps 80:1;
Na 1:2; Ro 12:19

94:7 Gn 18:25;
Ps 7:6, Ps 31:23,
Ps 50:6

- <sup>12</sup>The righteous will spring up like a palm tree.
They will grow strong like a cedar of Lebanon.
<sup>13</sup>Those who have been replanted in the LORD's house will spring up in the courtyards of our God.
<sup>14</sup>They will bear fruit even when old and gray; they will remain lush and fresh <sup>15</sup>in order to proclaim:
"The LORD is righteous.
He's my rock.
There's nothing unrighteous in him."

Psalm 93

- <sup>1</sup>The LORD rules! He is robed in majesty—the LORD is robed, clothed with strength.
Yes, he set the world firmly in place;<sup>a</sup>
it won't be shaken.
<sup>2</sup>Your throne is set firm for a very long time.
You are eternal!
<sup>3</sup>LORD, the floods have raised up—the floods have raised up their voices;
the floods raise up a roar!
<sup>4</sup>But mightier than the sound of much water, mightier than the sea's waves,
mighty on high is the LORD!
<sup>5</sup>Your laws are so faithful.
Holiness decorates your house, LORD, for all time.

Psalm 94

- <sup>1</sup>LORD, avenging God—avenging God, show yourself!
<sup>2</sup>Rise up, judge of the earth!
Pay back the arrogant exactly what they deserve!

<sup>a</sup>LXX, Vulg; MT the world is set firmly in place; cf Ps 96:10 rather setting things right in the world (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

92:12 The righteous . . . like a palm tree: This description recalls Psalm 1:3.

92:13 replanted . . . house: In Psalm 52:8-9, the psalmist is also like a tree in God's house, the temple, which symbolizes direct and constant access to God's presence. The direct experience of God's presence was understood in relation to paying attention to and obeying God's Instruction (see Pss 1:3; 84:4, 12).

92:14 old and gray: See Psalm 71:18-19, where the aged psalmist prays for God's help so that he or she can tell about God's righteousness, as the psalmist does here (Ps 92:15; see Ps 5:8).

93:1-5 Psalm 93 is the first in a collection of songs of praise that is known as the enthronement psalms (Pss 93; 95-99), since they affirm that "The LORD rules" (Ps 93:1, or translated "The LORD is king"; see Pss 96:10; 97:1; 99:1), or they refer to God as "king" (Pss 95:3; 98:6; see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89).

93:1 majesty: This word is used of God in Psalm 68:34. Elsewhere, it is used of unruly waters (see Ps 46:3, "surging") that God has subdued, as here (Ps 93:3-4). Strength: associated with God's rule in Psalms 29:1; 96:6-7. Yes . . . shaken: In the background is God's conquest of the forces of chaos in order to create a stable world (see Pss 93:3-4; 96:10; cf. the threat of disorder in Pss 46:2-3; 82:5).

93:3 floods: Represents the forces of chaos. The repetition emphasizes their power, but God's power is greater (Ps 93:4; see Ps 29:10 where God is "enthroned over the floodwaters"). The mention of God taming unruly waters also recalls the exodus out of Egypt.

93:5 Your laws: It was the responsibility of a ruler to govern, so this verse follows logically from the affirmation of God's rule. Holiness: God's residence, the temple on Zion, is often described elsewhere as holy (see Ps 2:6; 3:4). The concept of holiness also appears in the final enthronement psalm, bracketing the collection (see Ps 99:3, 5, 9). The fundamental meaning of holiness is "set apart," so the effect is to affirm the incomparability of God's ruling power.

94:1-23 Psalm 94 begins like a communal prayer for help (94:1-7), but then the speaker addresses the wicked (94:8-11), God (94:12-13), and the righteous (94:14-15). Verses 16-23 consist of a prayer of trust, surrounded by verses 16-17 and 22-23, which have the characteristics of a profession of faith. The ultimate intent may be to teach (see Instruction in 94:12). Psalm 94 appears to interrupt the enthronement collection (Pss 93; 95-99). It has similarities to Psalms 90-92 (see "refuge" in Pss 91:2, 4, 9; 94:22) and to Pss 93; 95-99 (see "justice" and "righteousness"/"rightly" in Pss 94:15; 96:13; 97:2; 98:9; 99:4), and it may serve to bind the enthronement collection more clearly to the opening psalms of Book IV (see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89).

- <sup>3</sup>How long will the wicked—oh, LORD!—
how long will the wicked win?
<sup>4</sup>They spew arrogant words;
all the evildoers are bragging.
<sup>5</sup>They crush your own people, LORD!
They abuse your very own possession.
<sup>6</sup>They kill widows and immigrants;
they murder orphans,
<sup>7</sup>saying all the while, “The LORD can’t see it; Jacob’s God doesn’t know what’s going on!”
- <sup>8</sup>You ignorant people better learn quickly.
You fools—when will you get some sense?
<sup>9</sup>The one who made the ear, can’t he hear?
The one who formed the eye, can’t he see?
<sup>10</sup>The one who disciplines nations, can’t he punish?
The one who teaches humans, doesn’t he know?<sup>f</sup> <sup>11</sup>The LORD does indeed know human thoughts, knows that they are nothing but a puff of air.
- <sup>12</sup>The people you discipline, LORD, are truly happy—the ones you teach from your Instruction—<sup>13</sup>giving them relief from troubling times until a pit is dug for the wicked.
<sup>14</sup>The LORD will not reject his people;
he will not abandon his very own possession.
<sup>15</sup>No, but justice will once again meet up with righteousness, and all whose heart is right will follow after.
- <sup>16</sup>Who will stand up for me against the wicked?
Who will help me against evildoers?
<sup>17</sup>If the LORD hadn’t helped me,
I<sup>g</sup> would live instantly in total silence.
<sup>18</sup>Whenever I feel my foot slipping, your faithful love steadies me, LORD.
<sup>19</sup>When my anxieties multiply, your comforting calms me down.
- <sup>20</sup>Can a wicked ruler be your ally;
one who wreaks havoc by means of the law?
<sup>21</sup>The wicked gang up against the lives of the righteous.
They condemn innocent blood.
<sup>22</sup>But the LORD is my fortress;
my God is my rock of refuge.

<sup>f</sup>Correction; MT the one who teaches humans knowledge <sup>g</sup>Or soul; also in 94:19, 21

94:1 avenging God: God’s vengeance isn’t simply a matter of payback but rather of setting things right—that is, justice (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6; 9:4, 12, 18; 58:10; 79:10).

94:2 judge: This could be translated “establisher of justice,” which is the goal of God’s avenging action (Ps 94:1; see Ps 94:15). Pay back: See Psalms 94:23; 28:4.

94:3-7 As usual, the wicked are violent and destructive in speech and action (see Pss 94:20-21; 4:2-5; see sidebar, “The Enemies” at Ps 3).

94:6 widows: See Psalm 68:5. immigrants: God’s Instruction provides special care for immigrants (see Lev 19:10; 25:35). orphans: See Psalm 10:14. Widows, immigrants, and orphans were particularly helpless because they had no family and no access to land; and God shows special concern for the most helpless and mistreated (see Pss 9:18; 146:9, which also mention all three categories of people).

94:7 The wicked regularly deny any accountability to God or to others (see Ps 10:4, 6, 11, 13).

94:8 fools: See Psalm 14:1. The psalmist addresses the wicked in Psalm 94:8-11 (see Ps 62:3-4), trying to tell them what they need to know.

94:11 The LORD does indeed know: The psalmist directly counters what the wicked have said about God in Psalm 94:7 (see Ps 10:14).

94:12 truly happy... Instruction: See Psalm 1:1-2, where these concepts are also related.

94:13 pit... wicked: See Psalm 7:15.

94:15 justice... righteousness: See Psalms 94:2; 5:8; 9:4.

94:17 helped me: See Psalm 10:14. total silence: indicates death. God is the giver of life.

94:18 slipping: See Psalm 73:2. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7.

94:22 refuge: See Psalms 2:12; 62:7.

94:3 Job 20:5

94:4 Ps 31:18;

Ps 52:1, Ps 75:5

94:7 Job 22:13;

Ps 10:11

94:8 Ps 73:22;

Ps 92:6

94:9 Ex 4:11;

Prv 20:12

94:10 Job 35:11;

Is 28:26

94:11 Job 11:11;

1Co 3:20

94:12 Job 5:17;

Prv 3:11;

Prv 3:12;

1Co 11:32;

Heb 12:5

94:13 Ps 49:5;

Ps 55:23

94:14 1Sa 12:22;

Ps 37:28;

Ro 11:2

94:15 Ps 7:10

94:16 Nm 10:35;

Ps 17:13, Ps 59:2

94:17 Ps 31:17;

Ps 115:17;

Ps 124:1;

Ps 124:2

94:18 Ps 38:16;

Ps 73:2, Ps 121:3

94:19 2Co 1:4

94:20 Ps 58:2;

Is 10:1; Am 6:3

94:21 Ex 23:7;

Prv 17:15;

Mt 27:4

94:22 Ps 18:2;

Ps 59:9

95:1 Dt 32:15;
Ps 66:1, Ps 81:1,
Ps 89:26

95:2 Ps 100:2;
Mt 6:6; Eph 5:19;
Jas 5:13

95:3 Ps 47:2,
Ps 96:4, Ps 97:9,
Ps 135:5,
Ps 145:3

95:4 Ps 135:6

95:5 Gn 1:9,
Gn 1:10

95:6 2Ch 6:13;
Ps 100:3,
Ps 149:2;
Dn 6:10

95:7 Ps 74:1,
Ps 79:13,
Ps 100:3;
Heb 3:7; Heb 4:7

95:8 Ex 17:7;
Nm 20:13;
Dt 6:16; Heb 3:8

95:9 Nm 14:22;
Ps 78:18,
Ps 78:56;
1Co 10:9

95:10 Heb 3:17

95:11 Nm 14:23;

Dt 1:35,
Dt 12:9;
Heb 3:11,
Heb 4:3

96:1 1Ch 16:23;
Ps 33:3, Ps 98:1,
Ps 149:1; Rev 5:9

96:2 Ps 71:15

- 23 He will repay them for their wickedness, completely destroy them because of their evil.
Yes, the LORD our God will completely destroy them.

Psalm 95

- 1 Come, let's sing out loud to the LORD!
Let's raise a joyful shout to the rock of our salvation!
2 Let's come before him with thanks!
Let's shout songs of joy to him!
3 The LORD is a great God, the great king over all other gods.
4 The earth's depths are in his hands;
the mountain heights belong to him;
5 the sea, which he made, is his along with the dry ground, which his own hands formed.
6 Come, let's worship and bow down!
Let's kneel before the LORD, our maker!
7 He is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, the sheep in his hands.

If only you would listen to his voice right now!

- 8 "Don't harden your hearts like you did at Meribah, like you did when you were at Massah, in the wilderness, 9 when your ancestors tested me and scrutinized me, even though they had already seen my acts.
10 For forty years I despised that generation;
I said, "These people have twisted hearts.
They don't know my ways."
11 So in anger I swore: "They will never enter my place of rest!"

Psalm 96

- 1 Sing to the LORD a new song!
Sing to the LORD, all the earth!
2 Sing to the LORD! Bless his name!
Share the news of his saving work every single day!

95:1-11 Another song of praise in the enthronement collection (see Ps 93), Psalm 95 issues multiple invitations to praise (Ps 95:1-2, 6), along with supporting reasons (95:3-5, 7ab). Verses 7c-11 are less typical. It seems that a congregation has gathered in response to the call to worship in verse 6, and verses 7c-11 offer a divine word (see Pss 50; 81).

95:1-2 joyful shout... shout songs of joy: An appropriate way to greet a king (see Ps 47:1-2). thanks: See Psalm 50:14. 95:3 great God... great king... gods: Greatness is often associated with royalty (see Ps 47:2). This verse assumes the ancient context of multiple gods (see Pss 82:1; 96:4; 97:7), over whom God reigns.

95:4-5 As in Psalm 93:1, 3-4, God is a powerful creator (see Pss 24:1-2; 8; 104; see sidebar, "God the Creator" at Ps 8).

95:6-7 maker: This may be another reminder of God's creative power; but in view of verse 7, "maker" also suggests that God "made" Israel by way of the exodus and other acts of rescue that are suggested in Psalm 95:9 (see Ps 100:3; Deut 32:6).

95:7ab See Psalms 79:13; 80:1; 100:3. It's possible that the sheep images here and in Psalm 100:3 mean that Psalms 95 and 100 bracket the core of the enthronement collection.

95:7c-11 God's creative and saving work invites a response; and the worshippers/readers are challenged to respond obediently, unlike the people of the wilderness generation, for whom their behavior at Meribah (based on a root that means "to contend") and Massah (based on a root that means "to test") proved to be the norm (see Exod 17:1-7; Num 14:26-35). The author of the book of Hebrews used Psalm 95:7c-11 as the text for a Christian sermon (Heb 3:7-4:16).

96:1-13 As a song of praise, Psalm 96 is part of the enthronement collection (see Ps 93). As is typical, invitations to praise (Ps 96:1-3, 7-10a, 11-12a) are followed by reasons for praise (Ps 96:4-6, 10b, 12b-13). Most of Psalm 96 appears in 1 Chronicles 16:23-33, when David moved the sacred chest to Jerusalem.

96:1 Sing... new song: The enthronement psalms, especially Psalm 96, are similar in several ways to Isaiah 40-55, which proclaims the return from life in Babylon as a new exodus, and which also invites the singing of a new song (Isa 42:10). Psalm 96 may have been used to celebrate the return from exile and/or other experiences of divine rescue. The singing of a new song may also suggest that God's presence is regularly experienced anew in worship, and that God's presence invites the expectation of God's ongoing activity in the world (see Ps 33:3), all the earth: See Psalms 66:1; 98:1; 100:1.

96:2 the news: The Greek word that translates the

- <sup>3</sup>Declare God's glory among the nations; declare his wondrous works among all people <sup>4</sup>because the LORD is great and so worthy of praise.
 He is awesome beyond all other gods <sup>5</sup>because all the gods of the nations are just idols, but it is the LORD who created heaven!
<sup>6</sup>Greatness and grandeur are in front of him; strength and beauty are in his sanctuary.
- <sup>7</sup>Give to the LORD, all families of the nations—
 give to the LORD glory and power!
<sup>8</sup>Give to the LORD the glory due his name!
 Bring gifts!
 Enter his courtyards!
<sup>9</sup>Bow down to the LORD in his holy splendor!
 Tremble before him, all the earth!
- <sup>10</sup>Tell the nations, "The LORD rules!
 Yes, he set the world firmly in place;<sup>b</sup>
 it won't be shaken.
 He will judge all people fairly."
<sup>11</sup>Let heaven celebrate! Let the earth rejoice!
 Let the sea and everything in it roar!
<sup>12</sup>Let the countryside and everything in it celebrate!
 Then all the trees of the forest too will shout out joyfully <sup>13</sup>before the LORD because he is coming!
 He is coming to establish justice on the earth!
 He will establish justice in the world rightly.
 He will establish justice among all people fairly.

96:3 1Ch 16:24;
 Ps 22:27;
 Mt 28:19;
 Lk 24:47;
 Rev 14:6

96:4 Ps 18:3,
 Ps 48:1, Ps 89:7,
 Ps 95:3, Ps 145:3

96:5 Is 42:5

96:6 Ps 104:1

96:7 Ps 22:27,
 Ps 29:1

96:8 Ps 72:10,
 Ps 100:4

96:9 Ps 29:2,
 Ps 33:8, Ps 99:5,
 Ps 114:7

96:10 Ps 9:8,
 Ps 67:4, Ps 93:1,
 Ps 97:1, Ps 98:9

96:11 Ps 69:34,
 Ps 97:1, Ps 98:7;
 Is 49:13

96:12 Ps 65:13;
 Is 55:12

96:13 Ps 98:9;
 Rev 19:11

97:1 Ps 93:1,
 Ps 96:10,
 Ps 96:11

Psalm 97

- <sup>1</sup>The LORD rules! Let the earth rejoice!
 Let all the islands celebrate!

<sup>b</sup>LXX, Vulg; MT the world is firmly established; cf Ps 93:1

underlying Hebrew is usually translated as "good news" or "gospel." See Isaiah 52:7, where "good news" is also associated with the proclamation of God's rule.

96:4 great... beyond all other gods: See Psalm 95:3.

96:5 idols: See Psalms 97:7; 115:4-8. Isaiah 40-55 also criticizes the worship of idols (see Isa 44:9-20). The LORD who created heaven!: See the creation theme in Psalms 93:1, 3-4; 95:4-6; Isaiah 40:12-25.

96:7 Give... families of the nations: The invitation is the same as in Psalm 29:1, but it isn't addressed to "divine beings" here. When Psalms 29:1-2 and 96:7-9 are heard together, the result is an invitation for the recognition of God and God's will on earth as in heaven. Psalm 96:7-9 seem to imagine a gathering of all nations in Jerusalem (see Pss 47; 87; Isa 2:2-4; Mic 4:1-3).

96:9 holy splendor: See Psalm 29:2.

96:10 The "news" (Ps 96:2) of God's rule is to be shared worldwide (see Ps 96:7-9). the world firmly in place: See Psalm 93:1. In contrast to the unjust rule of the gods, which threatens the world with destruction (see Ps 82:5), God's rule of justice and righteousness (see Ps 96:13) promises a stable and secure foundation.

96:11-13 As in Psalm 98:7-9, a creation-wide congregation greets God's coming (Ps 96:13), which should be understood not simply as a future event but rather as a present and enduring event. The Hebrew translated "is coming" is a participle, and participles indicate continuous action.

96:13 to establish justice... rightly... establish justice... fairly: The repetition, along with the pairing of justice and righteousness ("rightly"), means that God's will for the world and all its people can be summarized as justice and righteousness (see Pss 5:8; 9:4, 7-8; 82:3; 98:9, as well as prophetic texts like Isa 1:27; 5:7; Jer 22:5; Hos 2:19; Amos 5:24). It's important that the earthly king, God's chosen agent, was given the task of doing justice and righteousness (see Ps 72:1-7). As suggested above (see Ps 96:10), there is a clear contrast between God, who establishes justice "fairly," and the gods, whose bad management of justice (Ps 82:2-4) threatened the future of the world (Ps 82:5). The relationship among Psalms 72; 82; 96 also make it clear that the basic requirement for discerning the presence of justice and righteousness is whether the poor, weak, and needy are being attended to and provided for (see especially Pss 72:12-14; 82:3-4; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82).

97:1-12 Another song of praise in the enthronement collection (see Ps 93), Psalm 97 opens with a section (97:1-5) that seems to picture God's "coming" that is mentioned in Psalm 96:13. In verse 1, the earth is invited to praise; and in

97:2 Dt 4:11;
1Ki 8:12;
Ps 18:11,
Ps 89:14
97:3 Ps 18:8,
Ps 21:9, Ps 50:3,
Dn 7:10; Mal 4:1
97:5 Josh 3:11;
Jgs 5:5; Ps 68:2;
Mi 1:4; Na 1:5
97:7 Lv 26:1;
Ps 96:5; Is 42:17,
Is 44:9; Heb 1:6
97:8 Ps 48:11
97:9 Ex 18:11;
Ps 83:18,
Ps 95:3; Ps 96:4,
Ps 135:5
97:10 Ps 37:28,
Ps 145:20;
Prv 2:8;
Am 5:15; Ro 12:9
97:11 Job 22:28;
Ps 112:4;
Prv 4:18
98:1 Ex 15:6;
Ps 33:3, Ps 96:1;
Is 52:10, Is 59:16
98:2 Is 52:10

- <sup>2</sup>Clouds and thick darkness surround God.
His throne is built on righteousness and justice.
- <sup>3</sup>Fire proceeds before him, burning up his enemies on every side.
- <sup>4</sup>His lightning lights up the world;
the earth sees it and trembles!
- <sup>5</sup>The mountains melt like wax before the LORD, before the Lord of the whole world!
- <sup>6</sup>Heaven has proclaimed God's righteousness, and all nations have seen his glory.
- <sup>7</sup>All those who worship images, those who are proud of idols, are put to shame.
All gods bow down to the Lord!
- <sup>8</sup>Zion has heard and celebrates,
the towns<sup>1</sup> of Judah rejoice, because of your acts of justice, LORD,
- <sup>9</sup>because you, LORD, are the Most High over all the earth, because you are so superior to all other gods.
- <sup>10</sup>Those of you who love the LORD, hate evil!
God guards the lives of his faithful ones, delivering them from the power of the wicked.
- <sup>11</sup>Light is planted like seed for the righteous person;
joy too for those whose heart is right.
- <sup>12</sup>Rejoice in the LORD, righteous ones!
Give thanks to his holy name!

Psalm 98

A psalm.

- <sup>1</sup>Sing to the LORD a new song because he has done wonderful things!
His own strong hand and his own holy arm have won the victory!
- <sup>2</sup>The LORD has made his salvation widely known;
he has revealed his righteousness in the eyes of all the nations.

<sup>1</sup>Or daughters

verse 6, Heaven offers its praise as well. Heaven is joined by gods (97:7) and by God's people (97:8). The direct address of God in verses 8-9 isn't typical of the songs of praise. Verses 10 and 12 again extend the invitation to praise, and these verses surround the expression of confidence in verse 11.

97:1 The LORD rules! See Psalms 93:1; 96:10; 99:1. rejoice: Joy becomes thematic (see Ps 97:8, 11-12), and appropriately so in conjunction with the proclamation of God's rule. the islands: these symbolize the farthest reaches of the earth; in short, the invitation is worldwide (see Ps 96:10).

97:2-5 The language and images are typical of a theophany (God's appearance) or in this context, a picture of God's "coming" (Ps 96:13; see Ps 18:7-15).

97:2 righteousness and justice: See Psalms 89:14; 96:13. God's cosmic claim aims at the just and right ordering of the world (see Pss 97:5; 93:1; 96:10).

97:5 melt like wax: Indicates submission, not destruction (see Ps 46:6).

97:6 God's righteousness: See Psalms 97:2; 5:8; 96:13. For heaven's witness to God, see Psalm 19:1.

97:7 See Psalms 97:9; 95:3; 96:5; 115:4-8.

97:8 Zion: See Psalm 2:6. your acts of justice: See Psalms 97:2; 96:13.

97:10 hate evil!: The prophets associate hating evil with doing justice (see Amos 5:15; Mic 3:2). delivering . . . wicked: God's activity is in marked contrast to that of the gods, who favor the wicked (see Ps 82:2-4).

97:11 light: Signals God's presence (see Ps 4:6).

98:1-9 Psalm 98 continues the series of songs of praise that compose the enthronement collection (see Ps 93). Similarities to other enthronement psalms are obvious (especially Ps 96), but Psalm 98 has unique features as well.

98:1-3 This opening section recalls the exodus out of Egypt. Every verse includes the Hebrew root usually translated "salvation" (it appears as victory in 98:1; see Exod 15:1). Several other words in this section also appear in Exodus 15: "song" (Exod 15:1), "wonderful things" (Exod 15:11, "awesome deeds"), and "strong hand" (or "right hand"; Exod 15:6, 12). This section also resembles Isaiah 52:7-10, which celebrates the return from life in Babylon as a new exodus (see Ps 96:1-2).

98:1 new song: See Psalm 96:1.

98:2 righteousness: See Psalms 5:8; 96:13; 97:2, 6.

- <sup>3</sup> God has remembered his loyal love and faithfulness to the house of Israel; every corner of the earth has seen our God's salvation.
- <sup>4</sup> Shout triumphantly to the LORD, all the earth!
Be happy!
Rejoice out loud!
Sing your praises!
- <sup>5</sup> Sing your praises to the LORD with the lyre—with the lyre and the sound of music.
- <sup>6</sup> With trumpets and a horn blast, shout triumphantly before the LORD, the king!
- <sup>7</sup> Let the sea and everything in it roar;
the world and all its inhabitants too.
- <sup>8</sup> Let all the rivers clap their hands;
let the mountains rejoice out loud altogether <sup>9</sup>before the LORD because he is coming to establish justice on the earth!
He will establish justice in the world rightly;
he will establish justice among all people fairly.

98:3 Lk 1:54;
Lk 1:72
98:6 Ps 47:7
99:1 Ex 25:22;
Ps 80:1, Ps 93:1,
Ps 97:1
99:2 Ps 2:6,
Ps 48:1, Ps 97:9,
Ps 113:4; Is 12:6
99:3 Dt 28:58;
Josh 24:19;
Ps 111:9; Is 6:3;
Rev 15:4
99:4 Ps 98:9
99:5 Ex 15:2;
Ps 99:3,
Ps 118:28,
Ps 132:7; Is 25:1

Psalm 99

- <sup>1</sup> The LORD rules—the nations shake!
He sits enthroned on the winged heavenly creatures—the earth quakes!
- <sup>2</sup> The LORD is great in Zion;
he is exalted over all the nations.
- <sup>3</sup> Let them thank your great and awesome name.
He is holy!
- <sup>4</sup> Strong king<sup>j</sup> who loves justice, you are the one who established what is fair.
You worked justice and righteousness in Jacob.
- <sup>5</sup> Magnify the LORD, our God!
Bow low at his footstool!
He is holy!

<sup>j</sup>Correction: MT A king's strength

98:3 loyal love and faithfulness: See Psalms 5:7; 25:10. See also Psalm 36:5-6, which features these fundamental qualities of God, along with justice and righteousness, which also appear here (Ps 98:2, 9). Every corner... salvation: As in the other enthronement psalms (and the other songs of praise), God's life-giving work includes the whole world (see Pss 93:1; 95:4-5; 96:1, 3, 7-13; 97:1, 6, 9).

98:4 shout triumphantly: See Psalms 98:6; 47:1; 95:1-2. all the earth: See Psalms 66:1; 96:1.

98:5-6 lyre... trumpets... horn blast: See Psalms 33:2; 81:3. king: See Psalms 5:2; 95:3; 99:4.

98:7-8 See Psalm 96:11-12. The natural elements are a bit different in Psalms 96 and 98, but the effect is the same: The whole creation joins in praising God.

98:9 See Psalm 96:13.

99:1-9 Psalm 99 is the final song of praise in the enthronement collection (see Ps 93). Like Psalm 98, it recalls Exodus 15. It isn't coincidental that this concluding enthronement psalm clearly mentions Moses, who was featured at the beginning of Book IV (see Ps 90; see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89). While Psalm 99 has much in common with the other enthronement psalms, it conforms less to the typical structure of a song of praise (although see the invitations to praise in 99:5, 8), containing instead more direct address of God (99:3-4, 8) and more descriptions of God that serve as professions of faith (99:1-2, 6-7). The theme of holiness occurs in other enthronement psalms (see Pss 93:5; 96:9; 97:12; 98:1), but it is featured here by way of the refrain (99:3, 5, 9) that divides the psalm into three sections.

99:1 The LORD rules: See Psalms 93:1; 96:7; 97:1; Exodus 15:18. shake: Like quakes, later in the verse, this is an indication of God's presence (see Ps 97:3-5; Exodus 15:14). enthroned... creatures: See Psalm 80:1.

99:2 great: Often associated with God's rule (see Pss 47:2; 95:3; Exodus 15:16). Zion: See Psalm 2:6.

99:3 He is holy!: See Psalm 99:5, 9. Holiness in its basic sense suggests separation and even inapproachability (see Ps 93:5); but God's commitment to justice and righteousness (Ps 99:4), along with God's willingness to answer and forgive the people (Ps 99:6, 8), suggest that God's holiness finally takes the form of love (see Hos 11:9, where God is "the holy one in your midst").

99:4 king: See Psalms 5:2; 95:3; 98:6. fair: See Psalms 96:13; 98:9. justice and righteousness: See Psalms 5:8; 9:4; 96:13; 97:2; 98:9.

99:5 footstool: A poetic name for the sacred chest containing the covenant, which was viewed as God's earthly throne (see Pss 99:1; 80:1; 132:7, "the place God rests his feet").

99:6 Ex 24:6;
1Sa 7:9;
1Sa 12:18;
Jer 15:1
99:7 Ex 33:9;
Nm 12:5
99:8 Nm 14:20;
Nm 20:12;
Jer 46:28
99:9 Is 6:3
100:1 Ps 66:1,
Ps 98:4
100:3 Job 10:3,
Job 10:8; Ps 74:1,
Ps 95:6, Ps 95:7
100:4 Ps 66:13,
Ps 96:2, Ps 96:8,
Ps 116:17
101:1 Ps 71:22,
Ps 89:1

- <sup>6</sup> Moses and Aaron were among his priests, Samuel too among those who called on his name.
They cried out to the LORD, and he himself answered them—<sup>7</sup> he spoke to them from a pillar of cloud.
They kept the laws and the rules God gave to them.
<sup>8</sup> LORD our God, you answered them.
To them you were a God who forgives but also the one who avenged their wrong deeds.
<sup>9</sup> Magnify the LORD our God!
Bow low at his holy mountain because the LORD our God is holy!

Psalm 100

A psalm of thanks.

- <sup>1</sup> Shout triumphantly to the LORD, all the earth!
<sup>2</sup> Serve the LORD with celebration!
Come before him with shouts of joy!
<sup>3</sup> Know that the LORD is God—he made us; we belong to him.<sup>h</sup>
We are his people, the sheep of his own pasture.
<sup>4</sup> Enter his gates with thanks; enter his courtyards with praise!
Thank him! Bless his name!
<sup>5</sup> Because the LORD is good, his loyal love lasts forever; his faithfulness lasts generation after generation.

Psalm 101

Of David. A psalm.

- <sup>1</sup> Oh, let me sing about faithful love and justice!
I want to sing my praises to you, LORD!

<sup>h</sup>Qere; Kethib and not we ourselves

99:6 Moses and Aaron... Samuel: The first two of these names recall the exodus out of Egypt, Sinai, and the wilderness wanderings, as well as the beginning of Book IV (See Ps 90). Moses' victory song and the people's song of the sea conclude by proclaiming God's rule (Exod 15:18), and Samuel was a strong defender of God's sole reign as king (see 1 Sam 8:1-8).

99:7 pillar of cloud: One of the symbols of God's presence in the exodus and wilderness eras (see Exod 13:21-22; 14:9, 24; Num 12:15).

99:8 God who forgives: Moses and Samuel interceded for the sinful people (see Exod 32:7-14; Num 16:20-22; 1 Sam 7:11-15), and God forgave. avenged... deeds: The apparent tension between forgiveness and avenging is present in Exodus 34:6-7, where God reveals the divine self to Moses as essentially loving, faithful, merciful, and kind, "yet by no means clearing the guilty." As the prophets warned, there were consequences for disobedience (so the guilty weren't cleared). But God ultimately proved to be gracious, merciful, and forgiving.

99:9 holy mountain: See Psalm 2:6.

100:1-5 Psalm 100 is a song of praise consisting of seven invitations to praise (100:1-4) followed by reasons for praise (100:5). While it isn't usually considered to be part of the enthronement collection (see Ps 93), it provides a fitting response to the previous psalms that proclaim God's rule. The word thanks in the title can mean a thanksgiving sacrifice, but it can more generally describe an expression of gratitude (see Pss 100:4; 50:14, 23).

100:1 Shout triumphantly: an appropriate way to greet a king (see Ps 98:4, 6). all the earth: See Psalms 66:1; 96:1, 9; 98:6.

100:2 Serve: The appropriate response to a master or king.

The only other invitation in the book of Psalms to serve God is Psalm 2:11. This repetition links the introduction of the Psalter to the significant enthronement collection (see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89)

100:3 Know: Of the seven imperative invitations, this is the central one; and it isn't coincidental that it's focused on teaching. made us: This could refer to God's creation of human beings (see Ps 104:24), or to God's making of Israel (see Ps 95:6; Deut 32:6), or to both. We... him: Awareness of not being self-made and of belonging to God is the foundation for genuine thankfulness. We... pasture: See Psalms 23:1-4; 95:7.

100:4 Enter... thanks... Thank him!: The words "thanks" and "Thank" repeat the Hebrew root from the title. The mention of gates and courtyards suggests a setting in temple worship. Thankfulness is at the heart of worship. Bless: The essential meaning of "bless"—that is, to kneel in homage to a powerful master—is particularly appropriate here; and it reinforces the invitation to "serve" in Psalm 100:2 (see Ps 16:7).

100:5 a frequently stated reason for praising God, with some differences (see Pss 107:1; 117:2; 118:1, 29. good: See Ps 23:6. loyal love... faithfulness: See Psalms 5:7; 25:10; Exodus 34:6. These are fundamental qualities of God, suggesting that God is to be praised because of who God is.

101:1-8 Even though it doesn't mention the king, Psalm 101 is categorized as a royal psalm (see Ps 2; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2), largely because of its similarity to Psalm 18:25-30 and partly because the speaker seems to be an important person (see 101:7-8). Since Psalm 89 tells about rejecting the Davidic rule, one can imagine a surviving Davidic descendant promising to act more faithfully if the monarchy is restored.

- <sup>2</sup>I want to study the way of integrity—how long before it gets here?
I will walk with a heart of integrity in my own house.
- <sup>3</sup>I won't set my eyes on anything worthless.
I hate wrongdoing;
none of that will stick to me.
- <sup>4</sup>A corrupt heart will be far from me.
I won't be familiar with evil.
- <sup>5</sup>I will destroy anyone who secretly tells lies about a neighbor.
I can't stomach anyone who has proud eyes or an arrogant heart.
- <sup>6</sup>My eyes focus on those who are faithful in the land, to have them close to me.
The person who walks without blame will work for me.
- <sup>7</sup>But the person who acts deceitfully won't stay in my house.
The person who tells lies won't last for long before me.
- <sup>8</sup>Every morning I will destroy all those who are wicked in the land in order to eliminate all evildoers from the LORD's city.

101:2 Gn 17:1;
Gn 18:19;
Josh 24:15;
1Sa 18:14;
1Kj 9:4

101:5 Ps 15:3;
Ps 18:27;
Ps 50:20;
Prrv 21:4

101:6 Ps 119:1

101:7 Ps 52:2

101:8 Ps 75:10;
Jer 21:12

102:1 Ex 2:23;
Ps 142:2

102:3 Job 30:30;
Ps 31:10,
Ps 37:20;
Lam 1:13;
Jas 4:14

102:4 1Sa 1:7;
Ezr 10:6;
Job 33:20;
Ps 37:2, Ps 90:5

102:5 Job 19:20

102:6 Lv 11:18;
Job 30:29;
Is 34:11;
Zep 2:14

102:7 Ps 38:11,
Ps 77:4

102:8 Ps 31:11;
Is 65:15

102:9 Ps 42:3,
Ps 80:5

Psalm 102

A prayer of an oppressed person, when weak and pouring out grief to the LORD.

- <sup>1</sup>LORD, hear my prayer!
Let my cry reach you!
- <sup>2</sup>Don't hide your face from me in my time of trouble!
Listen to me! Answer me quickly as I cry out!
- <sup>3</sup>Because my days disappear like smoke,
my bones are burned up as if in an oven;
<sup>4</sup>my heart is smashed like dried-up grass.
I even forget to eat my food <sup>5</sup>because of my intense groans.
My bones are protruding from my skin.
- <sup>6</sup>I'm like some wild owl—like some screech owl in the desert.
- <sup>7</sup>I lie awake all night.
I'm all alone like a bird on a roof.
- <sup>8</sup>All day long my enemies make fun of me;
those who mock me curse using my name!
- <sup>9</sup>I've been eating ashes instead of bread.
I've been mixing tears into my drinks

101:1 faithful love and justice: An admirable summary of God's character and God's will (see Pss 5:7; 9:4; 36:5-6; 89:14; 98:3, 9).

101:2 way of integrity... heart of integrity: The Hebrew root underlying "integrity" means "fullness, completeness" (see Pss 15:2; 18:25). The desire is to know God's character and will completely (see Ps 101:1), and to internalize it so that it influences every behavior. my own house: If this is the king speaking (at least imaginatively), he promises to get his own house in order in a way that it usually was not, as the prophets proclaimed (see Isa 1:21-26; Jer 22:11-19; Ezek 34:1-16; Mic 3:1-4, 9-12). How long... here?: A more literal reading would be, "How long before you [God] get here?" This might fit with the message of Psalm 89 that the Davidic rule has been rejected (see especially the "How long" of Ps 89:46).

101:3-8 The promise of faithful behavior continues, with a particular emphasis on telling and showing the truth (101:6). The monarchy was never restored, but Psalm 101 shows faithful behavior for the people of God in all times and places. In this regard, 101:3-8 recalls Psalm 15:2-5, which also shows what it means to live as God intends (see Ps 15:2, as well as the importance of truth in Ps 15:2-4). See also Proverbs 6:16-19 for a similar list of things God hates (see "I hate" in 101:3).

102:1-28 The title of Psalm 102 describes well the content of verses 1-11, 23-28. These verses contain the typical elements of a prayer for help: petition (102:1-2, 24, 28), complaint (102:3-11, 23), and assurance (102:25-27). But the prayer for help seems to be interrupted by verses 12-22, which celebrate God's rule (102:12, 15, 22), as well as the restoration of Zion (102:13-17) and apparently the return of the exiles (102:18-21). The effect is to give a community dimension to the prayer, and this fits well the purpose of Book IV to respond to the crisis described in Psalm 89:38-51 (see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89). Psalm 102 is one of the church's seven Penitential Psalms (see Ps 6). It contains no confession of sin, but it describes well the humble dependence on God that is the foundation for penitence, and sinfulness may be suggested in verse 10.

102:1-2 Typical petitions open the prayer (see Pss 4:11; 69:17).

102:3 bones: See Psalms 102:5; 22:14.

102:8 make fun: See Psalms 31:11; 42:10.

102:9 tears: See Psalms 6:6; 80:5.

102:10 Ps 38:3,
Ps 90:7
102:11 Job 14:2;
Ps 102:4,
Ps 109:23,
Ps 144:4;
Ecc 6:12

102:12 Ex 3:15;
Ps 9:7, Ps 90:1,
Ps 102:24,
Ps 135:13
102:13 Ps 44:26;
Is 60:10; Zec 1:12
102:14 Neh 4:2;
Ps 137:5; Is 52:2;
Jer 51:50

102:15 |K|
8:43; Ps 67:7,
Ps 138:4;
Is 59:19, Is 60:3

102:18 Dt
31:19; Ps 22:30,
Ps 22:31;
Ro 15:4;
1Co 10:11
102:19 Dt
26:15; Ps 11:4,
Ps 14:2, Ps 33:13

102:20 Ps 79:11,
Ps 146:7

102:23 Ps 89:45

102:24
Job 36:26;
Ps 90:2;
Hab 1:12

102:25 Gn 1:1;
Ps 8:3; Heb 1:10

102:26 Is 34:4,
Is 51:6; Mt 24:35;
2Pt 3:10;
Rev 20:11

102:27
Mal 3:6;
Heb 13:8;
Jas 1:17

102:28 Ps 69:36,
Ps 112:2

103:1 Ps 103:22,
Ps 104:1,
Ps 104:35

- <sup>10</sup>because of your anger and wrath, because you picked me up and threw me away.
- <sup>11</sup>My days are like a shadow soon gone.
I'm dried up like dead grass.
- <sup>12</sup>But you, LORD, rule forever!
Your fame lasts from one generation to the next!
- <sup>13</sup>You will stand up—you'll have compassion on Zion because it is time to have mercy on her—the time set for that has now come!
- <sup>14</sup>Your servants cherish Zion's stones;
they show mercy even to her dirt.
- <sup>15</sup>The nations will honor the LORD's name;
all the earth's rulers will honor your glory
- <sup>16</sup>because the LORD will rebuild Zion;
he will be seen there in his glory.
- <sup>17</sup>God will turn to the prayer of the impoverished;
he won't despise their prayers.
- <sup>18</sup>Let this be written down for the next generation so that people not yet created will praise the LORD:
- <sup>19</sup>The LORD looked down from his holy summit, surveyed the earth from heaven, <sup>20</sup>to hear the prisoners' groans, to set free those condemned to death, <sup>21</sup>that the LORD's name may be declared in Zion and his praise declared in Jerusalem, <sup>22</sup>when all people are gathered together—all kingdoms—to serve the LORD.
- <sup>23</sup>God broke my strength in midstride, cutting my days short.
- <sup>24</sup>I said, "My God, don't take me away in the prime of life—your years go on from one generation to the next!"
- <sup>25</sup>You laid the earth's foundations long ago;
the skies are your handiwork.
- <sup>26</sup>These things will pass away, but you will last.
All of these things will wear out like clothing;
you change them like clothes, and they pass on.
- <sup>27</sup>But you are the one! Your years never end!
- <sup>28</sup>Let your servants' children live safe; let your servants' descendants live secure in your presence."

Psalm 103

Of David.

- <sup>1</sup>Let my whole being<sup>1</sup> bless the LORD!
Let everything inside me bless his holy name!

<sup>1</sup>Or soul; also in 103:2, 22

102:10 anger and wrath: See Psalms 6:1; 38:1; 88:7, 16; 90:7-11. Psalms 6 and 38 are also Penitential Psalms.

102:11 See Psalm 90:5-6, 11.

102:12 rule forever!: This positive statement follows well upon the enthronement collection (Pss 93; 95-99).

102:13 compassion: See Psalm 25:6. Zion: See Psalm 2:6. This verse seems to assume Jerusalem's destruction in 587 BCE, as does Psalm 102:16.

102:14 cherish Zion's stones: See Psalm 48:12-13.

102:19 his holy summit: Mount Zion, the temple mount in Jerusalem (see Pss 102:21; 2:6).

102:20 prisoners'... death: The references seem to be to those exiled following the destruction of Jerusalem. The verse seems to suggest that the exiles can return to Jerusalem.

102:22 See Psalm 96:10, which also suggests a gathering of all people in Jerusalem to honor God.

102:23-28 The concluding section pairs complaint and petition (102:23-24, 28) with assurance (102:25-27) in a way that is typical of the prayers for help (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6). Verses 26-28 recall Psalm 90, the first book of Book IV, which also contrasts human transience with God's eternity. Psalm 102:28, for instance, is similar to Psalm 90:16-17.

103:1-22 Psalm 103 is a song of praise that begins and

- <sup>2</sup>Let my whole being bless the LORD and never forget all his good deeds:
- <sup>3</sup>how God forgives all your sins,
heals all your sickness,
- <sup>4</sup>saves your life from the pit, crowns you with faithful love and compassion,
- <sup>5</sup>and satisfies you with plenty of good things so that your youth is made fresh like an eagle's.
- <sup>6</sup>The LORD works righteousness; does justice for all who are oppressed.
- <sup>7</sup>God made his ways known to Moses;
made his deeds known to the Israelites.
- <sup>8</sup>The LORD is compassionate and merciful,
very patient, and full of faithful love.
- <sup>9</sup>God won't always play the judge;
he won't be angry forever.
- <sup>10</sup>He doesn't deal with us according to our sin or repay us according to our wrongdoing,
- <sup>11</sup>because as high as heaven is above the earth, that's how large God's faithful love is for those who honor him.
- <sup>12</sup>As far as east is from west—that's how far God has removed our sin from us.
- <sup>13</sup>Like a parent feels compassion for their children—that's how the LORD feels compassion for those who honor him.
- <sup>14</sup>Because God knows how we're made,
God remembers we're just dust.
- <sup>15</sup>The days of a human life are like grass:
they bloom like a wildflower;
- <sup>16</sup>but when the wind blows through it, it's gone;
even the ground where it stood doesn't remember it.
- <sup>17</sup>But the LORD's faithful love is from forever ago to forever from now for those who honor him.
And God's righteousness reaches to the grandchildren
- <sup>18</sup>of those who keep his covenant and remember to keep his commands.

103:2 Dt 6:12,
Dt 8:11;
Ps 106:7

103:3 Ex 15:26,
Ex 34:7;
Ps 130:4; 1Jn 1:9

103:4 Ps 6:5,
Ps 21:3; Ps 56:13;
Is 43:1

103:5 Ps 107:9;
Is 40:31

103:6 Ps 146:7

103:7 Ex 33:13;
Ps 147:19

103:8 Ex 34:6;
Ps 86:15,
Ps 145:8; II 2:13;
Jon 4:2

103:10 Est 9:13

103:11 Ps 36:5,
Ps 103:17;
Lk 1:50

103:12
2Sa 12:13;
Is 43:25;
Jer 31:34

103:13 Mal 3:17

103:14 Gn 2:7,
Gn 3:19;
Job 10:9;
Ps 78:39;
Ecc 12:7

103:15
Job 14:2; Ps 90:5;
Is 40:6; Jas 1:10;
1Pt 1:24

103:16 Is 40:7

103:18 Ex 19:5;
Dt 7:9; Ps 25:10

ends with invitations to praise (103:1-2, 20-22) that surround reasons for praise in verses 3-19. Verses 3-6 focus on God's deeds, while verses 7-19 focus on God's love and compassion. The identical opening and concluding invitations in Psalms 103 and 104 suggest that they belong together.

103:1 It's unusual but not entirely unique that the invitation to praise is extended to the psalmist's own self (see Ps 146:1). Bless: See Psalms 103:2, 20-22; 16:7; 100:4.

103:2 all: a frequent word in the psalm (see Ps 103:3, 6, 19, 21, 22). The effect of the repetition is to communicate the comprehensiveness of God's claim and God's work.

103:3 heals: See Psalm 6:2.

103:4 the pit: indicates death (see Ps 16:10). God wills and works for life. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. This becomes a keyword in the psalm (see Ps 103:8, 11, 17). compassion: See Psalm 25:6. This, too, becomes a keyword in the psalm (see Ps 103:8, 13).

103:5 satisfies . . . good things: See Psalm 85:12. youth . . . eagle's: See Isaiah 40:31.

103:6 Although Psalm 103:6 may start a new section, it also summarizes God's deeds that are mentioned in Psalm 103:3-5—that is, all of God's life-giving work can be summed up by the words righteousness and justice (see Pss 5:8; 9:4; 96:13).

103:7 Moses: See Psalm 90. The mention of Moses points to the book of Exodus in the following verses. his deeds: Probably an allusion to the exodus itself, along with other life-saving actions God did for the people as they journeyed from Egypt to the land of Canaan (see map 4).

103:8 See Exodus 34:6, where God reveals the divine self to Moses (see Pss 103:4; 86:15).

103:9-14 This entire section may be poetic reflection on the character of God revealed in Exodus 34:6. The words faithful love occur again in verse 11, and compassion occurs twice in verse 13.

103:11 for those who honor him: The same phrase occurs again in Psalm 103:13, 17. The intent isn't to restrict God's love and compassion but rather to suggest that people must be open to accept and receive grace and forgiveness.

103:14 dust: See Psalm 90:3; Genesis 3:19 ("soil").

103:15 like grass: See Psalm 90:5.

103:18 covenant: See Psalm 25:10. This is another reference to the book of Exodus (see Exod 24:1-8).

103:20 Ps 78:25,
Ps 148:2;
Mt 6:10; Lk 2:13;
Heb 1:14

103:21
1Ki 22:19;
Neh 9:6;
Ps 104:4; Lk 2:13
103:22 Ps 103:1,
Ps 104:1,
Ps 145:10

104:1 Ps 93:1,
Ps 103:1,
Ps 103:22

104:2 Job 9:8;
Is 40:22; Is 44:24;
1Ti 6:16

104:3 Ps 18:10,
Ps 104:13;
Is 19:1; Am 9:6;
Na 1:3

104:4 2Ki 2:11,
2Ki 6:17;
Ps 148:6;
Heb 1:7,
Heb 1:14

104:5 Job 26:7,
Job 38:4; Ps 24:2

104:6 Gn 1:2,
Gn 7:19

104:9 Job 26:10,
Job 38:10,
Job 38:11;
Ps 33:7; Jer 5:22

19The LORD has established his throne in heaven, and his kingdom rules over all.

20You divine messengers, bless the LORD!
You who are mighty in power and keep his word, who obey everything he says, bless him!

21All you heavenly forces, bless the LORD!
All you who serve him and do his will, bless him!

22All God's creatures, bless the LORD!
Everywhere, throughout his kingdom, let my whole being bless the LORD!

Psalm 104

1 Let my whole being<sup>m</sup> bless the LORD!

LORD my God, how fantastic you are!
You are clothed in glory and grandeur!

2 You wear light like a robe;
you open the skies like a curtain.

3 You build your lofty house on the waters;
you make the clouds your chariot, going around on the wings of the wind.

4 You make the winds your messengers;
you make fire and flame your ministers.

5 You established the earth on its foundations so that it will never ever fall.

6 You covered it with the watery deep like a piece of clothing;
the waters were higher than the mountains!

7 But at your rebuke they ran away;
they fled in fear at the sound of your thunder.

8 They flowed over the mountains, streaming down the valleys to the place you established for them.

9 You set a boundary they cannot cross so they'll never again cover the earth.

10 You put gushing springs into dry riverbeds.
They flow between the mountains,

11 providing water for every wild animal—the wild donkeys quench their thirst.

12 Overhead, the birds in the sky make their home, chirping loudly in the trees.

13 From your lofty house, you water the mountains.
The earth is filled full by the fruit of what you've done.

<sup>m</sup>Or soul; also in 104:35

103:19 Like Psalm 102:12 and the enthronement collection (Pss 93; 95–99) at the heart of Book IV, this verse proclaims God's universal rule, preparing for the concluding invitations in Psalm 103:20–22 (see Ps 93:2).

103:20 divine messengers: See Psalms 91:11; 148:2. You who are mighty in power: Like the messengers, these seem to be members of God's heavenly court (see Ps 29:1–2).

103:21 heavenly forces: See Psalm 24:10.

103:22 All God's creatures . . . my whole being: By blessing God (see also Ps 103:1–2), the psalmist is placed in harmony with the whole universe as part of a congregation (see Pss 148:1–12; 150:6).

104:1–35 Identical opening and closing verses link Psalms 104 and 103, which are songs of praise that have a creation-wide focus. Like Psalm 8, portions of Psalm 104 address praise directly to God; and both Psalms are sometimes identified as creation hymns (see sidebar, “God the Creator” at Ps 8). The psalmist's attention is always upon God, and different realms of creation come into view in relation to God: the heavens (104:1–4), the earth (104:5–13), people and creatures (104:14–23), and all God's works (104:24–30). Verses 31–35 provide a joyful conclusion.

104:1 See Psalm 103:1. glory and grandeur: qualities of royalty, which affirm God's rule over all (see Ps 8:5).

104:2 light: See Psalm 4:6; Genesis 1:3–4.

104:3 You build . . . waters: God's house isn't just the temple (see Ps 5:7) but also the whole universe. Water symbolizes chaos (see Ps 18:16), which is tamed for God's purposes (see Ps 93:3). clouds . . . wind: The Canaanite god Baal was known as the cloud-rider, who caused the rain to fall; but God now assumes this position (see Pss 29, 65, 82).

104:5–13 The focus shifts to the earth. As in Psalm 104:3, waters have been ordered to serve God's life-giving purposes (104:6–10), including sustaining animals (104:11)

- 14 You make grass grow for cattle; you make plants for human farming in order to get food from the ground, 15 and wine, which cheers people's hearts, along with oil, which makes the face shine,
and bread, which sustains the human heart.
- 16 The LORD's trees are well watered—the cedars of Lebanon, which God planted, 17 where the birds make their nests, where the stork has a home in the cypresses.
- 18 The high mountains belong to the mountain goats;
the ridges are the refuge of badgers.
- 19 God made the moon for the seasons, and the sun too, which knows when to set.
- 20 You bring on the darkness and it is night, when every forest animal prowls.
- 21 The young lions roar for their prey, seeking their food from God.
- 22 When the sun rises, they gather together and lie down in their dens.
- 23 Then people go off to their work, to do their work until evening.
- 24 LORD, you have done so many things!
You made them all so wisely!
The earth is full of your creations!
- 25 And then there's the sea, wide and deep, with its countless creatures—living things both small and large.
- 26 There go the ships on it, and Leviathan, which you made, plays in it!
- 27 All your creations wait for you to give them their food on time.
- 28 When you give it to them, they gather it up;
when you open your hand, they are filled completely full!
- 29 But when you hide your face, they are terrified;
when you take away their breath,
they die and return to dust.
- 30 When you let loose your breath, they are created, and you make the surface of the ground brand-new again.
- 31 Let the LORD's glory last forever!
Let the LORD rejoice in all he has made!

and supporting agriculture (104:13). The world is secure (104:5; see Pss 93:1; 96:10; and note the contrast to Ps 82:5).

104:14-23 While the earth and its creatures remain in view, humans are mentioned for the first time in 104:14 (see also 104:23). The focus is on the creatures and features of the world. God provides food, drink, and shelter for people (104:14-15, 23), animals (104:14, 17-18, 22), and plants (104:16)

104:16 The LORD's trees: It's noteworthy that God claims to own trees, not just people.

104:19 God made the moon... sun: Often considered gods by ancient people, the sun and moon are products of God's work. The Hebrew root underlying "made" is a keyword in the psalm (see Ps 104:4; "done" in Ps 104:13; "done" and "made" in Ps 104:24, 31).

104:24-30 Psalm 104:24 summarizes all that came before, and introduces a section that has "All your creations" (104:27) in view.

104:24 so wisely: See Proverbs 3:19.

104:26 Leviathan... in it!: See Psalm 74:14. The chaos monster has become harmless. The line could also be translated, "Leviathan, which you made to play with him," in which case the chaos monster has become God's plaything.

104:30 breath: The underlying Hebrew word can also be translated "wind, spirit"; and according to Genesis 1:2 was the animating force for creation (see also Job 34:14-15). brand-new again: suggests that God's creating is an ongoing activity.

104:31 rejoice: God's joy in creation will be matched by the psalmist's joy in God (Ps 104:34).

104:14 Gn 1:29;
Gn 1:30, Gn 9:3;
Ps 136:25,
Ps 147:8

104:15 Gn 18:5;
Jgs 9:13;
Ps 23:5, Ps 92:10;
Prv 31:6

104:16 Ps 29:5

104:18 Lv 11:5;
1Sa 24:2;
Job 39:1;
Prv 30:26

104:19 Gn 1:14

104:20 Ps 50:10,
Ps 74:16; Is 45:7,
Is 56:9

104:21
Job 38:39;
Ps 147:9; Jl 1:20

104:23 Gn 3:19

104:24 Gn 1:31;
Ps 40:5, Ps 136:5;
Prv 3:19;
Jer 10:12

104:25 Ps 69:34

104:26 Job 3:8,
Job 41:1;
Ps 74:14,
Ps 107:23;
Is 27:1

104:27
Job 36:31;
Ps 136:25,
Ps 145:15,
Ps 145:16,
Ps 147:9

104:29 Gn 3:19;
Job 34:14;
Ps 30:7, Ps 90:3,
Ps 146:4

104:30 Gn 1:2,
Gn 2:7;
Job 26:13,
Job 33:4,
Eze 37:9

104:31 Gn 1:31;
Ro 11:36

104:32

Ex 19:18;

Ps 144:5

104:34 Ps 9:2

104:35 Ps 104:1

105:1

1Ch 16:8;

1Ch 16:34;

Is 12:4

105:3 Ps 33:21

105:4 Ps 24:6;

Ps 27:8; Am 5:4;

Zep 2:3

Hallelu-yah ("Praise the LORD!") Collections The Hebrew name for the book of Psalms is "Praises," and the Hebrew root involved is used in the invitation hallelu-yah, "Praise the LORD!" The first instance of hallelu-yah doesn't occur until Psalm 104:35. It occurs several times thereafter, always at the beginning or end (or both) of a psalm. It seems to mark small collections or at least to indicate relationship among certain psalms. For instance, hallelu-yah occurs again in Psalms 105:45 and 106:48, so that Psalms 104–106 conclude the same way; and this little collection concludes Book IV.

Psalms 111–113 all begin with hallelu-yah, and Psalms 115–117 all end with it. Although not each of its psalms contains hallelu-yah, Psalms 113–118 became known as the Egyptian Hallel; and it is still used in the Jewish celebration of Passover. The Psalter is known as "Praises," so it's appropriate that the longest hallelu-yah collection concludes the book. Each of Psalms 146–150 begins and ends with hallelu-yah. Immediately after the first hallelu-yah the psalmist invites the self or whole being to praise God (Ps 146:1), and immediately before the final hallelu-yah the psalmist invites "every living thing" to praise God (Ps 150:6). The effect is to imagine and create a worldwide community of praise, which involves submitting to God. This submitting includes trusting in and relying upon God alone (Pss 146:3-5; 147:11) and participating in establishing the justice that God intends (Ps 149:6-9).

<sup>32</sup>He has only to look at the earth, and it shakes.

God just touches the mountains, and they erupt in smoke.

<sup>33</sup>I will sing to the LORD as long as I live;

I will sing praises to my God while I'm still alive.

<sup>34</sup>Let my praise be pleasing to him;

I'm rejoicing in the LORD!

<sup>35</sup>Let sinners be wiped clean from the earth;

let the wicked be no more.

But let my whole being bless the LORD!

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 105

<sup>1</sup>Give thanks to the LORD;

call upon his name;

make his deeds known to all people!

<sup>2</sup>Sing to God;

sing praises to the Lord;

dwelt on all his wondrous works!

<sup>3</sup>Give praise to God's holy name!

Let the hearts rejoice of all those seeking the LORD!

<sup>4</sup>Pursue the LORD and his strength; seek his face always!

<sup>5</sup>Remember the wondrous works he has done, all his marvelous works, and the justice he declared—

<sup>6</sup>you who are the offspring of Abraham, his servant, and the children of Jacob, his chosen ones.

104:32 This is the language of theophany (God's appearance). It may suggest that God has the power to destroy as well as to create. The psalmist certainly hopes for the latter (Ps 104:31). The hope is well-founded, since theophanies regularly support God's power to give life and set things right (see Pss 18:7-15; 97:1-5).

104:35 Let sinners . . . be no more: This concluding petition is motivated not by any desire for payback but rather by the deep desire that the fullness of God's creation be preserved, for God's sake (Ps 104:31) as well as for the sake of all God's "creations" (Ps 104:24, 27).

105:1-45 Psalm 105 is usually categorized as a historical psalm (see Ps 78); but because it begins like a song of praise (105:1-6), it's sometimes identified as a didactic hymn. In this case, the historical recital (105:7-45) is understood as providing the reasons for praise. Psalm 106 is also a historical psalm, and it begins with the same invitation as Psalm 105. The two psalms belong together. Psalm 105 recites God's wondrous works (105:2, 4), while Psalm 106 recalls the people's repeated rebellion, even after which "God remembered his covenant" (Ps 106:45; see Ps 105:8, 10).

105:2 wondrous works: See Psalms 105:4-5; 9:1.

105:4 seek his face: See Psalms 11:7; 24:6.

105:5 justice: See Psalm 9:4. The word serves as admirable summary of the intent of God's work (see Ps 96:13), and God at least intends for it to be clear "everywhere throughout the whole world" (Ps 105:7).

- <sup>7</sup>The LORD—he is our God.
His justice is everywhere throughout the whole world.
- <sup>8</sup>God remembers his covenant forever,
the word he commanded to a thousand generations, <sup>9</sup>which he made with Abraham, the solemn pledge he swore to Isaac.
- <sup>10</sup>God set it up as binding law for Jacob, as an eternal covenant for Israel, <sup>11</sup>promising, “I hereby give you the land of Canaan as your allotted inheritance.”
- <sup>12</sup>When they were few in number—insignificant, just immigrants—<sup>13</sup>wandering from nation to nation, from one kingdom to the next, <sup>14</sup>God didn't let anyone oppress them.
God punished kings for their sake:
- <sup>15</sup>“Don't touch my anointed ones;
don't harm my prophets!”
- <sup>16</sup>When God called for a famine in the land, destroying every source of food, <sup>17</sup>he sent a man ahead of them, who was sold as a slave: it was Joseph.
- <sup>18</sup>Joseph's feet hurt in his shackles;
his neck was in an iron collar, <sup>19</sup>until what he predicted actually happened, until what the LORD had said proved him true.<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>20</sup>The king sent for Joseph and set him free;
the ruler of many people released him.
- <sup>21</sup>The king made Joseph master of his house and ruler over everything he owned, <sup>22</sup>to make sure his princes acted according to his will,
and to teach wisdom to his advisors.
- <sup>23</sup>That's how Israel came to Egypt, how Jacob became an immigrant in the land of Ham.
- <sup>24</sup>God made his people very fruitful, more powerful than their enemies, <sup>25</sup>whose hearts God changed so they hated his people and dealt shrewdly with his servants.
- <sup>26</sup>God sent Moses his servant and the one he chose, Aaron.
- <sup>27</sup>They put God's signs on Egypt,<sup>o</sup> his marvelous works on the land of Ham.
- <sup>28</sup>God sent darkness, and it became dark, but the Egyptians rejected his word.
- <sup>29</sup>God turned their waters into blood and killed their fish.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>o</sup>Correction; MT they put on them the words of God's signs 105:8-9 covenant... with Abraham: See Psalms 105:10; 25:10; 106:45. For the covenant with Abraham, see Genesis 12:1-3; 15:1-21; 17:1-27.

105:10-11 eternal covenant: This may refer to the covenant at Sinai (see Exod 24:1-8). Promising... inheritance: The covenant with Abraham included the promise of land (see Gen 15:18-19), and Sinai was on the way to the land.

105:12-23 This section recalls the stories of the patriarchs and matriarchs who lived as immigrants (105:12; see Gen 19:9; 26:3; 35:27), including Joseph and eventually his father (Jacob/Israel) and brothers in Egypt (105:16-23).

105:15 anointed ones: usually a term reserved for kings (see Ps 2:2). Its use here may suggest that the whole people became earthly agents of God's will after the monarchy disappeared (see Pss 89, 144, 149; see sidebar, “God's Anointed One” at Ps 2).

105:24-38 The historical recital moves from Genesis to

105:8 Dt 7:9;
Ps 105:42,
Ps 106:45;
Ps 111:5; Lk 1:72
105:11
Gn 13:15,
Gn 15:18;
Ps 78:55
105:15 Gn 20:7,
Gn 26:11
105:16 Gn
41:54; Lv 26:26;
2Ki 8:1; Is 3:1;
Eze 4:16
105:18 Gn
39:20, Gn 40:15
105:25 Ex 1:8,
Ex 1:10, Ex 4:21;
Ac 7:19

105:32 Ex 9:18,
Ex 9:23;
Ps 78:47
105:34
Ex 10:12;
1Ki 8:37;
Ps 78:46; Jl 1:4, Jl 2:25
105:37
Ex 12:35,
Ex 12:36
105:40 Ex 16:13;
Nm 11:31;
Ps 78:18,
Ps 78:24; In 6:31
105:44 Dt 6:10;
Ps 78:55

106:1
1Ch 16:34;
Ps 100:5,
Ps 107:1,
Ps 118:1,
Ps 136:1

106:2 Ps 71:16,
Ps 145:4,
Ps 145:12,
Ps 150:2

106:3 Ps 15:2;
Is 56:1

- <sup>30</sup> God made their land swarm with frogs<sup>P</sup>— even in the bedrooms of their king!
- <sup>31</sup> God spoke, and the insects came—gnats throughout their whole country!
- <sup>32</sup> God turned their rain into hail along with lightning flashes throughout their land.
- <sup>33</sup> God destroyed their vines and their fig trees;
shattered the trees of their countryside.
- <sup>34</sup> God spoke, and the locusts came—countless grasshoppers came!
- <sup>35</sup> They devoured all the plants in their land;
they devoured the fruit of their soil.
- <sup>36</sup> God struck down all the oldest sons throughout their land; struck down their very pride and joy.
- <sup>37</sup> Then God brought Israel out, filled with silver and gold;
not one of its tribes stumbled.
- <sup>38</sup> Egypt celebrated when they left,
because the dread of Israel had come upon them.
- <sup>39</sup> God spread out clouds as a covering;
gave lightning to provide light at night.
- <sup>40</sup> The people asked, and God brought quail;
God filled them full with food from heaven.
- <sup>41</sup> God opened the rock and out gushed water—flowing like a river through the desert!
- <sup>42</sup> Because God remembered his holy promise to Abraham his servant, <sup>43</sup> God brought his people out with rejoicing, his chosen ones with songs of joy.
- <sup>44</sup> God gave them the lands of other nations;
they inherited the wealth of many peoples—<sup>45</sup> all so that they would keep his laws and observe his instructions.

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 106

<sup>1</sup> Praise the LORD!

Give thanks to the LORD because he is good,
because his faithful love endures forever.

<sup>2</sup> Who could possibly repeat all of the LORD's mighty acts or publicly recount all his praise?

<sup>3</sup> The people who uphold justice, who always do what is right, are truly happy!

<sup>P</sup>Correction; DSS (11QP<sup>s</sup>) their land swarmed with frogs

Exodus, recalling the oppression of the people, the call of Moses and Aaron, the plagues against Egypt, and the exodus itself (see Exod 1-15).

105:39-45 The recital moves quickly, covering God's guidance of the people in the wilderness (105:39; see Exod 13:21-22; 14:24; Num 9:15-16; 14:4); God's provision of food and water (105:40-41; see Exod 16:13; 17:1-7; Num 11:31-32; 20:2-13); and the whole journey from the exodus out of Egypt (105:43) into the promised land (105:44; see Ps 105:11; Josh 1-24). As the people were preparing to enter the land, they promised that they would obey God (see Josh 24:16-18, 21, 24); but as Psalm 106 points out, they didn't.

106:1-48 A companion to Psalm 105, Psalm 106 is also usually identified as a historical psalm (see Ps 78), although it begins like a song of praise (106:1) and contains elements of instruction (106:3) and prayer (106:4-5). As Psalm 106:6 suggests in introducing the historical recital (106:7-39), the emphasis differs from that of Psalm 105, which focuses on God's "wondrous works" (Ps 105:2, 5). The focus in Psalm 106 is on Israel's sin, the divine response to which is described in verses 40-46 before the concluding prayer (106:47) and doxology that concludes Book IV (106:48).

106:1 See Psalms 107:1; 118:1. good: See Psalm 23:6. faithful love: See Psalms 106:7, 45; 5:7.

106:3 truly happy: See Psalm 1:1-2. God's "instruction" can be summarized as justice and righteousness (see Pss 5:8; 9:4; 96:13; Isa 56:1-2).

- <sup>4</sup>Remember me, LORD, with the favor you show your people.
Visit me with your saving help <sup>5</sup>so I can experience the good things your chosen ones experience, so I can rejoice in the joy of your nation,
so I can praise along with your possession.
- <sup>6</sup>We have sinned—right along with our ancestors.
We've done what is wrong.
We've acted wickedly.
- <sup>7</sup>Our ancestors in Egypt didn't understand your wondrous works.
They didn't remember how much faithful love you have.
So they rebelled by the sea—at the Reed Sea.<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>8</sup>But God saved them for the sake of his good name, to make known his mighty power.
- <sup>9</sup>God scolded the Reed Sea, and it dried right up;
he led them through the deeps like they were a dry desert.
- <sup>10</sup>God saved them from hostile powers;
he redeemed them from the power of the enemy.
- <sup>11</sup>But the waters covered over their foes—not one of them survived!
- <sup>12</sup>So our ancestors trusted God's words;
they sang God's praise.
- <sup>13</sup>But how quickly they forgot what he had done!
They wouldn't wait for his advice.
- <sup>14</sup>They were overcome with craving in the desert;
they tested God in the wastelands.
- <sup>15</sup>God gave them what they asked for;
he sent food<sup>r</sup> to satisfy their appetites.
- <sup>16</sup>But then they were jealous of Moses in the camp, jealous too of Aaron, the LORD's holy one.
- <sup>17</sup>So the earth opened up, swallowing Dathan, and covering over Abiram's crowd.
- <sup>18</sup>Fire blazed throughout that whole group;
flames burned up the wicked.
- <sup>19</sup>They made a calf at Horeb, bowing down to a metal idol.
- <sup>20</sup>They traded their glorious God<sup>a</sup> for an image of a bull that eats grass.
- <sup>21</sup>They forgot the God who saved them—
the one who had done great things in Egypt, <sup>22</sup>wondrous works in the land of Ham, awesome deeds at the Reed Sea.
- <sup>23</sup>So God determined that he would destroy them—except for the fact that Moses, his chosen one, stood in the way, right in front of him,
and turned God's destructive anger away.
- <sup>24</sup>But then they rejected the land that was so desirable.
They didn't trust God's promise.

<sup>a</sup>Or Red Sea; also in 106:9, 22 <sup>r</sup>LXX <sup>a</sup>Or their Glory

106:4 Remember: See Psalms 106:45; 105:42.

106:7 wondrous works: See Psalm 105:2, 5. they rebelled: See Exodus 14:10-12.

106:8-12 See Exodus 14:21-31; 15:1-21.

106:13-14 See Exodus 15:22-25; 17:1-7; Numbers 11:4-34.

106:15 See Exodus 16.

106:16-18 See Numbers 16:1-35.

106:19-23 See Exodus 32:1-14.

106:9 Ex 14:21;
Ps 18:15;
Ps 78:13; Is 50:2;
Na 1:4

106:12 Ex 14:31,
Ex 15:1

106:19 Ex 32:4;
Dt 9:8; Ac 7:41

106:20 Jer 2:11;
Ro 1:23

106:21 Dt 10:21,
Dt 32:16;
Ps 78:11,
Ps 106:7,
Ps 106:13

106:22 Ps 78:51,
Ps 105:23,
Ps 105:27

106:23 Ex 32:10,
Ex 32:11;
Dt 9:14, Dt 9:25

106:24 Dt 8:7;
Jer 3:19

106:30 Nm 25:7;

Nm 25:8;
Nm 25:11

106:31 Gn 15:6;

Nm 25:11

106:32

Nm 20:2;

Nm 20:12;

Ps 81:7

106:33

Nm 20:10;

Ps 107:11

106:37 Lv 17:7;

Dt 32:17;

2Ki 16:3;

Eze 16:20;

1Co 10:20

106:39

Nm 15:39;

Jgs 2:17;

Eze 20:18;

Eze 20:30;

Eze 20:31

106:40 Dt 9:29;

Dt 32:19;

Jgs 2:14;

Ps 78:59

106:47

1Ch 16:35;

1Ch 16:36;

Ps 107:3

- 25 They muttered in their tents and wouldn't listen to the LORD's voice.
- 26 So God raised his hand against them, making them fall in the desert, 27 scattering their offspring among the nations, casting them across many lands.
- 28 They joined themselves to Baal-peor and ate sacrifices offered to the dead.
- 29 They made God angry by what they did, so a plague broke out against them.
- 30 Then Phinehas stood up and prayed, and the plague was contained.
- 31 That's why Phinehas is considered righteous, generation after generation, forever.
- 32 But they angered God at Meribah's waters, and things went badly for Moses because of them, 33 because they made him bitter so that he spoke rashly with his lips.
- 34 They didn't destroy the nations as the LORD had ordered them to do.
35 Instead, they got mixed up with the nations, learning what they did 36 and serving those false gods, which became a trap for them.
- 37 They sacrificed their own sons and daughters to demons!
38 They shed innocent blood, the blood of their own sons and daughters—the ones they sacrificed to Canaan's false gods—so the land was defiled by the bloodshed.
- 39 They made themselves unclean by what they did;
they prostituted themselves by their actions.
- 40 So the LORD's anger burned against his people;
he despised his own possession.
- 41 God handed them over to the nations;
people who hated them ruled over them.
- 42 Their enemies oppressed them, and they were humbled under their power.
- 43 God delivered them numerous times, but they were determined to rebel,
and so they were brought down by their own sin.
- 44 But God saw their distress when he heard their loud cries.
- 45 God remembered his covenant for their sake, and because of how much faithful love he has,
God changed his mind.
- 46 God allowed them to receive compassion from all their captors.
- 47 LORD our God, save us!
Gather us back together from among all the nations so we can give thanks to your holy name and rejoice in your praise!

106:14-27 See Numbers 14:1-25.

106:28-33 See Numbers 25:1-13; Exodus 17:1-7.

106:34-39 These verses summarize the people's sinfulness after they entered the land.

106:34-36 See Judges 2:1-6.

106:37-38 See 2 Kings 16:3; 21:6; 23:10.

106:39 See Jeremiah 2:20; 3:1; Hosea 4:10; 5:3.

106:40-46 Psalm 106:40-43 recalls the pattern in Judges

2:11-23. Verse 43 suggests that the people's sin eventually resulted in the exile, but even the exile didn't mean that God had rejected them completely.

106:47 Like Psalm 106:43, the concluding prayer seems to assume the exile; and it looks forward to the apparent response in Psalm 107:1-3 and beyond (see sidebar, "Book V" at Ps 107). Psalm 106:47-48 appear in 1 Chronicles 16:35-36.

48 Bless the LORD, the God of Israel, from forever ago to forever from now!
And let all the people say, "Amen!"

Praise the LORD!

BOOK V

(Psalms 107–150)

Psalm 107

1 "Give thanks to the LORD because he is good,
because his faithful love lasts forever!"

2 That's what those who are redeemed by the LORD say, the ones God redeemed from the power of their enemies,

3 the ones God gathered from various countries, from east and west, north and south.

4 Some of the redeemed had wandered into the desert, into the wasteland.
They couldn't find their way to a city or town.

5 They were hungry and thirsty; their lives were slipping away.

6 So they cried out to the LORD in their distress, and God delivered them from their desperate circumstances.

7 God led them straight to human habitation.

8 Let them thank the LORD for his faithful love
and his wondrous works for all people,

9 because God satisfied the one who was parched with thirst, and he filled up the hungry with good things!

10 Some of the redeemed had been sitting in darkness and deep gloom;
they were prisoners suffering in chains

11 because they had disobeyed God's instructions and rejected the Most High's plans.

12 So God humbled them with hard work.

They stumbled, and there was no one to help them.

13 So they cried out to the LORD in their distress,
and God saved them from their desperate circumstances.

14 God brought them out from the darkness and deep gloom;
he shattered their chains.

15 Let them thank the LORD for his faithful love
and his wondrous works for all people,

106:48 This is the concluding doxology for Book IV (see Ps 41:13).

107:1-43 Psalm 107 is usually considered a psalm of thanks (see Ps 30), but it's like a sermon on the subject of God's faithful love. After the opening invitation and introduction of the redeemed (107:1-3), the psalm consists of four illustrations of God's redemptive work (107:4-9, 10-16, 17-22, 23-32), followed by a summary description of God's activity (107:33-41) and a suggested invitation to depend upon God's faithful love (107:42-43). Each of the four illustrative sections contains identical descriptions of the request for divine help (107:6, 13, 19, 28) and the invitation to give thanks for God's faithful love and redeeming work (107:8, 15, 21, 31). Psalm 107 opens Book V, which continues the response to the crisis articulated at the end of Book III (see sidebar, "Book V" at Ps 107).

107:1 See Psalms 106:1; 118:1. Even though they are in different books of the Psalter, the identical beginnings of Psalms 106 and 107 suggest that they are related. Psalm 107 shows what Psalm 106:44-46 affirms. faithful love: See Psalms 107:8, 15, 21, 31, 43; 5:7; 106:45. This fundamental quality of God is the keyword in the psalm and one of the most important words in the Psalter and the entire OT (see sidebar, "God's Faithful Love" at Ps 6).

107:2-3 redeemed: See Psalm 19:14. gathered: See Psalm 106:47. Psalm 107 and Book V continue the response to the crisis seen in Psalm 89:38-51, suggesting that God has already been at work gathering the exiles (see sidebar, "Book V" at Ps 107).

107:4-9 The language and image of the first illustration recalls Israel's wilderness wandering (see Psalms 105:40; 106:15), as well as the return from life in Babylon.

107:6 cried out: This word especially recalls Israel's distress in Egypt (see Exod 3:7, 9; 14:10; Deut 26:7), but people also cry out in other situations of need and distress (see Ps 142:5; Judg 3:9, 15; 6:6-7; Neh 9:4, 28).

107:9 See Luke 1:53.

107:10-16 The distress in this case results from the 107:1

1Ch 16:34;
2Ch 5:13;
2Ch 7:3;
Ps 106:1;
Ps 136:1

107:7 Ezr 8:21;
Ps 107:4;
Ps 107:36;
Jer 31:9

107:8 Ps 107:15;
Ps 107:21;
Ps 107:31

107:9 Ps 34:10;
Ps 63:5; Ps 146:7;
Lk 1:53

107:13 Ps 107:6;
Ps 107:19

107:14
Ps 107:10

107:15 Ps 107:8;
Ps 107:21;
Ps 107:31

107:16 Is 45:2

107:17

Lv 26:16;

Job 15:20;

Prv 1:7;

Jer 30:14;

Jer 30:15

107:20

Ps 30:2, Ps 30:3;

Ps 147:15;

Ps 147:18;

Mt 8:8

107:25 Ps 93:3;

Ps 105:31;

Ps 148:8;

Jon 1:4

107:26 Ps 22:14;

Ps 119:28

107:27

Job 12:25;

Is 24:20

107:32 Ps 22:22;

Ps 22:25, Ps 99:5;

Is 25:1

107:40

Dt 32:10;

Job 12:21;

Job 12:24

16 because God has shattered bronze doors and split iron bars in two!

17 Some of the redeemed were fools because of their sinful ways.
They suffered because of their wickedness.

18 They had absolutely no appetite for food;
they had arrived at death's gates.

19 So they cried out to the LORD in their distress,
and God saved them from their desperate circumstances.

20 God gave the order and healed them;
he rescued them from their pit.

21 Let them thank the LORD for his faithful love
and his wondrous works for all people.

22 Let them offer thanksgiving sacrifices and declare what God has done in songs of joy!

23 Some of the redeemed had gone out on the ocean in ships, making their living on the high seas.

24 They saw what the LORD had made;
they saw his wondrous works in the depths of the sea.

25 God spoke and stirred up a storm that brought the waves up high.

26 The waves went as high as the sky;
they crashed down to the depths.
The sailors' courage melted at this terrible situation.

27 They staggered and stumbled around like they were drunk.
None of their skill was of any help.

28 So they cried out to the LORD in their distress, and God brought them out safe from their desperate circumstances.

29 God quieted the storm to a whisper;
the sea's waves were hushed.

30 So they rejoiced because the waves had calmed down;
then God led them to the harbor they were hoping for.

31 Let them thank the LORD for his faithful love
and his wondrous works for all people.

32 Let them exalt God in the congregation of the people and praise God in the assembly of the elders.

33 God turns rivers into desert, watery springs into thirsty ground,

34 fruitful land into unproductive dirt, when its inhabitants are wicked.

35 But God can also turn the desert into watery pools, thirsty ground into watery springs,

36 where he settles the hungry.
They even build a city and live there!

37 They plant fields and vineyards and obtain a fruitful harvest.

38 God blesses them, and they become many.
God won't even let their cattle diminish.

39 But when they do diminish—when they're brought down by oppression, trouble, and grief—

40 God pours contempt on their leaders, making them wander aimlessly in the wastelands.

people's disobedience, but God still hears and delivers (see Ps 106:40-46). This pattern fits well the prophetic understanding of the exile as a deserved punishment. 107:17-22. As in Psalm 107:10-16, the suffering results from sinfulness.

107:20 healed: See Psalm 6:2.

107:22 thanksgiving sacrifices: See Psalm 50:14, 23.

107:23-32 The final illustration is similar to Jonah 1:13-16 (see also Matt 8:23-27; Mark 4:31-35).

107:33-35 See Isaiah 41:18; 50:2.

Book V The response to the tragic conclusion of Book III begins in Book IV (see sidebar, “Book IV and the Rule of God” at Ps 89), but Book IV ends with the request to gather the exiles “from among all the nations” (Ps 106:47). Book V provides a needed response to the bad news of Psalm 89, as well as to the request that ends Book IV. Responding directly to Psalm 106:47, Psalm 107 is a psalm of thanks that celebrates God’s redemption of people who sound like the exiles (see Ps 107:4-9, 10-16). The rest of Book V suggests how the post-exilic community might refocus itself. Book V features several collections that have to do with major aspects of the people’s life together. These collections are arranged in a chiasmic pattern, as follows:

Psalms 108–110	psalms of David (monarchy)
Psalms 113–118	the Egyptian Hallel (exodus)
Psalm 119	a torah psalm (Instruction)
Psalms 120–134	the pilgrimage songs (Zion)
Psalms 138–145	psalms of David (monarchy)

This pattern draws attention to the central element, the massive Psalm 119. It seems that the editors of the Psalter wanted to suggest that monarchy (David), exodus, and Zion now revolve around God’s Instruction. (see sidebar, “Torah [Instruction]: Psalms 15–24” for the description of a similar centering of Instruction in Book I). To a recently defeated and increasingly conquered and scattered people, the focus on God’s Instruction would be good news. God’s gift of Instruction is a new form of deliverance (beyond the exodus); God’s Instruction points the way to living God’s will (the former role of the monarchy); and obedience to God’s Instruction affords a direct experience of God (just as visiting Zion would give an experience of God; see Pss 1:3; 84:4; 92:13).

- <sup>41</sup> But God raises the needy from their suffering;
he makes their families as numerous as sheep!
- <sup>42</sup> Those who do right see it and celebrate, but every wicked person shuts their mouth.
- <sup>43</sup> Whoever is wise will pay attention to these things, carefully considering the LORD’s faithful love.

Psalm 108<sup>c</sup>

A song. A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup> My heart is unwavering, God.
I will sing and make music—yes, with my whole being!
- <sup>2</sup> Wake up, harp and lyre!
I will wake the dawn itself!
- <sup>3</sup> I will give thanks to you, LORD, among all the peoples;
I will make music to you among the nations, <sup>4</sup> because your faithful love is higher than heaven;
your faithfulness reaches the clouds.
- <sup>5</sup> Exalt yourself, God, higher than heaven!
Let your glory be over all the earth!
- <sup>6</sup> Save me by your power and answer me
so that the people you love might be rescued.
- <sup>7</sup> God has spoken in his sanctuary:
“I will celebrate as I divide up Shechem
and portion out the Succoth Valley.

<sup>c</sup>Ps 108:1-5 parallels Ps 57:7-11; Ps 108:6-13 parallels Ps 60:5-12.

107:41 See Psalms 113:7; 146:8; 1 Samuel 2:8.

107:42 Elsewhere, too, the righteous celebrate when things are set right (see Psalms 52:6-7; 58:10-11; 63:11).

107:43 wise: See Psalm 90:12. Wisdom derives from being attentive to God and relying upon God’s faithful love (cf. Ps 14:1).

108:1-13 Verses 1-5 of Psalm 108 are nearly the same as Psalm 57:7-11, and verses 6-13 are nearly the same as Psalm 60:5-12. It’s unclear why parts of Psalms 57 and 60 were used to form Psalm 108, but verses 1-5 do seem to provide the thanks that Psalm 107 invites again and again (Ps 107:1, 8, 15, 21, 31). The reason is the same in

107:42 Job 5:16,
Job 22:19;
Ps 63:11;
Ro 3:19

108:1 Ps 57:7

108:4
Nm 14:18;
Ps 36:5; Mt 7:18

108:5 Ps 57:5

108:6 Ps 60:5

108:7 Ps 89:35

108:8 Gn 49:10

108:9 Ps 60:8

108:10 Ps 60:9

108:13 Ps 44:5;
Is 63:3

109:1 Dt 10:21;

Ps 28:1, Ps 35:22;

Ps 83:1;

Jer 17:14

109:2 Ps 52:4

109:3 Ps 35:7;

Ps 69:4; Jn 15:25

109:4 Ps 38:20;

Ps 69:13

109:5 Ps 35:12;

Ps 38:20;

Prv 17:13

109:6 1Ch 21:1;

Zec 3:1

109:7 Prv 28:9

109:8 Ps 55:23;

Ac 1:16, Ac 1:20

109:9 Ex 22:24;

Jer 18:21

- <sup>8</sup>Gilead is mine, Manasseh is mine;
Ephraim is my helmet, Judah is my scepter.
- <sup>9</sup>But Moab is my washbowl;
I'll throw my shoe at Edom.
I shout in triumph over Philistia!
- <sup>10</sup>I wish someone would bring me to a fortified city!
I wish someone would lead me to Edom!"
- <sup>11</sup>But you have rejected us, God, haven't you?
You, God, no longer accompany our armies.
- <sup>12</sup>Give us help against the enemy—
human help is worthless.
- <sup>13</sup>With God we will triumph:
God is the one who will trample our adversaries.

Psalm 109

To the leader. Of David. A psalm.

- <sup>1</sup>God of my praise, don't keep quiet, <sup>2</sup>because the mouths of wicked liars have opened up against me, talking about me with lying tongues.
- <sup>3</sup>Hateful words surround me;
they attack me for no reason.
- <sup>4</sup>Instead of returning my love, they accuse me—but I am at prayer.
- <sup>5</sup>They repay me evil for good, hatred in return for my love.
- <sup>6</sup>"Appoint a wicked person to be against this person," they say,
"an accuser to stand right next to him.
- <sup>7</sup>When the sentence is passed, let him be found guilty—let his prayer be found sinful!
- <sup>8</sup>Let his days be few;
let someone else assume his position.
- <sup>9</sup>Let his children become orphans;
let his wife turn into a widow.
- <sup>10</sup>Let his children wander aimlessly, begging, driven out of their ruined homes.
- <sup>11</sup>Let a creditor seize everything he owns;
let strangers plunder his wealth.
- <sup>12</sup>Let no one extend faithful love to him;
let no one have mercy on his orphans.
- <sup>13</sup>Let his descendants be eliminated;
let their names be wiped out in just one generation!

both psalms: God's faithful love (see 108:4). The move from thanks to complaint and petition (108:11-12) would make sense in a post-exilic setting, in which celebration for release from exile was followed by a new set of difficulties for the restored nation (see Pss 85; 126). See notes on Psalms 57 and 60.

109:1-31 Psalm 109 contains the typical elements of a prayer for help: petition (109:1a, 20-21, 26-29), complaint (109:1b-5, 22-25), and expressions of praise and trust (109:30-31). The extended request for punishment in verses 6-19 (see note on Ps 109:6-19) makes Psalm 109 unique. Verses 1-5 indicate that the psalmist was the victim of false accusation (see Pss 4; 5; 7; 17; 26).

109:1 don't keep quiet: See Psalm 35:22.

109:2-3 See Psalms 4:2; 5:6, 9; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Psalm 3. for no reason: See Psalm 69:4.

109:4-5 See Psalm 35:11-16, where the complaint involves being harassed by persons that the psalmist had treated well.

109:6-19 Note that these verses are an extended quotation. In verse 6, they say suggests that this request for destruction is spoken by the psalmist's opponents. But "they say" isn't in the Hebrew text, so some translations present this speech as the psalmist's request for the destruction of one of the accusers or attackers (see Ps 109:1-5). Such a request isn't unusual (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6), although the length and intensity of the request are uncommon. The speech requests misfortune not only for the opponent (or the psalmist; see 109:6-8, 11), but also for his family (109:9-10, 12-15). Psalm 109:8 is quoted in Acts 1:20, which suggests that Judas deserved to be cursed for falsely accusing Jesus. 109:12, 16 faithful love: In a psalm so full of accusation and curses, the keyword is "faithful love." It will be the grounds for the speaker's appeal to God for help (Ps 109:21, 26).

- 14 Let his father's wrongdoing be remembered before the LORD;
let his mother's sin never be wiped out.
- 15 Let them be before the LORD always, and let God eliminate the very memory of them from the land.
- 16 All because this person didn't remember to demonstrate faithful love, but chased after the poor and needy—even the brokenhearted—with deadly intent!
- 17 Since he loved to curse, let it come back on him!
Since he didn't care much for blessing, let it be far away from him!
- 18 Since he wore curses like a coat, let them seep inside him like water, seep into his bones like oil!
- 19 Let them be like the clothes he wears, like a belt that is always around him."

109:18
Nm 5:22; Ps 73:6

109:19
Ps 109:29

109:21 Ps 23:3,
Ps 69:16

109:22 Ps 40:17,
Ps 86:1

109:24 Ps 35:13;
Heb 12:12

109:25 Ps 22:6,
Ps 22:7;
Mt 27:39

110:1 Mt 22:44;
Mk 12:36;
Ac 2:34;
1Co 15:25;
Heb 1:13

110:2 Ps 72:8

- 20 But let all that be the reward my accusers get from the LORD, the reward for those who speak evil against me!
- 21 But you, LORD, my Lord!—act on my behalf for the sake of your name; deliver me because your faithful love is so good;
22 because I am poor and needy, and my heart is broken.
- 23 Like a lengthening shadow, I'm passing away;
I'm shaken off, like some locust.
- 24 My legs are weak from fasting;
my body is skin and bones.
- 25 I've become a joke to my accusers;
when they see me, they just shake their heads.
- 26 Help me, LORD my God!
Save me according to your faithful love!
- 27 And let them know that this is by your hand—that you have done it, LORD!
- 28 Let them curse—but you, bless me!
If they rise up, let them be disgraced, but let your servant celebrate!
- 29 Let my accusers be dressed in shame;
let them wear their disgrace like a coat.
- 30 But I will give great thanks to the LORD with my mouth;
among a great crowd I will praise God!
- 31 Because God stands right next to the needy, to save them from any who would condemn them.

Psalm 110

Of David. A psalm.

- 1 What the LORD says to my master:
"Sit right beside me until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet!"
- 2 May the LORD make your mighty scepter reach far from Zion!
Rule over your enemies!

109:20 Even if the psalmist's opponents voiced the request for destruction, the psalmist claims their words here. The point need not be understood as personal payback but rather justice for the mistreated (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

109:22 poor and needy: The psalmist's appeal for help is grounded in God's "faithful love" (Ps 109:21, 26), which involves God's special concern for the most helpless and mistreated (see Pss 109:16, 31; 9:18).

109:25 a joke: See Psalms 31:11; 44:13.

109:30 I... thanks: Looking forward to being rescued (see Ps 13:5-6), the psalmist will do what Psalm 107 frequently invites.

109:31 right next to the needy: This verse very clearly shows what is often more assumed in the Psalms—that is, God has special concern for and is on the side of "the needy" (see Pss 9:18; 72:12-14; 82:2-4; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82).

110:1-7 Psalm 110 is almost universally categorized as a royal psalm that preserves divine promises to the king in verses 1 and 4 (and perhaps in verse 3, although verse 3 can be understood as spoken by the people). The

110:3 Jgs 5:2;
1Ch 16:29;
Neh 11:2

110:4 Gn 14:18;
Nm 23:19;
Heb 5:6;
Heb 6:20;
Heb 7:17

110:7 Jgs 7:5;
Jgs 7:6; Ps 3:3;
Ps 27:6

111:1 Ps 9:1;
Ps 35:18, Ps 89:7;
Ps 138:1;
Ps 149:1

111:2 Ps 92:5;
Ps 139:14;
Ps 143:5;
Rev 15:3

<sup>3</sup>Your people stand ready on your day of battle.

“In holy grandeur, from the dawn’s womb, fight!<sup>a</sup> Your youthful strength is like the dew itself.”

<sup>4</sup>The LORD has sworn a solemn pledge and won’t change his mind:

“You are a priest forever in line with Melchizedek.”<sup>b</sup>

<sup>5</sup>My master, by your strong hand,

God has crushed kings on his day of wrath.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>6</sup>God brings the nations to justice, piling the dead bodies, crushing heads throughout the earth.

<sup>7</sup>God drinks from a stream along the way, then holds his head up high.<sup>d</sup>

Psalm 111<sup>e</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Praise the LORD!

℣ I thank the LORD with all my heart

⊃ in the company of those who do right, in the congregation.

⊃ <sup>2</sup>The works of the LORD are magnificent;

⊃ they are treasured by all who desire them.

⊃ <sup>3</sup>God’s deeds are majestic and glorious.

⊃ God’s righteousness stands forever.

⊃ <sup>4</sup>God is famous for his wondrous works.

⊃ The LORD is full of mercy and compassion.

⊃ <sup>5</sup>God gives food to those who honor him.

⊃ God remembers his covenant forever.

<sup>a</sup>Correction; or Go!; MT to you <sup>b</sup>Or a rightful king by my decree <sup>c</sup>Or My Lord (God), because of your (the king’s) strong hand, has crushed or The LORD is above your strong hand, crushing kings <sup>d</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>e</sup>Ps 111 is an alphabetic acrostic poem; see the note at Pss 9–10.

appearance of a royal psalm in Book V, which clearly reflects the reality of life in Babylon and the beginnings of life after the return to Jerusalem (see Ps 107; see sidebar, “Book V” at Ps 107), may indicate post-exilic hope for restoring the Davidic monarchy (see Ps 101). Or the concept of kingship may have been used to express the belief that God would give power to an earthly agent to do God’s will, perhaps the whole people (see Pss 105:15; 144:11–14; 149:5–9; see sidebar, “God’s Anointed One” at Ps 2). The early church affirmed that the promises of verses 1 and 4 were fulfilled in Jesus (see Acts 2:34–35; 7:55–56; Rom 8:34; Heb 1:13; 7:17; 10:12–13; see sidebar, “The Psalms and Jesus” at Ps 22).

110:1 my master: A reference to the earthly king (see Ps 110:5). footstool: See Psalm 99:5, where “footstool” indicates God’s earthly throne. Here, the king will be enthroned upon his defeated enemies.

110:2 Zion: See Psalm 2:6. The vision of the king’s victories recalls Psalm 2:8–11.

110:3 Apparently, the people have gathered to wish the king well and encourage him as he prepares for a battle (see Pss 20–21). battle... fight!: Because the king was trusted with the mission to “crush oppressors” (Ps 72:4) and because the opposition to God was widespread (see Ps 2:1–3), the king was often in for a fight (see Pss 18:31–34, 39; 21:8–12).

110:4 You... Melchizedek: See Genesis 14:18, where Melchizedek is the king of pre-Israelite Jerusalem, as well as a priest.

110:5–6 The actor here is God, who works through the king. The violent language again recalls Psalm 2:8–11, although God’s activity here is called justice (see “justice” in Ps 149:9, although the Hebrew roots differ). The brutal image is a standard way of describing victory (see Pss 137:9; 2 Kgs 8:12; Hos 10:14; Nah 3:30).

110:7 As the translation note indicates, the Hebrew is uncertain. See Psalm 27:6, where a raised head seems to indicate security in the middle of opposition.

111:1–10 Psalms 111 and 112 belong together. Both are acrostic poems (see translation notes y and z), and they share many of the same words. While Psalm 111 focuses on God and God’s works/deeds (111:2–4, 6), Psalm 112 features those “who honor the LORD” (Ps 112:1; “honor” is the same Hebrew root as Fear in 111:10). Such people mirror God’s character and values. So what is true of God—God’s righteousness stands forever (111:3)—is also true of those who honor God—“Their righteousness stands forever” (Ps 112:3, 9). Because of its teaching tone, Psalm 111 is often categorized as a wisdom psalm. In terms of form, Psalm 111 is usually classified as a song of praise. Invitation to praise (111:1a) is followed by the stated intent to praise (111:1bc), and Psalm 111:2–10 offer reasons for praise.

111:1 Praise: See Psalm 111:10; praise surrounds the psalm.

111:3 righteousness: a fundamental trait of God and God’s will (see Psalms 5:8; 96:13).

111:4–7 The sequence recalls the basic narrative line of the books of Exodus through Joshua: the exodus out of Egypt itself (111:4a; see Exod 1–15); God’s revelation of God’s essential grace and mercy (111:4b; see Exod 34:6); God’s provision of food in the wilderness (111:5a; see Exod 16; Num 11:4–9); the making and remaking of covenant (111:5b; see Exod 24 and Josh 24); and the gift of land (111:6; see Josh 1–24).

111:5 covenant: See Psalms 111:9; 25:10; 105:8, 10; 106:45.

6 God proclaimed his powerful deeds to his people and gave them what had belonged to other nations.
 7 God's handiwork is honesty and justice;
 all God's rules are trustworthy—8 they are established always and forever:
 they are fulfilled with truth and right doing.
 9 God sent redemption for his people;
 God commanded that his covenant last forever.
 Holy and awesome is God's name!
 10 Fear of the LORD is where wisdom begins; sure knowledge is for all who keep God's laws.
 God's praise lasts forever!

111:7 Ps 19:7,
 Ps 93:5; Rev 15:3
 111:9 Ps 99:3;
 Lk 1:49, Lk 1:68
 111:10
 Job 28:28;
 Prv 1:7, Prv 9:10
 112:1 Ps 1:1,
 Ps 1:2, Ps 115:13,
 Ps 119:16,
 Ps 128:1
 112:2 Ps 25:13,
 Ps 37:26,
 Ps 102:28;
 Prv 11:21,
 Prv 20:7
 112:4 Ps 97:11
 112:5 Ps 37:21,
 Ps 37:26; Lk 6:35
 112:6 Ps 15:5,
 Ps 55:22,
 Ps 125:1;
 Prv 10:7
 112:7 Ps 56:4,
 Ps 57:7, Ps 64:10,
 Ps 108:1;
 Prv 1:33
 112:8 Ps 27:1,
 Ps 59:10;
 Prv 1:33; Is 12:2;
 Heb 13:9
 112:9 Ps 75:10,
 Ps 89:17,
 Ps 92:10;
 Prv 11:25;
 2Co 9:9
 112:10 Ps 37:12;
 Mt 8:12;
 Lk 13:28

Psalm 112***

1 Praise the LORD! Those who honor the LORD, who adore God's commandments, are truly happy!
 2 Their descendants will be strong throughout the land.
 The offspring of those who do right will be blessed;
 3 wealth and riches will be in their houses.
 Their righteousness stands forever.
 4 They shine in the dark for others who do right.
 They are merciful, compassionate, and righteous.
 5 Those who lend generously are good people—as are those who conduct their affairs with justice.
 6 Yes, these sorts of people will never be shaken;
 the righteous will be remembered forever!
 7 They won't be frightened at bad news.
 Their hearts are steady, trusting in the LORD.
 8 Their hearts are firm; they aren't afraid.
 In the end, they will witness their enemies' defeat.
 9 They give freely to those in need.
 Their righteousness stands forever.
 Their strength increases gloriously.
 10 The wicked see all this and fume;
 they grind their teeth, but disappear to nothing.
 What the wicked want to see happen comes to nothing!

*Ps 112 is an alphabetic acrostic poem; see the note at Pss 9–10.

111:7 justice: The basic characteristic of God's will for the world (see Pss 9:4; 96:13).

111:10 Fear... wisdom begins: Fear means not fright but rather awe and respect that include commitment and obedience, as the remainder of the verse suggests (see Prov 1:7; 9:10; Job 28:28). This Hebrew word is usually translated "honor" (see Ps 112:1)

112:1–10 Psalm 112 is a poetic elaboration on Psalm 111:10, focusing on those who honor [or "fear"; see Psalm 111:10] the LORD (112:1). Therefore, it has a teaching tone, and is usually categorized as a wisdom psalm. It recalls Psalm 1 in several ways (see notes on Ps 112:1 and Ps 112:10).

112:1 adore: The same Hebrew word is translated "love" in Psalm 1:2. There, as here, God's will is honored. truly happy: See Psalms 1:1–2; 41:1. Happiness derives from doing what God wants done (see sidebar, "True Happiness" at Ps 1).

112:3 The wealth isn't necessarily material or monetary. As Psalm 112:8 suggests and as the whole Psalter demonstrates, those who honor God are often opposed and afflicted. See the warnings against material wealth in Psalms 49:7–9; 52:7; 62:10.

112:4 Like God, those who honor God are a source of illumination for others (see Ps 4:6; Matt 5:14–16). merciful, compassionate, and righteous: See Psalm 111:4. These fundamental qualities of God also characterize those who honor God—in short, they will be like God (see Ps 5:8; Exod 34:6).

112:5 lend generously: See Psalm 15:5. with justice: another way of being like God (see Pss 112:4; 111:7; 9:4; 96:13).

112:6 never be shaken: See Psalm 15:5.

112:7 trusting: See Psalm 4:5.

112:8 witness... defeat: not as a matter of personal pay-back but rather of justice (see Pss 112:5; 111:7) done and things set right (see Pss 3:7–8; 7:6).

112:9 give freely... need: This is another way that those who honor God will be like God (see Ps 112:4–5), since God stands with the needy (see Ps 109:31; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82).

112:10 See Psalm 1:4–6. In Hebrew, the first and last words

113:1 Ps 34:22;
Ps 134:1,
Ps 135:1

Psalm 113

<sup>1</sup> Praise the LORD!

You who serve the LORD—praise!

Praise the LORD's name!

<sup>2</sup> Let the LORD's name be blessed from now until forever from now!

<sup>3</sup> From sunrise to sunset, let the LORD's name be praised!

<sup>4</sup> The LORD is high over all the nations;
God's glory is higher than the skies!

<sup>5</sup> Who could possibly compare to the LORD our God?
God rules from on high;

<sup>6</sup> he has to come down to even see heaven and earth!

<sup>7</sup> God lifts up the poor from the dirt and raises up the needy from the garbage pile

<sup>8</sup> to seat them with leaders—with the leaders of his own people!

<sup>9</sup> God nests the once barren woman at home—now a joyful mother with children!

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 114

<sup>1</sup> When Israel came out of Egypt—when the house of Jacob came out from a people who spoke a different language—

<sup>2</sup> Judah was God's sanctuary;
Israel was God's territory.

<sup>3</sup> The sea saw it happen and ran away;
the Jordan River retreated!

<sup>4</sup> The mountains leaped away like rams;
the hills leaped away like lambs!

of Psalms 1 and 112 are the same (not counting the opening "Praise the Lord!" in Ps 112).

113:1-9 Psalm 113 is a song of praise that begins a collection known traditionally as the "Egyptian Hallel" (Pss 113–118), which is used in the Jewish celebration of Passover. The Hebrew root hll means "praise" and is found in "Praise the Lord!" It appears in Pss 113:1, 9; 115:18; 116:19; 117:2. See sidebar, "Hallelu-yah ('Praise the Lord!') Collections" at Psalm 104. Psalm 113 also serves as a fitting follow-up to the paired Psalms 111–112 (see "Praise the Lord!" in Pss 111:1 and 112:1), supplying further examples of the "works" of God that are mentioned in Psalm 111:2.

113:1 serve... praise!: See Psalms 2:11; 100:2. Service suggests submission to God, and praise is a worshipful expression of such submission. The Lord's name: See "name" also in Psalm 113:2-3. The word suggests reputation or character, and Psalm 113:5-9 describes how God's activity shows God's character.

113:2 blessed: See Psalms 16:7; 100:4.

113:4 high... nations: The universal claim of God on all peoples and nations is seen in many of the songs of praise (see Pss 47; 67; 96; 117).

113:5 Who... God? This question lies at the center of the psalm, and the remaining verses offer an answer by portraying God's incomparable activity (see Pss 77:13; 89:6; 96:4; 97:9).

113:6-7 The movement is important: God who "rules from on high" (Ps 113:5) is the one who has come down to see and then to act (113:6). In short, God humbles the divine self (113:6), and the result is that the humbled on earth are raised up (113:7; see 1 Sam 2:7-8; Luke 1:52-53; Luke 18:14). the poor... the needy: God is always especially concerned for the poor and needy (see Pss 9:18; 72:12-14; 82:3-4; 109:22, 31; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82).

113:9 See 1 Samuel 2:5.

114:1-8 Psalm 114 is usually categorized as a song of praise, but it's rather unique. The only invitation to praise comes in the final section, and it's addressed to Earth (114:7). Major moments in Israel's story are in view, especially the exodus out of Egypt (114:1-2, 3a, 5a), which fits with the use of the Hallel collection at Passover (see Ps 113).

114:1 came out: The verb is often used of the exodus (see Exodus 3:10-12; 14:11). people... different language: This is the Egyptians.

114:2 sanctuary: See Exodus 15:1-18, which moves from celebrating the sea-crossing to the bringing of God's people to God's "sanctuary" (Exod 15:17), which means the temple in Jerusalem.

114:3 The sea... ran away: A poetic description of the parting of the sea as part of the exodus (see Ps 114:5). the Jordan River retreated: The exodus and entry into the land are conflated here. When the people crossed the Jordan River to enter Canaan, the water of the river parted, as at the exodus (see Josh 3:17; 4:23-24).

114:4 A poetic description of God's appearing, perhaps intended to recall Sinai (see Ps 114:6; Exod 19).

- <sup>5</sup>Sea, why did you run away?
Jordan, why did you retreat?
- <sup>6</sup>Mountains, why did you leap away like rams?
Hills, why did you leap away like lambs?
- <sup>7</sup>Earth: Tremble before the Lord!
Tremble before the God of Jacob, <sup>8</sup>the one who turned that rock into a pool of water, that flint stone into a spring of water!

114:5 Hab 3:8
114:8 Ex 17:6;
Nm 20:11;
Dt 8:15;
Ps 78:15;
Ps 107:35
115:1 Is 48:11;
Ro 15:9
115:2 Ps 42:3;
Ps 42:10;
Ps 79:10; || 2:17
115:3 Ps 135:6;
Dn 4:35
115:4 Dt 4:28;
2Kt 19:18;
Ps 135:15;
Jer 10:3
115:5 Dt 4:28;
Ps 115:4; Is 46:7;
Jer 10:3, Jer 10:5
115:8 Ps 135:18;
Is 44:9; Hab 2:18
115:9 Ps 33:20;
Ps 37:3, Ps 62:8,
Ps 118:2,
Ps 135:19
115:11 Ps 22:23,
Ps 103:11
115:12 Gn 8:1,
Gn 12:2,
Gn 32:28,
Gn 48:21;
Ex 2:25
115:13 Ps 112:1;
Rev 11:18,
Rev 19:5

Psalm 115

- <sup>1</sup>Not to us, LORD, not to us—no, but to your own name give glory because of your loyal love and faithfulness!
- <sup>2</sup>Why do the nations say, “Where’s their God now?”
- <sup>3</sup>Our God is in heaven—he can do whatever he wants!
- <sup>4</sup>Their idols are just silver and gold—things made by human hands.
- <sup>5</sup>They have mouths, but they can’t speak.
They have eyes, but they can’t see.
- <sup>6</sup>They have ears, but they can’t hear.
They have noses, but they can’t smell.
- <sup>7</sup>They have hands, but they can’t feel.
They have feet, but they can’t walk.
They can’t even make a noise in their throats!
- <sup>8</sup>Let the people who made these idols
and all who trust in them become just like them!
- <sup>9</sup>But you, Israel, trust in the LORD!
God is their help and shield.
- <sup>10</sup>Trust in the LORD, house of Aaron!
God is their help and shield.
- <sup>11</sup>You who honor the LORD, trust in the LORD!
God is their help and shield.
- <sup>12</sup>The LORD remembers us and will bless us:
God will bless the house of Israel;
God will bless the house of Aaron;
- <sup>13</sup>God will bless those who honor the LORD—from the smallest to the greatest.

114:7 tremble: See Psalm 97:4. This is the appropriate response to God’s appearing. before: This could also be translated “in the presence of,” suggesting that the events described in Psalm 114:1–4, 8 resulted from God making the divine presence known in the world.

114:8 A poetic description of God’s provision for the people after they left Egypt and were in the wilderness (see Exod 17:1–7; Num 20:2–13).

115:1–18 Psalm 115 is difficult to classify, because it contains a variety of elements: prayerful praise (115:1), complaint (115:2), affirmation of faith (115:3–8, 12–13), a call to faithfulness (115:9–12), petition (115:14–15), and praise (115:16–18).

115:1 glory: See Psalm 29:1–2. loyal love: See Psalm 5:7. faithfulness: See Psalm 25:10. These are fundamental qualities of God, often paired (see Exod 34:6). God’s fundamental character provides the reasons for praising God (see Ps 100:5).

115:2 See Psalms 42:3, 10; 79:10.

115:3 whatever he wants: not a claim that God is capricious but rather that God has the power to create love and faithfulness (see Ps 115:1) in the world.

115:4–8 The criticism of idols was one way of responding to the exile and to the claim that the Babylonian God Marduk had defeated the LORD (see Ps 115:2; see also Pss 96:5; 97:7; Isa 40:18–20; 44:9–20; 45:16). Both Books IV and V of the Psalter have been shaped in response to life in Babylon (see sidebars, “Book IV and the Rule of God” at Ps 89; “Book V” at Ps 107).

115:9–13 The repeated invitation to trust God lies at the center of the psalm (see Ps 4:5). In contrast to idols (see “trust in” idols in Ps 115:8), God can help, protect, and bless. Israel . . . house of Aaron . . . who honor the LORD: These designations may be references to the whole people, although “house of Aaron” may single out the priests.

115:14 Dt 1:11
 115:16 Gn 1:28;
 Ps 89:11
 115:17 Ps 6:5,
 Ps 31:17,
 Ps 88:10;
 Is 38:18
 115:18 Ps 113:2;
 Dn 2:20
 116:1 Ps 18:1,
 Ps 66:19
 116:2 Ps 31:2
 116:3 Ps 18:4,
 Ps 18:5
 116:4 Ps 118:5
 116:5 Ex 34:6;
 Ezr 9:15;
 Ps 86:15,
 Ps 119:137,
 Ps 145:17
 116:6 Ps 19:7,
 Ps 79:8, Ps 142:6
 116:7 Ps 13:5,
 Ps 142:7;
 Jer 6:16;
 Mt 11:29
 116:8 Ps 56:13,
 Ps 86:13
 116:9 Ps 27:13,
 Ps 56:13
 116:10 2Co 4:13
 116:11 Ps 31:22;
 Jer 9:5; Ro 3:4
 116:12 Ps 103:2

<sup>14</sup>May the LORD add to your numbers—both you and your children.

<sup>15</sup>May you be blessed by the LORD, the maker of heaven and earth!

<sup>16</sup>The highest heaven belongs to the LORD, but he gave the earth to all people.

<sup>17</sup>The dead don't praise the LORD, nor do those who go down to silence.

<sup>18</sup>But us? We will bless the LORD from now until forever from now!

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 116

<sup>1</sup>I love the LORD because he hears my requests for mercy.

<sup>2</sup>I'll call out to him as long as I live, because he listens closely to me.

<sup>3</sup>Death's ropes bound me;
 the distress of the grave<sup>a</sup> found me—
 I came face-to-face with trouble and grief.

<sup>4</sup>So I called on the LORD's name:
 "LORD, please save me!"<sup>b</sup>

<sup>5</sup>The LORD is merciful and righteous; our God is compassionate.

<sup>6</sup>The LORD protects simple folk;
 he saves me whenever I am brought down.

<sup>7</sup>I tell myself, You can be at peace again, because the LORD has been good to you.

<sup>8</sup>You, God, have delivered me from death, my eyes from tears,
 and my foot from stumbling,

<sup>9</sup>so I'll walk before the LORD in the land of the living.

<sup>10</sup>I have remained faithful, even when I said,
 "I am suffering so badly!"

<sup>11</sup>even when I said, out of fear,
 "Everyone is a liar!"

<sup>12</sup>What can I give back to the LORD for all the good things he has done for me?

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>b</sup>Or my soul; also in 116:7-8

115:15 maker of heaven and earth: See Psalms 121:2; 124:8; 134:3. Criticisms of idol worship (see Ps 115:4-8) are often accompanied by statements of God's creative power (see Isa 40:12-31; 45:16-18).

115:16 The highest...LORD: See Psalm 115:3. gave the earth to all people: See Genesis 1:26-28, where God gives humans the task to "Take charge." As Psalm 115:18 suggests, the proper exercise of human power is submission to God, which is the heart of praise.

115:17 See Psalms 6:5; 30:9; 88:10-12.

115:18 bless: The word suggests submission (see Pss 115:16; 16:7; 100:4.)

116:1-19 Psalm 116 is a psalm of thanks (see Ps 30). The psalmist has been rescued (116:7-9, 16). She or he recalls the past threat (116:3-4, 8, 10-11, 15), while also rehearsing devotion to God (116:1-2, 9, 16) and testifying to God's character and typical activity (116:5-6). Verses 12-14, 17-19 suggest that the psalmist's thankfulness was publicly expressed in the temple.

116:3 the grave: See Psalm 6:5.

116:5 merciful and righteous...compassionate: Fundamental qualities of God that are often celebrated in praise or recalled in prayer (see Pss 5:8; 25:6; Exod 34:6).

116:8 tears: See Psalm 6:6.

116:9 I'll walk...land of the living: This is the psalmist's poetic and memorable way of saying that she or he will remain alive instead of dying, due to God's help.

116:10-11 The psalmist's review of the past suggests that she or he had been the victim of false and destructive speech, as is often the case in the prayers for help (see Pss 4:2-5; 27:12; 35:11, 20; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

- 13 I'll lift up the cup of salvation.
I'll call on the LORD's name.
- 14 I'll keep the promises I made to the LORD
in the presence of all God's people.
- 15 The death of the LORD's faithful is a costly loss in his eyes.
- 16 Oh yes, LORD, I am definitely your servant!
I am your servant and the son of your female servant—
you've freed me from my chains.
- 17 So I'll offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving to you, and I'll call on the LORD's name.
- 18 I'll keep the promises I made to the LORD
in the presence of all God's people,
- 19 in the courtyards of the LORD's house, which is in the center of Jerusalem.

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 117

- 1 Praise the LORD, all you nations!
Worship him, all you peoples!
- 2 Because God's faithful love toward us is strong,
the LORD's faithfulness lasts forever!
Praise the LORD!

Psalm 118

- 1 Give thanks to the LORD because he is good,
because his faithful love lasts forever.
- 2 Let Israel say it:
"God's faithful love lasts forever!"
- 3 Let the house of Aaron say it:
"God's faithful love lasts forever!"
- 4 Let those who honor the LORD say it:
"God's faithful love lasts forever!"

116:13 cup of salvation: A cup may have been part of the sacrifice (Ps 116:17), some of which involved pouring and drinking (see Exod 29:40; Num 28:7). In any case, the psalmist sees the uplifted cup as a grateful celebration of the fact that he or she continues to live, which is what salvation means (see Ps 13:5).

116:14 keep the promises: See Psalm 116:18. Promises could be part of a thanksgiving sacrifice (see Pss 116:17-18; 22:25; 50:14; 61:5, 8; 65:1).

116:17 sacrifice of thanksgiving: See Psalm 50:14, 23.

116:18-19 The temple setting is clearest here, given the mention of a gathered congregation near God's house (see Ps 5:7).

117:1-2 This shortest of the Psalms demonstrates the typical structure of a song of praise: invitation to praise (117:1) followed by reasons for praise (117:2).

117:1 all you nations... all you peoples: The invitation typically includes the whole world (see Pss 47:1; 66:1). The apostle Paul quotes this verse in support of his opening of the church to all the nations—that is, the Gentiles (see Rom 15:11).

117:2 faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. is strong: The Hebrew root often describes military might, so the suggestion is that God conquers the world by loving it faithfully. faithfulness: See Psalm 25:10. These fundamental qualities of God are often paired (see Ps 100:5).

116:13 Ps 16:5,
Ps 105:1

116:14 Ps 22:25,
Ps 50:14,
Ps 66:13,
Ps 116:18

116:15 Ps 72:14

116:16 Ps 86:16,
Ps 119:125,
Ps 143:12

116:17
Lv 7:12; Ps 50:14,
Ps 107:22,

Ps 116:13;
Heb 13:15

117:1 Ps 67:3;
Ro 15:11

117:2 Ps 100:5,
Ps 103:11

118:1 1Ch 16:8,
1Ch 16:34;

Ps 106:1,
Ps 118:29;
Jer 33:11

118:2 Ps 115:9

118:4 Ps 115:11

118:1-29 Psalm 118 is a psalm of thanks (see Pss 30, 116) that concludes the Egyptian Hallel (see note on Ps 113). Like Psalm 114, it clearly recalls the exodus out of Egypt (see 118:14); but it was probably used to celebrate the return from life in Babylon, as well as both to look forward to and celebrate other deliverances. The rescue described in 118:5-18 seems to be publicly acknowledged and celebrated in 118:19-28, and this would account for the shift to first-person plural speech in 118:23-27. Because the rescue seems to involve a national crisis, and because it is celebrated publicly in the temple, many readers conclude that the original speaker was the king. This is possible, but there's no clear indication of this; and this specific possibility hasn't prevented the ability of Psalm 118 to be useful in a variety of situations. The Gospel writers, for instance, quote Psalm 118 in relation to Jesus and his ministry (see notes on Ps 118:22-24, 25, 26; see sidebar, "The Psalms and Jesus" at Ps 22).

118:1 See Psalms 118:29; 106:1; 107:1. Psalm 118 adds another account of rescue to the four incidents that are described in Psalm 107.

118:2-4 See Psalm 115:9-11, where the same parties are invited to take part. God's faithful love lasts forever: Picked up from Psalm 118:1, this line apparently becomes the congregation's responsive refrain. See Psalm 136, where this line occurs as a refrain in every verse.

118:6 Ps 27:1;
Ps 56:4; Ps 56:9;
Ps 56:11;
Heb 13:6

118:7 Ps 54:4;
Ps 54:7; Ps 59:10

118:8 Ps 40:4;
Jer 17:5

118:9 Ps 118:8;
Ps 146:3

118:10
1Sa 17:45; Ps 3:6;
Ps 88:17

118:12 Dt 1:44;
Jgs 14:8; Ps 58:9;
Ecc 7:6; Is 7:18

118:13 Ps 86:17

118:14 Ex 15:2;
Ps 27:1; Is 12:2

118:15
Ex 15:6;
Ps 89:13; Lk 1:51

118:16 Ex 15:6;
Ps 89:13

118:17 Ps 6:5;
Ps 73:28;
Ps 107:22;
Hab 1:12

118:18 2Co 6:9

118:19 Ps 24:7;
Ps 100:4; Is 26:2

118:20 Ps 24:3;
Ps 24:7; Is 35:8;
Rev 22:14

118:21 Ps 116:1;
Ps 118:5;
Ps 118:14

118:22 Is 28:16;
Mt 21:42;
Mk 12:10;
Lk 20:17;
Ac 4:11

<sup>5</sup>In tight circumstances, I cried out to the LORD.

The LORD answered me with wide-open spaces.

<sup>6</sup>The LORD is for me<sup>c</sup>—I won't be afraid.

What can anyone do to me?

<sup>7</sup>The LORD is for me—as my helper.

I look in victory on those who hate me.

<sup>8</sup>It's far better to take refuge in the LORD than to trust any human.

<sup>9</sup>It's far better to take refuge in the LORD than to trust any human leader.

<sup>10</sup>All the nations surrounded me, but I cut them down<sup>d</sup> in the LORD's name.

<sup>11</sup>Yes, they surrounded me on every single side, but I cut them down in the LORD's name.

<sup>12</sup>They surrounded me like bees, but they were extinguished like burning thorns.

I cut them down in the LORD's name!

<sup>13</sup>I was pushed so hard<sup>e</sup> I nearly died, but the LORD helped me.

<sup>14</sup>The LORD was my strength and protection;
he was my saving help!

<sup>15</sup>The sounds of joyful songs and deliverance are heard in the tents of the righteous:

"The LORD's strong hand is victorious!

<sup>16</sup>The LORD's strong hand is ready to strike!
The LORD's strong hand is victorious!"

<sup>17</sup>I won't die—no, I will live and declare what the LORD has done.

<sup>18</sup>Yes, the LORD definitely disciplined me, but he didn't hand me over to death.

<sup>19</sup>Open the gates of righteousness for me so I can come in and give thanks to the LORD!

<sup>20</sup>This is the LORD's gate;
those who are righteous enter through it.

<sup>21</sup>I thank you because you answered me, because you were my saving help.

<sup>22</sup>The stone rejected by the builders is now the main foundation stone!

<sup>c</sup>LXX with me or mine; also in 118:7 <sup>d</sup>Heb uncertain; LXX, Vulg drove or warded off; also in 118:11-12 <sup>e</sup>LXX, Vulg, Syr, MT you pushed me

118:6 for me: See Psalms 118:7; 56:9; 124:1-2; Romans 8:31.

118:7 my helper: See Psalms 118:13; 10:14.

118:8-9 take refuge: See Psalm 2:12. than to trust any human... human leader: See Psalm 146:3. Only God is worthy of trust (see Ps 4:5).

118:10-12 surrounded me: The threefold repetition emphasizes the extent of the opposition (see Ps 3:6). I cut them down: Similarly, the repetition in this case emphasizes the magnitude of the rescue. The image is violent, but the point is that one threatened with death is now able to live (see Pss 118:17; 116:8-9).

118:14 This verse is an echo of Moses' victory song (see Exod 15:2); it recalls the exodus, which is the Bible's primary example of rescue from death to life. The psalmist suggests that his or her rescue, and any future deliverances (see Ps 118:25), are extensions of God's life-giving work that was demonstrated in the exodus out of Egypt.

118:17-18 A summary of the psalmist's experience of rescue. As is often the case, thankfulness is accompanied by witness to others (see Ps 9:1).

118:18-24 The "I" continues to speak in 118:18-21, but there are indications of a public celebration, perhaps a procession into the temple (see gates in 118:19, and gate in 118:20; see Ps 24:7-10). In keeping with verses 1 and 29, the speaker enters to give thanks (118:19, 21).

118:22-24 Psalm 118:22 seems to begin the worshiping community's response to the psalmist's rescue, and the response continues in verses 23-24. The early church

- <sup>23</sup>This has happened because of the LORD;
it is astounding in our sight!
<sup>24</sup>This is the day the LORD acted;
we will rejoice and celebrate in it!

<sup>25</sup>LORD, please save us!
LORD, please let us succeed!

<sup>26</sup>The one who enters in the LORD's name is blessed;
we bless all of you from the LORD's house.

<sup>27</sup>The LORD is God!
He has shined a light on us!
So lead the festival offering with ropes all the way to the horns of the altar.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>28</sup>You are my God—I will give thanks to you!
You are my God—I will lift you up high!

<sup>29</sup>Give thanks to the LORD because he is good,
because his faithful love lasts forever.

118:23 Mt 21:42

118:24 Is 58:13

118:25

Neh 1:11;

Ps 116:4;

Mt 21:9

118:26 Mt 21:9;

Mt 23:39;

Mk 11:9;

Lk 13:35;

Jn 12:13

118:27 Ex 27:2;

1Ki 18:39;

Est 8:16; Ps 27:11;

1Pt 2:9

119:1 Ps 101:2;

Ps 128:1;

Prv 11:20

119:2 Dt 4:29;

Ps 119:10;

Ps 119:22

119:4 Dt 6:17;

Ps 103:18;

Ps 119:56;

Jer 7:23;

Jn 14:15

119:6 Ps 119:80

119:7 Ps 119:62

Psalm 119<sup>g</sup>

N ALEF

- <sup>1</sup>Those whose way is blameless—who walk in the LORD's Instruction—are truly happy!
<sup>2</sup>Those who guard God's laws are truly happy!
They seek God with all their hearts.
<sup>3</sup>They don't even do anything wrong!
They walk in God's ways.
<sup>4</sup>God, you have ordered that your decrees should be kept most carefully.
<sup>5</sup>How I wish my ways were strong when it comes to keeping your statutes!
<sup>6</sup>Then I wouldn't be ashamed when I examine all your commandments.
<sup>7</sup>I will give thanks to you with a heart that does right as I learn your righteous rules.
<sup>8</sup>I will keep your statutes.
Please don't leave me all alone!

<sup>f</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>g</sup>Ps 119 is an alphabetic acrostic poem (cf Pss 9–10, 111) in Heb, with each line of Heb within the marked sections beginning with the same letter of the alphabet.

understood Jesus to be the “main foundation stone” (Matt 21:42; Luke 20:17; Acts 4:11–12). In other words, Jesus and his work were extensions of God's life-giving work in the exodus (see note on Ps 118:14). the day . . . acted: The congregation recalls God's life-giving activity done for the psalmist, and they join the celebration.

118:25 The sudden shift to petition is surprising. Apparently, the psalmist's rescue inspires the congregation to ask for deliverance as well. In any case, this petition makes the psalm useful for the people of God in all times, as new threats to life arise. The Hebrew behind please save us (“Hosanna”; see Ps 118:26) became the celebratory cry of the crowds that greeted Jesus as he entered Jerusalem. 118:26 The psalmist, perhaps followed by other worshippers, has now entered the temple, and the congregation greets him (see Ps 118:19–20). Psalm 118:25a, along with 118:26a, became the words used by the crowds as Jesus entered Jerusalem (see Matt 21:9; Mark 11:9; Luke 19:38; John 12:13).

118:27 shined a light: See Psalm 4:6. So . . . altar: The Hebrew is difficult, but it may suggest a sacrificial offering that could be part of giving thanks (see Pss 50:14, 23; 51:18–19).

119:1–176 Because it's so long, Psalm 119 contains elements of every type of psalm: petition, complaint, expressions of praise and trust, and teaching material. It's usually classified as a torah-psalm, due to the 25 occurrences of this Hebrew word, which is translated Instruction (119:1; see Pss 1, 19). In addition, there are repeated uses of seven more Hebrew words that are basically synonyms of “Instruction.” They generally appear in the translation as “laws,” “decrees,” “statutes,” “commandments,” “[righteous] rules,” “word,” “precepts,” “promises,” and “what you've said/” “what you say.” Multiplying 8 times 22, the number of letters in the Hebrew alphabet, equals 176, the number of verses in Psalm 119 (see translation note g). Even so, the eight primary words don't occur in a regular pattern, and not even in every verse (the exceptions are 119:3, 37, 90, 122). Obviously, Psalm 119 is repetitive; but the repetition emphatically makes the point that God's Instruction—that is, God's will—is pervasively and extremely important in the lives of the faithful and the life of the world.

119:1 blameless: This doesn't mean sinless but rather complete devotion. It's sometimes translated “integrity” (see Ps 119:80; 19:13). Instruction . . . truly happy: See Psalm

119:9 Jn 15:3

119:11 Dt 6:6;
Ps 37:31, Ps 40:8;
Lk 2:51119:18
Ps 119:96;
Is 29:10, Is 42:7;
Mt 13:13;
Ac 26:18119:20 Ps 42:1,
Ps 63:1, Ps 84:2,
Ps 119:40,
Ps 119:131119:21
Dt 27:26;
Ps 119:10119:24
Ps 119:16119:25 Ps 44:25,
Ps 119:40,
Ps 119:88,
Ps 119:107,
Ps 143:11119:28 Ps 20:2,
Ps 22:14119:30
Ps 119:173119:31
Dt 10:20;
Ps 19:7, Ps 25:10,
Ps 119:6,
Ps 119:111119:32 1Ki 4:29;
Is 60:5; 2Co 6:11

BET

<sup>9</sup>How can young people keep their paths pure?By guarding them according to what you've said.<sup>a</sup><sup>10</sup>I have sought you with all my heart.

Don't let me stray from any of your commandments!

<sup>11</sup>I keep your word close, in my heart, so that I won't sin against you.<sup>12</sup>You, LORD, are to be blessed!

Teach me your statutes.

<sup>13</sup>I will declare out loud all the rules you have spoken.<sup>14</sup>I rejoice in the content of your laws as if I were rejoicing over great wealth.<sup>15</sup>I will think about your precepts and examine all your paths.<sup>16</sup>I will delight in your statutes;

I will not forget what you have said.

GIMEL

<sup>17</sup>Be good to your servant so I can go on living and keeping your word.<sup>18</sup>Open my eyes so I can examine the wonders of your Instruction!<sup>19</sup>I'm an immigrant in the land.

Don't hide your commandments from me!

<sup>20</sup>I'm worn out by longing every minute for your rules!<sup>21</sup>You rebuke the arrogant, accursed people who stray from your commandments.

<sup>22</sup>Take all their insults and contempt away from me because I've kept your laws!

<sup>23</sup>Even if rulers gather and scheme against me, your servant will contemplate your statutes!

<sup>24</sup>Yes, your laws are my joy—they are my most trusted advisors!

DALET

<sup>25</sup>My life is stuck in the dirt.

Now make me live again according to your promise!

<sup>26</sup>I confessed my ways and you answered me.

Now teach me your statutes!

<sup>27</sup>Help me understand what your precepts are about so I can contemplate your wondrous works!

<sup>28</sup>My spirit sags because of grief.

Now raise me up according to your promise!

<sup>29</sup>Remove all false ways from me; show mercy to me by means of your Instruction.

<sup>30</sup>I've chosen the way of faithfulness;

I'm set on your rules.

<sup>31</sup>I'm holding tight to your laws, LORD.

Please don't let me be put to shame.

<sup>32</sup>I run the same path as your commandments because you give my heart insight.

HE

<sup>33</sup>LORD, teach me what your statutes are about, and I will guard every part of them.

LXX

1:1-2, where happiness derives from constant attention to God's Instruction.

119:17 your servant: The psalmist often refers to himself or herself with this phrase (see Ps 119:23, 38, 49, 65, 76, 84, 122, 124, 125, 135), which suggests submission to God and God's will.119:19 immigrant: See Psalms 119:54; 94:6. The term suggests that the psalmist recognizes her or his neediness, vulnerability, and reliance upon God.

119:22 Psalm 119 is often associated with a theology of retribution, but the obedient psalmist is often opposed and harassed (see Ps 119:23, 39, 42, 51, 61, 69, 78, 84, 87, 95, 109, 110, 121, 134, 141, 150, 157, 161), leading to grief and affliction (see Ps 119:28, 50, 71, 75, 92, 107, 143, 153).

- 34 Help me understand so I can guard your Instruction and keep it with all my heart.
- 35 Lead me on the trail of your commandments because that is what I want.
- 36 Turn my heart to your laws, not to greedy gain.
- 37 Turn my eyes away from looking at worthless things.
Make me live by your way.
- 38 Confirm your promise to your servant—
the promise that is for all those who honor you.
- 39 Remove the insults that I dread because your rules are good.
- 40 Look how I desire your precepts!
Make me live by your righteousness.

119:36 1Ki 8:58;
Eze 33:31;
Lk 12:15;
Heb 13:5
119:37
Ps 119:25;
Is 33:15
119:42
Prv 27:11
119:43
Ps 119:49,
Ps 119:74,
Ps 119:81,
Ps 119:114,
Ps 119:147
119:44
Ps 119:33,
Ps 119:55
119:46
Mt 10:18;
Ac 26:1, Ac 26:2
119:49 Gn 32:9;
Ps 119:43
119:53
Ps 119:158
119:59
Lam 3:40;
Lk 15:17
119:62 Ps 119:7,
Ps 119:55;
Ac 16:25

WAW

- 41 LORD, let your faithful love come to me—let your salvation come to me according to your promise—
- 42 so I can have a response for those who mock me because I have trusted in your word!
- 43 Please don't take your true word out of my mouth, because I have waited for your rules.
- 44 I will always keep your Instruction, always and forever!
- 45 I will walk around in wide-open spaces, because I have pursued your precepts.
- 46 I will talk about your laws before rulers with no shame whatsoever.
- 47 I will rejoice in your commandments because I love them.
- 48 I will lift up my hands to your commandments because I love them, and I will contemplate all your statutes.

ZAYIN

- 49 Remember your promise to your servant, for which you made me wait.
- 50 My comfort during my suffering is this:
your word gives me new life.
- 51 The arrogant make fun of me to no end,
but I haven't deviated from your Instruction.
- 52 When I remember your ancient rules, I'm comforted, LORD.
- 53 But I'm seized with anger because of the wicked—because of those who abandon your Instruction.
- 54 Your statutes have been my songs of praise wherever I lived as an immigrant.
- 55 LORD, I remember your name at nighttime, and I keep your Instruction.
- 56 This has been my practice because I guard your precepts.

KHET

- 57 The LORD is my possession.
I promise to do what you have said.
- 58 I've sought your favor with all my heart;
have mercy on me according to your word.
- 59 I've considered my ways and turned my feet back to your laws.
- 60 I hurry to keep your commandments—
I never put it off!
- 61 Though the wicked have surrounded me with their ropes,
I haven't forgotten your Instruction.
- 62 I get up in the middle of the night to give thanks to you because of your righteous rules.
- 63 I'm a friend to everyone who honors you and to all who keep your precepts.

This situation of opposition is the norm for those who pray the prayers for help (see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). 119:41 faithful love: See Psalms 119:64, 76, 88, 124, 149, 159; 5:7.

119:66
Ps 119:12;
Phi 1:9

64 LORD, the world is full of your faithful love!
Teach me your statutes!

119:67 Job 5:17;
Ps 119:71,
Ps 119:75;
Jer 31:18,
Jer 31:19

Ⲛ TET

65 You have treated your servant well, LORD, according to your promise.

119:68 Ps 25:8,
Ps 86:5, Ps 106:1,
Ps 119:12;
Mt 19:17

66 Teach me knowledge and good judgment because I've put my trust in your commandments.

119:71
Ps 119:67,
Ps 119:75

67 Before I suffered, I took the wrong way, but now I do what you say.

68 You are good and you do good.

Teach me your statutes!

119:73 Job 10:8;
Ps 100:3,
Ps 138:8

69 The arrogant cover me with their lies, but I guard your precepts with all my heart.

119:80 Ps 119:1,
Ps 119:6

70 Their hearts are unfeeling, like blubber, but I rejoice in your Instruction.

119:81 Ps 84:2,
Ps 119:43,
Ps 119:74,
Ps 119:114

71 My suffering was good for me, because through it I learned your statutes.

119:83
Job 30:30;
Ps 119:61

72 The Instruction you've given to me is better than thousands of pieces of gold and silver!

119:84 Ps 39:4;
Rev 6:10

Ⲛ YOD

119:85 Ps 7:15,
Ps 35:7, Ps 57:6,
Ps 119:51;
Jer 18:22

73 Your hands have made me and set me in place.

Help me understand so I can learn your commandments.

119:86 Ps 7:1,
Ps 35:19,
Ps 109:26,
Ps 119:78,
Ps 119:138

74 Then those who honor you will see me and be glad because I have waited for your promise.

75 LORD, I know that your rules are right and that you rightly made me suffer.

119:87 Is 58:2
119:88 Ps 119:2,
Ps 119:25,
Ps 119:40

76 Please let your faithful love comfort me, according to what you've said to your servant.

77 Let your compassion come to me so I can live again, because your Instruction is my joy!

78 But let the arrogant be ashamed because they oppressed me with lies—meanwhile, I will be contemplating your precepts!

79 Let the people who honor you come back to me;
let those who know your precepts return to me.

80 Let my heart be blameless in your statutes so that I am not put to shame.

Ⲛ KAF

81 My whole being yearns for your saving help!
I wait for your promise.

82 My eyes are worn out looking for your word.
"When will you comfort me?" I ask,

83 because I've become like a bottle dried up by smoke, though I haven't forgotten your statutes.

84 How much more time does your servant have?
When will you bring my oppressors to justice?

85 The arrogant have dug pits for me—those people who act against your Instruction.

86 All your commandments are true, but people harass me for no reason.

Help me!

87 They've almost wiped me off the face of the earth!
Meanwhile, I haven't abandoned your precepts!

88 Make me live again according to your faithful love so I can keep the law you've given!

↳ LAMED

- 89 Your word, LORD, stands firm in heaven forever!
90 Your faithfulness extends from one generation to the next!
 You set the earth firmly in place, and it is still there.
91 Your rules endure to this day because everything serves you.
92 If your Instruction hadn't been my delight,
 I would have died because of my suffering.
93 I will never forget your precepts because through them you gave me life again.
94 I'm yours—save me because I've pursued your precepts!
95 The wicked wait for me, wanting to kill me, but I'm studying your laws.
96 I've seen that everything, no matter how perfect, has a limit,<sup>1</sup> but your commandment is boundless.

119:89 Ps 89:2;
 Is 40:8; Mt 5:18;
 Mk 24:35;
 1Pt 1:25
 119:90 Ps 36:5;
 Ps 148:6
 119:91 Ps 104:2;
 Jer 31:35;
 Jer 33:25
 119:96 Ps 19:7
 119:97 Ps 1:2;
 Ps 119:15;
 Ps 119:47;
 Ps 119:113
 119:99
 Ps 119:15
 119:100
 Job 32:7;
 Ps 119:56
 119:101
 Prv 1:15
 119:103
 Ps 19:10
 119:104
 Ps 101:3;
 Ps 119:128
 119:105
 Ps 19:8;
 Ps 119:130;
 Prv 6:23; Jn 8:12;
 2Pt 1:19
 119:106
 Neh 10:29;
 Ps 119:7
 119:107
 Ps 119:25
 119:108
 Ps 119:12;
 Heb 13:15

▢ MEM

- 97 I love your Instruction!
 I think about it constantly.
98 Your commandment makes me wiser than my enemies because it is always with me.
99 I have greater insight than all my teachers because I contemplate your laws.
100 I have more understanding than the elders because I guard your precepts.
101 I haven't set my feet on any evil path so I can make sure to keep your word.
102 I haven't deviated from any of your rules because you are the one who has taught me.
103 Your word is so pleasing to my taste buds—it's sweeter than honey in my mouth!
104 I'm studying your precepts—that's why I hate every false path.

] NUN

- 105 Your word is a lamp before my feet and a light for my journey.
106 I have sworn, and I fully mean it:
 I will keep your righteous rules.
107 I have been suffering so much—
 LORD, make me live again according to your promise.
108 Please, LORD, accept my spontaneous gifts of praise.
 Teach me your rules!
109 Though my life is constantly in danger,
 I won't forget your Instruction.
110 Though the wicked have set a trap for me,
 I won't stray from your precepts.
111 Your laws are my possession forever because they are my heart's joy.
112 I have decided to keep your statutes forever, every last one.

○ SAMEK

- 113 I hate fickle people, but I love your Instruction.
114 You are my shelter and my shield—I wait for your promise.
115 Get away from me, you evildoers;
 I want to guard my God's commandments!
116 Sustain me according to your word so I can live!
 Don't let me be put to shame because of hope.

<sup>1</sup>Heb uncertain

119:119 Is 1:22;

Eze 22:18,
Eze 22:19

119:120

Job 4:14;
Hab 3:16

119:122

Job 17:3;
Ps 119:21

119:123

Ps 119:82

119:125

Ps 116:16,
Ps 119:27

119:127

Ps 19:10,
Ps 119:47,
Ps 119:72

119:130

Ps 19:7,
Ps 119:105;Pv 6:23;
2Pt 1:19

119:131

Job 29:23;
Ps 42:1, Ps 81:10,
Ps 119:20

119:132

Ps 25:16

119:133

Ps 17:5, Ps 19:13;
Ro 6:12

119:136

Ps 119:158;
Jer 9:1,
Jer 9:18,
Jer 14:17; Eze 9:4

119:137

Eze 9:15;
Neh 9:33;
Ps 116:5,
Ps 145:17

119:140

Ps 12:6,
Ps 18:30,
Ps 19:8,
Ps 119:47;
Pv 30:5

- 117 Support me so I can be saved and so I can focus constantly on your statutes.
- 118 You discard everyone who strays from your statutes because they are dishonest and false.
- 119 You dispose of all the wicked people on earth like waste—that's why I love your laws.
- 120 My body shudders because I fear you;
I'm in awe of your rules.

U AYIN

- 121 I've done what is just and right.
Don't just hand me over to my oppressors.
- 122 Guarantee good things for your servant.
Please don't let the arrogant oppress me.
- 123 My eyes are worn out looking for your saving help—looking for your word that will set things right.
- 124 Act toward your servant according to your faithful love.
Teach me your statutes!
- 125 I'm your servant!
Help me understand so I can know your laws.
- 126 It is time for the LORD to do something!
Your Instruction has been broken.
- 127 But I love your commandments more than gold, even more than pure gold.
- 128 That's why I walk straight by every single one of your precepts.
That's why I hate every false path.

D PE

- 129 Your laws are wonderful!
That's why I guard them.
- 130 Access to your words<sup>1</sup> gives light, giving simple folk understanding.
- 131 I open my mouth up wide, panting, because I long for your commandments.
- 132 Come back to me and have mercy on me;
that's only right for those who love your name.
- 133 Keep my steps steady by your word;
don't let any sin rule me.
- 134 Redeem me from the people who oppress me so I can keep your precepts.
- 135 Shine your face on your servant, and teach me your statutes.
- 136 Rivers of tears stream from my eyes because your Instruction isn't being kept.

Y TSADE

- 137 LORD, you are righteous, and your rules are right.
- 138 The laws you commanded are righteous, completely trustworthy.
- 139 Anger consumes me because my enemies have forgotten what you've said.
- 140 Your word has been tried and tested;
your servant loves your word!
- 141 I'm insignificant and unpopular, but I don't forget your precepts.

<sup>1</sup>Vulg, Sym

- 142 Your righteousness lasts forever!
Your Instruction is true!
- 143 Stress and strain have caught up with me, but your commandments are my joy!
- 144 Your laws are righteous forever.
Help me understand so I can live!

119:142
Ps 119:144,
Ps 119:151,
Ps 119:160;
Jn 17:17
119:143
Ps 119:24
119:144
Ps 119:27,
Ps 119:34

Q OF

- 145 I cry out with all my heart:
“LORD, answer me so I can guard your statutes!”
- 146 I cry out to you, “Save me so I can keep your laws!”
- 147 I meet the predawn light and cry for help.
I wait for your promise.
- 148 My eyes encounter each hour of the night as I think about your word.
- 149 Listen to my voice, according to your faithful love.
LORD, make me live again, according to your justice.
- 150 The people who love to plot wicked schemes are nearby, but they are so far from your Instruction!
- 151 But you, LORD, are nearby too, and all your commandments are true.
- 152 Long ago I learned from your laws that you had established them forever.

119:148
Ps 1:2, Ps 63:6,
Ps 119:15;
Lam 2:19
119:155 Job 5:4
119:164
Ps 119:7,
Ps 119:62,
Ps 119:160
119:165
Ps 37:11; Prov 3:2;
Is 32:17
119:167
Ps 119:47,
Ps 119:97

RESH

- 153 Look at my suffering and deliver me because I haven't forgotten your Instruction.
- 154 Argue my case and redeem me.
Make me live again by your word.
- 155 Salvation is far from the wicked because they haven't pursued your statutes.
- 156 You have so much compassion, LORD—make me live again, according to your rules.
- 157 My oppressors and enemies are many,
but I haven't turned away from your laws.
- 158 I look on the faithless, and I am disgusted because they haven't kept your word.
- 159 Look at how much I love your precepts.
Make me live again, LORD, according to your faithful love!
- 160 The first thing to know about your word is that it is true and that all your righteous rules last forever.

SIN AND SHIN

- 161 Rulers oppress me without cause, but my heart honors what you've said.
- 162 I'm overjoyed at your word, like someone who finds great treasure.
- 163 I hate, I absolutely despise, what is false, but I'm in love with your Instruction.
- 164 I praise you seven times a day for your righteous rules.
- 165 The people who love your Instruction enjoy peace—and lots of it.
There's no stumbling for them!
- 166 LORD, I wait for your saving help.
I do what you've commanded.
- 167 I keep your laws;
I love them so much!

119:164 seven times a day: Since seven signals wholeness, the psalmist praises God constantly.
119:165 peace: Hebrew shalom, which is what God wills for human beings and the world (see Pss 4:8; 72:3, 7; 85:10, 12). no stumbling: See Psalm 15:5.

119:176 lost: Just as Psalm 119:1 recalls Psalm 1:1, so this 119:175

Ps 51:15
119:176 Is 53:6;
Jer 50:6;
Hos 4:6; Lk 15:4;
1Pt 2:25

168 I keep your precepts and your laws because all my ways are seen by you.

TAV

120:1 Ps 18:6, Ps 118:5; Jon 2:2
120:2 Ps 31:18,
Ps 109:2;
Prv 12:22

169 Let my cry reach you, LORD; help me understand according to what you've said.
170 Let my request for grace come before you;
deliver me according to your promise!
171 Let my lips overflow with praise because you've taught me your statutes.
172 Let my tongue declare your word, because all your commandments are righteous.
173 Let your power help me because I have chosen your precepts.
174 LORD, I long for your saving help!
Your Instruction is my joy!
175 Let me live again so I can praise you!
Let your rules help me!
176 I've wandered off like a sheep, lost. Find your servant because I haven't forgotten your commandments!

Psalm 120

A pilgrimage song.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>1</sup>I cried out to the LORD when I was in trouble
(and he answered me):
<sup>2</sup>"LORD, deliver me<sup>l</sup> from lying lips and a dishonest tongue!"
<sup>3</sup>What more will be given to you, what more will be done to you,
you dishonest tongue?

The Pilgrimage Songs Each of Psalms 120–134 has as (or in) its title, "A pilgrimage song." The phrase in a Hebrew idiom would sound like "song for the going up." The "going up" is almost certainly a reference to pilgrimage to Jerusalem (see "go up" in Ps 122:4). The "law for Israel" in Psalm 122:4 points to Deuteronomy 16:6, which demands that males visit Jerusalem three times a year. Almost certainly, the males would have taken other members of the family. So it isn't surprising that the pilgrimage songs reflect the daily realities, activities, and concerns of family life (see Pss 121:8; 122:8; 127:1–5; 128:3–4; 133:1). Psalm 131 was apparently written by a woman, drawing upon her experience with her children.

With the exception of Psalm 132, the pilgrimage songs are short and easy to memorize. Various types of psalms are included. Most likely Psalms 120–134 were collected as a songbook or prayer book for travelers on the journey to and from Jerusalem, as well as for their stay in Jerusalem. For example, Psalm 134 would do well as a farewell liturgy and benediction said in preparing for the journey home. As expected, the pilgrimage songs reflect daily matters as well as national concerns, especially the significance of Jerusalem (see Pss 122–126; 130–132; 134). The sequence of songs seems important, since Psalms 120–122 move the psalmist from outside the land (Ps 120) by way of a journey (Ps 121) to Jerusalem (Ps 122).

<sup>k</sup>Or song of ascents or song of going up (that is, to Jerusalem); cf Ps 122:4. The heading is found in every psalm from Ps 120 to Ps 134. <sup>l</sup>Or my soul; also in 120:6

verse recalls Psalm 1:6, where "destroyed" is the same Hebrew word as lost here. But here the psalmist confesses to being lost, suggesting that obedience to God's Instruction is finally grounded in God's saving grace (see note on Ps 119:22; see also the psalmist's requests for grace, mercy, or compassion in Ps 119:29, 77, 132, 156, 170).

120:1–7 Psalm 120:1–2 suggest that the psalmist's prayer for help has been answered, but 120:3–4, 5–7 seem to indicate that threat and trouble still exist. Accounts of rescue followed by continuing petition and expressions of need exist elsewhere as well (see Pss 40; 85; 118; 126). This is the first of a series of "pilgrimage songs" (Pss 120–134; see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120).

120:2 lying lips . . . tongue: The complaint accompanying the petition is a frequent one in the prayers for help (see Pss 42:5; 31:18; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

120:3–4 The psalmist desires that the threat be removed, expressing trust that God will set things right (see Pss 3:7–8; 7:6).

- 4 Just this:<sup>m</sup> a warrior's sharpened arrows, coupled with burning coals from a wood<sup>n</sup> fire!
- 5 Oh, I'm doomed
because I have been an immigrant in Meshech, because I've made my home among Kedar's tents.
- 6 I've lived far too long with people who hate peace.
- 7 I'm for peace, but when I speak, they are for war.

120:4 Dt 32:23;
Ps 45:5; Ps 57:4;
Ps 140:10;
Prv 25:18

120:5 Gn 25:13;
Song 1:5; Is 60:7;
Jer 49:28

120:6 Ps 35:20;
Ps 57:4

120:7 Ps 34:14;
Ps 109:4;
Ps 140:2; Mt 5:9;
Ro 12:18

121:1 Ps 87:1;
Ps 123:1;
Is 40:26; Jer 3:23

121:2 Ps 115:15;
Ps 124:8;
Ps 146:5;
Ps 146:6

121:3 Isa 2:9;
Ps 66:9; Prv 3:23

121:4 Gn 49:24;
Ex 3:9; Ex 6:5;
Ps 127:1; Is 27:3

121:6 Is 49:10;
Jon 4:8; Rev 7:16

121:8 Dt 28:6;
Ps 113:2

122:1 Ps 42:4;
Is 2:3; Mt 4:2;
Zec 8:21

Psalm 121

A pilgrimage song.

- 1 I raise my eyes toward the mountains.
Where will my help come from?
- 2 My help comes from the LORD, the maker of heaven and earth.
- 3 God won't let your foot slip.
Your protector won't fall asleep on the job.
- 4 No! Israel's protector never sleeps or rests!
- 5 The LORD is your protector;
the LORD is your shade right beside you.
- 6 The sun won't strike you during the day;
neither will the moon at night.
- 7 The LORD will protect you from all evil;
God will protect your very life.<sup>o</sup>
- 8 The LORD will protect you on your journeys—whether going or coming—from now until forever from now.

Psalm 122

A pilgrimage song. Of David.

- 1 I rejoiced with those who said to me, "Let's go to the LORD's house!"
- 2 Now our feet are standing in your gates, Jerusalem!

<sup>m</sup>Heb lacks this. <sup>n</sup>Or the gorse or broom tree <sup>o</sup>Or your soul

120:5 immigrant: See Psalm 94:6. Meshech: See Ezekiel 32:26; 38:2-4; 39:1-3. Kedar: See Isaiah 21:16-17. The exact locations of these two places are unknown, but they are outside the land and are associated elsewhere with hostile powers. So the places may signal "people who hate peace" (Ps 120:6). That the first of the pilgrimage songs locates the psalmist outside the land may be significant (see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs").

120:6-7 peace: See Psalms 4:8; 72:3. war: See Psalm 46:10; Isaiah 2:4; Micah 4:3. The use of peace here looks forward to Psalms 122:6-8; 125:5.

121:1-8 Psalm 121 is an eloquent psalm of trust (see Pss 16, 23) that uses the image of a journey, perhaps to be understood as a journey that takes the psalmist from a conflicted life outside the land (Ps 120:5-7) to the peace of Jerusalem (Ps 122:6-8). See sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs."

121:1-2 These verses can be understood as the words of a person who is about to leave on a journey. The question (121:1b) suggests some anxiety, but it's accompanied by trust (Ps 121:2). Help: See Psalm 10:14. The repetition in Psalm 121:1b, 2a is a steplike pattern that is appropriate for a journey that was made on foot. This type of repetition occurs often in Psalms 120-134. maker... earth: This phrase is repeated in Psalm 134:3, which might be a spoken prayer as pilgrims prepared to leave Jerusalem for the trip home (see also Pss 115:15; 124:8).

121:3 God... slip: This is an important promise for a journey on foot (see Pss 66:9; 73:2). protector: This is the first of six uses of this keyword (see Ps 121:4, 5, 7a, 7b, 8), providing another instance of steplike repetition.

121:4 never sleeps: See Psalm 121:3. This is an assuring statement, especially for travelers who would be away from home day and night, and especially since people sometimes thought God was sleeping (see Ps 44:23).

121:6 sun... moon: The hot sun was a real problem for travelers on foot (see Isa 49:10), and the moon's light was thought to be dangerous (see Matt 4:24; 17:15, where "those with epilepsy"/"epileptic" is more literally "moonstruck").

121:7-8 The conclusion broadens God's protection to cover all evil (121:7) on any and all journeys... from now until forever (121:8). God is one's protector for the entire journey of life (see Ps 23:6).

122:1-9 Because the psalmist is in Jerusalem (122:2), celebrates Jerusalem (122:3-5), and prays for Jerusalem (122:6-9), Ps 122 is categorized as a song of Zion (see Ps 46; 48; 84; 87; see sidebar, "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and the Kingship of God" at Ps 48). The sequence of Psalms 120-122 reproduces a pilgrim's journey from outside the land to Jerusalem (see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs").

122:1 See similar invitations in 1 Samuel 14:11; Isaiah 2:3; Jeremiah 31:6. LORD's house: See Psalm 5:7. God's "house" is mentioned again in Psalm 122:9, so references to the temple bracket the psalm.

122:3 2Sa 5:9;
Neh 4:6;
Ps 48:13,
Ps 147:2
122:4 Ex 23:17;
Ex 34:23;
Dt 16:16
122:7 Ps 48:3,
Ps 48:13
123:1 Ps 2:4,
Ps 25:15,
Ps 121:1
123:2 Ps 25:15
123:3 Neh 4:4;
Ps 4:1, Ps 119:22
123:4 Job 12:5;
Is 32:9; Am 6:1
124:1 Ps 129:1
124:2 Nm 16:2;
Ps 3:1
124:3 Nm 16:30;
Ps 35:25, Ps 56:1;
Prv 1:12

- <sup>3</sup> Jerusalem is built like a city joined together in unity.
<sup>4</sup> That is where the tribes go up—the LORD's tribes!
 It is the law for Israel to give thanks there to the LORD's name, <sup>5</sup> because the thrones of justice are there—the thrones of the house of David!
<sup>6</sup> Pray that Jerusalem has peace:
 "Let those who love you have rest.
<sup>7</sup> Let there be peace on your walls;
 let there be rest on your fortifications."
<sup>8</sup> For the sake of my family and friends,
 I say, "Peace be with you, Jerusalem."
<sup>9</sup> For the sake of the LORD our God's house
 I will pray for your good.

Psalm 123

A pilgrimage song.

- <sup>1</sup> I raise my eyes to you—you who rule heaven.
<sup>2</sup> Just as the eyes of servants attend to their masters' hand, just as the eyes of a female servant attends to her mistress' hand—that's how our eyes attend to the LORD our God until he has mercy on us.
<sup>3</sup> Have mercy on us, LORD! Have mercy because we've had more than enough shame.
<sup>4</sup> We've had more than enough mockery from the self-confident, more than enough shame from the proud.

Psalm 124

A pilgrimage song. Of David.

- <sup>1</sup> If the LORD hadn't been for us—
 let Israel now repeat!—
<sup>2</sup> if the LORD hadn't been for us, when those people attacked us <sup>3</sup> then they would have swallowed us up whole with their rage burning against us!

122:3 Pilgrims to Jerusalem celebrated its architecture (see Ps 48:12-13), but also in view here is Jerusalem's ability to bring people together (see Ps 122:4).

122:4 the tribes go up... tribes: The Hebrew root involved in go up also appears in the titles of Psalms 120-134 (see "pilgrimage," which is more literally "going up"). The repetition of tribes illustrates the frequent steplike pattern (see Ps 121). the law... there: Males were expected to visit Jerusalem three times per year (see Exod 23:14-17; Deut 16:16).
 122:5 thrones of justice... thrones... David: The steplike repetition (see Ps 122:4) emphasizes that Jerusalem is to be celebrated both as God's city and the home of the Davidic line, whose God-given responsibility was to do the justice that God wants for the world (see Pss 9:4; 72:1-7; 96:13; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2).

122:6-8 Justice (see Ps 122:5) is required for the creation of shalom, "peace," which occurs in verses 6, 7, and 8, and which forms the last two syllables of the name "Jerusalem." (see Pss 4:8; 72:3, 7; 85:10, 12; 120:6-7).

123:1-4 Because it starts with a single voice (123:1) that quickly becomes a plural voice (123:2), Psalm 123 is usually categorized as a communal prayer for help (see Pss 44; 74). The complaint in verses 3-4 recalls the situation described in Psalm 120, so it may be that Psalm 123 continues the sequence that involves Psalms 120-122 (see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120).

123:1 raise my eyes: Elsewhere this is often a sign of arrogance, but here the psalmist looks to God for help (see Ps 141:8). who rule heaven: See Psalm 2:4.

123:2 servants... servant... mistress' hand: Given the affirmation of God's rule in Psalm 123:1, the congregation appropriately takes the posture of servants (see Ps 119:117). The simile pictures God in feminine as well as masculine terms (see Ps 131:2-3). The word eyes occurs four times in verses 1-2, continuing the pattern of steplike repetition (see Pss 121-122).

123:3 Have mercy... Have mercy: Repeating "mercy" from Psalm 123:2, the steplike pattern continues. The repeated petition within verse 3 has the literary effect of surrounding God with cries for help.

123:4 Similar complaints occur often elsewhere (see Pss 42:3, 10; 44:13; 79:4).

124:1-8 Psalm 124 is a psalm of thanks (see Ps 30); and whether intended or not, it provides a fitting response to the communal prayer for help in Psalm 123 (see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120).

124:1-2 for us... for us: See Psalm 118:6-7. The invitation to repeat this affirmation suggests the setting of public worship, and this fits well with the probability that Psalms 120-134 were used by gathered pilgrims in Jerusalem.

124:3-5 The three uses of then at the beginning of each verse introduce the deadly consequences that would have happened without God's help. swallowed: See the destruction described in Jeremiah 51:34. over our

<sup>4</sup>Then the waters would have drowned us; the torrent would have come over our necks;¶ <sup>5</sup>then the raging waters would have come over our necks!

<sup>6</sup>Bless the LORD because he didn't hand us over like food for our enemies' teeth!

<sup>7</sup>We escaped like a bird from the hunters' trap;
the trap was broken so we escaped!

<sup>8</sup>Our help is in the name of the LORD, the maker of heaven and earth.

Psalm 125

A pilgrimage song.

<sup>1</sup>The people who trust in the LORD are like Mount Zion:
never shaken, lasting forever.

<sup>2</sup>Mountains surround Jerusalem.
That's how the LORD surrounds his people
from now until forever from now!

<sup>3</sup>The wicked rod won't remain in the land given to the righteous so that they don't use their hands to do anything wrong.¶ <sup>4</sup>LORD, do good to people who are good, to people whose hearts are right.

<sup>5</sup>But as for those people who turn to their own twisted ways—may the LORD march them off with other evildoers!

Peace be on Israel!

Psalm 126

A pilgrimage song.

<sup>1</sup>When the LORD changed Zion's circumstances for the better, it was like we had been dreaming.

<sup>2</sup>Our mouths were suddenly filled with laughter; our tongues were filled with joyful shouts.

¶Or soul; also in 124:5, 7 ¶Heb uncertain

necks ... over our necks: Steplike repetition continues (see Pss 121–122). See Psalm 69:1 for a similar complaint.

124:6 Bless: See Psalms 16:7; 100:4.

124:8 See Psalm 121:2. As Psalm 123 recalled Psalm 120, so Psalm 124 recalls Psalm 121, suggesting the possibility of a planned sequence (see sidebar, “The Pilgrimage Songs” at Ps 120).

125:1–5 Because of the complaint suggested in verse 3 and the petitions in verses 4–5, Psalm 125 is usually categorized as a prayer for help. Expressions of trust (125:1–2) are also typical; and as here, they sometimes come before the complaint and petition (see Ps 40). Because Psalm 123 recalls Psalm 120, and Psalm 124 recalls Psalm 121, it's noticeable that Psalm 125 recalls Psalm 122. Both psalms feature the importance of Zion, and both end with a focus on peace (see sidebar, “The Pilgrimage Songs” at Ps 120).

125:1 trust: See Psalms 4:5; 115:9–11. Mount Zion: See Psalm 2:6. never shaken: Jerusalem was viewed as an anchor of stability, even amid threats of all kinds (see Ps 46:1–7, especially verse 5).

125:2 surround ... surrounds: The steplike repetition continues (see Pss 121–122). It's easy to imagine that pilgrims in Jerusalem would look out from the city to the surrounding hills, and be reminded of God's protecting presence (see Ps 121:2).

125:3 Although the Hebrew is unclear, the verse seems to recognize that evil is capable of tempting God's people (see Ps 73:10). This realization leads to the petitions in Psalm 125:4–5.

125:4 do good ... good: The line continues the steplike repetition, and it offers a motive for resisting temptation (see Pss 23:6; 84:11; 85:12).

125:5 Such requests are frequent. The motivation isn't personal payback but rather the desire that God set things right (see Pss 3:7–8; 7:6). Peace: See Psalms 4:8; 85:10; 120:6–7; 122:6–8.

126:1–6 Psalm 126 is usually identified as a communal prayer for help because of the petitions and suggested complaints in verses 4–6. It fits well within the post-exilic era, when joy over the return from life in Babylon (126:1–3) was followed by new difficulties that challenged the community in its effort to rebuild (126:4–6; see Ps 85). See sidebar, “The Pilgrimage Songs” at Psalm 120.

126:1 changed ... better: See Psalms 126:4; 14:7; 85:1. dreaming: See Joel 2:28, where dreams accompany the promise of rescue.

126:2 joyful shouts: An appropriate way to celebrate the return from life in Babylon (see Isa 49:13). Psalm 126:5–6 will pray for the return of such joy. It ... them: See Psalms 79:10 and 115:2 for the negative things that the nations often said.

124:4 Ps 42:7

124:5 Job 38:11

124:6 Ex 15:9

124:7 Ps 91:3;
Prv 6:5

124:8 Gn 1:1;

Ps 115:15;

Ps 121:2;

Ps 134:3;

Ps 146:5

125:1 Ps 46:5;

Prv 10:30

125:2 Ps 34:7;

Zec 2:5

125:3 Prv 22:8;

Is 14:5

125:4 Ps 7:10;

Ps 36:10;

Ps 51:18;

Ps 119:68

125:5 Ps 128:6;

Prv 2:15; Is 59:8;

Ga 6:16

126:1 Ps 14:7;

Ps 85:1;

Hos 6:11;

Ac 12:9

126:2 Isa 12:24;

Job 8:21;

Ps 71:19; Lk 1:49

126:3 Ps 9:2;
Is 25:9; Lk 1:49
126:5 Ps 30:5;
Is 35:10, Is 51:11;
Jer 31:9; Mt 5:4
126:6 Ps 30:5
127:1 Ps 33:16,
Ps 121:3,
Ps 121:4;
Prv 21:31;
Song 5:7
127:2 Gn 3:17
127:3 Gn 33:5;
Josh 24:3;
Ps 113:9
127:4 Prv 17:6
127:5 Job 5:4
128:1 Ps 112:1,
Ps 119:1
128:2 Is 3:10

It was even said, at that time, among the nations,
“The LORD has done great things for them!”

<sup>3</sup>Yes, the LORD has done great things for us, and we are overjoyed.

<sup>4</sup>LORD, change our circumstances for the better, like dry streams in the desert waste!

<sup>5</sup>Let those who plant with tears reap the harvest with joyful shouts.

<sup>6</sup>Let those who go out, crying and carrying their seed, come home with joyful shouts, carrying bales of grain!

Psalm 127

A pilgrimage song. Of Solomon.

<sup>1</sup>Unless it is the LORD who builds the house, the builders' work is pointless.

Unless it is the LORD who protects the city, the guard on duty is pointless.

<sup>2</sup>It is pointless that you get up early and stay up late, eating the bread of hard labor because God gives sleep to those he loves.

<sup>3</sup>No doubt about it: children are a gift from the LORD;
the fruit of the womb is a divine reward.

<sup>4</sup>The children born when one is young are like arrows in the hand of a warrior.

<sup>5</sup>The person who fills a quiver full with them is truly happy!
They won't be ashamed when arguing with their enemies in the gate.

Psalm 128

A pilgrimage song.

<sup>1</sup>Everyone who honors the LORD, who walks in God's ways, is truly happy!

<sup>2</sup>You will definitely enjoy what you've worked hard for—you'll be happy; and things will go well for you.

126:3 great things: See Psalm 126:2; the steplike repetition continues (see Pss 121–122).

126:4 The pairing of celebration and petition occurs elsewhere (see Pss 85:4–7; 118:21–25). While this pattern fits the post-exilic era, it also suggests that God's people will always need to pray for restoration. dry streams: In the rainy season, dry streams could suddenly become raging torrents (see Amos 5:24).

126:5–6 tears . . . crying: Planting season always involves a degree of anxiety, as well as hope. Tears may also communicate the deep desire for help (see Joel 2:17).

127:1–5 Psalm 127 has a teaching tone. It focuses on several daily activities, and it teaches that these routine realities are matters that should be understood and carried out in relationship to God. In short, normal things like shelter and protection (127:1), food and rest (127:2), and family (127:3–5) are gifts to be received from God, not merely achieved by human effort. The credit to Solomon may come from the fact that he was responsible for several building projects, including the temple that would have been the ultimate destination of pilgrims to Jerusalem (see sidebar, “The Pilgrimage Songs” at Ps 120).

127:1 builds the house: The phrase can refer to physical construction and to establishing a dynasty. In the latter sense, it would be more clearly related to the subject of children in Psalm 127:3–5. Perhaps the vagueness is purposeful.

127:2 bread: The verse may point to Genesis 3:17–19, which suggests that human beings will have to work hard for their bread. If so, this verse affirms God's provision of food for humans, despite their disobedience (see Matt 6:25–34).

127:3 gift . . . reward: See 1 Samuel 1:3–20 for an illustration of this view.

127:5 truly happy: See Psalms 1:1–2; 128:1. They . . . gate: Local matters were settled at the city gate, so this verse may suggest that a large family would be an advantage in settling disputes.

128:1–5 The uses of “truly happy” in Psalms 127:5 and 128:1 suggest that the two psalms form a pair. Both also have a teaching goal, and share an emphasis on the importance of children (Pss 127:3–5; 128:3; see sidebar, “The Pilgrimage Songs” at Ps 120).

128:1 See Psalms 1:1–2; 112:1; 119:1.

128:2 happy . . . go well: Like Psalms 1 and 112, this verse seems to suggest that those who honor and obey God will have a care-free life; however, the book of Psalms makes it clear that the righteous are persistently and pervasively opposed. This means that happiness or blessedness (see Ps 128:4–5) can't finally mean superficial cheeriness but

- <sup>3</sup>In your house, your wife will be like a vine full of fruit.
 All around your table, your children will be like olive trees, freshly planted.
- <sup>4</sup>That's how it goes for anyone who honors the LORD:
 they will be blessed!
- <sup>5</sup>May the LORD bless you from Zion.
 May you experience Jerusalem's goodness your whole life long.
- <sup>6</sup>And may you see your grandchildren.

Peace be on Israel!

Psalm 129

A pilgrimage song.

- <sup>1</sup>From youth, people have constantly attacked me—
 let Israel now repeat!—
- <sup>2</sup>from youth people have constantly attacked me—but they haven't beaten me!
- <sup>3</sup>They plowed my back like farmers;
 they made their furrows deep.
- <sup>4</sup>But the LORD is righteous—
 God cut me free from the ropes of the wicked!

- <sup>5</sup>Let everyone who hates Zion be ashamed, thoroughly frustrated.
- <sup>6</sup>Let them be like grass on a roof that dies before it can be pulled up, <sup>7</sup>which won't fill the reaper's hand or fill the harvester's arms.
- <sup>8</sup>Let no one who passes by say to them:
 "May the LORD's blessing be on you!
 We bless you in the LORD's name!"

Psalm 130

A pilgrimage song.

- <sup>1</sup>I cry out to you from the depths, LORD—<sup>2</sup>my Lord, listen to my voice!
 Let your ears pay close attention to my request for mercy!
- <sup>3</sup>If you kept track of sins, LORD—my Lord, who would stand a chance?
- <sup>4</sup>But forgiveness is with you—that's why you are honored.

rather the profound contentment that comes from being connected to God and relying upon God (see Ps 1:3).
128:3 like olive trees, freshly planted: An image of thriving (see Ps 52:8).

128:5 May... Zion: See Psalms 2:6; 134:3. This petition seems to reflect the experience of gathered pilgrims in Jerusalem. May... long: See Psalm 122:9. Peace... Israel!: See Psalms 120:6-7; 122:6-8; 125:5.

129:1-8 Because of the rescue related in verses 2b and 4b, Psalm 129 is usually categorized as a psalm of thanks (see Pss 30, 124). See sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Psalm 120.

129:1 Let Israel now repeat!: See Psalm 124:1.

129:2 attacked me... beaten me!: See Psalm 124:2. Some readers view the "me" as a personified Jerusalem. The attack and rescue are described symbolically in Psalm 129:3-4b.

129:4 The LORD is righteous: See Psalm 5:8. The rescue of the psalmist (or Jerusalem) is an example of God's setting things right.

129:5 Zion: See Psalm 2:6. As would be expected, the pilgrimage songs often feature Zion (see Pss 122:1-9; 125:1; 126:1; 128:5; 132:13-18; 133:3; 134:3). ashamed... frustrated: This petition, which is stated symbolically in Psalm 129:6-7, assumes that opponents of Zion are opponents of God and God's will (see sidebar "Psalms 46-48: Jerusalem and the Kingship of God" at Ps 48).

129:8 The motivation for this and the petitions in Psalm 129:5-7 isn't necessarily vindictiveness but rather the desire that evil and destructive behavior not be given any sort of approval. See Psalms 3:7-8; 7:6; compare with Psalms 128:5; 133:3; 134:3.

130:1-8 Psalm 130 begins like a prayer for help. Petitions (130:1-2) are followed by an expression of confidence that is still addressed to God (130:3-4). Verses 5-6 continue the assurance (but not primarily addressed to God), and verses 7-8 combine an invitation to Israel with further affirmation of faith. Psalm 130 is the sixth of the church's Penitential Psalms (see Ps 6). It makes clear that opposition to God can come from God's own people, not just from external enemies as in Psalm 129.

130:1 the depths: See Psalm 69:2, 14 ("deep water," "watery depths"). The term describes the destructive forces that diminish life and confront people with deadly threats, often symbolized by water.

130:2-4 These verses make it clear that the psalmist's own sin has contributed to the threat. But the emphasis is on forgiveness.

128:3 Gn 49:22;
 Ps 52:8,
 Ps 144:12;
 Eze 19:10

128:4 Ps 112:1

128:6 Gn 48:11,
 Gn 50:23;
 Job 42:16;
 Ps 125:5;
 Prv 17:6

129:1 Ps 124:1; Jer 2:2; Hos 2:15

129:3 Is 51:23

129:6 2Ki 19:26;
 Ps 37:2; Is 37:27

129:7 Am 7:1

130:1 Ps 42:7,
 Ps 69:2;
 Lam 3:55

130:2 2Ch 6:40;
 Neh 1:6; Ps 28:2,
 Ps 86:6; Ps 140:6

130:3 Job 9:2;
 Ps 143:2;
 Na 1:6; Mal 3:2;
 Rev 6:17

130:4 1Ki 8:40;
 Ps 86:5; Ps 103:3;
 Jer 33:8; Dn 9:9

130:7 Ps 111:9,
Ps 131:3; Eph 1:7
130:8 Mt 1:21;
Lk 1:68; Ti 2:14
131:1 Job 42:3;
Ps 101:5;
Ps 139:6;
Jer 45:5;
Ro 12:16

131:2 Ps 62:1;
Mt 18:3;
1Co 14:20

132:1 1Sa 18:1,
1Sa 18:11,
1Sa 19:1,
1Sa 20:1,
1Sa 21:1

132:2 Gn 49:24;
Ps 132:5;
Is 49:26, Is 60:16

132:3 2Sa 7:2
132:4 Prv 6:4

132:5
1Ch 22:7;
Ps 132:2;
Ac 7:46

132:6 Gn 35:19;
Ru 4:11,
1Sa 7:1,
1Sa 17:12;
Mi 5:2

- <sup>5</sup>I hope, LORD. My whole being<sup>a</sup> hopes, and I wait for God's promise.
<sup>6</sup>My whole being waits for my Lord—more than the night watch waits for morning;
yes, more than the night watch waits for morning!
- <sup>7</sup>Israel, wait for the LORD!
Because faithful love is with the LORD;
because great redemption is with our God!
- <sup>8</sup>He is the one who will redeem Israel from all its sin.

Psalm 131

A pilgrimage song. Of David.

- <sup>1</sup>LORD, my heart isn't proud;
my eyes aren't conceited.
I don't get involved with things too great or wonderful for me.
<sup>2</sup>No. But I have calmed and quieted myself<sup>b</sup> like a weaned child on its mother;
I'm like the weaned child that is with me.
- <sup>3</sup>Israel, wait for the LORD—
from now until forever from now!

Psalm 132

A pilgrimage song.

- <sup>1</sup>LORD, remember David—all the ways he suffered <sup>2</sup>and how he swore to the LORD, how he promised the strong one of Jacob:
<sup>3</sup>"I won't enter my house, won't get into my bed.
<sup>4</sup>I won't let my eyes close, won't let my eyelids sleep, <sup>5</sup>until I find a place for the LORD, a dwelling place for the strong one of Jacob."
<sup>6</sup>Yes, we heard about it in Ephrathah;
we found it<sup>c</sup> in the fields of Jaar.

<sup>a</sup>Or soul; also in 132:6 <sup>b</sup>Or my soul <sup>c</sup>It may refer to the covenant chest (132:8 b).

130:5-6 hope... hopes... wait: See Psalms 25:3, 5, 20; 27:14; 131:3. This is another instance of step-like repetition (see Pss 121–122), for morning... for morning!: More step-like repetition communicates urgency.

130:7 Israel, wait... LORD!: The psalmist invites the whole people to do as he or she is doing in Psalm 130:5-6 (see Ps 131:3). faithful love: See Psalm 5:7. This is one of the fundamental qualities of God revealed shortly after God had forgiven Israel for the sin of the gold calf (see Exod 34:6). This was indeed a great redemption, and serves as the foundation for the confidence stated in Psalm 130:8.

131:1-3 Psalm 131 is a brief but powerful psalm of trust. The humility expressed is appropriate following Psalm 130 and its recognition of God's forgiveness of sin. The parallel between its mother and on me in 131:2 makes it likely that the psalmist is a woman, and women almost certainly were participants in pilgrimages to Jerusalem (see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120).

131:1 things... for me: Elsewhere "great" and "wonderful" things describe God's saving deeds, which should be a focus of attention (see Ps 105:2). If the psalmist is a woman, perhaps social, cultural, or religious customs prevented her from being involved with such things.

131:2 Even if the psalmist's humility was forced upon her (Ps 131:1), she has found a source of balance and comfort, just as a young child often does in her mother's arms.

131:3 The striking image of a comforting mother in Psalm 131:2 serves as the basis for the invitation to Israel (see Ps 130:7). God can be trusted as a comforting mother (see Ps 123:2).

132:1-18 Psalm 132 is noticeably longer than the other pilgrimage songs, and its length is based on the two main reasons for making a pilgrimage to Jerusalem: Jerusalem is God's place (132:7-8, 13-16), and Jerusalem is (or was) the home of the Davidic line that God chose (132:10-12, 17-18; see Ps 122:5; see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120). Because of this dual focus, Psalm 132 is often categorized as a royal psalm (see Ps 2) or a song of Zion (see Ps 46), or both. Because of the petition for David in verse 1, and because verses 10 and 17 imply that the house of David needs help, it is likely that Psalm 132 reflects the circumstances of the post-exilic era when the kings no longer ruled (see note on Ps 132:17-18)

132:1 David... suffered: See Psalm 89:38-51, especially verse 50.

132:2-5 David's promise isn't recorded elsewhere, but it's similar to what David desires in 2 Samuel 7:1-2.

132:6-8 It isn't clear what "it" refers to in verse 6, and the

- <sup>7</sup>Let's enter God's dwelling place;
let's worship at the place God rests his feet!
- <sup>8</sup>Get up, LORD, go to your residence—you and your powerful covenant chest!
- <sup>9</sup>Let your priests be dressed in righteousness;
let your faithful shout out with joy!
- <sup>10</sup>And for the sake of your servant David,
do not reject your anointed one.
- <sup>11</sup>The LORD swore to David a true promise that God won't take back:
"I will put one of your own children on your throne.
- <sup>12</sup>And if your children keep my covenant and the laws that I will teach them, then their children too will rule on your throne forever."
- <sup>13</sup>Because the LORD chose Zion;
he wanted it for his home.
- <sup>14</sup>"This is my residence forever.
I will live here because I wanted it for myself."<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>15</sup>I will most certainly bless its food supply;
I will fill its needy full of food!
- <sup>16</sup>I will dress its priests in salvation, and its faithful will shout out loud with joy!
- <sup>17</sup>It is there that I will make David's strength thrive.<sup>v</sup>
I will prepare a lamp for my anointed one there.
- <sup>18</sup>I will dress his enemies in shame, but the crown he wears will shine."

Psalm 133

A pilgrimage song. Of David.

- <sup>1</sup>Look at how good and pleasing it is when families<sup>w</sup> live together as one!
- <sup>2</sup>It is like expensive oil poured over the head, running down onto the beard—

<sup>a</sup>Heb lacks for myself. <sup>v</sup>Or make a horn sprout. <sup>w</sup>Or brothers (and sisters); the term often encompasses extended family relationships.

location of the places isn't certain. So, the exact sense of these verses is unclear; but they involve David moving the sacred chest (132:8; see Ps 80:1) to Jerusalem (see 2 Sam 6:1-19). The "we" in verse 6, who seem to offer the petitions in verses 7-10, may be pilgrims whose journey retraced the journey of the sacred chest to Jerusalem.

132:7 the place . . . his feet!: This is a reference to the sacred chest (see Ps 132:8), which was known as God's "footstool" (see Ps 99:5).

132:9 See Psalm 132:16.

132:10 anointed one: See Psalms 132:17; 2:2; 89:20.

132:11-12 See Psalm 132:17-18; 2 Samuel 7; Psalm 89, especially verses 3-4, 28-37.

132:13-16 The focus is on Zion in these verses (see Pss 2:6; 46:4; 76:2; 84:1). As Psalm 122:3-5 also makes clear, Zion and David are inseparable; and this is exactly why the end of Psalm 89 (verses 38-51) is so shocking, and why Books IV and V of the Psalter seem to have been shaped to respond to the crisis of exile and the disappearance of the Davidic line (see sidebars, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89; "Book V" at Ps 107).

132:17-18 See Psalm 89:19-24. These verses imply that the house of David has suffered a setback (see Ps 89:38-51), and they may express the hope for the restoration of the monarchy at a later time. If so, it never happened (see Ps 101:3-8), and the role of the kings—that is, to be the earthly agents of God's will—seems to have passed to the whole people (see Pss 105:15; 144:11-14; 149:6-9; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2).

133:1-3 A focus on families and family life is typical in Psalms 120-134 (see Pss 122:8; 127:3-5; 128:3, 6; 131:2); but what starts out as an observation about family life (133:1) concludes with the affirmation that God's family consists of the whole gathered people of God in Jerusalem (133:3; see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120).

133:1 good and pleasing: The same two Hebrew words occur in Psalm 147:1 to describe what it is like to praise God. when families live together: The only other occurrence of this phrase is in Deuteronomy 25:5, which says that male extended family members have a duty to continue the family line when a brother has died. As Deuteronomy 25 makes clear, failure to fulfill such duties created an unpleasant public controversy.

133:2 Aaron's beard: The mention of Aaron, the ancestor of a major priestly line, isn't surprising in the pilgrimage setting where priests would have been prominent (see Ps 132:9, 16).

132:7 Ps 5:7,
Ps 99:5

132:8 Nm 10:35,
Nm 10:36;
2Ch 6:41;
Ps 68:1, Ps 78:61

132:9 Job 29:14;
Ps 132:16,
Ps 149:5;
Is 61:10

132:11 2Sa 7:12;
2Ch 6:16;
Ps 89:3, Ps 89:35,
Ps 110:4

132:12 Lk 1:32

132:13 Ps 48:1,
Ps 68:16,
Ps 78:68

132:14 Ps 68:16,
Ps 132:8; Is 66:1

132:15 Ps 107:9,
Ps 147:14

132:16
2Ch 6:41;
Ps 132:9;
Is 61:10

132:17
1Ki 11:36,
1Ki 15:4,
2Ki 8:19;
Eze 29:21;
Lk 1:69

132:18 Job 8:22;
Ps 109:29

133:1 Gn 13:8;
Heb 13:1

133:2 Ex 29:7,
Ex 30:25,
Ex 30:30,
Lv 8:12

134:1 1Ch 9:33,
1Ch 23:30;
Ps 113:1,
Ps 135:1,
Ps 135:2
134:2 Ps 28:2,
Ps 63:4, Ps 141:2,
1Ti 2:8
135:1 Ps 113:1,
Ps 134:1
135:5 Ex 18:11;
Ps 48:1, Ps 95:3,
Ps 97:9, Ps 145:3

Aaron's beard!—
which extended over the collar of his robes.

- <sup>2</sup>It is like the dew on Mount Hermon streaming down onto the mountains of Zion, because it is there that the LORD has commanded the blessing:
everlasting life.

Psalm 134

A pilgrimage song.

- <sup>1</sup>All you who serve the LORD: bless the LORD right now!
All you who minister in the LORD's house at night: bless God!
<sup>2</sup>Lift up your hands to the sanctuary and bless the LORD!
<sup>3</sup>May the LORD, the maker of heaven and earth, bless you from Zion.

Psalm 135

- <sup>1</sup>Praise the LORD! Praise the LORD's name!
All you who serve the LORD, praise God!
<sup>2</sup>All you who stand in the LORD's house—who stand in the courtyards of our God's temple—<sup>3</sup>praise the LORD, because the LORD is good!
Sing praises to God's name because it is beautiful!
<sup>4</sup>Because the LORD chose Jacob as his own,
God chose Israel as his treasured possession.

<sup>5</sup>Yes, I know for certain that the LORD is great—
I know our Lord is greater than all other gods.

Mount Hermon
David Bivin/LifeintheHolyLand.com

133:3 dew... Zion: Mount Hermon was known for its abundant moisture. The point seems to be that the resources of outlying areas flow to Zion (see Pss 2:6; 132:13), and the effect is to shift the focus of attention away from biological family lines (see Ps 133:1) to the gathered family of God in Jerusalem. there... life: The word blessing recalls "good and pleasing" in Psalm 133:1; but goodness is now experienced there—that is, in Jerusalem—where the gathered pilgrims form the true family of God (see Pss 128:5; 134:3).

134:1-3 Psalm 133 ends by suggesting that God's gathered people experience God's blessing in Jerusalem, and bless becomes the keyword in Psalm 134, the final pilgrimage song. Psalm 134 also shows the gathered people, perhaps on the night before pilgrims were to depart for home (Ps 134:1; see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120).

134:1 bless: See Psalms 16:7; 100:4. Three more uses of "bless" continue the steplike pattern of repetition (see Pss 121-122). the Lord's house: the temple on Zion (see Pss 2:6; 5:7).

134:2 Lift... hands: the posture of prayer, seemingly offered facing the main temple building (see Ps 28:2).

134:3 maker... earth: See Psalms 115:15; 121:2; 124:8. If Psalm 134 shows the scene shortly before pilgrims depart, it is appropriate that they prepare to leave by praying (Ps 134:2) and confessing their faith. bless you from Zion: This line gives Psalm 134:3 the character of a prayer spoken before leaving, which also was appropriate for a departure scene. This last line means that the blessing is mutual—that is, the people bless God (Ps 134:1-2), and God blesses the people (Ps 134:3).

135:1-21 The pilgrimage songs end with Psalm 134, but it seems that the editors of the book of Psalms placed Psalms 135-136 after Psalm 134 to illustrate the congregation's blessing of God with songs of praise (see "All you who serve" in Pss 134:1 and 135:1, and note that the invitation to praise in 135:2 is extended to people who are in the temple area). Psalms 135-136 are similar to the historical psalms, and are sometimes categorized as such (see Ps 78).

135:3 because... good: See Psalms 100:5; 106:1; 107:1; 118:1, 29.

135:5 greater... gods: See Psalms 95:3; 97:7, 9; Exodus 18:11.

- <sup>6</sup>The LORD can do whatever he wants in heaven or on earth, in the seas and in every ocean depth.
- <sup>7</sup>God forms clouds at the far corners of the earth.
God makes lightning for the rain.
God releases the wind from its storeroom.
- <sup>8</sup>God struck down the Egyptians' oldest offspring—both human and animal!
- <sup>9</sup>God sent signs and wonders into the very center of Egypt—against Pharaoh and all his servants.
- <sup>10</sup>God struck down many nations and killed mighty kings:
- <sup>11</sup>Sihon the Amorite king, Og the king of Bashan, and all the Canaanite kings.
- <sup>12</sup>Then God handed their land over as an inheritance—as an inheritance to Israel, his own people.

- <sup>13</sup>LORD, your name is forever!
LORD, your fame extends from one generation to the next!
- <sup>14</sup>The LORD gives justice to his people and has compassion on those who serve him.

- <sup>15</sup>The nations' idols are just silver and gold—things made by human hands.
- <sup>16</sup>They have mouths, but they can't speak.
They have eyes, but they can't see.
- <sup>17</sup>They have ears, but they can't listen.
No, there's no breath in their lungs!
- <sup>18</sup>Let the people who made these idols
and all who trust in them become just like them!

- <sup>19</sup>House of Israel, bless the LORD!
House of Aaron, bless the LORD!
- <sup>20</sup>House of Levi, bless the LORD!
You who honor the LORD, bless the LORD!
- <sup>21</sup>Bless the LORD from Zion—bless the one who lives in Jerusalem!

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 136

- <sup>1</sup>Give thanks to the LORD because he is good.
God's faithful love lasts forever!
- <sup>2</sup>Give thanks to the God of all gods—
God's faithful love lasts forever.

135:6 See Psalm 115:3.

135:8 See Psalms 78:51; 105:36; 136:10; Exodus 12:29-32.

135:9 See Psalms 78:43; 105:27; Exodus 7-10.

135:10-12 See Psalm 136:17-22; Numbers 21:21-35; Joshua 21:43-45.

135:15-18 See Psalm 115:4-8.

135:19-20 Israel... Aaron... Levi: These labels may all be names for the entire worshipping congregation; but House of Aaron may refer to priests (see Ps 133:2), and House of Levi to other workers in the temple (see Pss 115:9-11; 118:2-4).

135:21 Bless: See Psalms 135:19-20; 16:7; 100:4. from Zion: See Psalms 2:6; 134:3.

136:1-26 Like Psalm 135, to which it is related, Psalm 136 is a song of praise. It also contains a historical recital, and is often classified as a historical psalm (see Ps 78).

136:1 See Psalms 106:1; 107:1; 118:1, 29. Give thanks: The invitation is repeated in Hebrew only at the beginning of verses 2-3 and 26; but it's suggested at the beginning of almost every line, and so it's included more often in the translation. God's faithful love lasts forever: See Psalm 5:7. This line completes every poetic line in the entire psalm, suggesting that it served as a response sung by a choir or the congregation (see 2 Chron 5:13; 7:3; 20:21; Ezra 3:11). This refrain also affirms that God's love is responsible for creation (136:5-9), the exodus (136:10-15), guidance in the wilderness (136:16-20), the gift of the land (136:21-22), the return from life in Babylon (136:23-24), and the daily bread that sustains life for the world (136:25).

136:2-3 See Psalm 135:5.

136:4 great wonders: See Psalms 78:4, 11-12; 105:2; 106:7. This phrase looks forward to all that follows.

135:6 Ps 115:3;
Dn 4:35
135:7 Job 28:26,
Job 38:25;
Jer 10:13,
Jer 51:16;
Zec 10:1
135:13 Ex 3:15;
Ps 102:12
135:15 Ps 115:4
136:1 1Ch 16:34;
Ps 106:1,
Ps 107:1,
Ps 118:1;
Jer 33:11
136:2 Dt 10:17

136:4 Ps 72:18

136:5 Gn 1:1;

Ps 104:24;

Pv 3:19;

Jer 10:12;

Jer 51:15

136:6 Gn 1:9;

Ps 24:2; Is 42:5;

Is 44:24;

Jer 10:12

136:8 Gn 1:16

136:9 Gn 1:16

136:12 Ex 6:6;

Dt 4:34; Dt 5:15;

Dt 9:29; Dt 11:2

136:23 Gn 8:1;

Ps 103:14

136:24 Ps 107:2

136:25

Ps 104:14;

Ps 104:27;

Ps 145:15;

Ps 145:16;

Ps 147:9

136:26 Neh 1:4

3 Give thanks to the Lord of all lords—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

4 Give thanks to the only one who makes great wonders—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

5 Give thanks to the one who made the skies with skill—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

6 Give thanks to the one who shaped the earth on the water—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

7 Give thanks to the one who made the great lights—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

8 The sun to rule the day—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

9 The moon and the stars to rule the night—

God's faithful love lasts forever!

10 Give thanks to the one who struck down the Egyptians' oldest offspring—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

11 Give thanks to the one who brought Israel out of there—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

12 With a strong hand and outstretched arm—

God's faithful love lasts forever!

13 Give thanks to the one who split the Reed Sea<sup>a</sup> in two—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

14 Give thanks to the one who brought Israel through—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

15 And tossed Pharaoh and his army into the Reed Sea—

God's faithful love lasts forever!

16 Give thanks to the one who led his people through the desert—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

17 Give thanks to the one who struck down great kings—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

18 And killed powerful kings—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

19 Sihon, the Amorite king—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

20 Og, king of Bashan—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

21 Handing their land over as an inheritance—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

22 As an inheritance to Israel, his servant—

God's faithful love lasts forever!

23 God remembered us when we were humiliated—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

24 God rescued us from our enemies—

God's faithful love lasts forever.

25 God is the one who provides food for all living things—

God's faithful love lasts forever!

26 Give thanks to the God of heaven—

God's faithful love lasts forever!

<sup>a</sup>Or Red Sea; also in 136:15

136:5-9 See Genesis 1:1-31.

136:10-15 See Psalm 135:8-9; Exodus 12:29-15:21.

136:16-22 See Psalm 135:10-12; Numbers 21:21-35; Joshua 21:43-45.

136:23-24 These verses could be summarizing the sections that came before, but they probably extend the story to include release from life in Babylon.

136:25 God's loving activity ultimately extends to the whole creation (see Pss 104:14-15, 27-28; 145:15-16; 146:7; 147:9; see sidebar, "God the Creator" at Ps 8).

Psalm 137

- <sup>1</sup>Alongside Babylon's streams, there we sat down, crying because we remembered Zion.
- <sup>2</sup>We hung our lyres up in the trees there
- <sup>3</sup>because that's where our captors asked us to sing;
our tormentors requested songs of joy:
"Sing us a song about Zion!" they said.
- <sup>4</sup>But how could we possibly sing the LORD's song on foreign soil?
- <sup>5</sup>Jerusalem! If I forget you, let my strong hand wither!
- <sup>6</sup>Let my tongue stick to the roof of my mouth if I don't remember you, if I don't make Jerusalem my greatest joy.
- <sup>7</sup>LORD, remember what the Edomites did on Jerusalem's dark day:
"Rip it down, rip it down!
All the way to its foundations!" they yelled.
- <sup>8</sup>Daughter Babylon, you destroyer,<sup>7</sup> a blessing on the one who pays you back the very deed you did to us!
- <sup>9</sup>A blessing on the one who seizes your children and smashes them against the rock!

137:1 Neh 1:4;
Eze 1:1

137:2 Lv 23:40;
Job 30:31;
Is 24:8;
Eze 26:13

137:3 Ps 79:1;
Ps 80:6

137:4 Neh 12:46

137:5 Ps 102:14;
Is 65:11;
Jer 51:50

137:6 Ps 22:15;
Eze 3:26

137:8 Is 13:1,
Is 47:1; Jer 25:12,
Jer 50:1; Jer 51:1

137:9 2Ks 8:12;
Is 13:16;
Hos 10:14;
Hos 13:16;
Na 3:10

138:1 Ps 9:1,
Ps 86:12, Ps 95:3,
Ps 111:1

138:3 Ps 118:5

Psalm 138Of David.*

- <sup>1</sup>I give thanks to you with all my heart, LORD.<sup>a</sup>
I sing your praise before all other gods.
- <sup>2</sup>I bow toward your holy temple and thank your name for your loyal love and faithfulness because you have made your name and word greater than everything else.<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>3</sup>On the day I cried out, you answered me.
You encouraged me with inner strength.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Sym, Tg, Syr; MT the devastated <sup>a</sup>LXX, Syr, Tg, DSS (11QP<sup>s</sup>); MT lacks Lord. <sup>a</sup>Correction; Heb uncertain

<sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain

137:1-9 The date and setting of Psalm 137 are more clearly in view than in any other psalm. It is a communal prayer for help that looks back with grief (137:1-4) and anger (137:7-9) upon the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BCE. It possibly was written in Babylon (137:1-4), but it may have been written later by someone who returned to Jerusalem after living in Babylon.

137:1 Babylon's streams: The rivers and canals of Babylon were very different to the exiles, who were accustomed to the dry terrain of Judah and Jerusalem. crying . . . Zion: See Psalms 2:6; 134:3. Psalm 137 appears in the Psalter soon after the pilgrimage songs, and it would have added a note of realism to the pictures of joyful experiences in Jerusalem (see especially Pss 122; 132–134; see sidebar, "The Pilgrimage Songs" at Ps 120).

137:2 lyres: See Psalm 33:2.

137:3 a song about Zion: See Psalm 137:1. The Psalter contains several songs about Zion (see Pss 46; 48; 84; 87; 122; and the sidebar, "Psalms 46–48: Jerusalem and the Kingship of God").

137:5-6 It was painful to remember Jerusalem (see Ps 137:1-4), but it was necessary in order to resist Babylonian ways and to sustain hope for a time when singing would be possible again. The importance of memory is indicated by the appearance of "remember(ed)" in each section (Ps 137:1, 6, 7).

137:7 the Edomites: The Edomites either assisted the Babylonians or welcomed their defeat of Judah and Jerusalem (see Ezek 35; Obad 10-16; Ps 60:6-12).

137:8-9 This is almost certainly the most brutal of many requests for God to deal with enemies (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6). The anger derives from the fact that the people of Judah and Jerusalem had seen their own children killed. These verses graphically show the horrors of war, then and now (see 2 Kgs 8:12; Isa 13:16; Hos 10:14; Nah 3:10).

138:1-8 Psalm 138 is usually understood as a psalm of thanks (see Ps 30) that was possibly offered originally in the temple area (138:2) by someone who has been delivered from some distress (138:3). In verses 4-6, the psalmist wishes that other people join the celebration. Verses 7-8 return the focus to the psalmist and God. Psalm 138 begins a collection of psalms credited to David, recalling the Davidic collections of Books I and II (see sidebar, "Book V" at Ps 107).

138:1 all other gods: This line is unusual. The effect is to deny authority to anyone other than the Lord (see Pss 58:1-2; 82:1-7; 97:7, 9).

138:2 I bow . . . loyal love: See Psalms 138:8; 5:7. faithfulness: See Psalm 25:10. These words are often paired; and as is often the case, God's essential character is in view as the reasons for worshipping God (see Ps 100:5).

138:6 Ps 113:6;
Prv 3:34;
Is 57:15; Is 66:2;
Jas 4:6

138:7 Ps 23:4,
Ps 60:5, Ps 71:20

138:8 Job 10:3,
Job 10:8,
Job 14:15;
Phi 1:6

139:1 Ps 17:3,
Ps 44:21;
Jer 12:3

139:2 2Ki 19:27;
Ps 94:11; Mt 9:4

139:4 Heb 4:13

139:5 Job 9:33;
Ps 34:7, Ps 125:2;
Rev 1:17

139:6 Job 42:3;
Ro 11:33

139:7 Jer 23:23,
Jer 23:24; Jon 1:3

139:8 Job 26:6;
Prv 15:11;
Am 9:2

139:9 Ps 139:10

139:10 Ps 23:3

<sup>4</sup>Let all the earth's rulers give thanks to you, LORD, when they hear what you say.

<sup>5</sup>Let them sing about the LORD's ways because the LORD's glory is so great!

<sup>6</sup>Even though the LORD is high, he can still see the lowly, but God keeps his distance from the arrogant.

<sup>7</sup>Whenever I am in deep trouble, you make me live again;
you send your power against my enemies' wrath;
you save me with your strong hand.

<sup>8</sup>The LORD will do all this for my sake.

Your faithful love lasts forever, LORD!
Don't let go of what your hands have made.

Psalm 139

For the music leader. Of David. A song.

<sup>1</sup>LORD, you have examined me.

You know me.

<sup>2</sup>You know when I sit down and when I stand up.
Even from far away, you comprehend my plans.

<sup>3</sup>You study my traveling and resting.
You are thoroughly familiar with all my ways.

<sup>4</sup>There isn't a word on my tongue, LORD, that you don't already know completely.

<sup>5</sup>You surround me—front and back.
You put your hand on me.

<sup>6</sup>That kind of knowledge is too much for me;
it's so high above me that I can't fathom it.

<sup>7</sup>Where could I go to get away from your spirit?
Where could I go to escape your presence?

<sup>8</sup>If I went up to heaven, you would be there.
If I went down to the grave,<sup>c</sup> you would be there too!

<sup>9</sup>If I could fly on the wings of dawn, stopping to rest only on the far side of the ocean—

<sup>10</sup>even there your hand would guide me;
even there your strong hand would hold me tight!

<sup>11</sup>If I said, "The darkness will definitely hide me; the light will become night around me,"

<sup>c</sup>Heb Sheol

138:4-5 The psalmist's desire is in keeping with what Psalm 2:10-11 command the rulers of the world to do: Submit to God and God's claim on the world.

138:6 See Psalm 113:5-7.

138:8 Don't...made: Thanksgiving for rescue is often followed by petition (see Pss 118:25; 126:4). This pattern would be especially appropriate for the post-exilic community (see Pss 85, 126; see sidebar, "Book V" at Ps 107).

139:1-24 Psalm 139 is a prayer, and it includes petitions in verses 19, 23-24. It's sometimes considered a prayer for help; but most of the prayer talks about and celebrates the reality of being known by God, so it can also be considered a psalm of trust (see Pss 16; 23).

139:1 examined...known: Both of these words occur again in Psalm 139:23-24. The word know becomes the keyword in the psalm, occurring again in verses 2, 4, 6, 14, and 23. "Look" in verse 23 is the same Hebrew root, which means that "know"/"knowledge" occurs seven times. Seven signals wholeness or completeness, so the repetition reinforces the psalmist's belief of being fully known by God. Verses 1-6 aren't meant to be a formal statement about God's all-knowingness but rather a poetic affirmation that God knows "me" (139:1).

139:5 surround me: To be surrounded is sometimes a threat, and some doubt may be present here; but the psalm as a whole affirms that being completely known by God is a comfort, not a problem.

139:8 the grave: The usual understanding was that even God had no access to Sheol (see translation note d; Pss 6:5; 88:4-5), but here the psalmist affirms God's presence even there.

139:11-12 The word for dark/darkness occurs four times, as if to emphasize its widespread threat. But God's light overcomes the darkness (see Pss 4:6; 36:9; John 1:5).

- <sup>12</sup> even then the darkness isn't too dark for you!
Nighttime would shine bright as day, because darkness is the same as light to you!
- <sup>13</sup> You are the one who created my innermost parts;
you knit me together while I was still in my mother's womb.
- <sup>14</sup> I give thanks to you that I was marvelously set apart.
Your works are wonderful—I know that very well.
- <sup>15</sup> My bones weren't hidden from you when I was being put together in a secret place, when I was being woven together in the deep parts of the earth.
- <sup>16</sup> Your eyes saw my embryo, and on your scroll every day was written that was being formed for me,<sup>d</sup> before any one of them had yet happened.*
- <sup>17</sup> God, your plans are incomprehensible to me!
Their total number is countless!
- <sup>18</sup> If I tried to count them—they outnumber grains of sand!
If I came to the very end—I'd still be with you.<sup>f</sup>
- <sup>19</sup> If only, God, you would kill the wicked!
If only murderers would get away from me—
- <sup>20</sup> the people who talk about you, but only for wicked schemes;
the people who are your enemies, who use your name as if it were of no significance.<sup>g</sup>
- <sup>21</sup> Don't I hate everyone who hates you?
Don't I despise those who attack you?
- <sup>22</sup> Yes, I hate them—through and through!
They've become my enemies too.
- <sup>23</sup> Examine me, God! Look at my heart!
Put me to the test! Know my anxious thoughts!
- <sup>24</sup> Look to see if there is any idolatrous way<sup>h</sup> in me, then lead me on the eternal path!

139:12
Job 34:22;
Dn 2:22

139:13 Dt 32:6;
Job 10:11;
Ps 119:73;
Is 44:2, Is 44:24

139:14 Ps 40:5

139:15 Ps 63:9;
Ecc 11:5

139:16 Ps 56:8

139:17 Ps 40:5,
Ps 92:5

139:21
2Ch 19:2;
Ps 26:5, Ps 31:6,
Ps 119:158

139:22 Ps 101:3,
Ps 139:21

139:23 Job 31:6;
Ps 26:2; Prv 17:3

139:24 Ps 5:8,
Ps 143:10

140:1 Ps 71:4

140:3 Ps 58:4,
Ps 64:3; Ro 3:13;
Jas 3:8

Psalm 140

For the music leader. A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup> Rescue me from evil people, LORD!
Guard me from violent people
- <sup>2</sup> who plot evil things in their hearts, who pick fights every single day!
- <sup>3</sup> They sharpen their tongues like a snake's;
spider poison<sup>i</sup> is on their lips.

Selah

<sup>d</sup>Correction; Heb lacks for me. <sup>e</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>f</sup>Correction <sup>g</sup>Heb lacks your name. <sup>h</sup>Correction; cf Tg; LXX, Syr.
Vulg painful or wicked or hurtful way <sup>i</sup>LXX snake poison

139:13-15 The image of God as weaver is rare (see Job 10:11). The fact that the process seems to take place underground is even more mysterious, unless this region is a symbol for the womb.

139:16-18 embryo: The Hebrew word occurs only here in the OT, and its meaning isn't entirely clear. scroll: See Psalm 40:7. As translation notes e, f, and g indicate, the exact meaning here is hard to determine; but the basic idea is that the psalmist's life has come from and belongs to God in every way (see Ps 100:3), and that it is secure in God's care.

139:19-22 The language is shocking and violent, but the real violence starts with the enemies of the poet and God (Ps 139:20). The enemies are called murderers (Ps 139:19; see Ps 35:4; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3). In the strongest possible terms, the psalmist professes loyalty to God and God's will, and the basic desire and hope is that God will act to set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).

139:23-24 See Psalm 139:1. These petitions also effectively profess loyalty to God, and they may indicate that the psalmist had been falsely accused (see Pss 27:12; 35:10, 19-20; 7; 17; 26).

140:1-13 Psalm 140 is a prayer for help that contains the typical elements of the petition (140:1, 4, 6, 8-11), complaint (140:2-3, 5), and expressions of trust and confidence (140:6-7, 12-13).

140:1 Guard... violent people: This petition occurs again in Psalm 140:4. The psalmists are regularly the victims of destructive activity (Ps 140:2, 4-5) and speech (Ps 140:3; see Ps 4:2-5; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

140:2 See Psalms 35:4, 10, 19-20; 56:5-6; 59:3; 120:7.

140:3 sharpen... tongues: See Psalms 57:4; 64:3.

140:5 Ps 31:4,
Ps 35:7, Ps 57:6,
Ps 141:9,
Ps 142:3
140:6 Ps 16:2,
Ps 28:2, Ps 31:14,
Ps 142:5
140:8 Dt 32:27;
Ps 10:2
140:11 Ps 34:21;
Prv 17:20
141:1 Ps 5:1,
Ps 22:19,
Ps 40:13, Ps 70:5,
Ps 143:1
141:2 Ex 29:41;
Ps 28:2, 1Ti 2:8;
Rev 5:8, Rev 8:3
141:3 Ps 34:13,
Ps 39:1,
Prv 13:3,
Prv 21:23;
Mt 7:5
141:4 Ps 119:36;
Prv 23:1,
Prv 23:6
141:5 Prv 9:8,
Prv 19:25,
Prv 25:12,
Prv 27:6; Ecc 7:5

- <sup>4</sup>Protect me from the power of the wicked, LORD!
Guard me from violent people who plot to trip me up!
<sup>5</sup>Arrogant people have laid a trap for me with ropes.
They've spread out a net alongside the road.
They've set snares for me.

Selah

- <sup>6</sup>I tell the LORD, "You are my God!
Listen to my request for mercy, LORD!"
<sup>7</sup>My LORD God, my strong saving help—you've protected my head on the day of battle.
<sup>8</sup>LORD, don't give the wicked what they want!
Don't allow their plans to succeed, or they'll exalt themselves even more!

Selah

- <sup>9</sup>Let the heads of the people surrounding me be covered with the trouble their own lips caused!<sup>a</sup> <sup>10</sup>Let burning coals fall on them!
Let them fall into deep pits and never get out again!
<sup>11</sup>Let no slanderer be safe in the land.
Let calamity hunt down violent people—and quickly!<sup>1</sup> <sup>12</sup>I know that the LORD will take up the case of the poor and will do what is right for the needy.
<sup>13</sup>Yes, the righteous will give thanks to your name, and those who do right will live in your presence.

Psalm 141

A psalm of David.

- <sup>1</sup>I cry out to you, LORD: Come to me—quickly!
Listen to my voice when I cry out to you!
<sup>2</sup>Let my prayer stand before you like incense; let my uplifted hands be like the evening offering.
<sup>3</sup>Set a guard over my mouth, LORD;
keep close watch over the door that is my lips.
<sup>4</sup>Don't let my heart turn aside to evil things so that I don't do wicked things with evildoers, so I don't taste their delicacies.
<sup>5</sup>Instead, let the righteous discipline me;
let the faithful correct me!
Let my head never reject that kind of fine oil, because my prayers are always against the deeds of the wicked.<sup>2b</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>2a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>2b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>2b</sup>Heb uncertain

140:5 net... snares: See Psalms 10:9; 31:4; 64:5; 141:9; 142:3.
140:7 The assurance here focuses on the psalmist and personal rescue, while Psalm 140:12-13 more generally affirm God's help for all victims.
140:8-11 The petitions against the victimizers are motivated not by personal payback but by the desire for the violence to end (see Ps 140:1, 4, 11) and for things to be just and right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).
140:12 the poor... do what is right... the needy: God typically sides with those who need help (see Pss 9:18; 109:31; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82). The phrase, do what is right, is often translated "do justice" (see Pss 9:4; 96:13).
140:13 give thanks: Being rescued is a gift, and the appropriate response is thankfulness (see Ps 107). Like other prayers for help, Psalm 140 holds together complaint and praise, hurt and hope, turmoil and trust. It thereby shows how life in general is often experienced, but especially the shape of the lives of the faithful (see Pss 6:8-10; 13:5-6).

141:1-10 Psalm 141 contains the typical elements of a prayer for help: petition and complaint (141:1-5, 7, 9-10), along with expression of confidence and trust.
141:2 my uplifted hands: See Psalm 28:2. evening offering: See 2 Kings 16:5; Daniel 9:21.
141:3-5 The request is for help to resist temptation (see Pss 73:10; 125:3; Matt 6:3). The psalmist is willing to accept guidance and correction from others (141:5). The last line of verse 4 recalls Daniel 1:8-18, where Daniel and his friends resist the temptation to eat the king's fancy food.
141:5-7 As the translation notes indicate, the text is

141:6 2Ch 25:12
 141:8 Ps 11:1,
 Ps 25:15
 141:10 Ps 7:15,
 Ps 35:8, Ps 57:6
 142:1 1Sa 22:1,
 1Sa 24:3; Ps 57:1
 142:2 3 Ps 102:1
 142:3 Ps 77:3,
 Ps 140:5,
 Ps 143:4
 142:4 Ps 31:11,
 Ps 68:18;
 Jer 25:35
 142:5 Ps 16:5,
 Ps 27:13,
 Ps 73:26; Ps 91:2,
 Ps 119:57
 142:6 Ps 17:1,
 Ps 18:17, Ps 79:8,
 Ps 116:6
 142:7 Ps 13:5,
 Ps 143:11
 143:1 Ps 31:1,
 Ps 71:2, Ps 89:1,
 Ps 140:6

- 6 Their leaders will fall from jagged cliffs, but my words will be heard because they are pleasing.<sup>a</sup>
- 7 Our bones<sup>b</sup> have been scattered at the mouth of the grave,<sup>c</sup> just like when the ground is broken up and plowed.<sup>d</sup>
- 8 But my eyes are on you, my LORD God.
 I take refuge in you; don't let me die!
- 9 Protect me from the trap they've set for me;
 protect me from the snares of the evildoers.
- 10 Let the wicked fall into their own nets—all together!— but let me make it through safely.

Psalm 142

A maskil<sup>e</sup> of David, when he was in the cave. A prayer.

- 1 I cry out loud for help from the LORD.
 I beg out loud for mercy from the LORD.
- 2 I pour out my concerns before God;
 I announce my distress to him.
- 3 When my spirit is weak inside me, you still know my way.
 But they've hidden a trap for me in the path I'm taking.
- 4 Look right beside me: See?
 No one pays attention to me.
 There's no escape for me.
 No one cares about my life.
- 5 I cry to you, LORD, for help.
 "You are my refuge," I say.
 "You are all I have in the land of the living."
- 6 Pay close attention to my shouting, because I've been brought down so low!
 Deliver me from my oppressors because they're stronger than me.
- 7 Get me out of this prison
 so I can give thanks to your name.
 Then the righteous will gather all around me because of your good deeds to me.

Psalm 143

A psalm of David.

- 1 Listen to my prayer, LORD!
 Because of your faithfulness, hear my requests for mercy!
 Because of your righteousness, answer me!

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>b</sup>LXX manuscripts, Syr their bones; DSS (11QPs) my bones <sup>c</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>d</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>e</sup>Perhaps instruction; it also appears in Pss 42, 44–45, 52–55, 74, 78, 88–89, 142; cf 47:7; the root is used in Ps 32:8.

unclear. Verse 6 seems to express confidence that evil won't endure. Even so, verse 7 seems to complain that wickedness prevails for now.
 141:8 my eyes... God: See Psalm 123:1-2. refuge: See Psalms 2:12; 142:5. Petition and trust are especially close together in 141:8b (see Ps 13:5-6).
 141:9 trap... snares: See Psalm 140:5.
 141:10 Let... together!: See Psalms 7:15; 9:15, where the wicked are victims of their own plans. The request is motivated not by personal payback but rather by the desire that God set things right (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6).
 142:1-7 In this prayer for help, there are three cycles of petition and complaint (142:1-3a, 3c-4, 6-7ab), each followed by expressions of trust (142:3b, 5, 7cd). The title recalls David's situation in 1 Samuel 22:1; 24:3-4 (see Pss 3; 57).
 142:1 cry out: See Psalm 107:6; Nehemiah 9:28.

142:3 trap: See Psalms 140:5; 141:9.
 142:5 Precisely when all hope is lost, and there's no one to help, the psalmist trusts God. refuge: See Psalms 2:12; 141:8. all I have: See Psalm 73:25.
 142:7 give thanks: the appropriate response to rescue (see Psalms 107:8; 140:13). Then... me: Gatherings of the righteous appear elsewhere in conjunction with the giving of thanks (see Pss 22:22-26; 116:14, 17-19).
 143:1-12 The first section of this prayer for help moves from petition (143:1-2) to complaint (143:3-4) to a profession of loyalty to and reliance upon God (143:5-6). The second section (143:7-12) is mostly petition, but with embedded complaint (143:7, 9, 11-12) and trust (143:8, 10-12). Psalm 143 is the final of the church's seven Penitential Psalms (see Ps 6). It contains no direct confession of sin, but it recognizes universal sinfulness (Ps 143:2). The

143:2 Job 9:2;
Job 25:4;
Ps 130:3;
Ecc 7:20;
Ro 3:20

143:4 Ps 77:3;
Ps 142:3

143:5 Ps 1:2;
Ps 77:5; Ps 77:10;
Ps 77:12

143:6 Job 11:13;
Ps 42:1; Ps 42:2;
Ps 63:1

143:7 Ps 27:9;
Ps 28:1; Ps 69:17;
Ps 88:4; Ps 102:2

143:8 Ps 25:1;
Ps 25:4; Ps 32:8;
Ps 46:5; Ps 90:14

143:10
Neh 9:20;
Ps 27:11;
Ps 119:12

143:11 Ps 25:11;
Ps 31:1; Ps 71:2;
Ps 119:25;
Ps 119:88

143:12 Ps 54:5;
Ps 116:16

144:1 Ps 18:2;
Ps 18:34

144:2 Ps 18:2;
Ps 18:47; Ps 59:9;
Ps 91:2

<sup>2</sup>Please don't bring your servant to judgment, because no living thing is righteous before you.

<sup>3</sup>The enemy is chasing me,<sup>a</sup> crushing my life in the dirt, forcing me to live in the dark like those who've been dead forever.

<sup>4</sup>My spirit is weak inside me—inside, my mind is numb.

<sup>5</sup>I remember the days long past;
I meditate on all your deeds;
I contemplate your handiwork.

<sup>6</sup>I stretch out my hands to you; my whole being is like dry dirt, thirsting for you.†

Selah

<sup>7</sup>Answer me, LORD—and quickly! My breath is fading.
Don't hide your face from me or I'll be like those going down to the pit!

<sup>8</sup>Tell me all about your faithful love come morning time, because I trust you.

Show me the way I should go, because I offer my life up to you.

<sup>9</sup>Deliver me from my enemies, LORD!
I seek protection from you.‡

<sup>10</sup>Teach me to do what pleases you, because you are my God.
Guide me by your good spirit into good land.

<sup>11</sup>Make me live again, LORD, for your name's sake.
Bring me out of distress because of your righteousness.

<sup>12</sup>Wipe out my enemies because of your faithful love.
Destroy everyone who attacks me, because I am your servant.

Psalm 144

Of David.

<sup>1</sup>Bless the LORD, my rock, who taught my hands how to fight,
who taught my fingers how to do battle!

<sup>2</sup>God is my loyal one, my fortress, my place of safety, my rescuer,

<sup>a</sup>Or my soul; also in 143:6, 8, 11-12 †Heb lacks thirsting. ‡Heb uncertain; MT to you I have hidden psalmist's servant-posture (Ps 143:2, 12) and dependence upon God's faithful love form the basis for penitence.

143:1 faithfulness: a fundamental quality of God (see Pss 25:10; 100:5), as are "righteousness" (143:1, 11) and "faithful love" (Ps 143:8, 12). righteousness: See Psalm 5:8.

143:2 judgment: What the psalmist wants and needs is mercy, as the rest of the verse explains. because . . . you: See Romans 3:20, where the apostle Paul points to this verse in making his case that all have sinned (see Pss 14:3; 130:3).

143:5-6 stretch out my hands: See Psalms 28:2; 140:2. The language and image recall Psalm 77:2-3.

143:7 My breath: In short, the psalmist is about to die. Don't hide your face: See Psalm 13:1. the pit: See Psalm 16:10.

143:8 faithful love: See Psalms 143:12; 5:7. trust: See Psalm 4:5. offer my life: See Psalms 25:1; 86:4.

143:10 into good land: In a society focused on the land, land meant the opportunity for life, which is what the psalmist needs (see Pss 143:7, 11; 37:9).

143:12 Such requests are frequent, and they are best understood as expressions of the psalmist's deep desire that God set things right for victims of injustice (see Pss 3:7-8; 7:6; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3).

144:1-15 Because Psalm 144:10 mentions David, and because it seems to be a rereading of the royal Psalm 18 for a new time (see notes on Ps 144:1-2, 5-8, 9-10), Psalm 144 is usually categorized as a royal psalm. But this royal psalm was recast, since it seems to assume the defeat of Jerusalem, the exile, and the disappearance of the kings as rulers (see 144:7-8, 11; Ps 89). It also suggests that the former role of kings—that is, to do God's will in the world (see Ps 72)—was transferred to the whole people (see Pss 105:15; 149:6-9; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2). 144:1-2 See Psalm 18:1-2, 34, 39, 46-47. taught . . . fight . . . battle: Such lessons (see especially Ps 18:34, 39) should be understood in relation to the king's responsibility to "crush oppressors" (Ps 72:4). refuge: See Psalms 2:12; 18:2. subdues . . . me: See Psalms 2:8-9; 18:47.

my shield, in whom I take refuge, and the one who subdues people before me.

<sup>3</sup>What are human beings, LORD, that you know them at all?
What are human beings that you even consider them?

<sup>4</sup>Humans are like a puff of air;
their days go by like a shadow.

<sup>5</sup>LORD, part your skies and come down!
Touch the mountains so they smoke!

<sup>6</sup>Flash lightning and scatter the enemy!
Shoot your arrows and defeat them!

<sup>7</sup>Stretch out your hand from above!
Rescue me and deliver me from deep water, from the power of strangers, whose mouths speak lies, <sup>8</sup>and whose strong hand is a strong hand of deception!

<sup>9</sup>I will sing a new song to you, God.

I will sing praises to you on a ten-stringed harp, <sup>10</sup>to you—the one who gives saving help to rulers, and who rescues his servant David from the evil sword.

<sup>11</sup>Rescue me and deliver me from the power of strangers, whose mouths speak lies,
and whose strong hand is a strong hand of deception, <sup>12</sup>so that<sup>v</sup> our sons can grow up fully, in their youth, like plants;
so that our daughters can be like pillars carved to decorate a palace; <sup>13</sup>so that our barns can be full, providing all kinds of food; so that our flocks can be in the thousands—even tens of thousands—in our fields; <sup>14</sup>so that our cattle can be loaded with calves;
so that there won't be any breach in the walls,
no exile, no outcries in our streets!

<sup>15</sup>The people who have it like this are truly happy!
The people whose God is the LORD are truly happy!

<sup>v</sup>Heb uncertain

144:4 Job 8:9,
Job 14:2,
Ps 102:11,
Ps 109:23

144:5 Ps 18:9,
Ps 104:32;
Is 63:19

144:7 Ps 18:16,
Ps 18:44, Ps 69:1,
Ps 69:14

144:9 Ps 33:2,
Ps 33:3

144:11 Ps 12:2,
Ps 144:7,
Ps 144:8;
Is 44:20

144:12 Ps 128:3
144:13 Prv 3:10

144:14 Prv 14:4;
Is 24:11; Jer 14:2

144:15 Dt 33:29;
Ps 33:12,
Ps 146:5

Like Psalm 18, Psalm 2 is a royal psalm. The problem with recalling the promises of Psalms 2 and 18 is that the royal fighting has led to a crushing defeat (see Ps 144:7-8, 11).

144:3-4 The question in Psalm 144:3 recalls Psalm 8:4, but the answer here is very different from the answer in Psalm 8:5. The answer here recalls another royal psalm (see Ps 89:47, where the lament of the imagined Davidic survivor involves human transience).

144:5-8 See Psalm 18:9, 14, 16-17, 44-45. What Psalm 18 affirms that God has done, these verses pray for God to do. The switch from affirmation to petition suggests that Psalm 144 was written after the defeat of Jerusalem and the loss of the monarchy.

144:9-10 Like Psalm 89:46-51, these verses seem to be the words of an imagined Davidic survivor. He describes the praise that he will offer if God will deliver the people (and perhaps restore the monarchy; see Ps 101), as God had earlier delivered David from his enemies, according to Psalm 18. new song: This would be an appropriate response to the new act of rescue that is needed (see Ps 96:1). harp: See Psalm 33:2.

144:11-14 The imagined Davidic survivor continues to speak, now requesting the new act of rescue that is needed and anticipated in Psalm 144:9-10. This act of deliverance never came, and the Davidic rule was never restored. So Psalm 144 seems to suggest that the former role of the monarchy has become the role of the whole people of God. It isn't surprising that the remainder of the psalm, including its conclusion in verse 15, focuses on the people and not the king.

144:13 our barns . . . food: It was the responsibility of kings to provide for their people, beginning with food (see Ps 72:3, 16; Ezek 34:1-16).

144:14 no exile . . . street! The experience of life away from the land and what happened afterward are particularly in view here.

144:15 truly happy: See Psalms 1:1-2; 2:12; 33:12; see sidebar, "True Happiness" at Psalm 1. Amid the setbacks of exile and the discouraging realities of the post-exilic era

145:1 Ps 5:2,
Ps 30:1

145:3 Job 5:9,
Job 11:7; Ps 48:1;
Is 40:28;
Ro 11:33

145:8 Ps 86:5,
Ps 86:15,
Ps 103:8

145:9 Na 1:7

145:13 Ps 10:16;
1Ti 1:17

145:14 Ps 37:17,
Ps 37:24,
Ps 146:8

145:15

Ps 104:27;

Ps 136:25;

Ps 147:9;

Mt 6:26

Psalm 145<sup>m</sup>

Praise of David.

- ✠ <sup>1</sup> I will lift you up high, my God, the true king.
I will bless your name forever and always.
- ✎ <sup>2</sup> I will bless you every day.
I will praise your name forever and always.
- ✎ <sup>3</sup> The LORD is great and so worthy of praise!
God's greatness can't be grasped.
- ✎ <sup>4</sup> One generation will praise your works to the next one, proclaiming your mighty acts.
- ✎ <sup>5</sup> They will talk all about<sup>a</sup> the glorious splendor of your majesty;
I will contemplate your wondrous works.
- ✎ <sup>6</sup> They will speak of the power of your awesome deeds;
I will declare your great accomplishments.
- ✎ <sup>7</sup> They will rave in celebration of your abundant goodness;
they will shout joyfully about your righteousness:
- ✎ <sup>8</sup> "The LORD is merciful and compassionate,
very patient, and full of faithful love.
- ✎ <sup>9</sup> The LORD is good to everyone and everything; God's compassion extends, to all his handiwork!"
- ✎ <sup>10</sup> All that you have made gives thanks to you, LORD;
all your faithful ones bless you!
- ✎ <sup>11</sup> They speak of the glory of your kingdom;
they talk all about your power, ✎ <sup>12</sup> to inform all human beings about God's power and the majestic glory of God's kingdom.
- ✎ <sup>13</sup> Your kingdom is a kingship that lasts forever;
your rule endures for all generations.
- ✎ The LORD is trustworthy in all that he says, faithful in all that he does.<sup>7</sup>
- ✎ <sup>14</sup> The LORD supports all who fall down, straightens up all who are bent low.
- ✎ <sup>15</sup> All eyes look to you, hoping,
and you give them their food right on time,

<sup>m</sup>Ps 145 is an alphabetic acrostic poem; see the note at Pss 9–10, 111, 119. <sup>a</sup>LXX, Syr, DSS (11QPs<sup>a</sup>): MT and words of <sup>f</sup>LXX, DSS (11QPs<sup>a</sup>), Syr; MT lacks these lines, but they correspond to the nun line in the alphabetic acrostic poem.

(see Pss 85; 126), genuine happiness will be experienced by those who look to God for help.

145:1-21 Psalm 145 is the only psalm to mention "Praise" in its title. It seems especially appropriate here, since Psalm 145 is also the final Davidic psalm in the Psalter; and David's name has been widely used in the titles of the psalms that are part of a collection known in Hebrew as "Praises." Most of the psalms associated with David are prayers for help, including those in the final Davidic collection (Pss 138–145); so again, it's appropriate that Psalm 145 shifts the mood to praise to look forward to the Psalter's concluding collection of songs (Pss 146–150).

145:1 the true king: See Psalms 5:2; 93; 95–99. bless: See Psalms 145:2, 21; 16:7; 100:4.

145:3 great: a word often associated with kingship (see Ps 47:2).

145:5 glorious splendor . . . majesty: These words also occur often in association with kingship (see Pss 145:11-12; 96:6-7, where the same words are translated as "glory," "grandeur," and "greatness").

145:7 your abundant goodness: See Psalm 23:6. righteousness: See Psalms 145:17; 5:8; 96:13.

145:8-9 The first verse of this quotation recalls Exodus 34:6-7 (see Pss 86:15; 103:8, 5:7; 25:6-7), and the quote as a whole provides details of God's goodness and righteousness (Ps 145:7). to all his handiwork: This line looks forward to the praise that will come from all creation in Psalm 145:10 and 145:21, and later in the Psalter in Psalms 148 and 150 (see Ps 103:20-22). The word all will occur again numerous times in Psalm 145:10-21, emphasizing the completeness of God's claim on the world.

145:11-13 Recalling Psalm 145:1, the word kingdom occurs in each of verses 11-13. This section lies very near the center of the psalm, as if the structure affirms that God's rule is central in and to the universe. The acrostic structure (see translation note x) calls attention to the first letter of each line; and reading from bottom to top (that is, from verse 13 to verse 11), the first letters of each line spell the Hebrew word that means "king," further drawing attention to God's kingship.

145:15-16 See Psalm 104:27-28. It was the responsibility of kings to provide for their people. Since God is the universal king, God provides food for every living thing (145:16; see Pss 72:3, 16; 144:13).

- Ⓓ 16 opening your hand and satisfying the desire of every living thing.
- Ⓔ 17 The LORD is righteous in all his ways, faithful in all his deeds.
- Ⓕ 18 The LORD is close to everyone who calls out to him,
to all who call out to him sincerely.
- Ⓖ 19 God shows favor to those who honor him, listening to their cries for help and saving them.
- Ⓗ 20 The LORD protects all who love him, but he destroys every wicked person.
- Ⓜ 21 My mouth will proclaim the LORD's praise, and every living thing will bless God's holy name forever and always.

145:16
Ps 104:28
145:17 Dt 32:4;
Ezr 9:15;
Ps 116:5
145:18 Dt 4:7;
Ps 34:18,
119:151;
Jn 4:24
145:19 Ps 10:17,
Ps 15:4, Ps 20:4,
Ps 31:22, Ps 37:4
145:21 Ps 65:2,
Ps 71:8, Ps 145:1,
Ps 150:6
146:1 Ps 103:1,
Ps 104:1
146:3 Ps 60:11,
Ps 118:8,
Ps 118:9; Is 2:22;
Jer 17:5
146:4 Gn 3:19;
Ps 104:29;
Ecc 12:7
146:6 Ps 115:15,
Ps 117:2
146:7 Ps 68:6,
Ps 103:6,
Ps 107:9,
Ps 145:15;
Is 61:1
146:8 Ps 11:7,
Ps 145:14;
Mt 9:30; Jn 9:7,
Jn 16:27

Psalm 146

1 Praise the LORD!

Let my whole being<sup>a</sup> praise the LORD!

2 I will praise the LORD with all my life;
I will sing praises to my God as long as I live.

3 Don't trust leaders; don't trust any human beings—there's no saving help with them!

4 Their breath leaves them, then they go back to the ground.
On that very same day, their plans die too.

5 The person whose help is the God of Jacob—the person whose hope rests on the LORD their God—is truly happy!

6 God: the maker of heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them,
God: who is faithful forever,

7 who gives justice to people who are oppressed, who gives bread to people who are starving!
The LORD: who frees prisoners.

8 The LORD: who makes the blind see.
The LORD: who straightens up those who are bent low.
The LORD: who loves the righteous.

<sup>a</sup>Or soul

145:19 See Psalm 107:6.

145:20 destroys every wicked person: This line doesn't seem to fit well with the universalistic view of Psalm 145:9-10; but the destruction of the wicked can be understood not as God's will but rather the consequence of a person's choice to cut him- or herself off from God (see Ps 1:6).

145:21 This verse looks forward to Psalms 146–150 (see note on Ps 145:8-9). Psalm 146 begins with an individual voice praising God, and Psalm 150 ends with all creatures being invited to praise God.

146:1-10 Psalm 146 is the first song of praise in a collection that concludes the Psalter. Each psalm begins and ends with "Praise the LORD!" (see sidebar, "Hallelu-yah ['Praise the LORD!'] Collections" at Ps 113). Psalm 146 is intentionally instructional (especially 146:4-5; see Ps 100:3). Reasons for praise appear in verses 6-9, and verse 10 affirms clearly what all the songs of praise imply: God rules. Psalm 146 begins the Psalter's concluding collection, and it recalls Psalms 1–2, which introduce the Psalter (see note on Ps 146:5), as well as Psalms 96–99, which form the Psalter's theological center (see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89).

146:1 whole being... LORD: The invitation to the self isn't typical, but it does occur elsewhere (see Pss 103:1-2, 22; 104:1, 35).

146:3 See Psalm 118:8-9. To praise with one's whole being and life suggests trust, and such trust should be placed only in God.

146:5 help: See Psalm 10:14. truly happy: See Psalms 1:1-2; 2:12. As Psalms 1 and 2 also suggest, genuine happiness comes from depending upon God.

146:6 maker... earth: See Psalms 115:15; 121:2; 124:8; 134:3; see sidebar, "God the Creator" at Psalm 8. faithful: See Psalm 25:10.

146:7 justice: See Psalms 9:4; 96:13, which associate justice with God's rule (see Ps 146:10). oppressed: God's work of justice is aimed particularly at setting things right for the mistreated (see Pss 9:18; 72:12-14). gives bread: The needy and the oppressed need food (see Pss 72:3, 16; 144:13; 145:15). frees prisoners: See Psalm 107:10; Isaiah 42:7; 61:1.

146:8 the blind see: See Isaiah 42:7, which is part of a poem about a servant trusted to do God's mission of establishing justice (see Isa 42:1, 3, 4). the righteous: It might seem that the righteous don't belong in this list of needy people, but the righteous in the Psalms are regularly opposed and afflicted.

146:9 Dt 10:18;
Ps 10:14, Ps 68:5,
Ps 147:6

147:1 Ps 33:1,
Ps 92:1, Ps 135:3

147:2 Ps 51:18;
Is 11:12, Is 56:8

147:4 Gn 15:5;
Is 40:26

147:5 Ps 48:1,
Ps 145:3,
Is 40:28; Na 1:3

147:6 Ps 146:8,
Ps 146:9

147:7 Ps 33:2,
Ps 95:1, Ps 95:2,
Ps 98:5

147:8 Job 5:10,
Job 26:8;
Ps 104:13,
Ps 104:14

147:9 Job 38:41;
Ps 104:27,
Ps 145:15;

Mt 6:26;
Lk 12:24

147:11 Ps 33:18,
Ps 149:4

147:13 Neh 3:3,
Neh 7:3;
Ps 107:16,
Ps 115:14,
Ps 128:3

147:14 Lv 26:6;
Dt 32:14,
1Ch 22:9;
Ps 81:16;
Is 60:17

<sup>9</sup>The LORD: who protects immigrants, who helps orphans and widows, but who makes the way of the wicked twist and turn!

<sup>10</sup>The LORD will rule forever!
Zion, your God will rule from one generation to the next!

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 147

<sup>1</sup>Praise the LORD!

Because it is good to sing praise to our God!
Because it is a pleasure to make beautiful praise!

<sup>2</sup>The LORD rebuilds Jerusalem, gathering up Israel's exiles.

<sup>3</sup>God heals the brokenhearted and bandages their wounds.

<sup>4</sup>God counts the stars by number, giving each one a name.

<sup>5</sup>Our Lord is great and so strong!
God's knowledge can't be grasped!

<sup>6</sup>The LORD helps the poor, but throws the wicked down on the dirt!

<sup>7</sup>Sing to the LORD with thanks;
sing praises to our God with a lyre!

<sup>8</sup>God covers the skies with clouds;
God makes rain for the earth;
God makes the mountains sprout green grass.

<sup>9</sup>God gives food to the animals—even to the baby ravens when they cry out.

<sup>10</sup>God doesn't prize the strength of a horse;
God doesn't treasure the legs of a runner.

<sup>11</sup>No. The LORD treasures the people who honor him, the people who wait for his faithful love.

<sup>12</sup>Worship the LORD, Jerusalem!
Praise your God, Zion!

<sup>13</sup>Because God secures the bars on your gates, God blesses the children you have there.

<sup>14</sup>God establishes your borders peacefully.
God fills you full with the very best wheat.

146:9 immigrants . . . orphans . . . widows: See Psalm 94:6. way of the wicked . . . turn! See Psalm 1:6.

146:10 will rule: See Psalms 5:2; 93; 95–99; see sidebar, “Book IV and the Rule of God” at Psalm 89. Zion: See Psalm 2:6.

147:1–20 Psalm 147 is the second song of praise in the Psalter's concluding collection (see sidebar, “Hallelu-yah [Praise the Lord!] Collections” at Ps 113). Invitations to praise in verses 1, 7, 12 are followed by reasons for praise that alternate between a focus on God's activity done for God's people (147:2–3, 6, 10–11, 13–14, 19–20) and God's activity in creation (147:4–5, 8–9, 15–18).

147:1 it is good: See Psalm 92:1.

147:2 rebuilds Jerusalem: See Psalm 51:18; Nehemiah 12:27. gathering . . . exiles: See Deuteronomy 30:4; Nehemiah 1:9; Isaiah 56:8. This verse suggests that Psalm 147 was written during the post-exilic period, and Book V has been shaped to respond to the crisis of exile (see sidebar, “Book V” at Ps 107).

147:3 heals the brokenhearted: See Isaiah 61:1.

147:4 stars: See Psalm 8:3; Isaiah 40:26. The picture of God as creator and redeemer (Ps 147:2–3) is characteristic of Isaiah 40–66, which originated in the exilic and post-exilic eras. 147:6 the poor: See Psalms 9:18; 146:7; see sidebar, “The Poor and Needy” at Psalm 82.

147:7 lyre: See Psalm 33:2.

147:8–9 See Psalms 104:14, 27; 145:15–16.

147:10–11 See Psalm 33:17–18. faithful love: See Psalm 5:7.

147:12 Zion: See Psalm 2:6.

147:14 peacefully: See Psalms 4:8; 72:3, 7. God fills . . . wheat: The pairing of peace and food is important; because biblically speaking, peace is grounded in provision of sufficient food for the people (see notes on Pss 67:6; 72:3, 16; 85:10, 12)

- 15 God issues his command to the earth—
God's word speeds off fast!
- 16 God spreads snow like it was wool;
God scatters frost like it was ashes;
- 17 God throws his hail down like crumbs—who can endure God's freezing cold?
- 18 Then God issues his word and melts it all away!
God makes his winds blow; the water flows again.
- 19 God proclaims his word to Jacob;
his statutes and rules to Israel.
- 20 God hasn't done that with any other nation;
those nations have no knowledge of God's rules.<sup>a</sup>

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 148

1 Praise the LORD!

Praise the LORD from heaven!

Praise God on the heights!

2 Praise God, all of you who are his messengers!
Praise God, all of you who comprise his heavenly forces!

3 Sun and moon, praise God!
All of you bright stars, praise God!

4 You highest heaven, praise God!
Do the same, you waters that are above the sky!

5 Let all of these praise the LORD's name because God gave the command and they were created!

6 God set them in place always and forever.
God made a law that will not be broken.

7 Praise the LORD from the earth, you sea monsters and all you ocean depths!

8 Do the same, fire and hail, snow and smoke, stormy wind that does what God says!

9 Do the same, you mountains, every single hill, fruit trees, and every single cedar!

<sup>a</sup>LXX, Tg, DSS (11QPs) God hasn't let those nations know his rules.

147:15-20 God's word is mentioned in Psalm 147:15, 18, and 19 (see Ps 33:4-9). It's the effective force in the operation of the universe (147:15-18), but it's also addressed personally to God's people. rules to Israel... God's rules: The "rules" translate the plural of a Hebrew word usually translated "justice" (see Pss 9:4; 96:13). The repetition of "word" and "rules" suggests that God's word is intended to set things right in the world, both for God's people and for all creation. Appropriately, all creation is invited to praise God in Psalm 148.

148:1-14 Psalm 148 is a song of praise that occupies the central position in the Psalter's concluding collection (see sidebar, "Hallelu-yah ["Praise the Lord!"] Collections" at Ps 113). Perhaps because of this central location, Psalm 148 offers the most complete invitation to praise in the whole Psalter, surpassing even Psalm 150:6, the final verse of the Psalms. The first section (148:1-6) invites praise from heaven (148:1), and the second section (148:7-14) invites praise from the earth (Ps 148:7). The statement, as verse 13 makes clear, is that God claims both earth and heaven.

148:1-6 The word praise occurs nine times in this section, as compared to verses 7-14, where it occurs only four times.

148:2 his messengers: See Psalms 91:11; 103:20, where they also take part in praising God. heavenly forces: See Psalms 24:10; 103:21.

148:3 sun and moon... stars: See Psalms 8:3; 19:4-6; 136:8-9; 147:4; Genesis 1:16. These entities praise God by doing what they were created to do (see Ps 148:6).

148:4 waters... above the sky: See Genesis 1:7.

148:5 This verse summarizes the repeated invitations; and it looks forward to Psalm 148:13, which begins the same way. God gave... they were created: As with several of the things called to praise, this statement recalls Genesis 1:1-2:4.

148:7-14 While the word praise occurs often in Psalm 148:1-6, it occurs less frequently here (148:7, 13, 14). Many more things are invited to praise God in the earthly realm. The list again recalls Genesis 1:1-2:4 (see notes on Ps 148:9, 10, 13).

148:8 See Psalm 147:15-18.

148:9 fruit trees: See Genesis 1:11.

147:15
2Sa 22:31;
Job 37:12;
Ps 12:6; Ps 33:9;
Ps 107:20
147:16 Job 37:6;
Job 38:29;
Ps 148:8
147:20 Dt 4:7;
Dt 4:8, Dt 4:32;
Ro 3:1, Ro 3:2
148:1 Ps 69:34;
Rev 19:1
148:2 Ps 103:20;
Ps 103:21
148:3 Ps 19:1;
Jer 33:20
148:4 Gn 1:7;
Dt 10:14;
1Ki 8:27;
Neh 9:6
148:5 Gn 1:1;
Ps 33:6, Ps 33:9;
Rev 4:11
148:6 Ps 119:90;
Ps 119:91;
Jer 31:35;
Jer 31:36;
Jer 33:25
148:7 Gn 1:21;
Ps 74:13
148:8 Ps 107:25;
Ps 147:15;
Ps 147:16
148:9 Is 44:23;
Is 49:13, Is 55:12

148:10 Is 43:20

148:11

Ps 102:15

148:12 Ps 8:2,

Ps 148:13;

Prv 10:1,

Prv 23:22;

Ecc 12:1

148:13 Ps 8:1,

Ps 113:4; Is 12:4

149:1 Ps 33:3,

Ps 89:5, Ps 96:1

149:2 Ps 95:6;

Jl 2:23; Zec 9:9

149:3 Ex 15:20;

2Sa 6:14;

Ps 81:2, Ps 150:3,

Ps 150:4

149:5 Job 35:10;

Ps 42:8,

Ps 132:16

- <sup>10</sup>Do the same, you animals—wild or tame—you creatures that creep along and you birds that fly!
- <sup>11</sup>Do the same, you kings of the earth and every single person, you princes and every single ruler on earth!
- <sup>12</sup>Do the same, you young men—young women too!— you who are old together with you who are young!
- <sup>13</sup>Let all of these praise the LORD's name because only God's name is high over all.
Only God's majesty is over earth and heaven.
- <sup>14</sup>God raised the strength<sup>b</sup> of his people, the praise of all his faithful ones—
that's the Israelites,
the people who are close to him.

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 149<sup>1</sup>Praise the LORD!

- Sing to the LORD a new song;
sing God's praise in the assembly of the faithful!
- <sup>2</sup>Let Israel celebrate its maker;
let Zion's children rejoice in their king!
- <sup>3</sup>Let them praise God's name with dance;
let them sing God's praise with the drum and lyre!
- <sup>4</sup>Because the LORD is pleased with his people, God will beautify the poor with saving help.
- <sup>5</sup>Let the faithful celebrate with glory;
let them shout for joy on their beds.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>b</sup>Or horn <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain

148:10 See Genesis 1:21, 24-25.

148:11 every single person: The expansiveness of the invitation to praise is seen as humans are addressed. every single ruler: The most powerful people on earth are called upon to admit God's greater claim (see Ps 2:11-12).

148:12 men... women... old... young: The specific categories illustrate that the invitation to praise God is inclusive. 148:13 majesty: associated elsewhere with God's rule (see "greatness" in Pss 96:6; 145:5). earth and heaven: This phrase (that is, with earth mentioned before heaven) occurs only here and in Genesis 2:4. God claims the whole universe.

148:14 The focus on Israel in this verse shouldn't be taken as a contradiction of the universal point of view of Psalm 148:1-13. Rather, it suggests that God works through the people of Israel to achieve God's purposes for all the world (see Gen 12:3; Isa 42:6-7; 49:6; see also Pss 47; 67; 87). the praise... faithful ones: This could mean that Israel is to be praised, but it more likely means that Israel is to join, and perhaps lead, the rest of creation in praising God.

149:1-9 As if to develop further the role of God's "faithful ones" who are mentioned in the final verse of Psalm 148, Psalm 149 features the faithful/God's faithful people (149:1, 5, 9). It is the fourth song of praise in the Psalter's concluding collection (see sidebar, "Hallelu-yah ['Praise the Lord!'] Collections" at Ps 113). Verses 1-4 show a typical structure, in which invitations to praise (149:1-3) are followed by reasons for praise (149:4). Invitation to praise resumes in verse 5, but verses 6-9 are more like a call to action, or a description of the mission of God's faithful ones. This unusual element of Psalm 149 recalls Psalm 2 and its description of the role of the earthly king (see Ps 2:8-9). In Psalm 149, the role of the king is transferred to the whole people, almost certainly reflecting the disappearance of the monarchy after 587 BCE (see Pss 89:38-51; 105:15; 144:11-14; see sidebar, "God's Anointed One" at Ps 2).

149:1 new song: See Psalms 33:3; 96:1; 98:1; 144:9. As in Psalms 96:1 and 98:1, a new song is associated with God's kingship (Ps 149:2). Given the people's new role as earthly agents of God's will (see Ps 149:6-9; see note on Ps 149:1-9), it's possible that the new song points to this new situation (see Ps 144:9, where a new song was promised to celebrate God's future action).

149:2 Zion: See Psalm 2:6. their king: See Psalms 5:2; 93; 95-99.

149:3 with dance: See Psalms 30:11; 150:4. drum and lyre: See Psalms 33:2; 150:3-4.

149:4 the LORD... his people: See Psalm 147:11. The pleasure God finds in God's faithful people may explain why the people are trusted with the mission described in Psalm 149:6-9. will beautify the poor: God characteristically cares for the poor (see Ps 9:18; see sidebar, "The Poor and Needy" at Ps 82). This verse may imply the agency of the people in beautifying the poor, a task formerly assigned to the earthly king (see Ps 72:1-7, 12-14).

149:5 Let... with glory: This invitation may suggest that

- <sup>6</sup>Let the high praises of God be in their mouths and a double-edged sword in their hands, <sup>7</sup>to get revenge against the nations and punishment on the peoples, <sup>8</sup>binding their rulers in chains and their officials in iron shackles, <sup>9</sup>achieving the justice written against them.
That will be an honor for all God's faithful people.

Praise the LORD!

Psalm 150

<sup>1</sup>Praise the LORD!

- Praise God in his sanctuary!
Praise God in his fortress, the sky!
<sup>2</sup>Praise God in his mighty acts!
Praise God as suits his incredible greatness!
<sup>3</sup>Praise God with the blast of the ram's horn!
Praise God with lute and lyre!
<sup>4</sup>Praise God with drum and dance!
Praise God with strings and pipe!
<sup>5</sup>Praise God with loud cymbals!
Praise God with clashing cymbals!
<sup>6</sup>Let every living thing praise the LORD!

Praise the LORD!

149:6 Ps 66:17;
Heb 4:12;
Rev 1:16
150:1 Ps 73:17,
Ps 134:2
150:3 Ps 33:2,
Ps 98:6
150:4 Gn 4:21;
Ex 15:20;
Job 21:12;
Ps 45:8, Ps 149:3
150:5 2Sa 6:5;
1Ch 15:16,
1Ch 16:5,
1Ch 25:1,
1Ch 25:6
150:6 Ps 103:22

the people are to glorify God (see Ps 29:1-2), but it could also suggest that the people themselves share the glory of being pleasing to God (149:4) and being given the task of doing God's will (Ps 149:6-9). shout for joy: An appropriate way to celebrate God's rule as king (see Pss 96:12; 98:8). on their beds: See translation note d. The uncertain Hebrew may suggest that worshippers sometimes spent the night in the temple (see Ps 17:15), or it may suggest that praise is to be a round-the-clock activity (see "day and night" in Ps 1:2).

149:6-9 These verses recall Psalm 2:8-9; but here the role formerly assigned to the king belongs to the faithful people. Psalm 2:8-9 and these verses are troubling, because they are so violent; but they should be heard in the context of the widespread opposition to God and God's will. Given this opposition (see Ps 2:1-3; see sidebar, "The Enemies" at Ps 3), the king's responsibility was to "crush oppressors" (Ps 72:4). This almost never happens without a struggle. To put it more positively, the king's responsibility was to establish justice (see Ps 72:1-7), and achieving the justice (149:9) is now the people's responsibility. In short, the people will be honored (149:9) by doing what God wants.

150:1-6 Psalm 150 concludes the Psalter's final collection (see sidebar, "Hallelu-yah ['Praise the Lord!'] Collections" at Ps 113) that in turn concludes the Psalter. It's a song of praise, consisting almost entirely of invitations to praise. Its uniqueness in this regard is appropriate for its final position. Psalm 150 serves as a doxology for Book V (see Ps 41:13), and it fittingly provides a climax of praise that concludes a book that in Hebrew is known as "Praises."

150:1 in his sanctuary: This could refer to the temple, God's earthly dwelling, although the next line suggests the possibility that the reference is to God's heavenly home (see Pss 29:9; 104:3). The lack of clarity may be purposeful.

150:2 Although they are part of invitations to praise, this verse also contains reasons for praise. mighty acts: The underlying Hebrew occurs in Psalm 24:8 (translated "powerful") in the context of the proclamation of God as king. greatness: also a word associated with God's reign as king (see Ps 47:2). In short, God is to be praised, because God rules the world (see Pss 5:2; 145:1; 146:10; 149:2; 93; 95-99; see sidebar, "Book IV and the Rule of God" at Ps 89).

150:3-5 Each invitation in this section includes a musical instrument, and the whole temple orchestra seems to be involved (see Pss 33:2; 149:3), as if to suggest that every possible instrument needs to be used to praise God properly. ram's horn: See Psalm 47:5, where God's reign as king is being celebrated. dance: See Psalms 30:11; 149:3.

150:6 Let every living thing praise the Lord: The expansive musical response of Psalm 150:3-5 isn't sufficient. The God who rules the universe (Ps 150:1-2) must ultimately be praised by a worldwide choir (see Pss 145:21; 148:1-13). The phrase every living thing can also be translated "everything that has breath." It recalls Genesis 2:7, and this allusion suggests that human purpose and destiny are fulfilled in praising God in community with all creatures and all creation (Ps 148:1-10).

Figure 10.10

10.1

1. The auditor's report is a key document in the financial statements. It provides an independent opinion on the company's financial statements.

10.2 Auditor's Report

The auditor's report is a key document in the financial statements. It provides an independent opinion on the company's financial statements. The auditor's report is a key document in the financial statements. It provides an independent opinion on the company's financial statements. The auditor's report is a key document in the financial statements. It provides an independent opinion on the company's financial statements.

PROVERBS

Proverbs 1:1 credits the book to “Solomon, King David’s son, from Israel.” Solomon was famous for his great wisdom (see 1 Kgs 3–4; 10); and according to 1 Kings 4:32, he “spoke three thousand proverbs, and one thousand five songs.” Did Solomon write some proverbs? According to the book itself, he did. Did Solomon write the book of Proverbs? The words of Proverbs 1:1 are not the only reference to an author’s words in Proverbs. In addition to Proverbs 1:1, consider the following: “The proverbs of Solomon” (Prov 10:1); “the words of the wise” (Prov 22:17); “These are also the sayings of the wise” (Prov 24:23); “These are also proverbs of Solomon, copied by the men of Hezekiah, king of Judah” (Prov 25:1); “The words of Agur, Jakeh’s son, from Massa” (Prov 30:1); and “The words of King Lemuel of Massa, which his mother taught him” (Prov 31:1). The works of many authors and editors appear in the collection. It’s likely Solomon’s proverbs are also in the collection, but the book was assembled long after Solomon’s reign.

“Proverb” is the translation of the Hebrew word mashal, which means “a saying,” which is often but not always based in a comparison or contrast. It appears about 50 times in the OT and can be translated in a variety of ways. When Balaam speaks to Israel in Numbers 23–24, his speeches are called mashal (Num 23:7, 18; 24:3, 15, 20, 21, 23—translated as “address”). The prophet Ezekiel’s riddles are also called mashal (Ezek 17:2). Psalm 78:2 offers a parallel for mashal with “riddles from days long gone.” In addition, Job states that God has made him a mashal of the peoples, and “like spit in people’s faces” (Job 17:6). The Greek word for proverb is parabolē, often translated as “parable.”

When we think of proverbs, we usually think of short, two-line sayings such as “Truthful lips endure forever, but a lying tongue lasts only for a moment” (Prov 12:19). While a large part of the book of Proverbs consists of such sayings, there are other literary types of “saying” called “proverb” in the book as well: oracles, riddles, allegories, dark sayings, and bywords.

Clay lamp, 7th to 6th century BCE (Prov 6:23)
Samos Museum/BiblePlaces.com

The book of Proverbs is part of the wisdom literature in the OT (Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Song of Songs). Most of the books in the OT relate the history of God's relationship with our ancestors in the faith. The wisdom literature, however, has a different theme and focus, one shared by all societies in all places and all times. The concern is with the human struggle to find answers to the age-old questions of life: What is the place of each of us within the greater scheme of life? How do we handle the countless relationships that we experience in life? How do we understand what appears to us to be unjust suffering?

In the ancient setting, "wisdom" refers to the human quest to understand and to organize reality, including finding answers to questions about the meaning of life, and passing on that information from one generation to another. Wisdom's roots are in families, where each generation shared insights with the other about how to live well. As societies became more structured, wisdom made its way through families and family groups to national and religious systems. Over the centuries people saw countless patterns of cause and effect. For example, one natural event usually came before another; a particular consequence typically came after human action; the stars, moon and sun moved in set ways that affected the earth.

These observations led to the belief that the gods had set up a basic order that controls everything. Humans have to understand and maintain the order or else there will be chaos. Wisdom is the ability to wrestle with the chaos and return the world to its basic order. So the wisdom in the ancient Near East tried to define the good created order, to look at the times in history when human actions or circumstances conflicted with that order, and to tell humans how to keep or restore the order.

Wisdom is a way of thinking about and shaping reality; it includes ideas that people in a society share and what they expect from life. Wisdom writers tried to put the world into categories or groups, to measure human actions, to evaluate the status of life events and trends, and to recommend ways of living. Their literature became a particular view of reality used to structure human society. The book of Proverbs presents a common view of the way to wisdom; the path to a good life: Act wisely, live in harmony with others, obey God's commandments, and be sensitive and caring to the less fortunate.

I. The Proverbs of Solomon, King David's Son, from Israel (1:1–9:18)

- A. Introduction (1:1–7)
- B. Listen, my son (1:8–9:18)
  - 1. The admonitions of the parent (1:8–19)
  - 2. The words of Woman Wisdom (1:20–33)
  - 3. More admonitions of the parent (2:1–4:27)
  - 4. The wiles of the Mysterious Woman (5:1–23)
  - 5. Further admonitions of the parent (6:1–7:27)
  - 6. Further words of Woman Wisdom (8:1–9:6)
  - 7. Final admonitions of the the parent (9:7–18)

II. The Proverbs of Solomon (10:1–22:16)

- A. Words contrasting right and wrong (10:1–15:33)
- B. Words about right conduct (16:1–22:16)

III. The Words of the Wise (22:17–24:22)

IV. More Sayings of the Wise (24:23–34)

V. The Proverbs of Solomon, Copied by the Men of Hezekiah, King of Judah (25:1–29:27)

- A. Words about right conduct in society (25:1–27:27)
- B. Words about justice and instruction (28:1–29:27)

VI. The Words of Agur (30:1–33)

- A. I am too stupid to be human (30:1–3)
- B. Riddles (30:4–9)
- C. Beware the arrogant (30:10–17)
- D. Numerical sayings (30:18–33)

VII. The Words of King Lemuel (31:1–31)

- A. Admonitions of the mother (31:1–9)
- B. The competent wife (31:10–31)

Purpose of Proverbs

- 1 The proverbs of Solomon, King David's son, from Israel:
  - 2 Their purpose is to teach wisdom and discipline, to help one understand wise sayings.
  - 3 They provide insightful instruction, which is righteous, just, and full of integrity.
  - 4 They make the naive mature, the young knowledgeable and discreet.
  - 5 The wise hear them and grow in wisdom; those with understanding gain guidance.
  - 6 They help one understand proverbs and difficult sayings, the words of the wise, and their puzzles.
  - 7 Wisdom begins with the fear of the LORD, but fools despise wisdom and instruction.

1:1 1Ki 4:32;
 Prv 10:1,
 Prv 25:1; Ecc 1:1,
 Ecc 12:9
 1:3 Prv 2:9
 1:4 Prv 8:5
 1:5 Prv 9:9
 1:6 Ps 49:4,
 Ps 78:2,
 Prv 22:17
 1:7 Job 28:28;
 Prv 11:10;
 Prv 9:10,
 Prv 15:33
 1:8 Prv 4:1,
 Prv 6:20
 1:9 Gn 41:42;
 Prv 3:22, Prv 4:9;
 Dn 5:29
 1:10 Prv 16:29;
 Eph 5:11
 1:11 Ps 10:8;
 Prv 1:18,
 Prv 12:6;
 Jer 5:26
 1:12 Ps 28:1,
 Ps 124:3

Avoid evil associations

- 8 Listen, my son, to your father's instruction; don't neglect your mother's teaching;
  - 9 for they are a graceful wreath on your head, and beads for your neck.
- 10 My son, don't let sinners entice you.
  - Don't go <sup>11</sup>when they say: "Come with us. Let's set up a deadly ambush. Let's secretly wait for the innocent just for fun.
  - 12 Let's swallow up the living like the grave<sup>a</sup>—whole, like those who go down into the pit.

Sheol The Hebrew noun sheol occurs nine times in the book of Proverbs (Prov 1:12; 5:5; 7:27; 9:18; 15:11, 24; 23:14; 27:20; 30:16) and may be translated as "the grave." The noun comes from the word meaning "to be extinguished." The Bible identifies Sheol as the home of the dead, and generally locates it in the depths of the earth (see Gen 37:35; 1 Kgs 2:6; Isa 38:10; Ps 86:13). Readers in the 21st century often think of Sheol as "hell"—full of shadows, dark existence, cut off from the presence of God. But the idea of Sheol is very different from the idea of hell.

In ancient Israelite thought, all who died went to Sheol—whether they were righteous or wicked. But God wasn't in Sheol, because God is the god of the living. For the ancient Israelites, life was the time to be in God's presence, to be righteous and just, to find joy and purpose. Death, and the sure descent into Sheol, marked the end of the possibilities of life. Sheol was the opposite of life, the opposite of living in the presence of God.

"Sheol" occurs with "Abaddon" twice in the book of Proverbs (Prov 15:11; 27:20). The root of "Abaddon" means "to perish." It occurs rarely in the OT (see Ps 88:11; Job 26:6; 28:22; 31:12) and is a poetic synonym for "Sheol."

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol

1:1-9:18 The proverbs of Solomon, King David's son, from Israel: The first of six sections of the book of Proverbs.

1:1 The proverbs of Solomon: For a discussion of "proverbs" and "Solomon," see the introduction.

1:2-6 teach wisdom and discipline . . . help one understand wise sayings . . . provide insightful instruction . . . make the naive mature . . . help one understand proverbs and difficult sayings, the words of the wise, and their puzzles: The first verses of the book of Proverbs state its purpose. Its subject matter is the ins and outs of everyday living—with humans and God. The person who follows the instructions in the book will grow in wisdom and gain guidance (1:5).

1:7 Wisdom: The Hebrew word hokhmah occurs in the book more than 100 times. For a discussion of "wisdom," see the introduction. the fear of the Lord: This phrase is a prominent feature of the book of Proverbs, occurring no less than 17 times (e.g., Prov 2:5; 3:7; 8:13; 10:27; 14:2, 26; 15:16; 19:23; 23:17; 24:21). While we tend to associate the word "fear" with a "hair standing on end" or "fight or flight" feeling, "the fear of the Lord" is better understood as reverent awe. Indeed, the Lord is "fearsome," but not in the sense that some want to run away from or escape from God's presence. Rather, we are called to approach the Lord with a sense of awe while in the presence of the holy.

1:8 my son: Many of the instructions in the book are for young men who are entering adulthood (see Prov 2:1; 3:1; 4:20; 6:1; 7:1). While the admonitions of Proverbs are applicable to all humanity, "my son" reflects the original audience of the instructions.

1:10 don't let sinners entice you: In Hebrew, the word "sin" which occurs in 1:10, means "to miss the mark." Sin is doing or being less than we are called to, doing or being more than we are called to, and doing or being what we are called to in a misguided way (Prov 1:18; 5:22; 10:16; 11:31; 13:6, 21, 22; 14:21, 34; 19:2; 20:9; 23:17; 24:9; 29:6). In many instances in Proverbs, "sin" is directly related to "wickedness" (Prov 5:22; 10:16; 11:31; 13:6; 29:6).

1:12-15 The parent says to the child, don't go on the path

1:13 Prv 1:19;
1Ti 6:10
1:15 Ps 1:1,
Ps 119:101;
Prv 4:14
1:16 Prv 6:18;
Is 59:7; Ro 3:15
1:17 Is 1:3
1:18 Prv 1:11
1:19 Prv 15:27
1:20 Prv 8:1,
Prv 9:3; Jn 7:37
1:21 Prv 8:3
1:22 Ps 1:1;
Prv 1:29,
Prv 3:34,
Prv 5:12, Prv 7:7
1:23 Is 55:7;
Eze 33:11;
Jl 2:28; Ac 3:19,
Ac 26:20
1:24 Is 65:12,
Is 66:4; Jer 7:13;
Ro 10:21
1:25 2Ch 36:16;
Ps 107:11;
Lk 7:30
1:26 Ps 2:4,
Ps 37:13, Ps 59:8
1:27 Prv 10:25;
Is 17:13
1:28 Job 27:9
1:29 Job 21:14;
Prv 1:7, Prv 1:22
1:30 Prv 1:25
1:31 Job 4:8;
Prv 14:14;
Is 3:11; Jer 6:19
1:32 Jer 2:19

- 13 We'll find all sorts of precious wealth;
we'll fill our houses with plunder.
14 Throw in your lot with us;
we'll share our money."
15 My son, don't go on the path with them;
keep your feet from their way, 16 because their feet run to evil;
they hurry to spill blood.
17 It's useless to cast a net in the sight of a bird.
18 But these sinners set up a deadly ambush;
they lie in wait for their own lives.
19 These are the ways of all who seek unjust gain;
it costs them their lives.

Listen to "Woman Wisdom"

- 20 Wisdom shouts in the street;
in the public square she raises her voice.
21 Above the noisy crowd, she calls out.
At the entrances of the city gates, she has her say:
22 "How long will you clueless people love your naiveté, mockers hold their mocking dear,
and fools hate knowledge?
23 You should respond when I correct you.
Look, I'll pour out my spirit on you.
I'll reveal my words to you.
24 I invited you, but you rejected me;
I stretched out my hand to you,
but you paid no attention.
25 You ignored all my advice, and you didn't want me to correct you.
26 So I'll laugh at your disaster;
I'll make fun of you when dread comes over you,
27 when terror hits you like a hurricane,
and your disaster comes in like a tornado,
when distress and oppression overcome you.
28 Then they will call me, but I won't answer;
they will seek me, but won't find me
29 because they hated knowledge and didn't choose the fear of the LORD.
30 They didn't want my advice; they rejected all my corrections.
31 They will eat from the fruit of their way, and they'll be full of their own schemes.
32 The immature will die because they turn away; smugness will destroy fools.

with those who sin, because their feet run to evil. And the goal of the sinner is to swallow up the living like the grave (Sheol).

1:20-33 Wisdom shouts in the street: We hear the voice of wisdom presented as a person—as a woman. She cries out in the public square and at the entrances of the city gates, inviting the passersby to listen and embrace her words (1:23; see Prov 8:1-3; 9:3). Those who don't listen will face disaster, dread, terror, and even death (1:26-27, 32). Those who listen will dwell securely and be untroubled by the dread of harm (1:33). Wisdom belongs to the public and is available to all. She speaks in the most populated areas of the city—the public square and the city gates—and calls all to heed her words. See sidebar, "Woman Wisdom and the Mysterious Woman" at Proverbs 9.

1:22 mockers hold their mocking dear: "Mocker" and "mocking" come from a Hebrew word that means "to scorn, scoff, brag, boast." The writer of Proverbs compares those who hold their mocking dear to clueless people and fools. Those who mock and scoff don't listen to others and hold their own ideas in greater regard than even the wisest person's (see Prov 3:34; 13:1; 14:6, 9; 15:12; 17:5; 19:28; 20:1; 22:24).
1:31 They will eat: See note on Proverbs 13:2-4. References to eating and food occur no less than 40 times in the book

<sup>33</sup>Those who obey me will dwell securely, untroubled by the dread of harm.”

Benefits of wisdom

- 2 My son, accept my words and store up my commands.
<sup>2</sup> Turn your ear toward wisdom, and stretch your mind toward understanding.
<sup>3</sup> Call out for insight, and cry aloud for understanding.
<sup>4</sup> Seek it like silver;
search for it like hidden treasure.
<sup>5</sup> Then you will understand the fear of the LORD, and discover the knowledge of God.
<sup>6</sup> The LORD gives wisdom; from his mouth come knowledge and understanding.
<sup>7</sup> He reserves ability for those with integrity.
He is a shield for those who live a blameless life.
<sup>8</sup> He protects the paths of justice and guards the way of those who are loyal to him.
<sup>9</sup> Then you will understand righteousness and justice, as well as integrity, every good course.
<sup>10</sup> Wisdom will enter your mind, and knowledge will fill you with delight.
<sup>11</sup> Discretion will guard you; understanding will protect you.
<sup>12</sup> Wisdom will rescue you from the evil path, from people who twist their words.
<sup>13</sup> They forsake the way of integrity and go on obscure paths.
<sup>14</sup> They enjoy doing evil, rejoicing in their twisted evil.
<sup>15</sup> Their paths are confused;
they get lost on their way.
<sup>16</sup> Wisdom will rescue you from the mysterious woman, from the foreign woman with her slick words.
<sup>17</sup> She leaves behind the partner of her youth;
she even forgets her covenant with God.
<sup>18</sup> Her house sinks down to death, and her paths go down to the shadowy dead.
<sup>19</sup> All those who go to her will never return;
they will never again reach the ways of the living.
<sup>20</sup> So you should stay on the path of good people, guarding the road of the righteous.
<sup>21</sup> Those who have integrity will dwell in the land;
the innocent will remain in it.

1:33 Ps 25:12,
Ps 25:13,
Ps 81:13,
Ps 112:7,
Ps 112:8
2:1 Prv 3:1,
Prv 4:1, Prv 7:1
2:2 Ps 90:12,
Ps 119:112;
Prv 22:17
2:3 Jas 1:5
2:4 Job 3:21;
Prv 3:14;
Mt 13:44
2:5 Prv 1:7
2:6 Job 32:8;
Jas 1:5
2:13 Ps 82:5;
Prv 4:19; Jn 3:19;
Jn 3:20
2:14 Prv 10:23;
Jer 1:15;
Ro 1:32
2:19 Ecc 7:26
2:20 Ps 119:63;
Prv 13:20;
Heb 6:12
2:21 Ps 37:9,
Ps 37:29,
Ps 37:37;
Prv 28:10

of Proverbs and are usually images for what we choose as our source of spiritual sustenance (Prov 6:8; 7:17; 9:5, 17; 12:5, 11; 13:2-4; 22:9; 25:27; 27:27).
2:1-15 My son: Proverbs 2 continues the parent’s instructions to the child. Three words characterize the instructions: wisdom, knowledge, and understanding. In verse 4, the child is told to seek wisdom as one would a hidden treasure (see Job 28). Getting wisdom isn’t just an intellectual exercise but an ability to use what one has learned about wisdom (see intro). “Knowledge” and “understanding” reflect these two elements of wisdom.
2:5 fear of the LORD: See Proverbs 1:7.
2:16-22 the mysterious woman... the foreign woman:

another major character in the book of Proverbs, the opposite of Woman Wisdom (see sidebar, “Woman Wisdom and the Mysterious Woman” at Prov 9). The Hebrew word translated “mysterious” in 2:16 suggests “forbidden, strange, outside the bounds” (see Prov 5:3, 20; 7:5; 22:14). The Hebrew word translated “foreign” means “someone you don’t recognize” (see Prov 5:20; 6:24; 7:5). These are two ways of referring to the kind of woman the student should avoid. Therefore, we shouldn’t understand the mysterious woman and the foreign woman as two separate characters. We encounter this woman in Proverbs under other names as well: “Woman Folly” (Prov 9:13) and “the evil woman” (Prov 6:24). Woman Wisdom, the

2:22 Ps 52:5
 3:1 Dt 30:16;
 Prv 1:8
 3:3 Prv 6:21,
 Prv 7:3,
 Prv 20:28;
 Jer 17:1; 2Co 3:3
 3:4 1Sa 2:26;
 Ps 111:10;
 Prv 8:35;
 Lk 2:52
 3:5 Ps 37:3,
 Ps 37:5; Jer 9:23
 3:6 1Ch 28:9;
 Prv 16:3
 3:7 Job 1:1,
 Job 28:28;
 Prv 26:12;
 Is 5:21; Ro 12:16
 3:8 Job 21:24;
 Prv 4:22
 3:9 Ex 22:29;
 Dt 26:2
 3:10 Dt 28:8
 3:11 Job 5:17;
 Heb 12:5,
 Heb 12:6
 3:12 Dt 8:5;
 1Co 11:32;
 Heb 12:5;
 Rev 3:19
 3:13 Prv 8:32,
 Prv 8:34
 3:14 Job 28:15;
 Ps 19:10;
 Prv 8:10,
 Prv 8:19,
 Prv 16:16
 3:15 Job 28:18;
 Prv 8:11
 3:16 1Ki 3:13;
 Prv 3:2, Prv 8:18,
 Prv 22:4
 3:18 Gn 2:9,
 Gn 3:22;
 Prv 11:30,
 Prv 13:12;
 Rev 2:7

22 But the wicked will be cut off from the land, and the treacherous will be ripped up.

Trust in the Lord

3 My son, don't forget my instruction.

Let your heart guard my commands,
 2 because they will help you live a long time and provide you with well-being.

3 Don't let loyalty and faithfulness leave you.
 Bind them on your neck;
 write them on the tablet of your heart.

4 Then you will find favor and approval in the eyes of God and humanity.

5 Trust in the LORD with all your heart;
 don't rely on your own intelligence.

6 Know him in all your paths, and he will keep your ways straight.

7 Don't consider yourself wise.
 Fear the LORD and turn away from evil.

8 Then your body<sup>b</sup> will be healthy and your bones strengthened.

9 Honor the LORD with your wealth and with the first of all your crops.

10 Then your barns will be filled with plenty, and your vats will burst with wine.

11 Don't reject the instruction of the LORD, my son; don't despise his correction.

12 The LORD loves those he corrects, just like a father who treats his son with favor.

Value of wisdom

13 Happy are those who find wisdom and those who gain understanding.

14 Her profit is better than silver, and her gain better than gold.

15 Her value exceeds pearls;
 all you desire can't compare with her.

16 In her right hand is a long life;
 in her left are wealth and honor.

17 Her ways are pleasant;
 all her paths are peaceful.

18 She is a tree of life to those who embrace her;
 those who hold her tight are happy.

<sup>b</sup>Heb navel

embodiment of knowledge and understanding, is contrasted with the mysterious woman, who speaks slick words (2:16) and forgets her covenant with God (2:17).

3:1-12 My son: Proverbs 3 continues the parent's instructions to the child. In contrast to Proverbs 2, where Woman Wisdom and the Mysterious Woman are the major characters, the first 11 verses of Proverbs 3 focus on the Lord and the concept of the fear of the Lord (3:7; see Prov 1:7). The child should trust, know, fear, and honor the Lord. The child should bind loyalty and faithfulness on the neck and write them on the tablet of the heart (3:3; cf. Deut 6:4-9). The words themselves aren't "magic," but their presence is a constant reminder of who God is and what God expects from each of us.

3:13 The focus returns to Woman Wisdom. Happy: The

The Fool The Hebrew noun translated "fool" occurs in the OT most often in the wisdom literature—some 50 times in the book of Proverbs (see Prov 3:35; 8:5; 9:13; 13:16,19; 14:7,8; 17:10,12; 19:10, 13; 23:9; 26:8-12; 29:20). The word "fool" comes from a word that means "to be slow, sluggish, or clumsy." In most cases in the OT, a "fool" is person who is easily persuaded, one who is too quick to trust another or believe that something is true. Being a "fool" isn't about being stupid but about being gullible.

Hebrew word here conveys the idea of "walking in a straight path," of "going the right way." Those who find wisdom and gain understanding know that they have "stayed the path." This is a deep-seated contentment that comes from knowing that you've done the right thing (see Prov 8:32, 34; 14:21; 15:15; 29:7; 22:9; 28:14; 29:18).

3:14-16 Woman Wisdom's value is celebrated. She is better than silver, gold, pearls, or any desire (3:14-15; see Prov 2:4; 8:18; 16:16; 20:15; Job 28). "Better than" sayings are common in the wisdom literature of the ancient Near East and occur 26 times in Proverbs (e.g., Prov 8:11, 19; 12:9; 16:8, 19; 17:1; 21:9, 19; 25:7, 24; 28:6). These sayings often emphasize that owning less with integrity and/or peace is better than owning much but having dishonesty and/or strife.

3:17-18 tree of life: See Proverbs 11:30; 13:12; 15:4. The tree

- 19 The LORD laid the foundations of the earth with wisdom, establishing the heavens with understanding.
20 With his knowledge, the watery depths burst open, and the skies drop dew.

Integrity of wisdom

- 21 My son, don't let them slip from your eyes; hold on to sound judgment and discretion.
22 They will be life for your whole being,
and an ornament for your neck.
23 Then you will walk safely on your path, and your foot won't stumble.
24 If you lie down, you won't be terrified.
When you lie down, your sleep will be pleasant.
25 Don't fear sudden terror or the ruin that comes to the wicked.
26 The LORD will be your confidence;
he will guard your feet from being snared.
27 Don't withhold good from someone who deserves it, when it is in your power to do so.
28 Don't say to your neighbor, "Go and come back;
I'll give it to you tomorrow," when you have it.
29 Don't plan to harm your neighbor who trusts and lives near you.
30 Don't accuse anyone without reason, when they haven't harmed you.
31 Don't envy violent people or choose any of their ways.
32 Devious people are detestable to the LORD, but the virtuous are his close friends.
33 The LORD's curse is on the house of the wicked, but he blesses the home of the righteous.
34 He mocks mockers,
but he shows favor to the humble.
35 The wise gain respect, but fools receive shame.

Love wisdom

- 4 Hear, children, fatherly instruction;
pay attention to gain understanding.
2 I'll teach you well.
Don't abandon my instruction.
3 When I was a son to my father, tender and my mother's favorite, 4 he taught me and said to me:
"Let your heart hold on to my words:
Keep my commands and live.

3:19 Ps 104:24,
Ps 136:5,
Prov 8:27;
Jer 10:12
3:20 Gn 7:11;
Dt 33:28;
Job 36:27,
Job 36:28
3:21 Prv 4:21
3:23 Ps 37:24,
Ps 91:12,
Ps 121:3;
Prv 4:12,
Prv 10:9
3:24 Ps 3:5,
Ps 4:8; Prv 6:22;
Jer 31:26
3:27 Ga 6:10
3:28 Lv 19:13;
Dt 24:15
3:29 Prv 6:14
3:30 Prv 25:8;
Ro 12:18
3:32 Job 29:4;
Ps 25:14;
Prv 11:20
3:34 Jas 4:6;
1Pt 5:5
3:35 Ps 73:24;
Dn 12:3
4:1 Ps 34:11;
Prv 1:8
4:2 Dt 32:2

is a common image for life and fertility in the literature and art of the ancient Near East, and "the tree of life" appears in many biblical texts (Gen 2:9; 3:22, 24; Dan 4:10-12; Rev 2:7; 22:2, 14, 19).

3:19 The very foundations of the earth were established with wisdom (see Prov 8:22-31).

3:21-31 My son, don't: The parent's admonition to the child focuses on actions and feelings that the child should avoid. The word "don't" occurs in Proverbs 111 times (e.g., Prov 1:10; 3:5; 6:25; 20:13; 22:26; 23:4; 24:1; 26:4; 30:10). Wisdom is as much a matter of knowing what not to do as it is knowing what to do.

3:33, 35 the wicked and the righteous; fools and the wise: Proverbs uses contrasting images, primarily those of "the wicked and the righteous" and "the foolish and the wise" (see especially Prov 10-15; 21; 24). There's no middle ground. The reader must choose one path or the other.

3:34 He mocks mockers: See Proverbs 1:22.

4:1-9 Hear, children: The focus of the parent's admonitions shifts from one "son" (see Prov 1:8, 10, 15; 2:1; 3:1, 11, 21) to "children." The subject matter, however, remains the same as in the previous chapters: instruction, understanding, and wisdom. The children are told to love, esteem, and embrace wisdom and she will protect, exalt, and honor (4:6, 8) them.

4:5 Prv 3:13,

Prv 23:23

4:6 Prv 2:11;

2Th 2:10

4:7 Prv 1:7,

Prv 4:1,

Prv 23:23;

Mt 13:44

4:8 1Sa 2:30

4:9 Prv 1:9

4:10 Prv 3:2

4:11 1Sa 12:23

4:14 Ps 1:1;

Prv 1:10,

Prv 1:15

4:18 2Sa 23:4;

Ps 84:7; Dn 12:3;

Phi 2:15

4:21 Prv 3:21

4:23 Dt 4:9;

Prv 3:21,

Prv 28:26;

MK 7:21; Lk 6:45

4:25 Job 31:1

4:26 Heb 12:13

4:27 Dt 5:32,

Dt 28:14;

Josh 1:7

<sup>5</sup>Get wisdom; get understanding.

Don't forget and don't turn away from my words.

<sup>6</sup>Don't abandon her, and she will guard you.

Love her, and she will protect you.

<sup>7</sup>The beginning of wisdom:

Get wisdom!

Get understanding before anything else.

<sup>8</sup>Highly esteem her, and she will exalt you.

She will honor you if you embrace her.

<sup>9</sup>She will place a graceful wreath on your head;
she will give you a glorious crown."

Stay on the path of wisdom

<sup>10</sup>Listen, my son, and take in my speech, then the years of your life will be many.

<sup>11</sup>I teach you the path of wisdom.

I lead you in straight courses.

<sup>12</sup>When you walk, you won't be hindered;

when you run, you won't stumble.

<sup>13</sup>Hold on to instruction; don't slack off; protect it, for it is your life.

<sup>14</sup>Don't go on the way of the wicked;
don't walk on the path of evil people.

<sup>15</sup>Avoid it! Don't turn onto it; stay off of it and keep going!

<sup>16</sup>They don't sleep unless they do evil;
they are robbed of sleep unless they make someone stumble.

<sup>17</sup>They eat the bread of evil, and they drink the wine of violence.

<sup>18</sup>The way of the righteous is like morning light that gets brighter and brighter till it is full day.

<sup>19</sup>The path of the wicked is like deep darkness;
they don't know where they will stumble.

Be careful about what you say

<sup>20</sup>My son, pay attention to my words.
Bend your ear to my speech.

<sup>21</sup>Don't let them slip from your sight.
Guard them in your mind.

<sup>22</sup>They are life to those who find them, and healing for their entire body.

<sup>23</sup>More than anything you guard, protect your mind, for life flows from it.

<sup>24</sup>Have nothing to do with a corrupt mouth; keep devious lips far from you.

<sup>25</sup>Focus your eyes straight ahead;
keep your gaze on what is in front of you.

<sup>26</sup>Watch your feet on the way, and all your paths will be secure.

<sup>27</sup>Don't deviate a bit to the right or the left; turn your feet away from evil.

4:10-19 Listen, my son: The parent's words to an individual child continue with instruction about the path of wisdom (4:11) that leads to righteousness and wisdom (see Prov 3:33-35). Learning wisdom is a journey full of twists and turns, obstacles and open doors, and good and bad choices. Wisdom is found in straight courses (4:11); the way of the righteous is like morning light (4:18). The way of the wicked, on the other hand, is full of stumbling (4:16) and is like deep darkness (4:19).

4:17 They eat: See note on Proverbs 1:31.

4:18 like morning light: See note on Proverbs 13:9.

4:20-27 My son, pay attention: The focus of these verses shifts from wisdom's journey to wisdom's speech. The child is told to hear and embrace words of wisdom and to have nothing to do with a corrupt mouth or devious lips (4:24). The words translated "corrupt" and "devious" come from Hebrew words that mean "twisted" and "crooked." We sometimes refer to a person whose words can't be

Avoid the mysterious woman

5 My son, pay attention to my wisdom.
Bend your ear to what I know,

<sup>2</sup>so you might remain discreet, and your lips might guard knowledge.

<sup>3</sup>The lips of a mysterious woman drip honey, and her tongue is smoother than oil,

<sup>4</sup>but in the end she is bitter as gall, sharp as a double-edged sword.

<sup>5</sup>Her feet go down to death; her steps lead to the grave.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>6</sup>She doesn't stay on the way of life.
Her paths wander, but she doesn't know it.

<sup>7</sup>Now children, listen to me, and don't deviate from the words of my mouth.

<sup>8</sup>Stay on a path that is far from her;
don't approach the entrance to her house.

<sup>9</sup>Otherwise, you will give your strength to others, your years to a cruel person.

<sup>10</sup>Otherwise, strangers will sap your strength, and your hard work will end up in a foreigner's house.

<sup>11</sup>You will groan at the end when your body and flesh are exhausted,

<sup>12</sup>and you say, "How I hated instruction!
How my heart despised correction!

<sup>13</sup>I didn't listen to the voice of my instructor.
I didn't obey my teacher.

<sup>14</sup>I'm on the brink of utter ruin in the assembled community."

<sup>15</sup>Drink water from your own cistern, gushing water from your own well.

<sup>16</sup>Should your fountains flood outside, streams of water in the public squares?

<sup>17</sup>They are yours alone, not for you as well as strangers.

<sup>18</sup>May your spring be blessed.

Rejoice in the wife of your youth.

<sup>19</sup>She is a lovely deer, a graceful doe.
Let her breasts intoxicate you all the time;
always be drunk on her love.

<sup>20</sup>Why, my son, should you lose your senses with a mysterious woman and embrace the breasts of a foreign female?

<sup>21</sup>The LORD's eyes watch over every person's path, observing all their ways.

<sup>c</sup>Heb Sheol

believed or trusted as someone who "talks out of both sides of their mouth," giving a picture of a mouth that is "twisted" (see Prov 6:12; 8:8; 22:5).

5:1-14 My son, pay attention to my wisdom: The previous chapter's advice to stay on the straight course (Prov 4:1, 27) and have nothing to do with "twisted" lips (Prov 4:24) is now tied to a specific example. We meet the mysterious woman once again (see Prov 2:16-22). Her lips drip honey (5:3), and she doesn't stay on the way of life (5:6). Walking in her path leads to despairing words (5:12-14) and utter ruin (5:14).

5:5 to death . . . to the grave: See Proverbs 1:12-15.

5:15-19 Drink water from your own cistern: Giving in to the wiles of the mysterious woman is like allowing the water from one's private well to run freely in the streets. Water was, in ancient times, a precious life source and is used here as a metaphor for the enticement of sexual pleasure. As one should not waste water, so one should not allow

5:1 Prv 2:1,
Prv 4:1, Prv 4:20,
Prv 22:17
5:2 Mal 2:7
5:3 Ps 55:21;
Prv 2:16,
Prv 6:24, Prv 7:5
5:4 Dt 29:18;
Ecc 7:26;
Jer 9:15
5:5 Prv 7:27
5:6 Prv 4:26
5:8 Prv 1:15,
Prv 2:16,
Prv 4:15
5:12 Prv 1:7,
Prv 1:22,
Prv 1:25,
Prv 1:29,
Prv 12:1
5:15 Prv 5:18;
1Co 7:2
5:16 Ps 68:26
5:18 Ecc 9:9;
Mal 2:14
5:19 Song 2:9,
Song 4:5
5:20 Prv 2:16

5:22 Ps 7:15;

Prv 1:31

6:1 Job 17:3;

Prv 11:15;

Prv 17:18;

Prv 20:16;

Prv 22:26

6:2 Prv 6:1;

Prv 17:18;

Prv 20:16;

Prv 22:26

6:5 2Sa 2:18;

Ps 91:3, Ps 124:7

6:6 Prv 6:9;

Prv 10:26;

Prv 13:4;

Prv 20:4;

Prv 30:25

6:7 Prv 30:27

6:8 Prv 10:5;

Prv 30:25

6:9 Prv 6:6;

Prv 6:10;

Prv 24:33;

Prv 24:34

6:11 Prv 20:13;

Prv 24:34

6:12 Prv 2:12;

Prv 4:24;

Prv 16:27

6:13 Ps 35:19;

Prv 10:10

6:14 Prv 16:28;

Mi 2:1

22 The wicked will be caught by their own evil acts, grabbed by the ropes of their own sin.

23 Those without instruction will die, misled by their own stupidity.

Wise advice

6 My son, if you guarantee a loan for your neighbor or shake hands in agreement with a stranger,

2 you will be trapped by your words;
you will be caught by your words.

3 Do this, my son, to get out of it, for you have come under the control of your neighbor.
So go, humble yourself,<sup>d</sup> and pester your neighbor.

4 Don't give sleep to your eyes or slumber to your eyelids.

5 Get yourself free like a gazelle from a hunter, like a bird from the hand of a fowler.

6 Go to the ant, you lazy person; observe its ways and grow wise.

7 The ant has no commander, officer, or ruler.

8 Even so, it gets its food in summer;
gathers its provisions at harvest.

9 How long, lazy person, will you lie down?
When will you rise from your sleep?

10 A little sleep, a little slumber,
a little folding of the arms to lie down—

11 and poverty will come on you like a prowler, destitution like a warrior.

12 Worthless people and guilty people go around with crooked talk.

13 They wink their eyes, gesture with their feet, and point with their fingers.

14 Their hearts are corrupt and determined to do evil;
they create controversies all the time.

15 Therefore, sudden disaster will come upon them;
they will be quickly broken beyond healing.

16 There are six things that the LORD hates, seven things detestable to him:

17 snobbish eyes,
a lying tongue,
hands that spill innocent blood,

18 a heart set on wicked plans, feet that run quickly to evil,

<sup>d</sup>Heb uncertain

their own life source to “run freely in the streets.” Thus promiscuity is to be shunned, and the student is advised to Rejoice in the wife of your youth (5:18).

5:22 The wicked . . . the ropes of their own sin: See note on Proverbs 1:10. The phrase evokes a picture of a spider's web. The wicked spin their webs to catch others, but wickedness turns the tables on them, and they end up tangled in their own sticky mess.

6:1-19 These verses contain four brief poems.

6:1-5 My son, if you guarantee a loan: The teacher urges the student not to underwrite another's financial obligations. Such an arrangement places a person under the control of another and may limit one's ability to act with wisdom (see Prov 17:18; 20:16; 22:26; 27:13).

6:6-11 Go to the ant: The ant is an example of the virtues of diligent hard work. Images from nature are common in wisdom sayings (see Prov 27:8; 30:15-19; Job 6:5; 14:11-12). 6:8 food . . . provisions: See note on Proverbs 1:31.

6:10 The words sleep and slumber tie this poem to the one in Proverbs 6:1-5.

6:12-15 Worthless people . . . guilty people: The kind of people the student of wisdom should avoid. The Hebrew word translated crooked in 6:12 is the same word that was translated as “corrupt” in Proverbs 4:24. Here we learn more about the person with crooked talk. It seems their whole body—indeed, their very being—is caught up in the evil that they devise (6:13-14).

6:16-19 Numerical sayings are a common literary device in the ancient Near East (see Prov 30:15-31; Amos 1:3-2:8). six things . . . seven things is like saying, “not only this, but <sup>19</sup>a false witness who breathes lies, and one who causes conflicts among relatives.

Danger of adultery

- <sup>20</sup> My son, keep your father's command;
don't abandon your mother's instruction.
- <sup>21</sup> Bind them on your heart for all time;
fasten them around your neck.
- <sup>22</sup> When you walk around, they will lead you;
when you lie down, they will protect you;
when you awake, they will occupy your attention.
- <sup>23</sup> The commandment is a lamp and instruction a light; corrective teaching is the path of life.
- <sup>24</sup> They guard you from the evil woman, from the flattering tongue of the foreign woman.
- <sup>25</sup> Don't desire her beauty in secret;
don't let her take you in with her eyelashes, <sup>26</sup> for a prostitute costs a loaf of bread,<sup>a</sup> but a married woman hunts for a man's very life.
- <sup>27</sup> Can a man scoop fire into his lap and his clothes not get burned?
- <sup>28</sup> If a man walks on hot coals, don't his feet get burned?
- <sup>29</sup> So is the man who approaches his neighbor's wife;
anyone who touches her will be punished.
- <sup>30</sup> People don't despise a thief if he steals to fill his starving stomach.
- <sup>31</sup> But if he is caught, he must pay sevenfold;
he must give all the riches of his house.
- <sup>32</sup> He who commits adultery is senseless.
Doing so, he destroys himself.
- <sup>33</sup> He is wounded and disgraced.
His shame will never be wiped away.
- <sup>34</sup> Jealousy makes a man rage;
he'll show no mercy on his day of revenge.
- <sup>35</sup> He won't accept compensation;
he'll refuse even a large bribe.

Avoid loose women

- 7 My son, keep my words;
store up my commands within you.
- <sup>2</sup> Keep my commands and live, and my instruction like the pupil of your eye.
- <sup>3</sup> Bind them on your fingers;
write them on the tablet of your heart.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain

6:20 Prv 1:8,
Prv 7:1,
Prv 23:22;
Eph 6:1
6:22 Prv 3:23,
Prv 3:24
6:23 Ps 19:8,
Ps 119:105,
2Pt 1:19
6:25 2Kj 9:30,
Mt 5:28; Jas 1:15
6:26 Prv 29:3
6:27 Job 31:9,
Job 31:12;
Prv 6:28
6:28 Prv 6:27
6:29 Prv 16:5
6:30 Job 38:39
6:32 Prv 7:7,
Prv 9:16;
Hos 4:11
6:33 Prv 5:9
6:34 Prv 27:4;
Song 8:6
7:1 Prv 1:8,
Prv 2:1, Prv 6:20
7:2 Dt 32:10;
Ps 17:8; Prv 4:4
7:3 Dt 6:8;
Prv 3:3

this even more . . . . The word detestable (6:16) is used elsewhere in the OT to speak about worship practices that are unacceptable to God. Here body parts that are used improperly are "detestable" to God (the same word is translated as "humble" in Prov 26:25).
6:20-35 My son, keep your father's command: The words of 6:20-23 echo those of Proverbs 3:1-3 (see also Deut 6:4-9). The evil woman and the foreign woman in verse 24 are poetic synonyms for the mysterious woman (see Prov 2:16-22), but an additional attribute of the mysterious woman is revealed in 6:24-35. A relationship with a married woman, the wife of one's neighbor, is absolutely forbidden. The outcome of such a relationship is like being burned by getting too close to a fire: Can a man scoop fire into his lap . . . If a man walks on hot coals (6:27-28).

6:23 a lamp . . . a light: See note on Proverbs 13:9.
7:1-6 My son, keep my words: Advice concerning the mysterious woman/the foreign woman continues (see Prov 2:16-22). As in Proverbs 3:1-6; 6:20-23, the path to wisdom rather than the path to foolishness is to store up . . . commands and instruction . . . Bind them on your fingers; write them on the tablet of your heart (7:1-3). The student is told in verse 4 to consider wisdom as a sister and to call understanding friend. "Sister" is a term of endearment sometimes used in the ancient Near East to talk about a lover rather than a biological relation (see Prov 4:6; Song 4:9). The word

7:22 Job 13:27;
Ac 16:24
7:23 Ecc 9:12
7:31 Prv 4:15,
Prv 5:8
7:26 Neh 13:26

- <sup>4</sup> Say to wisdom, "You are my sister";
call understanding "friend," <sup>5</sup> so she might guard you against the mysterious woman, from the foreign woman who flatters you.
- <sup>6</sup> When from the window of my house, from behind the screen, I gazed down, <sup>7</sup> I looked among the naive young men and noticed among the youth, one who had no sense.
- <sup>8</sup> He was crossing the street at her corner and walked down the path to her house <sup>a</sup>in the early evening, at the onset of night and darkness.
- <sup>10</sup> All of a sudden a woman approaches him, dressed like a prostitute and with a cunning mind.
- <sup>11</sup> She is noisy and defiant;
her feet don't stay long in her own house.
- <sup>12</sup> She has one foot in the street, one foot in the public square.
She lies in wait at every corner.
- <sup>13</sup> She grabs him and kisses him.
Her face is brazen as she speaks to him:
- <sup>14</sup> "I've made a sacrifice of well-being;
today I fulfilled my solemn promises.
- <sup>15</sup> So I've come out to meet you, seeking you, and I have found you.
- <sup>16</sup> I've spread my bed with luxurious covers, with colored linens from Egypt.
- <sup>17</sup> I've sprinkled my bed with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.
- <sup>18</sup> Come, let's drink deep of love until morning;
let's savor our lovemaking.
- <sup>19</sup> For my husband isn't home;
he's gone far away.
- <sup>20</sup> He took a pouch of money with him;
he won't come home till full moon."
- <sup>21</sup> She seduces him with all her talk.
She entices him with her flattery.
- <sup>22</sup> He goes headlong after her,
like an ox to the slaughter, like a deer leaping into a trap,<sup>f</sup>
- <sup>23</sup> until an arrow pierces his liver, like a bird hurrying to the snare, not aware that it will cost him his life.
- <sup>24</sup> Now children, listen to me,
and pay attention to my speech.
- <sup>25</sup> Don't turn your heart to her ways;
don't wander down her paths.
- <sup>26</sup> She has caused many corpses to fall;
she has killed many people.

<sup>f</sup> Heb uncertain

"friend" comes from the Hebrew word "to know" and is a term comparable to "sister." Thus wisdom and understanding, both attributes of Woman Wisdom, are to be desired over any knowledge of the mysterious woman (7:5).

7:7-23 The parent tells about a scene observed while looking out the window of the family house. A woman, whose feet don't stay long in her own house (7:11), approaches a young man and attempts to persuade him to come home with her. The words of verse 19, For my husband isn't home;

he's gone far away, remind the reader of the admonitions of Proverbs 6:24-35. The young man here is about to be burned for getting too close to the fire of desire.

7:14 I've made a sacrifice: See note on Proverbs 21:3.

7:24-27 The parent's words, not just to an individual child, but to "children" in general, return (see Prov 1:8, 10, 15; 2:1; 3:1, 11, 21). These verses summarize the dangers of the "mysterious woman," but she hasn't yet had her last word; the reader will encounter her again in Proverbs 9.

27 Her house is a path to the grave,<sup>g</sup> going down to the chambers of death.

Wisdom's autobiography

8 Doesn't Wisdom cry out and Understanding shout?

2 Atop the heights along the path, at the crossroads she takes her stand.

3 By the gate before the city, at the entrances she shouts:

4 I cry out to you, people;
my voice goes out to all of humanity.

5 Understand skill, you who are naive.
Take this to heart, you fools.

6 Listen, for I speak things that are correct;
from my lips comes what is right.

7 My mouth utters the truth;
my lips despise wickedness.

8 All the words of my mouth are righteous;
nothing in them is twisted or crooked.

9 All of them are straightforward to those who understand, and upright for the knowledgeable.

10 Take my instruction rather than silver, knowledge rather than choice gold.

11 Wisdom is better than pearls;
nothing is more delightful than she.

12 I, Wisdom, dwell with prudence;
I have found knowledge and discretion.

13 To fear the LORD is to hate evil.
I hate pride and arrogance,
the path of evil and corrupt speech.

14 I have advice and ability, as well as understanding and strength.

15 By me kings rule, and princes issue righteous decrees.

16 By me rulers govern, and officials judge righteously.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>g</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>h</sup>Heb uncertain

7:27 Prv 2:18,
Prv 5:5, Prv 9:18
8:1 Job 28:12;
Prv 1:20,
Prv 1:21
8:2 Prv 9:3
8:3 Prv 1:21
8:4 Ps 49:1
8:5 Prv 1:4,
Prv 1:22
8:6 Prv 22:20
8:8 Dt 32:5
8:9 Prv 14:6
8:10 Prv 3:14,
Prv 8:19,
Prv 16:16
8:11 Prv 3:15
8:12 Prv 1:4
8:13 1Sa 2:3;
Ps 97:10;
Prv 4:24,
Prv 16:6
8:14 Prv 2:7;
Ecc 7:19
8:15 Dn 2:21;
Ro 13:1

7:27 to the grave... to the chambers of death: See Proverbs 1:12-15.

8:1 Doesn't Wisdom cry out: Proverbs 8 contains the most detailed description of Woman Wisdom in the Bible. See sidebar, "Woman Wisdom and the Mysterious Woman" at Proverbs 9. More sayings about Woman Wisdom are found in the OT Apocrypha—for example, in Sirach 1:4 and Wisdom of Solomon 1:4; 6:12.

8:2-11 I cry out to you: Wisdom speaks in the first person, with the words "I" and "me" repeated no less than 23 times in 8:4-21. As in Proverbs 1:20-33, Wisdom cries out Atop the heights, at the crossroads, By the gate, at the entrances (8:2-3) for all humans to listen, particularly the naive and fools (8:5). Her words, from my lips come what is right (8:6) ... All the words of my mouth are righteous; nothing in them is twisted or crooked (8:8; see Prov 4:24), warn against those with corrupt (or crooked) mouths and crooked talk. Verses 10 and 11 are reminders of the great value of wisdom as compared to silver, gold, and pearls (see Prov 2:4; 3:14-15; 8:18-19; 16:16).

8:11, 19 better than... better than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.

8:12 Wisdom states that she dwell[s] with prudence and has found discretion. While the words "prudence" and "discretion" may suggest conservative caution, their basic meaning is "cunning" or "shrewdness." Woman Wisdom thinks carefully and examines all options before speaking or acting, but she isn't reluctant to speak or act. The Hebrew, translated as "prudence" here (see also Prov 13:16; 14:8, 15, 18; 22:3; 27:12) is translated in two other places in Proverbs as "shrewd" (see Prov 12:16, 23).

8:13 To fear the Lord: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

8:15-16 kings rule and officials judge righteously with the help of wisdom, her prudence and discretion; so these leaders ensure right order in the world and avert chaos (see intro).

8:17 Dt 4:29;
 1Sa 2:30;
 Prv 1:28;
 Jer 29:13;
 Jn 14:21
 8:19 Job 28:15;
 Prv 3:14,
 Prv 8:10,
 Prv 10:20
 8:20 Ps 5:8,
 Ps 23:3, Ps 25:5,
 Ps 32:8, Is 55:4
 8:21 Prv 24:4
 8:22 Ps 104:24,
 Prv 3:19; Jn 1:1
 8:23 Ps 2:6;
 Mi 5:2; Jn 17:5
 8:24 Gn 1:2;
 Prv 3:20
 8:25 Job 15:7;
 Ps 90:2
 8:26 Gn 1:1;
 Ps 90:2;
 Jer 10:12,
 Jer 51:15
 8:27 Job 26:10
 8:29 Gn 1:9,
 Gn 1:10;
 Job 26:10,
 Job 38:8;
 Ps 104:9
 8:30 Mt 3:17;
 Jn 1:1, Jn 1:2
 8:31 Jn 13:1
 8:32 Ps 119:1,
 Ps 119:2,
 Ps 128:1;
 Prv 7:24;
 Lk 11:28
 8:34 Prv 3:13
 8:35 Prv 12:2
 8:36 Prv 1:31,
 Prv 12:1,
 Prv 15:32; Is 3:9

- 17 I love those who love me;
 those who seek me will find me.
- 18 Riches and honor are with me, as well as enduring wealth and righteousness.
- 19 My fruit is better than gold, even fine gold;
 my crops are better than choice silver.
- 20 I walk on the way of righteousness,
 on the paths of justice,
- 21 to provide for those who love me and to fill up their treasuries.
- 22 The LORD created me at the beginning of his way, before his deeds long in the past.
- 23 I was formed in ancient times, at the beginning, before the earth was.
- 24 When there were no watery depths, I was brought forth, when there were no springs flowing with water.
- 25 Before the mountains were settled, before the hills, I was brought forth;
- 26 before God<sup>f</sup> made the earth and the fields or the first of the dry land.
- 27 I was there when he established the heavens,
 when he marked out the horizon on the deep sea,
- 28 when he thickened the clouds above,
 when he secured the fountains of the deep,
- 29 when he set a limit for the sea,
 so the water couldn't go beyond his command,
 when he marked out the earth's foundations.
- 30 I was beside him as a master of crafts.<sup>h</sup>
 I was having fun,
 smiling before him all the time,
- 31 frolicking with his inhabited earth and delighting in the human race.
- 32 Now children, listen to me:
 Happy are those who keep to my ways!
- 33 Listen to instruction, and be wise;
 don't avoid it.
- 34 Happy are those who listen to me, watching daily at my doors, waiting at my doorposts.
- 35 Those who find me find life;
 they gain favor from the LORD.
- 36 Those who offend me injure themselves;
 all those who hate me love death.

<sup>h</sup>Heb lacks God. <sup>j</sup>Heb uncertain

8:17 I love those who love me: In Proverbs 4:6, the hearer is called to "love" wisdom and in Proverbs 7:4 to "Say to wisdom, 'You are my sister.'" In this verse, Wisdom returns the love given.

8:22-31 The LORD created me: In one of the most beautiful poems in the Bible, Woman Wisdom describes her role in creation. She was created by God at the beginning (8:22). The word translated "created" has many meanings in Hebrew, including the ideas of "acquiring" and "possessing." Did God create wisdom, acquire wisdom, or possess wisdom? The text doesn't clearly state the relationship between God and Wisdom, allowing readers to form their own opinion. While the meaning of the Hebrew words in 8:22, 30 may be unclear, Woman Wisdom apparently had a unique and close relationship with God at creation. I was beside him as a master of crafts: Humans weren't there, but Wisdom was an active presence in the creation of the universe (see Sir 1:4; cf. Job 38:4, 16, 31; John 1:1-18). She was having fun, smiling, frolicking, and delighting in the human race (8:30-31). All of creation, including humans, fills Woman Wisdom with utter joy.

8:32-36 Now children, listen to me: In the closing verses of Proverbs 8, Woman Wisdom calls readers once again to listen in order to find happiness (8:32, 34; see Prov 3:13). all those who hate me (8:36) contrasts with the advice in Proverbs 4:6 and Proverbs 8:17 to "love" wisdom.

Woman Wisdom and the Mysterious Woman The female language about Woman Wisdom and the mysterious woman comes from cultural contexts that are different from those of the 21st century. The book of Proverbs may have been composed to instruct young men. The instruction would prepare the young men for life in a world of endless options and temptations. Images of “Woman Wisdom” and the “mysterious woman” as rivals for their attention and affection were effective, attention-grabbing ways to show what young men would face in the world. The book of Proverbs shows the “mysterious woman” as one who seduces, and it shows innocent young men being drawn into her corrupt ways. If we read the text for its main message, we can move beyond the picture of woman as a seducer, focusing instead on the choice between wisdom and folly, between wickedness and righteousness.

9:1 Eph 2:20;
1 Pt 2:5
9:2 Prv 9:5,
Prv 23:30;
Song 8:2;
Mt 22:4;
Lk 14:17
9:3 Prv 1:20,
Prv 8:1,
Prv 8:2, Prv 9:14;
Mt 22:3
9:4 Prv 6:32,
Prv 9:16
9:5 Prv 9:2;
Song 5:1; Is 55:1;
Jn 6:27
9:6 Prv 4:14;
2Co 6:17
9:8 Ps 141:5;
Prv 15:12;
Mt 7:6
9:9 Prv 1:5
9:10 Job 28:28;
Ps 111:10;
Prv 1:7, Prv 30:3
9:11 Prv 3:2,
Prv 3:16,
Prv 10:27
9:12 Job 22:2
9:13 Prv 5:6,
Prv 7:11
9:14 Prv 9:3
9:15 Prv 9:6
9:16 Prv 9:4

“Woman Wisdom’s” invitation

- 9 Wisdom built her house;
she has carved out her seven pillars.
- <sup>2</sup> She slaughtered her animals, mixed her wine, and set her table.
- <sup>3</sup> She sends out her female servants;
she issues an invitation from the top of the city heights:
- <sup>4</sup> “Whoever is naïve turn aside here,” she says to those who lack sense.
- <sup>5</sup> “Come, eat my food, and drink the wine I have mixed.
- <sup>6</sup> Abandon your simplistic ways and live;
walk in the way of understanding.”

Wise advice

- <sup>7</sup> Whoever instructs the cynic gets insulted;
whoever corrects the wicked gets hurt.
- <sup>8</sup> Don’t correct the impudent, or they will hate you;
correct the wise, and they will love you.
- <sup>9</sup> Teach the wise, and they will become wiser;
inform the righteous, and their learning will increase.
- <sup>10</sup> The beginning of wisdom is the fear of the LORD;
the knowledge of the holy one is understanding.
- <sup>11</sup> Through me your days will be many;
years will be added to your life.
- <sup>12</sup> If you are wise, it is to your benefit;
if you are cynical, you will bear it all alone.

“Woman Folly’s” invitation

- <sup>13</sup> Woman Folly is noisy;
she’s stupid and doesn’t even know it.
- <sup>14</sup> She sits at the doorway of her house, on a seat at the city heights.
- <sup>15</sup> She invites those who pass by on the path, those going straight on their way.
- <sup>16</sup> “Whoever is naïve, come in here,”
she says to those who lack sense.

9:1-6 Chapter 9 concludes the first collection of the book of Proverbs (see intro). Wisdom built her house: Woman Wisdom sends out her female servants to issue an invitation to the naïve and those who lack sense (9:3-4; see Prov 9:15-16) to come to her house and eat my food, and drink the wine I have mixed (9:5; see Prov 1:31). seven pillars: The number seven suggests that the foundation of Wisdom’s house, like the foundation of the universe, is secure and unmovable. How a person builds their “house” is an image for how to live one’s life (see Prov 14:1; 24:3; 31:26-27).
9:7-12 The beginning of wisdom is the fear of the LORD: Compare with Proverbs 1:7 (see also Prov 2:5; 3:7; 8:13).

9:13-18 Woman Folly is noisy: The mysterious woman reappears, this time called Woman Folly (see Prov 2:16-22). She is described as stupid (9:13), a translation of a Hebrew word that suggests a gullible, easily persuaded person. In contrast to Woman Wisdom, who in Proverbs 8:12, “dwell[s] with prudence” and “discretion” and therefore thinks carefully and examines all options before speaking or acting, the mysterious woman believes every word she hears and acts impulsively. Woman Folly sits at the city heights and invites the naïve and those who lack sense into her house to drink stolen water and eat food in secret (9:14, 16-17; see Prov 1:31). The beginning and end of Proverbs 9

9:17 Prv 20:17

9:18 Prv 5:5,
Prv 7:2710:1 Prv 1:1,
Prv 15:20,
Prv 17:21,
Prv 17:25,
Prv 19:1310:2 Prv 11:4,
Prv 11:6,
Prv 12:28,
Prv 21:610:3 Ps 34:9,
Ps 34:1010:4 Prv 12:24,
Prv 13:4,
Prv 21:510:5 Gn 2:15;
Prv 6:6, Prv 6:8,
Prv 12:11,
Prv 19:26

10:6 Prv 10:11

10:7 Job 18:17;
Ps 9:5, Ps 9:6,
Ps 109:13,
Ps 112:6

10:8 Mt 7:24

10:9 Prv 28:18;
Is 33:15, Is 33:1610:10 Ps 35:19;
Prv 6:13,
Prv 10:8

17 "Stolen water is sweet;
food eaten in secret is pleasant."

18 But they don't know that the dead are there;
her guests are in the depths of the grave.<sup>a</sup>

Proverbs of Solomon

10 The proverbs of Solomon:
A wise child makes a father glad,
but a foolish child brings sorrow to his mother.

<sup>2</sup> The treasure of the wicked won't profit them, but righteousness rescues people from death.

<sup>3</sup> The LORD doesn't let the righteous starve, but he rejects the desires of the wicked.

<sup>4</sup> Laziness brings poverty; hard work makes one rich.

<sup>5</sup> A wise son harvests in the summer;
a disgraceful son sleeps right through the harvest.

<sup>6</sup> Blessings cover the head of the righteous,
but the mouth of the wicked conceals violence.

<sup>7</sup> The memory of the righteous is a blessing, but the name of the wicked rots.

<sup>8</sup> The skilled mind accepts commands, but a foolish talker is ruined.

<sup>9</sup> Those who walk in innocence walk with confidence, but those on crooked paths will be found out.

<sup>10</sup> Those who wink an eye bring trouble;
those who speak foolishly are ruined.

<sup>11</sup> The mouth of the righteous is a fountain of life, but the mouth of the wicked conceals violence.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol

paint a clear contrast between Woman Wisdom and Woman Folly (the mysterious woman). Both cry out in the public places of the city, inviting the naïve and "those who lack sense" to eat with them. But Woman Wisdom offers "food" and "wine that she has mixed" (that is, understanding), while the mysterious woman offers "stolen water" and "food eaten in secret" (that is, deception).

9:18 the depths of the grave: See Proverbs 1:12-15.

10:1-22:16 The proverbs of Solomon: Chapter 10 begins the second section of the book of Proverbs, which carries a title that attributes the sayings to King Solomon (see intro.). The focus shifts from Woman Wisdom and the dangers of the mysterious woman to two-line wisdom sayings that are sometimes called "aphorisms." The ancient sages believed that the world was created to become a good, orderly place (Gen 1:31), and that humans are responsible for maintaining that order.

10:1-15:33 Most of the wisdom sayings in the first half of this section are contrasting statements, such as Hate stirs up conflict, but love covers all offenses (10:12); The wages of the righteous lead to life; the earnings of the wicked lead to sin (10:16). The major characters in these sayings are the wise and the foolish, on the one hand, and the wicked and righteous, on the other (see Prov 3:33-35). Thirteen of these sayings contrast the wise and foolish (see 10:1, 14; 12:15; 14:7), while 36 contrast the righteous and the wicked (see 10:2, 20, 28; 11:10; 12:3; 15:8). A number of sayings mix and match the contrasts. In 10:21, for example, the righteous person is contrasted with the fool, and in 10:32, the wise person is contrasted with the wicked.

10:1 A wise child makes a father glad: This saying ties the second section of Solomon's proverbs to the first section by continuing the theme of relationship between child as student and father and mother as instructors (see Prov 1:8, 10, 21; 3:11; 6:1). The two themes, wisdom and foolishness, appear as characters in other sayings.

10:2-3 The treasure of the wicked: The righteous and the wicked are introduced.

10:4-5 Laziness brings poverty: The virtue of hard work is another major theme of Proverbs 10-15 (see Prov 10:26; 12:11, 24; 14:23; 18:9; 19:15; 20:4; 21:25-26; 24:30; 26:13-16).

10:6, 11 the mouth of the wicked . . . The mouth of the righteous: References to the mouth, lips, and tongue occur in the book of Proverbs 90 times, 23 times in chapters 10-15 (see Prov 10:31; 12:19; 13:3; 14:3; 15:7). In addition, references to words and various types of speech occur 21 times in these chapters (see Prov 10:19; 11:9, 12, 18; 15:1). Words are a powerful commodity in human relationships—the source of much good and much harm, and the organs of speech are the targets of many proverbs. The mouth of the righteous one is a fountain of life (Prov 10:11; 13:14; 14:27; 16:22; see also Jer 2:13; 17:13; Rev 21:6), while the mouth of the wicked one conceals violence (10:6, 11).

10:9 Those who walk in innocence: The path one chooses in life is a prominent theme in Proverbs (10:10; see Prov 2:15; 4:26; 6:23; 8:2; 9:15; 11:5; 13:6; 16:17; 21:2; 28:10). In Proverbs 1:15, the son is warned to avoid the path of sinners, in 2:8 advised to stay on "the paths of justice," and in 4:11-12 told that if one stays on the path of wisdom, his walk won't be hindered.

The Wealthy and the Poor The words “wealth,” “wealthy,” “riches,” and “rich” occur 45 times in the book of Proverbs (see Prov 3:9; 6:31; 10:4; 13:7, 11; 14:24; 18:23; 21:17; 23:5; 28:8; 29:3; 30:8), and the words “poor” and “poverty” occur the same number of times (see Prov 10:4, 15; 14:31; 19:17; 22:9, 16; 28:27; 30:8; 31:20). Proverbs presents a mixed picture of the relationship between the two. According to Proverbs 10:15, the riches of the wealthy protect them, while the poverty of the poor ruins them (see also Prov 14:20; 19:4, 7; 22:7). But Proverbs 19:17 praises those who are gracious to the poor (see also Prov 14:31; 21:13; 22:9, 16). In Proverbs 22:2, the teacher states, “The rich and the poor have this in common: the LORD made them both.” And in Proverbs 28:8, we read, “Those who become rich through high interest rates gather money for those who are generous to the poor.” Such sayings reflect the changing nature of human relationships and proverbial wisdom (see Prov 26:4-5). Is wealth always to be celebrated and poverty criticized? Are some folks poor through no fault of their own? Is a lack of generosity to be praised or criticized? One’s place in the journey of life determines the answers to such questions. A single proverb isn’t appropriate for every circumstance. According to the book of Proverbs, neither poverty nor wealth is given high status in God’s eyes, except as they have to do with one’s pursuit of wisdom.

10:12 Prv 17:9;
1 Pt 4:8
10:14 Prv 10:8;
Prv 18:3;
Prv 18:7
10:15 Ps 52:7;
Prv 18:11;
Prv 19:7
10:17 Prv 6:23;
Prv 12:1;
Prv 15:10
10:18 Ps 101:5;
Prv 26:24
10:19 Prv 17:27;
Prv 17:28;
Jas 1:19, Jas 3:2
10:20 Prv 8:19
10:21 Hos 4:6
10:24 Ps 37:4;
Ps 145:19;
Is 66:4; 1 Jn 5:14,
1 Jn 5:15
10:25 Ps 58:9;
Prv 1:27;
Prv 12:3,
Prv 12:7;
Mt 7:24
10:26 Is 65:5
10:27 Job 15:32;
Ps 55:23; Prv 3:2,
Prv 9:11

- 12 Hate stirs up conflict, but love covers all offenses.
- 13 Wisdom is found on the lips of those who have understanding, but there is a rod for the back of those with no sense.
- 14 The wise store up knowledge, but the mouth of a fool brings on ruin.
- 15 The riches of the wealthy are their strong city;
the ruin of the poor is their poverty.
- 16 The wages of the righteous lead to life;
the earnings of the wicked lead to sin.
- 17 Those who heed instruction are on the way to life, but those who ignore correction lose their way.
- 18 Lying lips conceal hate, and those who spread slander are fools.
- 19 With lots of words comes wrongdoing, but the wise restrain their lips.
- 20 The tongue of the righteous is choice silver,
but the heart of the wicked lacks value.
- 21 The lips of the righteous nourish many people, but fools who lack sense will die.
- 22 The LORD’s blessing makes a person rich, and no trouble is added to it.
- 23 Fools enjoy vile deeds,
but those with understanding take pleasure in wisdom.
- 24 What the wicked dread will come on them, but what the righteous desire will be given to them.
- 25 After a whirlwind passes by, the wicked are no more,
but the righteous stand firm forever.
- 26 Like vinegar to the teeth and smoke to the eyes, so are lazy people to those who authorize them.
- 27 The fear of the LORD increases one’s life, but the years of the wicked will be cut short.
- 28 The expectations of the righteous result in joy, but the hopes of the wicked will perish.
- 29 The path of the LORD is a refuge for the innocent and ruin for those who do evil.

10:15 the wealthy... the poor: The wealthy and the poor are recurring characters.

10:16 the earnings of the wicked lead to sin: See note on Proverbs 1:10.

10:18 Lying lips: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

10:26 Like vinegar to the teeth: a vivid picture of irritation to the senses. Images from everyday life and nature are used in the wisdom sayings.

10:27 The fear of the LORD increases one’s life: A prominent theme in Proverbs 1–9 (Prov 1:7; 2:5; 3:7; 8:13; 9:10) is also

10:31 Ps 37:30;
Prv 10:13

11:1 Lv 19:35,
Lv 19:36;
Prv 16:11,
Prv 20:10,
Prv 20:23

11:3 Prv 11:5,
Prv 13:6

11:4 Gn 7:1;
Prv 10:2;
Eze 7:19;
Zep 1:18

11:5 Prv 13:6

11:13 Lv 19:16;
Prv 20:19,
Prv 25:9,
Prv 26:20

11:14 Prv 15:22,
Prv 20:18,
Prv 24:6

11:15 Prv 6:1,
Prv 17:18,
Prv 22:26,
Prv 22:27

11:17 Mt 5:7,
Mt 25:34;
Jas 2:13

11:18 Ps 126:5;
Hos 10:12;
Ga 6:8, Ga 6:9;
Jas 3:18

11:20 1 Ch
29:17; Prv 6:16,
Prv 12:22

11:21 Ps 112:2;
Prv 16:5

- 30 The righteous will never be shaken, but the wicked won't dwell in the land.
- 31 The mouth of the righteous flows with wisdom,
but the twisted tongue will be cut off.
- 32 The lips of the wise know what is acceptable, but the mouth of the wicked knows only what is perverse.
- 11 The LORD detests dishonest scales, but delights in an accurate weight.
- 1 When pride comes, so does shame, but wisdom brings humility.
- 3 Integrity guides the virtuous, but dishonesty ruins the treacherous.
- 4 Riches don't help in the day of wrath, but righteousness rescues from death.
- 5 The righteousness of the innocent makes their path straight, but the wicked fall in their wickedness.
- 6 Those who do right are saved by their righteousness, but the untrustworthy are caught by their own desires.
- 7 When the wicked die, their hope perishes.
Yes, any hope based on money perishes.
- 8 The righteous are saved from distress, and the wicked take their place.
- 9 The godless destroy their neighbors by their words, but the righteous are saved by their knowledge.
- 10 When the righteous succeed, a city rejoices;
when the wicked perish, there are shouts of joy.
- 11 A city is honored by the blessing of the virtuous;
it is destroyed by the words of the wicked.
- 12 Whoever despises their neighbor lacks sense;
a sensible person keeps quiet.
- 13 A slanderer walks around revealing secrets, but a trustworthy person keeps a confidence.
- 14 Without guidance, a people will fall, but there is victory with many counselors.
- 15 Guaranteeing the debt of a stranger brings big trouble, but the one who refuses to shake hands will be secure.
- 16 A gracious woman gains honor;
violent men gain only wealth.
- 17 Kind persons benefit themselves, but cruel people harm themselves.
- 18 The wicked earn false wages, but those who sow righteousness receive a true reward.
- 19 The righteous are headed toward life, but those who pursue evil, toward death.
- 20 The LORD detests a crooked heart, but he favors those whose path is innocent.
- 21 The evil person will surely not go unpunished, but the children of the righteous will escape.

found in Proverbs 10–15. Fear or reverence also leads to a “fountain of life” (Prov 10:11; 13:14) and “is wise instruction” (Prov 15:33).

10:31–32 The mouth of the righteous...the twisted tongue... The lips of the wise...the mouth of the wicked. See Proverbs 4:20–27; 10:6, 11.

11:1, 3 The Lord detests dishonest scales: Integrity in everyday matters is a mark of the wise and righteous person. Corrupt merchants sometimes used scales and weight to cheat customers. In the teaching of Leviticus called the “Holiness Code,” the people are instructed, “You must have accurate scales and accurate weights” (Lev 19:36). People who are in awe of the Lord (because “I am the Lord your God”) won’t cheat each other. See also Proverbs 16:11; 20:23; 21:2.

11:9, 12 The godless destroy their neighbors: Destroying or despising one’s neighbor isn’t sensible for a person with integrity (see Prov 3:28–29; 12:26; 16:29; 21:10; 25:8–9, 17–18).

11:15 Guaranteeing the debt of a stranger: See note on Proverbs 6:1–5.

11:16 A gracious woman gains honor: Four sayings about women occur in Proverbs 10–15 (cf. Prov 11: 22; 12:4; 14:1).

- <sup>22</sup> Like a gold ring in a pig's nose is a beautiful woman who lacks discretion.
- <sup>23</sup> The desires of the righteous end up well, but the expectations of the wicked bring wrath.
- <sup>24</sup> Those who give generously receive more, but those who are stingy with what is appropriate will grow needy.
- <sup>25</sup> Generous persons will prosper;
those who refresh others will themselves be refreshed.
- <sup>26</sup> People curse those who hoard grain, but they bless those<sup>1</sup> who sell it.
- <sup>27</sup> Those who look for good find favor, but those who seek evil—it will come to them.
- <sup>28</sup> Those who trust in their wealth will wither, but the righteous will thrive like leafy trees.
- <sup>29</sup> Those who trouble their family will inherit the wind.
The fool will be servant to the wise.
- <sup>30</sup> The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life, and the wise gather lives.<sup>m</sup>
- <sup>31</sup> If the righteous receive their due on earth, how much more the wicked and sinners?

11:22 Prv 31:30;
Is 3:21

11:23 Prv 10:28,
Prv 11:7,
Prv 12:5; Ro 2:8,
Ro 2:9

11:24 Ps 112:9;
Prv 19:17;
Lk 6:38

11:25 Prv 28:27;
Is 32:8, Is 58:10;
2Co 9:6

11:26 Job 29:13

11:30 Prv 3:18;
Dn 12:3;
1Co 9:19;
Jas 5:20

11:31 2Sa 22:25;
Prv 13:21;
Jer 25:29;
1Pl 4:18

12:2 Prv 8:35

12:4 Prv 14:30,
Prv 18:22,
Prv 19:14,
Prv 31:10

12:5 Prv 11:23

12:6 Prv 1:11,
Prv 14:3

12:7 Prv 10:25

12 Those who love discipline love knowledge, and those who hate correction are stupid.

- <sup>2</sup> The LORD favors good people, but he condemns schemers.
- <sup>3</sup> No one is established by wicked acts, but the roots of the righteous can't be disturbed.
- <sup>4</sup> A strong woman is a crown to her husband, but a disgraceful woman is like rot in his bones.
- <sup>5</sup> The plans of the righteous are just,
but the guidance of the wicked is deceptive.
- <sup>6</sup> The words of the wicked are a deathtrap, but the speech of those who do right rescues them.
- <sup>7</sup> The wicked are destroyed and are no more,
but the family of the righteous will endure.
- <sup>8</sup> A person is praised for his insight, but a warped mind leads to contempt.
- <sup>9</sup> Better to be held in low regard and have a servant than to be conceited and lack food.

<sup>1</sup>Or the heads of those <sup>m</sup>Or LXX, Syr violence takes lives away

11:24-26 Those who give generously: In addition to integrity in everyday matters (Prov 11:1, 3) and relationships with neighbors (Prov 11:9, 12), generosity is a mark of wise and righteous persons. Such persons will be refreshed (11:25) and blessed (11:26).

11:28 Those who trust in their wealth: This verse continues the nearby themes of dealing with integrity and acting generously. Those who trust in their wealth feel totally secure. They think they don't need the support of their communities, and they certainly don't concern themselves with those less well off than themselves (see Prov 10:15). Such people will wither. They have no roots in their larger society. They don't stay connected. the righteous, however, understand the importance of community relationships. They are rooted in their communities, interconnected to the goings-on, and so they will thrive like leafy trees (see Ps 1).

11:30 a tree of life: See note on Proverbs 3:17-18.

11:31 the wicked and sinners: See note on Proverbs 1:10.

12:4 A strong woman: The Hebrew words translated strong woman in 12:4 are the same words that are translated in Proverbs 31:10 as "competent wife." Why such different translations? First, the Hebrew word for "woman" is the same as the Hebrew word for "wife," just as Hebrew uses one word for "man" and "husband." Second, the word translated in Proverbs 12:4 and 31:10 as "strong" and "competent" has a basic meaning of "strength" and "power," often military power (Deut 3:18; Judg 21:10; 2 Sam 2:7). The strong woman in 12:4 is contrasted with the disgraceful woman, that is, one who acts shamefully. According to Proverbs 11:16, "honor" comes to "A gracious woman," in contrast to "only wealth" that comes to "violent men" (see Prov 11:28). Being gracious may not be the most immediately rewarding financial move, but dealing with integrity with others shows more wisdom than does gaining wealth at any expense.

12:6 words . . . speech: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

12:9 Better . . . than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16. lack food: See note on Proverbs 1:31.

12:10 Dt 25:4

12:11 Prv 20:13,
Prv 28:19

12:15 Prv 3:7,

Prv 14:12,

Prv 16:2,

Prv 21:2

12:16 Prv 27:3,

Prv 29:11

12:20 Prv 26:24;

Mt 5:9; Ro 14:19

12:22 Prv 6:17,

Prv 11:1,

Prv 11:20,

Rev 22:15

12:23 Prv 10:14,

Prv 10:19,

Prv 11:13,

Prv 13:16,

Prv 15:2

12:28 Prv 10:2,

Prv 11:19

13:1 Prv 1:22

13:3 Prv 18:7,

Prv 18:21,

Prv 21:23;

Jas 3:2

13:4 Prv 10:4,

Prv 21:25

- <sup>10</sup>The righteous care about their livestock's needs, but even the compassion of the wicked is cruel.
- <sup>11</sup>Those who work their land will have plenty to eat, but those who engage in empty pursuits have no sense.
- <sup>12</sup>Desiring evil is a trap for the wicked, but the root of the righteous endures.<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>13</sup>The wicked are trapped by the transgressions of their lips, but the righteous escape from distress.
- <sup>14</sup>From the fruit of their speech, people are well satisfied; their work results in reward.
- <sup>15</sup>Fools see their own way as right, but the wise listen to advice.
- <sup>16</sup>Fools reveal their anger right away, but the shrewd hide their contempt.
- <sup>17</sup>Those who state the truth speak justly,
but a false witness deceives.
- <sup>18</sup>Some chatter on like a stabbing sword, but a wise tongue heals.
- <sup>19</sup>Truthful lips endure forever, but a lying tongue lasts only for a moment.
- <sup>20</sup>Deceit is in the heart of those who plan evil, but there is joy for those who advise peace.
- <sup>21</sup>No harm happens to the righteous, but the wicked receive their fill of trouble.
- <sup>22</sup>The LORD detests false lips;
he favors those who do what is true.
- <sup>23</sup>The shrewd conceal their knowledge, but the heart of fools proclaims their stupidity.
- <sup>24</sup>A hard worker is in charge, while a lazy one will be sentenced to hard labor.
- <sup>25</sup>Anxiety leads to depression, but a good word encourages.
- <sup>26</sup>The righteous offer guidance to their neighbors,<sup>b</sup> but the path of the wicked makes them wander.
- <sup>27</sup>The lazy don't roast<sup>c</sup> their prey, but hard workers receive precious riches.
- <sup>28</sup>The way of the righteous leads to life, but the detestable<sup>d</sup> path leads to death.
- 13 A wise son listens to<sup>e</sup> the discipline of his father, but a mocker doesn't listen to correction.
- <sup>2</sup>People eat well from the fruit of their words, but the treacherous have an appetite only for violence.
- <sup>3</sup>People who watch their mouths guard their lives, but those who open their lips are ruined.
- <sup>4</sup>The lazy have strong desires but receive nothing;
the appetite of the diligent is satisfied.

<sup>a</sup>Or gives <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>LXX; MT the path of the trail <sup>e</sup>Heb lacks listens to.

12:10 their livestock's needs: Humans are part of God's good creation and are given the task of caring for it (see Gen 1:28; Prov 27:23-27).

12:11 plenty to eat: See note on Proverbs 1:31. those who engage in empty pursuits: This verse is similar to Proverbs 28:19, except for the last line. Here worthless pursuits come from a lack of sense, while in 28:19 such pursuits result in "poverty."

12:16, 23 the shrewd: See note on Proverbs 8:12.

12:18 like a stabbing sword: The power of the tongue is a recurring theme in Proverbs. It can be choice silver (Prov 10:20); it can lie (Prov 10:19); it can enhance knowledge (Prov 15:2); it can be like a stabbing sword (12:18); and it can heal (12:18). In many instances in human relationships, words have greater effects than actions. See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

12:26, 28 the path of the wicked . . . the detestable path: See note on Proverbs 10:9.

13:1 but a mocker: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

13:2-4 People eat well . . . the treacherous have an appetite: References to eating (Prov 13:2; see note on Prov 13:1) and the appetite (Prov 13:2, 4; see Prov 16:26; 23:2) connect to

- <sup>5</sup>The righteous hate false words, but the wicked create disgust and scorn.
- <sup>6</sup>Righteousness guards the innocent on the path, but wickedness misleads sinners.
- <sup>7</sup>Some pretend to be rich but have nothing, while others pretend to be poor, but have great riches.
- <sup>8</sup>Wealth can ransom a person's life, but the poor don't even receive threats.
- <sup>9</sup>The light of the righteous rejoices, but the lamp of the wicked goes out.
- <sup>10</sup>The empty-headed cause conflict out of pride;
those who take advice are wise.
- <sup>11</sup>Riches gotten quickly<sup>a</sup> will dwindle, but those who acquire them gradually become wealthy.
- <sup>12</sup>Hope delayed makes the heart sick;
longing fulfilled is a tree of life.
- <sup>13</sup>Trouble will come on those who despise a word, but those who respect the commandment will be rewarded.
- <sup>14</sup>The teaching of the wise is a fountain of life, turning a person away from deathtraps.
- <sup>15</sup>Good insight brings favor, but the way of the faithless is their ruin.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>16</sup>The prudent all act intelligently, but fools display their stupidity.
- <sup>17</sup>Wicked messengers fall into trouble, but a reliable one brings healing.
- <sup>18</sup>Poverty and shame come to those who don't care about instruction;
honor belongs to those who heed correction.
- <sup>19</sup>A desire fulfilled is pleasant, but fools find deviating from evil disgusting.
- <sup>20</sup>Walk with wise people and become wise;
befriend fools and get in trouble.
- <sup>21</sup>Trouble pursues sinners, but good things reward the righteous.
- <sup>22</sup>Good people leave their grandchildren an inheritance, but the wealth of sinners is stored up for the righteous.
- <sup>23</sup>A poor person's land might produce much food, but it is unjustly swept away.
- <sup>24</sup>Those who withhold the rod hate their children, but the one who loves them applies discipline.

<sup>a</sup>LXX; MT from meaninglessness. <sup>b</sup>LXX, Syr, Vulg; MT endures

the theme of the power of the mouth, lips, and tongue (see Prov 10:6, 11; 11:31; 12:19; 15:7). One should only open one's mouth to give or receive good words (nourishment). 13:6 wickedness misleads sinners: See note on Proverbs 1:10. 13:7 Some pretend: One shouldn't be influenced by another's outward appearance and demeanor. 13:9 The light... the lamp: Light vs. darkness is a common theme in the Bible, presented in the creation story in Genesis 1. God creates light in the middle of the darkness (Gen 1:3) and sees that the light is good (Gen 1:4). Light is commonly linked with goodness, while darkness is tied to the absence of goodness (see Job 18:5-6; 29:2-3; Ps 119:105; Prov 6:23; 20:20, 27; 21:4; 24:20; 29:13; 31:18). 13:12 a tree of life: See note on Proverbs 3:17-18. 13:14 a fountain of life: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11. 13:16 The prudent: See note on Proverbs 8:12. 13:21-22 sinners: See note on Proverbs 1:10.

13:5 Ps 119:163; Prv 3:35; Col 3:9 13:6 Prv 11:3; Prv 11:5; Prv 11:6
13:7 Prv 11:24; Lk 12:33; 2Co 6:10; Rev 3:17
13:8 Ex 21:30; Prv 6:35; Prv 15:16
13:9 Job 18:5; Prv 4:18; Prv 20:20; Prv 24:20 13:11 Gn 2:15; Prv 10:2; Prv 10:5; Prv 21:6; Prv 28:20
13:12 Prv 3:18; Prv 13:19
13:13 Nm 15:31; 2Ch 36:16; Prv 13:21; Prv 16:20
13:17 Prv 25:13
13:20 2Ch 19:2; Eze 9:14; Ps 119:63; Prv 2:20; 1Co 15:33
13:22 Job 27:16; Job 27:17; Ps 112:2; Prv 28:8; Ecc 2:26
13:24 Prv 19:18; Prv 22:15; Prv 23:13; Prv 29:15; Prv 29:17

13:22 grandchildren an inheritance: Is it wise to leave one's grandchildren an inheritance? See Proverbs 17:6; compare with Ecclesiastes 2:18-19.

13:24 Those who withhold the rod: Many readers know this verse better as "Spare the rod and spoil the child," but these words don't occur in the Bible. Proverbs 13:24 and other verses in the book use the term "rod" (Prov 22:15; 23:13, 14; 29:15). The Hebrew word translated "rod" is shevet. It occurs 190 times in the OT and can mean "stick, staff, rod, scepter, tribe, division, lance, spear." In this verse rod occurs with another Hebrew term, musar, which can mean the idea of physical or oral reproof and the idea of a body of knowledge to be mastered. Together the two words may refer to physical punishment; they may refer to verbal correction; and they may have to do with sharing knowledge with a young student (see Prov 19:27; 20:30).

13:25 Ps 34:10;
Prv 10:3

14:1 Ru 4:11;
Prv 24:3,
Prv 31:10

14:3 Prv 12:6,
Prv 18:7

14:4 Ps 144:14;
Prv 13:23

14:5 Ex 23:1;
Prv 6:19,
Prv 12:17,

Prv 14:25,
Prv 19:5

14:6 Prv 1:22,
Prv 3:34,
Prv 8:9, Prv 9:9,
Prv 17:24

14:7 Prv 9:6

14:8 Prv 14:15;
Ecc 10:1;
2Ti 3:13

14:9 Prv 10:23

14:12 Prv 12:15,
Prv 16:25;
Mt 7:13; Ro 6:21

14:15 Prv 14:8,
Prv 22:3

14:16 Job 28:28;
Prv 3:7, Prv 22:3

14:17 Prv 14:29

<sup>25</sup>The righteous eat their fill, but the wicked have empty stomachs.

14 A wise woman builds her house, while a foolish woman tears hers down with her own hands.

<sup>2</sup>Those who walk with integrity fear the LORD, but those who take a crooked path despise him.

<sup>3</sup>Pride sprouts in the mouth of a fool,<sup>a</sup> but the lips of the wise protect them.

<sup>4</sup>When there are no oxen, the stall is clean, but when there is a strong bull, there is abundant produce.

<sup>5</sup>A truthful witness doesn't lie, but a false witness spews lies.

<sup>6</sup>A mocker searches for wisdom and gets none, but knowledge comes quickly to the intelligent.

<sup>7</sup>Stay away from fools, for you won't learn wise speech there.

<sup>8</sup>By their wisdom the prudent understand their way, but the stupidity of fools deceives them.

<sup>9</sup>Fools mock a compensation offering, but favor is with those who do right.

<sup>10</sup>The heart knows its own distress;
another person can't share its joy.

<sup>11</sup>The house of the wicked is destroyed, but the tent flourishes for those who do right.

<sup>12</sup>There is a path that may seem straight to someone, but in the end it is a path to death.

<sup>13</sup>The heart feels pain even in laughter, and in the end, joy turns to sorrow.

<sup>14</sup>Rebellious hearts receive satisfaction from their ways;
the good receive the due reward for their deeds.

<sup>15</sup>The naive believe anything, but the prudent give thought to their steps.

<sup>16</sup>The wise are careful and avoid evil, but fools become excited and overconfident.

<sup>17</sup>Short-tempered people make stupid mistakes, and schemers are hated.

<sup>18</sup>Stupidity is the lot of the naive, but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

<sup>19</sup>Evil people will bow down before the good;
wicked people are at the gates of the righteous.

<sup>20</sup>Even their neighbors hate the poor, but many love the wealthy.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain

13:25 The righteous eat their fill: See note on Proverbs 1:31.
14:1 A wise woman builds her house: The Wise Woman reappears in the text, tying Proverbs 10–15 with Proverbs 1–9. But Wisdom in 14:1 is plural, “wise women,” introducing the idea that wisdom is an option available to all who embrace her words. How a person builds a “house” is an image for how one chooses to live life (see Prov 9:1-6; 24:3; 31:26-27).

14:2 fear the Lord: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

14:3 mouth . . . lips: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

14:6 mocker: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

14:8, 15, 18 the prudent: See note on Proverbs 8:12.

14:9 a compensation offering: In the OT, compensation offerings were given by those who realized that they were guilty of an offense against another person or against God. To mock the offering denies forgiveness and healing to the one attempting to repair the relationship (see note on Prov 1:22).

14:13 The heart feels pain even in laughter . . . joy turns to sorrow: See Ecclesiastes 3:1-8. We are called to embrace all that life brings to us, knowing that laughter will turn to pain, and joy will turn to sorrow; but in time pain will turn to laughter, and sorrow will turn to joy.

14:20 Even their neighbors hate the poor, but many love the wealthy: In the OT, health, wealth, and children were considered blessings from God, rewards for faithfulness. Faithfulness to God meant following God's instructions to care for those who were unable to care for themselves: the widows, the orphans, and the poor (see Exod 22:22; Deut 10; 18; 24:19-21; 26:12). While the book of Proverbs praises those who have acquired wealth (Prov 10:15; 13:8; 14:24;

- 21 Those who despise their neighbors are sinners, but happy are those who are kind to the needy.
- 22 Don't those who plan evil go astray?
Those who plan good receive loyalty and faithfulness.
- 23 There is profit in hard work, but mere talk leads to poverty.
- 24 Wealth is the crown of the wise, and the folly of fools is folly.
- 25 A truthful witness saves lives, but a deceiver proclaims lies.
- 26 In the fear of the LORD is strong confidence and refuge for one's children.
- 27 The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life, turning people away from deathtraps.
- 28 A king's glory is a large population, but a dwindling people is a ruler's ruin.
- 29 Patience leads to abundant understanding, but impatience leads to stupid mistakes.
- 30 A peaceful mind gives life to the body, but jealousy rots the bones.
- 31 Those who exploit the powerless anger their maker, while those who are kind to the poor honor God.
- 32 The wicked are thrown down by their own evil,
but the righteous find refuge even in death.
- 33 Wisdom resides in an understanding heart, but it's not<sup>a</sup> known in fools.
- 34 Righteousness dignifies a nation,
but sin disgraces a people.
- 35 The king favors an insightful servant,
but is furious at a shameful one.
- 15 A sensitive answer turns back wrath, but an offensive word stirs up anger.
- 2 The tongue of the wise enhances knowledge, but the mouth of a fool gushes with stupidity.
- 3 The LORD's eyes are everywhere, keeping watch on evil and good people.
- 4 Wholesome speech is a tree of life, but dishonest talk breaks the spirit.
- 5 A fool doesn't like a father's instruction, but those who heed correction are mature.
- 6 Great treasure is in the house of the righteous,
but the gain of the wicked brings trouble.
- 7 The lips of the wise spread knowledge, but the hearts of fools have none.
- 8 The LORD detests the sacrifices of the wicked,
but favors the prayers of those who do right.
- 9 The LORD detests the path of the wicked, but loves those who pursue righteousness.
- 10 Discipline is severe for those who abandon the way;
those who hate correction will die.

14:23 Gn 2:15;
Prv 12:24,
Prv 13:11,
Prv 21:5,
Prv 28:19
14:25 Prv 12:17,
Prv 14:5
14:26 Prv 18:10
14:27 Prv 10:11,
Prv 13:14
14:28 1Ki 4:20
14:29 Prv 14:17,
Prv 16:32,
Prv 19:11;
Ecc 7:9; Jas 1:19
14:30 Prv 12:4
14:31 Prv 17:5,
Prv 22:2;
Mt 25:40
14:32 2Co 1:9,
2Co 5:8
14:33 Prv 10:8,
Prv 12:16,
Prv 15:2,
Prv 23:15,
Prv 29:11
14:34 Prv 11:11
15:1 Jgs 8:1;
1Sa 25:10,
Prv 15:18,
Prv 25:15
15:3 2Ch 16:9;
Job 31:4,
Job 34:21;
Prv 5:21;
Heb 4:13
15:7 Ps 37:30,
Ps 119:13;
Prv 10:13,
Prv 10:21;
Eph 4:29
15:8 Prv 15:29,
Prv 21:27,
Prv 28:9; 1s 1:11;
Jer 6:20
15:10 Prv 10:17,
Prv 12:1,
Prv 29:1; Jn 7:7

<sup>a</sup>LXX; MT lacks not.

22:4, 7), and Woman Wisdom promises wealth to those who embrace her (Prov 3:16; 8:18), greed is criticized (Prov 11:16, 24-25, 28; 14:31; 22:1, 16; 23:4, 5; 28:6). 14:21 neighbors: See Proverbs 11:9, 12. sinners: See note on Proverbs 1:10. happy are those: See note on Proverbs 3:13. 14:26-27 the fear of the LORD: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

14:27 a fountain of life: See Proverbs 10:11.
14:34 but sin disgraces: See note on Proverbs 1:10.
15:1, 2, 4 answer, word, tongue, mouth, speech, talk: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.
15:4 a tree of life: See note on Proverbs 3:17-18.
15:8 the sacrifices of the wicked: See Proverbs 21:3.

- 15:12 Prv 9:8,
Prv 15:10,
Am 5:10
- 15:13 Prv 12:25,
Prv 15:15,
Prv 17:22,
Prv 18:14
- 15:14 Prv 18:15
- 15:17 Prv 17:1
- 15:18 Gn 13:8,
Prv 14:29,
Prv 26:21,
Prv 28:25,
Prv 29:22
- 15:19 Prv 19:24,
Prv 22:5
- 15:27 Ex 23:8;
1Sa 8:3; Prv 1:19;
Is 33:15
- 15:28 Prv 15:2;
1Pt 3:15
- 15:33 Prv 1:7,
Prv 18:12,
Prv 29:23
- 16:1 Prv 16:9,
Prv 19:21
- 11 The grave☞ and the underworld☞ lie open before the LORD;
how much more the hearts of human beings!
- 12 Mockers don't like those who correct them.
They won't go to the wise.
- 13 A joyful heart brightens one's face,
but a troubled heart breaks the spirit.
- 14 An understanding heart seeks knowledge;
but fools feed on folly.
- 15 All the days of the needy are hard,
but a happy heart has a continual feast.
- 16 Better a little with fear of the LORD than a great treasure with turmoil.
- 17 Better a meal of greens with love than a plump calf with hate.
- 18 Hotheads stir up conflict, but patient people calm down strife.
- 19 The path of the lazy is like a hedge of thorns, but the way of those who do right is a clear road.
- 20 A wise child brings joy to a father, but fools despise their mothers.
- 21 Folly is joy to those who lack sense, but those with understanding walk straight ahead.
- 22 Plans fail with no counsel,
but with many counselors they succeed.
- 23 To give an appropriate answer is a joy;
how good is a word at the right time!
- 24 For those with insight, life is an upward path, avoiding the grave☞ below.
- 25 The LORD snatches away the arrogant one's house, but he preserves the widow's boundaries.
- 26 The LORD detests evil plans, but gracious words are pure.
- 27 Those who acquire things unjustly gain trouble for their house, but those who hate bribes will live.
- 28 The righteous heart reflects before answering,
but the wicked mouth blurts out evil.
- 29 The LORD is far from the wicked, but he listens to the prayers of the righteous.
- 30 Bright eyes give joy to the heart;
good news strengthens the bones.
- 31 The ear that listens to life-giving correction dwells among the wise.
- 32 Those who refuse discipline despise themselves, but those who listen to correction gain understanding.
- 33 The fear of the LORD is wise instruction, and humility comes before respect.

16 To people belong the plans of the heart, but the answer of the tongue comes from the LORD.

☞Heb Sheol ☞Heb Abaddon ☞Heb Sheol

15:11 The grave and the underworld: See Proverbs 1:12-15.

15:12 Mockers don't like: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

15:15 a happy heart: See note on Proverbs 3:13.

15:16-17 Better... than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.
fear of the LORD: See note on Proverbs 1:7. meal: See note on Proverbs 1:31.

15:22 no counsel... many counselors: Inviting collaboration and asking for advice are often to be favored over forging ahead on one's own.

15:24 the grave below: See Proverbs 1:12-15.

15:26 gracious words: See note on Proverbs 12:4.

15:33 fear of the LORD: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

16:1-22:16 The second section of the second collection of sayings from Solomon (Prov 10:1-22:16) shifts from wisdom sayings that contrast the wise and the foolish (see Prov 10:1, 14; 12:15; 14:7) and the wicked and righteous (see Prov 10:2, 20, 28; 11:10; 12:3; 15:8) to those contrasting God's wisdom with the limited wisdom of human

- <sup>2</sup>All the ways of people are pure in their eyes, but the LORD tests the motives.
- <sup>3</sup>Commit your work to the LORD, and your plans will succeed.
- <sup>4</sup>The LORD made everything for a purpose, even the wicked for an evil day.
- <sup>5</sup>The LORD detests all who are arrogant;
they surely won't go unpunished.
- <sup>6</sup>Love and faithfulness reconcile guilt;
the fear of the LORD turns away evil.
- <sup>7</sup>When people draw favor from the LORD, even their enemies are at peace with them.
- <sup>8</sup>Better a little with righteousness than great profits without justice.
- <sup>9</sup>People plan their path,
but the LORD secures their steps.
- <sup>10</sup>A king's speech is like an oracle;
in a judgment, one can't go against his words.
- <sup>11</sup>Honest balances and scales are the LORD's;
all the weights in the bag are his doing.
- <sup>12</sup>Kings detest wicked deeds, for their thrones are founded on righteousness.
- <sup>13</sup>Kings favor those with righteous lips;
they love words of integrity.
- <sup>14</sup>The king's anger is a messenger of death;
the wise will calm him.
- <sup>15</sup>There's life in the light of the king's face.
His favor is like a cloud that brings spring rain.
- <sup>16</sup>Acquiring wisdom is much better than gold, and acquiring understanding is better than silver.
- <sup>17</sup>The road of those who do right turns away from evil;
those who protect their path guard their lives.
- <sup>18</sup>Pride comes before disaster, and arrogance before a fall.
- <sup>19</sup>Better to be humble with the needy than to divide plunder with the proud.
- <sup>20</sup>Those with insight find prosperity;
those who trust the LORD are blessed.
- <sup>21</sup>The skilled mind is called discerning, and pleasant speech enhances teaching.
- <sup>22</sup>One who has insight is a fountain of life, but the instruction of the foolish is folly.
- <sup>23</sup>The mind of the wise makes their speech insightful and enhances the teaching of their lips.
- <sup>24</sup>Pleasant words are flowing honey, sweet to the taste and healing to the bones.

16:3 Ps 37:5,
Ps 55:22; 1Pt 5:7
16:4 Gn 1:31;
Ex 9:16; Ro 9:22,
Ro 11:36;
Rev 4:11
16:5 Prv 6:16,
Prv 6:17,
Prv 11:21
16:6 Prv 14:16
16:9 Ps 37:23;
Prv 16:1,
Prv 19:21,
Prv 20:24;
Jer 10:23
16:13 Prv 14:35,
Prv 22:11
16:18 Prv 11:2,
Prv 18:12
16:21 Prv 16:23
16:22 Prv 10:11
16:23 Ps 37:30;
Mt 12:34

rulers. "The LORD" is the subject of 35 proverbs in these chapters (see 16:4, 11; 17:3; 18:22; 19:17, 21; 20:10, 12; 21:2, 27; 22:2). But many of the themes of the two sections are the same.

16:1 the answer of the tongue: References to the tongue, lips, and speech continue (Prov 10:6, 11; 12:18; 16:13, 24, 27).

16:3 Commit your work to the LORD: See Proverbs 10:4-5. The theme of the virtue of hard work continues in Proverbs 16-22 (see 18:9; 19:15)

16:6 the fear of the LORD: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

16:8 Better . . . than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.

16:9, 17 path: See note on Proverbs 10:9.

16:10, 12-15 A king's speech: In many cultures in the ancient Near East, the king was considered to be the son of a god. So the king represented the god, and was the mediator between the people and their god. In Israel, the king, while not the physical son of the Lord, was still to be the hands and feet of the Lord in the world (see Pss 72; 145). Not many kings acted on behalf of the Lord. But the word of a good king was as good as the Lord's word.

16:11 Honest balances and scales: See note on Proverbs 11:1, 3.

16:16, 19, 32 better . . . than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.

16:22 fountain of life: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

16:25 Prv 14:12
 16:26 Ecc 6:7
 16:27 Prv 6:12,
 Prv 6:14; Jas 3:6
 16:31 Prv 17:6,
 Prv 20:29
 16:32 Prv 14:29,
 Prv 15:18,
 Prv 19:11,
 Prv 25:28;
 Jas 1:19
 17:1 Prv 15:17;
 Ecc 4:6
 17:3 1Ch 29:17;
 Ps 26:2, Ps 66:10;
 Prv 27:21;
 Jer 17:10
 17:6 Ps 127:3;
 Prv 16:31

- 25 There is a path that may seem straight to someone,
 but in the end it is the path of death.
- 26 The appetite of workers labors for them, for their hunger presses them on.
- 27 Worthless people dig up trouble;
 their lips are like a scorching fire.
- 28 Destructive people produce conflict;
 gossips alienate close friends.
- 29 Violent people entice their neighbors and walk them down a path that isn't good.
- 30 Those who wink their eye plot destruction;
 those who purse their lips plan evil.
- 31 Gray hair is a crown of glory;
 it is found on the path of righteousness.
- 32 Better to be patient than a warrior, and better to have self-control than to capture a city.
- 33 The dice are cast into the lap;
 all decisions are from the LORD.
- 17 Better a dry crust with quiet than a house full of feasting with quarrels.
- 2 An insightful servant rules over a disgraceful son and will divide an inheritance with the brothers.
- 3 A crucible is for silver and a furnace for gold,
 but the LORD tests the heart.
- 4 An evildoer pays attention to guilty lips;
 a liar listens to a destructive tongue.
- 5 Those who mock the poor insult their maker;
 those who rejoice in disaster won't go unpunished.
- 6 Grandchildren are the crown of the elderly, and the glory of children is their parents.
- 7 Too much talking isn't right for a fool;
 even less so false speech for an honorable person.
- 8 A bribe seems magical in the eyes of those who give it, granting success to all who use it.
- 9 One who seeks love conceals an offense, but one who repeats it divides friends.
- 10 A rebuke goes deeper to an understanding person than a hundred lashes to a fool.
- 11 Evil people seek only rebellion;
 a cruel messenger will be sent against them.
- 12 Safer to meet a bear robbed of her cubs than fools in their folly.

16:26 The appetite of workers: See Proverbs 13:2-4.

16:29 neighbors: See Proverbs 11:9, 12.

16:30 wink their eye... purse their lips: Here we find another proverb concerning deceit with a vivid facial image. The one-eyed wink, the pressing together of the lips, and the nod of the head says to the observer, "Trust me, I know what I'm doing." The proverb reminds us, though, that the wink, the pursed lips, and the nod often lead to destructive paths.

16:31 Gray hair: The value of taking the advice of the aged is a recurring theme in the book of Proverbs.

16:33 The dice are cast: The practice of casting implements, like dice (or "lots" in older English) to determine the will of God is widespread in the OT, occurring 70 times. The "dice" are most likely the "urim" and "thummim" (items of an unknown shape) placed in the vest of the priestly garments (Lev 8:8) and were used only by the priests to find God's will (see Exod 28:30; Num 27:21). In the book of Joshua, "dice" were used to decide how to divide the land among the tribes of Israel (Josh 14-21). Instructions for using the "dice" for this practice are found in Numbers 33:54; 34:13. See also Proverbs 18:18.

17:1 Better... than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.

17:4 guilty lips... destructive tongue: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

17:5 Those who mock the poor: See Proverbs 1:22; 13:23.

17:6 Grandchildren... children: In the OT, the concept of an eternal afterlife wasn't fully developed. When a person died, they went to sheol, a shadowy afterlife to which all persons went (see sidebar, "Sheol" at Prov 1). The way to a true ongoing life or legacy was through one's offspring, through the carrying on of one's name.

17:12 Safer to meet... than: An interesting twist on a "better than" saying (see Prov 12:9).

- <sup>13</sup> Evil will never depart from the house of those who return evil for good.
- <sup>14</sup> The start of a quarrel is like letting out water, so drop the dispute before it breaks out.
- <sup>15</sup> Judging the righteous wicked and the wicked righteous—the LORD detests both of these.
- <sup>16</sup> Why should a fool have money to pay for wisdom? He has no mind.
- <sup>17</sup> Friends love all the time, and kinsfolk are born for times of trouble.
- <sup>18</sup> One with no sense shakes hands on a deal, securing a loan for a friend.
- <sup>19</sup> Those who love an offense love a quarrel;
those who build a high doorway invite a collapse.
- <sup>20</sup> Those with crooked hearts won't prosper, and those with twisted tongues will fall into trouble.
- <sup>21</sup> Having a fool for a son brings grief;
there's no joy for a scoundrel's father.
- <sup>22</sup> A joyful heart helps healing, but a broken spirit dries up the bones.
- <sup>23</sup> The wicked take secret bribes to twist the way of justice.
- <sup>24</sup> Wisdom is right in front of those with understanding, but the eyes of fools are off to the edges of the earth.
- <sup>25</sup> A foolish son is irritating to his father and bitter to her who gave birth to him.
- <sup>26</sup> It isn't good to punish the righteous, to strike the honorable for their integrity.
- <sup>27</sup> Wise are those who restrain their talking;
people with understanding are coolheaded.
- <sup>28</sup> Fools who keep quiet are deemed wise;
those who shut their lips are smart.
- 18 Unfriendly people look out for themselves;
they bicker with sensible people.
- <sup>2</sup> Fools find no pleasure in understanding, but only in expressing their opinion.
- <sup>3</sup> When the wicked arrive, so does contempt;
with shame comes insult.
- <sup>4</sup> The words of a person's mouth are deep waters,
a bubbling stream, a fountain of wisdom.
- <sup>5</sup> Favoring the wicked isn't good;
it denies justice to the righteous.
- <sup>6</sup> The lips of fools make accusations;
their mouths elicit beatings.
- <sup>7</sup> The mouth of fools is their ruin;
their lips are a trap for their lives.

17:14 Prv 20:3,
Prv 25:8
17:15 Ex 23:7;
Prv 18:5,
Prv 24:24;
Is 5:23
17:16 Prv 23:23
17:27 Prv 10:19,
Prv 14:29;
Jas 1:19, Jas 3:2
17:28 Job 13:5;
Prv 10:19
18:1 Jud 1:19
18:2 Prv 12:23;
Ecc 10:3
18:3 Prv 11:2,
Prv 13:5,
Prv 22:10,
Prv 29:16,
Is 5:24
18:4 Prv 20:5
18:6 Prv 10:14,
Prv 13:10,
Prv 14:3,
Prv 15:18,
Prv 16:28

17:15 the righteous ... the wicked: See note on Proverbs 3:33-35.

17:18 a deal ... a loan for a friend: See note on Proverbs 6:1-5.

17:21, 25 a fool for a son ... A foolish son: These verses return to the theme of father/son, parent/child. See Proverbs 1:8.

17:24 Wisdom is right in front: See Proverbs 1:7.

18:1 Unfriendly: People who choose to live in isolation often find themselves at odds with the community from which they separate. In ancient Israel, a person's identity, well-being, and future hope depended on their place in a specific community. In our society, many people move away from their hometown and settle in new and different places. It's important for newcomers to become part of the communities in which they find themselves as well as for those who are well connected in their communities to welcome the newcomers.

18:4 deep waters, a bubbling stream: Water imagery is a recurring theme in the Bible. Water can be either life-giving or life-threatening. For example, Psalm 42:1 says, "Just like a deer that craves streams of water, my whole being craves you, God"; but Psalm 42:7 says "all your massive waves surged over me." In the same way, The words of a person's mouth can be nourishing or hurtful—a fountain of wisdom or a well of despair (see Prov 20:5; 21:2).

18:6-7 lips ... mouths: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

18:9 Prv 10:4,

Prv 28:24

18:10 2Sa 22:3;

Ps 18:2, Ps 61:3,

Ps 91:2, Ps 144:2

18:12 Prv 11:2,

Prv 15:33,

Prv 16:18,

Prv 29:23

18:18 Prv 16:33

18:19 Gn 27:41;

Prv 17:14,

Prv 19:13,

Prv 21:9,

Prv 21:19

18:21 Prv 12:13,

Prv 13:3;

Mt 12:37

Name as Identity "Name" is an important concept in the Bible. First, a person's name says something about the essence of their very being to others. "Abraham" means "father of a multitude"; "David" means "dearly loved"; "Bethlehem" means "house of bread," probably in reference to its abundant production of grain (see the book of Ruth). When Moses asked God's name at the burning bush in Exodus 3:14, God replied with words that can be translated into English as "I am who I am," "I will be who I will be," or "I am the one who is." Thus Yahweh, the name of God in the OT, reveals a timeless being who is stable and also able to adapt—a powerful message to our ancestors-in-the-faith and to the faithful today. The Lord God has been for all time and will continue to be for all time, and the Lord God meets and provides for humanity in the moment.

Second, to know someone's name is to have a greater knowledge of that person, and in some way to possess a part of that person. When we meet people for the first time we usually ask their names. In getting that information, we feel we know them in a way different from before we knew their name. Moses asked for God's name in Exodus 3 mostly for a sense of assurance that this voice talking to him from a burning bush was a tangible reality, one that Moses could in some way "possess" as he carried out the command given to him by the voice.

Third, the second of the Ten Commandments (Exod 20:4) forbids us to make any images of God—no rendering of what God might look like. The core of the being of the Lord God can't be captured by the limited ability of human artists. God isn't limited to gender, ethnic, cultural, economic, or age categories. Lord God simply is, will be, and is the one who is.

- <sup>8</sup>The words of gossips are like choice snacks;
they go down to the inmost parts.
- <sup>9</sup>Those who are lazy in their work are brothers to thugs.
- <sup>10</sup>The LORD's name is a strong tower;
the righteous run to it and find refuge.
- <sup>11</sup>The riches of the wealthy are a strong city and like a high wall in their imagination.
- <sup>12</sup>Pride comes before a disaster, but humility comes before respect.
- <sup>13</sup>Those who answer before they listen are foolish and disgraceful.
- <sup>14</sup>The human spirit sustains a sick person, but who can bear a broken spirit?
- <sup>15</sup>An understanding mind gains knowledge;
the ear of the wise seeks knowledge.
- <sup>16</sup>A gift opens the way for access to important people.
- <sup>17</sup>The first person to testify seems innocent, until the other comes and cross-examines him.
- <sup>18</sup>The dice settle conflicts and keep strong opponents apart.
- <sup>19</sup>An offended ally is more formidable than a city;
such quarreling is like the bars of a castle.
- <sup>20</sup>The stomach is satisfied by the fruit of the mouth; one's lips can earn a satisfying income.
- <sup>21</sup>Death and life are in the power of the tongue;
those who love it will eat its fruit.

18:9 Those who are lazy: See Proverbs 10:4-5; 16:3; 19:15.

18:10 The LORD's name is a strong tower: See sidebar, "Name as Identity." In this name, "the LORD," and all that the name entails, one can find strength.

18:11 The riches of the wealthy: See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.

18:14 The human spirit... a sick person... a broken spirit: The word spirit is related to a Hebrew word for "throat," that is, the body part through which one draws in life-giving breath.

18:16-17 A gift... cross-examines: The juxtaposition of these two verses suggests that 18:16 must be understood in connection with 18:17. Buying favor (a gift) can take a person only so far. In the end, the truth will come out (see Prov 19:6, 9).

18:18 dice: See Proverbs 16:33.

18:20-21 stomach... mouth... lips... tongue: See Proverbs 10:6, 11; 1:31.

18:23 poor... wealthy: See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.

- 22 He who finds a wife finds what is good, gaining favor from the LORD.
- 23 The poor plead for help, but the wealthy answer harshly.
- 24 There are persons for companionship, but then there are friends who are more loyal than family.
- 19 Better to be poor and walk in innocence than to have dishonest lips and be a fool.
- 1 Ignorant desire isn't good;
rushing feet make mistakes.
- 3 People's own folly corrupts their way, but their hearts rage against the LORD.
- 4 Riches increase one's friends, but the poor lose their friends.
- 5 A false witness won't go unpunished, and a liar won't escape.
- 6 Many seek favor from rulers;
everyone befriends a gift giver.
- 7 All the relatives of the poor hate them;
even more, their friends stay far from them.
When they pursue them with words, they aren't there.
- 8 Those who acquire good sense love themselves;
those who keep understanding find success.
- 9 False witnesses won't go unpunished, and liars will perish.
- 10 Luxury isn't fitting for a fool;
even less so for a servant to rule over princes.
- 11 Insightful people restrain their anger; their glory is to ignore an offense.
- 12 A raging king roars like a lion;
his favor is like the dew on the grass.
- 13 A foolish son is a disaster to his father;
a contentious wife is like constant dripping.
- 14 House and riches are an inheritance from one's ancestors, but an insightful wife is from the LORD.
- 15 Laziness brings on deep sleep;
a slacker goes hungry.
- 16 Those who keep the commandment preserve their lives;
those who disregard their ways will die.
- 17 Those who are gracious to the poor lend to the LORD, and the Lord will fully repay them.

18:22 Gn 2:18;
Prv 8:35,
Prv 12:4,
Prv 19:14,
Prv 31:10
19:3 Is 8:21
19:5 Ex 23:1;
Prv 6:19,
Prv 19:9,
Prv 21:28
19:7 Ps 38:11;
Prv 14:20,
Prv 18:23,
Prv 19:4;
Ecc 9:16
19:9 Prv 19:5
19:10 Prv 17:7,
Prv 26:1,
Prv 30:21,
Prv 30:22;
Ecc 10:7
19:11 Prv 14:29,
Prv 15:18,
Prv 16:32;
Jas 1:19
19:12 Ps 133:3;
Prv 16:14,
Prv 16:15,
Prv 20:2;
Hos 14:5
19:13 Prv 10:1,
Prv 17:21,
Prv 17:25,
Prv 21:9,
Prv 27:15
19:14 Prv 12:4,
Prv 18:22;
2Co 12:14
19:15 Prv 6:9,
Prv 10:4,
Prv 20:13,
Prv 23:21
19:17 Dt 15:7;
Prv 14:21,
Prv 22:9,
Prv 28:27;
Mt 10:42

19:1 Better to be poor. See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.
19:2 Ignorant desire . . . rushing feet. If you don't know the true good deep down in the very core of your being, then you're prone to rush off and end up making many mistakes. The word translated mistake here is the same word that is translated as "sin" or "sinner" elsewhere in Proverbs. See Proverbs 1:10.
19:4 Riches . . . poor. See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.
19:6 Gift. See note on Proverbs 18:16-17.
19:9 False witnesses . . . liars. See note on Proverbs 18:16-17.
19:10 a fool . . . a servant to rule over princes: For "fool" see sidebar, "The Fool" at Proverbs 3. The second half of the verse seems harsh. It states that servants shouldn't rule over princes—hard words for many to hear, but its intent is one of proper order. Sometimes in our lives we occupy a position higher than others. If I am a parent, my responsibility is to "rule over" my children to lead them in right paths. If I am a teacher, my students need guidance and direction. If I am a child with responsibility for my frail parents, I must act in their best interest, sometimes regardless of their protests and denials. As an employee, I am required to adhere to the business practices that my employer requires. As a citizen, I must obey the laws of the land. And, as a child of God, I must submit to what God requires of me. Sometimes we are princes (we are required to take charge), and sometimes we are servants (others are in charge over us).

19:13 A foolish son . . . a contentious wife: For "foolish," see sidebar, "The Fool" at Proverbs 3. In the male-oriented world of the book of Proverbs (see Prov 1:8), men desired a peaceful household, where neither children nor wives caused difficulties. In twenty-first century society, the message of this verse is that all should strive to have peace in their homes (e.g., Prov 21:9, 19; 25:24; 27:25; 29:19, 21).
19:15, 24 Laziness . . . a slacker: See Proverbs 10:4-5; 16:3; 18:9; 20:4.
19:17 gracious: See note on Proverbs 12:4. the poor: See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.

19:18 Prv 13:24,
Prv 22:15,
Prv 23:13,
Prv 29:15,
Prv 29:17

19:21 Ps 33:10,
Ps 33:11,
Prv 16:9,
Is 14:27, Is 46:10

19:23 Prv 10:27,
Prv 14:27

19:24 Prv 6:6,
Prv 15:19,
Prv 20:4,
Prv 26:15

19:25 Prv 9:8,
Prv 17:10,
Prv 21:11

19:27 Dt 13:1,
Prv 2:10,
Mt 7:15; Jn 10:5;
Eph 4:14

19:28 Job 15:16,
Job 34:7,
Prv 15:28

19:29 Prv 10:13

20:1 Prv 23:29,
Prv 31:4; Is 28:7;
Hos 4:11

20:4 Prv 13:4,
Prv 19:15,
Prv 19:24,
Prv 21:25

20:5 Prv 18:4

20:6 Ps 12:1,
Prv 25:14

20:7 Ps 26:1,
Ps 37:26,
Ps 112:2,
Prv 19:1

20:8 Prv 20:26,
Prv 25:5

20:9 1 Ki 8:46;
Job 14:4;
Ecc 7:20; 1 Jn 1:8

20:10 Prv 11:1,
Prv 20:23

20:11 Mt 7:16

20:13 Prv 6:11,
Prv 12:11,
Prv 19:15;
Ro 12:11

18 Discipline your children while there is hope, but don't plan to kill them.
19 Angry people must pay the penalty;
if you rescue them, then you will have to do it again.

20 Listen to advice and accept instruction, so you might grow wise in the future.

21 Many plans are in a person's mind, but the LORD's purpose will succeed.

22 People long for trustworthiness;
it is better to be poor than a liar.

23 The fear of the LORD leads to life;
then one rests content, untouched by harm.

24 Lazy people bury their hand in the bowl; they won't even put it to their mouth.

25 Strike someone who scoffs, and a naive person will become clever; correct someone with understanding, and they will gain knowledge.

26 Those who assault their father and drive out their mother are disgraceful children, worthy of reproach.

27 If, my child, you stop listening to discipline, you will wander away from words of knowledge.

28 A worthless witness mocks justice;
the wicked mouth gulps down trouble.

29 Punishments were made for mockers, and blows for the backs of fools.

20 Wine is a mocker; beer a carouser.
Those it leads astray won't become wise.

2 A king is as terrifying as a lion's growl.
Those who anger him may lose their life.

3 It is honorable to back off from a fight, but fools jump right in.

4 The lazy don't plow during winter;
at harvest they look but find nothing.

5 Advice comes from the deep waters of the heart;
those with understanding can draw it out.

6 Many people will say that they are loyal,
but who can find a reliable person?

7 The righteous live with integrity;
happy are their children who come after them.

8 A king who sits on his judgment throne sifts out all evil with his eyes.

9 Who can say, "I'm innocent to the core;
I'm cleansed from my sin"?

10 False weights and measures—the LORD detests them both.

11 Even young people are known by their actions, whether their conduct is pure and upright.

12 Ears to hear and eyes to see—the LORD made them both.

13 Don't love sleep or you will be poor;
stay alert and you will have plenty to eat.

19:18 Discipline your children: See note on Proverbs 13:24.

19:22 better ... than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.

19:23 fear of the LORD: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

19:26 their father ... their mother: The words of this verse affirm Exodus 20:12, one of the Ten Commandments. This is the only one of the Ten Commandments that tells the reward for keeping it. Ancient Near Eastern society was based on the extended family unit, and respect for one's elders was an essential element of order within society (see Prov 28:24).

19:27 If ... you stop listening to discipline: See note on Proverbs 13:24.

19:28-29 A worthless witness mocks ... mockers ... fools: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

20:1 mocker: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

20:4, 13 The lazy: See Proverbs 10:4-5; 16:3; 18:9; 19:15, 24.

20:5 the deep waters of the heart: See Proverbs 18:4.

20:7 happy are: See note on Proverbs 3:13.

20:9 my sin: See note on Proverbs 1:10.

- 14 The buyer says, "Bad, bad," but then goes away and brags.
- 15 Much gold and many pearls exist, but wise speech is the most precious jewel.
- 16 Take the garment of the person who secures a loan for a stranger;
take his pledge for a foreigner.
- 17 Stolen bread is sweet,
but afterward the mouth is full of gravel.
- 18 Plans are firmed up by advice;
wage wars with good guidance.
- 19 Gossips reveal secrets;
don't associate with those who talk too much.
- 20 Those who curse their father or mother—their lamp will be snuffed out when it becomes dark.
- 21 Inheritance gained quickly at first won't bless later on.
- 22 Don't say, "I'll repay the evildoer!"
Wait for the LORD, and he will save you.
- 23 The LORD detests false weights; deceptive scales aren't right.
- 24 A person's steps are from the LORD;
how then can people understand their path?
- 25 It is a snare to say rashly, "It is holy,"
and only reflect after making the promise.
- 26 A wise king sifts out the wicked, and runs them over with a wheel.
- 27 The breath of a person is the lamp of the LORD, searching all the inmost parts.
- 28 Kindness and faithfulness protect the king;
he supports his throne by kindness.
- 29 Strength is the glory of young men;
gray hair is the splendor of old age.
- 30 Blows and bruises remove evil;
beatings cleanse the inner parts.
- 21 The king's heart is like channels of water in the hand of the LORD;
he directs it wherever he wants.
- <sup>2</sup> Everyone's path is straight in their own eyes, but the LORD weighs the heart.
- <sup>3</sup> Acting with righteousness and justice is more valued by the LORD than sacrifice.
- <sup>4</sup> Proudful eyes, an arrogant heart, and the lamp of the wicked are all sinful.
- <sup>5</sup> The plans of the diligent end up in profit, but those who hurry end up with loss.
- <sup>6</sup> Those who gain treasure with lies are like a drifting fog, leading to death.
- <sup>7</sup> The violence of the wicked will sweep them away, for they refuse to act with justice.

20:14 Hos 12:7
20:17 Prv 9:17;
Lam 3:16
20:21 Prv 28:22;
Lk 15:12
20:22 Ps 27:14;
Prv 24:29;
Ro 12:17;
1Th 5:15; 1Pt 3:9
20:23 Prv 11:1,
Prv 20:10
20:24 Prv 16:9;
Jer 10:23
20:26 Prv 20:8;
Is 28:27
20:27 1Co 2:11
20:28 Prv 3:3,
Prv 16:12,
Prv 29:14;
Is 16:5
20:30 Prv 20:22;
Prv 22:15;
Is 53:5
21:1 Eze 6:22;
Eze 7:27
21:2 Prv 16:2,
Prv 24:12;
Lk 16:15
21:3 1Sa 15:22;
Prv 15:8; Is 1:11;
Hos 6:6; Mi 6:6

20:15 gold ... many pearls ... the most precious jewel: See Proverbs 3:14-16.
20:16 a loan for a stranger: See note on Proverbs 6:1-5.
20:20, 27 their lamp will be snuffed out ... the lamp of the LORD: See note on Proverbs 13:9. curse: See Proverbs 30:10-11.
20:23 weights ... scales: See note on Proverbs 11:1, 3.
20:26 the wicked: See note on Proverbs 3:33-35.
20:30 Blows and bruises ... beatings: a disturbing verse that seems to approve of physical punishment. For some help in trying to understand these words, see note on Proverbs 13:24.
21:1 channels of water: See note on Proverbs 18:4.

21:2 path: See note on Proverbs 10:9. weights: See note on Proverbs 11:1, 3.
21:3 righteousness ... justice ... sacrifice: Only four verses in the book of Proverbs mention sacrifice (Prov 7:14; 15:8; 21:3, 27). Throughout the ancient Near East, giving grain and animals as offerings was an important part of worship (see Lev 1-7). For many ancient worshippers, though, offering a sacrifice was like saying, "There, I said I was sorry, and now everything is all right." But the prophets of ancient Israel called the people to account. The act of offering a sacrifice wasn't the point. What was required was a fundamental change in the very being of the person offering the sacrifice. See Amos 5:22, 24.

- 21:8 Prv 2:15
 21:9 Prv 19:13,
 Prv 21:19,
 Prv 25:24,
 Prv 27:15
 21:10 Ps 52:3;
 Prv 12:12;
 Is 32:6; 1Co 10:6;
 Jas 2:13
 21:11 Prv 1:5,
 Prv 19:25
 21:13 Jas 2:13
 21:15 Prv 10:29
 21:16 Ps 49:14
 21:17 Prv 23:21
 21:18 Prv 11:8;
 Is 43:3
 21:19 Prv 21:9
 21:20 Ps 112:3
 21:23 Prv 10:19,
 Prv 12:13,
 Prv 13:3;
 Jas 1:26; Jas 3:2
 21:25 Prv 6:6,
 Prv 13:4,
 Prv 15:19,
 Prv 19:24,
 Prv 20:4
 21:26 Ps 37:26,
 Ps 112:9
 21:27 Prv 15:8,
 Prv 28:9; Is 66:3
 21:28 Prv 19:5,
 Prv 19:9
- 8 The ways of some people are twisted and strange, but the behavior of those who do right is pure.
 9 Better to live on the edge of a roof than with a contentious woman in a large house.
 10 Wicked people desire evil;
 their neighbors receive no mercy from them.
 11 When a mocker is punished, the naive person gains wisdom;
 when insight comes to the wise, knowledge increases.
 12 The righteous one observes the house of the wicked, turning the wicked toward trouble.
 13 Those who close their ears to the cries of the poor will themselves call out but receive no answer.
 14 A secret gift calms anger, and a hidden bribe removes<sup>a</sup> furious wrath.
 15 Acting justly is a joy to the righteous, but dreaded by those who do evil.
 16 People who wander from the path of insight will rest in the company of the dead.
 17 Those who love pleasure end up poor;
 lovers of wine and oil won't get rich.
 18 The wicked are a ransom for the righteous;
 the treacherous will be punished<sup>a</sup> in the place of the virtuous.
 19 Better to live in a wilderness than in a house with a contentious and angry woman.
 20 Precious treasure and oil stay in the home of the wise, but fools swallow them up.
 21 Those who pursue righteousness and kindness will find life, righteousness, and honor.
 22 A wise person fought a city of warriors and brought down the stronghold in which they felt safe.
 23 Those who guard their mouths and their tongues guard themselves from trouble.
 24 Incredibly proud—mockers are their name!
 Their conduct involves excessive pride.
 25 The desires of the lazy will kill them, because their hands refuse to do anything.
 26 The lazy desire things constantly, but the righteous give without holding back.
 27 The LORD detests the sacrifices of the wicked, especially when brought with devious motives.
 28 A lying witness will perish, but one who listens will testify successfully.
 29 The wicked person appears brash, but the virtuous think about the path ahead.

<sup>a</sup>Heb lacks removes. <sup>a</sup>Heb lacks will be punished.

21:9 Better... than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16. a contentious woman: See note on Proverbs 19:13.

21:10 neighbors: See Proverbs 11:9, 12.

21:11  mocker: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

21:12  righteous... wicked: See note on Proverbs 3:33, 35.

21:13  the poor: See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.

21:16  People who wander from the path of insight... the company of the dead: See Proverbs 4:11, 18-19. Wisdom and righteousness are compared to straight paths and morning light, while the way of the wicked is full of stumbling and deep darkness (that is, the realm of the dead).

21:18  virtuous: The Hebrew root of this word occurs 40 times in the book of Proverbs and is translated, depending on context, in a few ways: "integrity" (see Prov 1:2; 2:7; 9:13; 23:16), "straight ways" (see Prov 3:6; 4:11, 25; 8:9; 9:15; 21:2); "virtuous" (see Prov 3:32; 21:29; 29:10); and "what is right" (see Prov 8:6; 21:8; 28:10). These various translations provide a good range of meaning for the concept.

21:19  Better... than: See Proverbs 12:19.  contentious and angry woman: See note on Proverbs 19:13.

21:23  Those who guard their mouths and their tongues: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

21:24  mockers: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

21:25-26  the lazy: See Proverbs 10:4-5.

21:27  sacrifices: See note on Proverbs 21:3.

21:29  the virtuous: See note on Proverbs 21:18.

- <sup>30</sup> No wisdom, understanding, or advice can stand up against the LORD.
- <sup>31</sup> A horse is made ready for the day of battle, but victory belongs to the LORD.
- 22 A good reputation is better than much wealth;
high esteem is better than silver and gold.
- <sup>2</sup> The rich and the poor have this in common:
the LORD made them both.
- <sup>3</sup> Prudent people see trouble and hide, while the simpleminded go right to it and get punished.
- <sup>4</sup> The reward of humility and the fear of the LORD is wealth, honor, and life.
- <sup>5</sup> Thorns and nets are in the path of the crooked;
those who guard their lives keep their distance.
- <sup>6</sup> Train children in the way they should go;
when they grow old, they won't depart from it.
- <sup>7</sup> The wealthy rule over the poor;
a borrower is a slave to a lender.
- <sup>8</sup> Those who sow injustice will harvest evil;
the rod of their fury will come to an end.
- <sup>9</sup> Happy are generous people, because they give some of their food to the poor.
- <sup>10</sup> Remove the mocker and conflict disappears; judgment and shame also stop.
- <sup>11</sup> Those who love a pure heart—their speech is gracious, and the king is their friend.
- <sup>12</sup> The LORD's eyes protect knowledge, but he frustrates the words of the treacherous.
- <sup>13</sup> A lazy person says, "There's a lion in the street!
I'll be killed in the town square!"
- <sup>14</sup> The mouth of a mysterious woman is a deep pit;
those under the LORD's wrath will fall in it.
- <sup>15</sup> Folly is bound up in a child's heart;
the rod of discipline removes it.
- <sup>16</sup> Oppressing the poor to get rich and giving to the wealthy lead only to poverty.

Thirty sayings of the wise

- <sup>17</sup> Turn your ear and hear the words of the wise; focus your mind on my knowledge.
- <sup>18</sup> It will be pleasant if you keep the words in you, if you have them ready on your lips.
- <sup>19</sup> So that your trust will be in the LORD,
I'm teaching you today—yes, you.
- <sup>20</sup> Haven't I written for you thirty<sup>b</sup> sayings full of advice and knowledge?

<sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain

21:30 Prv 19:21;

Is 8:10; Jer 9:23

21:31 Ps 20:7;

Ps 33:17; Is 31:1

22:1 Ecc 7:1

22:2 Job 31:15;

Job 34:19;

Prv 14:31;

Prv 29:13

22:3 Prv 14:16;

Prv 27:12

22:4 Prv 15:33

22:5 Prv 15:19

22:10 Gn 21:9;

Gn 21:10;

Prv 1:22;

Prv 26:20

22:15 Prv 13:24;

Prv 19:18;

Prv 23:13;

Prv 23:14;

Prv 29:15

22:17 Prv 5:1;

Prv 23:12

22:20 Prv 8:6

22:1 better than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.

22:3 Prudent people: See note on Proverbs 8:12.

22:5 the path of the crooked: See Proverbs 4:24.

22:9 Happy are: See note on Proverbs 3:13. food: See note on Proverbs 1:31.

22:10  mocker: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

22:11 gracious: See note on Proverbs 12:4.

22:14 a mysterious woman: See Proverbs 2:16-22.

22:15 the rod of discipline: See note on Proverbs 13:24.

22:17-24:22 The third section of the book of Proverbs is called, "Thirty sayings of the wise." This portion of Proverbs parallels in many ways a text from ancient Egypt called "The Instruction of Amenemope." The compiler of the book of Proverbs may have borrowed material from this Egyptian text. The section speaks to many of the themes addressed in Proverbs 1-22, but it places a special emphasis on how to behave when interacting with those of a higher social status. The reader or hearer is addressed directly in the second person ("you"; see 22:19).

22:21 Lk 1:3,
Lk 1:4

22:23 1Sa 25:39;
Ps 12:5, Ps 35:10,
Ps 140:12;
Prv 23:11

22:28 Dt 19:14,
Dt 27:17;
Job 24:2;
Prv 23:10;
Hos 5:10

22:29 Gn 41:46;
Prv 12:24

23:1 Prv 23:2,
Prv 25:16;
1Co 9:25,
1Co 9:27,
1Co 10:25

23:2 Prv 23:1,
Prv 23:3,
Prv 23:20;
Lk 21:34;
Ro 13:14

23:3 Ps 141:4;
Prv 23:6

23:4 Prv 3:5,
Prv 28:20

23:5 Prv 27:24;
Mt 6:19;
1Ti 6:17

23:9 Prv 9:7,
Prv 26:4, Mt 7:6

23:11 Job 19:25;
Prv 22:23;
Jer 50:34

23:13 Prv 13:24,
Prv 19:18,
Prv 22:15,
Prv 29:17

<sup>21</sup> Their purpose is to teach you true, reliable words, so you can report back reliably to those who sent you.

<sup>22</sup> Don't steal from the poor, because they are poor.
Don't oppress the needy in the gate.

<sup>23</sup> The LORD will take up their case and press the life out of those who oppress them.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>24</sup> Don't befriend people controlled by anger;
don't associate with hot-tempered people;
<sup>25</sup> otherwise, you will learn their ways and become trapped.

<sup>26</sup> Don't shake hands to guarantee a loan.

<sup>27</sup> If you can't repay, why should they be able to take your bed from you?

<sup>28</sup> Don't remove an ancient boundary marker that your ancestors established.

<sup>29</sup> Do you see people who work skillfully?
They will work for kings but not work for lowly people.

23 When you sit down to dine with a ruler, carefully consider what is in front of you.

<sup>1</sup> Place a knife at your throat to control your appetite.

<sup>2</sup> Don't long for the ruler's delicacies; the food misleads.

<sup>4</sup> Don't wear yourself out trying to get rich;
be smart enough to stop.

<sup>5</sup> When your eyes fly to wealth it is gone;
it grows wings like an eagle and flies heavenward.

<sup>6</sup> Don't eat food with stingy people; don't long for their delicacies, <sup>7</sup> because they are like a hair in the throat.<sup>d</sup>
They say to you, "Eat and drink!" but they don't mean it.

<sup>8</sup> You will eat scraps and vomit them out.
You will waste your pleasant words.

<sup>9</sup> Don't speak in the ears of fools, for they will scorn your insightful words.

<sup>10</sup> Don't remove an ancient boundary marker;
don't invade the fields of orphans,

<sup>11</sup> for their redeemer is strong.
He will bring charges against you.

<sup>12</sup> Bring your mind to instruction, your ear to knowledgeable sayings.

<sup>13</sup> Don't withhold instruction from children;
if you strike them with a rod, they won't die.

<sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>LXX; Heb uncertain

22:21 those who sent you: This phrase may indicate that the teaching included in this section of Proverbs was taught in a school, a place a young man would have been sent to learn proper social conduct.

22:22-23 the poor ... the needy: See Proverbs 10:15; see note on Proverbs 28:3.

22:26-27 to guarantee a loan: See note on Proverbs 6:1-5.

22:28 boundary marker: These established the limits of family and clan farming and grazing lands in the ancient Near East. To move boundary markers meant cheating others out of their means of providing for their families (see Deut 19:14).

23:1-3, 6-9 to dine ... your appetite ... the food; food ... delicacies ... "Eat and drink": See notes on Proverbs 1:31; 13:2-4. 23:10-11 an ancient boundary marker: See note on Proverbs 22:28.

23:13-14 a rod: See note on Proverbs 13:24. the grave: See Proverbs 1:12-15.

- 14 Strike them with a rod, and you will save their lives from the grave.*
- 15 My child, if your heart is wise, then my heart too will be happy.
- 16 My inner being will rejoice when your lips speak with integrity.
- 17 Don't let your heart envy sinners, but fear the LORD constantly; 18 then you will have a future, and your hope won't be cut off.
- 19 Listen, my child, and be wise!
Keep your mind straight on the path.
- 20 Don't hang out with those who get drunk on wine or those who eat too much meat, 21 because drunks and gluttons will be impoverished; their stupor will clothe them in rags.
- 22 Listen to your father, who gave you life;
don't despise your elderly mother.
- 23 Buy truth and don't sell it;
buy wisdom, instruction, and understanding.
- 24 The father of the righteous will be very happy;
the one who gives life to the wise will rejoice.
- 25 Your father and your mother will rejoice;
she who gave you birth will be happy.
- 26 My child, give your mind to me and let your eyes keep to my path.
- 27 A prostitute is a deep pit, and a foreign woman is a narrow well.
- 28 Indeed, she ambushes like a robber and increases the number of the faithless.
- 29 Who is suffering?
Who is uneasy?
Who has arguments?
Who has complaints?
Who has unnecessary wounds?
Who has glazed eyes?—
30 those who linger over wine;
those who go looking for mixed wine.
- 31 Don't look at wine when it is red,
when it sparkles in the cup, going down smoothly.
- 32 In the end, it bites like a snake and poisons like a viper.
- 33 Your eyes will see strange things, and your heart will speak distorted words.
- 34 You will be like one who lies down while out on the sea<sup>f</sup> or one who lies on top of a mast.
- 35 "Though hit, I feel no pain;
though beaten up, I don't know anything about it.
When I wake up, I'll look for wine again!"

23:14 25a 22:6;
Job 11:8;
Prv 13:24;
Prv 22:15;
1Co 5:5

23:20 Prv 20:1,
Prv 23:29,
Prv 28:7; Is 5:11,
Is 5:22

23:21 Prv 21:17

23:24 Prv 10:1,
Prv 15:20,
Prv 23:15,
Prv 29:3

23:27 Prv 22:14

23:29 Is 5:11

23:30 Ps 75:8,
Prv 9:2,
Prv 20:1,
Prv 23:29;
Is 5:11

23:31 Prv 20:1,
Prv 21:17,
Prv 23:20,
Prv 23:29,
Prv 23:32

23:32 Ps 91:13

23:33 Prv 2:12

23:35 Is 56:12;
Jer 5:3

*Heb Sheol <sup>f</sup>Or in the heart of the sea

23:17 sinners: See note on Proverbs 1:10. fear the LORD: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

23:20-21 wine... too much meat: See note on Proverbs 1:31.

23:22, 25 your father... your elderly mother... your mother:

These words recall Proverbs 1:8, the opening words of the book.

23:26 path: See note on Proverbs 10:9.

23:27 foreign woman: See Proverbs 21:6-22.

23:29-35 wine... mixed wine... wine again!: comments

24:3 Prv 14:1

24:4 Prv 8:21

24:7 Prv 14:6

24:9 Ps 1:1;

Prv 1:22;

Prv 11:20;

Prv 15:26;

Mt 15:19

24:11 Ps 82:4;

Is 58:6, Is 58:7;

24:12 [Isa 16:7];

Job 34:11;

Ps 62:12;

Prv 21:2;

Jer 17:10

24:15 Ps 10:9;

Ps 10:10;

Prv 1:11

24:16 Job 5:19;

Ps 37:24

24:17 Job 31:29;

Ps 35:15;

Ps 35:19;

Prv 17:5;

Obad 1:12

24:18 Job 31:29

24:21 Ecc 8:2;

Ro 13:1;

1Pt 2:17

24 Don't envy evil people, and don't long to be with them.

<sup>2</sup>Their hearts are focused on violence, and their lips speak of trouble.

<sup>3</sup>By wisdom a house is built;
by understanding it is established.

<sup>4</sup>By knowledge rooms are filled with all precious and pleasant wealth.

<sup>5</sup>A wise person is mightier than a strong one;<sup>6</sup> a knowledgeable person than a powerful one.

<sup>6</sup>You should make war with guidance; victory comes with many counselors.

<sup>7</sup>Wisdom is beyond foolish people.
They don't open their mouths in the gate.

<sup>8</sup>Those who plot evil will be called master schemers.

<sup>9</sup>The scheming of fools is sin; people detest mockers.

<sup>10</sup>If you show yourself weak on a day of distress, your strength is too small.

<sup>11</sup>Rescue those being taken off to death;
and from those staggering to the slaughter, don't hold back.

<sup>12</sup>If you say, "Look, we didn't know about it,"
the one who weighs hearts—doesn't he understand?
The one who protects your life—he knows.
He makes people pay for their actions.

<sup>13</sup>My child, eat honey, for it is good.
The honeycomb is sweet in your mouth.

<sup>14</sup>Know that wisdom is like that for your whole being.
If you find it, there is a future.
Your hope won't be cut off.

<sup>15</sup>Wicked one, don't wait secretly at the home of the righteous.
Don't destroy their dwelling.

<sup>16</sup>The righteous may fall seven times but still get up, but the wicked will stumble into trouble.

<sup>17</sup>When your enemies fall, don't rejoice.
When they stumble, don't let your heart be glad,

<sup>18</sup>or the LORD will see it and be displeased, and he will turn his anger from them.

<sup>19</sup>Don't get fighting mad at evil people; don't be envious of the wicked.

<sup>20</sup>Indeed, there is no future for the evil;
the lamp of the wicked will be put out.

<sup>21</sup>Fear the LORD, my child, as well as the king.
Don't associate with those who are rebellious.

<sup>6</sup>LXX; MT A wise man is strong.

on the dangers of overindulgence of food and drink (see note on Prov 1:31).

24:3-4 By wisdom a house is built: "House" is an image for how one lives one's life (see Prov 9:1-6; 14:1; 31:26-27).

24:7 mouths: See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

24:9 sin: See note on Proverbs 1:10. mockers: See note on Proverbs 1:22.

24:13-14 eat honey... The honeycomb: See note on Proverbs 1:31.

24:15-16 Wicked one... The righteous: See note on Proverbs 3:33, 35.

24:20 the lamp of the wicked: See notes on Proverbs 13:9; 3:33, 35.

24:21 Fear the LORD: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

24:22 Lv 26:16;
Prv 6:15,
Prv 29:1
24:27 Lk 14:28
24:28 Ex 20:16;
Prv 25:18
24:30 Prv 6:6,
Prv 22:13,
Prv 24:31,
Prv 26:13;
Ecc 10:18
25:12 KJ 18:1;
Prv 1:1, Prv 10:1
25:2 Dt 29:29;
Ro 11:33

22 Disaster comes suddenly from them.
Who can know the ruin that both can bring?

More sayings of the wise

23 These are also the sayings of the wise:

Partiality in judgment isn't good.

24 Those who say to the guilty, "You are innocent"— the people will curse them.
Nations will condemn them.

25 But it will go well for those who rebuke them.
A rich blessing will come to them.

26 Those who speak honestly are like those who kiss on the lips.

27 Get your outside work done;
make preparations in the field;
then you can build your house.

28 Don't be a witness against your neighbor without reason;
don't deceive with your lips.

29 Don't say, "I'll do to them what they did to me."
I'll pay them back for their actions."

30 I happened upon the field of a lazy person, by the vineyard of one with no sense.

31 Thorns grew all over it;
weeds covered the ground,
and the stone wall was falling down.

32 I observed this and took it to heart;
I saw it and learned a lesson.

33 "A little sleep, a little slumber, a little lying down with folded arms"—

34 and poverty will come on you like a prowler, deprivation like a man with a shield.

More proverbs of Solomon

25 These are also proverbs of Solomon, copied by the men of Hezekiah, king of Judah:

<sup>2</sup> It is the glory of God to hide something and the glory of kings to discover something.

<sup>3</sup> Like the high heavens and the depths of the earth, so the mind of a king is unsearchable.

<sup>4</sup> Remove the dross from the silver, and a vessel will come out for the refiner.

<sup>5</sup> Remove the wicked from the king's presence, and his throne will be established in righteousness.

24:23-34 A brief section of more "sayings of the wise." Its opening advice, Partiality in judgment isn't good, provides the theme for the sayings.

24:26 kiss on the lips: An image that we no longer understand, but see note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

24:28 your neighbor: See Proverbs 11:9, 12.

24:30-34 a lazy person: See Proverbs 10:4-5.

25:1 Hezekiah reigned as king of Israel from approximately 728–700 BCE (see 2 Kgs 18:1–20:21). He's sometimes viewed as a second Solomon because of his wisdom in dealing with difficult political issues. The word translated as copied most likely refers to the editing and arranging of the sayings in these chapters.

25:2-7 the king: For discussions of the role of the king, see Proverbs 12:10; 16:10, 12-15. glory: or "heaviness," also translated as "honor" and "esteem."

25:5 the wicked... righteousness: See note on Proverbs 3:33, 35.

25:7 Lk 14:7;

Lk 14:8

25:8 Prv 17:14;

Mt 5:25

25:11 Prv 15:23

25:12 Ps 141:5;

Prv 15:31

25:14 Prv 20:6;

Jud 4:12

25:16 Jgs 14:8;

1Sa 14:25;

Prv 24:13;

Prv 25:27

25:18 Ps 57:4;

Prv 12:18;

Prv 24:28

25:20 Ps 69:21;

Ps 137:3;

Prv 10:26;

Ro 12:15

25:21 Ex 23:4;

Ex 23:5;

Prv 24:17;

Prv 25:22;

Ro 12:20

25:22 Prv 25:21;

Mt 5:44;

Ro 12:20

25:23 Ps 101:5;

Ro 1:30;

2Co 12:20

25:24 Prv 19:13;

Prv 21:9;

Prv 27:15

25:25 Prv 15:30

- <sup>6</sup>Don't exalt yourself in the presence of the king, or stand in the place of important people, <sup>7</sup>because it is better that he say to you, "Come up here," than to be demoted before a ruler.

What your eyes see, <sup>8</sup>don't be quick to quarrel over;
what will you do in the future when your neighbor shames you?

- <sup>9</sup>Argue it out with your neighbor, and don't give away someone's secret.
<sup>10</sup>Otherwise, the one who hears it will vilify you;
the slander against you will never stop.
- <sup>11</sup>Words spoken at the right time are like gold apples in a silver setting.
<sup>12</sup>Wise correction to an ear that listens is like a gold earring or jewelry of fine gold.
- <sup>13</sup>Like the coolness of snow on a harvest day are reliable messengers to those who send them;
they restore the life of their master.
- <sup>14</sup>People who brag about a gift never given are like clouds and wind that produce no rain.
- <sup>15</sup>A commander can be persuaded with patience, and a tender tongue can break a bone.
- <sup>16</sup>If you find honey, eat just the right amount;
otherwise, you'll get full and vomit it up.
- <sup>17</sup>Don't spend too much time in your neighbor's house.
Otherwise, they'll get fed up with you and hate you.
- <sup>18</sup>People who testify falsely against their neighbors are like a club, sword, and sharpened arrow.
- <sup>19</sup>Trusting a treacherous person at a difficult time is like having a bad tooth or a wobbly foot.
- <sup>20</sup>Singing a song to a troubled heart is like taking off a garment on a cold day or putting vinegar on a wound.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>21</sup>If your enemies are starving, feed them some bread;
if they are thirsty, give them water to drink.
- <sup>22</sup>By doing this, you will heap burning coals on their heads, and the LORD will reward you.
- <sup>23</sup>The north wind stirs up rain, and a person who plots quietly provokes angry faces.
- <sup>24</sup>Better to live on the edge of a roof than to share a house with a contentious woman.
- <sup>25</sup>Good news from a distant land is like cold water for a weary person.
- <sup>26</sup>A righteous person giving in to the wicked is like a contaminated spring or a polluted fountain.
- <sup>27</sup>Eating too much honey isn't good, nor is it appropriate to seek honor.

<sup>b</sup>LXX; MT vinegar on natron (a detergent)

25:6-7b Don't exalt yourself: the wisdom of humility over pride. Jesus' parable in Luke 14:7-11 reflects the words of these verses. better... than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16. 25:7c-10 neighbor: See Proverbs 11:9, 12. 25:11-15 Words... Wise correction... reliable messengers... People who brag... a tender tongue: Five sayings about the importance and power of language. See note on Proverbs 10:6, 11.

25:16, 27 If you find honey... Eating too much honey: See note on Proverbs 1:31. 25:17-18 neighbors: See Proverbs 11:9, 12. 25:21-22 your enemies... burning coals: These verses are quoted in Romans 12:20. 25:24 Better... than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16. a contentious woman: See note on Proverbs 19:13.

20 A person without self-control is like a breached city, one with no walls.

26 Like snow in the summer or rain at harvest, so honor isn't appropriate for a fool.

2 Like a darting sparrow, like a flying swallow, so an undeserved curse never arrives.

3 A whip for a horse, a bridle for a donkey, and a rod for the back of fools.

4 Don't answer fools according to their folly, or you will become like them yourself.

5 Answer fools according to their folly, or they will deem themselves wise.

6 Sending messages with a fool is like cutting off one's feet or drinking down violence.

7 As legs dangle from a disabled person, so does a proverb in the mouth of fools.

8 Like tying a stone in a sling, so is giving respect to a fool.

9 Like a thorny bush in the hand of a drunk, so is a proverb in the mouth of fools.

10 Like an archer who wounds someone randomly, so is one who hires a fool or a passerby.

11 Like a dog that returns to its vomit, so a fool repeats foolish mistakes.

12 Do you see people who consider themselves wise?
There is more hope for a fool than for them.

13 A lazy person says, "There's a lion in the path!
A lion in the plazas!"

14 As a door turns on its hinge, so do lazy people in their beds.

15 Lazy people bury their hand into the bowl, too tired to return it to their mouth.

16 Lazy people think they are wiser than seven people who answer sensibly.

17 Like yanking the ears of a dog, so is one who passes by and gets involved in another person's fight.

18 Like a crazy person shooting deadly flaming arrows

19 are those who deceive their neighbor and say, "Hey, I was only joking!"

20 Without wood a fire goes out; without gossips, conflict calms down.

21 Like adding charcoal to embers or wood to fire, quarrelsome people kindle strife.

22 The words of gossips are like choice snacks;
they go down to the inmost parts.

25:28 Prv 16:32

26:2 Nm 23:8;

Dt 23:5;

2Sa 16:12

26:4 Prv 23:9;

Mt 7:6

26:5 Prv 3:7,

Prv 26:12,

Prv 28:11;

Is 5:21; Ro 12:16

26:9 Prv 23:35,

Prv 26:7

26:10 Gn 1:1;

Ps 107:17;

Prv 11:31

26:11 Ex 8:15;

2Pt 2:22

26:12 Prv 3:7,

Prv 26:5,

Prv 28:11,

Prv 29:20;

Ro 12:16

26:17 Prv 20:3

26:22 Prv 18:8

26:1-11 These verses contain a number of sayings about fools. See sidebar, "The Fool" at Proverbs 3.

26:1 honor: See Proverbs 25:2, where the word is translated as "glory."

26:2 curse: See Proverbs 30:10-11.

26:3 a rod: See note on Proverbs 13:24.

26:4-5 Don't answer fools... Answer fools: Two seemingly contradictory statements. A single proverb isn't appropriate for every circumstance. For example, consider the modern proverbs "many hands make light work" and "too many cooks spoil the broth." Such sayings reflect the changing nature of human relationships and the orderly balance sought through proverbial wisdom.

26:12 people who consider themselves wise: The final word in this section on the fool is a word of warning to those who consider themselves wise (see Prov 3:7).

26:15-16 These verses describe the lazy person. For the value that the book of Proverbs places on hard work, see Proverbs 10:4-5.

26:20-28 gossips... a lying tongue... a flattering mouth: A group of proverbs about those who gossip. In 26:20-21, gossiping is like keeping a fire going.

26:25 Ps 28:3

26:27 Ps 7:15;

Prv 28:10;

Ecc 10:8

27:1 Lk 12:19;

Jas 4:13, Jas 4:14

27:2 Prv 25:27;

2Co 10:12;

2Co 10:18;

2Co 12:11

27:4 Prv 6:34

27:6 2Sa 20:9;

Ps 141:5;

Mt 26:49

27:7 Prv 24:13;

Lk 15:16

27:8 Is 16:2

27:10 1Ki 12:6;

Prv 17:17;

Prv 18:24

27:12 Prv 22:3

27:14 Ps 12:2

- 23 Smooth<sup>1</sup> lips and an evil heart are like silver coating on clay.
- 24 Hateful people mislead with their lips, keeping their deception within.
- 25 Though they speak graciously, don't believe them, for seven horrible things are in their heart.
- 26 They may cover their hatred with trickery, but their evil will be revealed in public.
- 27 Those who dig a pit will fall in it;
those who roll a stone will have it turn back on them.
- 28 A lying tongue hates those it crushes;
a flattering mouth causes destruction.

- 27 Don't brag about tomorrow, for you don't know what a day will bring.
- 2 Let another person praise you, and not your own mouth; a stranger, and not your own lips.
- 3 A stone is heavy and sand weighs much, but the nuisance of fools is heavier than both.
- 4 Wrath is cruel and anger is a flood,
but who can withstand jealousy?
- 5 A public correction is better than hidden love.
- 6 Trustworthy are the bruises of a friend;
excessive are the kisses of an enemy.
- 7 Someone who is full refuses honey, but anything bitter tastes sweet to a hungry person.
- 8 Like a bird wandering from its nest, so is one who wanders from home.
- 9 Oil and incense make the heart glad, and the sweetness of friends comes from their advice.<sup>1</sup>
- 10 Don't desert your friend or a friend of your family;
don't go to your relative's house when disaster strikes.
Better a neighbor nearby than a relative far away.
- 11 Be wise, my child, and make my heart glad,
so I can answer those who insult me.
- 12 Prudent people see evil and hide;
the simpleminded go right to it and get punished.
- 13 Take the garment of the person who secures a loan for a stranger;
take his pledge for a foreigner.
- 14 Greeting a neighbor with a loud voice early in the morning will be viewed as a curse.

<sup>1</sup>LXX; Heb uncertain <sup>1</sup>Heb uncertain

26:25 seven horrible things: The number seven in the Bible usually indicates completeness, totality, or perfection (e.g., Prov 6:16; 9:1; 26:25; Gen 2:2; 7:2; 41:25-27; John 6:5-13). Those who gossip, Though they speak graciously, have only horrible things... in their heart. For "horrible"; see note on Proverbs 6:16-19.

26:26-27 their evil will be revealed... Those who dig a pit will fall in it: words of hope for anyone who has been hurt by gossip.

27:3 the nuisance of fools: See sidebar, "The Fool" at Proverbs 3.

27:4 who can withstand jealousy?: The word "jealousy" occurs three times in Proverbs at 6:34; 14:30; 27:4.

27:5-6, 9 the bruises of a friend... the sweetness of friends:

These verses summarize the value of true friendship that sometimes requires brutal honesty.

27:5 better than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.

27:8 Like a bird wandering from its nest: See note on Proverbs 6:6-11.

27:10 don't go to your relative's house: A gentle admonition to stay true to your friends and your family but not to rely too much on your family in times of need. Sometimes a neighbor is a better help than your own family (cf. Prov 25:17; a single proverbial saying isn't appropriate for every circumstance.) Better... than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.

27:11 my child: See note on Proverbs 1:8.

27:12 Prudent: See note on Proverbs 8:12.

27:13 a loan for a stranger: See note on Proverbs 6:1-5.

27:14 Greeting a neighbor: See Proverbs 11:9, 12.

27:15 Prv 19:13,
Prv 21:9,
Prv 21:19,
Prv 25:24
27:20 Job 26:6;
Prv 15:11,
Prv 30:16;
Ecc 1:8; Hab 2:5
27:21 Prv 17:3
27:22 Jer 5:3
27:23 Prv 12:10,
Prv 27:27;
Ecc 9:10,
Ecc 11:6; Jn 10:3
27:25 Song 2:11
28:1 Lv 26:17;
Ps 53:5
28:4 Ro 1:32;
Eph 5:11
28:5 Ps 92:6;
Jn 7:17;
1Co 2:15

- 15 The constant dripping on a rainy day and a contentious woman are alike; 16 anyone who can control her can control the wind or pick up oil in his hand.
17 As iron sharpens iron,
so friends sharpen each other's faces.
18 Those who tend a fig tree will eat its fruit, and those who look after their master will be honored.
19 As water reflects the face, so the heart reflects one person to another.
20 The grave<sup>k</sup> and the underworld<sup>l</sup> are never satisfied; and people's eyes are never satisfied.
21 A crucible is for silver and a furnace for gold, so are people in the presence of someone who praises them.
22 Even if you grind fools in a mortar, even grinding them along with the grain,
their folly won't be driven from them.
23 Know your flock well;
pay attention to your herds, 24 for no treasure lasts forever, nor a crown generation after generation.
25 When the grass goes away, new growth appears, and the plants of the hills are gathered, 26 then the lambs will provide your clothes, and the goats will be the price of your fields.
27 There will be enough goat's milk for your food, for the food of your house, and to nourish your young women.

28 The wicked run away even though no one pursues them, but the righteous are as confident as a lion.

- <sup>2</sup> When a land rebels, there are many leaders;
but a person with understanding brings order.
<sup>3</sup> Poor people who oppress the needy are rain that washes away food.
<sup>4</sup> Those who abandon Instruction praise the wicked, but those who follow Instruction battle them.
<sup>5</sup> Evil people don't understand justice, but those who seek the LORD understand everything.

<sup>k</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>l</sup>Heb Abaddon

27:15-16 a contentious woman: See note on Proverbs 19:13.

27:20 The grave and the underworld: See sidebar, "Sheol" at Proverbs 1.

27:22 fools: See sidebar, "The Fool" at Proverbs 3.

27:23-27 Know your flock... then the lambs... and the goats: See Proverbs 12:10.

28:1-29:27 The major themes of these two chapters are "the wicked" and "the greedy."

28:1 The wicked... the righteous: See note on Proverbs 3:33, 35.

28:3 Poor people: See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10. who oppress the needy: an interesting insight into the book of Proverbs' understanding of the difference between being "poor" and being "needy." The poor are those who find themselves in situations of temporary want that can be alleviated by the generosity of those around them. The word translated "needy" in 28:3 suggests that these are people who, because of some devastating life situation, most likely will never be able to care for themselves, and must rely on the goodwill of others for their well-being.

28:4 Instruction: The Hebrew word here is "Torah," and it occurs four times in this chapter (28:4, 7, 9) and only two other places in the book of Proverbs (Prov 6:23; 29:18). Many think of "Torah" as a set of laws, of rules and regulations, for what to do and not to do in life. But it is much more. The books of Genesis through Deuteronomy are called "The Torah," and contain teaching or instruction about how to live life, including what to think and what to eat. The Instruction establishes rules and regulations as part of the stories of God's relationship with our great ancestors in the faith: Abraham and Sarah, Isaac and Rebekah, Jacob and Leah and Rachel, Moses and Aaron and Miriam. "Torah" is a form of instruction, and proverbs are another form of instruction.

28:6 Prv 19:1
 28:13 Lv 26:40;
 Job 31:33;
 Ps 32:3, Ps 32:5;
 1Jn 1:9
 28:14 Ps 95:8;
 Prv 23:17,
 Prv 29:1
 28:19 Prv 12:11
 28:20 Prv 28:22

- <sup>6</sup> Better to be poor and walk in innocence than to be on crooked paths and wealthy.
- <sup>7</sup> Intelligent children follow Instruction, but those who befriend gluttons shame their parents.
- <sup>8</sup> Those who become rich through high interest rates gather money for those who are generous to the poor.
- <sup>9</sup> Those who turn their ears from hearing Instruction—even their prayers will be detested.
- <sup>10</sup> Whoever misleads those who do right onto an evil path will fall into their own pit, but the blameless will inherit good things.
- <sup>11</sup> Rich people think they are wise, but an insightful poor person sees through them.
- <sup>12</sup> When the righteous rejoice, there is great respect, but people hide when the wicked prosper.
- <sup>13</sup> Those who hide their sins won't succeed, but those who confess and give them up will receive mercy.
- <sup>14</sup> Happy are those who are continually fearful, but those whose hearts are hard fall into trouble.
- <sup>15</sup> A wicked ruler over the poor is like a growling lion or a prowling bear.
- <sup>16</sup> A prince without understanding is a cruel oppressor, but one who hates unjust gain will live long.
- <sup>17</sup> If someone feels guilty about murder, don't hold them back from fleeing to the pit.
- <sup>18</sup> Those who walk in innocence will be saved, but those who go on twisted paths will fall into the grave.
- <sup>19</sup> Those who work the land will have plenty to eat, but those with worthless pursuits will have plenty of poverty.
- <sup>20</sup> Reliable people will have abundant blessings, but those with get-rich-quick schemes won't go unpunished.
- <sup>21</sup> Those who show favoritism aren't good; people do wrong for a crust of bread.
- <sup>22</sup> The stingy try to get rich fast, unaware that loss will come to them.
- <sup>23</sup> Those who correct someone will, in the end, find more favor than those with flattering tongues.
- <sup>24</sup> Those who steal from their father and mother, and say, "It's not a crime," are friends of vandals.
- <sup>25</sup> Greedy people stir up conflict, but those who trust the LORD become prosperous.
- <sup>26</sup> Those who trust in their own reasoning are fools, but those who walk in wisdom will be kept safe.

28:6 Better... than: See note on Proverbs 3:14-16.
poor... wealthy: See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.

28:12 righteous... wicked: See note on Proverbs 3:33, 35.
 28:14 Happy are those: See note on Proverbs 3:13. fearful... hard: This kind of fear means "to tremble, to be cautious," and the word translated "hard" means "inflexible, unfeeling." The verse warns against setting your mind on a particular course and refusing to consider the pitfalls or the dangers of your decision or the other options that might be available.

28:17 don't hold them back from fleeing to the pit: A difficult verse to understand because of the unclear Hebrew words in it. Various interpretations are possible, but the basic meaning seems to be that someone who has committed as heinous a crime as murder has no hope for rest in this life.

28:18 twisted paths: See note on Proverbs 10:9. the grave: See sidebar, "Sheol" at Proverbs 1. Proverbs 28:17-18 can be read as parallel statements of condemnation for the guilty.

28:19 This verse is the same as Proverbs 12:11 except for the last line. In Proverbs 12:11, worthless pursuits come from a "lack of sense," while in 28:19, such pursuits result in poverty.

28:24 father and mother: See note on Proverbs 19:26.

28:26-28 Chapter 28 closes with statements about the three groups of people that are addressed repeatedly in the book of Proverbs, and who are a dominant theme in Proverbs 28-29: fools (28:26; see sidebar, "The Fool" at

- 27 Those who give to the poor will lack nothing, but those who turn a blind eye will be greatly cursed.
- 28 When the wicked rise up, people hide, but when they are destroyed, the righteous multiply.

29 One who stays stubborn after many corrections will be suddenly broken, beyond healing.

- 2 When the righteous become numerous, the people rejoice, but when the wicked dominate, the people moan.
- 3 A man who loves wisdom makes his father rejoice, but one who spends time with prostitutes destroys riches.
- 4 A king gives stability to the land by justice, but one who imposes heavy taxes tears it down.
- 5 People who flatter their friends spread out a net for their feet.
- 6 The wicked are snared by their own sin,<sup>m</sup>
the righteous sing and rejoice.
- 7 The righteous know the rights of the poor,
but the wicked don't understand.
- 8 Mockers set a city on fire,
but the wise turn back anger.
- 9 When the wise make a legal charge against the foolish, the fools shout, they laugh—there is no calm.
- 10 Murderous people hate the innocent, and they seek the lives of the virtuous.
- 11 Fools show all their anger,
but the wise hold it back.
- 12 If a ruler listens to lies,
those who serve him will be wicked.
- 13 The poor and their oppressors have a common bond—the LORD gives light to the eyes of both.
- 14 If a king judges the poor honestly, his throne will be established forever.
- 15 The rod and correction lead to wisdom, but children out of control shame their mothers.
- 16 When the wicked become numerous, so do crimes;
the righteous will see their downfall.
- 17 Instruct your children; they will give you peace of mind and bring delight into your life.
- 18 When there's no vision, the people get out of control, but whoever obeys instruction is happy.
- 19 Servants aren't disciplined by words;
they might understand, but they don't respond.

<sup>m</sup>Tg, Syr; MT In the sin of an evil man is a snare

28:27 Prv 11:24,
Prv 19:17,
Prv 22:9
28:28 Prv 28:12
29:3 Prv 6:26,
Prv 10:1,
Prv 15:20,
Prv 27:11,
Prv 28:7
29:5 Ps 5:9,
Prv 26:28,
Prv 28:23
29:7 Job 29:16,
Ps 41:1
29:11 Prv 12:16
29:12 2Ki 21:9
29:13 Ps 13:3,
Prv 22:2
29:16 Ps 37:34,
Ps 37:36,
Ps 58:10, Ps 91:8,
Ps 92:11
29:17 Prv 10:1,
Prv 13:24,
Prv 19:18,
Prv 22:15,
Prv 29:15
29:19 Job 19:16

Prov 3); the poor (28:27; see sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Prov 10); and the wicked... the righteous (28:28; see note on Prov 3:33,35).

29:2 righteous... wicked: See note on Proverbs 3:33, 35.
29:3 wisdom... prostitutes: See note on Proverbs 6:20-35.
29:5-6 People who flatter... spread out a net for their feet: The Hebrew text for verse 5 has two possible meanings. The net spread could capture the flatterers or their friends. But verse 6 suggests that the flatterers will be caught in their own snares. sin: See note on Proverbs 1:10.
29:9, 11 Mockers: See note on Proverbs 1:22.
29:9, 11 wise... foolish: See sidebar, "The Fool" at Proverbs 3.

29:13 The poor: See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10. light to the eyes: See note on Proverbs 13:9.

29:15, 17 The rod and correction... Instruct your children: See note on Proverbs 13:24.
29:16 wicked... righteous: See note on Proverbs 3:33, 35.
29:18 instruction: the Hebrew word "Torah," one of only six occurrences of this word in the book of Proverbs. See note on Proverbs 28:4. happy: See note on Proverbs 3:13. The use of both "instruction" and "happy" in this verse recalls the happiness of observing the Lord's Instruction in Psalm 119.
29:19, 21 Servants: See note on Proverbs 19:13.

29:20 Prv 19:2,
Prv 21:5,
Prv 26:12;
Ecc 5:2

29:22 Prv 15:18,
Prv 26:21,
Prv 30:33

29:27 Dt 16:19,
Dt 24:17;
Ps 82:2;
Prv 29:10;
1In 3:13

30:1 Prv 31:1

30:2 Ps 73:22

30:3 Prv 9:10

30:4 Job 26:8;
Is 40:12; 1In 3:13

30:5 Gn 15:4;
Ps 12:6, Ps 18:30;
Ps 84:11;
Ps 119:140

30:6 Dt 4:2,
Dt 12:32;
Rev 22:18,
Rev 22:19

30:8 Gn 28:20;
Mt 6:11

30:9 Ex 20:7;
Dt 31:20;
Hos 13:6

20 Do you see people who are quick to speak?

There is more hope for fools than for them.

21 Pamper servants from a young age, and later on there will be trouble.

22 Angry people stir up conflict;
hotheads cause much offense.

23 Pride lays people low, but those of humble spirit gain honor.

24 Those who share plunder with thieves hate themselves;
even under oath, they don't testify.

25 People are trapped by their fear of others;
those who trust the LORD are secure.

26 Many seek access to the ruler, but justice comes from the LORD.

27 The unjust person is disgusting to the righteous;
the straight path is disgusting to the wicked.

Words of Agur

30 The words of Agur, Jakeh's son, from Massa.

The man declares: I'm tired, God;
I'm tired, God, and I'm exhausted.

1 Actually, I'm too stupid to be human,
a man without understanding.

1 I haven't learned wisdom, nor do I have knowledge of the holy one.

4 Who has gone up to heaven and come down?
Who has gathered the wind by the handful?
Who has bound up the waters in a garment?
Who has established all the ends of the earth?
What is this person's name and the name of this person's child—if you know it?

5 All God's words are tried and true;
a shield for those who take refuge in him.

6 Don't add to his words, or he will correct you and show you to be a liar.

7 Two things I ask of you;
don't keep them from me before I die:

8 Fraud and lies—keep far from me!
Don't give me either poverty or wealth;
give me just the food I need.

9 Or I'll be full and deny you, and say, "Who is the LORD?"
Or I'll be poor and steal, and dishonor my God's name.

29:22 Angry people... hotheads: A warning against those who allow anger and strife to rule over them.

29:27 righteous... wicked: See note on Proverbs 3:33, 35. straight path: See note on Proverbs 10:9.

30:1-3 I'm tired...I'm exhausted...I'm too stupid...I haven't learned wisdom: The opening words of the chapter convey a sense of being tired and frustrated from trying to understand the complexities of wisdom.

30:1 No one knows the identity of Agur or the location of Massa. The Hebrew words might not be proper names.

30:4 Who has gone up to heaven...?: four questions, all with the obvious answer, "no one." This series of questions is like God's questions to Job in Job 38–41. Only God knows the true workings of this world.

30:7-9 poverty or wealth: With too much wealth a person often denies God. But with the opposite problem—too little food or income—a weary person may steal in order to survive. See sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.

30:7 Two things: Most of the proverbs in chapter 30 are in the form of numerical sayings. See Proverbs 30:15-16, 18-19, 21-23, 24-28, 29-31; 6:16-19.

More sayings of the wise

- <sup>10</sup> Don't slander a servant to his master; otherwise, the servant will curse you, and you will be guilty.
- <sup>11</sup> There are those who curse their father and don't bless their mother.
- <sup>12</sup> There are those who think they are clean, but haven't washed off their own excrement.
- <sup>13</sup> There are those—how arrogant are their eyes;
how their eyebrows are raised!
- <sup>14</sup> There are those whose teeth are swords;
their jaw is a butcher's knife, ready to devour the needy from the earth, and the poor from humanity.
- <sup>15</sup> The leech has two daughters: "Give, give!"
There are three things that are never satisfied, four that never say, "Enough!":
<sup>16</sup> the grave<sup>a</sup> and a barren womb, a land never filled with water, and fire that doesn't say, "Enough!"
- <sup>17</sup> An eye that mocks a father and rejects obedience to a mother, may the ravens of the river valley peck it out,
and the eagle's young eat it.
- <sup>18</sup> Three things are too wonderful for me, four that I can't figure out:
<sup>19</sup> the way of an eagle in the sky,
the way of a snake on the rock,
the way of a ship out on the open sea,
and the way of a man with a young woman.
- <sup>20</sup> This is the way of an adulterous woman:
she eats and wipes her mouth, and she says, "I've done nothing wrong!"
- <sup>21</sup> At three things the earth trembles, at four it can't bear up:
<sup>22</sup> at a servant when he becomes king and fools when they are full of food; <sup>23</sup> at a detested woman when she gets married and a female servant when she replaces her mistress.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol

30:11 Ex 21:17;
Prv 20:20,
Prv 30:17
30:12 Prv 16:2;
Jer 2:35
30:15 Prv 6:16,
Prv 30:18,
Prv 30:21,
Prv 30:29
30:16 Gn 30:1;
Prv 27:20
30:18 Ps 139:6;
Prv 30:15
30:19 Dt 28:49;
Jer 49:22
30:21 Prv 30:22
30:22 Prv 19:10;
Ecc 10:7

30:10-14 servant will curse... curse their father: The word "curse" is the translation of a Hebrew word that means "to belittle, to make light of, to not respect" If you slander a servant, one who works for you, they will think little of you (30:10). The context suggests that such a person also wouldn't respect their parents (30:11), would be arrogant and haughty (30:13), and would speak ill of the needy and the poor (30:14). the needy... the poor: See note on Proverbs 28:3.
30:15-16 two... three... four: See note on Proverbs 6:16-19. the grave: See sidebar, "Sheol" at Proverbs 1.
30:17 a father... mother: See notes on Proverbs 30:10-14; 19:26.

30:17b ravens... eagle's young: The second half of 30:17 uses powerful images from nature. See Proverbs 6:6-11.
30:18-19 the way of a man with a young woman: Several images are used to compare the mystery of love, akin to the sentiments expressed in the Song of Songs. "Young woman" refers to a woman of marriageable age.
30:20 the adulterous woman appears abruptly, in contrast with the "young woman" of Proverbs 30:19. See note on Proverbs 7:7-23; see sidebar, "Woman Wisdom and the Mysterious Woman" at Proverbs 9.
30:21-23 These verses describe a world that runs against the basic order of the universe that the gods had ordained (see intro). In the modern context, the references to

30:24 Job 12:7
 30:25 Prv 6:6
 30:26 Lv 11:5;
 Ps 104:18
 30:27 Ex 10:4;
 Jl 1:4, Jl 2:7
 30:28 Job 8:14
 30:30 Jgs 14:18
 30:33 Prv 15:18,
 Prv 26:21,
 Prv 29:22
 31:1 Prv 1:8,
 Prv 30:1,
 Prv 31:4
 31:3 Dt 17:17;
 Neh 13:26;
 Prv 5:9
 31:4 Prv 20:1;
 Ecc 10:17;
 Is 28:7; Hos 4:11
 31:6 Ps 104:15;
 1Ti 5:23
 31:7 Ps 104:15
 31:10 Ru 3:11;
 Job 28:18;
 Prv 12:4,
 Prv 18:22,
 Prv 19:14

- 24 Four things are among the smallest on earth,
 but they are extremely wise:
- 25 Ants as creatures aren't strong,
 but they store away their food in the summer.
- 26 Badgers as creatures aren't powerful,
 but they make their homes in the rocks.
- 27 Locusts don't have a king, but they march together in ranks.
- 28 You can catch lizards in your hand, but they are in kings' palaces.
- 29 There are three things that are excellent in their stride, four that are excellent as they walk:
- 30 a lion, a warrior among beasts, which doesn't back down at anything;
- 31 the strut of a rooster or a male goat;
 and a king with his army.
- 32 If you've been foolish and arrogant,
 if you've been scheming,
 put your hand to your mouth, 33 because churning milk makes curds, squeezing the nose brings blood,
 and stirring up anger produces strife.

Words of King Lemuel

31 The words of King Lemuel of Massa, which his mother taught him:

- 1 No, my son!
 No, son of my womb!
 No, son of my solemn promises!
- 2 Don't give your strength to women, your ways to those who wipe out kings.
- 3 It isn't for kings, Lemuel, it isn't for kings to drink wine,
 for rulers to crave<sup>o</sup> strong drink.
- 4 Otherwise, they will drink and forget the law, and violate the rights of the needy.
- 5 Give strong drink to those who are perishing and wine to those whose hearts are bitter.
- 6 Let them drink and forget their poverty and no longer remember their toil.
- 7 Speak out on behalf of the voiceless, and for the rights of all who are vulnerable.<sup>p</sup>
- 8 Speak out in order to judge with righteousness and to defend the needy and the poor.

The competent wife

10 A competent wife, how does one find her?
 Her value is far above pearls.

<sup>o</sup>Or where or or <sup>p</sup>Or all children who are passing away servants can be disturbing, but we must remember the context in which the words were first uttered and then recorded. See note on Proverbs 19:10.

30:24-31 Numerical sayings partnered with images from nature. See notes on Proverbs 6:6-11, 16-19.

30:32-33 churning milk... squeezing the nose... stirring up anger: The words "churning," "squeezing," and "stirring" convey the idea of active scheming.

31:1-9 No, my son!: These verses are the instructions of King Lemuel's mother to her son, apparently as he began his reign. The instructions contain warnings against women (31:3), strong drink (31:4-7), and admonitions to act justly for those who aren't able to care for themselves (31:8-9).

31:1 No one knows the identity of Lemuel or the location of Massa (see note on Prov 30:1).

31:9 the needy and the poor: See note on Proverbs 28:3; see sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.

31:10-31 The last section in Proverbs is a poem in celebration of a competent wife. Each verse of the poem begins

- 11 Her husband entrusts his heart to her, and with her he will have all he needs.
- 12 She brings him good and not trouble all the days of her life.
- 13 She seeks out wool and flax;
she works joyfully with her hands.
- 14 She is like a fleet of merchant ships, bringing food from a distance.
- 15 She gets up while it is still night, providing food for her household, even some for her female servants.
- 16 She surveys a field and acquires it;
from her own resources, she plants a vineyard.
- 17 She works energetically;
her arms are powerful.
- 18 She realizes that her trading is successful;
she doesn't put out her lamp at night.
- 19 She puts her hands to the spindle;
her palms grasp the whorl.
- 20 She reaches out to the needy;
she stretches out her hands to the poor.
- 21 She doesn't fear for her household when it snows, because they are all dressed in warm<sup>q</sup> clothes.
- 22 She makes bedspreads for herself;
fine linen and purple are her clothing.
- 23 Her husband is known in the city gates when he sits with the elders of the land.
- 24 She makes garments and sells them;
she supplies sashes to traders.
- 25 Strength and honor are her clothing;
she is confident about the future.
- 26 Her mouth is full of wisdom;
kindly teaching is on her tongue.
- 27 She is vigilant over the activities of her household;
she doesn't eat the food of laziness.
- 28 Her children bless her;
her husband praises her:
- 29 "Many women act competently, but you surpass them all!"

31:11 Gn 2:18;
Prv 12:4
31:19 Ex 35:25,
Ex 35:26
31:20 Eph 4:28
31:21 2Sa 1:24
31:22 Gn 41:42;
Prv 7:16
31:25 1Ti 2:10
31:26 Ps 37:30;
Prv 10:11,
Prv 10:31,
Prv 15:1,
Prv 25:15
31:27 1Ti 3:4, 1Ti 3:5, 1Ti 3:12;
Ti 2:4

<sup>q</sup>LXX; MT the path of the trail

with a successive letter of the Hebrew alphabet (an acrostic): verse 10 begins with alef (a), verse 11 begins with beth (b), and so forth. The acrostic form appears in a number of places in the OT (see Lam 1; 2; Pss 111; 112; 119; 145). The acrostic may help those who recite the poem to remember the next line alphabetically in the poem. Or it may be a poetic device that conveyed to the reader that the topic had been covered "from A to Z."

31:10 competent wife: The Hebrew word translated "competent" can also mean "strong," while the word translated as "wife" can also mean "woman." Rather than "competent wife," we might understand the poem at the conclusion of the book to be in praise of "a strong woman." The book of Proverbs begins in 1:20 with a strong woman, Woman Wisdom, shouting in the streets, calling to the naïve. Thus the strong woman of Proverbs 31, while certainly the description of the ideal wife for Lemuel (Prov 31:1-9) may also be understood as Woman Wisdom, providing closing words to parallel Woman Wisdom's words in Proverbs 1:20-33. In addition, the final words of the book of Proverbs call all people, men and women, young and old, to embrace the characteristics of Woman Wisdom in their own lives.

31:11-31 Themes from the book of Proverbs abound in the poem praising "a competent wife" (or "a strong woman"; see note on Prov 31:10).

31:12 She brings him good and not trouble: See note on Proverbs 19:13.

31:13-17, 21-25, 27 she works joyfully and energetically: See note on Proverbs 10:4-5.

31:18 she doesn't put out her lamp at night: See note on Proverbs 13:9.

31:20 She reaches out to the needy . . . to the poor: See note on Proverbs 28:3; see sidebar, "The Wealthy and the Poor" at Proverbs 10.

31:26 Her mouth is full of wisdom: See the introduction.

31:28 Her children bless her; her husband praises her: See note on Proverbs 19:26.

31:30 Ps 39:11.
Ps 112:1;
Prov 6:25;
Prov 11:16;
Prov 11:22

- 30 Charm is deceptive and beauty fleeting, but a woman who fears the LORD is to be praised.
- 31 Let her share in the results of her work;
let her deeds praise her in the city gates.

31:30 a woman who fears the LORD: See note on Proverbs 1:7.

31:31 city gates: In Proverbs 1:21, Woman Wisdom "has her say" in the city gates. In ancient Israel, the city gates were the places where important members of the community gathered to discuss important issues and to render judgments (see Gen 23:10; Deut 22:15; Judg 9:35; 16:3; 2 Kgs 23:8).

ECCLESIASTES

Ecclesiastes contains two voices: the editor, who introduces and concludes the book (Eccl 1:1-2; 12:8-14; see also 7:27), and the speaker of the rest of the book, a person called Qoheleth in Hebrew (pronounced ko-hell-et). This means “Teacher of the Assembly” (Eccl 1:1) or more simply “Teacher” (Eccl 1:2, 12), because it is related to the verb “to gather” and to the noun “assembly.” The name is thus a kind of title, and since the Teacher addresses all who listen to his words, the book has sometimes been titled “the Preacher.”

Who is this “Teacher,” and what does he teach? Unfortunately, we know very little about the first question. The beginning of the book hints that the Teacher is King Solomon (Eccl 1:1, 12, 16; 2:9), but Solomon’s name is never used (cf. Prov 1:1; Song 1:1) and allusions to Solomon are largely dropped after Ecclesiastes 2:12. Indeed, much of the Teacher’s message implies that he is not a king (see Eccl 4:13-16; 5:9; 8:2-4; 9:13-16; 10:20). The type of Hebrew language used also indicates that the book, at least in its current form, is from a time much later than the days of Solomon. It probably dates from late in the 4th century BCE or maybe sometime in the 3rd century BCE. The allusions to King Solomon appear to be a literary device to show that the Teacher knows what he is talking about when he describes his quest (especially in Eccl 1:12–2:26) and when he gives his conclusions about the pointlessness of wealth, work, and possessions.

The teaching found in Ecclesiastes is difficult to summarize because most of the book lacks a clear or easily understood structure. There is an editorial frame at the beginning and the end (Eccl 1:1-2; 12:8-14), and there are opening and closing poems on life and death (Eccl 1:3-11; 12:1-7). The rest of Ecclesiastes may be roughly divided into two halves (Eccl 1:12–6:9 and 6:10–11:10). Within these halves the Teacher covers a number of topics in a nonlinear, sometimes repetitive, and often contradictory fashion.

Horned viper (Eccl 10:11)
Shutterstock

These factors make it hard to understand the book, though they may be part of the Teacher's strategy to force the reader to feel his frustrations about life and wisdom.

The Teacher covers many topics, but three themes recur throughout the book, including: the pointlessness of human endeavors, the mysterious nature of God, and the inevitability of death. The Teacher returns to these topics again and again, because each is important to him, and each is difficult to address adequately given the limitations of human knowledge. These limitations are, according to the Teacher, imposed by God (Eccl 1:13; 3:11, 14; 5:18; 6:2; 7:13-14; 8:17). One could go so far as to say that the Teacher's main problems are with human limitation and God's non-limitation.

The Teacher's answer to these problems is reasonable and practical. If the meaning that is experienced in life ends at death, then it makes sense to enjoy life and its simple pleasures, even its work and toil, as much as possible for as long as possible. This isn't easy, and some people can't do it, sometimes because God doesn't permit it (Eccl 6:2). This raises the problem of God in Ecclesiastes and the Teacher's thoughts on God are, once again, highly pragmatic. Since God is infinitely more powerful than us and different from us (Eccl 3:11; 5:2)—at times even indifferent to us (cf. Eccl 7:13; 8:11; 9:2; 10:5)—the proper response is to respect, revere, and worship God, and not be foolish about religious matters (Eccl 5:1-7). But humanity's lack of knowledge means that we can't be certain about righteousness and wickedness, or wisdom and foolishness (Eccl 7:15-18). The wise life and the life with God in Ecclesiastes require a somber reckoning with numerous limitations: the limits of our lifespan and the limits of our knowledge—and that includes limits to our knowledge about God (Eccl 3:11; 7:14; 8:17).

Ecclesiastes can strike the reader as a dark book because the Teacher seems more like a cynic than a saint. But readers of the book shouldn't give up. The Teacher repeatedly interrupts the seriousness of his speech to advise us to enjoy what is given to us, as much as we can, whenever we can (Eccl 2:24-26; 3:12-13, 22; 5:18-20; 7:14; 8:15; 9:7-10; 11:7-10). This is what he calls our "reward" or "allotment" or "place in the world" or "part to play," which is God-given and God-approved (Eccl 2:10; 3:22; 5:18-19; 9:9). The Teacher says that we have to pay serious attention to living our lives joyfully and rightly, despite any limits imposed on us by death, our lack of knowledge, or our uncertainties about God.

Ecclesiastes authorizes an edgy spirituality that makes room for doubt or skepticism (within limits) about various matters. The book shows that skepticism and intelligence don't have to result in unbelief or be an excuse to opt out of a faithful life. The Teacher is both skeptical (Eccl 3:21) and very wise (Eccl 12:9-10), but throughout his reflections, he realizes that he must do his thinking with God. Ecclesiastes will repay close and repeated study, even though it isn't always easy, because the life of wisdom and the life of faith are often marked by difficulty and the pain of learning (Eccl 1:18; 12:11; see also Prov 3:11; 6:23; 12:1; 13:1; 1 Cor 11:32; Heb 12:5-11; Rev 3:19; cf. Ps 94:12).

I. Introduction (1:1-11)

- A. Prologue (1:1-2)
  - 1. Heading (1:1)
  - 2. Motto (1:2)
- B. Opening poem: the inevitable cycle of life (1:3-11)

II. The Teacher's Reflections (1:12-11:10)

- A. Part 1: Pointless wind chasing (1:12-6:9)
  - 1. Introducing the Teacher's quest (1:12-18)
  - 2. A royal disaster (2:1-23)
  - 3. What joy remains (2:24-26)
  - 4. Poem on the seasons (3:1-8)
  - 5. Reflections on times, time, and God (3:9-15)
  - 6. Reflections on injustice, wickedness, and death (3:16-22)
- 7. Oppression, death, and non-existence (4:1-3)
- 8. The (relative) value of work, companionship, and wisdom (4:4-16)
- 9. Being appropriate in religious matters (5:1-7)

10. Oppression, wealth, and hoarding (5:8-20)

- 11. The tragedy of not enjoying (6:1-9)
- B. Part 2: On not knowing (6:10-11:10)
  - 1. The (relative) merits of wisdom (7:1-12)
  - 2. All things in moderation (7:13-22)
  - 3. Evaluating the quest so far: Woman Wisdom and Woman Folly (7:23-8:1)
  - 4. On power and right and wrongdoing (8:2-14)
  - 5. Enjoying life without pretense (8:15-17)
  - 6. The benefits of living (9:1-10)
  - 7. Wisdom: not "fool"-proof (9:11-10:20)
  - 8. What to do since life is short (11:1-10)

III. Conclusion (12:1-14)

- A. Closing poem: the certain disaster of death (12:1-7)
- B. Epilogue (12:8-14)
  - 1. Motto (12:8)
  - 2. Subscription (12:9-14)

Brent A. Strawn

1:1 Prv 1:1;
Ecc 1:12;
Ecc 7:27;
Ecc 12:8

1:2 Ps 39:5,
Ps 62:9,
Ps 144:4;
Ecc 12:8;
Ro 8:20

1:3 Ecc 2:11,
Ecc 2:22, Ecc 3:9,
Ecc 5:16

1:4 Ps 104:5,
Ps 119:90

1:6 Ecc 11:5;
In 3:8

1:7 Ps 104:8

1:8 Prv 27:20;
Ecc 4:8

1:9 Ecc 2:12,
Ecc 3:15,
Ecc 6:10

Opening motto

1 The words of the Teacher of the Assembly,<sup>a</sup> David's son, king in Jerusalem:

<sup>2</sup>Perfectly pointless,<sup>b</sup> says the Teacher, perfectly pointless.
Everything is pointless.

Some things are inevitable

<sup>3</sup>What do people gain from all the hard work that they work so hard at under the sun?

<sup>4</sup>A generation goes, and a generation comes,
but the earth remains as it always has.

<sup>5</sup>The sun rises, the sun sets;
it returns panting
to the place where it dawns.

<sup>6</sup>The wind blows to the south, goes around to the north;
around and around blows the wind;
the wind returns to its rounds again.

<sup>7</sup>All streams flow to the sea, but the sea is never full;
to the place where the rivers flow,
there they continue to flow.

<sup>8</sup>All words<sup>c</sup> are tiring;
no one is able to speak.
The eye isn't satisfied with seeing, neither is the ear filled up by hearing.

<sup>9</sup>Whatever has happened—that's what will happen again;
whatever has occurred—that's what will occur again.

Pointless Pointless (Heb. hebel) is a key term in Ecclesiastes, though its precise meaning is uncertain. Elsewhere in the OT, hebel can refer to something that is here one minute and gone the next, like a puff of air (e.g., Pss 62:9; 144:4; Job 7:16; note that hebel is Abel's name in Gen 4). The term can also be used of idols, the worship of which is worthless (e.g., Deut 32:21; 2 Kgs 17:15; Jer 2:5). In Ecclesiastes, the term is complex because its meaning changes according to the way it is used. The word occurs 37 times in the Hebrew text. It captures the momentary nature of life, and it refers to the frustrating, unpredictable, and unpleasant aspects of life. The term is used in close combination with other phrases in Ecclesiastes, such as Ecclesiastes 1:3, which indicates that there's no "gain" in work, that work has no ultimate significance, that work is pointless. The term also appears with the theme of "wind chasing" (e.g., Eccl 1:14; 2:11, 17, 26; 4:4; 6:9)—another pointless endeavor—suggesting that hebel also concerns things that are "elusive" or "baffling."

<sup>a</sup>Or Gatherer or Convener or Assembler (Heb Qoheleth); see also 1:2, 12; 7:27; 12:8, 9, 10. <sup>b</sup>Or meaningless or vapor or puff of air (Heb hebel, which often occurs in the book) <sup>c</sup>Or things

1:1-2 The opening verses include a third-person heading about the Teacher and the motto of the book (see notes on Eccl 12:8-14).

1:1 Teacher of the Assembly: Hebrew Qoheleth, the Teacher, which could also be translated "Gatherer" or "Convener" or "Assembler" (see translation note; also named at Eccl 1:2, 12; 7:27; 12:8, 9, 10). It's apparently a title, because it appears with the definite article in Ecclesiastes 12:8 (see Eccl 7:27). The Greek translation is ekklesiastes ("one of the assembly") which becomes the English title of the book. David's Son, king in Jerusalem: See the introduction and the note on Ecclesiastes 1:12.

1:2 Perfectly pointless . . . perfectly pointless. Everything is pointless: See the translation note; see sidebar, "Pointless." Perfectly pointless has the force of "utter absurdity" or "complete futility." The repetition of "perfectly pointless" and the statement that "everything is pointless" make the statement emphatic. Ecclesiastes 1:2 is matched by Ecclesiastes 12:8 (see notes on Eccl 1:1-2; 12:8-14). Both verses combine editorial words about the Teacher with the Teacher's own voice. The verse serves as a summary of the book. the Teacher: See note on Ecclesiastes 1:1.

1:3-11 The opening poetic theme begins with a rhetorical question in verse 3, which is followed by a poem about nature (1:4-9) and the Teacher's conclusions (1:10-11). For a similar structure, see Ecclesiastes 3:1-15. The opening poem is matched by the concluding poem in Ecclesiastes 12:1-7.

1:3 gain . . . hard work: The Teacher asks if there is anything to be gained from hard work. The answer offered here and throughout the book is mostly negative (Eccl 2:11, 22; 5:15; but see Eccl 10:10). gain: This is a business term suggesting "net gain" or "profit." hard work appears frequently in Ecclesiastes and has gloomy connotations. under the sun: This phrase, often repeated, refers mostly to human existence (see Eccl 1:13-14 where "under heaven" is defined as "under the sun"; see also Eccl 2:17-20, 22).

1:4-7 The rhetorical question in Ecclesiastes 1:3 is explored by looking at natural processes. The world is hard at work, but there's no obvious gain. Generations come and go, but the earth remains as it always has (1:4). The sun keeps rising and setting despite how tiring that is (note panting in 1:5). The wind keeps blowing (1:6), and the seas are never full despite the never-ending flow of rivers (1:7). If there's no "profit" for the large-scale processes of nature, it's hard to imagine that any one person's work would make much of a difference, especially for long (see Eccl 1:9-11).

1:8-9 These verses also answer the question of Ecclesiastes 1:3, but with reference to human beings. All words (or possibly "things") are tiring. All that could (or should) be said cannot be said. Neither eyes nor ears are ever satisfied: There is always more to see and hear (see Eccl 4:8; 5:10; 6:7, 9). Human existence, like the natural world, is There's nothing new under the sun. <sup>10</sup>People may say about something: "Look at this! It's new!" But it was already around for ages before us. <sup>11</sup>There's no remembrance of things in the past, nor of things to come in the future. Neither will there be any remembrance among those who come along in the future.

The Teacher's quest

<sup>12</sup>I am the Teacher. I was king over Israel in Jerusalem.

<sup>13</sup>I applied my mind to investigate and to explore by wisdom all that happens under heaven. It's an unhappy obsession that God has given to human beings.

<sup>14</sup>When I observed all that happens under the sun, I realized that everything is pointless, a chasing after wind.

<sup>15</sup>What's crooked can't be straightened;
what isn't there can't be counted.

<sup>16</sup>I said to myself, Look here, I have grown much wiser than any who ruled over Jerusalem before me. My mind has absorbed great wisdom and knowledge. <sup>17</sup>But when I set my mind to understand wisdom, and also to understand madness and folly, I realized that this too was just wind chasing.

<sup>18</sup>Remember:

In much wisdom is much aggravation;
the more knowledge, the more pain.

2 I said to myself, <sup>a</sup>Come, I will make you <sup>e</sup>experience pleasure; enjoy what is good! But this too was pointless! <sup>2</sup>Merriment, I thought, is madness; pleasure, of no use at all. <sup>3</sup>I tried cheering myself with wine and by embracing folly—with wisdom still guiding me—until I might see what is really worth doing in the few days that human beings have under heaven.

<sup>a</sup>Or in my heart; mind <sup>e</sup>Or the self (or heart; mind) caught in a cycle: whatever has happened—that's what will happen again (cf. Eccl 2:12b; 3:15a; 6:10). This is why the Teacher says There's nothing new under the sun (Eccl 1:9; see note on Eccl 1:3).

1:10-11 A prose commentary reinforcing the points of the preceding poem. Even if someone thinks there's something new, that's only because they don't know it has been around for ages before us. They don't know this precisely because those ages are long forgotten. The theme of death emerges because there is no future remembrance of past generations (cf. Eccl 2:16; 9:5). Ironically, while the Teacher laments lack of memory, he himself mentions past generations, and readers of Ecclesiastes also remember the Teacher.

1:12-18 This section introduces the Teacher and his quest for wisdom, which is detailed further in Ecclesiastes 2:1-26.

1:12 Teacher: See Ecclesiastes 1:1. king over Israel in Jerusalem: One individual was both David's son (see Eccl 1:1) and king over all Israel in Jerusalem: Solomon. However, Solomon's name is never used in Ecclesiastes, and the book gives many indications that it comes from a much later period than Solomon. See the introduction.

1:13-14 The Teacher lays out his method (applied my mind to investigate), his tool (by wisdom), and his subject matter (all that happens under heaven... all that happens under the sun). He also indicates his conclusion: everything is pointless, a chasing after wind. This conclusion will be reiterated numerous times. unhappy obsession: repeated in Ecclesiastes 4:8. that God has given: The Teacher attributes many of life's frustrations to God (Eccl 6:2; 7:13; see note on Eccl 1:15). under the sun: See note on Ecclesiastes 1:3. everything is pointless: See note on Ecclesiastes 1:2; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1. chasing after wind: an absurd activity that underscores "pointless."
1:15 A proverb that reinforces the points of Ecclesiastes

1:13-14. In light of Ecclesiastes 7:13, the first part probably subtly evokes God.

1:16-17 If the Teacher was literally Solomon, the claim of 1:16 would lack force, because it would apply to David (cf. Eccl 2:9). The purpose of referring to Solomon is clear in 1:17: It's not just anyone who claims the search to understand wisdom. It's one of the wisest kings ever! For traditions about Solomon's legendary wisdom and insight, see 1 Kings 3:1-28; 4:29-34. Much of the wisdom literature of the OT was associated with Solomon, though it's clear that he didn't write all of it (see Prov 22:17; 24:23; 30:1; 31:1).

1:18 A proverb reinforcing the points of Ecclesiastes 1:16-17. For the downside of obtaining knowledge, see also Ecclesiastes 12:12.

2:1-26 Still speaking as a king (see Eccl 1:12), the Teacher describes the extensive experiment that he conducted to find meaning in life (2:3). The result was a complete disaster (2:11, 17, 21-23), which leads him to discuss the joy that remains in the aftermath (2:24-26).

2:1-11 The Teacher attempts to find joy in various sources, including the experience of pleasure, enjoying what is good, merriment, wine, and even the embrace of folly. He next moves to a list of the great projects he undertook (2:4-9), a listing that is similar to ancient Near Eastern royal inscriptions in which a king outlines his many accomplishments. The result is, once again, pointless and a chasing after wind.

2:1 I said to myself: See the translation note. In the OT, the heart is the center of thought, and so equivalent to our "mind" or "self." "I"-language dominates in chapter 2. Contrast with the Teacher's reflections on companionship in Ecclesiastes 4:3-12 (see note on Eccl 1:1-2).

2:3 The embrace of folly is unexpected especially in wisdom literature, which typically looks down on foolishness. The Teacher claims to pursue folly with wisdom still guiding

1:13 Gn 3:19;
Eccl 1:17,
Eccl 10,
Eccl 7:25
1:14 Eccl 2:11,
Eccl 2:17, Eccl 4:4,
Eccl 6:9
1:15 Eccl 7:13
1:16 1 Ki 3:12,
1 Ki 4:30,
1 Ki 10:7,
1 Ki 10:23,
Eccl 2:9
1:17 Eccl 1:13,
Eccl 2:3,
Eccl 2:12,
Eccl 7:23,
Eccl 7:25
1:18 Eccl 2:23,
Eccl 12:12
2:1 Eccl 8:15

2:4 1Ks 7:1;

2Ch 8:1;

Song 8:11

2:5 Gn 2:8;

Song 5:1

2:6 Neh 2:14;

Neh 3:15;

Ecc 2:5

2:7 Gn 14:14;

1Ks 4:23

2:8 2Sa 19:35;

1Ks 9:28;

1Ks 10:10

2:13 Ecc 7:11;

Ecc 7:12;

Ecc 7:19

2:14 Ps 49:10;

Ecc 3:19, Ecc 6:6;

Ecc 9:2, Ecc 9:3

2:16 Ecc 1:11

<sup>4</sup>I took on great projects: I built houses for myself, planted vineyards for myself. <sup>5</sup>I made gardens and parks for myself, planting every kind of fruit tree in them. <sup>6</sup>I made reservoirs for myself to water my lush groves. <sup>7</sup>I acquired male servants and female servants; I even had slaves born in my house. I also had great herds of cattle and sheep, more than any who preceded me in Jerusalem. <sup>8</sup>I amassed silver and gold for myself, the treasures of kings and provinces. I acquired male and female singers for myself, along with every human luxury, treasure chests galore!<sup>f</sup> <sup>9</sup>So I became far greater than all who preceded me in Jerusalem. Moreover, my wisdom stood by me. <sup>10</sup>I refrained from nothing that my eyes desired. I refused my heart no pleasure. Indeed, my heart found pleasure from the results of my hard work; that was the reward from all my hard work. <sup>11</sup>But when I surveyed all that my hands had done, and what I had worked so hard to achieve, I realized that it was pointless—a chasing after wind. Nothing is to be gained under the sun.

<sup>12</sup>My reflections then turned to wisdom, madness, and folly. What can the king's heir do but what has already been done? <sup>13</sup>I saw that wisdom is more beneficial than folly, as light is more beneficial than darkness.

<sup>14</sup>The wise have eyes in their head,
but fools walk around in darkness.

But I also realized that the same fate happens to both of them. <sup>15</sup>So I thought to myself, What happens to the fool will also happen to me. So why have I been so very wise? I said to myself, This too is pointless. <sup>16</sup>There is no eternal memory of the wise any more than the foolish,<sup>g</sup> because everyone is forgotten before long. How can the wise die just like the fool? <sup>17</sup>So I hated life, because the things that happen under the sun were troublesome to me. Definitely, everything is pointless—just wind chasing.

<sup>18</sup>I hated the things I worked so hard for here under the sun, because I will have to leave them to someone who comes after me. <sup>19</sup>And who knows whether that one will be wise or foolish? Either way, that person will have control over the results of all my hard work and wisdom here under the sun. That too is pointless. <sup>20</sup>I then gave myself up to despair, as I thought about all my laborious hard work under the sun,<sup>21</sup> because sometimes those who have worked hard with wisdom, knowledge, and skill must leave the results of their hard work as a possession to those who haven't worked hard for it. This too is pointless—it's a me. That is even more surprising, but it hints at his later critique of wisdom (Ecc 8:17; 9:18–10:1).

<sup>f</sup>Or many secondary wives <sup>g</sup>Or The wise and the foolish alike are never remembered.

2:4-9 See 1 Kings 4–11 for traditions about Solomon's treasures.

2:7 The Teacher doesn't mention any children of his own (cf. Ecc 4:8; 6:3-5).

2:8 The meaning of treasure chests galore is uncertain (see the translation note). It may be a euphemism for secondary wives (or concubines), which Solomon had (see 1 Kgs 11:3).

2:9 far greater than all who preceded me: See Ecclesiastes 1:16.

2:10 The pursuit of pleasure involved hard work (see note on Ecc 1:3). The Teacher claims to derive pleasure from hard work and says that this is his reward from such work, though he immediately undercuts the significance of the work (Ecc 2:11; see note on Ecc 2:24).

2:11 Despite the relative success of pursuing pleasure, the result is failure. Even the Teacher's great works were pointless (see sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecc 1) and wind chasing (see Ecc 1:14). Nothing is to be gained under the sun answers the question in Ecclesiastes 1:3 (see Ecc 2:22; 5:15).

2:12-23 The Teacher next considers wisdom, madness, and folly (cf. Ecc 1:17), which leads him to consider future generations, including foolish heirs and how there's no memory of past individuals (2:16; cf. Ecc 1:11; 9:5). At this point the problem of death returns (cf. Ecc 1:11).

2:12 the king's heir: The writer is still writing as a king (see Ecc 1:12), but it's dropped after this point. what has already been done: See Ecclesiastes 1:9; 2:12b; 3:15a; 6:10.

2:13-14 The Teacher frequently praises wisdom, though the advantage of being wise is slight, and he often undercuts the commendation in further reflections (see Ecc 9:18–10:1). In these verses wisdom is superior to folly as light is better than darkness, but there's no ultimate gain because the same fate comes to both the wise and the foolish (Ecc 2:14b-17). fate: means "death" (see Ecc 2:16; 3:19; 9:2-3; cf. Ecc 6:6; 7:2).

2:15-16 Death is proof that there's nothing to be gained under the sun (Ecc 1:3; 2:11, 22; 5:15). The situation strikes the Teacher as pointless (see Ecc 1:2; see sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecc 1). no eternal memory... because everyone is forgotten: See Ecclesiastes 1:9-11. How can the wise die just like the fool? The same result raises questions as to what benefit there is in being wise (cf. Ecc 4:8).

2:17-21 The situation leads the Teacher to utter despair. He hates life and finds what happens under the sun (2:17, 18-20, 22; see note on Ecc 1:3) troublesome or a terrible wrong. Both terms can have moral connotations in some contexts (such as "evil"). Once again and definitely this time, everything is pointless—just wind chasing: See notes on Ecclesiastes 1:2, 14; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1. The Teacher also hates all his work since death requires him to leave it to an heir who may be foolish (2:18-21; cf. Ecc 2:12; 4:8).

terrible wrong. <sup>22</sup>I mean, What do people get for all their hard work and struggles under the sun? <sup>23</sup>All their days are pain, and their work is aggravation; even at night, their hearts don't find rest. This too is pointless.

<sup>24</sup>There's nothing better for human beings than to eat, drink, and experience pleasure in their hard work. I also saw that this is from God's hand—<sup>25</sup>Who can eat and find enjoyment otherwise?—<sup>26</sup>because God gives wisdom, knowledge, and joy to those who please God. But to those who are offensive, <sup>26</sup> God gives the task of hoarding and accumulating, but only so as to give it all to those who do please God. This too is pointless and a chasing after wind.

A season for everything

3 There's a season for everything and a time for every matter under the heavens:

- <sup>2</sup>a time for giving birth and a time for dying,
- a time for planting and a time for uprooting what was planted,
- <sup>3</sup>a time for killing and a time for healing,
- a time for tearing down and a time for building up,
- <sup>4</sup>a time for crying and a time for laughing,
- a time for mourning and a time for dancing,
- <sup>5</sup>a time for throwing stones and a time for gathering stones,
- a time for embracing and a time for avoiding embraces,
- <sup>6</sup>a time for searching and a time for losing,
- a time for keeping and a time for throwing away,
- <sup>7</sup>a time for tearing and a time for repairing,
- a time for keeping silent and a time for speaking,
- <sup>8</sup>a time for loving and a time for hating,
- a time for war and a time for peace.

Hard work

<sup>9</sup>What do workers gain from all their hard work? <sup>10</sup>I have observed the task that God has given human beings. <sup>11</sup>God has made everything fitting in its time, but has also placed eternity in their hearts, without enabling them to discover what God has done from beginning to end.

<sup>a</sup>Or to those who sin

2:22-23 What do people get: This question is similar to the question in Ecclesiastes 1:3, which the Teacher answered with the word "nothing" (Eccl 2:11). Here he says people do get something: pain, aggravation, and lack of rest (cf. Eccl 5:12; 8:16; 9:3). pointless: See sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1.

2:24-26 The first of several passages where the Teacher recommends joy (see also Eccl 3:12-13, 22; 5:18-20; 7:14; 8:15; 9:7-10; 11:7-10) as a way to conduct life. This isn't simply the pursuit of pleasure, given what the Teacher says elsewhere about the importance of wise action (Eccl 8:2-5), reverence for God (Eccl 5:1-7), and the importance of companionship (Eccl 4:4-12; 9:9; 11:1-2). Moreover, according to the Teacher, this enjoyment is the gift of God, from God's hand (2:24; see also Eccl 3:13; 5:18-20; cf. Eccl 7:14; 8:15; 9:7, 9). Ecclesiastes 2:24 differs from 2:10 because here the Teacher allows for an experience of pleasure in hard work, in contrast to 2:10 where his pleasure from hard work was short lived (Eccl 2:11). Joy can't be wrestled from hard work, but it can be found within hard work.

2:26 wisdom, knowledge, and joy: the gifts of God to those who please God. God gives a task to those who are offensive, or "sin" (see the translation note) with the ultimate goal to give it all to those who do please God. The full significance of this redistribution of God's blessing is unclear, though it raises issues touched on elsewhere in Ecclesiastes, such as God's judgment, God's ultimate sovereignty, and God's mysterious ways (see Eccl 3:11, 17; 7:14; 8:17; 11:5, 9; 12:14). It's not clear which part of this verse (or the preceding) that the Teacher finds pointless and a chasing after wind (see Eccl 1:2, 14; sidebar, "Pointless" at Eccl 1).

3:1-15 An opening statement (3:1), interpreted by a poem about the seasons of life (3:2-8), which is then followed by the Teacher's reflections (3:9-15). For a similar structure see Ecclesiastes 1:3-11.

3:1-8 This is a popular passage, but the actual content of the poem is full of unpleasant experiences (dying, killing, mourning). It may be a traditional piece that the Teacher quotes before offering his own commentary in Ecclesiastes 3:9-11.

3:5 throwing stones... gathering stones: The meaning is uncertain. It may refer to building, agriculture, or even be a euphemism for sexual activity.

3:9 See Ecclesiastes 1:3; 2:11, 22; compare with Ecclesiastes 5:15. The implied answer is "nothing."

3:10 See Ecclesiastes 1:13.

3:11 has made everything fitting in its time: an explicit comment about the times and seasons of Ecclesiastes 3:1-8 (cf. Eccl 7:13; 11:5). God also placed eternity into human hearts with the result that they are unable to discover what God has done (cf. Eccl 7:13; 11:5). So God makes the times, and humans experience those times, but humans can't determine them. Once again, there's no profit or gain from

7:24 Eccl 3:12,
Eccl 3:13,
Eccl 3:22,
Eccl 8:15, Eccl 9:7
3:1 Eccl 3:17,
Eccl 8:6
3:2 Job 14:5,
Heb 9:27
3:3 Hos 6:1
3:4 Ex 15:20,
Ro 12:15
3:5 2Ki 3:25,
1Co 7:5
3:6 2Ki 7:15;
Is 2:20;
Jon 1:5;
Mt 19:29;
Phi 3:7
3:7 Gn 37:29;
Est 4:14;
Pev 15:23;
Am 5:13
3:8 Lk 14:26
3:9 Eccl 1:3
3:10 Eccl 1:13
3:11 Gn 1:31;
Job 5:9, Job 11:7,
Eccl 8:17;
Ro 11:33

3:13 Ecc 2:24,
Ecc 5:18,
Ecc 5:19, Ecc 9:7

3:14 Ps 33:11,
Ecc 5:7, Ecc 7:18,
Ecc 8:12,
Ecc 12:13

3:16 Ps 82:2;
Ecc 4:1, Ecc 5:8

3:17 Gn 18:25;
Ecc 3:1, Ecc 11:9,
Ecc 12:14;
Mt 16:27

3:18 Ps 49:12,
Ps 49:20,
Ps 73:22,
2Pt 2:12

3:19 2Sa 14:14;
Ps 49:12,
Ps 49:20,
Ps 89:48;
Ecc 2:14

3:20 Gn 3:19;
Job 34:15;
Ps 104:29;
Ecc 12:7

3:21 Ecc 12:7

3:22 Ecc 2:10,
Ecc 2:24,
Ecc 6:12, Ecc 8:7,
Ecc 10:14

<sup>12</sup>I know that there's nothing better for them but to enjoy themselves and do what's good while they live. <sup>13</sup>Moreover, this is the gift of God: that all people should eat, drink, and enjoy the results of their hard work. <sup>14</sup>I know that whatever God does will last forever; it's impossible to add to it or take away from it. God has done this so that people are reverent before him. <sup>15</sup>Whatever happens has already happened, and whatever will happen has already happened before. And God looks after what is driven away.<sup>1</sup>

Enjoy what you do now

<sup>16</sup>I saw something else under the sun: in the place of justice, there was wickedness; and in the place of what was right, there was wickedness again! <sup>17</sup>I thought to myself, God will judge both righteous and wicked people, because there's a time for every matter and every deed. <sup>18</sup>I also thought, Where human beings are concerned, God tests them to show them that they are but animals <sup>19</sup>because human beings and animals share the same fate. One dies just like the other—both have the same life-breath. Humans are no better off than animals because everything is pointless.

<sup>20</sup>All go to the same place:
all are from the dust;
all return to the dust.

<sup>21</sup>Who knows if a human being's life-breath rises upward while an animal's life-breath descends into the earth? <sup>22</sup>So I perceived that there was nothing better for human beings but to enjoy what they do because that's what they're allotted in life. Who, really, is able to see what will happen in the future?

Death is better than oppression

4 When I next observed all the oppressions that take place under the sun, I saw the tears of the oppressed—and they have no one to comfort them. Their oppressors wield

<sup>1</sup>Or to inspire awe before the divine <sup>2</sup>Or God seeks out what is pursued, or God seeks what has gone by, or God seeks the pursued; Heb uncertain toil (Ecc 3:9) because the inability to know God's work is an effect of the system (cf. Ecc 7:13; 11:5). eternity in their hearts: The meaning is unclear. It may include knowledge (see note on Ecc 2:1) of one's certain death (see Ecc 9:5; cf. Ecc 12:5 "eternal abode").

3:12-13 Another passage about joy (see Ecc 2:24-26; 3:22; 5:18-20; 7:14; 8:15; 9:7-10; 11:7-10). Here the Teacher introduces the statement by saying I know, and the joy is in response to the problem of life and God's mysterious ways (Ecc 3:1-11). Once again, enjoying oneself and doing good while one lives, including eating, drinking, and enjoying the results of hard work, is the gift of God (cf. Ecc 2:24-26; 5:18-19; 8:15; 9:7, 9).

3:14 God's work (perhaps the work in Ecc 3:11) and its endurance lead to reverence or fear of God, a theme that recurs in Ecclesiastes 5:7; 7:18; 8:12-13; 12:13.

3:15 Whatever happens... has already happened before. See Ecclesiastes 1:9; 2:12b; 6:10. And God looks after what is driven away. See the translation note for other possibilities. It might mean that God ensures the cyclical nature of life and time (cf. Ecc 1:3-11; 3:1-8, 15), but the sentence might leave room for God's beneficial oversight of things that otherwise seem forgotten, especially from a human perspective (cf. Ecc 1:10-11; 2:16).

3:16-17 Since life and time seem to be "fixed" or determined, the Teacher considers the problem of injustice and wickedness (see Ecc 4:1-3; 5:8; 7:15; 8:10, 14) and God's judgment of both righteous and wicked (see Ecc 8:12-13; 11:9-10; 12:14). I thought may reflect the Teacher's own belief, but this thought appears to be challenged in Ecclesiastes 3:18-20. Maybe it reflects a previously held position (cf. Ecc 8:5-8).

3:18-21 The cause of the shift from verse 17 to verse 18 is unclear, though in Hebrew both verses begin with I thought to myself. Perhaps the thought of God's (future?) judgment (see Ecc 8:12-13; 11:9-10; 12:14) brings the Teacher to again consider life and death. In contrast to the problem of the wise and the fool dying alike (Ecc 2:14-16), the Teacher now poses the issue as a one of humans and animals dying alike, sharing the same fate (3:19; see Ecc 2:14-15; 3:19; 9:2-3), and going to the same place (3:20; see Ecc 6:6; 7:2) because they have the same origin (from the dust) and destination (return to the dust; cf. Ecc 12:7) and because both have the same life-breath. There's no escape from death for the wise or the foolish, for humans or animals. That's why Humans are no better off than animals and why everything is pointless (see Ecc 1:2; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecc 1). For the similarity of human and animal life, see Genesis 2:7, 19; 3:19; 7:22. The Teacher has no knowledge about an afterlife, or at least whether there is any difference in the afterlife for humans and animals. The statement in Ecclesiastes 12:7 affirms part of what is said in 3:18-21, but seems somewhat more confident about the final destination of the life-breath. See notes on Ecclesiastes 12:1-7.

3:22 Another passage about joy (see Ecc 2:24-26; 3:12-13; 5:18-20; 7:14; 8:15; 9:7-10; 11:7-10). This one is prompted by the problem of death and is preceded by the Teacher's statement that he perceived that enjoyment is the best option available for humans. Who, really: The implied answer is "no one," with the exception being God (cf. Ecc 3:11). The future (Ecc 3:21; 7:14; 8:7; 9:1b, 12; 10:14; 11:2, 6) is as unknowable as the past (Ecc 1:10; 7:10; 11:5).

4:1-3 The Teacher returns to the problem of wickedness (cf. Ecc 3:16). Oppression harms everyone, including the oppressor, and nobody can be comforted. It's better to be power—but they have no one to comfort them. <sup>2</sup>So I declare that the dead, who have already died, are more fortunate than the living, who are still alive. <sup>3</sup>But happier than both are those who have never existed, who haven't witnessed the terrible things that happen under the sun.

Envy and loneliness

<sup>4</sup>I also observed that people work hard and become good at what they do only out of mutual envy. This too is pointless, just wind chasing.

<sup>5</sup>Fools fold their hands and eat their own flesh.

<sup>6</sup>But better is resting with one handful than working hard for two fistfuls and chasing after wind.

<sup>7</sup>Next, I saw under the sun something else that was pointless: <sup>8</sup>There are people who are utterly alone, with no companions, not even a child or a sibling. Yet they work hard without end, never satisfied with their wealth. So for whom am I working so hard and depriving myself of enjoyment? This too is pointless and a terrible obsession.

<sup>9</sup>Two are better than one because they have a good return for their hard work. <sup>10</sup>If either should fall, one can pick up the other. But how miserable are those who fall and don't have a companion to help them up! <sup>11</sup>Also, if two lie down together, they can stay warm. But how can anyone stay warm alone? <sup>12</sup>Also, one can be overpowered, but two together can put up resistance. A three-ply cord doesn't easily snap.

<sup>13</sup>A poor but wise youth is better than an old and foolish king, who no longer listens to advice. <sup>14</sup>He emerged from prison to become king, even though during his rule a poor child<sup>a</sup> is born. <sup>15</sup>I saw all who live and walk under the sun following the next youth who would rise to take his place. <sup>16</sup>There was no counting the number of people he ruled, but those who came later aren't happy with him. This too is pointless and a chasing after wind.

Listen and speak carefully

5 Watch<sup>1</sup> your steps when you go to God's house. It's more acceptable to listen than to offer the fools' sacrifice—they have no idea that they're acting wrongly. <sup>2</sup>Don't<sup>m</sup> be quick with

4:2 Job 3:17; Ecc 2:17
4:4 Ecc 1:14
4:5 Prv 6:10, Prv 24:33; Is 9:20
4:6 Prv 15:16, Prv 15:17, Prv 16:8, Prv 17:1, Ecc 6:5
4:8 Ps 39:6; Prv 27:20; Ecc 1:8, Ecc 1:13, Ecc 5:10
4:9 Gn 2:18
4:10 1Sa 23:16; Ga 6:1
4:11 1Ki 1:1, 1Ki 1:2
5:2 Prv 20:25, Mt 6:7

<sup>a</sup>Possibly the youth of 4:13; or He emerged from prison to become king, even though he was born poor in the kingdom.
<sup>1</sup>4:17 in Heb <sup>m</sup>5:1 in Heb dead because the dead can no longer experience oppression. Even happier are those who never existed, because they don't see the terrible things that happen to victims or perpetrators. For the preferable state of death or nonexistence, see also Ecclesiastes 6:3-6; Job 3; Jeremiah 20:14-18. 4:1 The value of power and its use are ambiguous in Ecclesiastes 4:13-16.

4:2 Compare with Ecclesiastes 6:3.

4:3 under the sun: See Ecclesiastes 1:14.

4:4-16 The Teacher reflects on work (4:4-6) and companionship (4:7-12). A brief and confusing parable concludes the perception (4:13-16). In each case the relative benefits of skill, community, and wisdom are evaluated.

4:4 A stunning remark on competition in the workplace and life. If there's no net gain from hard work (Ecc 1:3; 2:11, 22; cf. Ecc 5:15), a person's drive to work hard and become good at what they do is pointless, just wind chasing (see Ecc 1:2, 14; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecc 1).

4:5-6 The Teacher isn't recommending laziness in Ecclesiastes 4:4, so he offers two clarifying proverbs. Folding the hands is an image for idleness (cf. Ecc 10:18; Prv 6:10-11; 24:33-34). The Teacher doesn't recommend laziness because it's the work of fools who have nothing to eat but their own flesh. At the same time, one shouldn't overwork, even if it is productive (two fistfuls), precisely because it's also pointless (chasing after wind). Better to rest, as long as one has secured what one needs (one handful).

4:7-12 The notion of overworking leads the Teacher to discuss individuals who work too hard all by themselves (utterly alone) without companions, siblings, or children (cf. notes on Ecc 2:1, 7). It turns out that the Teacher is really talking about himself (4:8).

4:7 under the sun: See Ecclesiastes 1:14. pointless: See Ecclesiastes 1:2; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1.

4:8 So for whom am I working so hard: The question echoes Ecclesiastes 2:15, though there it concerns excessive wisdom (cf. Ecc 7:16). and depriving myself of enjoyment?: Given the importance of enjoyment so far in the book (see notes on Ecc 2:24-26; 3:12-14, 22), the delay of joy and its replacement with overwork is completely pointless and a terrible obsession (see Ecc 1:13). For lack of satisfaction see also Ecclesiastes 1:8; 5:10; 6:7, 9.

4:9-12 In place of lonely excessive work, the Teacher commends companionship, even if only for pragmatic reasons. Two are better because they have a better return on their work, can help each other, can keep each other warm and safe. The Teacher discusses companionship elsewhere (Ecc 9:9; cf. Ecc 11:1-2), but it's often implied in the recommendations to eat and drink and enjoy, because meals and feasting were typically community events in ancient Israel (Deut 12:7; 14:26; 26:11).

4:12 three-ply cord: This may imply that three companions are even better than two, or it may be a proverbial statement that lends traditional weight to Ecclesiastes 4:9.

4:13-16 The meaning of the parable is unclear (see the translation note on 4:14). Fame and success are always temporary (note also the parable in Ecc 9:13-16).

5:1-7 God is in heaven, but you are on earth: Right conduct,

5:1 Job 11:2;
Prv 10:19;
Prv 15:2;
Ecc 10:14

your mouth or say anything hastily before God, because God is in heaven, but you are on earth. Therefore, let your words be few.

<sup>3</sup> Remember:

Dreams come with many cares, and the voice of fools with many words.

<sup>4</sup>When you make a promise to God, fulfill it without delay because God has no pleasure in fools. Fulfill what you promise. <sup>5</sup>Better not to make a promise than to make a promise without fulfilling it. <sup>6</sup>Don't let your mouth make a sinner of you, and don't say to the messenger: "It was a mistake!" Otherwise, God may become angry at such talk and destroy what you have accomplished.

<sup>7</sup> Remember:

When dreams multiply,
so do pointless thoughts and excessive speech.
Therefore, fear God.

5:5 Nm 30:2;
Dt 23:21;
Ps 50:14;
Ps 66:13;
Ps 76:11

5:6 Prv 20:25;
Ac 5:4

5:8 Nm 15:25;
Mal 2:7;
1Co 11:10;
Heb 1:14

5:7 Ecc 3:14;
Ecc 7:18;
Ecc 8:12;
Ecc 12:13

5:8 Ps 12:5;
Ecc 3:16; Ecc 4:1

5:9 Prv 27:23

5:10 Ecc 4:8;
Hab 2:5

5:12 Prv 3:24

5:18 Ecc 2:10;
Ecc 2:24;

Ecc 3:13;
Ecc 3:22; Ecc 9:7

Hoarding wealth

<sup>8</sup>If you witness the poor being oppressed or the violation of what is just and right in some territory, don't be surprised because a high official watches over another, and yet others stand over them. <sup>9</sup>But the land's yield should be for everyone if the field is cultivated. <sup>10</sup>The money lover isn't satisfied with money; neither is the lover of wealth satisfied with income. This too is pointless. <sup>11</sup>When good things flow, so do those who consume them. But what do owners benefit from such goods, except to feast their eyes on them? <sup>12</sup>Sweet is the worker's sleep, whether there's a lot or little to eat; but the excess of the wealthy won't let them sleep.

<sup>13</sup>I have seen a sickening tragedy under the sun: people hoard their wealth to their own detriment. <sup>14</sup>Then that wealth is lost in a bad business venture so that when they have children, they are left with nothing. <sup>15</sup>Just as they came from their mother's womb naked, naked they'll return, ending up just like they started. All their hard work produces nothing—nothing they can take with them. <sup>16</sup>This too is a sickening tragedy: they must pass on just as they arrived. What then do they gain from working so hard for wind? <sup>17</sup>What's more, they constantly eat in darkness, with much aggravation, grief, and anger.

<sup>18</sup>This is the one good thing I've seen: it's appropriate for people to eat, drink, and find enjoyment in all their hard work under the sun during the brief lifetime that God gives them especially in terms of speech, is the result of having a proper understanding of one's place in God's created order (cf. Ps 115:3). fear God: the sense of God's power and distance that leads to respect.

<sup>a</sup>Correction; Heb uncertain; or The land's advantage in everything is this: a king for a plowed field.

5:1-3 On restraint in speech, see also Proverbs 10:19. Fools are marked by excessive speech, a point that is underscored by the proverb in 5:3, which is further clarified in 5:7 (see also Ecc 10:12-14).

5:4-7 Fools are also marked by not doing what they say. The promise in question is religious. If one doesn't fulfill the solemn promise, it would be better to not have promised at all, because God may become angry at such talk and destroy what you have accomplished (5:6). The proverb in 5:7 reinforces the point. The ultimate right action is to fear God (5:7; see Ecc 3:14; 7:18; 8:12-13; 12:13).

5:8-17 Various problems associated with wealth and power. 5:8 The Teacher returns to the problem of oppression (see Ecc 4:1-3), but apparently ties it to the hierarchy in society and politics, which may reflect governmental structures at the time.

5:9 A very obscure verse (see the translation note). It may concern the merits of agriculture, or of a good ruler, or that the yield of a cultivated land belongs to all persons (as in the CEB translation).

5:10-12 No amount of money or stuff can ever satisfy (cf. Ecc 1:8; 4:8; 6:7, 9). The Teacher deems this pointless (see Ecc 1:2; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecc 1). Increase in good things brings an increase in consumption, but the more one has, the more there is to lose. Verse 12 is a proverb that underscores the previous verses. excess of the wealthy won't let them sleep: See Ecclesiastes 2:23; 8:16.

5:13-17 Additional downsides to hoarding wealth. Those who hoard can hurt themselves (cf. Ecc 5:11-12) and, since there are no guarantees in business, even great wealth could be lost, leaving children destitute. One dies as naked as one is born, ending up just like they started. Hard work produces nothing that survives death. This is the biblical equivalent of the contemporary aphorism, "you can't take it with you."

5:15 All their hard work produces nothing: an answer to Ecclesiastes 1:3 (cf. Ecc 2:11, 22), here with an explicit reference to death. See Ecclesiastes 2:18-21.

5:16 Here the hard work is defined as working hard for wind, which evokes the theme of wind chasing (see note on Ecc 1:14).

5:17 Compare with Ecclesiastes 2:23.

5:18-20 Another passage about joy (see Ecc 2:24-26; 3:12-13, 22; 7:14; 8:15; 9:7-10; 11:7-10). The Teacher introduces the theme by stating it is the one good thing I've seen and by deeming it appropriate. Once again, joy is the gift of God (cf. Ecc 2:24-26; 3:13; 8:15; 9:7, 9), but so is a person's brief lifetime and wealth and riches. Also new is that God because that's their lot in life. <sup>19</sup>Also, whenever God gives people wealth and riches and enables them to enjoy it, to accept their place in the world<sup>o</sup> and to find pleasure in their hard work—all this is God's gift. <sup>20</sup>Indeed, people shouldn't brood too much over the days of their lives because God gives an answer in their hearts' joy.

Controlled appetite

6 I saw a tragedy under the sun, and it weighs heavily upon humanity. <sup>2</sup>God may give some people plenty of wealth, riches, and glory so that they lack nothing they desire. But God doesn't enable them to enjoy it; instead, a stranger enjoys it. This is pointless and a sickening tragedy. <sup>3</sup>Some people may have one hundred children and live a long life. But no matter how long they live, if they aren't content with life's good things, I say that even a stillborn child with no grave is better off than they are.<sup>p</sup> <sup>4</sup>Because that child arrives pointlessly, then passes away in darkness. Darkness covers its name. <sup>5</sup>It hasn't seen the sun or experienced anything. But it has more peace than those <sup>6</sup>who live a thousand years twice over but don't enjoy life's good things. Isn't everyone heading to the same destination? <sup>7</sup>All the hard work of humans is for the mouth, but the appetite is never full. <sup>8</sup>What advantage do the wise have over the foolish? Or what do the poor gain by knowing how to conduct themselves before the living? <sup>9</sup>It's better to enjoy what's at hand than to have an insatiable appetite. This too is pointless, just wind chasing.

<sup>10</sup>Whatever happens has already been designated, and human beings are fully known. They can't contend with the one who is stronger than they are. <sup>11</sup>Because the more words gets credit for being the one who enables people to enjoy wealth and riches in the first place, to accept their place in the world and to find pleasure in their hard work. In Ecclesiastes 6:1-2, the Teacher points out that this isn't always the case.

<sup>o</sup>Or portion in life, as in 5:18 <sup>p</sup>Correction; Heb puts the lack of burial site with those who do not enjoy life's good things.

5:18 enjoyment in all their hard work: See note on Ecclesiastes 2:24.

5:19 place in the world: See the translation note. The same word is found in Ecclesiastes 5:18 and translated "their lot in life."

5:20 gives an answer: or "keeps them occupied" or "keeps them busy" (the same root word is used in Eccl 1:13; 3:10; 10:19). "Gives an answer" is more positive and connects with the overall emphasis in Ecclesiastes on joy as the gift of God. This God-given joy means people shouldn't brood too much over the days of their lives. But see also Ecclesiastes 6:1-2.

6:1-9 The Teacher deals with the tragedy of not enjoying life's good things.

6:1-2 In contrast to the earlier passages about joy (especially Eccl 5:19), where God enabled the capacity for enjoyment, here the Teacher considers a situation where God doesn't enable delight. He calls this a tragedy under the sun, something that weighs heavily upon humanity. The goods are still God-given and exist in abundance, but they are enjoyed by a stranger. It may be that the situation is like Ecclesiastes 2:18-19—namely, that the stranger in question is simply an unknown heir. But the Teacher nevertheless implicates God in prohibiting joy, which hasn't happened before in the book. Once again, the Teacher concludes that this lack of joy is pointless (see sidebar, "Pointless" at Eccl 1) and a sickening tragedy (cf. Eccl 2:17, 21).

6:3-6 The issue isn't the extent of one's life but contentment with one's life. According to Ecclesiastes 6:2, such contentment could be prohibited by God as much as it might be enabled by God (see Eccl 5:19).

6:3 See the translation note; the grave remark might go with those who don't enjoy life's blessings. Lack of a good burial was a negative fate in the ancient world (cf. Eccl 8:10; 2 Kgs 9:33-37; Jer 16:6; 22:18-19; Amos 2:1). stillborn child: Compare with Ecclesiastes 4:2-3; Job 3; Psalm 58:8. As pointless (Eccl 6:4; 1:2; see sidebar, "Pointless" at Eccl 1) and dark as such a birth is, such a child "has more peace" (Eccl 6:5) than those who live 2,000 years without enjoying life's good things (Eccl 6:5-6). On the benefits of not experiencing things done under the sun, see also Ecclesiastes 4:3.

6:6 the same destination: See Ecclesiastes 2:14-15; 3:20; 7:2.

6:7 See Ecclesiastes 1:8; 4:8; 5:10; 6:9.

6:8 See Ecclesiastes 2:13; 4:12-16; 9:18-10:1 for the relative merits of wisdom. The question is answered in Ecclesiastes 7:11-12. the poor: See Ecclesiastes 4:13-16; 9:13-16.

6:9 what's at hand . . . insatiable appetite: See Ecclesiastes 1:8; 4:6, 8; 5:10; 6:7. This too is pointless, just wind chasing:

See Ecclesiastes 1:2, 14; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1. It's not clear what this refers to, though it's presumably not advice about enjoyment in 6:9a (cf. Eccl 6:2) but perhaps the problem of having an insatiable appetite. This is the last mention of wind chasing in Ecclesiastes. That phrase and its distribution in the first half of the book are often used as a device to break the book into two halves (Eccl 1:1-6:9; 6:10-12:14). If correct, 6:9b may be a summarizing statement for the first part of the Teacher's reflections.

6:10-12 An introduction to the second half of the book (see note on Eccl 6:9), which is dominated by the themes of not knowing (Eccl 6:12; 7:14; 8:7; 9:1b, 12; 10:14; 11:2, 6).

6:10 Whatever happens has already been designated: See Ecclesiastes 1:9; 2:12b; 3:15a. human beings are fully known: by God (see Eccl 3:11, 15b), especially since the one who is stronger than they are is probably an allusion to God (see notes on Eccl 8:2-4; 10:5-7).

6:11 A comparison with Ecclesiastes 5:1-7 underscores

7:1 Prv 22:1;
Ecc 4:2; Song 1:2
7:2 Job 5:17;
Job 23:10;
Ps 90:12;
Ecc 2:14;
Zec 13:9

7:3 Prv 14:13;
Ecc 2:2;
2Co 7:10

7:4 1Ki 20:16;
Mt 8:14;
Mk 5:38

7:7 Ex 23:8;
Dt 16:19;
Prv 17:8;
Prv 17:23;
Ecc 4:1

7:8 Prv 14:29;
Prv 16:32

7:9 Prv 14:17;
Prv 16:32;
Mt 5:22; Jas 1:19

7:11 Ecc 11:7

7:12 Prv 3:18;
Prv 8:35;
Ecc 10:19

increase, the more everything is pointless. What do people gain by it? <sup>12</sup>Because who knows what's good for human beings during life, during their brief pointless life, which will pass away like a shadow? Who can say what the future holds for people under the sun?

Wisdom is better than wealth

7 A good name is better than fine oil, and the day of death better than the birthday.

<sup>2</sup>It is better to go to a house in mourning than to a house party, because that is everyone's destiny;
and the living should take it to heart.

<sup>3</sup>Aggravation is better than merriment because a sad face may lead to a glad heart.

<sup>4</sup>The wise heart is in the house that mourns, but the foolish heart is in the house that rejoices.

<sup>5</sup>It is better to obey the reprimand of the wise than to listen to the song of fools,

<sup>6</sup>because the fool's merriment is like nettles crackling under a kettle.
That too is pointless.

<sup>7</sup>Oppression turns the wise into fools;
a bribe corrupts the heart.

<sup>8</sup>The end of something is better than its beginning.
Patience is better than arrogance.

<sup>9</sup>Don't be too quick to get angry because anger lives in the fool's heart.

<sup>10</sup>Don't ask, "How is it that the former days were better than these?"
because it isn't wise to ask this.

<sup>11</sup>Wisdom is as good as<sup>a</sup> an inheritance—an advantage for those who see the sun.

<sup>12</sup>Wisdom's protection is like the protection of money;
the advantage of knowledge is that wisdom preserves the lives of its possessors.

<sup>a</sup>Or Wisdom is good with that the Teacher's language in Ecclesiastes 6:10-12 relates to God. pointless . . . gain: See notes on Ecclesiastes 1:2-3.

6:12 who knows . . . Who can say: As in Ecclesiastes 3:22, the implied answer is "no one," with the exception of God. Lack of knowledge about what is good means that the enjoyment of good things is ultimately God's work (see Eccl 3:1-15; 6:1-2). pointless life: Compare with Ecclesiastes 6:4; 7:1-5; 9:9. say what the future holds: See Ecclesiastes 7:14; 8:7; 9:1b, 12; 10:14; 11:2, 6.

7:1-12 A collection of proverbs where the Teacher recommends unexpected things—for example, the day of death over a birthday (7:1) or mourning over rejoicing (7:4). Wisdom is good (7:11) and can be distinguished from foolishness (7:4-6), but here, as elsewhere (e.g., Eccl 2:13-14; 6:8; 9:18-10:1), the Teacher thinks the merits of wisdom are relative. Wisdom helps us realize that life has limits, and that the end of life in death is certain (7:1-2, 4, 8; cf. Eccl 9:10; 11:8, 10; 12:1, 7). The proverbs in chapter 7 thus balance the passages about joy in the book (Eccl 2:24-26; 3:12-13, 22; 5:18-20; 7:14; 8:15; 9:7-10; 11:7-10), showing that the sayings about joy are sober and substantive, not flighty or superficial.

7:1 Compare with Ecclesiastes 7:8.

7:2 that is everyone's destiny: Compare with Ecclesiastes

3:20. the living should take it to heart: See Ecclesiastes 9:5.

7:6 like nettles crackling: an odd image, perhaps signifying heat but no light, sound but no sense. pointless: See sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1.

7:7 Compare with Ecclesiastes 4:1-2.

7:8 Compare with Ecclesiastes 7:1.

7:9 The Teacher frequently counsels moderation and prudence (see Eccl 5:1-7; 7:8; 8:2-4).

7:10 it isn't wise to ask this: perhaps because of the cyclical nature of the world (Eccl 1:9a; 3:15a), which insures that there's nothing new under the sun (Eccl 1:9b).

7:11-12 These verses provide an answer to Ecclesiastes 6:8, and 7:1-12 as a whole suggests at least some advantage (Eccl 6:8; 7:12) for those who are wise. But the advantage is not as expected (see note on Eccl 7:1-12).

7:11 The translation is uncertain (see the translation note for an alternative).

7:12 In light of the comparison with money, the advantage of knowledge is relative and is concerned with preserving life, perhaps because foolishness ends in ruin (Eccl 4:5; 7:17; 10:12). Being wise won't prevent death (Eccl 2:15-16; 7:2; 8:8), and so any advantage is severely restricted to this life (Eccl 7:11; 9:5).

Good times and bad

<sup>13</sup>Consider God's work! Who can straighten what God has made crooked? <sup>14</sup>When times are good, enjoy the good; when times are bad, consider: God has made the former as well as the latter so that people can't discover anything that will come to be after them.

<sup>15</sup>I have seen everything in my pointless lifetime: the righteous person may die in spite of their righteousness; then again, the wicked may live long in spite of their wickedness. <sup>16</sup>Don't be too righteous or too wise, or you may be dumbfounded.* <sup>17</sup>Don't be too wicked and don't be a fool, or you may die before your time. <sup>18</sup>It's good that you take hold of one of these without letting go of the other because the one who fears God will go forth with both.

<sup>19</sup>Wisdom makes a wise person stronger than ten rulers who are in a city. <sup>20</sup>Remember: there's no one on earth so righteous as to do good only and never make a mistake.* <sup>21</sup>Don't worry about all the things people say, so you don't hear your servant cursing you. <sup>22</sup>After all, you know that you've often cursed others yourself!

Life is complicated

<sup>23</sup>I tested all of this by wisdom. I thought, I will be wise, but it eluded me.

<sup>24</sup>All that happens is elusive and utterly unfathomable. Who can grasp it? <sup>25</sup>I turned my mind to know, to investigate, and to seek wisdom, along with an account of things, to know that wickedness is foolishness and folly is madness.

<sup>26</sup>I found one woman more bitter than death: she who is a trap, her heart a snare, her hands shackles. Anyone who pleases God escapes her, but a sinner is trapped by her. <sup>27</sup>See, this is

*Or destroyed *Or and never sin

7:13 Job 12:14;
Ecc 1:15;
Is 14:27
7:16 Ro 12:3;
1Co 3:18
7:17 Job 22:16;
Prv 10:27
7:20 1Ki 8:46;
2Ch 6:36;
Ps 14:3; Prv 20:9;
Ro 3:23
7:21 Prv 30:10
7:23 Ecc 3:11;
Ecc 8:17;
Ro 1:22
7:24 Job 11:7;
Job 11:8;
Job 28:12;
Ps 139:6;
Ro 11:33
7:25 Ecc 1:17;
Ecc 2:12
7:26 Prv 2:16;
Prv 5:3;
Prv 22:14

7:13-22 Counsels moderation in various matters: righteousness and wickedness, good times and bad.
7:13 See note on Ecclesiastes 1:15.

7:14 enjoy the good: one of the Teacher's several recommendations to enjoy life (Ecc 2:24-26; 3:12-13, 22; 5:18-20; 8:15; 9:7-10; 11:7-10), though this one is abbreviated and muted. On God's absolute control, see Ecclesiastes 11:5. so that people can't discover: See Ecclesiastes 3:11; 8:17; 11:5. anything that will come to be after them: See Ecclesiastes 6:12; 8:7; 9:1b, 12; 10:14; 11:2, 6.

7:15 I have seen everything: The Teacher is either exaggerating here (cf. Ecc 8:9, 16-17) or making the point that everything in life repeats (cf. Ecc 1:9). pointless lifetime: See Ecclesiastes 1:2; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1; for "pointless life," see Ecclesiastes 6:12; 9:9. the righteous person may die... the wicked may live long: The Teacher challenges simplistic understandings of any cause-effect relationship between righteousness and longevity (or prosperity; cf. Ecc 8:10-12, 14; 10:5-7) and wickedness and punishment (Ecc 8:11-14). Compare with Psalm 37:25-29.

7:16-18 The Teacher cautions moderation in life, which is similar to ancient Aristotle's advice about "the golden mean," which is to find the desirable middle between two extremes.

7:16 Perhaps because being too righteous or too wise would gain too much attention, which can have unfortunate results from both human (Ecc 5:11) and divine (Job 1:8; 2:3) sides. be dumbfounded: or "destroyed" (see the translation note) may be preferable in light of die before your time in Ecclesiastes 7:17.

7:17 Avoid extreme wickedness and foolishness. As in Ecclesiastes 7:16, it seems best not to attract too much negative attention—in this case probably from God.

7:18 fears God: See Ecclesiastes 3:14; 5:7; 8:12-13; 12:13. The attitude is proper reverence and awe (see Ecc 5:2; 11:9; 12:1). will go forth with both: evidently righteousness and wickedness, or the wisdom and foolishness mentioned in Ecclesiastes 7:16-17—again in moderation. The Teacher's preference for wisdom (e.g., Ecc 7:19) means that these items aren't held in perfect balance (see Ecc 8:8b) but are nevertheless held together given the realities of life (Ecc 7:20) and employed prudently (see Ecc 8:5b). See Ecclesiastes 7:21-22.

7:19-20 Wisdom retains merit, but not even righteousness is foolproof. make a mistake: or "sin."

7:21-22 An example of moderation, here in response to hearing someone speak badly about oneself (cf. Ecc 10:20).

7:23-8:1 The Teacher steps back and evaluates his quest for wisdom (7:23-25) before abruptly turning to comment on a woman more bitter than death (7:26-28) and then returning to the problem of wisdom (7:29-8:1).

7:23 I tested all this by wisdom: Compare with Ecclesiastes 1:13. I will be wise: Compare with Ecclesiastes 8:1. it eluded me: or "was distant" (cf. Ecc 8:17).

7:24 The problem of knowing is defined not in terms of pointlessness but mystery or distance (see note on Ecc 7:23). Who can grasp it?: another rhetorical question that implies the negative answer, "no one." For explicit answers, see Ecclesiastes 8:7, 17.

7:25 Compare with the Teacher's method in Ecclesiastes 1:13, 17; 2:12.

7:26-28 Because these verses fit within the Teacher's quest for wisdom (see note on Ecc 7:23-8:1), the woman in question here probably isn't a real person but a representation of Woman Wisdom as a person (e.g., Prov 1:20-33) or of Woman Folly (e.g., Prov 9:13-18) or even both. If the language does call to mind Woman Wisdom, it's a stunning reversal of Proverbs and a profound critique of the search for wisdom. See Ecclesiastes 1:13, 17-18; 8:17; 12:12.

7:26 The language is very similar to the representation of foolishness as a person in Proverbs 2:16-19; 7:5-27; 9:13-18. The person clearly isn't a real woman, given these connections. pleases God... sinner is trapped: Avoiding her is put in religious terms. For a more positive image of women, see Ecclesiastes 9:9.

7:27 the Teacher: This verse is an insertion by the

7:28 1Ki 11:3;
Job 33:23
7:29 Gn 1:27
8:1 Ex 34:30;
Dt 28:50; Ac 6:15
8:5 Prv 17:24;
Ecc 12:13

what I found, says the Teacher, examining one matter after another to account for things.

<sup>28</sup>But there's something that I constantly searched for but couldn't find: I found one man among a thousand, but I couldn't find a woman among any of these.†

<sup>29</sup>See, this alone I found: God made human beings straightforward, but they search for many complications.

8 Who is wise? And who knows the meaning of anything?

A person's wisdom brightens the expression;
it changes the hardness of someone's face.

Watch out for power

<sup>2</sup>Keep<sup>a</sup> the king's command as you would keep a solemn pledge.

<sup>3</sup>Don't be dismayed; leave his presence.
Don't linger in a harmful situation because he can do whatever he wants!

<sup>4</sup>Because the king's word has authority, no one can say to him, "What are you doing?"

<sup>5</sup>Whoever keeps a command will meet no harm, and the wise heart knows the right time and the right way <sup>6</sup>because there's a right time and right way for every matter. But human misfortunes are overwhelming <sup>7</sup>because no one knows what will happen, and no one can say when something might happen. <sup>8</sup>No one has control over the life-breath,‡ to retain it, and there's no control over the day of death. There's no release from war, and wickedness won't deliver those who practice it.

<sup>9</sup>I observed all of this as I paid attention to all that happens under the sun. Sometimes people exercise power over each other to their detriment. <sup>10</sup>Then I saw the wicked brought to their graves, with people processing from a holy place,¶ while those who had lived honestly were neglected in the city. This too is pointless.

†Heb uncertain ‡Correction; Heb I (say?) keep ¶Or wind ¶¶Or temple

editor responsible for the framework of the book, since it speaks of the Teacher in the third person. See note on Ecclesiastes 1:1.

7:28 found one man... couldn't find a woman: The meaning is uncertain because we don't know on what basis the search is conducted, though the verse implies that women are inferior at something. It may be related to the problem of Woman Wisdom and/or Woman Folly in Ecclesiastes 7:26, in which case again it isn't about real women but the problem of wisdom and/or foolishness. See Ecclesiastes 9:9 for a more positive image of women.

7:29 In contrast to other passages (e.g., Eccl 1:15; 3:11; 6:2; 7:13-14), the problems faced by human beings in this verse are not created by God. complications: The same word, but in the singular form, is used in Ecclesiastes 7:25 ("an account of things"), 7:27 ("to account for things"), and 9:10 ("thought").

8:1 The Teacher concludes this unit as he began, indicating that wisdom is elusive (Eccl 7:23; cf. Eccl 8:17). Yet wisdom continues to give at least some benefit—in this verse, by softening our facial expressions. Perhaps that is a hint of additional, more substantial benefits.

8:2-14 This chapter consists of reflections about power and right, or wrongdoing.

8:2-4 The language concerns proper conduct before a king, but could also be referring to God in a disguised fashion (cf. Eccl 6:10; 10:5). If this is about God, compare with Ecclesiastes 5:1-7.

8:5-6 command: a different term than Ecclesiastes 8:2, but the same as in Ecclesiastes 12:13 ("commands"). will meet no harm: an unusually confident claim for the Teacher (contrast with Eccl 9:11). knows the right time and the right way: Wisdom excels in prudence (cf. Eccl 8:5-6; Eccl 3:1-11, which concludes that ultimately only God knows the times). right way: See the same term in Ecclesiastes 3:16; 5:8, which showed that one can't assume that justice will triumph (cf. Eccl 11:9; 12:14). human misfortunes: problems of various sorts, including the problem of death (Eccl 8:8; 9:11-12).

8:7 Answers the question of Ecclesiastes 7:24. On the theme of not knowing, see also Ecclesiastes 6:12; 7:14; 9:1b, 12; 10:14; 11:2, 6.

8:8 life-breath: or "wind." "Life-breath" brings to mind the issue of death (Eccl 3:19, 21; 11:5; 12:7; though also life: Eccl 11:5), but "wind" would call to mind the theme of wind-chasing (Eccl 1:14, 17; 2:11, 17, 26; 4:4, 6, 16; 6:9; cf. Eccl 5:15; 11:4). no control over the day of death: Compare with Ecclesiastes 2:14-17; 3:2, 19-20. no release from war: The certainty of death is similar to the constraints of war. Perhaps conscription (or forced enrollment) is intended (cf. Eccl 8:2, 5 on royal/divine commands). wickedness won't deliver: Compare with Ecclesiastes 7:15-18.

8:9 all of this: Compare with Ecclesiastes 7:15; 8:16-17. exercise power... to their detriment: Compare with Ecclesiastes 4:1-3. under the sun: See Ecclesiastes 1:3.

8:10 Despite the absurdities of life, the Teacher is still bothered when the wicked are honored in death while honest people are neglected. It's precisely circumstances like these that lead him to conclude This too is pointless (see sidebar, "Pointless" at Eccl 1). brought to their graves: See note on Ecclesiastes 6:3.

R:11 Ps 50:21;
Ecc 9:3; Is 26:10;
Ro 2:4, Ro 2:5
O:14 Job 21:7;
Ecc 7:15;
Jer 12:1
8:15 Ecc 2:1,
Ecc 2:24,
Ecc 3:12,
Ecc 5:18, Ecc 9:7
9:2 Job 21:7;
Ecc 2:14
9:3 Ecc 8:11
9:4 Is 38:18

<sup>11</sup>The condemnation for wicked acts isn't carried out quickly; that's why people dare to do evil. <sup>12</sup>Wrongdoers may commit a hundred crimes but still live long lives. But I also know that it will go well for those who fear God, for those who are reverent before God. <sup>13</sup>But it will not go well for the wicked; they won't live long at all because they aren't reverent before God. <sup>14</sup>Here's another thing that happens on earth that is pointless: the righteous get what the wicked deserve, and the wicked get what the righteous deserve. I say that this too is pointless.

Enjoy life

<sup>15</sup>So I commend enjoyment because there's nothing better for people to do under the sun but to eat, drink, and be glad. This is what will accompany them in their hard work, during the lifetime that God gives under the sun.

<sup>16</sup>Then I set my mind to know wisdom and to observe the business that happens on earth, even going without sleep day and night <sup>17</sup>I observed all the work of God—that no one can grasp what happens under the sun. Those who strive to know can't grasp it. Even the wise who are set on knowing are unable to grasp it.

Everyone faces the same fate

Go I considered all of this carefully, examining all of it: The righteous and the wise and their deeds are in God's hand, along with both love and hate. People don't know anything that's ahead of them. <sup>2</sup>Everything is the same for everyone. The same fate awaits the righteous and the wicked, the good and the bad,<sup>3</sup> the pure and the impure, those who sacrifice and those who don't sacrifice. The good person is like the wrongdoer; the same holds for those who make solemn pledges and those who are afraid to swear. <sup>3</sup>This is the sad thing about all that happens under the sun: the same fate awaits everyone. Moreover, the human heart is full of evil; people's minds are full of madness while they are alive, and afterward they die. <sup>4</sup>Whoever is among the living can be certain about this. A living dog is definitely better off than a dead lion, <sup>5</sup>because the living know that they will die. But the dead know nothing at all. There is no more reward for them; even the memory of them is lost.

<sup>a</sup>LXX

8:11-14 Once again (e.g., Eccl 7:15), the Teacher challenges the relationship between an action and its consequence (8:11-12a), before he seems to contradict himself (8:12b-13). If verse 14 is his ultimate conclusion, then there's no direct relationship between righteousness and prosperity. 8:11 Delay of punishment leads to increased wrongdoing. But see Ecclesiastes 8:12b-13.

8:12a The long life of some wrongdoers proves that punishment is frequently delayed.

8:12b-13 Seems to contradict 8:11-12a directly. Perhaps the Teacher is quoting a traditional statement only to refute it definitively in Ecclesiastes 8:14. Or perhaps he is hopeful at this point (see note on Eccl 8:5-6). Or he has shifted the topic since he now includes reference to the fear of God (see Eccl 3:14; 5:7; 7:18; 12:13) and having reverence before God (here explicitly contrasted with wickedness). For God's judgment, see Ecclesiastes 3:17; 11:9; 12:14.

8:14 pointless: See sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1. The righteous get what the wicked deserve. Compare with Ecclesiastes 3:16.

8:15-17 Another passage about joy is followed by a realistic assessment of the limits of knowledge and wisdom.

8:15 See Ecclesiastes 2:24-26; 3:12-13, 22; 5:18-20; 7:14; 9:7-10; 11:7-10. The Teacher explicitly says I commend enjoyment. Eating, drinking, and being glad are what will accompany humans in their hard work (see Eccl 2:24).

8:16 The Teacher continues his quest. See Ecclesiastes 1:13-18; 2:12; 7:23. even going without sleep: a rhetorical flourish or ironic statement (cf. Eccl 7:15; 8:9, 17). For lack of sleep, see also Ecclesiastes 2:23; 5:12.

8:17 I observed all the work of God: another overstatement or ironic remark (see Eccl 7:15; 8:9, 16), especially in light of Ecclesiastes 3:11; 7:14. no one can grasp: explicitly answers the question of Ecclesiastes 7:24. under the sun: See note on Ecclesiastes 1:3. Even the wise: a stunning critique of Wisdom and the wisdom project by an insider who is himself a sage (Eccl 12:9). It is the logical conclusion to be derived from Ecclesiastes 3:11 and 7:14.

9:1-10 The Teacher summarizes his quest, including the problems of not knowing and death, before once again recommending enjoyment.

9:1 So I considered ... examining all of it: See notes on Ecclesiastes 1:13; 7:15, 23; 8:9, 16-17. in God's hand, along with both love and hate: The meaning of this phrase is unclear. People don't know anything that's ahead of them: See Ecclesiastes 6:12; 7:14; 8:7; 9:10; 10:14; 11:2, 6. The immediate context suggests the time of death (see Eccl 9:2; cf. Eccl 8:7-8).

9:2-3 The same fate: namely death (9:3, 5-6; see Eccl 2:14-16; 3:19-20; 6:6; 7:2). The same fate faces all, despite their merits or demerits. The Teacher deems this a sad thing ... that happens under the sun (see Eccl 1:3; cf. Eccl 2:17-18, 20-21). His despair over it leads to a remarkably negative statement about the human heart being full of evil and people's minds being full of madness while they are alive. Note a similar progression in Ecclesiastes 2:20-23.

9:4-6 Despite the brutality of the preceding verse, the Teacher says that it's better to be alive. But the advantage is minimal: The living are compared to dogs, not lions. Dogs didn't have the same respect as lions in antiquity. So the benefit is only that the living know that they will die. This is contrasted with the dead who know nothing at all.

9:7 Ecc 2:24,
Ecc 3:13,
Ecc 5:18,
Ecc 8:15
9:8 Ru 3:3;
Rev 3:4
9:10 Ps 6:5;
Ecc 9:5, 16, 38; 18;
In 9:4; Ro 12:11
9:11 Ecc 2:14;
Jer 9:23;
Am 2:14
9:12 Prv 7:23,
Prv 29:6,
Ecc 8:9;
Lk 21:34;
1Th 5:3
9:16 Prv 21:22;
Ecc 7:19
9:17 Ecc 10:12
10:1 Ex 30:25;
Prv 13:16,
Prv 14:8
10:2 Ecc 2:14,
Ecc 10:10

<sup>a</sup>Their love and their hate, as well as their zeal, are already long gone. They will never again have a stake in all that happens under the sun.

<sup>7</sup>Go, eat your food joyfully and drink your wine happily because God has already accepted what you do. <sup>8</sup>Let your garments always be white; don't run short of oil for your head. <sup>9</sup>Enjoy life with your dearly loved spouse all the days of your pointless life that God<sup>7</sup> gives you under the sun—all the days of your pointless life!<sup>8</sup>—because that's your part to play<sup>a</sup> in this life and in your hard work under the sun. <sup>10</sup>Whatever you are capable of doing, do with all your might because there's no work, thought, knowledge, or wisdom in the grave,<sup>b</sup> which is where you are headed.

Listen to common wisdom, not fools

<sup>11</sup>I also observed under the sun that the race doesn't always go to the swift, nor the battle to the mighty, nor food to the wise, nor wealth to the intelligent, nor favor to the knowledgeable, because accidents can happen to anyone. <sup>12</sup>People most definitely don't know when their time will come. Like fish tragically caught in a net or like birds trapped in a snare, so are human beings caught in a time of tragedy that suddenly falls to them.

<sup>13</sup>I also observed the following example of wisdom under the sun—it impressed me greatly: <sup>14</sup>There was a small town with only a few residents. A mighty king came against it, surrounded it, and waged a terrible war against it. <sup>15</sup>Now there lived in that town a poor but wise man who saved everyone by his wisdom. But no one remembered that poor man. <sup>16</sup>So I thought, Wisdom is better than might, but the wisdom of commoners is despised and their words aren't heeded.

<sup>17</sup>The calm words of the wise are better heeded than the racket caused by a ruler among fools.

<sup>18</sup>Wisdom is better than weapons of war, but one incompetent person destroys much good.

10 As dead flies spoil the perfumer's oil, so a little folly outweighs wisdom and honor.

<sup>2</sup>The mind of the wise tends toward the right, but the mind of the fool toward the left.

<sup>7</sup>Or he or that are given you <sup>a</sup>This phrase is missing in some LXX sources, Syr, and Tg. <sup>a</sup>Or portion <sup>b</sup>Or underworld; Heb Sheol

They have no more reward (cf. the same term in Eccl 4:9) and even the memory of them is lost (cf. Eccl 1:11; 2:16). The benefit of knowing that one must die (see Eccl 7:2)—but not when one will die (see Eccl 8:7-8; 9:11-12)—is evidently that one can enjoy life while one has it (see Eccl 9:7-10; 3:12b, 22; 5:18, 20; 7:14a; 8:15; 11:8-10).

9:7-10 Another passage about joy (see Eccl 2:24-26; 3:12-13, 22; 5:18-20; 7:14; 8:15; 11:7-10). The Teacher directly addresses the reader using a string of commands (go, eat, drink, enjoy, do) and verbs with similar sense (Let your garments always be white; don't run short of oil). The joy that's recommended here is justified by the statement that God has already accepted what you do. This may refer to the inevitable structure of life: an order to the world that is determined by God even if it can't be understood by humans (see Eccl 1:4-11; 3:1-15; 7:14). But it is more likely related to the fact that the Teacher repeatedly states that the opportunity and experience of joy is the gift of God (Eccl 2:24-26; 3:13; 5:18-19; 7:14; 8:15; 9:9). The Teacher reminds readers of the basic problems of our limitations by repeating key terms ("pointless life," "under the sun," "hard work") and clarifying their final destination ("the grave . . . where you are headed"). Compare with Ecclesiastes 3:20; 6:6; 7:2.

9:8 garments . . . be white . . . oil for your head: Clean clothes and good hygiene may be the point, but the language is also linked to purity and anointment, which are religious practices.

9:9 dearly loved spouse: a positive image in contrast to Ecclesiastes 7:28 (cf. Eccl 4:9-12; 11:1-2 for companionship).

pointless life: See Ecclesiastes 6:12; 7:15; sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1. under the sun . . . hard work: See Ecclesiastes 1:3.

9:10 See Ecclesiastes 9:5-6; notes on 9:4-6; 9:7-10.

9:11-10:20 The Teacher returns to the interaction of wisdom and folly, recommending wisdom, though it's far from being "fool proof" (see 9:18; 10:1).

9:11-12 There's no guarantee that good causes lead to good results. People . . . don't know when their time will come: Compare with Ecclesiastes 6:12; 7:14; 8:7; 9:1b; 10:14; 11:2, 6. their time may be the time of accidents (9:11), or a time of tragedy, or any of the seasons of life (Eccl 3:1-8), which would include the time of death (Eccl 3:2).

9:13-16 A perplexing parable that is reminiscent of Ecclesiastes 4:13-16 and further supported by two proverbs in Ecclesiastes 9:17-18.

9:15 poor but wise: See Ecclesiastes 4:13. But no one remembered: Compare with Ecclesiastes 4:15-16 and, more generally, Ecclesiastes 1:11.

9:16 Once again, wisdom is superior in some ways, but there is no guarantee that it will pay off in the long run (see Eccl 2:14; 9:18-10:1).

9:17-18 Two proverbs support the parable of Ecclesiastes 9:13-16.

10:1 See Ecclesiastes 9:18.

10:2-3 Despite the power of even a little foolishness (Eccl 9:18-10:1), it's still possible to distinguish the wise from the fool, with the latter clearly an unattractive option (cf. Eccl 10:15). toward the right: The right hand often represented wisdom, strength, and favor.

- <sup>3</sup>Fools lack all sense even when they walk down the street; they show everyone that they are fools.
- <sup>4</sup>If a ruler's temper rises against you, don't leave your post, because calmness alleviates great offenses.
- <sup>5</sup>There's an evil that I have seen under the sun: the kind of mistake that comes from people in power. <sup>6</sup>Fools are appointed to high posts, while the rich sit in lowly positions. <sup>7</sup>I have seen slaves on horseback, while princes walk on foot like slaves.
- <sup>8</sup>Whoever digs a pit may fall into it, and whoever breaks through a wall may be bitten by a snake.
- <sup>9</sup>Whoever quarries stones may be injured by them; whoever splits logs may be endangered by them.
- <sup>10</sup>If an ax is dull and one doesn't sharpen it first, then one must exert more force. It's profitable to be skillful and wise.
- <sup>11</sup>If a snake bites before it's charmed, then there's no profit for the snake charmer.
- <sup>12</sup>Words from a wise person's mouth are beneficial, but fools are devoured by their own lips.
- <sup>13</sup>Fools start out talking foolishness and end up speaking awful nonsense.
- <sup>14</sup>Fools talk too much! No one knows what will happen; no one can say what will happen in the future.
- <sup>15</sup>The hard work of fools tires them out because they don't even know the way to town!
- <sup>16</sup>Too bad for you, land, whose king is a boy and whose princes feast in the morning.
- <sup>17</sup>Happy is the land whose king is dignified and whose princes feast at the right time for energy, not for drunkenness.
- <sup>18</sup>Through laziness, the roof sags; through idle hands, the house leaks.
- <sup>19</sup>Feasts are made for laughter, wine cheers the living, and money answers everything.<sup>c</sup>
- <sup>20</sup>Don't curse a king even in private; don't curse the rich in your bedroom, because a bird could carry your voice; some winged creature could report what you said!

Take risks; life is short

11 Send your bread out on the water because, in the course of time, you may find it again. <sup>2</sup>Give a portion to seven people, even to eight: you don't know what disaster

<sup>c</sup>Or money is everyone's answer.

10:4 For care with those in power, see Ecclesiastes 8:2-4. calmness: Compare with Ecclesiastes 9:17.

10:5-7 The Teacher is again frustrated over the muddled nature of things (Eccl 3:16; 7:15; 8:10). people in power. In Hebrew, this is singular, "the one in power," which may echo the ruler of Ecclesiastes 10:4 or refer in a veiled way to God (as in Eccl 6:10; 8:2-4).

10:8-9 Proverbs that echo the sentiment of Ecclesiastes 9:11-12.

10:10-11 Proverbs that suggest, despite all that has been said before, it is nevertheless profitable to be skillful and wise. profitable: the same word often translated as "gain" (Eccl 1:3).

10:12-15 Affirmation of the profitability of wisdom by discussing the dangers of foolishness.

10:12 Compare with Ecclesiastes 4:5.

10:13 Compare with Ecclesiastes 5:1-7.

10:14 No one knows what will happen: See Ecclesiastes 6:12; 7:14; 8:7; 9:1b, 12; 11:2, 6.

10:15 See Ecclesiastes 10:3.

10:16-18 Prudence seems to be the point of these proverbs. See also Ecclesiastes 8:5b-6a.

10:19 money answers everything: This seems out of place (cf. Eccl 4:8; 5:10, 13-14; 7:12). See the translation note. Yet another translation could be "money preoccupies everyone."

10:20 Compare with Ecclesiastes 7:21-22 and the Teacher's advice regarding those in power (Eccl 8:2-4; 10:4).

11:1-10 In the final reflections before the closing poem, the Teacher discusses what one should do, given the brevity of life. This involves charity, taking risks while working wisely, and enjoying life while one can.

11:1-2 Ancient Near Eastern parallels, especially from Egypt, indicate that the metaphor of sending bread out on the water is based in charity toward others. Such charity may result in benefits later. Seven people... eight: a progression meaning a significant amount, you don't know. See Ecclesiastes 6:12; 7:14; 8:7; 9:1b, 12; 10:14; 11:6. In this case not knowing the future leads to a diversification of

10:4 1Sa 25:24; Prv 15:1, Prv 16:14, Prv 25:15; Ecc 8:3

10:5 Ecc 3:16, Ecc 4:1, Ecc 5:6

10:8 Ps 7:15; Prv 26:27; Am 5:19

10:11 Ps 58:4, Ps 58:5; Jer 8:17

10:13 Prv 29:11; Ecc 5:3

10:15 Is 35:8

10:16 Is 3:4, Is 3:12, Is 5:11

10:17 Prv 31:4; Is 5:11

10:18 Prv 24:30

10:20 Ex 22:28; Lk 12:3; Ac 23:5

11:1 Prv 11:25, Prv 19:17; Is 32:20; Heb 6:10

11:2 Ps 112:9; Lk 6:30; 1Ti 6:18

11:3 Job 26:8;
Job 36:27;
Ps 77:17;
Is 55:10;
2Pt 2:17
11:4 Ecc 11:6;
Is 32:20; Mt 13:3
11:5 Ecc 8:17;
In 3:8

11:7 Ecc 7:11
11:9 Job 31:7;
Ecc 2:10;
Ecc 3:17;
Ecc 12:14;
Ro 14:10

11:10 2Co 7:1;
2Ti 2:22
12:1 Ecc 11:8
12:1 2Sa 19:35;
Ps 104:12;
Song 2:12;
Jer 25:10

12:5 Job 17:13;
Job 30:23;
Jer 9:17

may come upon the land. <sup>3</sup>If clouds fill up, they will empty out rain on the earth. If a tree falls, whether to the south or to the north, wherever it falls, there it will lie. <sup>4</sup>Those who watch the wind blow will never sow, and those who observe the clouds will never reap. <sup>5</sup>Just as you don't understand what the life-breath<sup>d</sup> does in the fetus<sup>d</sup> inside a pregnant woman's womb, so you can't understand the work of God, who makes everything happen. <sup>6</sup>Scatter your seed in the morning, and in the evening don't be idle because you don't know which will succeed, this one or that, or whether both will be equally good.

<sup>7</sup>Sweet is the light, and it's pleasant for the eyes to see the sun. <sup>8</sup>Even those who live many years should take pleasure in them all. But they should be mindful that there will also be many dark days. Everything that happens is pointless.

<sup>9</sup>Rejoice, young person, while you are young! Your heart should make you happy in your prime. Follow your heart's inclinations and whatever your eyes see, but know this: God will call you to account for all of these things. <sup>10</sup>Remove anxiety from your heart, banish pain from your body, because youth and the dawn of life are pointless too.

Troubling days to come

12 Remember your creator in your prime, before the days of trouble arrive, and those years, about which you'll say, "I take no pleasure in these"— <sup>2</sup>before the sun and the light grow dark, the moon and the stars too, before the clouds return after the rain; <sup>3</sup>on the day when the housekeepers tremble and the strong men stoop;
when the women who grind stop working because they're so few,
and those who look through the windows grow dim; <sup>4</sup>when the doors to the street are shut, when the sound of the mill fades, the sound of the bird rises, and all the singers come down low; <sup>5</sup>when people are afraid of things above and of terrors along the way;
when the almond tree blanches, the locust droops, and the caper-berry comes to nothing;<sup>a</sup>

<sup>a</sup>Correction with Tg; MT like the bones <sup>e</sup>Heb uncertain one's resources, but here the resources are not for one's own investment but are used charitably toward others.

11:3-6 Certain natural processes are dependable (cf. Ecc 1:3-7), but a person has to work with them to reap any benefits. Just because a person doesn't know which will succeed, that doesn't excuse them from work in the morning and evening.

11:5 The study of how things began is as mysterious as studying how things will end. so you can't understand the work of God: Compare with Ecclesiastes 3:11; 7:14; 8:17.

11:6 you don't know: Compare with Ecclesiastes 6:12; 7:14; 8:7; 9:1b, 12; 10:14; 11:2.

11:7-10 The last of the passages about joy (see Ecc 2:24-26; 3:12-13, 22; 5:18-20; 7:14; 8:15; 9:7-10). It begins with a statement regarding the sweetness and pleasantness of life (Ecc 9:7).

11:8 those who live many years should take pleasure in them all: Contrast with Ecclesiastes 6:1-3. but they should be mindful: See Ecclesiastes 12:1-7. pointless: See sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecclesiastes 1.

11:9 young person: The Teacher imagines the reader as a young person or at least younger than he is (see Ecc 12:1, 12). while you are young: For enjoying life while one can, see Ecclesiastes 3:12; 5:18; 7:15; 8:15; 9:9. Follow your heart's inclinations: perhaps because of God's approval of enjoyment (see Ecc 9:7b). God will call you to account for all of these things: God's judgment is also found in Ecclesiastes

3:17 (cf. Ecc 8:12-13; 12:14). Even full-throttled enjoyment should be appropriately measured (Ecc 7:15-18).

11:10 The Teacher reminds the reader that all joy is temporary and ultimately pointless (see sidebar, "Pointless" at Ecc 1). This judgment holds true for youth and the dawn of life, as well as it does for the aged and elderly (cf. Ecc 4:2-3; 6:3, 6; 12:1-7).

12:1-7 A closing poem that corresponds to Ecclesiastes 1:3-11. The poem in chapter 1 concerns the cycle of life, but 12:1-7 concerns the coming and altogether certain cataclysm of death. The Teacher describes death with complex imagery that might come from a funeral procession, the deterioration of body parts, a house in disrepair, an approaching thunderstorm, the demise of the cosmos, or some combination of all of these. In several ways, the death of humans is presented as if it were the end of the world, perhaps because it is the end of the world for the individual who dies. For explicit comments on death, see Ecclesiastes 3:19-21, but note that 12:7 puts matters somewhat differently. The Teacher may still not know which direction the life-breath goes (Ecc 3:21), but he states confidently that it returns to God who gave it (12:7).

12:1 Closely similar to the sentiments of Ecclesiastes 11:7-10. I take no pleasure in these: Times will come when enjoyment isn't possible (Ecc 11:8; cf. Ecc 4:8; 6:2).

12:3 The image of women looking through windows is one of lost hope in Judges 5:28 and 2 Kings 9:30.

when the human goes to the eternal abode, with mourners all around in the street;
6 before the silver cord snaps and the gold bowl shatters;
the jar is broken at the spring and the wheel is crushed at the pit; 7 before dust returns to the earth as it was before and the life-breath returns to God who gave it.

Motto and conclusion

8 Perfectly pointless, says the Teacher, everything is pointless.
9 Additionally: Because the Teacher was wise, he constantly taught the people knowledge. He listened and investigated. He composed many proverbs. 10 The Teacher searched for pleasing words, and he wrote truthful words honestly.
11 The words of the wise are like iron-tipped prods; the collected sayings of the masters are like nails fixed firmly by a shepherd. f 12 Be careful, my child, of anything beyond them!
There's no end to the excessive production of scrolls. Studying too much wearies the body.
13 So this is the end of the matter; all has been heard. Worship God and keep God's commandments because this is what everyone must do. 14 God will definitely bring every deed to judgment, including every hidden thing, whether good or bad.

f Or fixed by one shepherd

12:6 The imagery may relate to Egyptian funeral rites, which symbolized the finality of death. It's striking that the breaking of the jar is done at the spring because it symbolizes the inevitability of death from the very beginning—at the start or source of life.
12:7 It's hard to say if the return of the life-breath to God who gave it is entirely positive, but it seems more confident than Ecclesiastes 3:19-21 (see notes on Eccl 3:19-21; 12:1-7).
12:8-14 The closing verses correspond to the opening of the book (Eccl 1:1-2). The motto of Ecclesiastes 1:2 is repeated almost word for word in 12:8, which is followed by a third-person epilogue (or epilogues) about the Teacher. This corresponds to the third-person heading in Ecclesiastes 1:1 (see notes on Eccl 1:1-2; 12:9-14).
12:8 Perfectly pointless... everything is pointless: Like Ecclesiastes 1:2, 12:8 is a combination of the editor's words about the Teacher and the Teacher's own voice. In this climactic position, it may be intended as a concluding summary of the book's message. Ecclesiastes 12:8 is almost identical to 1:2, but 1:2 is more emphatic with its repetition of perfectly pointless. The similarities between the two verses suggest that the Teacher's primary judgment remains in place, but the differences, especially the fact that 12:8 is not as emphatic as 1:2, might show that the Teacher's conclusions are slightly less strident than they were at the start. Teacher: See note on Ecclesiastes 1:1 and the introduction.
12:9-14 The epilogue. See notes on Ecclesiastes 1:1-2; 12:8-14. There may be two epilogues, 12:9-11 and 12:12-14, since both begin with the same Hebrew word (translated Additionally at verse 9).
12:9-10 Because the Teacher was wise: The epilogue assumes the wise attitude of the Teacher and notes how he taught... listened and investigated, and composed many proverbs. He also searched... and wrote. These activities describe the work of a sage, and it is asserted that the Teacher did them all with great skill.
12:11 Despite the Teacher's skill, the words of the wise often hurt, like iron-tipped prods or nails fixed firmly that are used by a shepherd. The pleasing aspect of the Teacher's words (Eccl 12:10) doesn't mean that they are pleasurable. They may "please" only insofar as they provoke! a shepherd: or "one shepherd" (see the translation note). The shepherd in question is sometimes identified as Moses or Solomon or even God, but the text isn't clear on this matter.

12:12 my child: a common way to refer to one's student in wisdom literature (e.g., Prov 1:8, 10). Be careful... of anything beyond them: The warning may be not to surpass the words of the wise (Eccl 12:11), but it could also recommend not going further than the Teacher did in his quest for meaning. Studying too much: See Ecclesiastes 1:18.
12:13 all has been heard: Contrast with Ecclesiastes 1:8.
12:13-14 the end of the matter: a summing up of the Teacher's message by means of the worship of God and the keeping of God's commandments. Reverence and obedience are found elsewhere in the wisdom literature (e.g., Prov 1:7, 29; Job 1:1; 28:28), with the expectation that God will judge every deed... including every hidden thing, whether good or bad. The big question is whether this summation is true to the Teacher's reflections. For the fear of God theme, see Ecclesiastes 3:14; 5:7; 7:18; 8:12-13. For talk of commandments, see Ecclesiastes 8:5, though there the command is singular and from a king (but see note on Eccl 8:2-4). For God's judgment see Ecclesiastes 3:17; 8:12-13; 11:9. For hidden things coming to light, see Ecclesiastes 10:20 (cf. Eccl 7:21-22). So while some interpreters think these verses are a pious addition intended to make the Teacher orthodox in the end, there are enough connections between the epilogue and the rest of the book for it to serve as an appropriate ending. It is an affirmation that the Teacher is right (as a sage: Eccl 12:9) about not knowing. The Teacher doesn't know everything, even at his most confident or most skeptical (e.g., Eccl 7:15; 8:17). It also affirms that the Teacher makes a realistic assessment of his position before God (e.g., Eccl 5:1-7) and the obedience that should flow from that relationship (cf. Eccl 8:2-5). Throughout Ecclesiastes, the Teacher knows that God is sovereign (Eccl 3:11; 7:14; 11:5).

12:7 Gn 2:7;
Gn 3:19;
Job 34:15;
Ecc 3:20;
Ecc 3:21
12:8 Ecc 1:2
12:10 Prv 22:20;
Prv 22:21;
Ecc 1:1; Col 1:5
12:11 Eyr 9:8;
Prv 1:6;
Prv 22:17;
Ecc 10:12;
Is 22:23
12:12 Ecc 1:18
12:13 Dt 6:2;
Dt 10:12;
Ecc 5:7; Ecc 8:12
12:14 Ecc 3:17;
Ecc 11:9;
Ro 2:16; 1Co 4:5;
2Co 5:10

die	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. F.	she	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. F.
der	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. M.	he	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. M.
es	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. N.	it	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. N.
ich	pron. pers. 1. Sg. S.	I	pron. pers. 1. Sg. S.
du	pron. pers. 2. Sg. S.	you	pron. pers. 2. Sg. S.
er	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. M.	he	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. M.
sie	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. F.	she	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. F.
es	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. N.	it	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. N.
wir	pron. pers. 1. Pl. S.	we	pron. pers. 1. Pl. S.
du	pron. pers. 2. Sg. S.	you	pron. pers. 2. Sg. S.
er	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. M.	he	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. M.
sie	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. F.	she	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. F.
es	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. N.	it	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. N.
wir	pron. pers. 1. Pl. S.	we	pron. pers. 1. Pl. S.
du	pron. pers. 2. Sg. S.	you	pron. pers. 2. Sg. S.
er	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. M.	he	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. M.
sie	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. F.	she	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. F.
es	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. N.	it	pron. pers. 3. Sg. S. N.

ein	num. 1	one	num. 1
zwei	num. 2	two	num. 2
drei	num. 3	three	num. 3
vier	num. 4	four	num. 4
fünf	num. 5	five	num. 5
sechs	num. 6	six	num. 6
sieben	num. 7	seven	num. 7
acht	num. 8	eight	num. 8
neun	num. 9	nine	num. 9
zehn	num. 10	ten	num. 10
hundert	num. 100	hundred	num. 100
tausend	num. 1000	thousand	num. 1000
million	num. 1000000	million	num. 1000000
billiarde	num. 1000000000000	billion	num. 1000000000000
trillion	num. 1000000000000000	trillion	num. 1000000000000000
quadrillion	num. 1000000000000000000	quadrillion	num. 1000000000000000000
quintillion	num. 1000000000000000000000	quintillion	num. 1000000000000000000000
sextillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000	sextillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000
septillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000000	septillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000000
octillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000000000	octillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000000000
nonillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000000000000	nonillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000000000000
decillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000000000000000	decillion	num. 1000000000000000000000000000000000000
und	conj. 1	and	conj. 1
oder	conj. 2	or	conj. 2
aber	conj. 3	but	conj. 3
weil	conj. 4	because	conj. 4
da	conj. 5	since	conj. 5
so	conj. 6	so	conj. 6
sondern	conj. 7	but	conj. 7
entweder	conj. 8	either	conj. 8
entweder	conj. 9	either	conj. 9
entweder	conj. 10	either	conj. 10
entweder	conj. 11	either	conj. 11
entweder	conj. 12	either	conj. 12
entweder	conj. 13	either	conj. 13
entweder	conj. 14	either	conj. 14
entweder	conj. 15	either	conj. 15
entweder	conj. 16	either	conj. 16
entweder	conj. 17	either	conj. 17
entweder	conj. 18	either	conj. 18
entweder	conj. 19	either	conj. 19
entweder	conj. 20	either	conj. 20
entweder	conj. 21	either	conj. 21
entweder	conj. 22	either	conj. 22
entweder	conj. 23	either	conj. 23
entweder	conj. 24	either	conj. 24
entweder	conj. 25	either	conj. 25
entweder	conj. 26	either	conj. 26
entweder	conj. 27	either	conj. 27
entweder	conj. 28	either	conj. 28
entweder	conj. 29	either	conj. 29
entweder	conj. 30	either	conj. 30
entweder	conj. 31	either	conj. 31
entweder	conj. 32	either	conj. 32
entweder	conj. 33	either	conj. 33
entweder	conj. 34	either	conj. 34
entweder	conj. 35	either	conj. 35
entweder	conj. 36	either	conj. 36
entweder	conj. 37	either	conj. 37
entweder	conj. 38	either	conj. 38
entweder	conj. 39	either	conj. 39
entweder	conj. 40	either	conj. 40
entweder	conj. 41	either	conj. 41
entweder	conj. 42	either	conj. 42
entweder	conj. 43	either	conj. 43
entweder	conj. 44	either	conj. 44
entweder	conj. 45	either	conj. 45
entweder	conj. 46	either	conj. 46
entweder	conj. 47	either	conj. 47
entweder	conj. 48	either	conj. 48
entweder	conj. 49	either	conj. 49
entweder	conj. 50	either	conj. 50
entweder	conj. 51	either	conj. 51
entweder	conj. 52	either	conj. 52
entweder	conj. 53	either	conj. 53
entweder	conj. 54	either	conj. 54
entweder	conj. 55	either	conj. 55
entweder	conj. 56	either	conj. 56
entweder	conj. 57	either	conj. 57
entweder	conj. 58	either	conj. 58
entweder	conj. 59	either	conj. 59
entweder	conj. 60	either	conj. 60
entweder	conj. 61	either	conj. 61
entweder	conj. 62	either	conj. 62
entweder	conj. 63	either	conj. 63
entweder	conj. 64	either	conj. 64
entweder	conj. 65	either	conj. 65
entweder	conj. 66	either	conj. 66
entweder	conj. 67	either	conj. 67
entweder	conj. 68	either	conj. 68
entweder	conj. 69	either	conj. 69
entweder	conj. 70	either	conj. 70
entweder	conj. 71	either	conj. 71
entweder	conj. 72	either	conj. 72
entweder	conj. 73	either	conj. 73
entweder	conj. 74	either	conj. 74
entweder	conj. 75	either	conj. 75
entweder	conj. 76	either	conj. 76
entweder	conj. 77	either	conj. 77
entweder	conj. 78	either	conj. 78
entweder	conj. 79	either	conj. 79
entweder	conj. 80	either	conj. 80
entweder	conj. 81	either	conj. 81
entweder	conj. 82	either	conj. 82
entweder	conj. 83	either	conj. 83
entweder	conj. 84	either	conj. 84
entweder	conj. 85	either	conj. 85
entweder	conj. 86	either	conj. 86
entweder	conj. 87	either	conj. 87
entweder	conj. 88	either	conj. 88
entweder	conj. 89	either	conj. 89
entweder	conj. 90	either	conj. 90
entweder	conj. 91	either	conj. 91
entweder	conj. 92	either	conj. 92
entweder	conj. 93	either	conj. 93
entweder	conj. 94	either	conj. 94
entweder	conj. 95	either	conj. 95
entweder	conj. 96	either	conj. 96
entweder	conj. 97	either	conj. 97
entweder	conj. 98	either	conj. 98
entweder	conj. 99	either	conj. 99
entweder	conj. 100	either	conj. 100

SONG OF SONGS

The Song of Songs seems out of place in the Bible. Many readers find it embarrassing and confusing. Embarrassing because on first blush (quite literally), the book appears to be nothing less than a collection of poems celebrating the very real, very passionate—even very erotic—love between a man and a woman. This embarrassment leads directly to the confusion: What is this kind of book doing in the Bible, and what does it mean?

Neither question is easily answered. The first verse indicates that the book known as “the Best Song” (see note on Song 1:1) has some relationship to Solomon. Indeed, Solomon is mentioned by name seven times in the book (Song 1:1, 5; 3:7, 9, 11; 8:11-12) and there are additional mentions of an unidentified king (Song 1:4, 12; 7:5) and other royal allusions (e.g., Song 6:8-9). None of these passages prove that the book was written by Solomon, and several of them indicate quite the opposite. So while the male lover in the Song of Songs is described as a king (Song 1:4, 12) and may even allude to himself in that way (cf. Song 6:8-9), he isn’t King Solomon himself, since the man speaks in the first person, whereas Solomon is consistently spoken about in the third person. The last verses of the book even seem to poke fun at Solomon: The man says that Solomon can keep his “thousand”; he is perfectly content with his one and only love (Song 8:11-12). The second part of Song 1:1, then, is best understood as a dedication of sorts to Solomon, or for him in some way, perhaps because of his reputation as a brilliant sage (1 Kgs 4:29-34) and passionate lover (1 Kgs 11:3).

But if it seems clear that Solomon didn’t write the Song of Songs, it’s equally unclear who did. Much depends on the nature of the book. Is it one long poem, written by one author, meant to be read as a whole? Or is it a collection of many small love poems, some of which, at least, were originally independent and came from different hands? It’s hard to say, though some of the imagery and language found in the book suggest that it was written long after Solomon, perhaps as late as the 4th or 3rd centuries BCE. But if the Song is a collection of many different and discrete poems, then it remains possible that some of these compositions could be quite old.

Pomegranate blossoms (Song 4; 6)
Todd Bolen/BiblePlaces.com

The Song of Songs is dominated by two voices: the male and female lovers. In some passages the precise speaker is uncertain, but most of the time the gender of the speaking subject is revealed in the original Hebrew. It is also revealed in terms of content when the man praises the woman's beauty or the woman praises the man's appearance, or by the specific words they use for each other. She prefers to call him "my love" (see note on Song 1:13). He calls her "my dearest" (see note on Song 1:9).

We don't know anything about these two figures, other than what they say about themselves, about each other, and how they say it. The primary thing the lovers discuss is their love for each other and the longing they feel for each other. Of the two voices, the woman speaks first and last and also speaks more than the man does. The dominance of the female voice in the Song is unmatched elsewhere in the Bible. Some have taken it as proof that the book was written by a woman. While this isn't certain, the prominence of the woman's voice offers an important balance to the otherwise male-centered orientation of the Bible. In fact, the primacy of the female lover, her initiative in the romance, and the way she describes the man's longing for her—coupled with the way the man describes the woman and his longing for her—offer important insights into ways the "battle of the sexes" can and should be overcome; namely, through the mutuality and equality that marks the best love between a man and a woman (see note on Song 7:10; see sidebar, "The Garden of Eden" at Song 7).

Other voices are also sometimes heard in the book. These include "the daughters of Jerusalem" (Song 5:9; 6:1; 8:5a) and the woman's brothers (Song 8:8-9). Little can be said about these other figures, but the combination of different voices gives the book the feel of a drama with multiple characters, each replete with speaking parts.

Ultimately the Song of Songs isn't a drama, however, mostly because the different voices are not clearly identified and there is no clear plot development. Instead, we encounter the sometimes rough juxtaposition of poems about the lovers' love for each other and their longing for each other. At root, then, the Song of Songs is a love poem—or perhaps a collection of love poems—but it isn't a story, a narrative, or a drama.

What does this book mean, and what is it doing in the Bible? The answer to the first question is rather obvious. The Song of Songs is about love: very real, very passionate—yes, even very erotic—love between a man and a woman. But the odd, and for some readers, embarrassing nature of that straightforward answer leads directly to the other question: Why is an erotic love poem in the Bible?

While the Song of Songs is erotic, it isn't pornographic. The book is full of metaphorical imagery, but it remains at that symbolic level, even at its most suggestive (e.g., Song 4:16–5:1; 7:9–8:13). The evocative but not explicit nature of the Song's poetry may be what enabled its reception into the Bible. When the Song is included along with other books of the Bible, one gets the impression that its evocative imagery might be applied not only to the romantic, physical love between a man and a woman but also to the spiritual love between God and Israel or between Christ and the church. These allegorical or figurative readings are found throughout the history of Jewish and Christian interpretation. They are related to ancient Near Eastern love poetry, which also knew of poetry describing divine love, though that analogy was typically portrayed as the love between gods and goddesses.

The metaphorical readings of the Song are proof that it is poetry, which seems on the face of it to be about nothing more or less than romance between a real man and a real woman. This imagery was taken up and applied in ways beyond its "plain sense." Because the other books of the Bible are so frequently and extensively about God and God's people, the logic runs, so also is the Song of Songs. But the direction of influence might also run the other way: if the Song of Songs is understood as an analogy expressing God's love for God's people (and vice versa), it is crucial to note that the nature of that love is expressed in the most intimate terms, including real, romantic, even sexual longing. That profound insight would apply to God's feelings for humans and humans' feelings toward God, not only in the Song but also in other books of the Bible. In this way, the Song would influence the interpretation of the rest of scripture, just as the rest of scripture influences its interpretation.

But the plain sense of the Song shouldn't be neglected because it also has profound significance. Here, as nowhere else in the Bible, the love between a man and a woman is celebrated in full blown fashion, with discretion to be sure, but with plenty of suggestive detail, all without any embarrassment or apology.

These insights about love, human and divine, explain why the book is known as the "Best Song," and why the great Rabbi Aqiva (1st century CE) said that, while all of scripture is holy, the Song of Songs is the most holy of all.

I. Title and Dedication (1:1)

II. First Exchange (1:2-17)

- A. Woman speaks (1:2-7)
- B. Man speaks (1:8-11)
- C. Woman speaks (1:12-14)
- D. Man speaks (1:15)
- E. Woman speaks (1:16-17)

III. Second Exchange (2:1-2)

- A. Woman speaks (2:1)
- B. Man speaks (2:2)

IV. Woman Speaks (2:3-17)

V. Woman's Search, First Part (3:1-5)

VI. Poem about Solomon's Wedding Day (3:6-11)

VII. Man Speaks: In Praise of Her Beauty, First Part (4:1-7)

VIII. Man Speaks: In Praise of Her Beauty, Second Part (4:8-16a)

IX. Third Exchange (4:16b-5:1)

- A. Woman speaks (4:16b)
- B. Man speaks (5:1)

X. Woman's Search, Second Part (5:2-6:3)

- A. Woman speaks (5:2-8)
- B. Daughters of Jerusalem speak (5:9)
- C. Woman speaks: In praise of his beauty (5:10-16)
- D. Daughters of Jerusalem speak (6:1)
- E. Woman speaks (6:2-3)

XI. Man Speaks: In Praise of Her Beauty, Third Part (6:4-10)

XII. Poetic Fragment (6:11-12)

XIII. Fourth Exchange (6:13-7:13)

- A. Man speaks: In praise of her beauty, fourth part (6:13-7:9a)
- B. Woman speaks (7:9b-13)

XIV. Woman Speaks (8:1-4)

XV. Conclusion (8:5-14)

- A. Daughters of Jerusalem speak (8:5a)
- B. Woman speaks (8:5b-7)
- C. Brothers speak (8:8-9)
- D. Woman speaks (8:10)
- E. Fifth exchange (8:11-14)
  - 1. Man speaks (8:11-13)
  - 2. Woman speaks (8:14)

1:1 1Ki 4:32

1:2 Song 1:4,
Song 4:10

1:3 Ps 45:14;

Ecc 7:1;

Song 4:10;

In 12:3

1:4 Ps 45:14;

Ps 45:15;

Song 1:2

1:5 Ps 120:5;

Is 60:7

1:6 Ps 69:8;

Song 8:11;

Song 8:12

1 The Song of Songs, which is for Solomon.

Mutual admiration

[Woman]<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup>If only he would give me some of his kisses . . .

Oh, your loving is sweeter than wine!

<sup>3</sup>Your fragrance is sweet;
your very name is perfume.
That's why the young women love you.

<sup>4</sup>Take me along with you; let's run!

My king has brought me into his chambers, saying,
"Let's exult and rejoice in you.

Let's savor your loving more than wine.
No wonder they all love you!"

<sup>5</sup>Dark am I, and lovely, daughters of Jerusalem—like the black tents of the Kedar nomads, like the curtains of Solomon's palace.

<sup>6</sup>Don't stare at me because I'm darkened by the sun's gaze.
My own brothers were angry with me.
They made me a caretaker of the vineyards—
but I couldn't care for my own vineyard.

<sup>a</sup>Identification of speakers here and throughout the Song is hypothetical and in several cases uncertain.

1:1 The Song of Songs: The grammatical construction can be taken as a superlative in Hebrew ("The Best Song" or "the Greatest Song"; cf. Deut 10:17; Dan 2:37; 1 Tim 6:15). It could also mean "a song (made) of songs"—that is, an anthology. for Solomon: not "by Solomon" because the Hebrew doesn't necessarily mean authorship. Rather, "for Solomon" suggests dedication to the king who was a composer (1 Kgs 4:32), an expert in flora and fauna (cf. 1 Kgs 5:9-14), and one who loved many women (1 Kgs 11:1). These aspects are echoed in one way or the other in the Song of Songs, but not exactly. The focus on just one man and one woman, for example, is in marked contrast to Solomon's many wives and concubines (1 Kgs 11:3). "Solomon" is also mentioned by name in Song 1:5; 3:7, 9, 11; 8:11-12 (cf. Song 1:4, 12; 7:5; see also Song 6:8-9 on "king" and "queens"), but the male lover is never called by name and the end of the book seems to poke fun at Solomon. See the introduction; see note on Song 8:11-12.

1:2-17 The first of several exchanges between the woman and the man (see outline; see translation note on Song 1:2). The identification of the different voices (hers and his) isn't always clear but in most instances the specific language used indicates where one voice ends and another begins (see intro.). In this exchange, the woman speaks first and last: the woman (1:2-7), the man (1:8-11), the woman (1:12-14), the man (1:15), the woman (1:16-17). She also speaks more often than the man (three times to his two) and speaks more words. This is typical for the Song as a whole.

1:2 If only he would give me some of his kisses: The woman begins her speech by longing for the man's loving which is sweeter than wine. The opening in third person speech (he rather than "you") may be a respectful means of address, but it may also make 1:2a an introduction to, or motto for, all that follows since the woman shifts immediately to second person address. your loving probably includes lovemaking (see Song 7:12). For love and wine see Song 1:4; 4:10.

1:3 The woman moves from a compliment about the man's fragrance to a metaphor: his very name is perfume. The identity of the young women is unclear. They may be acquaintances or close friends of the woman (and man), or citizens of Jerusalem (see note on Song 1:5-6). Whatever the case, these young women love the man too (cf. Song 1:4b).

1:4 My king: The man is idealized as a royal figure (see Song 1:12; cf. Song 6:8-9; 7:5), but isn't necessarily Solomon himself (see note on Song 1:1; see intro.). his chambers: a private place (see Song 3:4), suitable for loving (see note on Song 1:2). saying: The woman now quotes the man's speech to her, as she does elsewhere (e.g., Song 2:10-14). Let's exult . . . Let's savor: The plural language means that both the man and the woman will rejoice and savor the loving more than wine (see Song 1:2; intro.; sidebar, "The Garden of Eden" at Song 7). No wonder they all love you: The "they" aren't defined here (cf. Song 1:8-9), but the man's compliment to the woman matches what she told him in Song 1:3.

1:5-6 Dark am I, and lovely: The woman's darkness is due to sun exposure (darkened by the sun's gaze), which in turn is evidently because she served as a caretaker of the vineyards. The woman's statement here suggests that some people look down on her, perhaps because she has been doing menial labor outside in the elements. But the woman herself asserts her beauty regardless. daughters of Jerusalem: Like the "young women" in Song 1:3, this group isn't clearly identified, but they are also mentioned in Song 2:7; 3:5, 10-11; 5:8, 16; 8:4. Kedar nomads: a northern desert tribe; Kedar means "dark." References to crops, wine, vines, vineyards, and gardens occur repeatedly in the Song, often with a double meaning, referring to or representing in some way sexuality, especially that of the woman (e.g., Song 1:2, 4,

<sup>7</sup>Tell me, you whom I love with all my heart—
where do you pasture your flock, where do you rest them at noon?—
so I don't wander around with the flocks of your companions.

[Man]

<sup>8</sup>If you don't know your way, most beautiful of women, then follow the tracks of the herds and graze your little goats by the tents of the shepherds.

<sup>9</sup>I picture you, my dearest, as a mare among Pharaoh's chariots!

<sup>10</sup>Lovely are your cheeks, adorned with ear hoops; your neck, with beads.

<sup>11</sup>Let's make hoops of gold beaded with silver for you!

[Woman]

<sup>12</sup>With my king close by, my perfume filled the air.

<sup>13</sup>A sachet of myrrh is my love to me, lying all night between my breasts.

<sup>14</sup>A cluster of henna flowers is my love to me in the desert gardens of En-gedi.

[Man]

<sup>15</sup>Look at you—so beautiful, my dearest!

Look at you—so beautiful! Your eyes are doves!

[Woman]

<sup>16</sup>Look at you—so beautiful, my love!

Yes, delightful! Yes, our bed is lush and green!

<sup>17</sup>The ceilings of our chambers are cedars;
our rafters, cypresses.

Love in bloom

[Woman]

2I'm a rose of the Sharon plain, a lily of the valleys.

14; 2:15; 4:15-5:1; 7:11-13; 8:12). The woman's brothers are also mentioned in Song 8:8-9. Why they were angry with the woman, or why they would make her take care of the vineyards, isn't specified. I couldn't care for my own vineyard: may be an allusion that the woman desires the man.

1:7 The woman requests a meeting with the one whom I love with all my heart, perhaps a tryst at noon (cf. Song 4:16b; 7:11-13). The reference to wandering around among the man's companions may suggest that other men are interested (cf. Song 1:3-4).

1:8 The man answers the question in Song 1:7, calling her most beautiful of women. This language of beauty is used repeatedly throughout the Song, mostly of the woman (Song 1:15; 2:10, 13; 4:1, 7, 10; 5:9; 6:1, 4, 10; 7:1, 6) but once of the man (Song 1:16).

1:9 I picture you, my dearest: The man introduces his favorite term for the woman (my dearest; see Song 1:15; 2:2, 10, 13; 4:1, 7; 5:2; 6:4; the woman uses it of the man in 5:16) and then compliments her with a metaphor (cf. Song 1:3). a mare among Pharaoh's chariots: Ancient Greek writings sometimes compared beautiful women to horses. In this case, the comparison is strengthened by including a reference to the Egyptian monarch. Likening the woman to a mare among Pharaoh's chariots may also suggest that she gets many men's attention (cf. Song 1:7b).

1:10-11 The man praises the woman's physical beauty, her cheeks and neck, along with her jewelry—a foreshadowing of the extended poems he devotes to her later (see Song 4:1-7; 4:8-16a; 6:4-10; 6:13-7:9a). He suggests making her even finer jewelry: hoops of gold beaded with silver. 1:12 my king: See note on Song 1:4. my perfume (Heb.

nard) was imported from India (see Song 4:13-14; cf. Mark 14:3; John 12:3).

1:13 myrrh was another import often used as perfume (Esth 2:12; Prov 7:17) as well as in bridal robes (Ps 45:8). my love: the woman's favorite term for the man (see Song 1:14, 16; 2:3, 8, 9, 10, 16, 17; 4:16; 5:2, 4, 8, 10, 16; 6:2; 7:11, 13; 8:14). lying all night between my breasts: The grammar is open-ended: the referent could be either the sachet of myrrh or the man himself.

1:14 henna, a shrub with aromatic flowers, was indigenous to Israel; here the woman notes its presence in En-gedi, an oasis on the west bank of the Dead Sea. desert gardens: or more simply, "vineyards." Grapes don't grow at En-gedi, so this may be a case of double meaning. See note on Song 1:5-6.

1:15 The man is entranced with the woman's beauty (cf. Song 1:16). my dearest: See note on Song 1:9. Your eyes are doves: may mean that her eyes send messages of love. See Song 4:1; 6:5.

1:16-17 The woman is equally entranced with the man's beauty (cf. Song 1:15; see note on Song 1:8). my love: See note on Song 1:13. The description of the bed and chambers (or, more simply, "house") is simultaneously rich and exotic but also located among the trees. The latter accent ties into garden imagery used elsewhere in the Song, especially as a location for the lovers' meetings (e.g., Song 4:14-5:1; 7:11-13; see note on Song 1:5-6).

2:1-17 After a brief exchange in which both the woman and man liken her to a lily (2:1-2), the woman speaks an extended section (2:3-17).

2:1 Sharon plain: a fertile part of northern Israel.

1:7 Ps 23:2;
Song 3:1;
Is 13:20;
Jer 33:12
1:8 Song 5:9,
Song 6:1
1:9 2Ch 1:17
1:10 Song 5:13;
Is 61:10;
Eze 16:11
1:12 Jn 12:3
1:13 Ps 45:8;
Jn 19:39
1:15 Song 4:1,
Song 4:7,
Song 5:12,
Song 6:4
1:16 Song 2:3
2:1 Song 5:13;
Is 33:9; Is 35:1,
Is 35:2; Hos 14:5

2:2 Song 1:9;
Hos 14:5
2:3 Song 8:5
2:4 Ps 20:5;
Song 1:4
2:5 2Sa 6:19;
Song 5:8;
Song 7:8;
Hos 3:1
2:6 Song 8:3
2:8 Song 2:17;
Is 52:7
2:9 Song 2:17;
Song 8:14
2:10 Song 2:13
2:11 Prv 27:25

[Man]

<sup>2</sup> Like a lily among thornbushes, so is my dearest among the young women.

[Woman]

<sup>3</sup> Like an apple tree among the wild trees, so is my lover among the young men.
In his shade I take pleasure in sitting,
and his fruit is sweet to my taste.

<sup>4</sup> He has brought me to the house of wine;
his banner raised over me is love.

<sup>5</sup> Sustain me with raisin cakes, strengthen me with apples,
for I'm weak with love!

<sup>6</sup> His left arm is beneath my head, his right embraces me.

<sup>7</sup> Make a solemn pledge, daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles or the wild deer:
Don't rouse, don't arouse love until it desires.

<sup>8</sup> Listen! It's my lover: here he comes now, leaping upon the mountains, bounding over the hills.

<sup>9</sup> My lover is like a gazelle or a young stag.
Here he stands now, outside our wall,
peering through the windows,
peeking through the lattices.

<sup>10</sup> My lover spoke and said to me,
"Rise up, my dearest, my fairest, and go.

<sup>11</sup> Here, the winter is past;
the rains have come and gone.

2:2 The man agrees that the woman is Like a lily, adding among thornbushes. The thornbushes in question are the young women when compared to his dearest (see note on Song 1:9).

2:3 an apple tree among the wild trees... my lover among the young men: The woman returns the man's compliment (see Song 2:2). For the apple see Song 7:7-8; 8:5b. his fruit... sweet to my taste: As elsewhere in the Song, the fruit imagery functions on several metaphorical levels (see Song 4:16-5:1; 7:7-8, 11-13; 8:2; cf. notes on Song 1:5-6; 4:3).

2:4 On wine and love, see Song 1:2, 4; 4:10; 5:1. his banner raised over me is love: The sense may be that their love is visible to all. The same root word for "banner" is used in Song 5:10, 6:4, 10. See also Numbers 2:2; Psalm 20:5.

2:5 The woman asks for sustenance because she is weak with love (cf. Song 5:8). Given the metaphorical nature of the Song, the food she requests may not be actual fruit (see note on Song 2:3).

2:6 A pose found in ancient Near Eastern depictions of sexual intercourse (see Song 8:3).

2:7 Make a solemn pledge... by the gazelles or the wild deer: The Hebrew here is quite close to a religious formulation and may be a pun on sacred pledges and divine titles (specifically, "the Lord of heavenly forces" and "God Almighty") or a way to swear without formally invoking God's name (cf. note on Song 8:6). daughters of Jerusalem: See note on Song 1:5-6. Don't rouse, don't arouse love until it desires: This is a recurring refrain in the Song (see Song 3:5; 8:4; cf. Song 5:8), but the meaning isn't entirely clear. It may caution the audience against disturbing the lovers' embrace. Or it may be a more general warning about the power of love such that it shouldn't be rushed into prematurely or naively.

2:8-9 The woman praises my lover (see note on Song 1:13), likening him to a gazelle or a young stag (cf. Song 2:17; 8:14). He is now outside our wall, peering and peeking, waiting for the woman (cf. Song 5:2), whom he addresses in the next verses.

2:10-14 The woman quotes the man in these verses. The man addresses the woman, calling her my dearest (see note on Song 1:9) and my fairest (or "my beauty"; see note on Song 1:8) and twice asking her to Rise up and go with him (2:10, 13). The world is marked by fertility and beauty (Blossoms... green fruit... grapevines in bloom), leading the man to hope for sight and sound of his dove (2:14, yet another pet name; see Song 1:15; 4:1; 5:2; 6:9) since that is both sweet and lovely.

- <sup>12</sup> Blossoms have appeared in the land;
the season of singing<sup>b</sup> has arrived, and the sound of the turtledove is heard in our land.
- <sup>13</sup> The green fruit is on the fig tree, and the grapevines in bloom are fragrant.
Rise up,<sup>c</sup> my dearest, my fairest, and go.
- <sup>14</sup> My dove—in the rock crevices, hidden in the cliff face—let me catch sight of you;
let me hear your voice!
The sound of your voice is sweet, and the sight of you is lovely.”
- <sup>15</sup> Catch foxes for us—those little foxes that spoil vineyards, now that our vineyards are in bloom!
- <sup>16</sup> I belong to my lover and he belongs to me—
the one grazing among the lilies.
- <sup>17</sup> Before the day breeze blows and the shadows flee, turn about, my love; be like a gazelle or a young stag upon the jagged mountains.<sup>d</sup>

2:12 Ps 104:12;
Ecc 12:4

2:13 Song 2:10,
Song 7:12

2:14 Song 1:5,
Song 5:2,
Song 6:9,
Song 8:13;
Jer 48:28

2:15 Ps 63:10,
Song 2:13;
Eze 13:4

2:16 Song 4:5,
Song 6:3,
Song 7:10

2:17 Song 2:9,
Song 4:6

3:1 Song 1:7,
Song 5:6; Is 26:9

3:2 Jer 5:1

3:3 Song 5:7

3:4 Song 8:2

The search

[Woman]

- 3 Upon my bed, night after night,
I looked for the one whom I love with all my heart.
I looked for him but couldn't find him.<sup>e</sup>
- <sup>2</sup> “I will rise now and go all around the city, through the streets and the squares.
I will look for the one whom I love with all my heart.”
I looked for him but couldn't find him.
- <sup>3</sup> The guards found me, those who make their rounds in the city.
“The one whom I love with all my heart—have you seen him?”
- <sup>4</sup> No sooner did I depart from them than I found the one whom I love with all my heart.

<sup>b</sup>Or pruning. <sup>c</sup>LXX and Kethib add go; but Qere, DSS, Vulg, Syr, and Tg lack the verb; cf 2:10. <sup>d</sup>Or upon the mountains of Bether; cf 8:14 mountains of spice. <sup>e</sup>LXX adds I called him, but he didn't answer me; cf 5:6.

2:12 season of singing or “season of pruning.” Either suits the context.

2:14–15 The mention of rock crevices and the cliff face probably signals the woman's inaccessibility more than her location. But the mention of little foxes that spoil vineyards and the fact that our vineyards are in bloom may suggest that she isn't as inaccessible as the man's mountain images imply (see Song 2:16; see note on Song 1:5–6).

2:16 I belong to my lover and he belongs to me: an important assertion that also occurs in Song 6:3 and 7:10 (see note on Song 7:10; see sidebar, “The Garden of Eden” at Song 7). The man's description as the one grazing among the lilies ties back to the faunal imagery in Song 2:11–13 and the description of the woman as a lily in Song 2:1–2, suggesting intimacy (see also Song 4:5; 6:2–3; cf. Song 5:13; 7:2).

2:17 The woman asks the man to be the gazelle or young stag that she likened him to in Song 2:8–9 (cf. Song 4:6–7), though this time upon the jagged mountains. Instead of “the jagged mountains,” perhaps read “the cleft mountains” or “mountains of Bether,” which could refer to landforms outside of Jerusalem. However, various elements in Song 2:1–16 along with similar sentiments in Song 4:6 (“the mountain of myrrh . . . the hill of frankincense”) and Song 8:14 (“mountains of spice”) suggest that the subject could be anatomical, referring to the woman's body. The allusive nature of the poetry allows for both meanings.

3:1–5 The first of two scenes that have a dream-like quality to them (see also Song 5:2–7). In this one, the woman searches for the man, whom she repeatedly describes as the one whom I love with all my heart (3:1, 2, 3, 4).

3:1 Upon my bed . . . I looked: perhaps in sleep (cf. Song 5:2) or restless pining. No reason is given for why the woman looked for him but couldn't find him, though the Song knows of frustrated desire and the danger that love entails (e.g., Song 3:2; 4:8; 5:6–7).

3:2–3 The woman takes her search into the city and the streets and the squares but with the same result: I looked for him but couldn't find him. She encounters guards and asks them if they have seen him (cf. Song 5:7).

3:4 Suddenly she finds the man (cf. Song 6:2) and now . . . won't let him go. The reference to my mother's house reflects the female orientation of much of the Song

3:6 Ex 13:21,
Ex 30:34;
Song 4:6,
Song 4:14,
Song 8:5

3:7 1K 9:22;
1Ch 11:10;
Song 3:9

3:8 Ps 45:3,
Ps 91:5

3:11 Is 3:16,
Is 4:4, Is 62:5

4:1 Nm 32:1;
Song 1:15,
Song 6:5,
Song 6:7,
Mi 7:14

4:2 Song 6:6

4:3 Josh 2:18;
Song 5:16,
Song 6:7

I held on to him and now I won't let him go, until I've brought him to my mother's house,
to the chamber of the one who conceived me.

<sup>5</sup>I place you under oath, daughters of Jerusalem,
by the gazelles or the wild deer:
don't rouse, don't arouse love until it desires.

Visions of grandeur

<sup>6</sup>Who is this, coming up from the wilderness, like pillars of smoke?
She is perfumed with myrrh and frankincense, selected from all the spice merchant's powders.

<sup>7</sup>Picture Solomon's bed—sixty heroic men round about it, all from the heroes of Israel, <sup>8</sup>all of them skilled with the sword, expert in warfare, each with his sword ready at his thigh against terrors that come by night.
<sup>9</sup>King Solomon made a canopied couch for himself from the trees of Lebanon.
<sup>10</sup>Its pillars he made of silver, its covering, cloth of gold,
its cushions, royal purple;
its interior inlaid with love.
Daughters of Jerusalem, <sup>11</sup>go forth!
Look, daughters of Zion—on King Solomon wearing the crown with which his mother crowned him on the day of his wedding, on the day of his heart's joy.

In praise of her

[Man]

4 Look at you—so beautiful, my dearest!
Look at you—so beautiful!
Your eyes are doves behind the veil of your hair!
Your hair is like a flock of goats as they stream down Mount Gilead.
<sup>2</sup>Your teeth are like flock newly shorn ewes as they come up from the washing pool—all of them perfectly matched,
not one of them lacks its twin.
<sup>3</sup>Like a crimson ribbon are your lips;
when you smile, it is lovely.
Like a slice of pomegranate is the curve of your face behind the veil of your hair.

(fathers are never mentioned). to the chamber of the one who conceived me: The imagery combines safety and sexuality (Song 1:4; 3:11; 6:9; 8:2).

3:5 See note on Song 2:7.

3:6-11 A brief poem about Solomon's wedding day. For Solomon, see the introduction; see note on Song 1:1. The speaker of these lines is unclear.

3:6 The imagery in the first part of the verse is obscure, but the second half seems to describe the bride. For perfumed with myrrh and frankincense, compare with the imagery in Song 1:3, 12-13; 3:6; 4:6, 14; 5:1, 5, 13.

3:7-11 Praise for Solomon's royal retinue and his bed or canopied couch. He is attended and protected by the best (sixty heroic men), and his couch is richly constructed and decorated—not just with silver, gold, and royal purple but also with love (Song 3:10). Daughters of Jerusalem: See note on Song 1:5-6; daughters of Zion is a poetic variation of the same. For the connections between mothers and love, see Song 1:4; 3:4; 6:9; 8:2. Note how the wedding day is defined as the day of the heart's joy.

4:1-7 The first part of an extended description of the woman's beauty by the man. It is continued in Song 4:8-16a, which could be considered a separate poem since the dominant images and metaphors differ. Additional poems celebrating the woman's body are found in Song 6:4-10; 6:13-7:9a; compare with Song 1:10.

4:1 Your eyes are doves: See Song 1:15 and note (cf. Song 6:5). Here the eyes are doves behind the veil of your hair (see Song 4:3). Women wore veils in public, but here the veil is metaphorical: it is made of her hair. Perhaps the lovers are in private. Your hair is like a flock of goats: The emphasis is on the movement—as they stream down. Mount Gilead was known to be a rich region of pastureland across the Jordan River (see Song 6:5).

4:2 Your teeth . . . newly shorn ewes . . . perfectly matched: The imagery stresses the whiteness, cleanliness, and perfection of the woman's teeth. See Song 6:6.

4:3 The description moves to the woman's lips, smile, and cheeks. The pomegranate is also mentioned in Song 4:13; 6:7, 11; 7:12; 8:2. Here the image invokes the shape and color of the cheeks and is also suggestive with regard to taste (see note on Song 2:3).

- <sup>4</sup> Like David's tower is your neck, splendidly built!
A thousand shields are hung upon it—all the weapons of the warriors.
- <sup>5</sup> Your two breasts are like two fawns, twins of a gazelle doe, that graze among the lilies.
- <sup>6</sup> Before the day breeze blows and the shadows flee,
I will be off to the mountain of myrrh, to the hill of frankincense.
- <sup>7</sup> You are utterly beautiful, my dearest;
there's not a single flaw in you.

4:6 Song 2:17,
Song 4:14
4:7 Song 1:15;
Eph 5:27
4:8 Dt 3:9;
1Ch 5:23;
Song 5:1
4:9 Song 5:1,
Song 5:2
4:10 Song 1:2,
Song 1:3,
Song 1:4; Jn 12:3
4:11 Gn 27:27;
Prv 24:13;
Hos 14:6

Garden of delight

[Man]

- <sup>8</sup> Come down with me from Lebanon, my bride—if only you would come down with me from Lebanon.
Descend from the peak of Amana, from the peaks of Senir and Hermon,
from the lions' dens,
from the mountain lairs of leopards.
- <sup>9</sup> You have captured my heart, my sister,<sup>f</sup> my bride!
You have captured my heart with one glance from your eyes, with one strand of your necklace.
- <sup>10</sup> How beautiful is your loving, my sister, my bride!
Your loving is so much better than wine, and your fragrance better than any perfume!
- <sup>11</sup> Sweetness drops from your lips, my bride;
honey and milk are under your tongue, and the fragrance of your garments is like the fragrance of Lebanon.

<sup>f</sup>Sister here and below is a common term in ancient love poetry; it doesn't imply blood relation.

4:4 The man now praises the woman's neck (see Song 7:4). David's tower isn't mentioned anywhere else in the Bible and shouldn't be confused with the structure in present-day Jerusalem. The point of the imagery seems to be the strength of the woman's neck and its majesty.

4:5 The man moves from the neck to the woman's two breasts. They are likened to two fawns, twins of a gazelle doe, perhaps because she is young (see Song 8:8; cf. Song 8:10), though the emphasis may be more on the animals' vigor and vitality. Twinship, as in Song 4:2, connotes perfect symmetry. Both graze and lilies have been mentioned before in allusive ways (Song 2:1-2, 16). See Song 6:2-3; compare with Song 5:13; 7:2-3.

4:6-7 Before . . . flee: See Song 2:17, where the same sentiment is expressed. Only here it is the man who says it. He is, in effect, becoming the gazelle or young stag the woman asked for in Song 2:17. The similarities with Song 2:17 suggest that the mountain of myrrh . . . the hill of frankincense in 4:6 is a further definition of "jagged mountains" in Song 2:17 (see note there) and confirmation of the erotic nature of the image, especially since the man immediately mentions how utterly beautiful his dearest is (see note on Song 1:9). His last statement, there's not a single flaw in you, serves as a fitting summary of the poem.

4:8-5:1 See note on Song 4:1-7. A second poem (or continuation of the preceding poem) celebrating the woman's beauty (4:8-16a; see also Song 4:1-7; 6:4-10; 6:13-7:9a; cf. Song 1:10) is interrupted briefly by the woman in response (4:16b), after which, the man, in turn, replies (5:1). In this section the man repeatedly calls her my bride (4:8, 9, 10, 11, 12; 5:1) as well as my sister (4:9, 10, 12; 5:1; see note on Song 4:9).

4:8 The mention of Lebanon, the peak of Amana, and the peaks of Senir and Hermon is odd since each is far from Jerusalem. The latter three are part of the Anti-Lebanon mountain range between present-day Lebanon and Syria. Their mention is probably metaphorical, connected with the wild animals mentioned in the verse, so that these areas symbolize inaccessibility (cf. note on Song 2:14-15) and danger (cf. Song 3:2; 5:7). The man wants the woman, here called my bride (see note on Song 4:9), to come away from these dangerous places or states to be with me.

4:9 my sister: This language is common in ancient Near Eastern love poetry. It doesn't imply that the lovers are genetically related but is symbolic of their closeness. It is also found in Song 4:10, 12; 5:1; see also Song 8:1, where the woman uses "my brother." my bride: a term of affection and perhaps of anticipation since it isn't clear that the lovers are married (cf. Song 8:8-10). It's also found in Song 4:8, 10, 11, 12; 5:1. one glance from your eyes: Compare with Song 1:15; 4:1; 6:5. one strand of your necklace: Compare with Song 1:10; 4:4.

4:10 Your loving . . . wine: See note on Song 1:2. my sister, my bride: See note on Song 4:9. your fragrance . . . perfume: Compare with Song 1:3, 12-13; 3:6; 4:6, 14; 5:1, 5, 13.

4:11 your lips: Compare with Song 4:3. my bride: See note on Song 4:9. honey and milk: instances of Sweetness like the woman's lips, only here they are provocatively located under your tongue (cf. Song 7:9a). fragrance of your garments is like . . . Lebanon: The scent of the famous trees of Lebanon can be smelled from far away.

4:12 Prv 5:15;

Song 5:1

4:13 Ecc 2:5;

Song 1:14;

Song 7:12

2:14 Ex 30:23;

Ps 45:8;

Prv 7:17;

Song 3:6;

Song 4:6

4:15 Jn 4:10

4:16 Song 4:13;

Song 5:1;

Song 6:2

5:1 Song 4:9;

Song 4:11;

Song 4:12;

Song 4:14;

Song 6:2

5:2 Song 2:14;

Song 4:9;

Song 6:9

12 An enclosed garden is my sister, my bride; an enclosed pool, a sealed spring.

13 Your limbs are an orchard of pomegranates with all kinds of luscious fruit, henna, and spices:

14 nard and saffron, sweet cane and cinnamon,
with all scented woods, myrrh, and aloes, with the very choicest perfumes!

15 You are a garden spring, a well of fresh water, streams from Lebanon.

16 Stir, north wind, and come, south wind!
Blow upon my garden; let its perfumes flow!

[Woman]

Let my love come to his garden;
let him eat its luscious fruit!

[Man]

5 I have come to my garden, my sister, my bride!
I have gathered my myrrh and my spices.
I have eaten my honeycomb with my honey;
I have drunk my wine and my milk.
Eat, dear friends!
Drink and get drunk on love!

A missed encounter

[Woman]

2 I was sleeping, but my heart was awake.
A sound! My love is knocking:

[Man]

“Open for me, my sister, my dearest, my dove, my perfect one!
My head is soaked with dew,
my hair, with the night mists.”

4:12 An enclosed garden... an enclosed pool, a sealed spring: Here, as elsewhere in the Song, the imagery suggests the woman's inaccessibility (cf. Song 2:14-15; 4:8) and her sensuous aspects (see note on Song 1:5-6). See note on Song 4:16a. my sister, my bride: See note on Song 4:9.

4:13-14 The description of the woman now considers her limbs which are compared to delicious tastes (pomegranates... all kinds of luscious fruit; see note on Song 2:3) and smells (henna, spices, nard, saffron, sweet cane, cinnamon, scented woods, myrrh, aloes, choicest perfumes). pomegranates: See note on Song 4:3. henna: See note on Song 1:14. nard: See note on Song 1:12. myrrh: See note on Song 1:13. 4:15 a garden spring: Compare with Song 4:12. The fresh water in this verse may be alluded to in John 7:38.

4:16a The man asks the wind to Blow upon my garden, so that its perfumes flow. Following Song 4:13-14, the referent of both the garden and the perfumes is the woman herself (see Song 1:5-6; 8:11-12; see notes on Song 4:16b; 5:1a). The flowing of the garden's perfumes suggests an undoing of its closed state in Song 4:12 (cf. note on Song 2:14-15).

4:16b Following the poetry and praise of Song 4:1-16a, and in direct reply to 4:16a, the woman invites the man (my love; see note on Song 1:13) to come to his garden and eat its luscious fruit—metaphorical language that is erotic (see notes on Song 1:5-6; 2:3; 7:7-8).

5:1a The man responds immediately to the woman's invitation in Song 4:16b. He has come to his garden. Once again he calls the woman my sister, my bride (see note on Song 4:9). These terms indicate that “my garden” is the same entity as “my sister, my bride,” and vice versa. See Song 8:12. myrrh and spices, which were previously associated with the woman, are now described as the man's (my). He claims to have eaten honeycomb and honey (cf. Song 4:11, 16a) and drunk wine and milk (cf. Song 4:11).

5:1b The speaker is unclear. It may be spoken by the lovers to the audience or may be a poetic aside by the author to the lovers themselves. The repetition of the key verbs Eat and Drink and the additional imperative to get drunk on love (or “on lovemaking”; cf. Song 1:2; Prov 5:19; 7:18) fits the latter interpretation particularly well and serves as a fitting climax to their encounter.

5:2-6:3 A second dream-like episode (see Song 3:1-5 and note), is recounted in 5:2-7 and runs until the woman finds her lover in 6:3. The house that is evoked in the poem may represent the woman's own body. The woman's search for the man leads her to seek the help of the daughters of Jerusalem (5:8), who ask her, in turn, what is so special about her lover (5:9). The woman responds with a poem praising the man's beauty (5:10-16), at which point the other women agree to help (6:1). But the woman no longer needs help; she is suddenly clear about where her lover is (6:2-3; cf. Song 3:4).

5:2a I was sleeping, but my heart was awake: What follows is evidently a dream (cf. Song 3:1). My lover: See note on Song 1:13. is knocking: Compare with Song 2:9. This verse may be alluded to in Revelation 3:20.

5:2b The man either interrupts the poem here, or, more likely, the woman quotes him as she does in Song 2:10-14.

[Woman]

- <sup>3</sup>“I have taken off my tunic—
why should I put it on again?
I have bathed my feet—
why should I get them dirty?”
- <sup>4</sup>My love put his hand in through the latch hole, and my body ached for him.
- <sup>5</sup>I rose; I went to open for my love, and my hands dripped myrrh,
my fingers, liquid myrrh,
over the handles of the lock.
- <sup>6</sup>I went and opened for my love, but my love had turned, gone away.
I nearly died when he turned away.
I looked for him but couldn't find him.
I called out to him, but he didn't answer me.
- <sup>7</sup>They found me—the guards who make their rounds in the city.
They struck me, bruised me.
They took my shawl away from me, those guards of the city walls!
- <sup>8</sup>I place you under oath, daughters of Jerusalem:
If you find my love, what should you tell him?
That I'm weak with love!

[Daughters of Jerusalem]

- <sup>9</sup>How is your lover different from any other lover, you who are the most beautiful of women?
How is your lover different from any other lover, that you make us swear a solemn pledge?

In praise of him[Woman]

- <sup>10</sup>My lover is radiant and ruddy;
he stands out among ten thousand!
- <sup>11</sup>His head is finest gold;
his wavy hair, black as a raven.

He requests entry to the house because he is soaked from being outside at night (cf. Song 2:9), my sister. See note on Song 4:9. my dearest: See note on Song 1:9. my dove: See note on Song 2:1-14. my perfect one: also found in Song 6:9. 5:3 The woman replies that she is already ready for bed, but her subsequent acquiescence to the man's reply indicates she is at best teasing him and may be enticing him since she is undressed and bathed.

5:4-5 The poetry is highly suggestive but does not explicitly identify the latch hole, the myrrh, or the lock. Even though 5:4 says the woman's body ached for him, the man remains outside of her house, as she discovers in Song 5:6. My love: See note on Song 1:13. myrrh: See Song 1:13.

5:6 When the woman opens the door, she finds my love gone (see note on Song 1:13). No reason is given for his sudden departure, perhaps reinforcing the dream-like quality of this passage. The aching of the woman's body in Song 5:4 is now matched by the equally poignant statement: I nearly died when he turned away. I looked for him but couldn't find him: Compare with Song 3:1-2.

5:7 See Song 3:3, but here the woman claims that the guards struck me, bruised me. They took my shawl away from me. No reasons are given for this abuse, which is disturbing and graphically portrayed, but which is also quickly dropped. At the very least, it underscores the drama of the poem and the strangeness of the dream scene. It is also yet another instance of the dangers of love (cf. Song 3:2; 4:8).

5:8 I place you under oath: See Song 3:5; compare with Song 2:7; but the expected continuation about not rousing love isn't repeated here. Instead, the daughters of Jerusalem (see note on Song 1:5-6) are asked to tell the man, if they find my love (see note on Song 1:13), that the woman is weak with love (see Song 2:5).

5:9 Apparently spoken by the daughters of Jerusalem (see note on Song 1:5-6) who have been directly addressed by the woman in Song 5:8. But instead of agreeing to her request, they ask for further information about how your lover is different from any other lover. They also call her the most beautiful of women (cf. Song 4:7; see note on Song 1:8). This odd response serves to introduce the woman's praise of the man's beauty in Song 5:10-16.

5:10-16 The woman praises the man's physical beauty, using metaphors for different parts of the man's body (head, wavy hair, eyes, cheeks, lips, arms, belly, thighs, appearance, mouth) that are every bit as evocative as those used by the man for the woman's body (see Song 4:1-7; 4:8-16a; 6:4-10; 6:13-7:9a). In some cases, the metaphors are identical (see note on Song 5:12; see sidebar, "The Garden of Eden" at Song 7). The woman's description of the man is somewhat more static, however, than his description of her. At times it seems almost statuesque,

5:3 Lk 11:7
5:4 Gn 43:30;
1Ki 3:26;
Jer 31:20;
1Jn 3:17
5:6 Song 3:1,
Song 5:2
5:7 Song 3:3
5:8 Song 2:5,
Song 2:7
5:10 1Sa 16:12;
Ps 45:2
5:11 Song 5:2

5:12 Song 1:15,
Song 4:1
5:15 1Ki 4:33
5:16 Song 7:9
6:1 Song 1:8,
Song 5:9
6:3 Song 2:16,
Song 7:10
6:4 1Ki 14:17,
1Ki 15:33;
Ps 48:2, Ps 50:2;
Song 6:10
6:5 Song 4:1
6:6 Song 4:2

- <sup>12</sup> His eyes are like doves by channels of water.
They are bathing in milk,
sitting by brimming pools.
- <sup>13</sup> His cheeks are like fragrant plantings, towers of spices.
His lips are lilies dripping liquid myrrh.
- <sup>14</sup> His arms are gold cylinders studded with jewels.
His belly is smooth ivory encrusted with sapphires.
- <sup>15</sup> His thighs are pillars of whitest stone set on pedestals of gold.
His appearance—like Lebanon, stately, like the cedars.
- <sup>16</sup> His mouth is everything sweet, every bit of him desirable.

This is my love, this my dearest, daughters of Jerusalem!

[Daughters of Jerusalem]

6 Which way did your lover go,
you who are the most beautiful of women?
Which way did your lover turn,
that we may look for him along with you?

[Woman]

- <sup>2</sup> My lover has gone down to his garden, to the fragrant plantings,
to graze in the gardens,
to gather the lilies.
- <sup>3</sup> I belong to my lover and my lover belongs to me—
the one grazing among the lilies.

An overwhelming sight

[Man]

- <sup>4</sup> You are as beautiful, my dearest, as Tirzah, as lovely as Jerusalem, formidable as those lofty sights.
- <sup>5</sup> Turn your eyes away from me, for they overwhelm me!

Your hair is like a flock of goats as they stream down from Gilead.

- <sup>6</sup> Your teeth are like a flock of ewes as they come up from the washing pool—
all of them perfectly matched,
not one of them lacks its twin.

replete with fine materials like gold, jewels, ivory, and sapphires.

5:12 eyes are like doves: Compare with Song 1:15; 4:1 where the man makes this same statement about the woman's eyes.

5:13 cheeks . . . lips . . . lilies . . . liquid myrrh: Compare with the similar imagery in Song 2:1-2, 16; 4:3, 5; 5:5; 6:2-3; 7:2. fragrant plantings: See Song 6:2.

5:14 arms: Compare with Song 4:13. belly: Compare with Song 7:2.

5:15 like Lebanon: See Song 3:9; 4:8, 11, 15; 5:15; 7:4.

5:16a mouth: Compare with Song 4:3. every bit of him desirable: a fitting equivalent to Song 4:7.

5:16b The woman's conclusion, summarizing for the daughters of Jerusalem (Song 5:8; see note on Song 1:5-6) why her love (see note on Song 1:13) and her dearest (see note on Song 1:9, but here used of the man) is different from all other lovers (see Song 5:9).

6:1 The daughters of Jerusalem (Song 5:8-9), evidently convinced by the poem in Song 5:10-16, ask how they can assist the most beautiful of women (see Song 5:9) in her search. 6:2 Suddenly the woman is clear about the man's location

(cf. Song 3:4). Perhaps she has awoken from her dream (cf. Song 5:2). My lover (see note on Song 1:13), she says, has gone down to his garden (see notes on Song 5:1a; 1:5-6). fragrant plantings: See Song 5:13. to graze in the gardens: Compare with Song 4:5; 4:16b-5:1; 6:3. the lilies: Compare with Song 2:1-2, 16; 4:5; 5:13; 6:3; 7:2.

6:3 I belong to my lover . . . my lover belongs to me: See Song 2:16 (cf. Song 7:10). the one grazing among the lilies: See Song 2:1-2; 4:5; 4:16b-5:1; 5:13; 7:2; compare with Song 2:16;

6:4-10 The third poem by the man praising the woman. The others are found in Song 4:1-7; 4:8-16a; 6:13-7:9a (cf. Song 1:10).

6:4 The man begins by comparing his dearest (see note on Song 1:9) to Tirzah, a site in Israel that was once capital of the northern kingdom (see Josh 12:24; 1 Kgs 15:21), and Jerusalem, capital of the southern kingdom. The woman is as formidable as those lofty sights (see Song 6:10; see note on Song 2:4).

6:5 The man finds your eyes overwhelming. Compare with Song 1:15; 4:1. Your hair . . . Gilead: See Song 4:1 and note.

6:6 Your teeth . . . twin: See Song 4:2 and note.

<sup>7</sup> Like a slice of pomegranate is the curve of your face behind the veil of your hair.

<sup>8</sup> There may be sixty queens and eighty secondary wives, young women beyond counting,

<sup>9</sup> but my dove, my perfect one, is one of a kind.

To her mother she's the only one,
radiant to the one who bore her.

Young women see her and declare her fortunate;
queens and secondary wives praise her.

<sup>10</sup> Who is this, gazing down like the morning star, beautiful as the full moon,
radiant as the sun,
formidable as those lofty sights?

Transported

[Man]

<sup>11</sup> To the nut grove I went down to look upon the fresh growth in the valley, to see whether the vine was in flower, whether the pomegranates had bloomed.

<sup>12</sup> I hardly knew myself;
she had set me in an official's chariot!ⓔ

Graceful dancer

[Man]

<sup>13</sup><sup>b</sup> Come back, come back, Shulammitel!ⓑ
Come back, come back, so we may admire you.
How you all admire the Shulammitel as she whirls between two circles of dancers!

<sup>7</sup> How graceful are your sandaled feet, willing woman!
The smooth curves of your thighs—like fine jewelry, the work of an artist's hands!

ⓔOr I hardly knew what happened; my passion set me in an official's chariot! LXX, Vulg. Aminadab's chariots; Heb. uncertain ⓑ7:1 in Heb. ⓑA name or title for the woman

6:7 Like a slice . . . hair. See Song 4:3 and note.

6:8-9 The man compares his dove (see note on Song 2:10-14), his perfect one (see Song 5:2) to the royal harem. Here the kingly role of Song 1:4, 12 returns, this time in the man's own mouth. The man deems the woman one of a kind, and all others agree: from the mother . . . who bore her (cf. Song 1:4; 3:4, 11; 8:2) to the Young women who see her and declare her fortunate (or "happy"), to the queens and secondary wives who praise her. Compare with Song 8:11-12.

6:10 In the final verse of the poem, the man likens the woman to even loftier subjects: the morning star, the full moon, the sun. Her look is equal to their gaze (cf. Song 6:5), her beauty and radiance to theirs. As the poem began, so it ends: the woman is formidable as those lofty sights (see Song 6:4; see note on Song 2:4).

6:11-12 are difficult to understand, and the meaning of 6:12 is obscure (see translation note). The identity of the speaker is also not certain: if it is still the man, the relationship between these verses and those that precede and follow is unclear. The garden in question could be an allusion to the woman or to the place where the lovers meet (see note on Song 1:5-6). The sense may be that their rendezvous transported the speaker (the man or the woman?) to "another world" but how that relates to an official's chariot is obscure.

6:13-7:13 The man's fourth and final poem celebrating the woman's beauty (6:13-7:9a; see Song 4:1-7; 4:8-16a; 6:4-10; cf. Song 1:10). The woman interrupts him in the middle of 7:9, completing the man's thought (and the poetic line) before offering a sentiment that echoes Song 2:16 and Song 6:3 but takes it even further (see note on 7:10; see sidebar, "The Garden of Eden"). She continues speaking through 7:13.

6:13 Shulammitel: The word seems to be a title of some sort, since in Hebrew it has the definite article ("the Shulammitel"). The word could be related to the Hebrew root designating "completion, wholeness," or even "peace" (Heb. shalom; cf. Song 8:10). In this sense, the word would refer to the woman's perfection (Song 4:7; 5:2; 6:9). Alternatively, it could be wordplay on the name "Solomon," which comes from the same root. Another possibility is that the word means "girl from Shulem," though no place by that name is mentioned elsewhere in the Bible, unless it is a shortened form of "Jerusalem" or if it is a variant of Shunem (mentioned in Josh 19:18; 1 Sam 28:4; 2 Kgs 4:8; cf. 1 Kgs 1:3 for "the Shunammite"). so we may admire implies a larger group of speakers or the man's identification with others who admire her as she dances (cf. Song 1:3; 8:13).

7:1 The man begins this description of the woman with her sandaled feet before moving to her thighs, which are compared to fine jewelry. The sentiment is similar to what the woman said of the man in Song 5:15.

7:4 Nm 21:26;
Song 4:4
7:6 Song 1:15,
Song 1:16,
Song 4:10
7:7 Song 4:5
7:8 Song 2:5
7:9 Song 5:16
7:11 Song 2:10,
Song 4:8

- <sup>2</sup>Your navel, cupped like the full moon—may it never lack spiced wine!
Your belly is a mound of winnowed wheat edged with lilies.
- <sup>3</sup>Your two breasts are like two fawns,
twins of a gazelle doe;
- <sup>4</sup>your neck, like a tower of ivory;
your eyes, pools in Heshbon, by the gate of that lordly city!<sup>1</sup>
Your profile is like the tower of Lebanon, looking out toward Damascus.
- <sup>5</sup>Your head crowns you like Mount Carmel, and your hair, braided in royal purple—
a king is bound by the tresses!
- <sup>6</sup>You are so beautiful, so lovely—my love, delightful one!<sup>2</sup>
- <sup>7</sup>Your stately form resembles a date palm, and your breasts are like clustered fruit.
- <sup>8</sup>I say, "I will climb the palm tree;
I will hold its fruit!"
May your breasts be now like grape clusters, and the scent of your breath like apples!
- <sup>9</sup>Your palate is like excellent wine . . .

[Woman]

. . . flowing smoothly for my love, gliding through the lips and teeth.<sup>1</sup>

- <sup>10</sup>I belong to my lover, and his longing is only for me.

The ripeness of love

[Woman]

- <sup>11</sup>Come, my love:
Let's go out to the field and rest all night among the flowering henna.

<sup>1</sup>Or by the gate of Bath-rabbim <sup>2</sup>With Syr and Aquila daughter of delights; MT love in delights or love with every charm
<sup>1</sup>LXX, Syr, Vulg; MT through the lips of those who sleep; Heb uncertain

7:2 The woman's navel and belly are described sensuously with images taken from nature and food. full moon: Compare with Song 6:10. wine: See note on Song 1:2. The mound of winnowed wheat may suggest the shape and color of the woman's stomach as well as imply her fertility. On the belly, compare also with the woman's sentiment in Song 5:14. lilies: Compare with Song 2:1-2, 16; 4:5; 5:13; 6:2-3.

7:3 See Song 4:5 and note.

7:4 your neck: Compare with Song 4:4. your eyes, pools: Compare with the woman's sentiment in Song 5:12. Heshbon is east of Jerusalem. that lordly city: or "Bath-rabbim," which is otherwise unknown; perhaps it is a gate or location in Heshbon. In light of the comparison with the tower of Lebanon, Your profile is a better translation than the standard "your nose." It isn't clear what this tower is (cf. note on Song 4:4). Perhaps it is a landmark in Lebanon that resembles a tower. Whatever the case, the context makes clear that it is intended as a compliment, which may relate to the woman's stateliness or strength (cf. Song 4:4; 7:7).

7:5 Your head . . . your hair: Compare with the woman's remark in Song 5:11. a king: Compare with note on Song 1:4. bound by the tresses: The man finds the woman utterly captivating. Compare with Song 6:5a.

7:6 A dense combination of the man's favorite terms for the woman. See translation note; see Song 1:15; 4:7 and notes.

7:7-8 The woman is now compared to a date palm with her breasts its clustered fruit (cf. Song 4:5; 7:3). The man resolves to climb the palm tree and hold its fruit, hoping that her breasts will be like grapes and her breath like apples (cf. Song 2:3 and note). The suggestiveness of the poetry here and in what follows in Song 7:9-13 is similar to and every bit as strong as that found in Song 4:16-5:1.

7:9 The man begins this verse, comparing the woman's palate to excellent wine (cf. Song 4:11; see note on Song 1:2), when the woman breaks into his sentence, completing its image and poetic form. It's hard to imagine a more powerful way to show the closeness and unity of the two lovers. gliding . . . teeth: See translation note.

7:10 I belong to my lover has been said by the woman before, but instead of completing the thought with the usual "and my lover belongs to me" (as in Song 2:16; 6:3), this time she says his longing is only for me. "Longing," a rare term in the OT, connotes strong desire. For a discussion of the significance of 7:10 for the garden of Eden story and the equality of the sexes, see sidebar, "The Garden of Eden" and the introduction.

7:11-13 The woman continues speaking, offering the man a night and morning of romance.

7:11 my love: See note on Song 1:13. the field: See note on Song 1:5-6. flowering henna: See Song 1:14.

The Garden of Eden The word “desire” or “longing” (Heb. teshuqa) occurs only three times in the OT: Genesis 3:16; 4:7; and Song 7:10. The instances in Genesis 3:16 and Song 7:10 are mutually illuminating because they both speak about desire between the sexes. In Genesis 3:16, after the wrongdoing in the garden, God tells the woman, “You will desire your husband, but he will rule over you.” In the middle of Song 7:9, however, the woman breaks in, finishing the man’s sentence, and states, “I belong to my lover, and his longing is only for me.” In Genesis, then, the woman’s desire (teshuqa) for her husband is defined as a hardship (“he will rule over you”), but this is entirely reversed in the Song of Songs, where it is now the man who longs (teshuqa) for the woman without any accompanying negative sentiments. This reversal is not accidental, nor is it coincidence that it takes place in the Song of Songs, which is full of garden imagery (see note on Song 1:5–6). In the Song of Songs, the “battle of the sexes”—one of the unfortunate outcomes of the wrongdoing in the garden of Eden—is finally overcome. It is ended by means of the beautiful, egalitarian, mutual, and reciprocal love between a man and a woman.

<sup>12</sup>Let’s set out early for the vineyards.

We will see if the vines have budded and the blossoms opened, see if the pomegranates have bloomed.
There I’ll give my loving to you.

<sup>13</sup>The mandrakes give off their scent, and at our doorways is every delicacy—fresh or ripened—my love, I have kept them hidden for you.

Wishing

[Woman]

8 If only you were as my brother—the one who nursed at my mother’s breast.
I would find you in the street and kiss you,
and no one would shame me for it.

<sup>2</sup>I would lead you, I would bring you to my mother’s house; she would teach me what to do.<sup>m</sup>
I would give you spiced wine to drink, some of my fresh pomegranate juice.

<sup>3</sup>His left arm is beneath my head, and his right embraces me!

<sup>4</sup>Make a solemn pledge, daughters of Jerusalem,
never to rouse, never to arouse love until it desires.

Love, strong and invaluable

[Daughters of Jerusalem]

<sup>5</sup>Who is this coming up from the wilderness leaning against her lover?

<sup>m</sup>Or you would teach me; LXX, Syr to my mother’s house, and to the chamber of the one who conceived me (cf 3:4)

7:12 vineyards . . . blossoms: See Song 1:5–6. pomegranates have bloomed: See Song 6:11; see note on Song 4:3. There I’ll give my loving to you: See notes on Song 1:2; 1:5–6.

7:13 mandrakes: a plant thought to be an aphrodisiac, useful for fertility (see Gen 30:14–16). my love: See note on Song 1:13. I have kept them hidden for you: “them” refers to every delicacy—fresh or ripened; these delicacies, in turn, seem to refer to the woman herself (see note on Song 2:3).

8:1–4 The woman continues speaking, wishing for a romantic exchange with the man (8:1–2), which she evidently gets in 8:3, leading her to repeat her statement about not rousing love (8:4).

8:1 my brother: As was the case with “my sister,” the language here is commonly used in ancient Near Eastern love poetry to symbolize the lovers’ closeness (see note on Song 4:9). It doesn’t imply that they are genetically related. and no one would shame me: Perhaps public displays of affection were frowned upon; the woman desires to kiss the man and more (see Song 8:2–3).

8:2 bring you to my mother’s house: Compare with Song 1:4; 3:4, 11. she would teach me what to do: See translation note. I would give you . . . to drink: In Hebrew this is a word play with “I would kiss you” in Song 8:1. my fresh pomegranate juice: See Song 7:12; compare with Song 4:3 and note; see note on Song 2:3.

8:3 See note on Song 2:6.

8:4 See Song 2:7; 3:5 and notes (cf. Song 5:8).

8:5–14 The final verses seem disorganized. They may be

H: 6 Prv 6:34;

Is 49:16;

Jer 22:24;

Hag 2:23

R: 7 Prv 6:35

8: 9 1Ki 6:15

R: 10 Song 4:5;

Song 7:3;

Song 7:4;

Song 8:9;

Eze 16:7

[Woman]

Under the apple tree I aroused you—there, where your mother labored with you, there where, laboring, she bore you.

<sup>6</sup>Set me as a seal over your heart, as a seal upon your arm,
for love is as strong as death, passionate love unrelenting as the grave.<sup>a</sup>

Its darts are darts of fire—divine flame!

<sup>7</sup>Rushing waters can't quench love; rivers can't wash it away.

If someone gave all his estate in exchange for love,
he would be laughed to utter shame.

[The Woman's Brothers]

<sup>8</sup>Our sister is small; she has no breasts.
What will we do for our sister on the day that she is spoken for?

<sup>9</sup>If she is a city wall, then we will build a turret of silver on her.<sup>o</sup>

And if she is a door, then we will barricade her<sup>p</sup> with a panel of cedar.

[Woman]

<sup>10</sup>I'm a city wall, and my breasts are the towers.
So now I'm in his eyes as one who brings peace.

[Man]

<sup>11</sup>Solomon had a vineyard in Baal-hamon.
He gave charge of the vineyard to keepers;
one would bring in exchange for its fruit a thousand pieces of silver.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>o</sup>Or on it (the city wall) <sup>p</sup>Or it (the door)

appendices to the rest of the book. The voicing seems to switch between a third party (perhaps the daughters of Jerusalem) in 8:5a, to the woman in 8:5b-7, to her brothers in 8:8-9, back to the woman in 8:10, to the man in 8:11-13, and then finally to the woman again in 8:14.

8:5a Who is this coming up: Compare with Song 3:6-7, but here the answer must be the woman who speaks in Song 8:5b.

8:5b apple tree: See Song 2:3; 7:7-8. where your mother labored with you: Compare with Song 1:4; 3:4, 11; 8:2 and notes.

8:6 seal: Seals were used to mark property and designate ownership. They often carried their owner's name and a picture of some sort. In 8:6, the woman wants to be sealed on the man's heart and arm, marking him inwardly and outwardly as her own. The reason for this desire is because of the fierce strength of love which is as strong as death . . . unrelenting as the grave. In contrast to the rest of the Song, the imagery in 8:6-7 is more cosmic than agricultural. divine flame: Some find a possible allusion to God's name in this word, but, if so, it is very subtle (cf. note on Song 2:7).

8:7 Nothing can stop love, and nothing is as priceless as love.

8:8-9 The woman's brothers (see Song 1:6) break in here, though there is no obvious connection between their speech and what precedes it. Perhaps the woman is quoting what her brothers said about her when she was younger. Her response is found in Song 8:10.

8:8 small; she has no breasts: Compare with Song 4:5; 7:3, 7-8; 8:10. What will we do for our sister: The brothers contemplate courses of action once their sister is grown up. spoken for: married, perhaps, or engaged.

8:9 The imagery in this verse is unclear (see translation notes). If she is a city wall: perhaps a symbol of the woman's rejection of suitors, her maturity, or her chastity. then we will build a turret of silver: a response, not clear in force, to whatever the city wall designates. if she is a door: perhaps a symbol for the woman's acceptance of an early marriage, her immaturity, or a possible lack of chastity. then we will barricade her: a response to the door image, apparently indicating that the brothers will do what is necessary to protect their sister.

8:10 I'm a city wall: The woman clarifies the situation for her brothers, opting for the first of their two scenarios in Song 8:9. This would mean that she rejects all suitors save her chosen lover or that she is now ready for marriage and love. my breasts are the towers: She is no longer the brothers' immature sister (Song 8:8). in his eyes: evidently a reference to the man. as one who brings peace: or well-being or wholeness (Heb. shalom). Compare with note on Song 6:13.

8:11-13 The man seems to speak these verses. Solomon: See note on Song 1:1. had a vineyard: perhaps a real and highly valuable vineyard, or perhaps a symbolic one, which would refer to the royal harem (cf. Song 6:8; note on Song 1:5-6). Baal-hamon: The location is unknown. The name means "possessor of wealth," so it may be an allusion back to Solomon himself. My vineyard, my very own, is before me: The man's vineyard is the woman (see Song 5:1; see note on Song 1:5-6). He prizes her above the thousand that Solomon has (see 1 Kgs 11:3). Compare with Song 6:9.

<sup>12</sup> My vineyard, my very own, is before me.
You can have the thousand, Solomon<sup>a</sup>— with two hundred for those who tend the fruit!

<sup>13</sup> You who sit in the gardens, my companions are listening for your voice.
Let me hear it!

[Woman]

<sup>14</sup> "Take flight, my love, and be like a gazelle or a young stag on the mountains of spice!"

<sup>a</sup>Cf 1 Kgs 11:3

8:13 The man addresses the woman as You who sit in the gardens. He asks to hear her voice along with his companions who are also listening.

8:14 The final lines belong to the woman. Take flight is somewhat ambiguous: could the woman be telling the man to leave her? The similarities to Song 2:17 suggest otherwise, as does the mention of the mountains of spice (cf. Song 4:6), which is probably a reference to the woman herself (see notes on Song 1:5-6; 2:17). If so, the woman has not only answered the man's request in Song 8:13, she has invited him again to join her in romance (cf. Song 4:16b; 7:11-13).

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

2. The second part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

3. The third part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

4. The fourth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

5. The fifth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

6. The sixth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

7. The seventh part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

8. The eighth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

9. The ninth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

10. The tenth part of the document is a list of names and addresses, including:

ISAIAH

Isaiah is one of the Bible's most well-loved books. It is also one of its most complex works, because it reflects settings that span hundreds of years of Judean history. Some parts refer to the late 8th century BCE when Assyria dominated the ancient Near East. Some parts refer to Babylonian times, and other parts emerged deep into, if not beyond, the era of Persian rule that began in the late 6th century.

No other prophetic book is more often quoted in the NT, nor appears more frequently in the Jewish annual lectionary and contemporary Catholic and Protestant lectionaries.

Isaiah was Amoz's son and is the Bible's only 8th-century prophet in Jerusalem. He was a sophisticated poet with an educated grasp of Israel's traditions. He enjoyed ready access to Kings Ahaz and Hezekiah, but insisted that Jerusalem's elite bear deep ethical responsibility for those they governed. Prominent in his own prophecies, as well as in those that were later added to his book, are the paired expressions "justice" and "righteousness." Isaiah held that being God's people involved not only worship of Jerusalem's God but also behavior consistent with God's plans. God's care extended especially to the people without wealth, who stood outside the halls of power. Isaiah was appalled by those who used the legal system to enrich themselves and cheat the needy (Isa 10:1-2).

A major theme of Isaiah 1-39 is arrogance. Isaiah shows that the urge toward human greatness is empty. Pride, whether belonging to oppressor nations or to classes of people within Judean society, would inevitably be thwarted by God, who has planned a day "against all that is prideful and haughty" (Isa 2:12). People and even whole societies who pay no attention to the demands of justice won't stand, he said, but as God's enemies they are bound for destruction.

City of David and Mount Zion form the east
David Bivin/LifeintheHolyLand.com

The prophet Amos, speaking a generation earlier, warned the rulers of Israel while the nation was still strong that the threat of Assyrian conquest was on the horizon. Isaiah's prophetic career began as international instability grew. Early on he saw Israel and Aram, Judah's more powerful neighbors to the north, attempt to remove Jerusalem's King Ahaz, and then vanish before Assyria's war machine. From that point until the near destruction of Judah by the Assyrian king Sennacherib in 701 BCE, Isaiah saw the stable community of worshippers shrink from two kingdoms to one city. He accepted the grim task of interpreting in ethical and theological terms the disasters they witnessed. Isaiah attempted to warn Jerusalem that Israel's fate could happen to Judah if they continued to ignore God's just demands.

Isaiah's reputation apparently was enhanced by Jerusalem's near destruction in 701 BCE and by the grace of Jerusalem's survival. In 587 Babylon replaced Assyria as the regional superpower. Babylon then attacked and destroyed Jerusalem. Thus Isaiah's reputation as an authentic prophet grew. Other prophets' concerns with Jerusalem's future during and beyond the Babylonian exile became attached to Isaiah, expanding his book into a much longer work. These additions were placed within his writings and in compositions appended to the end of his prophecies at Isaiah 39.

While a few scholars maintain that the whole book originated with Isaiah, most scholars speak of the book's primary divisions as First Isaiah (Isa 1–39); Second Isaiah (Isa 40–55); and Third Isaiah (Isa 56–66). Broadly speaking, the material in First Isaiah is associated with the period of Assyrian rule. Second Isaiah deals with the end of Babylonian control. Third Isaiah fits with Persian reign, beginning in the late 6th century BCE. This division, however, is accurate only to a limited degree. The settings reflected in most of the book are actually far more complex. Within First Isaiah are many extensions that can be attributed to Persian times—that is, fully as late as anything appearing in Isaiah 40–66.

Literary genres found in Isaiah 1–39 include not only poetic prophecy but prophetic prose, first and third person narratives and narrative snippets, hymns, dirges, and early apocalyptic writing. Seven chapters at the end (Isa 33–39) seem designed to conclude this portion and to join it to what follows.

Isaiah 40–55 consists of more self-contained and unified poetic sections associated with the end of the Babylonian exile and the hope that those who had been removed from Jerusalem would return and resettle. Here a thoroughly monotheistic vision of God as the only God, the creator of heaven and earth, is proclaimed over and over, alongside a hopeful vision of restoration for Jerusalem and Jerusalem's people.

By contrast, Isaiah 56–66 appears to be a compilation reflecting various viewpoints, settings, and concerns surrounding Jerusalem, arranged in an envelope structure around the central chapters, Isaiah 60–62, where close ties to the themes and language of Second Isaiah are found.

What holds the book together is neither authorship nor time, but rather geopolitical and theological concern. The entire book focuses attention on the continuing but troubled relationship between the city of Jerusalem and Jerusalem's God. The book of Isaiah probes the question of righteousness, both divine and human, within this relationship between the people and God. Many other nations beyond Judah populate the book, and it's finally not a king of Jerusalem but Persia's King Cyrus who is called God's "anointed" (Isa 45:1). Nevertheless, Jerusalem remains central in the imaginations of the several prophets who contributed to Isaiah's formation. Having endured destruction and reconstruction, Jerusalem is seen as having a glorious future as the world's center, the home of God's temple, the destination of nations who seek to learn the ways of peace.

I. Prophecies Centering on Ahaz's Crisis (1:1–12:6)

- A. Overview of Jerusalem's judgment and redemption (1:1-31)
  - 1. The vision of Isaiah (1:1)
  - 2. Overture to Isaiah's message (1:2-31)
    - a. Rebels condemned (1:2-9)
    - b. Hands filled with bloodshed (1:10-20)
    - c. Zion will be redeemed (1:21-31)
- B. Jerusalem's future: judgment and cleansing (2:1–4:6)
  - 1. Two visions: a dream and a nightmare (2:1-22)
    - a. The Lord's mountain (2:1-5)
    - b. Everyone is brought low (2:6-22)
  - 2. Haughtiness brought low in Jerusalem (3:1–4:1)
    - a. Your leaders mislead you (3:1-12)
    - b. The goods taken from the poor are in your houses (3:13-15)
    - c. Daughter Zion is haughty (3:16–4:1)
  - 3. Zion's glorious future (4:2-6)
- C. Jerusalem's future: terror and trust (5:1–12:6)
  - 1. Warnings and doom (5:1-30)
    - a. Song of the vineyard (5:1-7)
    - b. Sayings of doom (5:8-24)
    - c. God's powerful hand (5:25-30)
  - 2. The divine throne room (6:1-13)
  - 3. Reassurance to King Ahaz (7:1-25)
    - a. It won't happen (7:1-9)
    - b. The sign of Immanuel (7:10-17)
    - c. The devastated land (7:18-25)
  - 4. Isaiah's testimonies (8:1–9:1)
  - 5. Promise and judgment (9:2-21)
    - a. A great light (9:2-7)
    - b. God's hand still stretched out (9:8-21)
  - 6. Assyria as God's weapon (10:1-34)
    - a. Wicked laws (10:1-4)
    - b. Assyria as God's punishing weapon (10:5-19)
    - c. A few will return (10:20-27a)
    - d. The exalted laid low (10:27b-34)
  - 7. Justice, righteousness, and peace (11:1-16)
    - a. A shoot from Jesse's stump (11:1-9)
    - b. A signal to the peoples (11:10-16)
  - 8. A hymn of trust (12:1-6)

II. Prophecies Concerning the Nations of the World (13:1–27:13)

- A. The fall of the tyrant empire (13:1–14:32)
  - 1. Babylon falls (13:1-22)
  - 2. The fall of the tyrant (14:1-32)
    - a. Compassion for Jacob (14:1-2)
    - b. Mockery of a tyrant (14:3-23)
    - c. Promise for oppressed Judah (14:24-27)
    - d. An oracle concerning the Philistines (14:28-32)
  - 3. Concerning Moab (15:1–16:14)
  - 4. Concerning Damascus and Ephraim (17:1-14)

- 5. Oracles concerning Cush and Egypt (18:1–20:6)
  - a. Concerning Cush (18:1-7)
  - b. Concerning Egypt (19:1-15)
  - c. Blessed be God's people (19:16-25)
  - d. Isaiah naked and barefoot (20:1-6)
- 6. The destruction of Babylon, and other stern visions (21:1-17)
  - a. Fallen, fallen is Babylon (21:1-10)
  - b. A mysterious dialogue (21:11-17)
- 7. Two rebukes (22:1-25)
  - a. Jerusalemites rebuked (22:1-14)
  - b. An administrator rebuked (22:15-25)
- 8. Concerning Tyre (23:1-18)
- 9. The fall of the city of chaos and the restoration of the people (24:1–27:13)
  - a. City of chaos falls (24:1-23)
  - b. Rejoicing in God's salvation (25:1-12)
  - c. Trusting in God forever (26:1-21)
  - d. Scattered people return (27:1-13)

III. Prophecies for Hezekiah's Days and Beyond (28:1–66:24)

- A. Judgment and hope surrounding Hezekiah (28:1–32:20)
  - 1. Confrontations with Jerusalem's scoffers (28:1-29)
    - a. Judgment on Ephraim and Judah (28:1-13)
    - b. The covenant with death overturned (28:14-22)
    - c. Plowing and threshing (28:23-29)
  - 2. Who will hear the message? (29:1-24)
    - a. Ariel besieged but spared (29:1-12)
    - b. The wisdom of their wise (29:13-24)
  - 3. The Lord of Hosts will protect Jerusalem (30:1–31:9)
    - a. Help from Egypt is futile (30:1-18)
    - b. This is the way (30:19-26)
    - c. Assyria punished (30:27-33)
    - d. Doom to those going down to Egypt (31:1-9)
  - 4. The blessing of righteous rule (32:1-20)
    - a. A king rules for righteousness (32:1-8)
    - b. Warnings to the carefree (32:9-14)
    - c. A spirit from on high (32:15-20)
- B. Transitional oracles (33:1–35:10)
  - 1. Judgment and hope for the righteous (33:1-24)
  - 2. Contrasting futures for Edom and Zion (34:1–35:10)
    - a. Vengeance against Edom (34:1-17)
    - b. Fertile wilderness (35:1-10)
- C. Narratives concerning Hezekiah (36:1–39:8)
  - 1. The Assyrian crisis (36:1–37:38)
    - a. Sennacherib's message (36:1-22)
    - b. Hezekiah and Isaiah (37:1-13)
    - c. Hezekiah prays (37:14-38)
  - 2. Hezekiah's illness, and a visit from afar (38:1–39:8)

- a. Hezekiah's illness (38:1-22)
  - b. The Babylonian king's messengers (39:1-8)
- D. Prophecies from the end of the Babylonian era (40:1–55:13)
- 1. Overture concerning Jerusalem's restoration (40:1-31)
    - a. Comfort for God's people (40:1-11)
    - b. The incomparable God (40:12-25)
    - c. Power for the weary (40:26-31)
  - 2. Israel/Jacob section (41:1–48:22)
    - a. A victor from the east (41:1-7)
    - b. Israel as God's servant (41:8–42:9)
    - c. Warrior and mother, blindness and deafness (42:10-25)
    - d. Don't fear, don't remember (43:1-28)
    - e. You are my witnesses (44:1-28)
    - f. Cyrus as God's anointed (45:1-15)
    - g. Idols can't compare with God (45:16–46:13)
    - h. Daughter Babylon dethroned (47:1-15)
    - i. New things from now on (48:1-22)
  - 3. Zion/Jerusalem section (49:1–55:13)
    - a. The servant speaks up (49:1-13)
    - b. Compassion for Zion (49:14–50:3)
    - c. God's faithful servant (50:4-11)
    - d. Look to Abraham and Sarah (51:1-8)
    - e. Awake, arm of the Lord (51:9-23)
    - f. Awake, holy Zion (52:1-12)
    - g. Suffering servant (52:13–53:12)
    - h. Sing, barren woman (54:1-17)
    - i. Invitation to the feast (55:1-13)
- E. Prophecies primarily from the Persian period (56:1–66:24)
- 1. Justice and injustice in Jerusalem (56:1–59:21)
    - a. Keeper's of God's sabbath (56:1-8)
    - b. Neglectful leaders (56:9–57:2)
    - c. Accusations against idolaters (57:3-13)
    - d. Peace for the remorseful (57:14-21)
    - e. Fasting from injustice (58:1-14)
    - f. Alienation from God (59:1-8)
    - g. Injustice obscures vision (59:9-15a)
    - h. God will intervene (59:15b-21)
  - 2. Jerusalem's glorious future (60:1–62:12)
    - a. Jerusalem's coming radiance (60:1-22)
    - b. Joyful proclamations (61:1-11)
    - c. Jerusalem redeemed (62:1-12)
  - 3. Faithfulness and unfaithfulness in Jerusalem (63:1–66:24)
    - a. Vengeance against the nations (63:1-6)
    - b. A prayer of yearning (63:7–64:12)
    - c. Judgment for idolaters (65:1-16)
    - d. New creation and new Jerusalem (65:17-25)
    - e. Where God may be found (66:1-6)
    - f. Mother Zion (66:7-17)
    - g. Worshipers gathering from the nations (66:18-24)

Patricia K. Tull

1 The vision about Judah and Jerusalem that Isaiah, Amoz's son, saw in the days of Judah's kings Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah.

Rebels condemned

- <sup>2</sup>Hear you heavens, and listen earth,
for the LORD has spoken:
I reared children; I raised them,
and they turned against me!
- <sup>3</sup>An ox knows its owner, and a donkey its master's feeding trough.
But Israel doesn't know;
my people don't behave intelligently.
- <sup>4</sup>Doom! Sinful nation, people weighed down with crimes, evildoing offspring, corrupt children!
They have abandoned the LORD, despised the holy one of Israel;
they turned their backs on God.
- <sup>5</sup>Why do you invite further beatings?
Why continue to rebel?
Everyone's head throbs,
and everyone's heart fails.
- <sup>6</sup>From head to toe, none are well—only bruises, cuts, and raw wounds, not treated, not bandaged, not soothed with oil.
- <sup>7</sup>Your country is deserted, your cities burned with fire;
your land—strangers are devouring it in plain sight.
It's a wasteland, as when foreigners raid.
- <sup>8</sup>Daughter Zion is left like a small shelter in a vineyard, like a hut in a cucumber field, like a city besieged.<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>9</sup>If the LORD of heavenly forces had not spared a few of us, we would be like Sodom; we would resemble Gomorrah.

<sup>a</sup>LXX, Vulg, MT spared

1:1 2Ch 26:22,
2Ch 27:1, Is 2:1;
Hos 1:1, Mi 1:1
1:2 Dt 4:26;
Mi 1:2
1:3 Dt 32:28;
Jer 4:22, Jer 8:7,
Jer 9:3
1:4 Is 5:24,
Is 14:20
1:5 Is 9:13,
Is 31:6, Jer 2:30,
Jer 5:3
1:6 Ps 38:3;
Jer 8:22;
Lk 10:34
1:7 Lv 26:34;
Dt 28:33,
Dt 28:51; Is 5:5,
Is 6:11
1:8 Nm 11:5;
Job 27:18;
Ps 9:14;
Is 10:32,
Is 24:20
1:9 Gn 19:24;
Is 37:4; Ro 9:29

1:1 Many prophetic books, including Isaiah, begin with a superscription naming the prophet and often identifying his time and place. Isaiah lives in Judah's capital city during the reigns of four Judean kings in the 8th century BCE. Only the last two of these will actually appear in the book (Isa 7:1-17; 36:1-39:8).

1:2-31 This initial chapter hints at many but not all of the major themes to follow in Isaiah. It focuses on injustice among Jerusalem's leading citizens. Neglect of widows and orphans and other societal sins are viewed as punishable rebellion against God. God's actions against rebels may be severe but are intended to redeem the city and restore its justice (see sidebar, "Social Justice in Isaiah" at Isa 3).

1:2-3 Isaiah presents God's initial complaint as a controversy, calling heaven and earth as witnesses (cf. Deut 32:1; Ps 50:1, 4; Mic 6:1-2). The children God has raised have rebelled (cf. Deut 21:18-21). Livestock are more responsive to their human owners than Israel is to God.

1:3 Israel: refers not to the northern kingdom as opposed to the southern kingdom of Judah but to the whole community, whose historic center was Jerusalem. In Isaiah 7 the northern kingdom will be called Ephraim.

1:4-9 The nation has already suffered grave afflictions, which the prophet compares to blows inflicted by a divine parent who punishes.

1:4 Doom: also translated as "woe" or "ah." holy one of Israel: a favorite name for God in Isaiah (see Isa 5:19, 24; 10:20; 12:6; 17:7; 21:19; 30:11, 12, 15; 31:1; 37:23; 41:14, 16, 20; 43:3, 14; 45:11; 47:4; 48:17; 49:7; 54:5; 55:5; 60:9, 14). Outside Isaiah the name appears only six times.

1:7-8 Your country is deserted: The image of the wounded body is now clarified by a more literal depiction of a nation ravaged by foreigners. It probably refers to the devastating Assyrian invasion of 701 BCE, in which most of Judah outside Jerusalem was destroyed (cf. Isa 36:1).

1:8 Daughter Zion: The city is personified as a woman (cf. Isa 10:30, 32; 16:1; 23:10, 12; 37:22; 47:1, 5; 52:2; 62:11).

1:9 like Sodom: The utter destruction of the ancient cities of Sodom and Gomorrah is remembered (cf. Gen 19:24-25), but in Isaiah 1:10 their evil behavior is recalled.

1:10 Dt 32:32;
Jer 23:14;
Eze 16:46;
Eze 16:49;
Rev 11:8
1:11 Isa 15:22;
Ps 40:6; Is 66:3;
Jer 6:20;
Am 5:22
1:12 Ex 23:17
1:13 Is 66:3
1:14 Is 29:1;
Is 43:24;
Am 5:21
1:15 Is 59:2;
Is 59:3;
Jer 14:12; Mi 3:4
1:16 Is 55:7;
Jas 4:8
1:17 Ps 82:3;
Is 1:23; Is 10:2;
Jer 22:3;
Jas 1:27
1:18 Ps 51:7;
Is 43:26; Mi 6:2;
Rev 7:14
1:19 Dt 30:15
1:20 Nm 23:19;
Isa 12:15;
Is 40:5; Is 58:14;
Mi 4:4
1:21 Is 5:7;
Jer 2:20
1:22 Jer 6:30;
Eze 22:18
1:23 Ex 23:8;
Prv 17:23;
Is 1:17; Jer 5:28;
Mi 7:3

Hands filled with bloodshed

- 10 Hear the LORD's word, you leaders of Sodom.
Listen to our God's teaching, people of Gomorrah!
- 11 What should I think about all your sacrifices? says the LORD.
I'm fed up with entirely burned offerings of rams and the fat of well-fed beasts.
I don't want the blood of bulls, lambs, and goats.
- 12 When you come to appear before me, who asked this from you, this trampling of my temple's courts?
- 13 Stop bringing worthless offerings.
Your incense repulses me.
New moon, sabbath, and the calling of an assembly—
I can't stand wickedness with celebration!
- 14 I hate your new moons and your festivals.
They've become a burden that I'm tired of bearing.
- 15 When you extend your hands,
I'll hide my eyes from you.
Even when you pray for a long time,
I won't listen.
Your hands are stained with blood.
- 16 Wash! Be clean!
Remove your ugly deeds from my sight.
Put an end to such evil;
- 17 learn to do good.
Seek justice:
help the oppressed,<sup>b</sup> defend the orphan;
plead for the widow.

- 18 Come now, and let's settle this, says the LORD.
Though your sins are like scarlet,
they will be white as snow.
If they are red as crimson, they will become like wool.
- 19 If you agree and obey, you will eat the best food of the land.
- 20 But if you refuse and rebel,
you will be devoured by the sword.
The LORD has said this.

Zion will be redeemed

- 21 This faithful town has become a prostitute!
She was full of justice;
righteousness lived in her—but now murderers.
- 22 Your silver has become impure;
your beer is diluted with water.
- 23 Your princes are rebels, companions of thieves.

<sup>b</sup>LXX, Vulg; MT lead the oppressor

1:10-17 Divine accusations focus on those who carry out worship while ignoring the plight of society's unprotected members. The description in 1:10-15 gives readers a glimpse of the variety of worship practices in the temple. It also details the care with which worshippers attend to sacrifice, festival, and prayer. Yet God desires attention to the needs of widows and orphans (cf. Exod 22:22; Deut 10:18; 24:19-21; 26:12-13; 27:19; Pss 68:5; 146:9). 1:18-20 Appeal is made to human reason and self-interest. An either-or choice is laid out.

1:21-26 The discussion begins afresh. God will purify the city, removing the unjust and restoring righteousness. 1:21 The city is imagined not only as a woman but as a prostitute (cf. Isa 23:15-18; Jer 3:1-9; Ezek 16; 23; Hos 4:15; 5:3; 9:1; Nah 3:4). Yet as Isaiah 1:23 testifies, the city's thieves and extortioners aren't its women but its male leadership. 1:22 Your silver has become impure: Images of impure metal and diluted drinks describe polluted morals. 1:23 Those responsible for enforcing justice are the very leaders who flaunt it.

- Everyone loves a bribe and pursues gifts.
 They don't defend the orphan, and the widow's cause never reaches them.
- 24 Therefore, says the LORD God of heavenly forces, the mighty one of Israel:
 Doom! I will vent my anger against my foes;
 I will take it out on my enemies,
 25 and I will turn my hand against you.
 I will refine your impurities as with lye, and remove all your cinders.
- 26 Then I will restore your judges as in earlier times, and your counselors as at the beginning.
 After this you will be called Righteous City, Faithful Town.
- 27 Zion will be redeemed by justice, and those who change their lives by righteousness.
- 28 But God will shatter rebels and sinners alike;
 those who abandon the LORD will be finished.
- 29 You will be ashamed of the oaks you once desired, and embarrassed by the gardens you once chose.
- 30 You will be like an oak with withering leaves, like a garden without water.
- 31 The strong will be like dry twigs,
 their deeds like sparks;
 the two will burn together,
 with no one to extinguish them.

The LORD's mountain

- 2 This is what Isaiah, Amoz's son, saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem.
 2 In the days to come the mountain of the LORD's house will be the highest of the mountains.
 It will be lifted above the hills;
 peoples will stream to it.
- 3 Many nations will go and say,
 "Come, let's go up to the LORD's mountain, to the house of Jacob's God so that he may teach us his ways and we may walk in God's paths."
 Instruction will come from Zion;
 the LORD's word from Jerusalem.
- 4 God will judge between the nations, and settle disputes of mighty nations.

1:25 Is 4:4;
 Is 48:10;
 Jer 9:7;
 Zec 13:9; Mal 3:3

1:26 Is 62:1;
 Jer 33:7; Zec 8:3

1:27 Is 62:12

1:28 2Th 1:8

1:29 Is 57:5;
 Is 65:3; Is 66:17;
 Eze 6:13;
 Hos 4:13

1:30 Ps 1:3;
 Is 64:6; Jer 17:6;
 Jer 17:8

2:1 Is 1:1;
 Is 13:1

2:2 Dn 2:45;
 Mi 4:1

2:3 Is 51:4;
 Jer 31:6;
 Lk 24:47

2:4 Is 9:7;
 Hos 2:18;
 Jl 3:10; Mi 4:3;
 Zec 9:10

1:25 cinders: lead oxide impurities, debris, or waste—sometimes called dross—left over when silver metal is melted.

1:26-27 Separate futures are envisioned for righteous and unrighteous individuals.

1:29-31 These verses refer not to unjust worship in the temple as in Isaiah 1:11-15 but to worship practices associated with Canaanite gods. Worshipers of trees will themselves become like dried and flammable fuel.

2:1 Another superscription, shorter than the one at Isaiah 1:1. How many verses or chapters it applies to is uncertain.

2:2-4 The same oracle (a form of prophetic speech) is also found in Micah 4:1-3, but the conclusions in Isaiah 2:5 and Micah 4:4 differ. Whereas in Micah 1:24 God's own people were viewed as God's enemies, here enemy nations become God's own people, coming to the temple for divine instruction. In contrast to Micah 1:12, where the temple was trampled by unjust worshippers, now it is the source of justice. Such hopeful portrayals of Jerusalem occupy key points in Isaiah (Isa 4:2-6; 12:1-6; 33:20-24; 40:1-2, 9-10; 62:1; 66:7-14, 18-23).

2:2 highest of the mountains: High mountains are associated with the gods. In Isaiah 2:9-21 every human pride is brought low, and God alone is exalted. In Psalm 122:4 the tribes of Israel go up to the mountain, but here all the nations do.

2:3 Instruction: Teaching (Torah) will come from Zion. Though God's people often reject it (Isa 5:24; 24:5; 30:9; 42:24), it will nevertheless be known (Isa 42:21; 51:4).

2:4 For the nations seeking God's ways, weapons will no longer be necessary. These will instead be fashioned into tools for tending the earth and nurturing life (cf. Ps 46:9, in which God destroys weapons of war assembled against Jerusalem).

2:5 Is 2:3,
Is 58:1, Is 60:1,
Is 60:2, Is 60:19
2:6 Dt 31:17;
Mt 5:12
2:7 Dt 17:16,
Dt 17:17;
Is 30:16, Is 31:1;
Mt 5:10
2:8 Jer 2:28
2:9 Is 5:15
2:10 Job 37:22;
Is 2:9;
Rev 6:15,
Rev 6:16
2:11 Ps 18:27;
Is 2:17, Is 5:15
2:12 Is 13:6;
Mal 4:1
2:13 Jgs 9:15;
Ps 29:5;
Is 10:33,
Is 10:34;
Zec 11:2
2:14 Is 30:25,
Is 40:4
2:15 Is 25:12,
Is 30:25

Then they will beat their swords into iron plows and their spears into pruning tools.
Nation will not take up sword against nation;
they will no longer learn how to make war.

<sup>5</sup> Come, house of Jacob, let's walk by the LORD's light.

Everyone is brought low

<sup>6</sup> You have abandoned your people, house of Jacob.
They are full of sorcerers from the east and fortune-tellers like the Philistines;
they hold hands with foreigners' children.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>7</sup> Their land is full of silver and gold;
they have countless treasures.
Their land is filled with horses;
they have countless chariots.

<sup>8</sup> Their land is filled with idols;
they worship their handiwork,
what their own fingers have made.

<sup>9</sup> Humanity will be brought down;
each person laid low—don't lift them up!<sup>d</sup>

<sup>10</sup> Go into the rocks, and hide yourself in the dust from the terror of the LORD, from the splendor of God's majesty!

<sup>11</sup> People's proud gazing will be stopped and humanity's arrogance brought down;
the LORD alone will be exalted on that day.

<sup>12</sup> The LORD of heavenly forces has planned a day:
against all that is prideful and haughty;
against all that is lofty, and it will be laid low;<sup>e</sup>

<sup>13</sup> against all the cedars of Lebanon, high and lofty; against all the oaks of Bashan;

<sup>14</sup> against all the high mountains; against all the lofty hills;

<sup>15</sup> against every tall tower;
against every fortified wall;

<sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>Or don't forgive them <sup>e</sup>LXX and high

2:5 The chapter pivots on this verse calling on the house of Jacob to walk in the ways of "Jacob's God" (Isa 2:3).

2:6 house of Jacob: It is unclear from grammar and context whether the house of Jacob is addressed here, or whether it is identified with your (i.e., God's) people. In contrast to Isaiah 2:2, here foreigners enter the land not to seek Judah's God but to bring their own misleading practices, such as sorcery.

2:7-8 Close repetition characterizes these verses. The commodities of precious metals, weapons of war, and human-made gods litter the land (see Isa 2:18, 20). The derogatory word used here for "idols" is common in Isaiah but uncommon elsewhere in the OT. For references to idolatry, see Isaiah 10:10-11; 19:1, 3; 30:22; 31:7; 40:19; 42:8; 44:9-20; 45:16, 20; 46:1; 48:5; 66:3.

2:9-22 These verses cycle around the themes of high and low: All that rivals God, both human and nonhuman, will be laid low, and God alone will be exalted.

2:10 Go into the rocks: This theme is repeated in Isaiah 2:19-21. It echoes the digging imagery of Amos 9:2. Revelation 6:15-17 combines the imagery of this verse with that of Hosea 10:8 (see also 2 Thess 1:9).

2:12 has planned a day: Beginning with Amos 5:18-20, biblical prophets share the concept of the "day of the Lord," when divine judgment will fall upon nations that rebel against God, including God's own people (Isa 13:6, 9; Jer 46:10; Ezek 13:5; 30:3; Joel 1:15; 2:1, 11, 31; 3:14; Obad 15; Zeph 1:7, 14; Mal 4:5). In some NT writings it becomes a Judgment Day at the end time (1 Thess 5:2; 2 Pet 3:10; Rev 6:17).

2:13 cedars of Lebanon: These trees are famed for their splendor in the Bible and in ancient Near Eastern sources, and are often harvested by conquerors (cf. Isa 14:8). Bashan: a fertile plateau region east of the northern Jordan River and the Galilee Sea, and south of Mount Hermon, famed for its lumber and cattle.

<sup>16</sup>against all the ships of Tarshish; against all the wonderful boats.<sup>f</sup> <sup>17</sup>People's pride will be brought down and human arrogance humiliated.
 The LORD alone will be exalted on that day;
<sup>18</sup>the idols will completely pass away.

2:16 1Kg 10:22;
 Is 23:1, Is 60:9
 2:17 Is 2:11
 2:18 Is 21:9
 2:19 Is 2:10,
 Is 2:21;
 Lk 23:30;
 Rev 6:15
 2:20 Lv 11:19;
 Is 30:22, Is 31:7
 2:21 Is 2:10,
 Is 2:19
 2:22 Ps 144:3,
 Ps 144:4,
 Ps 146:3;
 Jer 17:5;
 Jas 4:14
 3:1 Lv 26:26;
 Eze 4:16
 3:2 2Ki 24:14;
 Eze 17:13
 3:3 2Ki 1:9
 3:4 Ecc 10:16
 3:7 Hos 5:13

<sup>19</sup>Go into caves in the rocks and holes in the dust
 before the terror of the LORD
 and the splendor of God's majesty,
 when he arises to terrify the earth.
<sup>20</sup>On that day, people will toss to the rodents<sup>g</sup> and to the bats their idols of silver and idols of gold, which they made for themselves to worship.
<sup>21</sup>They will hide in fissures of rocks and in crevices of cliffs
 before the terror of the LORD and the splendor of God's majesty
 when he arises to terrify the earth.

<sup>22</sup>Quit admiring the human race, who breathe through their nostrils.
 Why should they be admired?

Your leaders mislead you

3 Now the LORD God of heavenly forces is removing from Jerusalem and from Judah every form of support:

- all rations of food and water;
- <sup>2</sup>soldier and warrior;
 judge and prophet;
 fortune-teller and elder;
- <sup>3</sup>commander and celebrity;
 counselor, clever craftsman, and cunning charmer.

<sup>4</sup>I will make youths their commanders; mischief makers will rule over them.
<sup>5</sup>The people will oppress each other,
 each one against the other, neighbor against neighbor.
 The young will bully the old,
 the rogue, and the respectable.

<sup>6</sup>Someone will seize a family member, saying,
 "You have clothing! You be our leader!
 This mess will be your responsibility!"

<sup>7</sup>Someone else will cry out on that day,
 "I'm no healer!
 I have neither food nor clothing in my house!
 Don't make me the leader of the people!"

<sup>f</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>g</sup>Heb uncertain

2:16 ships of Tarshish: mighty seagoing ships (1 Kgs 10:22; 22:48; Isa 60:9; Ezek 27:25) that are nevertheless no match for God's power (Ps 48:7; Isa 23:1, 6, 10, 14). The location of Tarshish is disputed. Some believe it to be on the Atlantic coast of Spain beyond Gibraltar, but others suggest Tarsus in southern Turkey.
 3:1-4:1 Jerusalem's elite, both men and women, are singled out for critique and threat.

3:1-12 The removal of male leadership will result in chaos. This scenario contrasts with Isaiah 1:26, where the removal of corrupt leadership clears the way for just judges and the restoration of faithfulness.
 3:4-5 Unqualified and inexperienced people will take charge.
 3:6-7 Brief sayings suggesting the desperation of the times. See Isaiah 4:1 for a similar saying.

3:9 Gn 13:13,

Gn 18:20;

Prv 8:36;

Hos 13:9;

Ro 6:23

3:10 Dt 28:1;

Ps 128:2;

Ecc 8:12

3:11 Dt 28:15

3:12 Is 3:4,

Is 9:16, Is 28:14;

Mt 3:5

3:13 Hos 4:1;

Mt 6:2

3:14 Job 22:4;

Ps 143:2; Is 5:7;

Is 10:1; Mt 3:1

3:15 Job 24:4;

Ps 10:2;

Ps 94:5;

Prv 17:5; Am 2:6

3:16 Is 3:18,

Is 24:4, Is 32:9;

Zep 3:11

3:17 Dt 28:27;

Is 47:3

3:18 Jgs 8:21,

Jgs 8:26; Is 3:16

Social Justice in Isaiah Social justice is a prominent theme among the prophets. The Hebrew word pair mishpat ("justice") and tsedakah ("righteousness") often signals this concept. The social categories "widows" and "orphans" (and often "immigrants") function as shorthand for all whose access to wealth in ancient Judah was diminished and who depended on the community ethic for survival.

In Isaiah 1:10-17 the prophet makes clear that even devout worship is acceptable to God only when accompanied by actions that "help the oppressed; defend the orphan; plead for the widow" (Isa 1:17). The prophet asserts, "Your princes are rebels, companions of thieves. Everyone loves a bribe and pursues gifts. They don't defend the orphan, and the widow's cause never reaches them" (Isa 1:23). Isaiah holds that when God purifies the city, "Zion will be redeemed by justice, and those who change their lives by righteousness" (Isa 1:27). This theme, so prominent in Isaiah 1, continues to sound in accusations against greed and consumption in Isaiah 3:14-15 and throughout Isaiah 5, and in expectations of Judah's rulers that are expressed in Isaiah 9; 11; 32. The theme resounds once again in the latter parts of the book, particularly in Isaiah 58; 59; 61.

<sup>8</sup> Yes, Jerusalem has stumbled and Judah has fallen, because the way they talk and act in word and deed insults the LORD, defying his brilliant glory.

<sup>9</sup> Their bias in judgment gives them away;
like Sodom, they display their sins in public.
Doom to them, for they have done themselves in!

<sup>10</sup> Tell the righteous how blessed they are;
they will eat the fruit of their labors.

<sup>11</sup> Doom to the wicked; they are evil.
What they have done will be done to them.

<sup>12</sup> As for my people—oppressors strip them and swindlers<sup>b</sup> rule them.
My people—your leaders mislead you and confuse your paths.

<sup>13</sup> The LORD arises to accuse;
he stands to judge the peoples.

<sup>14</sup> The LORD will enter into judgment with the elders and princes of his people:
You yourselves have devoured the vineyard;
the goods stolen from the poor are in your houses.

<sup>15</sup> How dare you crush my people and grind the faces of the poor?
says the LORD God of heavenly forces.

<sup>16</sup> The LORD says:
Because Zion's daughters applaud themselves, walking with their chins in the air,
flirting with their eyes,
tiptoeing as they walk, feet jingling—

<sup>17</sup> the Lord will shave the heads of Zion's daughters, and will expose their scalps.

<sup>18</sup> On that day, the LORD will remove:
the splendid ankle chains; headbands and moon-shaped pendants;

<sup>b</sup>LXX; MT women

3:13-15 These three verses in the chapter's center specify the charge. As in Isaiah 1, God rises as if in court, accusing the wealthy of having devoured the vineyard. It operates on two levels: as an accusation of stripping the fruit, leaving none for the poor to glean; and as an accusation of having devoured Israel itself, often symbolized as God's vine (Isa 5:1-7; 27:2-6; Exod 15:17; Pss 44:2; 80:8-15; Jer 2:21; Ezek 17:1-10; 19:10-14; Amos 9:15).

3:15 How dare you crush: The poor are characterized as God's own people (see Amos 8:4-6; Mic 2:1-2; 1 Kgs 21; Prov 22:22-23).

3:16-4:1 Elite women of Jerusalem are accused alongside elite men. Their vanity is particularly ridiculed; compare with Amos 4:1.

3:17-24 A series of reversals will result in humiliation. Many of the items of jewelry and clothing in these verses are impossible to translate with certainty, but the net effect of the list nevertheless communicates doomed opulence.

- 19 the earrings, bracelets, and veils; 20 the hats, bangles, and sashes;
     the amulets and charms; 21 the signet rings and nose rings; 22 the robes and capes;
     the shawls and handbags;
 23 the mirrors and linen garments;
     the turbans and the veils.
 24 Instead of perfume there will be a disgusting odor;
     instead of a sash, a rope;
     instead of styled hair, shaved heads;
     instead of expensive clothes, rags as mourning clothes;
     instead of beauty, shame.<sup>1</sup>

25 Your men will fall by the sword, your warriors in battle!

26 Her gates will lament and mourn;
     desolate, she will sit on the ground.

4 Seven women will grab one man on that day, saying, "We will eat our own bread and wear our own clothes—only let us take your name; take away our disgrace."

Zion's glorious future

2 On that day, the LORD's branch will become beautiful and glorious. The earth's fruit will be the pride and splendor of Israel's survivors. 3 Whoever remains in Zion and is left in Jerusalem will be called holy, everyone who is on the list of those living in Jerusalem. 4 When the Lord washes the filth from Zion's daughters, and cleanses Jerusalem's bloodguilt from within it by means of a wind of judgment and a searing wind, 5 then the LORD will create over the whole site of Mount Zion and over its assembly a cloud by day and smoke and the light of a blazing fire by night. Over all the glory there will be a canopy, 6 which will be a booth by day for shade from the heat and a hiding place and shelter from a stormy downpour.

Song of the vineyard

5 Let me sing for my loved one a love song for his vineyard.

My loved one had a vineyard on a fertile hillside.

2 He dug it,
     cleared away its stones, planted it with excellent vines,
     built a tower inside it,
     and dug out a wine vat in it.

He expected it to grow good grapes—but it grew rotten grapes.

<sup>1</sup>DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>); MT lacks shame.

4:2-6 This brief paragraph concludes the section that began in Isaiah 2:1 with hopeful words concerning Jerusalem. It reflects language from a later era than the 8th century.

4:2 earth's fruit: Or the land's fruit; see Numbers 13:20; Deuteronomy 1:25. The splendor described contrasts sharply with the dubious splendor in the previous chapter.

4:3 Whoever remains: The frequent prophetic idea of the surviving remnant is invoked; see Isaiah 6:13; 7:3; 10:19-22; 11:11-16; 16:14; 17:3, 6; 21:17; 24:6; 28:5; 37:31-32; 49:21; Jeremiah 8:3; 24:8; 34:7; 42:2; Ezra 9:8-15. called holy: Usually it is God, rather than people, who is called holy, but see Exodus 19:6 and the Leviticus formula, "you must be holy, because I am holy" (Lev 11:45; 19:2; 20:26; 1 Pet 1:16). Also compare with Isaiah 62:12.

4:4 filth from Zion's daughters: For Jerusalem's uncleanness, see Lamentations 1:9. In Isaiah 1:15-16 and Isaiah 28:8, it is Jerusalem's men who are associated with filth and bloodguilt. The Greek (LXX) translation of this verse refers to the filth of the "sons and daughters of Zion."

4:5 cloud by day: This cloud is reminiscent of the exodus tradition (Exod 13:21; 19:18; 20:18) and of the prophet's vision in Isaiah 6:4.

5:1-7 Often called the Song of the Vineyard, this section is echoed by some changes in Isaiah 27:2-5, and later in the parable of the vineyard in Matthew 21:33-46; Mark 12:1-12; Luke 20:9-19.

5:1 my loved one: The "loved one" (or friend) isn't identified until Isaiah 5:7.

5:2 He dug it: Several strenuous actions are listed, indicating the vineyard owner's investment of maximum effort toward its success. rotten: sometimes translated as "wild,"

3:19 Gn 24:30;
 Nm 31:50;
 Eze 16:11
 3:20 Ex 39:28;
 Eze 24:17
 3:21 Gn 24:47;
 Eze 16:12
 3:23 Eze 16:10
 3:24 Is 15:2,
 Is 22:12;
 Lam 2:10;
 Eze 27:31;
 Am 8:10
 4:1 Gn 30:23;
 Is 13:12
 4:3 Is 52:1;
 Lk 10:20
 4:4 Is 28:6;
 Mal 3:2;
 Mt 3:11
 4:6 Ps 27:5;
 Is 25:4, Is 32:2;
 Eze 11:16
 5:1 Ps 80:8;
 Is 27:2;
 Mt 21:33;
 Mk 12:1;
 Lk 20:9
 5:2 Jer 2:21;
 Mt 12:19;
 Mt 21:33;
 Mk 11:13;
 Lk 13:6

5:3 Mt 21:40

5:4 Mi 6:3;

Mt 23:37

5:5 Ps 80:12

5:6 Is 7:23

5:7 Ps 80:8;

Is 3:14

5:8 Jer 22:13;

Mi 2:2; Hab 2:9

5:9 Is 6:11;

Mt 23:38

5:10 Eze 45:11;

Hg 1:6

5:11 Prv 23:29;

Ecc 10:17;

Is 5:22; Is 28:1;

Is 28:7

5:12 Job 21:12;

Ps 28:5; Is 24:8;

Am 6:4; Am 6:5

5:14 Prv 27:20;

Hab 2:5

<sup>3</sup>So now, you who live in Jerusalem, you people of Judah, judge between me and my vineyard:

<sup>4</sup>What more was there to do for my vineyard that I haven't done for it?
When I expected it to grow good grapes, why did it grow rotten grapes?

<sup>5</sup>Now let me tell you what I'm doing to my vineyard.
I'm removing its hedge, so it will be destroyed.
I'm breaking down its walls, so it will be trampled.

<sup>6</sup>I'll turn it into a ruin;
it won't be pruned or hoed,
and thorns and thistles will grow up.
I will command the clouds not to rain on it.

<sup>7</sup>The vineyard of the LORD of heavenly forces is the house of Israel, and the people of Judah are the plantings in which God delighted.
God expected justice, but there was bloodshed;
righteousness, but there was a cry of distress!

Sayings of doom

<sup>8</sup>Doom to those who acquire house after house, who annex field to field until there is no more space left and only you live alone in the land.

<sup>9</sup>I heard the LORD of heavenly forces say this:<sup>j</sup> Many houses will become total ruins, large, fine houses, with no one living in them.

<sup>10</sup>Ten acres of vineyard will produce just one bath,<sup>k</sup> and a homer of seed will produce only an ephah.

<sup>11</sup>Doom to those who wake up early in the morning to run after beer, to those who stay up late, lit up by wine.

<sup>12</sup>They party with lyre and harp, tambourine, flute, and wine;
but they ignore the LORD's work;
they can't see what God is doing.

<sup>13</sup>Therefore, my people go into exile since they didn't understand—their officials are dying of hunger;
so many of them are dried up with thirst.

<sup>14</sup>Therefore, the grave<sup>l</sup> opens wide its jaws, opens its mouth beyond all bounds,
and the splendid multitudes will go down,
with all their uproar and cheering.

<sup>j</sup>Heb lacks say this. <sup>k</sup>One bath is approximately twenty quarts, the same as an ephah; one homer contains ten ephahs (or baths) of grain. <sup>l</sup>Heb Sheol

"sour," "worthless," or "bad." The exact meaning is unclear, but it's clear that these aren't the good grapes the owner expected.

5:3 The story shifts at this point from third person "my loved one" to first person me. Judeans are asked to agree that the vineyard has failed through no fault of its owner.

5:6 I will command: Until this point the proposals to destroy the vineyard, though perhaps extreme, remained within the realm of human possibility. Here, however, the owner proposes to do what only God can do, to command the clouds not to rain.

5:7 This verse shows that the song isn't about a literal vineyard but rather the people of Israel and Judah. (For similar imagery concerning Israel, see Exod 15:17; Pss 44:2; 80:8-15; Hos 10:1-2; 14:5; Jer 2:21; Ezek 17:1-10; 19:10-14; Amos 9:15.) Asking the audience to render a verdict that, in the end, brings charges against the audience itself can also be seen in 2 Samuel 12:1-7. In the Hebrew text, two word-plays dramatize divine disappointment: God expected mishpat (justice) but instead found mishpah (bloodshed); instead of tsedakah (righteousness), there was tse'akah (a cry of distress).

5:8-24 A series of oracles condemning social injustice of various kinds. The final oracle in this series is found, after a long interlude, at Isaiah 10:1.

5:8-10 The wealthy are accused of amassing houses and fields at the expense of the poor. Fittingly, their wealth won't enrich them. They will instead be left with ruins.

5:11-17 Like the previous one, this oracle is filled with irony. Though the psalmists used lyre and harp to sing about God's deeds, these revelers are too drunk to see what God is doing. As a result of their drinking, they are dying of thirst. These exalted people will be humiliated. In fact, they will go down to the grave (Sheol, the abode

- 15 Humanity will be humiliated;
 each person laid low,
 the eyes of the exalted laid low.
- 16 But the LORD of heavenly forces will be exalted in justice, and the holy God will show himself holy in righteousness.
- 17 Lambs will graze as if in their pasture; young goats<sup>a</sup> will feed among the ruins of the rich.<sup>a</sup>
- 18 Doom to those who drag guilt along with cords of fraud, and haul sin as if with cart ropes, 19 who say, "God should hurry and work faster so we can see;
 let the plan of Israel's holy one come quickly, so we can understand it."
- 20 Doom to those who call evil good and good evil, who present darkness as light and light as darkness, who make bitterness sweet and sweetness bitter.
- 21 Doom to those who consider themselves wise, who think of themselves as clever.
- 22 Doom to the wine-swigging warriors, mighty at mixing drinks, 23 who spare the guilty for bribes, and rob the innocent of their rights.
- 24 Therefore, as a tongue of fire devours stubble, and as hay shrivels in a flame,
 so their roots will rot,
 and their blossoms turn to dust, for they have rejected the teaching of the LORD of heavenly forces, and have despised the word of Israel's holy one.

God's powerful hand

- 25 This is why the LORD's anger burned against the people:
 he extended his hand to strike them,
 the mountains trembled,
 and their corpses lay in the middle of the streets like dung.
 Even then God's anger didn't turn away;
 God's hand was still extended.
- 26 God will raise a signal to a nation from far away and whistle to them from the end of the earth—now look—hurrying, swiftly they come!
- 27 Not one is tired; not one stumbles;
 they don't rest or sleep;
 no belt is loose; no sandal broken; 28 their arrows are sharp;
 all their bows drawn;
 their horses' hooves are like flint;
 their wheels like the whirlwind.

<sup>a</sup>Or strangers <sup>a</sup>Or Calves and young goats will feed on the ruins; Heb uncertain of the dead). The only ones left to feast will be lambs and young goats. The subject will return to drunkenness in Isaiah 5:22-24, and in Isaiah 28:7-8.

 5:18-19 drag guilt along with cords of fraud: People are so trapped by sin that they have become its beasts of burden. They respond to prophetic warnings by taunting the holy one, saying, in effect, "Bring it on." God's plan, mentioned here, becomes an important theme of First Isaiah (see Isa 8:10; 11:2; 14:26; 19:3, 11, 17; 25:1; 28:29; 29:15; 30:1) and reappears in Isaiah 46:10-11.

5:20 The centerpiece of the series, this oracle sums up the contrary attitudes of Isaiah's hearers: Using words to deceive, they cynically reverse good and evil, dark and light, bitter and sweet.
 5:25 Instead of a seventh oracle (which is postponed until Isa 10:1-4), judgment is proclaimed. For repetitions of the last portion of this verse, see Isaiah 9:12, 17, 21; 10:4.
 5:26-30 The vividly portrayed enemy onslaught will be brought on by none other than God. For God's summoning the enemy by whistling, see Isaiah 7:18.

5:18 Job 15:16;
 Job 20:12;
 Ps 10:11,
 Ps 14:1, Ps 53:1
 5:19 Jer 17:15;
 Eze 12:22;
 2Pl 3:4
 5:20 Prv 17:15;
 Mt 6:23;
 Lk 11:35
 5:21 Prv 3:7,
 Prv 26:12;
 Ro 12:16;
 1Co 3:18
 5:22 Prv 23:20;
 Is 5:11, Is 28:1,
 Is 28:7, Is 56:12
 5:23 Ex 23:8;
 Prv 17:15;
 Is 1:23, Is 10:2
 5:24 Job 18:16;
 Is 1:4, Is 30:9,
 Is 30:12; Jl 2:5
 5:25 2Ki 22:13;
 Is 9:12, Is 9:17,
 Is 9:21, Is 10:4
 5:26 Dt 28:49;
 Is 7:18, Is 11:12,
 Is 18:3;
 Zec 10:8
 5:27 Job 12:18;
 Jl 2:7, Jl 2:8

6:1 1Ki 22:19;
2Ki 15:7;
2Ch 26:23;
Is 1:1; Jn 12:41
6:2 Is 6:6;
Eze 1:11; Rev 4:8
6:3 Ex 15:11;
Nm 14:21;
Ps 72:19; Rev 4:8
6:4 1Ki 8:10;
Am 9:1;
Rev 15:8

6:5 Ex 6:12;
Job 42:5;
Is 33:17; Lk 5:8
6:6 Is 6:2
6:7 Jer 1:9;
Dn 10:16;
Jhn 1:7
6:8 Gn 1:26
6:9 Mt 13:14;
Mt 13:15;
Mk 4:12;
Lk 8:10;
Ro 11:8

- <sup>29</sup>Their roaring is like the lion;
they roar like young lions;
they growl, seize their prey,
and carry it off, with no one to rescue.
- <sup>30</sup>On that day, they will roar over it like the roaring of the sea.
And if one looks toward the land, there's darkness.
Tyre and the Nile will be darkened by the clouds.<sup>o</sup>

The divine throne room

6In the year of King Uzziah's death, I saw the Lord sitting on a high and exalted throne, the edges of his robe filling the temple. <sup>2</sup>Winged creatures were stationed around him. Each had six wings: with two they veiled their faces, with two their feet, and with two they flew about. <sup>3</sup>They shouted to each other, saying:

"Holy, holy, holy is the LORD of heavenly forces!

All the earth is filled with God's glory!"

<sup>4</sup>The doorframe shook at the sound of their shouting, and the house was filled with smoke.

<sup>5</sup>I said, "Mourn for me; I'm ruined! I'm a man with unclean lips, and I live among a people with unclean lips. Yet I've seen the king, the LORD of heavenly forces!"

<sup>6</sup>Then one of the winged creatures flew to me, holding a glowing coal that he had taken from the altar with tongs. <sup>7</sup>He touched my mouth and said, "See, this has touched your lips. Your guilt has departed, and your sin is removed."

<sup>8</sup>Then I heard the Lord's voice saying, "Whom should I send, and who will go for us?"

I said, "I'm here; send me."

<sup>9</sup>God said, "Go and say to this people:

The Setting of Isaiah 6–9 The poetic oracles that began in Isaiah 5:8 will resume in Isaiah 9:8. Isaiah 6:1–9:7 contains narratives, narrative fragments, oracles, and expansions loosely related to King Ahaz's reign. In Isaiah 6 and 8 the prophet himself narrates; in Isaiah 7 he is depicted in third person. Beginning with divine kingship and concluding with human kingship, this section concerns Jerusalem's kingship and its relationship to God. These narratives originate in Ahaz's time and show evidence that an editor expanded the stories.

Isaiah 6 sets the scene: A human king has died, but Isaiah finds himself face-to-face with the divine king. The message he is given accuses his people of self-destructive lack of receptivity to God. We never witness Isaiah delivering this painful message. But his encounter with God sets the scene for Isaiah's frustrating encounters with King Ahaz and Jerusalem's people.

The international crisis surrounding Ahaz is often called the "Syro-Ephraimite War." Syria and Israel (Ephraim) have rebelled against the Assyrian Empire to their east, and try to strong-arm Judah into their alliance by replacing Ahaz with a more compliant ally (Isa 7:6). Isaiah encounters resistance when he encourages the king to stand firm. A series of oracles follows concerning the Assyrian crisis and the leadership desired by God.

<sup>o</sup>Heb uncertain

6:1-13 Isaiah describes his commissioning by God to bring a message of judgment to his people.

6:1 In the year of King Uzziah's death: Uzziah (often called "Azariah" in 2 Kings) was the first of four kings who reigned during Isaiah's ministry. A skin disease forced him to abdicate the throne to Jotham long before his death (2 Kgs 15:5). Isaiah reports seeing God on a throne in the temple. For a similar scene of commissioning in the divine throne room (though not of a prophet, but of a lying spirit), see 1 Kings 22:19-22. God's conversations in Job 1:6-12; 2:1-6 similarly show heavenly transactions with earthly consequences.

6:2 Winged creatures: called seraphim in Hebrew. These flying serpents reappear in Isaiah 14:29 and Isaiah 30:6; see also Numbers 21:6, 8. Here, uniquely, they are God's attendants.

6:3 Holy, holy, holy: The winged creatures dramatically affirm Isaiah's favored name for God, "holy one." filled with God's glory: See Numbers 14:21, Psalm 72:19; Habakkuk 2:14.

6:4 The doorframe shook: Shaking and smoke recall the dramatic descent of God to Mount Sinai in Exodus 19:18. See also 1 Kings 8:11-12; Psalm 29:9.

6:5-7 Isaiah is dismayed, fearing contact with God's holiness. According to some biblical traditions, humans will die if they see God; see Exodus 33:20. According to others, they can't see God (John 1:18; 1 John 4:12). But in still other traditions, God is seen (Gen 16:13; 18:22; 32:30; Exod 24:9-11; 33:11; Judg 13:22; 1 Kgs 22:19; Amos 9:1; Pss 11:7; 17:15; 27:4; 63:2). One of the winged creatures purifies the prophet's lips with a burning coal.

6:8 Whom should I send: It isn't clear whether God is including Isaiah in the address, or only the heavenly court. But Isaiah volunteers immediately. (See 1 Kgs 22:20, "Who will persuade Ahab . . .?")

6:9-10 Listen intently, but don't understand: God offers Listen intently, but don't understand;

look carefully, but don't comprehend.

<sup>10</sup>Make the minds of this people dull.

Make their ears deaf and their eyes blind, so they can't see with their eyes or hear with their ears, or understand with their minds, and turn, and be healed."

<sup>11</sup>I said, "How long, Lord?"

And God said, "Until cities lie ruined with no one living in them, until there are houses without people and the land is left devastated." <sup>12</sup>The LORD will send the people far away, and the land will be completely abandoned. <sup>13</sup>Even if one-tenth remain there, they will be burned again, like a terebinth or an oak, which when it is cut down leaves a stump. Its stump is a holy seed.

Reassurance to King Ahaz

7In the days of Ahaz (Jotham's son and grandson of Judah's King Uzziah), Aram's King Rezin and Israel's King Pekah (Remaliah's son) came up to attack Jerusalem, but they couldn't overpower it.

<sup>2</sup>When the house of David was told that Aram had become allies with Ephraim, their hearts and the hearts of their people shook as the trees of a forest shake when there is a wind. <sup>3</sup>But the LORD said to Isaiah, "Go out to meet Ahaz, you and your son Shear-jashub,<sup>P</sup> at the end of the channel of the Upper Pool, by the road to the field where laundry is washed, <sup>4</sup>and say to him, 'Be careful and stay calm. Don't fear, and don't lose heart over these two pieces of smoking torches, over the burning anger of Rezin, Aram, and Remaliah's son. <sup>5</sup>Aram has planned evil against you with Ephraim and Remaliah's son, saying, <sup>6</sup>"Let's march up against Judah, tear it apart, capture it for ourselves, and install Tabeel's son as its king."<sup>7</sup> But the LORD God says: It won't happen; it won't take place. <sup>8</sup>The chief of Aram is Damascus; the chief of Damascus is Rezin (in sixty-five more years Ephraim will be shattered as a nation); <sup>9</sup>the chief of Ephraim is Samaria; and the chief of Samaria is the son of Remaliah. If you don't believe this, you can't be trusted."

The sign of Immanuel

<sup>10</sup>Again the LORD spoke to Ahaz: <sup>11</sup>"Ask a sign from the LORD your God. Make it as deep as the grave<sup>Q</sup> or as high as heaven."

<sup>12</sup>But Ahaz said, "I won't ask; I won't test the LORD."

<sup>13</sup>Then Isaiah said, "Listen, house of David! Isn't it enough for you to be tiresome for people that you are also tiresome before my God? <sup>14</sup>Therefore, the Lord will give you a sign.

<sup>P</sup>Or the remaining few will return <sup>Q</sup>Heb Sheol

the prophet a contrary message for people who haven't been listening (cf. Deut 29:4). Isaiah is never seen preaching this message. In fact, in Isaiah 7 he reassures Ahaz of God's favor. Beginning in the Gospels, these verses were cited against non-Christian Jews by early Christians (see Matt 13:10-17; Mark 4:10-12; Luke 8:10; John 12:39-40; Acts 28:25-27).

6:10 Failing to see and hear is a frequent theme in Isaiah (see Isa 29:9, 18; 35:5; 42:7, 16, 18-20; 43:8; 56:10; 59:10).

6:11-13 The prophet's question is reminiscent of psalms of lament, more a protest than a request for a timetable (Pss 13:1-2; 35:17; 62:3; 74:9-10; 79:5; 80:4; 89:46; 90:13; 119:84). But God's response indicates that it will take utter destruction to make Judah receptive.

6:13 Even if one-tenth remain: This verse is difficult to translate. Its ending conveys some hope.

7:1 Most of this verse coincides with 2 Kings 16:5-9. In the Syro-Ephraimite War (which ended in 722 BCE), rulers of Israel and Aram attacked Jerusalem. According to 2 Kings, Ahaz bribed King Tiglath-pileser of Assyria into rescuing him by attacking Aram, destroying that nation and isolating Israel. This isn't mentioned in Isaiah. Instead, the prophet encourages Ahaz to trust God's protection.

7:3 Shear-jashub: The name of Isaiah's son means "a few will return" (see Isa 10:21-22). The place described so precisely is the location where Assyria's field commander will meet King Hezekiah's representatives a generation later (Isa 36:2).

7:4-9 The response in Jerusalem is fearful, but Isaiah offers reassurance that the attack will fail. If you don't believe this, you can't be trusted: Only the final phrase is negative. In Hebrew there is a play on words that might also be rendered "If you aren't steadfast, you won't stand fast."

7:11-13 The prophet again seeks to reassure King Ahaz. Rather than simply giving him a sign, he asks Ahaz to choose one. The king's refusal to "test the Lord" sounds pious (see Exod 17:2; Num 14:22; Deut 6:16; Pss 78:18, 41, 45; 95:9; 106:14), but the prophet views it as a refusal to trust.

7:14 The identity of the young woman isn't stated. Perhaps it is the king's or the prophet's wife, or simply a pregnant young woman nearby. She will give her child a name

6:10 Is 29:10;
Jer 5:21;
Mt 13:15;
Jn 12:40;
Ac 28:26

6:11 Ps 79:5;
Is 1:7, 15 3:26

6:12 Jer 4:29
7:1 2Ki 15:25,
2Ki 15:37,
2Ki 16:1,
2Ki 16:5;
2Ch 28:6

7:2 Is 7:13,
Is 9:9, Jer 21:12
7:4 Dt 20:3;
Is 7:1; Am 4:11

7:7 Is 8:10;
Ac 4:25

7:9 2Ch 20:20

7:11 2Ki 19:29

7:12 2Ki 15:38,
2Ki 16:2,
2Ki 16:5,
2Ki 16:8,
2Ki 16:15

7:13 Is 7:2,
Is 43:24

7:14 Gn 3:15;
Is 8:8, Is 9:6;
Mt 1:23;
Lk 1:31

7:15 Gn 18:8;
Is 7:22
7:16 Is 8:4
7:17 1 Ki 12:16;
2Ch 28:20;
Is 8:7, 16 8:8,
Is 10:5
7:20 Is 10:5;
Eze 5:1

7:23 Song 8:11;
Is 5:6, Is 5:10
8:1 Is 30:8;
Jer 36:2; Hab 2:2
8:3 Hos 1:4
8:4 Is 7:8,
Is 7:16, Is 9:11
8:6 Neh 3:15;
Is 5:24, Is 7:1,
Is 7:4; Jn 9:7
8:7 Is 17:12,
Is 17:13
8:8 Is 7:14,
Is 30:28
8:9 Jer 46:3
8:10 Job 5:12;
Is 7:7; Ro 8:31

The young woman is pregnant and is about to give birth to a son, and she will name him Immanuel.<sup>r</sup> <sup>15</sup>He will eat butter and honey, and learn to reject evil and choose good. <sup>16</sup>Before the boy learns to reject evil and choose good, the land of the two kings you dread will be abandoned. <sup>17</sup>The LORD will bring upon you, upon your people, and upon your families days unlike any that have come since the day Ephraim broke away from Judah—the king of Assyria.”

The devastated land

<sup>18</sup>On that day, the LORD will whistle for the flies from the remotest streams of Egypt and for the bees that are in the land of Assyria. <sup>19</sup>They will come and settle in the steep ravines, in the cracks of the cliffs, in all the thornbushes, and in all the watering holes.

<sup>20</sup>On that day, the Lord will shave with a razor hired from beyond the Euphrates—with the king of Assyria—the head and the pubic hair, and will cut off the beard as well.

<sup>21</sup>On that day, one will raise a young cow and two sheep <sup>22</sup>and will eat butter because of the abundance of milk, for all who remain in the land will eat butter and honey.

<sup>23</sup>On that day, there will be thorns and thistles in every place where a thousand vines worth a thousand silver shekels once grew. <sup>24</sup>Only those with bows and arrows will go there, because the entire land will become thorns and thistles. <sup>25</sup>As for the hills that were once farmed with hoes, you won't go there for fear of the thorns and thistles. They will become places where cattle are turned loose and sheep wander.

Isaiah's testimonies

8 The LORD said to me, “Take a large tablet, and write on it in ordinary letters,<sup>o</sup> For Maher-shalal-hash-baz.”<sup>c</sup> Summon trusted people, Uriah the priest and Zechariah, Jeberechiah's son, to witness it.<sup>q</sup>

<sup>3</sup>I then had sex with the prophetess, and she became pregnant and gave birth to a son. Then the LORD said to me, “Name him Maher-shalal-hash-baz. <sup>4</sup>Before the boy knows how to say ‘my father’ and ‘my mother,’ the wealth of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria will be carried away before the king of Assyria.”

<sup>5</sup>The LORD spoke again to me: <sup>6</sup>Since this people has rejected the waters of Shiloah that flow gently, and instead rejoices over<sup>n</sup> Rezin and Remaliah's son—<sup>7</sup>therefore, look, the Lord is raising up against them the powerful floodwaters of the Euphrates, the king of Assyria and all his glory. It will rise up over all its channels, overflowing all its banks, <sup>8</sup>and sweep into Judah, flooding, overflowing, and reaching up to the neck. But God is with us;<sup>v</sup> the span of his wings will cover the width of the land.

<sup>9</sup>Unite<sup>w</sup> yourselves, peoples, and be shattered!

Listen, all distant places of the earth!

Prepare to be shattered!

Prepare to be shattered!

<sup>10</sup>Create a plan, but be frustrated!

Speak a word, but it won't stand, for God is with us.<sup>z</sup>

<sup>r</sup>Or God is with us <sup>o</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Or spoil hastens, plunder hurries <sup>n</sup>Or melts before <sup>v</sup>Heb Immanuel <sup>w</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>z</sup>Heb Immanuel meaning “God is with us” (see Ps 46:7, 11; Isa 8:8, 10; for where such trust is criticized, see Mic 5:9-11). Her faith will serve as a sign to Ahaz of God's protection. This verse is removed from its historical context in Ahaz's house by the author of Matthew (Matt 1:23), where the young woman is understood as a virgin (based on the Greek LXX translation of Isaiah), and the timeframe changes from Isaiah's present to the far future in Jesus' time. Interpretation of this verse has figured into Jewish-Christian debates from the 2nd century CE on.

7:16-17 In a very short time, before the child reaches the tender age of moral or aesthetic reasoning, the threatening countries will have vanished before the even greater threat of Assyria.

7:18-25 On that day: In Isaiah, the phrase “on that day” (7:18, 20, 21, 23) often signals a later addition. Similar extended series occur in Isaiah 17:4, 7, 9 and Isaiah 19:16, 18, 19, 21, 23, 24. Here enemy troops are compared to an insect infestation, a plague commanded by God. The countryside will revert to wild pasture. It isn't clear where the prophet's speech ends.

8:1-4 As in Isaiah 6, the prophet himself tells the story in first person. Maher-shalal-hash-baz is a third symbolic name, meaning “spoil hastens, plunder hurries.” This name describes the looting of Damascus and Samaria by Assyria. 8:5-22 The rest of Isaiah 8 consists of a series of oracles, vivid but sometimes obscure.

8:5-10 waters of Shiloah: the small stream flowing from Jerusalem's Gihon spring, called Siloam in John 9:7, 11 (cf. Luke 13:4). Today the Arab village of Silwan retains the ancient name. The stream represents the local Davidic dynasty, which some in Jerusalem evidently <sup>11</sup>The LORD spoke to me, taking hold of me and warning me not to walk in the way of this people: <sup>12</sup>Don't call conspiracy all that this people calls conspiracy. Don't fear what they fear, and don't be terrified. <sup>13</sup>It is the LORD of heavenly forces whom you should hold sacred, whom you should fear, and whom you should hold in awe.

8:14 Is 28:16;
Lk 2:34;
Ro 9:32;
Ro 9:33; 1Pt 2:8
8:16 Is 29:11;
Dn 12:4

8:17 Dt 31:17;
Ps 27:14;
Is 54:8; Hab 2:3

8:18 Lk 2:34;
Heb 2:13

8:19 Lv 19:31;
1Sa 28:8;
Is 19:3, Is 29:4

8:20 Mi 3:6;
Lk 16:29

8:21 Rev 16:11

9:1 2Ki 15:29;
2Ch 16:4;
Is 8:22; Mt 4:15;
Mt 4:16

9:2 Mt 4:16;
Lk 1:79; Eph 5:8

9:5 Ps 46:9;
Is 13:16, Is 19:2;
Jer 47:3

9:6 Is 7:14,
Is 22:22,
Is 28:29;
Mt 28:18;
Lk 2:11

<sup>14</sup>God will become a sanctuary—but he will be a stone to trip over and a rock to stumble on for the two houses of Israel; a trap and a snare for those living in Jerusalem.

<sup>15</sup>Many of them will stumble and fall, and be broken, snared, and captured.

<sup>16</sup>Bind up the testimony; seal up the teaching among my disciples. <sup>17</sup>I will wait for the LORD, who has hidden his face from the house of Jacob, and I will hope in God. <sup>18</sup>Look! I and the children the LORD gave me are signs and wonders in Israel from the LORD of heavenly forces, who lives on Mount Zion.

<sup>19</sup>If they say to you: "Consult the ghosts and the spirits that chirp and mutter. (Shouldn't a people consult its gods?) Consult the dead on behalf of the living <sup>20</sup>for instruction and for testimony"—they will surely say such things, but they will never see the dawn.<sup>7</sup>

<sup>21</sup>They will pass through the land,<sup>a</sup> dejected and hungry, and when they are hungry, they will be enraged and will curse their king and God. They will turn toward heaven <sup>22</sup>and look to the earth, but they will see only distress and darkness, random movement, and the anguish and doom of banishment.<sup>a</sup>

A great light

9<sup>b</sup>Nonetheless, those who were in distress won't be exhausted. At an earlier time, God cursed the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, but later he glorified the way of the sea, the far side of the Jordan, and the Galilee of the nations.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>2</sup>The people walking in darkness have seen a great light.
On those living in a pitch-dark land, light has dawned.

<sup>3</sup>You have made the nation great;
you have increased its joy.
They rejoiced before you as with joy at the harvest, as those who divide plunder rejoice.

<sup>4</sup>As on the day of Midian, you've shattered the yoke that burdened them, the staff on their shoulders, and the rod of their oppressor.

<sup>5</sup>Because every boot of the thundering warriors, and every garment rolled in blood will be burned, fuel for the fire.

<sup>6</sup>A child is born to us, a son is given to us, and authority will be on his shoulders.

<sup>7</sup>Heb uncertain for 8:19-20 <sup>a</sup>Or it <sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain for 8:21-22 <sup>b</sup>8:23 in Heb <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>9:1 in Heb

wanted to replace with foreign rule from Israel and Aram. The prophet threatens that what will replace these waters instead are the much more powerful  floodwaters of Assyria.

8:11-15 Once again the prophet says not to fear what everyone else is fearing, because God is more powerful than any human enemy, and what God wishes will prevail. Those who take refuge in God will be protected; those opposing God will stumble.

8:16-18 Even if his contemporaries fail to trust God, the prophet himself is content to wait. References to the prophet's testimony and his disciples are unusual, and have led to much speculation; see Isaiah 29:11; 30:8-11.

8:19-22 Isaiah ridicules people who practice necromancy (consulting the dead, in contrast to trusting the living God) as people who  chirp and mutter.

9:1 The verse is ambiguous. Some think the pronoun "he" refers to a human king, perhaps the king of Aram.  land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali: northern and northeastern portions of the kingdom of Israel, which along with the other regions mentioned were incorporated into Aram before being taken by Assyria (see Isa 9:12; 2 Kgs 10:32-33; 13:3-5, 25; 15:29). Hope is now offered to regions long subject to political turmoil. Part of this verse and the next are quoted in Matthew 4:15-16 in relation to Jesus' move to Capernaum on the Galilee Sea.

9:2-7 A joyful hymn celebrating either the birth or the enthronement of a Davidic king in Jerusalem.

9:2 Imagery of darkness from Isaiah 5:20, 30 and Isaiah 8:22 is reversed.

9:3 Two kinds of gathering are paired: the agricultural harvest and the gathering of spoils after a battle.

9:4  day of Midian: Victory over Midian is described in Judges 7. For a similar reference to Midian, see Isaiah 10:26-27.

9:6-7 The future king will usher in an age of peace, justice, and righteousness. For the last part of 9:7, see Isaiah 37:32.

9:7 Is 16:5;

Jer 23:5;

Dn 2:44;

Lk 1:32;

Lk 1:33

9:9 Is 7:9;

Is 46:12

9:13 Jer 5:3;

Hos 7:10

9:15 Is 3:2;

Is 3:3; Mt 24:24

9:16 Is 3:12;

Mt 15:14;

Mt 23:16

He will be named Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Eternal Father, Prince of Peace.

- <sup>7</sup>There will be vast authority and endless peace for David's throne and for his kingdom, establishing and sustaining it with justice and righteousness now and forever.

The zeal of the LORD of heavenly forces will do this.

God's hand still stretched out

- <sup>8</sup>The Lord sent a word against Jacob;
it fell upon Israel;
<sup>9</sup>the people all knew it—Ephraim and the one who rules in Samaria.
But with a proud and arrogant heart they said, <sup>10</sup>"Bricks have fallen, but let's rebuild with stones.
Sycamores were cut down, but let's replace them with cedars."
<sup>11</sup>So the LORD raised up their foes against them,<sup>e</sup> and stirred up their enemies—<sup>12</sup>Aram from the east and the Philistines from the west—and they devoured Israel with an open mouth.
Even then God's anger didn't turn away;
God's hand was still extended.
- <sup>13</sup>But the people didn't turn to the one who struck them.
They didn't seek the LORD of heavenly forces.
- <sup>14</sup>So the LORD cut off head and tail, palm branch and reed from Israel in one day.
- <sup>15</sup>(Elders and celebrities are the head; prophets who teach lies are the tail.)
- <sup>16</sup>But this people's leaders were misleading, and those being led were confused.
- <sup>17</sup>So the Lord showed their youth no pity, and showed their orphans and widows no mercy;
for everyone was godless and evil; every mouth spoke nonsense.
Even then God's anger didn't turn away;
God's hand was still extended.
- <sup>18</sup>Wickedness burned like fire, devouring thorn and thistle.
It kindled the thickets of the forest; they swirled in rising smoke.
- <sup>19</sup>The land was scorched by the rage of the LORD of heavenly forces;
the people were like fuel for the fire.
Not one person pitied another:
- <sup>20</sup>they consumed on the right, but remained hungry;
devoured on the left, and weren't satisfied.
They devoured the flesh of their own children.<sup>f</sup>
- <sup>21</sup>Manasseh devoured Ephraim and Ephraim Manasseh; together they turned against Judah.

<sup>e</sup>Or the enemies of Rezin <sup>f</sup>Or arm

9:8–10:4 A series of condemnations that began in Isaiah 5:25 resumes here. The same conclusion found there (Even then God's anger didn't turn away; God's hand was still extended) is repeated in Isaiah 9:12, 17, 21, and Isaiah 10:4. The place-names (Israel, Jacob, Ephraim, Samaria, and Manasseh) indicate that these condemnations refer to the northern kingdom, which fell into chaos just before Assyria destroyed Israel's capital, Samaria, in 722 BCE.

9:9 Ephraim: another term for "Israel," from the name of Joseph's second son.

9:10 Bricks have fallen: This apparently refers to an earthquake (see Isa 5:25; Amos 1:1; 8:8; 9:1). The prophet regards the proposal to rebuild as defying the "word" with which God was trying to correct them.

9:12 Aram and Philistia are described as taking land from Israel (see Isa 9:1).

9:14 head and tail, palm branch and reed: the nation's leadership; see Isaiah 19:15.

9:21 Manasseh: a major portion of Israel, primarily associated with the Transjordan region, named after Joseph's first son.

Even then God's anger didn't turn away;
God's hand was still extended.

Wicked laws

10 Doom to those who pronounce wicked decrees, and keep writing harmful laws to deprive the needy of their rights and to rob the poor among my people of justice;
to make widows their loot;
to steal from orphans!
3 What will you do on the day of punishment when disaster comes from far away?
To whom will you flee for help;
where will you stash your wealth?
4 How will you avoid crouching among the prisoners and falling among the slain?
Even so, God's anger hasn't turned away;
God's hand is still extended.

10:1 Ps 94:20
10:2 Is 1:17,
Is 1:23, Is 3:14,
Is 5:23
10:3 Hos 9:7;
Lk 19:44
10:8 2Ki 18:24
10:9 Gn 10:10;
2Ki 16:9,
2Ki 17:6;
2Ch 35:20;
Am 6:2
10:10 2Ki 19:17,
2Ki 19:18
10:11 Is 2:8
10:12 Is 2:11
10:13 Eze 28:2;
Dn 4:30

Assyria as God's punishing weapon

5 Doom to Assyria, rod of my anger, in whose hand is the staff of my fury!
6 Against a godless nation I send him; against an infuriating people I direct him to seize spoil, to steal plunder, and to trample them like mud in the streets.
7 But he has other plans;
he schemes in secret;
destruction is on his mind,
extermination of nation after nation.
8 He says: Aren't my commanders all kings?
9 Isn't Calno like Carchemish?
Isn't Hamath like Arpad?
Isn't Samaria like Damascus?
10 Just as I took control of idolatrous kingdoms with more images than Jerusalem and Samaria, 11 just as I did to Samaria and her false gods, won't I also do this to Jerusalem and her idols?
12 But when the Lord has finished all this work on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, he will punish<sup>a</sup> the Assyrian king's arrogant actions and the boasting of his haughty eyes.
13 He said, "By my own strength I have achieved it, and by my wisdom, since I'm so clever.

<sup>a</sup>Or I will punish

10:1-4 This concluding oracle begins like the series in Isaiah 5 with Doom and ends like the series in Isaiah 9 with the refrain concerning God's still-extended hand.
10:2 Because of their economic vulnerability, widows and orphans stand for all who are easily deprived of justice (cf. Isa 1:17). Here the charge is even more severe: Those in power appear to be constructing the law itself as an instrument of oppression. A parallel is drawn between this treatment of weaker subjects and what the tyrant Assyria does to weaker nations: The same pair of words, "spoil" and "plunder," found in the name of Isaiah's son Maher-shalal-hash-baz ("spoil is hurrying, plunder is hastening," Isa 8:1-4; see also note on Isa 10:6), reappears here.
10:5 Doom to Assyria, rod of my anger: As in Isaiah 5:26 and 7:18, the powerful empire of Assyria is merely an instrument carrying out God's purpose.
10:6 Against a godless nation: the chosen people who refuse to choose God. seize spoil, to steal plunder: See Isaiah 10:2; 8:14.

10:8-11, 13-14 The prophet mocks the Assyrian king's arrogant boasting, presenting him as overreaching God's intent.
10:9 Calno, Carchemish, Hamath, and Arpad: These are all Aramean cities conquered by Assyria between 738 and 717 BCE. Damascus: Aram's capital, which fell in 732. Samaria stands out in this list as the capital of Israel.
10:10-11 Not counting on the living God, Assyria's king wrongly assumes he can conquer Jerusalem's "idols" as easily as those of the other nations.
10:12 Before the Assyrian king's speech resumes in Isaiah 10:13, a prose interruption says that the king's arrogance will be stopped by God.
10:13-14 By my own strength: The king boasts of attributes that belong to God—wisdom and strength of 10:14

Job 31:25;
Jer 49:16;
Obad 4

I disregarded national boundaries;
I raided their treasures;
I knocked down their rulers like a bull.

10:15 Is 10:5,
Is 29:16,
Is 45:9; Ro 9:20,
Ro 9:21

<sup>14</sup>My hand found the wealth of the peoples as if it were in a nest.
Just as one gathers abandoned eggs,
I have gathered the entire earth;
no creature fluttered a wing or opened a mouth to chirp.<sup>g</sup>

10:16 Is 17:4
10:17 Is 9:18,
Is 37:23

<sup>15</sup>Will the ax glorify itself over the one who chops with it?
Or will the saw magnify itself over its user?
As if a rod could wave the one who lifts it!
As if a staff could lift up the one not made of wood!

10:19 Is 21:17
10:21 Is 7:3,
Is 9:6

10:22 Hos 1:10;
Ro 9:27,
Ro 9:28

<sup>16</sup>Therefore, the LORD God of heavenly forces will make the well-fed people waste away;
and among his officials, a blaze will burn like scorching fire.

10:23 Is 28:22
10:26 Ex 14:16;
Jgs 7:25; Is 9:4

<sup>17</sup>The light of Israel will become a fire, its holy one a flame, which will burn and devour its thorns and thistles in a single day.

<sup>18</sup>Its abundant forest and farmland will be finished completely,<sup>h</sup> as when a sick person wastes away;

<sup>19</sup>its forest's remaining trees will be no more than a child can count.

A few will return

<sup>20</sup>On that day, what's left of Israel and the survivors of the house of Jacob will no longer depend on the one who beat them. Instead, they will faithfully depend on the LORD, the holy one of Israel. <sup>21</sup>A few will return, what's left of Jacob, to the mighty God. <sup>22</sup>Although your people, Israel, were like the sand of the sea, only a few survivors will return. The end is announced, overflowing with justice. <sup>23</sup>Yes, destruction has been announced; the LORD God of heavenly forces will carry it out against the entire land.

<sup>24</sup>Therefore, the LORD God of heavenly forces says: My people who live in Zion, don't fear Assyria, which strikes you with the rod and raises its staff against you as Egypt did. <sup>25</sup>In a very short time my fury will end, and my anger at the world will be finished.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>26</sup>Therefore, the LORD of heavenly forces will crack a whip against Assyria, as when he struck Midian at the rock of Oreb.
He will raise a rod over the sea,
as he did in Egypt.

<sup>27</sup>On that day, God will remove the burden from your shoulder and destroy the yoke on your neck.<sup>j</sup>

The exalted laid low

He has gone up from Samaria, <sup>28</sup>come against Aiath, passed to Migron.
At Michmash he stored his equipment.

<sup>29</sup>They crossed at the pass: "We'll camp at Geba!"
Ramah trembles; Gibeah of Saul has fled.

<sup>h</sup>Syr, Vulg body and soul (that is, completely); MT he will finish <sup>l</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>j</sup>Or and his yoke from your neck, and a yoke will be destroyed because of fatness hand—calling to mind the outstretched divine hand behind Assyria's invasion.

10:15 Will the ax glorify itself: The prophet undercuts the king's arrogant words by reiterating that Assyria is merely God's instrument (cf. Isa 10:5).

10:19 no more than a child can count: The motif of children, prominent in Isaiah 7; 8; 9, returns here.

10:20-22 On that day: See note on Isaiah 7:18. After Assyria's conquest, only a few will be left (see Isa 7:3).

10:22 sand: God promised Abraham that his descendants would be as numerous as the grains of sand on the seashore (Gen 22:17; see also Gen 32:12; 1 Kgs 4:20; Hos 1:10), but now the end of Israel has come.

10:24 Zion: Jerusalem.

10:26 the rock of Oreb: See Judges 7:25; Isaiah 9:4.

10:27b-32 The names Samaria, Aiath, Migron, Michmash, Geba, Ramah, and Gibeah trace the path of an army marching through towns north of Jerusalem, terrifying residents as it advances. The locations of Gallim, Laishah, Madmenah, and Gebim are no longer known; most likely they, too, were north of Jerusalem. Anathoth is less than three miles from Jerusalem. Nob is probably Mount

10:33 Am 2:9
 11:1 Is 4:2,
 Is 11:10;
 Jer 23:5;
 Zec 3:8;
 Ac 13:23
 11:2 Is 42:1,
 Is 61:1;
 Mt 3:16; Jn 1:32,
 Jn 16:13
 11:3 Jn 2:25,
 Jn 7:24
 11:4 Job 4:9;
 Ps 2:9,
 Ps 72:2;
 Is 29:19; 2Th 2:8

Imperial Boasting and Divine Power Beginning in Isaiah 5:26-30 and continuing throughout Isaiah 10-14 (see also Isaiah 36-37), Isaiah makes a bold claim in the face of international chaos: The powerful, arrogant Mesopotamian Empire is no more than a tool for God's purposes. In Isaiah 10:5-6 the prophet says Assyria is the rod of God's anger, sent to punish God's own "godless nation." The Assyrian emperor boasts of plans to destroy one nation after another, but the prophet claims that his arrogance will soon end, since no tool is mightier than the one who uses it. Beyond the end of Assyria lie recovery and redemption for God's people.

Similar themes develop in Isaiah 13, where mighty Babylon is destroyed by invaders. In Isaiah 14 Babylon's king is depicted as boasting of raising himself to the heavens to become like God. When he is slain instead, no one is sorry. Even the kings who have preceded him to the underworld marvel at his fall.

A recurring theme throughout this section and elsewhere is the contrast between divine and human plans. Though Assyria has grand plans (Isa 10:7), only God's plans will stand (Isa 14:24-27).

<sup>30</sup> Cry aloud, Daughter Gallim!

Listen, Laishah! Answer her, Anathoth!

<sup>31</sup> Madmenah has flown.

Gebim's inhabitants sought refuge.

<sup>32</sup> This very day he will stand at Nob and shake his fist<sup>a</sup> at Daughter Zion's mountain, the hill of Jerusalem!

<sup>33</sup> Look! The LORD God of heavenly forces is chopping off the branches with terrible power.

The loftiest ones are about to be cut down and the exalted laid low.

<sup>34</sup> He will strike down the forest thickets with an ax, and mighty Lebanon will fall.

A shoot from Jesse's stump

11 A shoot will grow up from the stump of Jesse;
 a branch will sprout<sup>1</sup> from his roots.

<sup>2</sup> The LORD's spirit will rest upon him, a spirit of wisdom and understanding,
 a spirit of planning and strength,
 a spirit of knowledge and fear of the LORD.

<sup>3</sup> He will delight in fearing the LORD.

He won't judge by appearances, nor decide by hearsay.

<sup>4</sup> He will judge the needy with righteousness, and decide with equity for those who suffer in the land.

He will strike the violent<sup>m</sup> with the rod of his mouth;
 by the breath of his lips he will kill the wicked.

<sup>a</sup>Or wave his hand <sup>1</sup>LXX, Vulg; MT bear fruit <sup>m</sup>Or land Scopus, a ridge continuous with the Mount of Olives, overlooking the city from the northeast.

10:33-34 chopping off the branches: The ax imagery from Isaiah 10:15 returns, but now it is used against Assyria. As in Isaiah 10:18-19, Assyria is a forest that God will destroy. 10:34 mighty Lebanon will fall: Assyria is compared to the great cedar forests of Lebanon; see Isaiah 2:13.

11:1-9 An ideal Davidic ruler is described as ushering in peace that's so universal it extends even to the animal world. Whether any specific king is being described is a matter of speculation. But like Isaiah 9:1-6 and Isaiah 32:1-5, this passage draws a connection between wise leadership and peace for the nation.

11:1 stump of Jesse: Jesse was King David's father. The one referred to here is a descendant of this royal family. A tree metaphor appears again, as at the end of Isaiah 6 and 10. In contrast to the mighty Assyrian tree that falls, Judean kinship grows from the ground up, regenerated from its well-developed root system.

11:2 a spirit of wisdom and understanding: All six of the traits described here are used in Wisdom's self-description in Proverbs 8:12-15. She concludes by saying, "By me kings rule, and princes issue righteous decrees." Wisdom and might stand in ironic contrast to the Assyrian king's boasts of wisdom and cleverness in Isaiah 10:13.

11:3 He won't judge by appearances: For where God counsels Samuel not to regard appearances when choosing a future king from among Jesse's sons, see 1 Samuel 16:7. Justice and equity, rather than superficial judgments, will characterize his rulings.

11:4 He will judge the needy with righteousness: The needy and poor (those who suffer) are the same two groups described in Isaiah 10:2 as being exploited by those responsible for the law. rod of his mouth: Unlike the forceful

11:5 Is 25:1;

Eph 6:14

11:6 Is 65:25

11:7 2Sa 17:8;

Prv 17:12;

Is 65:25

11:8 Is 14:29;

Is 59:5; Jer 8:17

11:9 Hab 2:14

11:10 Is 11:1;

Is 28:12;

Lk 2:32;

Jn 12:32;

Ro 15:12

11:12 Is 11:10;

Is 56:8

11:14 Is 25:10;

Is 63:1;

Dn 11:41;

Jl 3:19;

Am 9:12

12:1 Is 25:1

<sup>5</sup>Righteousness will be the belt around his hips, and faithfulness the belt around his waist.

<sup>6</sup>The wolf will live with the lamb, and the leopard will lie down with the young goat;
the calf and the young lion will feed<sup>a</sup> together,
and a little child will lead them.

<sup>7</sup>The cow and the bear will graze.
Their young will lie down together,
and a lion will eat straw like an ox.

<sup>8</sup>A nursing child will play over the snake's hole; toddlers will reach right over the serpent's den.

<sup>9</sup>They won't harm or destroy anywhere on my holy mountain.
The earth will surely be filled with the knowledge of the LORD, just as the water covers the sea.

A signal to the peoples

<sup>10</sup>On that day, the root of Jesse will stand as a signal to the peoples. The nations will seek him out, and his dwelling will be glorious.

<sup>11</sup>On that day, the Lord will extend his hand a second time to reclaim the survivors of God's people who are left from Assyria and from Egypt, from Pathros, Cush, Elam, Shinar, Hamath, and from the coastlands<sup>o</sup> of the sea.

<sup>12</sup>God will raise a signal for the nations and gather the outcast men of Israel.
God will collect the dispersed women of Judah from the four corners of the earth.

<sup>13</sup>Ephraim's jealousy will cease, and Judah's harassment will be eliminated.
Ephraim won't be jealous of Judah, and Judah won't harass Ephraim.

<sup>14</sup>But they will swoop down on the slopes of Philistia to the west; together they will plunder the people to the east.
Edom and Moab will be under their power, and the Ammonites will be their subjects.

<sup>15</sup>The LORD will split the tongue of the Egyptian sea. God will wave a hand over the Euphrates with a powerful<sup>p</sup> wind and break it into seven streams so that it can be crossed in sandals. <sup>16</sup>Then there will be a highway from Assyria for the survivors of God's people who are left from Assyria, just as there was for Israel on the day they went up from the land of Egypt.

Hymn of trust

12 You will say on that day:
"I thank you, LORD.

Though you were angry with me, your anger turned away and you comforted me.

<sup>a</sup>Correction; MT and the calf <sup>o</sup>Or islands <sup>p</sup>Heb uncertain

rod of the Assyrians in Isaiah 10:5, 15, 24, the rod of the Judean ruler is verbal, that is, just legislation on behalf of the needy and against those who are violent.

11:6-9 The wolf will live with the lamb: a return to the ideal world of Genesis 1:29-30, when not even animals were predators and prey, but all ate green plants (see also Isa 65:25). Once again, as in Isaiah 7:3, 14-16; 8:3-4; 9:6-7; 10:19, children are featured. This time they are the offspring of sheep, goats, and cows, as well as of humans.

11:9 my holy mountain: Mount Zion, where the temple is. See Psalms 48:1; 99:9; Isaiah 27:13; 56:7; 57:13; 65:11, 25; 66:20. See also Habakkuk 2:14, which is almost identical. 11:10 As in Isaiah 2:2-4, the nations are attracted to Zion. Here the king acts as God's regent.

11:11 Refugees return from all directions, not only from Assyria but from Egypt and several scattered locations. Pathros was a region in Egypt. Cush was ancient Ethiopia (today's Sudan). Elam was directly east of Babylon in today's Iran. Shinar was in Mesopotamia. Hamath was a city in northern Aram.

11:13 Ephraim's jealousy: This entire section began with Ephraim's (Israel's) attempt to invade Judah and replace Ahaz with another king (Isa 7:1; cf. Isa 9:21).

11:14 Israel and Judah will unite to subdue the surrounding nations that David once subdued.

11:15-16 over the Euphrates: The Hebrew reads "over the river," which is obviously the Euphrates. Those journeying from Assyria will be divinely aided by an event comparable to the crossing of the Reed Sea, so that Assyria's mighty river may likewise be crossed on foot. There will even be a highway like the one the Israelites traveled (Num 20:19).

12:1-6 The first major portion of the Isaiah scroll concludes with a hymn of thanks. The whole chapter is a fabric woven of phrases from related psalms.

12:1 I thank you, Lord: See Psalm 112:21.

<sup>2</sup>God is indeed my salvation;
I will trust and won't be afraid.
Yah, the LORD, is my strength and my shield;
he has become my salvation."

12:2 Ex 15:2;
Ps 27:1,
Ps 118:14;
Is 43:17;
Jer 3:23
12:3 Is 55:1;
Jn 4:10, Jn 4:14,
Jn 7:37

<sup>3</sup>You will draw water with joy from the springs of salvation.

<sup>4</sup>And you will say on that day:
"Thank the LORD; call on God's name;
proclaim God's deeds among the peoples;
declare that God's name is exalted.

12:4 1 Ch 16:8;
Ps 105:1,
Ps 145:4

<sup>5</sup>Sing to the LORD, who has done glorious things; proclaim this throughout all the earth."

12:5 Ex 15:1;
Ps 98:1
12:6 Is 1:24,
Is 41:14,
Zep 3:14

<sup>6</sup>Shout and sing for joy, city of Zion, because the holy one of Israel is great among you.

13:1 Is 1:1,
Is 14:4, Is 14:28,
Is 15:1, Is 47:1

13:2 Is 5:26;
Jer 50:2,
Jer 51:58

13:3 Jl 3:11

13:4 Jl 3:14

13:6 Is 2:12,
Is 13:9;

Eze 30:3;
Jl 1:15

13:7 Josh 2:11;

Is 19:1;

Eze 21:7;

Na 2:10

13:8 Is 21:3,
Is 26:17;

Jer 43:1;

Jn 16:21

Babylon falls

13An oracle about Babylon, which Isaiah, Amoz's son, saw.

<sup>1</sup>On a bare mountain raise a signal;
cry aloud to them; wave a hand;
let them enter the officials' gates.

<sup>3</sup>I have commanded my holy ones;
I have called my warriors,
my proud, jubilant ones, to execute my wrath.

<sup>4</sup>Listen!<sup>a</sup> A roar on the mountains like that of a great crowd.
Listen! An uproar of kingdoms, of nations coming together.
The LORD of heavenly forces is mustering an army for battle.

<sup>5</sup>They are coming from a distant land, from the faraway heavens, the LORD and the instruments of his fury, to destroy the whole land.

<sup>6</sup>Wail, for the day of the LORD is near.
Like destruction from the Almighty<sup>c</sup> it will come.

<sup>7</sup>Then all hands will fall limp;
every human heart will melt, <sup>8</sup>and they will be terrified.

Like a woman writhing in labor, they will be seized by spasms and agony.
They will look at each other aghast, their faces blazing.

<sup>a</sup>Heb lacks Listen! <sup>b</sup>Heb Shaddai or Mountain One 12:2 Yah, the LORD, is my strength and my shield: In Hebrew, this phrase almost precisely repeats Exodus 15:2; see also Psalm 118:14.

12:3 springs of salvation: See Isaiah 8:6-8.

12:4 Thank the LORD; call on God's name: See Psalm 105:1. God's name is exalted: See Psalm 148:13.

12:5 Sing to the LORD: See Psalm 105:2, 5, 7.

12:6 Shout and sing for joy: the first of many words addressed to Zion. This exultant image contrasts sharply with the opening images of Zion in Isaiah 1.

13:1-22 The superscription in 13:1 names Babylon as the subject (see also Isa 13:19). Since the reigning tyrant in Isaiah's time wasn't Babylon but Assyria, this oracle may actually date from the 6th century, after Jerusalem fell to Babylon. If so, it comes from a time close to that of Isaiah 40-55. There are a great many parallels between this oracle and Jeremiah's much longer oracle against Babylon in Jeremiah 50-51.

13:1 An oracle about Babylon: a new superscription (cf. notes on Isa 1:1; 2:1).

13:2-5 On a bare mountain raise a signal: The poetry is vivid and suspenseful. At first it isn't clear who is being addressed, who is making the uproar, and who is being attacked. As in Isaiah 5:26-30; 7:18-20; 8:6-8; 10:5-6, in which Assyria attacks Judah at God's command, here God also is commanding the coming armies.

13:6 Wail, for the day of the LORD is near: The perspective shifts to those being attacked. For "day of the LORD," see Isaiah 13:9; see note on Isaiah 2:12. The fullest explanation of the idea of the "day of the LORD" can be found in Obadiah 15: "The day of the LORD is near against all the nations. As you have done, so it will be done to you; your actions will make you suffer!" destruction from the Almighty: The Hebrew term for God underlying "Almighty," Shaddai, is found elsewhere, and frequently in the books of Genesis and Job, but this is its only occurrence in Isaiah, and here it is used for a different destructive purpose (for nearly parallel language, see Joel 1:15).

13:8 Like a woman writhing in labor: For this image of terror elsewhere, see Isaiah 19:16; 21:3; Exodus 15:14; Psalm 48:6; Micah 4:9-10; Jeremiah 4:31; 6:24; 50:43. The language in this section is highly stylized, distancing the horror.

13:9 Is 13:6

13:10 Is 24:23;

Eze 32:7;

Il 2:10; Am 8:9;

Mt 24:29

13:11 Is 3:11,

Is 26:21

13:12 Gn 10:29;

IKg 9:28;

IKg 10:11;

Job 28:16;

Ps 45:9

13:13 Hg 2:6

13:14 IKg 22:17;

Jer 50:16,

Jer 51:9

13:21 Is 34:11,

Is 34:13;

Jer 50:39;

Rev 18:2

<sup>9</sup>Look, the day of the LORD is coming with cruel rage and burning anger, making the earth a ruin, and wiping out its sinners.

<sup>10</sup>Heaven's stars and constellations won't show their light.

The sun will be dark when it rises;
the moon will no longer shine.

<sup>11</sup>I will bring disaster upon the world for its evil, and bring their own sin upon the wicked.

I will end the pride of the insolent, and the conceit of tyrants I will lay low.

<sup>12</sup>I will make humans scarcer than fine gold;
people rarer than the gold of Ophir.

<sup>13</sup>I will rattle the heavens;
the earth will shake loose from its place—because of the rage of the LORD of heavenly forces on the day his anger burns.

<sup>14</sup>They will be like hunted gazelles, like sheep without a shepherd; all will turn to their own people and flee to their own lands.

<sup>15</sup>Whoever is found will be stabbed; whoever is caught will fall by the sword.

<sup>16</sup>Their infants will be crushed before their eyes; their houses plundered, their women raped.

<sup>17</sup>Look! I'm rousing the Medes against them;
the Medes pay no mind to silver, no desire for gold.

<sup>18</sup>Their bows will smash youths;
they will be merciless to newborns, pitiless to children.

<sup>19</sup>So Babylon, a jewel among kingdoms, the Chaldeans' splendor and pride, will be like Sodom and Gomorrah, destroyed by God.

<sup>20</sup>No one will ever resettle or live there for generations.
No Arab will camp there;
no shepherds will rest flocks there.

Prophetic Oracles about the Nations An oracle is a prophetic message. Isaiah 13–23 consists primarily of oracles concerning foreign nations (see similarly Jer 46:1–51:58; Ezek 25:1–32:32; Amos 1:3–2:3; the books of Nahum and Obadiah). The oracles begin with two chapters labeled “an oracle about Babylon,” a surprising theme, since in Isaiah’s time Babylon is only another country to the east that is, like Judah, suffering from Assyria’s tyranny. Isaiah 13 and 14 may originally have been about Assyria. Their naming of Babylon instead, as well as verses concerning Babylon in Isaiah 21:6–10, reflect Babylon’s 6th-century rise and fall.

Oracles follow concerning Moab (Isa 15–16); Syria and Israel (Isa 17); Cush and Egypt (Isa 18–20); Judah itself (Isa 22); and finally Tyre (Isa 23); with assorted sayings in Isaiah 21. They aren’t all judgments, but a variety of kinds of writing that seem to have been composed at various times. The oracles concerning Moab and Tyre, for instance, take the form of laments, while other chapters such as Isaiah 17; 18; 21 are infused with awed mystery. Isaiah 20 is a very brief narrative and oracle concerning Isaiah, and Isaiah 22 is made up of two rebukes against the people of Jerusalem. Each portion must be read as its own piece, with the recognition that wherever context is missing, interpretation becomes more challenging.

13:10 Heaven's stars and constellations: The disaster is cosmic. For parallel imagery, see Joel 2:10; 3:4, 15.

13:12 gold of Ophir: Ophir’s location is unknown, but references to Ophir’s gold are common (see 1 Kgs 9:28; 10:11; 22:48; 1 Chron 29:4; 2 Chron 8:18; 9:10; Job 22:24; 28:16; Ps 45:9).

13:13 I will rattle the heavens: See Joel 2:10; 3:16.

13:17 Medes: a tribal group east of Babylon, who allied with the Babylonians to besiege and defeat the Assyrian capital city of Nineveh in 612 BCE. They later helped Cyrus the Great of Persia (see Isa 44:28; 45:1, 13) to conquer Babylon.

13:19 So Babylon: Within the poem, the identity of the victim of attack is revealed only as it perishes. the Chaldeans' splendor and pride: Chaldea was a region in the marshland of Babylonia. It first appears in Genesis as Abram’s prior home (Gen 11:28, 31), and is used in Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel as a synonym for Babylon. King Nebuchadnezzar and his dynasty were Chaldeans. like Sodom and Gomorrah: See Isaiah 1:9. The prophets frequently compare divinely decreed destruction to that of Sodom and Gomorrah (see Jer 49:18; 50:40; Amos 4:11; Zeph 2:9; Matt 10:15).

13:20–22 No one will ever resettle: Babylon becomes an

- <sup>21</sup>Wildcats will rest there;
houses will be filled with owls.
Ostriches will live there,
and goat demons will dance there.
<sup>22</sup>Hyenas will howl in its strongholds, and jackals in its luxurious palaces.
Babylon's<sup>a</sup> time is coming soon;
its days won't drag on.

13:22 Dt 32:35;
Is 25:2, Is 34:14,
Is 35:7; Jer 9:11
14:1 Ps 102:13;
Eze 39:25;
Zec 1:17;
Eph 2:12
14:4 Is 13:1;
Hab 2:6
14:5 Is 9:4
14:6 Is 47:6
14:7 Ps 126:1
14:8 Eze 31:16
14:9 Eze 32:21
14:10 Eze 32:21
14:11 Job 24:20;
Is 5:12;
Eze 26:13;
Am 5:23, Am 6:5

Compassion for Jacob

14 The LORD will have compassion on Jacob, will again choose Israel, and will give them rest in their own land. Immigrants will join them, and attach themselves to the house of Jacob. <sup>2</sup>The peoples will take them and will bring them to their own place. The house of Israel will possess them as male and female slaves in the LORD's land, making captives of their captors and ruling their oppressors.

Mockery of a tyrant

<sup>3</sup>When the LORD has given you rest from pain and trouble and from the hard labor that you perform, <sup>4</sup>you will take up this taunt against the king of Babylon:

How the oppressor<sup>a</sup> has ceased!
How the flood<sup>a</sup> has receded!

<sup>5</sup>The LORD has broken the staff of the wicked, the rod of tyrants <sup>6</sup>that struck peoples in rage with ceaseless blows, that ruled nations with anger, with relentless aggression.

<sup>7</sup>All the earth rests quietly, then it breaks into song.

<sup>8</sup>Even the cypresses rejoice over you, the cedars of Lebanon:
"Since you were laid low,
no logger comes up against us!"

<sup>9</sup>The underworld<sup>b</sup> beneath becomes restless to greet your arrival.
It awakens the ghosts, all the leaders of earth;
it makes the kings of the nations rise from their thrones.

<sup>10</sup>All of them speak and say to you:
"Even you've become weak like we are!
You are the same as us!"

<sup>11</sup>Your majesty has been brought down to the underworld,<sup>c</sup> along with the sound of your harps.
Under you is a bed of maggots, and worms are your blanket.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Itz <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>), LXX, Syr, Tg; MT fury <sup>d</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>e</sup>Heb Sheol

environmental wasteland, unwelcoming even to nomads. Only the most marginal creatures find something hospitable in this city's remains.

14:1-2 The Lord will have compassion on Jacob: In contrast to the destruction of Babylon, and as a result of its demise, Israel will be restored to their own land. Rather than violently attacking them as was described for Babylon, the nations will assist and vindicate them.

14:1 will again choose Israel: See Zechariah 1:17; 2:12. Immigrants will join them: See Isaiah 56:3, 6; Esther 9:27; Zechariah 2:11.

14:2 For similar ideas, see Isaiah 49:22-23; 60:4, 11-16; 61:5; 66:19-20.

14:3-4a These verses call the poem that follows a taunt against the king of Babylon (see also Isa 14:22, following the poem). However, the poem itself doesn't name a particular tyrant. Similarities between the king's boasting here and in Isaiah 10:8-14 suggest that the poem may have originally referred to an Assyrian king. Sargon II, who reigned from 722 BCE until he was killed in battle in 705, is most frequently suggested.

14:4 How the oppressor has ceased!: Both in its meter and its use of "how" at the outset, the poem parodies lament like that found in Isaiah 1:21; 2 Samuel 1:19, 25, 27; Lamentations 1:1; 2:1; 4:1-2.

14:5-8 Both the human and nonhuman worlds enjoy relief from the tyrant king's violence. The joy of trees safe from logging reflects the ax imagery from Isaiah 10:15-19.

14:9-10 underworld: The Hebrew word rendered here as "underworld" (as well as in Isa 14:11, 15, and elsewhere) is Sheol. Sheol in ancient Israel, much like Hades in ancient Greece, was the realm of the dead, deep in the earth. Unlike the later concept of hell, it wasn't a place simply for the wicked but for any who died. Here the dead kings rise from their thrones in astonishment to see the fallen tyrant.

14:12 Lk 10:18;

2Pt 1:19;

Rev 8:10

14:13 Is 14:14;

Eze 28:2;

Dn 5:23;

Dn 8:10; 2Th 2:4

14:14 Is 14:13,

Is 47:8; 2Th 2:4

14:15 Eze 31:16;

Eze 32:23;

Mt 11:23

14:16 Jer 50:23

14:17 Jl 2:3

14:19 Is 34:3;

Jer 8:1, Jer 41:7

14:20 Job 18:19;

Ps 21:10;

Ps 37:28

14:21 Ex 20:5;

Lv 26:39;

Mt 23:35

14:22 1Ki 14:10;

Job 18:19;

Ps 109:13;

Prv 10:7;

Is 13:19

14:25 Is 9:4;

Is 10:12;

Is 10:27;

Is 30:31, Is 31:8

14:27 2Ch 20:6;

Is 43:13;

Dn 4:35

<sup>12</sup>How you've fallen from heaven, morning star, son of dawn!

You are cut down to earth, helpless on your back!

<sup>13</sup>You said to yourself, I will climb up to heaven;
above God's stars, I will raise my throne.

I'll sit on the mount of assembly, on the heights of Zaphon.

<sup>14</sup>I'll go up to the cloud tops;
I'll be like the Most High!

<sup>15</sup>But down to the underworld<sup>a</sup> you are brought, to the depths of the pit.

<sup>16</sup>Those who see you will stare at you;
they will examine you closely:

"Is this the man who rattled the earth, who shook kingdoms, <sup>17</sup>who made the world a wasteland and tore down its cities, and wouldn't let his prisoners go home?"

<sup>18</sup>All the kings of the nations lie down honored, all of them, each in his own tomb.

<sup>19</sup>But you are cast away from your own grave like a rejected branch, covered by the dead and those pierced by the sword—who go down to the stony pit—like a trampled corpse.

<sup>20</sup>You won't join them in burial, for you destroyed your own land;
you killed your own people.

Such evil offspring will never be mentioned again!

<sup>21</sup>Prepare a place to slaughter his sons for the guilt of their father. Don't let them arise to take over the earth or fill the world with cities.

<sup>22</sup>I will arise against them, says the LORD of heavenly forces. I will cut off Babylon's renown and remnant, offshoot and offspring. <sup>23</sup>I will make it the home of herons, a swamp-land. I will sweep it away with the broom of destruction, says the LORD of heavenly forces.

Promise for oppressed Judah

<sup>24</sup>The LORD of heavenly forces has promised:

As I intended, so it will be;
and as I have planned, so it will happen:

<sup>25</sup>I will break Assyria in my land; on my mountains I will trample it and remove its yoke from my people;<sup>b</sup> his burden will be taken from their shoulders.

<sup>26</sup>This is the plan that has been made for all the earth;
this is the hand extended over all the nations.

<sup>27</sup>The LORD of heavenly forces has created a plan; who can stop it?

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol. <sup>b</sup>Or them

14:12 morning star, son of dawn: Though the exact story is unknown, it is clear that a Canaanite myth is invoked here, possibly arising from astronomical observation of Venus, a planet that at certain points in its orbit rises before the dawn and vanishes from view as the sky brightens. Though it can appear very bright, it is never visible high in the sky. Similarly, the king's high hopes will be dashed. Later interpretation understood this poem as referring to a fall of Satan from heaven into hell after rebelling against God (Rev 12:7-9; 20:1-3; 2 Pet 2:4; Luke 10:18).

14:13 mount of assembly: mountain where the Canaanite gods assembled to deliberate. Zaphon: a mountain in the north, the site of the Canaanite god Baal's palace. The king proudly aspires to become equal to God, but instead falls to the depths of the underworld.

14:16 Those who see you: The tyrant's dead body is viewed, evidently on a battlefield. His crimes even against his own subjects inspire little compassion.

14:22-23 These verses, with their reminders of Isaiah 13:20-22 and stark contrast with Isaiah 11:6-9, serve to reinforce the poem's referent to Babylon.

14:24-27 Though the preceding verses concerned Babylon, this portion refers to Assyria, who was the oppressor during Isaiah's own time. For similar language about God's hand is extended; who will stop it?

14:28 2Ki 16:1,
2Ki 16:20;
2Ch 28:27;
Is 13:1

An oracle concerning the Philistines

15:1 Nm 21:28;
Is 11:14, Is 13:1;
Jer 48:1;
Eze 25:8

<sup>28</sup>This oracle came in the year of King Ahaz's death:

15:5 Gn 13:10,
Gn 19:22;
Jer 4:20,
Jer 48:5,
Jer 48:34

<sup>29</sup>Don't rejoice, all you Philistines, that the rod that struck you is broken, because from the snake's root a viper will grow, and it will produce a winged creature.

<sup>30</sup>The oldest offspring of the poor will graze; their needy will lie down secure.
But he will starve your offspring to death, and murder all who remain.

<sup>31</sup>Wail, gate! Cry out, city!
Melt in terror, all you Philistines!
Smoke is coming from the north;
there is no straggler in its ranks.*

<sup>32</sup>What will one say to that nation's messengers?
The LORD has founded Zion;
the oppressed among God's people will find refuge there.

Concerning Moab

15 An oracle about Moab.
Ar was devastated in a night; Moab is ruined!
Kir was devastated in a night; Moab is ruined!

<sup>2</sup>Dibon has gone up to the temple, to the shrines to weep.<sup>a</sup> Moab wails over Nebo and over Medeba.
Every head is shaved,
every beard cut off.

<sup>3</sup>In its streets they wear mourning clothes;
on its rooftops and in its plazas, everyone wails and falls down weeping.

<sup>4</sup>Heshbon and Elealeh cry out;
as far as Jahaz their voice is heard.
The armed men of Moab shout, spirits trembling.

<sup>5</sup>My heart cries out for Moab.
Its fugitives flee to Zoar, to Eglath-shelishiyah.<sup>b</sup>
At the ascent of Luhith, each will go up with weeping.
On the road to Horonaim, they will raise a piercing cry.

<sup>6</sup>The waters of Nimrim are used up.
Grass has withered;
vegetation is dead;
greenery is gone.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain

Assyria, see Isaiah 9:4; 10:27. See also the refrain concerning God's extended hand (Isa 5:25; 9:12, 17, 21; 10:4), which is repeated here.

14:28-32 An oracle directed against the Philistines at the death of King Ahaz. Though they may plot a revolt against Assyria and invite Judah to join them (see Isa 20:1-6), Judah's security rests in God.

15:1-16:14 An oracle about Moab, which was situated on the eastern side of the Dead Sea, east of Judah. It isn't thought to be the writing of Isaiah himself. Much of it follows a lament form. Jeremiah 48:1-47 presents an oracle concerning Moab with many direct parallels to this one.

15:1-9 Descriptions of widespread destruction and mourning fill the first nine verses. Specificity is enhanced by the use of many place-names and the concrete pictures of mourning actions and postures. The event causing mourning isn't directly described.

15:1 Ar and Kir: may be either city names or synonyms meaning "city," designating Moab's capital city of Dibon, or the country as a whole.

15:2 Nebo and Medeba, as well as Heshbon, Elealeh, and Jahaz (Isa 15:4), lay in the northern part of Moab, which was often claimed and occupied by Israel.

15:5 My heart cries out: Here a sympathetic speaker appears for the first time; see also Isaiah 16:9, 11. For parallels, see Isaiah 21:3-4; 22:4; Jeremiah 8:18-9:2; 23:9; Lamentations 2:13. Zoar probably lay either on the border of Edom to the south or within Edom, at the south end of the Dead Sea. Eglath-shelishiyah: The meaning is uncertain, but it is usually understood as a Moabite town. Locations of Luhith and Horonaim are likewise uncertain, but they are most likely in southern Moab.

15:6 waters of Nimrim: This location in Moab is uncertain. Context indicates that it is normally a fertile area.

16:1 2Ki 3:4.

2Ki 14:7;
Is 10:32

16:2 Nm 21:13.

Jgs 11:18;

Prv 27:8;

Jer 48:20

16:3 1Ki 18:4

16:6 Jer 48:29;

Am 2:1;

Obad 3;

Zep 2:10

<sup>7</sup>Therefore, they carry what they had stored up, all their provisions to the Valley of the Willows.

<sup>8</sup>An outcry sounds within the borders of Moab, as far as Eglaim, a cry of distress,
as far as Beer-elim, a cry of distress.

<sup>9</sup>The waters of Dibon are full of blood.
But I will bring still more upon Dibon:
a lion for Moab's survivors, for the remaining few in the land.

16 Send lambs to the ruler of the land,<sup>6</sup> from Sela through the desert to the mountain of Daughter Zion.

<sup>2</sup>The daughters of Moab at the fords of the Arnon are like orphaned birds pushed from the nest.

<sup>3</sup>Consider carefully, act justly;
at high noon provide your shade like night.
Hide the outcasts;
keep the fugitives hidden.

<sup>4</sup>Let the outcasts of Moab live among you.
Be a hiding place for them from the destroyer.
When the oppressor is no more,
when destruction has ceased,
when the trampler has vanished from the land,

<sup>5</sup>a throne will be established based on goodness, and someone will sit faithfully on it in David's dwelling<sup>d</sup>— a judge who seeks justice and timely righteousness.

<sup>6</sup>We have heard of Moab's pride, his great pride, his outrageous pride and arrogance, his empty boasting.

<sup>7</sup>Therefore, let Moab wail;
let everyone wail for Moab.
Let them moan, utterly stricken, for the raisin cakes of Kir-hareseth.

<sup>8</sup>The fields of Heshbon languish.
The vines of Sibmah, whose honored grapes overpowered masters of nations, had reached as far as Jazer and strayed to the desert.
Their tendrils spread out and crossed the sea.

<sup>9</sup>Therefore, I will weep with Jazer's weeping for the vines of Sibmah.
I will drench you with my tears, Heshbon and Elealeh.
Cheers have fallen silent concerning your summer fruit and your grain harvest.

<sup>10</sup>Joy and happiness have been harvested from the farmland, and in the vineyards no one sings, no one shouts.
No treader crushes grapes in the wine vats;
I have brought the cheers to an end.

<sup>6</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>Or tent

15:7 Valley of the Willows: Probably the Wadi Zered (present-day Wadi al-Hesa).

15:8 Eglaim and Beer-elim aren't otherwise known.

15:9 The waters of Dibon: The Masoretic Hebrew reads "Dimon," which may be a wordplay with dam, "blood." But I will bring still more: This isn't the sympathetic voice found in Isaiah 15:5, but evidently a vicious divine voice threatening even more punishment. The reason for this isn't given. Because of the negativity of this verse, some interpreters, including Martin Luther and John Calvin, read the entire oracle ironically or satirically. Others read it as a layering of several different voices displaying varying attitudes toward Moab.

16:1 Send lambs to the ruler of the land: evidently directed toward refugees (characterized as orphaned birds in Isa 16:2) who ask Judah's king for asylum. Sela (meaning "rock") may be Petra in Edom.

16:3-4a These verses (or perhaps Isa 16:3-5) evidently detail the plea from Moabites seeking safety in Judah (see Pss 36:7; 57:1; 61:2-4; 91:1).

16:5 The shift to Davidic royal language is difficult to fit into this context. Its vocabulary resembles that of Psalm 89:15 (cf. Isa 9:7; Exod 34:6).

16:6 We have heard of Moab's pride: Compare with Zephaniah 2:8. The vocabulary of this verse resembles descriptions of pride in Isaiah 2:11, 17; 9:8; 10:12; 13:11, 19; 14:11. This accusation may be a refusal of asylum.

16:7-10 These verses focus on the loss of produce and <sup>11</sup>Therefore, my heart plays sadly like a harp for Moab, my inner being for Kir-heres.

<sup>12</sup>Even if Moab presents himself, and Moab wears himself out going to the shrine, and comes to his sanctuary to pray,
he won't prevail.

<sup>13</sup>This is the word that the LORD had spoken concerning Moab long ago. <sup>14</sup>But now the LORD has said: In three years, like the years of a hired worker, the glory of Moab, with all its great multitude, will dwindle. The small remnant will be few and feeble.

Concerning Damascus and Ephraim

17An oracle about Damascus.
Look! Damascus is finished as a city;
it will become a fallen ruin.

<sup>2</sup>The villages of Aroer are abandoned forever.*
They will be pastures for flocks,<sup>f</sup> which will lie down undisturbed.

<sup>3</sup>Ephraim's security will cease, as will Damascus' rule.
What's left of Aram will resemble the glory of the Israelites, says the LORD of heavenly forces.

<sup>4</sup>On that day, Jacob's glory will dwindle;
his sleek body will waste away.

<sup>5</sup>It will be as when harvesters gather grain.
God will harvest armfuls at a time,
like one who gathers grain in the Rephaim Valley.

<sup>6</sup>Only remaining bits are left,
like an olive tree that has been shaken:
two or three olives on the highest branch;
four or five on a fruitful twig, says the LORD God of Israel.

<sup>7</sup>On that day, people will have regard for their maker, and their eyes will look to the holy one of Israel.

<sup>8</sup>They will have no regard for altars, the work of their hands, or look to what their fingers made: sacred poles<sup>g</sup> and incense stands.

<sup>9</sup>On that day, their strong cities will be like those abandoned by the Hivites and the Amorites,<sup>h</sup> abandoned because of the Israelites. They will be a wasteland,

*Cf LXX; MT The cities of Aroer are abandoned <sup>f</sup>Or For flocks they will be <sup>g</sup>Heb asherim, possibly objects devoted to the goddess Asherah <sup>h</sup>LXX; MT like the abandonment of the forest and the bough grain to harvest. The locations of Kir-hareseth, Sibmah, and Jazer are uncertain. For Heshbon and Elealeh, see note on Isaiah 15:2.

16:14 But now the LORD has said: As if the previous had been sympathetic, an even more dismal fate is foreseen for Moab. In contrast, Jeremiah's oracle concerning Moab ended in Jeremiah 48:47 with the prospect of return from captivity. The language in this prose addition resembles that found in Isaiah 21:16-17 concerning Kedar and in Isaiah 23:15-18 concerning Tyre.

17:1-14 An oracle about Damascus: This oracle concerning Aram, the country ruled from Damascus, also concerns Israel (Ephraim). This pairing and the claim that these countries are a threat to Judah (17:14) suggest that the oracle is related to these countries' attempt to overthrow King Ahaz of Judah (see Isa 7) and their subsequent destruction. Assyria conquered Damascus in 732 BCE and Samaria in 722.

17:2 The identity, and the translation "Aroer," is uncertain.

No city of Aroer in Aram is known. For parallel imagery, see Isaiah 5:17; 7:25; 14:30.

17:4-6 Destruction by the enemy is imagined as a harvest leaving only gleanings; compare with Isaiah 1:8; 24:13; Joel 3:13; Revelation 14:14-20. For "on that day" sayings in Isaiah 17:4, 7, 9, see note on Isaiah 7:18-25.

17:5 Rephaim Valley: a fertile agricultural valley southwest of Jerusalem.

17:7-11 References to idolatry and its abandonment abound in these verses. The contrast between God as maker and idols as made by humans is common in anti-idolatry passages (see Isa 2:8; 44:2, 9-20).

17:8 sacred poles, or, in Hebrew, asherim, are Canaanite worship objects frequently forbidden (see, for instance, Deut 7:5; 12:3; 16:21). For their pairing with incense stands, see Isaiah 27:9; 2 Chronicles 34:4, 7.

17:9 Hivites and Amorites were two pre-Israelite Canaanite groups whose destruction was frequently envisioned in the exodus narrative (Exod 3:8, 17; 13:5; 23:23; 33:2; 24:11; Deut 7:1; 20:17).

17:14 2Ki 19:35;
Ps 37:36
18:1 2Ki 19:9;
Eze 30:4;
Zep 2:12, 3:10
18:2 Gn 10:8;
Ex 2:3, Is 18:7

- <sup>10</sup>because you forgot the God who saves you, and didn't remember the rock who shelters you.
Therefore, plant your pleasant plants,
and set out exotic sprouts; <sup>11</sup>make them grow the day you plant them,
and make them bloom the morning you start them.
But the harvest will disappear on a day of sickness and incurable pain.

- <sup>12</sup>Doom to the raging of many peoples;
like the thundering seas they thunder.
Doom to the roar of nations,
like the roaring of mighty waters.
<sup>13</sup>Nations roar like the roaring of rushing waters.
But God will rebuke them,
and they will flee far away,
pursued like chaff by wind in the mountains,
like tumbleweeds before a storm.
<sup>14</sup>In the evening, there is terror;
but before morning it is gone.
This is the fate of those who loot us,
the destiny of those who rob us.

Concerning Cush

18 Doom to the land of winged ships, beyond the rivers of Cush <sup>2</sup>that sends messengers by sea, reed vessels on the water.
Go, swift messengers,
to a nation tall and clean-shaven, to a people feared near and far,
a nation barbaric and oppressive,
whose land the rivers divide.

- <sup>3</sup>All you who inhabit the world, who live on earth, when a signal is raised on the mountains, you will see!
When the trumpet blasts, you will hear!
<sup>4</sup>The LORD said to me:
I will quietly watch from my own place, like the shimmering heat of sunshine,
like a cloud's shade in the harvest heat.
<sup>5</sup>Before the harvest, when the bloom is finished, when the blossom is becoming a ripening fruit, God will cut the shoots with a pruning knife, and lop off the spreading branches.

17:10 you forgot the God who saves you: See Deuteronomy 32:15, 18; Hosea 8:14. plant your pleasant plants: Isaiah 17:10-11 probably reflects a Canaanite worship practice also known from Greek and Roman sources. Women would sow seeds of fennel, lettuce, wheat, or barley in shallow dishes to sprout in midsummer and die off within days, to honor the short life and violent death of the god the Canaanites knew as Adon (known in Greek mythology as Adonis).

17:12 Doom to the raging: The word translated as "doom" can also be rendered here as "woe." For nations imagined as roaring seas, see Psalms 46:3, 6; 65:7; Isaiah 5:30; 8:7-8; Jeremiah 51:55. God was viewed as defeating this sea of destruction on Jerusalem's behalf (Pss 46:9-10; 89:9-10).

17:13 pursued like chaff: For a parallel scenario, see Psalm 83:13.

18:1-7 This oracle concerns the land of Cush (sometimes translated as "Ethiopia" or "Nubia"), south of Egypt. During Isaiah's lifetime, Egypt was ruled by a Cushite dynasty (for where the two nations are paired, cf. Isa 20:3-5).

18:1 Doom to the land of winged ships: An alternative meaning could be "Ah, the land of whirring wings," which might be a reference to the noisy African desert locust (cf. Exod 10) or to insects that travel swiftly.

18:2 Two different words are translated as "messengers" in this verse. Although the first group of messengers travels from Cush, the second group isn't identified, and both their origin and destination are uncertain. The lengthy description of the nation to which they travel suggests they may be Judeans returning a visit to Cush. The scenario resembles that criticized in Isaiah 30-31, in which Judean envoys attempt to establish an alliance with Egypt against Assyria.

18:4 I will quietly watch: In contrast to the busy travel back and forth, God sits still, watching. cloud's shade: The word in Hebrew is rare (here and Gen 27:28) and is often

<sup>6</sup>They will all be left to the mountain birds and to the beasts of the land.
The birds will eat them in summer,
all the beasts of the land in winter.

<sup>7</sup>At that time, gifts will be brought to the LORD of heavenly forces from a tall and clean-shaven people and from a people feared near and far,
a nation barbaric and oppressive,
whose land the rivers divide,
to the place of the name of the LORD of heavenly forces, to Mount Zion.

Concerning Egypt

19 An oracle about Egypt.
Look! The LORD is riding upon a swift cloud, and is coming to Egypt.

Egypt's idols will tremble before God;
the Egyptians' hearts will melt within them.

<sup>2</sup>I will stir up Egyptian against Egyptian, and they will fight, one against another, neighbor against neighbor, city against city, kingdom against kingdom.

<sup>3</sup>Egypt's spirit will fail from within;
I will frustrate their plans.
They will consult the idols and spirits and ghosts and fortune-tellers.

<sup>4</sup>I will hand Egypt over to a harsh master;
a strong king will rule them, says the LORD God of heavenly forces.

<sup>5</sup>The waters of the sea will dry up;
the river will be parched and bare.

<sup>6</sup>The rivers will stink;
the streams will shrink and dry;
reeds and rushes will decay.

<sup>7</sup>Grass around the Nile, the grass at the mouth of the Nile, and all the sown land of the Nile will dry up, blow away, and be no more.

<sup>8</sup>Those who fish will lament;
all who cast fishhooks in the Nile will mourn, and those who spread nets on the water will pine away.

<sup>9</sup>Workers with flax will be dismayed; carders and weavers will grow pale.†

<sup>10</sup>Makers of cloth will be crushed;
all who earn money will become distressed.

†DSS (1Q)sa'

translated as a cloud's dew, suggesting that God is watching from behind the cloud or peering through oppressive heat and humidity.

18:7 gifts will be brought: See Psalms 76:12; 68:29, 31; Isaiah 45:14; 60:3.

19:1-15 An oracle about Egypt: God inflicts hardship on Egypt, creating disorder, oppression, drought, and economic failure, and confounding the king's advisors. The verses emphasize God's power and the ineffectiveness of those, both divine and human, upon whom the Egyptians rely. Ultimately the chapter describes the Egyptians themselves worshipping and being blessed by God.

19:1 The LORD is riding upon a swift cloud: See Deuteronomy

33:26; Psalms 68:33; 104:3. In Canaanite stories found by archaeologists on the coast of Syria, Baal is similarly described as "rider of the clouds."

19:2-3 As in the plain of Shinar (Gen 11:7), the Lord will confuse the plans of the Egyptians. Here it is done by fomenting internal strife among the Egyptians.

19:4 harsh master: This may refer to the Cushite dynasty ruling Egypt in Isaiah's time. However, Egypt came under the dominion of other masters so many times during its long history that certainty is impossible.

19:5-10 Drought causes the Nile and its vegetation to dry up, the fish to die, and those who rely on the river for their livelihood to despair.

19:11 Nm
13:22; 1Kj 4:30;
Is 19:3, Is 30:4
19:18 Is 45:23;
Zep 3:9
19:19 Gn 28:18;
Josh 22:10
19:20 Jgs 2:18;
Ps 50:15;
Is 43:3,
Is 43:11,
Is 45:21
19:21 Is 11:9,
Is 56:7, Is 60:7;
Jon 1:16;
Zec 14:16
19:24 Gn 12:2
20:2 Isa 19:24;
Is 13:1;
Eze 24:17;
Mi 1:8, Mi 3:4

- <sup>11</sup>The officials of Tanis are fools;
the wisest of Pharaoh's counselors give stupid advice.
How can you say to Pharaoh,
"I'm a wise person, one of the ancient kings?"
<sup>12</sup>Where now are your wise ones? Let them tell you, let them inform you what the LORD of heavenly forces has planned concerning Egypt.
<sup>13</sup>The officials of Tanis have become fools;
the princes of Memphis are deluded;
the tribal chiefs have led Egypt astray.
<sup>14</sup>The LORD has poured into them a spirit of confusion.
They will make Egypt stumble in everything it does, just as a drunk stumbles in his vomit.
<sup>15</sup>Neither head nor tail, palm branch nor reed will be able to do anything for Egypt.

Bless God's people

<sup>16</sup>On that day, the Egyptians will be like women and will tremble with terror before the hand that the LORD of heavenly forces will raise against them. <sup>17</sup>Judah's land will become what the Egyptians dread; whenever anyone mentions it, they will be terrified because of the plans that the LORD of heavenly forces is making against them.

<sup>18</sup>On that day, there will be five cities in the land of Egypt that speak the language of Canaan and swear loyalty to the LORD of heavenly forces. One of them will be called "the city of the sun."<sup>1</sup>

<sup>19</sup>On that day, there will be an altar to the LORD within the land of Egypt, and a standing stone for the LORD at its border. <sup>20</sup>It will be a sign and a witness to the LORD of heavenly forces in the land of Egypt. When they cry out to the LORD because of oppressors, God will send them a savior and defender to rescue them. <sup>21</sup>The LORD will make himself known to the Egyptians; the Egyptians will know the LORD on that day. They will worship with sacrifices and offerings, making solemn promises to the LORD and fulfilling them. <sup>22</sup>The LORD will strike Egypt; striking and then healing. They will return to the LORD, who will hear their pleas and heal them.

<sup>23</sup>On that day, there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria. The Assyrians will come to Egypt, and the Egyptians to Assyria; and the Egyptians will worship with the Assyrians.

<sup>24</sup>On that day, Israel will be the third along with Egypt and Assyria, a blessing at the center of the world. <sup>25</sup>The LORD of heavenly forces will pronounce this blessing: Bless Egypt my people, and Assyria my handiwork, and Israel my inheritance.

Isalah naked and barefoot

20In the year that Assyria's King Sargon sent his general to Ashdod, he fought against Ashdod and captured it. <sup>2</sup>At that time the LORD had spoken through Isaiah, Amoz's

<sup>1</sup>DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>), Tg, Vulg; Heb uncertain

19:11-15 Egypt's elite, despite their self-proclaimed wisdom, can't save the country. The story line here resembles that of Joseph in Genesis 37-50, who with God's help saved Egypt from famine when its wise counselors were confounded (Gen 41:8); and of Moses, whose God overcame the pharaoh's counselors to destroy Egypt (Exod 7:11; 8:18-19; 9:11). Tanis: known also as Zoan (cf. Isa 30:4; Ps 78:12, 43). It became known as Tanis to the Greeks. It was the residence of the pharaohs of the earlier 21st and 22nd dynasties. Memphis was the capital of Egyptian kings during the "Old Kingdom," and once again came to prominence during the Cushite dynasty.

19:15 Neither head nor tail: Egypt's leaders; compare with Isaiah 9:14-16.

19:16-25 Five prose oracles conclude the chapter, each introduced by On that day (19:16, 18, 19, 23, 24; cf. note on Isa 7:18-25). They don't all fit together in terms of message or tone.

19:16-17 the Egyptians will be like women: The first saying extends the threat against the Egyptians. Terror is often described as resembling the pains of a woman in labor (Isa 13:8; 21:3; 26:17; Jer 30:6; Mic 4:9-10).

19:18 The second and subsequent oracles are much more positive toward Egypt. In this one, five Egyptian cities become subjects of Judah's God. city of the sun: possibly Heliopolis.

19:19-22 This third oracle depicts God treating the Egyptians much as Judah has been treated, reproving them with punishment and healing them when they pray, saving them from oppressors.

19:23-25 Bitter enemies Assyria, Egypt, and Israel are all blessed by God and become friendly with each other.

20:1-6 the year... Ashdod: 711 BCE. walking naked and barefoot: Like Micah, who walked naked and barefoot as a sign of Israel's approaching capture in 722 BCE, Isaiah is commanded to walk naked and barefoot as a sign not

20:3 Is 8:18,
Is 20:2, Is 43:3
21:2 Is 13:17,
Is 24:16, Is 33:1
21:6 2Ki 9:17
21:9 Is 46:1;
Jer 51:8;
Jer 51:44;
Rev 14:8,
Rev 18:2

son, "Go, take off the mourning clothes from your waist, and remove the shoes from your feet." And Isaiah did this, walking naked and barefoot.

<sup>3</sup>The LORD said, "Just as my servant Isaiah has walked naked and barefoot three years, as a sign and omen against Egypt and Cush, <sup>4</sup>so will the king of Assyria lead the captives of Egypt and the exiles of Cush, both young and old, naked and barefoot, with buttocks bared, humiliating Egypt. <sup>5</sup>They will be shattered and shamed because of Cush their hope, and because of Egypt their glory.

<sup>6</sup>"On that day, those who live on this coast will say, 'Look at those in whom we had hoped, to whom we fled for help and rescue from the king of Assyria. How then will we escape?'"

Fallen, fallen is Babylon

21 An oracle about the wilderness near the sea. Like whirlwinds sweeping through the arid southern plain, it comes from the desert, from a fearsome land.

<sup>2</sup>A harsh vision was proclaimed to me:

The betrayer betrays, and the destroyer destroys.

Go up, Elam! Lay siege, Media!

Put an end to all her groaning.

<sup>3</sup>Therefore, I'm shaken to my core in anguish.

Pains have seized me like the pains of a woman in labor.

I'm too bent over to hear, too dismayed to see.

<sup>4</sup>My heart pounds; convulsions overpower me.

He has turned my evening of pleasure into dread—

<sup>5</sup>setting the table, spreading the cloth, eating, drinking.

"Arise, captains! Polish the shields."

<sup>6</sup>The Lord said this to me:

"Go, post a lookout to report what he sees.

<sup>7</sup>When he sees chariots, pairs of horsemen, donkey riders, camel riders,

he should listen carefully, carefully, very carefully."

<sup>8</sup>Then the seer<sup>h</sup> called out:

"Upon a watchtower, Lord, I'm standing all day;
and upon my observation post I'm stationed throughout the night.

<sup>9</sup>Here they come:

charioteers, pairs of horsemen!"

One spoke up and said, "Fallen, fallen is Babylon, and all the images of her gods are shattered on the ground!"

<sup>10</sup>Oh, my downtrodden people, threshed on my threshing floor, what I heard from the LORD of heavenly forces, the God of Israel, I reported to you.

<sup>h</sup>DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>), Syr; MT a lion

against Ashdod but against Egypt and Cush (see Isa 18; 19), which are likewise expected to fall to Assyria. Isaiah thus warns that those who rely on Egypt for help against Assyria are bound for grave and tragic disappointment. This is the message the prophet will give King Hezekiah of Judah several times in Isaiah 28–31.

21:1–10 A mysterious oracle conveys a mood of awe and horror as news comes of Babylon's defeat. At first we only know that something is sweeping in from the desert.

21:2 Go up, Elam! Lay siege, Media!: The invaders are finally named. The ancient civilization of Elam, with its capital Susa, was due east of Babylon in the western part of today's Iran. It was incorporated into Persia in the 6th century BCE. For Media, the home of the Medes, see note on Isaiah 13:17.

21:3 Pains have seized me: See note on Isaiah 13:8. The perspective shifts to that of those within the city, or the city itself.

21:6 Go, post a lookout: Prophets were often compared with sentinels, watching over a society's welfare (see Isa 62:6; Hos 9:8; Hab 2:1; Jer 6:17; Ezek 3:17; 33:1–9).

21:9 Fallen, fallen is Babylon: After several verses drawing attention to the anticipated news, Babylon's defeat is announced. These verses probably reflect expectations of Babylon's fall in the 6th century as Cyrus approached the city. "Fallen, fallen is Babylon" is echoed in Revelation 14:8; 18:2.

21:10 threshed on my threshing floor: Threshing (beating or crushing grain stalks to release the grain) was often used as an image for military violence or divine punishment

22:2 Is 32:13;
Jer 14:18;
Lam 4:9

22:4 Jer 9:1;
Mi 1:8;
Lk 19:41

A mysterious dialogue

<sup>11</sup>An oracle about Dumah.<sup>1</sup>

Someone is calling to me from Seir:

“Guard, how long is the night?”

Guard, how long is the night?”

<sup>12</sup>The guard said,

“Morning has come, but it is still night.

If you must inquire, inquire; come back again.”

<sup>13</sup>An oracle about the desert.

In the woods, in the desert where you camp, caravans of the Dedanites <sup>14</sup>meet the thirsty with water; inhabitants of the land of Tema greet the refugees with bread.

<sup>15</sup>They have fled from swords, from the drawn sword, from the bent bow and from the intensity of battle.

<sup>16</sup>So the Lord said to me: Within a year, according to the number of years for which a laborer is hired, all the glory of Kedar will end; <sup>17</sup>there will be few Kedarite archers remaining. The LORD God of Israel has spoken.

Jerusalemites rebuked

22An oracle about the Valley of Vision.

What is wrong with you,
that you have all gone up to the rooftops,

<sup>2</sup>you who are filled with noise, you roaring city, you party town?

Your dead weren't slaughtered by the sword;
they didn't die in battle.

<sup>3</sup>All your leaders escaped together but were captured without a single bow shot.

All your escapees were bound together, even though they fled far away.<sup>m</sup> <sup>4</sup>Therefore, I said, “Don't look at me; let me weep bitterly.

Don't try to comfort me about the destruction of my dearly loved people.”

<sup>5</sup>The LORD God of heavenly forces has a day of tumult and trampling and turmoil in the Valley of Vision, a breaking down of walls,

a cry for help to the mountains.

<sup>6</sup>Elam carried the quiver with chariots and horsemen, and Kir uncovered the shield.

<sup>1</sup>LXX Edom <sup>m</sup>Heb uncertain

(see Isa 27:12; 28:27-28; 41:15; Jer 51:33; Amos 1:2; Mic 4:12-13).

21:11-12 An oracle about Dumah: Dumah was a town in northern Arabia. Yet the oracle headings in Isaiah 21:1, 13, and 22:1 refer to indefinite locations, leaving the referent of this one in doubt. What sounds like a chance exchange between a sentinel and an inquirer minimizes the impact of the momentous news of Babylon's defeat, perhaps as if to say, “Empires come and go.” Seir was a synonym for “Edom.” 21:13-17 An oracle about the desert: The final oracle of Isaiah 21 depicts needy fugitives fleeing from battle. The addition in prose is similar to those found at the end of Isaiah 16 (concerning Moab) and Isaiah 23 (concerning Tyre). Dedan and Tema were major trade cities of northwestern Arabia. The Kedarites were a tribal group in north Arabia considered descendants of Ishmael (Gen 25:13).

22:1-14 An oracle about the Valley of Vision: Like the referents mentioned in Isaiah 21:1, 11, 13, the referent of this heading is unknown. It may derive from Isaiah 22:5. The “Valley of Vision” may refer to the Kidron Valley between Jerusalem and the Mount of Olives, or it may refer to the Hinnom Valley south and west of Jerusalem. This section concerns Jerusalem itself, rebuking its citizens' behavior in wartime. Its leaders attend to the details of Jerusalem's defense systems, but, Isaiah says, they fail to attend to their God, who is both cause of and potential redeemer from their straits.

22:1-3 What is wrong with you: What exactly Jerusalemites did to earn the rebuke isn't clear. It is possible they are going to the rooftops to celebrate Assyrian failure to conquer Jerusalem in 701 BCE (see note on Isa 1:7-8). The meaning of and circumstances underlying 22:2-3 are unclear. What is clear is that their reaction to events isn't the same as the prophet's.

22:4 my dearly loved people: This expression is used sympathetically, especially in relation to the city's destruction. It is found frequently in Lamentations and Jeremiah (see the parallel expressions in Lam 3:48; Jer 9:1). Some see this and other verses as referring not to Assyria's invasion of 701 BCE, but to Babylon's destruction of Jerusalem in 587. Others see here the prophet's rebuke of the city for rejoicing when the rest of the country lies in ruins.

22:5-8a Enemy attack is described as divine judgment against the people.

7 Your finest valleys were filled with chariots, and horsemen doggedly guarded the gate.

8 Judah's covering has been stripped away.

On that day, you trusted the weapons in the Forest House.

9 You observed the many broken defenses in David's City, and you collected the waters of the lower pool.

10 You counted Jerusalem's houses, and you tore down houses to fortify the wall.

11 You made a reservoir between the walls for the water of the earlier pool.
But you didn't trust its maker;
you didn't consider the one who planned it long ago.

12 The LORD God of heavenly forces called on that day for weeping and mourning, and shaven heads, and wearing of mourning clothes.

13 But instead there was fun and frivolity, killing of cattle and slaughtering of sheep, eating of meat and drinking of wine:
"Eat and drink! Tomorrow we will die!"

14 But the LORD of heavenly forces has revealed in my hearing:
This iniquity won't be forgiven you until you die,
says the LORD God of heavenly forces.

An administrator rebuked

15 The LORD God of heavenly forces says, Go now to this official, to Shebna, who is in charge of the house, and say to him:

16 What do you have here—and whom do you have here—that you have hewed out a tomb for yourself, you who cuts his grave on high and carves himself a home in the cliff?

17 The LORD is about to hurl you down, mighty man!

He is surely going to cover you with darkness;

18 he will indeed unroll your head wrapping, rolling it like a ball into the open country.
There you will die, with your glorious chariots,
you disgrace to the house of your master!

19 I will thrust you from your monument;
you will be pulled down from your platform.

20 On that day, I will call my servant Eliakim, Hilkiah's son.

21 I will give him your robe and wrap him in your sash, and I will hand over to him your authority.

He will be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the house of Judah.

22 I will place the key to David's house on his shoulder;
what he opens no one will close,
and what he closes no one will open.

22:8b-11 you trusted the weapons: Hezekiah's preparations for Jerusalem's defense against the Assyrians include inspecting weapons, strengthening walls, bringing water into the city (cf. 2 Kgs 20:20; 2 Chron 32:2-5; 30). The activity is criticized as trust in human defenses rather than in God (cf. Isa 26:3-4; 30:15-18). The Forest House was the palace armory (see 1 Kgs 7:2; 10:17, 21). One of the most remarkable finds in ancient Jerusalem is the water tunnel running 1,738 feet (530 meters) through bedrock from Gihon Spring under the city's ridge to the Pool of Siloam, thought to have been dug in Hezekiah's time.

22:12-14 As in Isaiah 22:1-3, the prophet rebukes the Jerusalemites for responding inappropriately to the crisis. Instead of mourning the losses brought on the country by Jerusalem's revolt against the Assyrians, they take a fatalistic approach to life's brevity, feasting rather than fasting. Missing is any sense that the crisis has theological import and calls for sober reflection. The popular saying "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die" blends together Isaiah 22:13 and Ecclesiastes 8:15.

22:15-19 Go now to this official, to Shebna: A new oracle rebuking an individual official begins, like the previous section, with an outraged rhetorical question. The offense seems to be Shebna's arrogance in hewing a monumental tomb for himself.

22:17b-18 Translation of this section is difficult, though the tone of threat is clear.

22:20-23 Isaiah predicts that Shebna will be replaced by another official, Eliakim. In contrast, Shebna and Eliakim 22:12 J1 2:17;

Mi 1:16

22:13 Is 56:12;

Lk 17:26;

1Co 15:32

22:14 1Sa 3:14;

Is 5:9;

Eze 24:13

22:16

2Ch 16:14;

Mt 27:60

22:22 Job 12:14;

Is 9:6; Mt 16:19;

Rev 3:7

23:1 Gn 10:4;
1Kj 10:22;
Is 2:16, Is 23:12;
Jer 47:4
23:2 Is 23:4,
Is 23:12;
Eze 27:8
23:4 Is 23:2;
Jer 47:4;
Eze 28:21
23:5 Ex 15:14;
Josh 2:9

<sup>23</sup>I will fasten him securely like a tent peg, and he will be a throne of honor for his ancestors' house.

<sup>24</sup>All the honor of his household will hang on him, the offspring and the offshoots, every little dish, every bowl, every jar.

<sup>25</sup>On that day, says the LORD of heavenly forces, the peg that is fastened securely will give way; it will be cut down, and it will fall, and all the load hanging on it will be lost. The LORD has spoken.

Concerning Tyre

23 An oracle about Tyre.

Wail, ships of Tarshish, because your port is destroyed!<sup>a</sup>

When returning from Cyprus, they heard about it.

<sup>2</sup>Be still, inhabitants of the coast, traders of Sidon, whose messengers crossed over the sea,<sup>o</sup> <sup>3</sup>over the mighty waters.
The grain of Shihor, the Nile's harvest, was her income;
she was the marketplace of nations.

<sup>4</sup>Be ashamed, Sidon, because the sea has spoken;
the fortress of the sea has said,
"I haven't been in labor; I didn't give birth;
I never raised young men or brought up young women."

<sup>5</sup>When the Egyptians hear, they will be in anguish at the news about Tyre.

<sup>6</sup>Cross over to Tarshish; wail, inhabitants of the coast.

<sup>7</sup>Is this your triumphant town, whose origin is from ancient times, whose feet carried her to settle far away?

<sup>8</sup>Who planned this concerning Tyre, the one who gives crowns, whose merchants were princes, whose traders were the honored of the earth?

<sup>9</sup>The LORD of heavenly forces planned it, to defile the pride of all beauty, to shame all the honored of the earth.

<sup>10</sup>Go through your own land, Daughter Tarshish, for the harbor<sup>p</sup> is gone.

<sup>11</sup>God's hand is extended over the sea, shaking nations.

The LORD gave the command to destroy Phoenicia's fortresses, <sup>12</sup>saying, You will no longer celebrate, violated virgin Daughter Sidon.

Get up and head to Cyprus;
even there you will find no rest.

<sup>13</sup>Look at the land of the Chaldeans, the people who are no more.

Assyria destined it for wild animals:

they raised up their siege towers, stripped its palaces, and made it a ruin.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>o</sup>Correction; MT one crossing over the sea filled you <sup>p</sup>Heb uncertain are seen working together as faithful officials of Hezekiah in Isaiah 36:3, 11, 22; and Isaiah 37:2.

22:22 I will place the key to David's house: This verse is adapted to a very different setting in Matthew 16:17-19, in which Jesus says to Peter that he will be given the "keys of the kingdom of heaven." But in Revelation 3:7 it is Jesus who is said to have the key of David.

22:24-25 Eliakim is evidently being accused of nepotism. The abrupt shift in tone is puzzling.

23:1-18 An oracle about Tyre: Like the oracle about Moab in Isaiah 15-16, this one is written like a lament. As with Isaiah 15-16, interpreters differ over its sincerity. An island city-state about 27 miles (45 km) north of Akko, Tyre was well known for dominating sea trade. Its colonies spread from Asia Minor to Carthage, Sicily, and possibly Spain.

Tyre and Sidon were Canaanite cities. The area was later called Phoenicia by the Greeks. Translation of this chapter presents many difficulties.

23:1 Wail, ships of Tarshish: See note on Isaiah 2:16.

23:2 Sidon: Another prominent coastal city, about 28 miles (40 km) north of Tyre. Sidon's kings sometimes dominated Tyre as well. The two are paired frequently in the Bible (Ezra 3:7; Jer 25:22; 47:4; Joel 3:4; Zech 9:2; Matt 11:21; etc.).

23:3 Shihor: possibly a river in Egypt, perhaps a branch of the Nile.

23:6 Cross over to Tarshish: See note on Isaiah 2:16.

23:13 Look at the land of the Chaldeans: Translation of this verse is difficult. It appears to refer to Assyria's attack on Babylon in 703 BCE, shortly before its attacks in 701 on

23:15 Jer 25:11,
Jer 25:22,
Jer 29:10
23:16 Psv 7:10
23:17 Na 3:4,
Rev 17:1,
Rev 17:2
24:2 Eze 7:12;
Hos 4:9

<sup>14</sup>Wail, ships of Tarshish, for your fortress is destroyed!

<sup>15</sup>On that day, Tyre will be forgotten seventy years, the lifetime of one king. At the end of seventy years, Tyre will become like the prostitute in the song:

<sup>16</sup>Take a harp, go around the city, forgotten prostitute.

Play well, sing many songs, so they'll remember you.

<sup>17</sup>At the end of seventy years, the LORD will visit Tyre. She will return to her trade and will prostitute herself with all the kingdoms on the earth. <sup>18</sup>Her profits and wages will be sacred to the LORD. They won't be stored or saved. Her profits will go to those living before the LORD, for plentiful food and elegant clothes.

City of chaos falls

24 Look! The LORD will devastate the earth and destroy it, will twist its face and scatter its inhabitants.

- <sup>2</sup>It will be the same for the people and for the priest;
for the slave and for his master;
for the female servant and for her mistress;
for the buyer and for the seller;
for the lender and for the borrower;
for the creditor and for the debtor.

<sup>3</sup>The earth will be devastated, totally devastated; it will be destroyed, completely destroyed because the LORD has said it would be so.

<sup>4</sup>The earth dries up and wilts;
the world withers and wilts;
the heavens wither away with the earth.

<sup>5</sup>The earth lies polluted under its inhabitants, for they have disobeyed instruction,
swept aside law,
and broken the ancient covenant.

<sup>6</sup>Therefore, a curse devours the earth; its inhabitants suffer for their guilt.
Therefore, the earth's inhabitants dwindle; very few are left.

<sup>7</sup>The wine dries up;
the vine withers;
all the merry-hearted groan.

<sup>8</sup>The joyous tambourines have ceased;
the roar of partyers has stopped;
the joyous harp has ceased.

<sup>9</sup>No one drinks wine or sings; beer is bitter to its drinkers.

<sup>10</sup>The town is in chaos, broken;
every house is shut, without entrance.

Babylon's ally Tyre and on Judah. For Chaldeans, see note on Isaiah 13:19.

23:15-18 On that day: Language in this section parallels material concerning Moab (Isa 16:13-14) and Kedar (Isa 21:16-17). Hints of sexual violence occur throughout the chapter. See particularly the feminine pronouns throughout and the imagery of Isaiah 23:4, 9, 10, 12. But here it is raised to a new level as Tyre, the formerly prosperous merchant, is reduced to prostitution, and her wages are given to Judah's temple personnel.

24:1-23 This chapter resembles Isaiah 13, employing cosmic language to describe divine destruction that consumes humanity. But here, the human agent of destruction never becomes visible; instead, God is the source of disaster. The victim of destruction isn't a named city but rather the whole "earth," or "land," a Hebrew word recurring 16 times in 23 verses. Concern with the whole earth, and much of the specific language of this chapter, calls to mind Genesis 1-11, suggesting that creation is being unmade (cf. Isa 24:1/Gen 11:4, 8, 9; Isa 24:5/Gen 9:16; Isa 24:10/Gen 1:2; Isa 24:18/Gen 7:11; 8:2).

24:2 the same for the people and for the priest: See Hosea 4:9, which is exactly the same in Hebrew. The author has here expanded on the Hosea saying. All people, regardless of status, will suffer from the coming calamity.

24:4 earth dries up and wilts: The first verb, translated here as "dries up," also means "mourns" (cf. Isa 3:26; 19:8; 33:9; 57:18; 60:20; 61:2-3; 66:10).

24:5 The earth lies polluted under its inhabitants: Human sins and land pollution are connected (cf. Jer 3:1-3).

24:7-13 The wine dries up: Compare with Joel 1:5-12; Isaiah 16:8-10.

24:16 Is 21:2,

Is 33:1

24:19 Dt 11:6;

Is 24:1, Is 24:20;

Is 29:6; Na 1:5

24:20 Is 19:14,

Is 29:9

24:21 Ps 76:12;

Is 10:12,

Is 13:11

24:22 Eccl 38:8

Oracles Concerning the Whole Earth Isaiah 24–27 concludes the prophetic sayings concerning the nations with several poems that are somewhat unified in theme. They aren't about particular, named countries but about "the whole earth" and mostly unidentified cities and towns. The section draws upon typologies, mythologies, themes, and imagery, sometimes delighting in the sounds of particular words and phrases at the expense of clear meaning. It is filled with allusions to other parts of scripture as well as to Isaiah. Though it stands within Isaiah 1–39, scholars consider it to be among the last additions to the book of Isaiah. It was written after Isaiah 40–55 and parts of 56–66. Unlike Isaiah's preaching, these chapters lack specific accusations of sin, dwelling instead on divine acts of judgment and redemption. Ancient Near Eastern mythic themes similar to Canaanite Baal stories occur regularly, while no interest is shown in the Davidic kingship or Jerusalem's leadership. The chapters engage in and invite reflection on theological themes such as the problem of evil; the future of the created world; and complex relationships among God, the ever-present foreign nations, and Judah. Along with Isaiah 13–14 concerning Babylon and its leadership, these chapters form a bookend around the oracles about foreign nations.

- <sup>11</sup> There is a cry for wine in the streets.
All joy has reached its dusk;
happiness is exiled from the earth.
- <sup>12</sup> Ruin remains in the city, and the gate is battered to wreckage.
- <sup>13</sup> It will be like this in the central part of the land and among the peoples,
like an olive tree that has been shaken,
like remains from the grape harvest.
- <sup>14</sup> They raise their voice;
they sing with joy;
from the west they will shout about the LORD's majesty.
- <sup>15</sup> Therefore, in the east honor the LORD;
in the islands of the sea, the name of the LORD God of Israel!
- <sup>16</sup> From the ends of the earth we have heard songs:
"Glory to the righteous one!"
But I say, "I waste away; I waste away; I'm doomed!
Betrayers betray; treacherously betrayers betray."
- <sup>17</sup> Terror, trench, and trap are upon you, ruler of the earth!
- <sup>18</sup> Whoever flees from the sound of terror will fall into the trench;
whoever climbs from the trench will be caught in the trap.
Heaven's windows will open, and the earth's foundations will quake.
- <sup>19</sup> The earth is shattering, shattering;
the earth is shaking, shaking;
the earth is teetering, tottering.
- <sup>20</sup> The earth trembles like a drunk and shudders like a hut;
its rebellion weighs heavy upon it;
it will fall, no more to rise.
- <sup>21</sup> On that day, the LORD will punish the forces of heaven in heaven, and the kings of the earth on earth. <sup>22</sup> They will be gathered together like prisoners in a pit, shut into a prison, and punished after many days. <sup>23</sup> The moon will be diminished, and the sun will fade, since the LORD of heavenly forces will rule on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, glorious before his elders.

24:13 like an olive tree that has been shaken: See Isaiah 17:6. It refers to the practice, which continues to the present, of beating, that is shaking, a tree to harvest the fruit. Harvest is a frequent image for conquest; see note on Isaiah 17:6. 24:14–16 They raise their voice: It's unclear who "they" are, but the language in this section closely resembles that of Isaiah 42:8–12; 45:21; 52:8; and 54:1. Why the speaker declines to join the chorus is unclear. Neither position is criticized. Coexisting in the same moment, they encompass both future and present realities. See Isaiah 21:2; 33:1.

24:15 islands of the sea: or coastlands. For the motif of coastlands responding to Judah's God, see Isaiah 41:1, 5; 42:4, 10, 12; 49:1; 51:4; 60:9.

24:17 Terror, trench, and trap are upon you: This phrase echoes Jeremiah 48:43 word for word. As in Jeremiah, the reference isn't to "rulers" but to "inhabitants." As at many points in Isaiah 24, words were chosen more for their rhythm and sound than for their meaning.

24:23 The moon will be diminished: See Isaiah 13:10–11. before his elders: See Exodus 24:9–11, 16–17.

Rejoicing in God's salvation

25 LORD, you are my God.
I will exalt you; I will praise your name, for you have done wonderful things, planned long ago, faithful and sure.

<sup>2</sup>You have turned the city into rubble, the fortified town into a ruin,
the fortress of foreigners into a city no more,
never to be rebuilt.

<sup>3</sup>Therefore, strong people will glorify you;
the towns of tyrant nations will fear you.

<sup>4</sup>You have been a refuge for the poor, a refuge for the needy in distress,
a hiding place from the storm,
a shade from the heat.

When the breath of tyrants is like a winter<sup>a</sup> storm <sup>5</sup>or like heat in the desert, you subdue the roar of foreigners.
Like heat shaded by a cloud,
the tyrants' song falls silent.

<sup>6</sup>On this mountain, the LORD of heavenly forces will prepare for all peoples a rich feast, a feast of choice wines, of select foods rich in flavor, of choice wines well refined.

<sup>7</sup>He will swallow up on this mountain the veil that is veiling all peoples, the shroud enshrouding all nations.

<sup>8</sup>He will swallow up death<sup>f</sup> forever.
The LORD God will wipe tears from every face;
he will remove his people's disgrace from off the whole earth,
for the LORD has spoken.

<sup>9</sup>They will say on that day,
"Look! This is our God, for whom we have waited—and he has saved us!

This is the LORD, for whom we have waited;
let's be glad and rejoice in his salvation!"

<sup>10</sup>The LORD's hand will indeed rest on this mountain.

Moab will be trampled down as straw is trampled into manure.

<sup>a</sup>Or wall <sup>f</sup>Heb Maveth

25:1-12 In contrast to Isaiah 24, most of Isaiah 25 celebrates divine faithfulness. Hymns of thanks surround a prophetic description of a universal banquet hosted by God on Mount Zion, where the temple stood.

25:1-5 A communal hymn of thanks for God's deliverance from tyrants.

25:1 planned long ago: God's plan has been a frequent theme in Isaiah; compare with Isaiah 5:19; 11:2; 14:26.

25:3-5 tyrant nations: The term "tyrant" is repeated three times in three verses (25:3, 4, 5). In Isaiah 13:11 and 49:25, the term refers to Babylon. The lack of specific referents here conveys the cycle of threat and deliverance recurring frequently in history, though the players may change.

25:4-5 You have been a refuge: The terms for "refuge" and "shelter" usually have negative associations in Isaiah (see Isa 23:4, 14; 28:15, 17; 30:2, 3). But they are frequent descriptions of God in the Psalms (e.g., Pss 14:6; 27:1; 28:8; 31:3, 5; 46:2). The extended images involving weather recall similar images in Isaiah 4:5-6.

25:6-10a In one of many expansive visions in Isaiah, God is imagined preparing a banquet not just for the elders on Mount Sinai (Exod 24; cf. note on Isa 24:23), nor even for Judah, but for all the nations. This contrasts sharply with Isaiah 24:7-13, in which the wine dried up and merriment ceased.

25:8 He will swallow up death forever: This imagery reflects, and reverses, the mythological theme found in the story of the fertility god Baal, in which the underworld god Mot ("Death") either swallows Baal or threatens to do so, but is defeated. Baal's story recurs annually in relation to the seasons, but here it is said that God's swallowing of death is forever. This verse doesn't yet reflect belief in the resurrection of the dead, which came many centuries later. However, Paul employs it in his description of resurrection in 1 Corinthians 15:54. It is also paraphrased in Revelation 21:3-4.

25:9 They will say on that day: Compare with Isaiah 12:1, 4; 26:1. The grateful hymn that follows echoes many psalms (see Pss 35:9; 130:5; 118:24).

25:10 The LORD's hand will indeed rest: In contrast to the many references to God's hand extended to destroy (Isa 5:25; 9:11, 17, 21; 10:4; 14:27), now it comes to rest on this mountain (cf. Isa 25:6).

25:10b-12 Moab will be trampled down: These verses stand out not only because they are vicious but also

25:1 Ex 15:2;
Ps 118:28
25:3 Ps 22:23;
Ps 46:10;
Is 13:11;
Eze 28:22;
Rev 14:7
25:4 Is 4:6,
Is 14:32, Is 32:2
25:6 Is 2:2,
Is 55:1; Mt 6:11;
Rev 19:9
25:8 Is 35:10;
Hos 13:14;
1Co 15:54;
Rev 7:17;
Rev 21:4
25:9 Ps 9:14;
Is 8:17, Is 12:2,
Is 26:8

25:11 Is 9:25,
Is 14:26,
Is 16:14

26:1 Is 12:1,
Is 60:18

26:2 Ps 118:19,
Ps 118:20

26:3 2Sa 22:31;
Is 9:6, Is 57:19;
Jer 17:7, Phi 4:7

26:6 Is 3:15,
Is 28:3, Mal 4:3

26:9 Ps 63:1;
Hos 5:15;
Mt 6:33

- <sup>11</sup>When in it they spread out their hands as swimmers spread out their hands to swim, God will lay low their pride, even by the efforts of their hands.
- <sup>12</sup>The fortified towers of their<sup>a</sup> walls will be thrown down, will be leveled, will be brought down to the earth, to the dust.

Trusting in God forever

26 On that day, this song will be sung in the land of Judah:
Ours is a strong city!

- God makes salvation its walls and ramparts.
- <sup>2</sup>Open the gates and let a righteous nation enter, a nation that keeps faith.
- <sup>3</sup>Those with sound thoughts you will keep in peace, in peace because they trust in you.
- <sup>4</sup>Trust in the LORD forever, for the LORD is a rock for all ages.
- <sup>5</sup>He has thrown down those living on high,
and he will level the lofty town, leveling it down to the earth;
he will bring it down to dust.
- <sup>6</sup>The feet trample it,
the feet of the poor,
the steps of the needy.
- <sup>7</sup>The way of the righteous is level;
you clear a path for the righteous.
- <sup>8</sup>In the path of your justice, LORD, we wait for you;
with all our being, we long for your name and your acclaim.
- <sup>9</sup>At night I long for you with my whole being;
my spirit within me watches for you.
- When your judgments are at work in the earth, those living in the world learn righteousness.

<sup>a</sup>Or your

because they specify a place-name, otherwise completely lacking in Isaiah 24–27. They are likely a very late addition, or series of additions, to Isaiah's scroll, reflecting later sectarian rivalries.

25:11 God will lay low their pride: Compare with Isaiah 16:6.

25:12 The fortified towers of their walls: Vocabulary of judgment for general human pride in Isaiah 2:6–21 is reapplied here to Moab alone. The verses may reflect a specific conflict with Moabites that's otherwise unknown.

26:1–21 Isaiah 26 continues themes of Isaiah 24–25, including the fate of unnamed cities and the expectation that God will carry out justice, rescuing those who have suffered and punishing those who have inflicted suffering. Its language resembles that of several types of psalms. The passage can be viewed as consisting of three parts: 26:1–6 offers a celebration hymn; 26:7–18 is a prayer (or series of prayers) reflecting on righteousness and justice; and 26:19–21 (perhaps along with Isa 27:1) responds to the prayer with promises of justice. The chapter is more impressionistic than logical.

26:1 On that day, this song will be sung: an introduction to a hymn similar to those in Isaiah 12:1, 4; 25:9. Most likely, that day is the day of God's banquet, when the last of enemies will be vanquished and tears and disgrace will vanish.

26:1b–6 The hymn consists of lines reflecting several literary forms in the Psalms, named as follows.

26:1b Ours is a strong city: Compare with Psalms 46; 48.

26:2 Open the gates: Compare with Psalms 24:7–10; 118:19–20.

26:3 Those with sound thoughts: Compare with Psalm 112:7–8; Isaiah 32:17.

26:4 Trust in the Lord forever: Compare with Psalms 37; 115; 125.

26:5–6 He has thrown down those living on high: Compare with Isaiah 2:6–22; specifically the words against Moab in Isaiah 25:10–12.

26:7–18 A series of prayers. The tone and exact meaning of several prayers, and their relationships to each other, are unclear.

26:7 The way of the righteous is level: Compare with Isaiah 40:3–4; Proverbs 4:18, 26.

26:8 In the path of your justice, Lord, we wait for you: Compare with Isaiah 25:9; 40:14; Proverbs 2:8; 17:23. your name and your acclaim: or "remembrance." Compare with Exodus 3:15, which employs the same two nouns.

26:9–10 At night I long for you: Compare with Psalms 6:6; 77:2, 6. The speaker longs to see divine justice, teaching humans righteousness. Justice isn't fully realized until even the wicked recognize, to their dismay, the just order God has ordained. These verses reflect wisdom traditions.

- <sup>10</sup>When the wicked are favored, they don't learn righteousness; even among those who do right they do wrong, and they fail to see the LORD's majesty.
- <sup>11</sup>LORD, your hand is lifted up, but they don't see. Let them see and shrink back because of your zeal for your people; your burning anger that consumes your enemies.
- <sup>12</sup>LORD, grant us peace, because all that we have done has been your doing.
- <sup>13</sup>LORD our God, other masters besides you have ruled us, but we will profess your name alone.
- <sup>14</sup>The dead don't live; ghosts don't rise. Indeed, you have punished and destroyed them, and abolished all memory of them.
- <sup>15</sup>You've enlarged the nation, LORD. You've enlarged the nation; you are glorified. You've expanded all the land's boundaries.
- <sup>16</sup>LORD, in distress they sought you out; they poured out prayers to you when you disciplined them.
- <sup>17</sup>As a pregnant woman close to childbirth is in labor pains, crying out in her pangs, so were we because of you, LORD.
- <sup>18</sup>We were pregnant, we writhed, but we gave birth to wind. We have achieved no victories on earth; the inhabitants of the earth never fall.
- <sup>19</sup>Your dead will live, their<sup>c</sup> corpses will rise, and those who dwell in the dust will shout for joy. Your shadow is a shadow of light, but you will bring down the ghosts into the underworld.
- <sup>20</sup>Go, my people, enter your rooms and shut your doors behind you. Take cover, for in a little while the fury will be over.
- <sup>21</sup>Look! The LORD is going out from his place to bring the iniquity of the ruler of the earth down upon him. The earth will uncover its blood and will conceal its slain no longer.

Scattered people return

27On that day, the LORD will take a great sword, harsh and mighty, and will punish Leviathan the fleeing serpent, Leviathan the writhing serpent, and will kill the dragon that is in the sea. <sup>2</sup>On that day: Sing about a delightful vineyard!

<sup>c</sup>Or my 26:12 grant us peace: Compare with Isaiah 26:3.

26:14-18 The dead don't live: The meaning and logical sequence of these verses are difficult to understand. It's unclear whether the observation concerning the permanence of death is a complaint or a celebration of the fact that "other masters" will die (Isa 26:13). The labor imagery in the description of fruitless prayer in Isaiah 16:17-18 differs from that of other passages concerning labor—it isn't fear but futility that characterizes their pain. In contrast to the claim in Isaiah 26:14, 26:19 offers a reversal: "Your dead will live."

26:19-21 The rest of this mysterious chapter promises that divine justice will come soon: The dead will live

(26:19); justice will be revealed (26:20-21). If Isaiah 27:1 is a response to the prayers of Isaiah 26, it reassures that God will overpower the ancient enemy once and for all. Scholars disagree over whether the language of resurrection in Isaiah 26:14, 19 should be taken literally or metaphorically. Individual resurrection is a concept developing late in post-exilic times (after 200 BCE), and it appears clearly in the OT only in Daniel 12:2.

26:21 The LORD is going out from his place: Compare with Micah 1:3.

27:1-13 The relationship of this chapter to the preceding three is unclear. While Isaiah 24; 25; 26 each used the formula "on that day" only once, Isaiah 27 uses it four times

26:10 Hos 11:7
 26:11 Ps 10:12;
 Is 5:12, Is 5:24,
 Is 44:18;
 Heb 10:27
 26:12 Dt 30:6;
 Ps 29:11,
 Ps 68:28,
 Ps 119:165;
 Is 9:6
 26:13 Is 2:8
 26:15 Is 9:3,
 Is 33:17, Is 54:2
 26:17 Is 13:8,
 Is 21:3,
 Jn 16:21
 26:18 Ps 17:14;
 Is 33:11
 26:19 Is 25:8;
 Eze 37:1;
 Dn 12:2;
 Hos 13:14
 26:20 Is 10:25
 26:21 Job 16:18;
 Is 13:11; Mi 1:3
 27:1 Job 26:13;
 Ps 74:13,
 Ps 74:14;
 Is 51:9;
 Eze 29:3

27:6 Is 37:31;
Hos 14:5;
Hos 14:6

- <sup>3</sup>I, the LORD, am its guardian.
Every moment I water it;
night and day I guard it from attack.
- <sup>4</sup>I'm not angry,
but if it yields thorns and thistles for me,
I will march to battle against it;
I will torch it completely.
- <sup>5</sup>Or let them<sup>a</sup> cling to me for refuge;
let them make peace with me;
let them make peace with me.
- <sup>6</sup>In coming days,<sup>v</sup>
Jacob will take root;
Israel will blossom and sprout and fill the whole world with produce.

A vineyard (Isa 27:2-6)

iStockPhoto

<sup>a</sup>Or it <sup>v</sup>Or those coming

(27:1, 2, 12, 13; cf. 27:6). Because it is the only chapter of the four that focuses almost exclusively on Israel and because of differences between the city in 27:10 and other cities in the section, many scholars consider it an even later expansion than Isaiah 24–26.

27:1 This verse may end the previous section, may introduce what is to come, or may stand independently. The myth of a divine battle with powerful watery opponents (here called Leviathan the serpent, and the dragon in the sea) underlies this verse. A close parallel is found in Canaanite stories of Baal, in which Mot (“Death”) taunts, “Just as you struck down Ltn, the fleeing serpent, as you prepared an end for the twisting serpent, the ruler with seven heads, thus you also will be struck and will sink down.” A similar battle with Leviathan appears in Psalm 74:13–14. Job 26:13 recalls God’s piercing of the fleeing serpent, and Isaiah 51:9–10 recalls the Lord’s piercing of the dragon. While most scriptural recollections of this mythological motif place the battle in the past, Isaiah 27:1 presents it as the culminating triumph of the Lord’s struggle, similar to the swallowing of death forever (Isa 25:8). The Lord’s victory subdues primordial chaos and all its worldly manifestations.

27:2–6 Sing about a delightful vineyard!: This poem echoes Isaiah’s earlier vineyard song in Isaiah 5:1–7. Much of the vocabulary is the same. But here the Lord’s management style differs, as does the outcome. Isaiah 5 emphasized preparation. In contrast, Isaiah 27 emphasizes ongoing husbandry: watering Every moment, guarding night and day.

27:6 Jacob will take root: For the image of Israel as a vine, compare with Isaiah 37:31; Exodus 15:17; Hosea 10:1; Jeremiah 2:21; Psalm 80:8–19. See Hosea 14:5–7, in which God causes the vine to flourish.

<sup>7</sup>Did God strike Israel as he struck those who struck him?

Was Israel killed as his killers were killed?<sup>w</sup>

<sup>8</sup>By frightening Jerusalem, by sending her away,<sup>x</sup> you contended with her, expelling with a fierce blast on the day of the east wind.

<sup>9</sup>By this Jacob's guilt is reconciled, and this was how his sins were finally removed: he made all the altar stones like shattered chalk, sacred poles<sup>y</sup> and incense altars that couldn't stand.

<sup>10</sup>The fortified city lies alone, a hut forsaken, abandoned like the desert. Calves graze there; they lie down there and feed on its boughs.

<sup>11</sup>When its branches are dry, they are broken. Women come and set fire to it. These people have no understanding; therefore, their maker won't have compassion; the one who formed them won't be gracious.

<sup>12</sup>On that day, the LORD will beat grain from the channel of the Euphrates up to the Valley of Egypt. You will be collected, Israelites, one by one. <sup>13</sup>On that day, a great trumpet will be played. Those who were lost in the land of Assyria and those who were scattered in the land of Egypt will come. They will bow to the LORD at his holy mountain in Jerusalem.

Judgment on Ephraim and Judah

28 Oh, the majestic garland of Ephraim's drunks and the fading flower of its splendid beauty on the head that flows with perfume<sup>a</sup> of those hammered with wine.

<sup>2</sup>Look! The Lord has someone who is powerful and strong; like a hailstorm, a disastrous tempest, like a downpour of mighty, overflowing waters, he can level them to the ground with his hand.

<sup>3</sup>The majestic garland of Ephraim's drunks will be trampled underfoot.

<sup>4</sup>The withered flower, which is a thing of beauty<sup>a</sup> as it sits on the head of those bloated with fat,<sup>b</sup> will be like an early fig before the summer harvest: whoever sees it swallows it as soon as it is in hand.

<sup>w</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>x</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>y</sup>Heb asherim, perhaps objects devoted to the goddess Asherah <sup>a</sup>DSS (1QIsa)
<sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>b</sup>Or at the head of the fat valley

27:7-9 Did God strike Israel: Translation and interpretation of these verses are extremely uncertain. They appear to review once again the story line of God's using other nations to inflict harsh punishment on Israel for ultimately redemptive and instructive purposes; compare with Isaiah 10:5, 12. The implied answer to the rhetorical questions of Isaiah 27:7 is "Certainly not!"

27:8 east wind: usually associated with destruction, particularly with Assyrian or Babylonian exile (Hos 13:15; Jer 18:17). The verse describes exile as sending... away (cf. Gen 3:23; 21:14; Deut 22:19; 24:1-4; Jer 15:1; 24:5; 29:20; Isa 50:1).

27:9 For similar descriptions of the destruction of illicit sanctuaries by King Josiah of Judah, see 2 Kings 23:15; 1 Chronicles 34:4, 7.

27:10-11 The fortified city lies alone: This image recollects Isaiah's many portrayals of cities that were once strong but are now deserted (Isa 1:7-8; 6:11-13; 13:19-22; 17:1-9; 23:13-14; 24:10-13; 25:2; 26:5-6). Similar language describes Jerusalem in Lamentations 1:1-4.

27:12-13 Restoration from exile is imagined as a harvest extending from Assyria to Egypt. When a great trumpet sounds, Israel will be gathered to God's holy mountain in Jerusalem (cf. Exod 19:13-19).

28:1-13 Isaiah's words first describe the vain spectacle of the leaders of Israel (Ephraim), whom he has previously accused of being "wine-swaggering warriors" (Isa 5:22; cf. Isa 5:11-12; 9:9).

28:1-4 Oh, the majestic garland: Isaiah 28; 29; 30; 31; 33 each begins with the prophetic word "hoy" ("oh" or "woe," translated elsewhere as "doom"), while Isaiah 32 begins with a contrasting term. The prophet sarcastically describes the leaders' drunken partying. The party may be a Canaanite festival called marzeah, which was celebrated by the affluent and characterized by flowers, perfume, oil, rich food, and plenty of wine (cf. Amos 6:7). The prophet isn't concerned with the meaning of the ritual, but offended by its incompatibility with gratitude toward God and generosity toward the poor.

28:2 mighty, overflowing waters: The attacking enemy has frequently been described as an overflowing flood. See Isaiah 5:30; 8:6-8; 25:4; 28:17; 30:30; 17:12.

27:11 Dt 32:28; Is 1:3
28:1 Is 5:11; Is 28:3; Is 28:7; Hos 7:5
28:2 Is 6:7; Is 30:30; Eze 13:11

28:7 Lv 10:9;
Prv 31:4;
Is 3:12; Is 5:22;
Hos 4:11
28:9 Ps 131:2;
Jer 6:10

28:10
2Ch 36:15;
2Ch 36:16;
Neh 9:30;
Is 28:13;
Jn 21:15

28:11 Dt 28:49;
Is 33:19;
Jer 5:15;
Eze 3:5;
1Co 14:21

28:12 Is 11:10;
Is 30:15;
Jer 6:16;
Mt 11:28;
Mt 11:29

28:13 Is 8:15;
Mt 21:44
28:14 Is 28:22;
Is 29:20

28:15 Is 8:8;
Is 28:18

<sup>5</sup>On that day, the LORD of heavenly forces will be a splendid garland and a beautiful wreath for the people who survive, <sup>6</sup>and a spirit of justice for the one who sits in judgment, and a strength for those who repel the assault at the gate.

<sup>7</sup>These also stagger from wine and stumble from beer:

priest and prophet stagger from beer;
they are confused by wine;
they stray on account of beer;
they err when receiving visions;
they stumble when making judgments.

<sup>8</sup>All the tables are covered with vomit;
filth overruns the place.

<sup>9</sup>To whom will God teach knowledge?

To whom will he explain the message?

To those just weaned from milk?

To those who have hardly outgrown the breast?

<sup>10</sup>It is “tsav letsav, tsav lestav; qav leqav, qav leqav,”<sup>c</sup> a little of this, a little of that.

<sup>11</sup>With derisive speech and a foreign tongue, he will speak to this people.

<sup>12</sup>He has said to them,
“This is the place of rest;
give rest to the weary;
this is the place of repose”;
but they refused to listen.

<sup>13</sup>So the LORD’s word will be for them:
“tsav letsav, tsav letsav; qav leqav, qav leqav,”
a little of this, a little of that.

So that they will go and stagger backward,
they will be broken, snared, and captured.

The covenant with death overturned

<sup>14</sup>Therefore, hear the LORD’s word, you scoffers who rule this people in Jerusalem.

<sup>15</sup>You said, “We’ve cut a deal with death,<sup>d</sup> with the underworld” we made a pact.

When the overflowing flood passes through, it won’t reach us;
for we have made lies our hiding place, and in falsehood we take shelter.”

<sup>c</sup>A Hebrew version of baby talk or gibberish <sup>d</sup>Heb Maveth <sup>e</sup>Heb Sheol

28:5-6 In contrast to the party garlands, God will be the garland adorning the survivors, and the society will be characterized by justice and safety (cf. Isa 4:2-6).

28:7-8 priest and prophet stagger from beer: Even the religious leaders are too drunk to perceive their fate. Like their reeling drunkenness, descriptions circle round and round the same terms: They stagger with wine, stumble from beer, stagger from beer, are confused (or ironically swallowed) by wine; they stray from beer, stagger in their visions (the verb is the same as was used of wine and beer), and stumble even when engaged in court decisions (cf. Hos 4:4-6).

28:9 To whom will God teach knowledge?: The subject for the pronoun “he” in Hebrew is disputed. Some think that the Lord is the subject of the verbs on teaching or explaining. Others understand this question as a sarcastic retort or quotation concerning the prophet by those he is confronting.

28:10 tsav letsav: The Hebrew is reproduced as sounding like the babbling of a baby (see Isa 28:9) or like a foreigner: who can’t be understood. Those who refuse to understand when the prophet speaks for God will end up being delivered a message at sword point—by the Assyrian invaders (cf. Isa 33:19, which renders the intent explicit).

28:11-12 With derisive speech: Or “with stammering speech,” as in Isaiah 33:19. With a somewhat different meaning Paul quotes this passage in 1 Corinthians 14:21.

28:14 you scoffers who rule this people in Jerusalem: The early part of this chapter was clearly aimed at the northern kingdom of Israel (Ephraim). But now Jerusalem’s leadership is accused of similar defiance.

28:15 We’ve cut a deal with death: The prophet here strategically misquotes words he attributes to Jerusalem’s leadership, who attempted to form an alliance with Egypt and its pharaoh in opposition to Assyria (see Isa 30:1-7; 31:1-3; 36:6). The prophet considers this a deal not with Egypt but

Prophecies during Hezekiah's Reign A new section begins at Isaiah 28:1. Language similar to that in Isaiah 1–12 returns, criticizing Isaiah's contemporaries in Israel and Judah. As in Isaiah 1–12, Isaiah's own prophecies are added to by later writers.

The circumstances in Isaiah 28–31 date from the reign of King Ahaz's son Hezekiah, and lead up to the Assyrian crisis in 701 BCE. Isaiah criticizes Jerusalem's leaders for trusting Egypt to bail them out when they refuse to pay taxes to Assyria: "Doom to those going down to Egypt for help! They rely on horses, trust in chariots because they are many, and on riders because they are very strong. But they don't look to the holy one of Israel; they don't seek the LORD" (Isa 31:1). In Isaiah 32, just and wise kingship is described, contrasting with the leadership the prophet is criticizing.

Such criticisms stand in tension with the admiring stories of Hezekiah and his administration that will follow in Isaiah 36–39. Together these two sections offer two distinct views of the events of the day, in which most of Judah was destroyed, but Jerusalem itself was spared.

28:16 Ps 118:22;
Ac 4:11;
Ro 9:33;
1Co 3:11;
1Pt 2:6
28:17 2Ki 21:13
28:19 2Ki 24:2;
Job 18:11;
Is 50:4
28:22 Is 10:22,
Is 10:23,
Is 28:14
28:24 Ecc 3:2;
Hos 10:11
28:25 Ex 9:32;
Is 28:27;
Eze 4:9;
Mt 23:23

<sup>16</sup>Therefore, the LORD God says:
Look! I'm laying in Zion a stone, a tested stone, a valuable cornerstone, a sure foundation:
the one who trusts won't tremble.

<sup>17</sup>I will make justice the measuring line and righteousness the plumb line.
But hail will sweep away the hiding place of lies,
and water will overflow the shelter.

<sup>18</sup>Your deal with death<sup>f</sup> will be dissolved, and your pact with the grave<sup>g</sup> won't stand.
The rushing flood: when it passes through,
you will be annihilated by it.

<sup>19</sup>Every time it passes through it will take you, for morning by morning it will pass,
by day and by night.
It will be nothing but terror to understand the message.

<sup>20</sup>The bed is too short to stretch out, and the shroud is too narrow to cover oneself.

<sup>21</sup>Just as on Mount Perazim, the LORD will rise up; as in the Gibeon Valley he will rage to do his deed—strange is his deed!—
And to work his work—foreign is his work!

<sup>22</sup>So now stop your scoffing, or your chains will be tightened, because destruction has been ordered—I have heard it!— by the LORD God of heavenly forces against the whole land.

Plowing and threshing

<sup>23</sup>Listen and hear my voice; pay attention and hear my word:
<sup>24</sup>Does the plowman plow without stopping for planting, opening and harrowing their ground?
<sup>25</sup>When he has smoothed its surface, doesn't he scatter fennel,<sup>h</sup> and sow cumin,

<sup>f</sup>Heb Maveth <sup>g</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>h</sup>Or black cumin

with death. They assume that what already happened to Ephraim—the overflowing flood (cf. Isa 28:2)—won't happen to Judah. But see Isaiah 28:18.

28:16 the one who trusts won't tremble: Or "won't act hurriedly." The prophet's message to Judah's leadership is similar to that given during the previous generation's military crisis, when Israel and Aram threatened Ahaz (Isa 7:1–9). This verse is combined with Isaiah 8:14 and reapplied to Jesus in Romans 9:33. In 1 Peter 2:6–8 it is also combined with Psalm 118:22.

28:21 Mount Perazim . . . Gibeon Valley: references to earlier victories granted by God (see Josh 10:7–13; 2 Sam 5:20, 25). 28:23–29 The chapter concludes with a parable from agricultural life. Unlike the plant images at the chapter's beginning, this one describes wisdom. When sowing seed and when harvesting plants, farmers use methods appropriate to each crop. Likewise, the prophet explains, divine actions that may seem harsh are intended to yield the greatest benefit, so that Jerusalem will become a fruitful field for God's own purposes.

29:1 2Sa 5:9;
Is 1:14
29:4 Is 2:11,
Is 4:19
29:8 Is 29:7
29:9 Is 19:14,
Is 51:21

- and plant wheat and barley in their places, and spelt as a border?
26 They are properly ordered; their God directs them.<sup>1</sup> 27 Fennel<sup>l</sup> isn't threshed with a threshing sledge, nor is a cart wheel rolled over cumin, but fennel<sup>k</sup> is beaten with a staff, and cumin with a rod.
28 Bread grain is crushed, but the thresher<sup>l</sup> doesn't thresh it forever.
He drives the cart wheel over it;
he spreads it out but doesn't crush it.
29 This also comes from the LORD of heavenly forces, who gives wondrous counsel and increases wisdom.

Ariel besieged but spared

- 29 Oh, Ariel, Ariel, town where David encamped!
Year by year, let the festivals come around—<sup>2</sup>but I will oppress Ariel.
There will be mourning and lamentation;
she will be like an Ariel to me.
<sup>3</sup>I will surround you like a wall, and I will lay a siege against you with assault towers, and I will raise up siegeworks against you.
<sup>4</sup>You will be brought down;
from the ground you will speak;
from low in the dust your speech will come.
Your voice will be like a ghost's from the earth;
from the dust your words will whisper.
<sup>5</sup>But your many enemies will be like fine dust, the terrible horde like passing chaff.
Suddenly, in an instant, <sup>6</sup>the LORD of heavenly forces will come to you with thunder, earthquake, and a mighty voice, with whirlwind, tempest, and flames of devouring fire.
<sup>7</sup>The horde of nations fighting against Ariel, and all who make war on her and her fortress and besiege her,
will be like a dream, a vision of the night.
<sup>8</sup>It will be like when a hungry person dreams of eating but wakes up and the mouth is empty.
Or when a thirsty person dreams of drinking but wakes up and has a dry throat.
So will it be for all the horde of nations who fight against Mount Zion.
<sup>9</sup>Be shocked and stunned; blind yourselves; be blind!

<sup>1</sup>Or waters them <sup>l</sup>Or black cumin <sup>k</sup>Or black cumin <sup>l</sup>DSS (1QIsa*)

29:1-8 Oh, Ariel, Ariel: In a dreamlike vision, the prophet describes a siege against Jerusalem (here nicknamed Ariel) that humbles the city until it is rescued by God.

29:1 town where David encamped: As Isaiah 29:2 confirms, the phrase refers to David's attack on the Jebusite city (2 Sam 5:6-9). It recalls that the city has changed hands before and could do so again.

29:3 surround you like a wall: This may refer to Sennacherib's failed attack in 701 BCE.

29:4 You will be brought down... from low in the dust: For similar language concerning the humbling of the overconfident, see Isaiah 2:6-21.

29:5 like fine dust: It isn't clear here whether the comparison to fine dust means that the enemies are numerous or that they are insubstantial. Later verses will clarify that insubstantial is meant. passing chaff: or "flying chaff."

29:7-8 like a dream: The threatening vision proves itself to have been only Jerusalem's nightmare, while the enemy's dream of gain remains unfulfilled.

29:9-12 Be shocked and stunned: At the beginning of a series of related sayings about human senselessness, the subject of drunkenness (Isa 28:1-8) reappears. Only here it isn't wine that has dulled senses. Rather, a divine trance has overpowered the prophets (cf. Gen 2:21; 15:12; 1 Sam

Be drunk, but not on wine; stagger, but not on account of beer!

<sup>10</sup>The LORD has poured on you a spirit of deep sleep, and has shut your eyes, you prophets, and covered your heads, you seers.

<sup>11</sup>This entire vision has become for you like the words of a sealed scroll. When they give it to one who can read, saying, "Read this," that one will say, "I can't, because it's sealed." <sup>12</sup>And when the scroll is given to one who can't read, saying, "Read this," that one will say, "I can't read."

The wisdom of their wise

<sup>13</sup>The Lord says:

Since these people turn toward me with their mouths, and honor me with lip service while their heart is distant from me, and their fear of me is just a human command that has been memorized, <sup>14</sup>I will go on doing amazing things to these people, shocking and startling things.

The wisdom of their wise will perish, and the discernment of their discerning will be hidden.

<sup>15</sup>Doom to those who hide their plan deep, away from the LORD, whose deeds are in the dark, who say, "Who sees us? Who knows us?"

<sup>16</sup>You have everything backward!
Should the potter be thought of as clay?
Should what is made say of its maker,
"He didn't make me?"
Should what is shaped say of the one who shaped it,
"He doesn't understand"?

<sup>17</sup>In just a little while won't Lebanon become farmland once again, and the farmland be considered a forest?

<sup>18</sup>On that day: The deaf will hear the words of a scroll and, freed from dimness and darkness, the eyes of the blind will see.

<sup>19</sup>The poor will again find joy in the LORD, and the neediest of people will rejoice in the holy one of Israel.

<sup>20</sup>The tyrant will be no more, the mocker will perish, and all who plot evil will be eliminated:

29:10 Ps 69:23;
Is 6:9, Is 6:10,
Is 44:18;
Ro 11:8

29:11 Is 8:16;
Dn 12:4,
Dn 12:9;
Mt 13:11;
Rev 5:1

29:13 Is 58:2;
Jer 12:2;
Eze 33:31;
Mt 15:8,
Mt 15:9

29:14 Is 6:9,
Is 28:21;
Jer 49:7;
Hab 1:5;
1Co 1:19

29:15 Ps 10:11,
Ps 94:7; Is 30:1,
Is 47:10;
Eze 8:12

29:16 Is 10:15,
Is 45:9, Is 64:8,
Ro 9:20,
Ro 9:21

29:17 Ps 107:33;
Is 32:15

29:18 Is 32:3,
Is 35:5; Mt 11:5

26:12; Job 4:13). The spirit God pours out doesn't result in understanding, as one might expect (Num 11:25; Joel 2:28-29), but senselessness. As in Isaiah 6:9-10, human inattention has led God to remove the ability to hear. Failure to comprehend is compared in 29:11-12 to refusal on the part of some, and inability on the part of others, to read the words plainly written on a scroll. Paul blends 29:10 with Deuteronomy 29:4 in Romans 11:8 to explain Jewish resistance to his message.

29:13-14 Isaiah and other prophets frequently criticize their contemporaries for worship that's empty of ethical responsibility (Isa 1:10-17; 58:1-14; Amos 4:4-5; Hos 10:1-2; Mic 3:11; 6:6-8). Matthew 15:8-9 and Mark 7:6-7 show Jesus quoting this passage when similarly criticizing religious leaders—a critique that finds a home wherever piety ignores justice. Paul uses 29:14 in his argument in 1 Corinthians 1:19 that human wisdom can't reason its way to God.

29:15-16 hide their plan deep: Here, as in other parts of Isaiah, the topic is a "plan." This isn't the divine plan as in Isaiah 5:19; 11:2; 14:26; but the human plot, which is opposed to God's ways (as in Isa 8:10; 19:3, 11; 30:1) and is destined to be confounded by God. What plan the prophet accuses Judah's leaders of hiding isn't yet clear, but see Isaiah 30:1-2 and 31:1.

29:16 Should the potter be thought of as clay?: A wide-spread image in scripture is of God making humans and the world as a potter makes clay pots (Gen 2:7, 19; Pss 33:15; 74:17; 94:9; 95:5; 103:14; 104:26; Isa 27:11; Job 10:9; 33:6). If it's unthinkable for clay to criticize its maker, it's also absurd for humans to question God. This image explicitly recurs twice more in Isaiah 45:9 and 64:8 (see also Jer 18:1-12). In Romans 9:20 Paul cites this verse to argue for God's mysterious wisdom.

29:17-24 A series of promising sayings attached to harsh critiques. These aren't addressed to the leadership but to the powerless: the deaf, blind, poor, needy, and innocent. won't Lebanon become farmland: Land devastated by war will become fertile and fruitful once again (cf. Isa 32:15; 37:24; Ps 72:16).

29:18-21: The deaf will hear: Deafness and blindness appear frequently in Isaiah, sometimes as physical disabilities (Isa 35:5) and other times as willful refusal to pay attention (Isa 6:9-10).

29:21 Am 5:10,
Am 5:12
29:22 Is 41:8,
Is 51:2
29:24 Is 28:7,
Is 32:4
30:1 Is 1:2,
Is 29:15, Is 31:1
30:2 Is 31:1,
Is 36:6,
Eze 17:15
30:3 Is 20:5,
Is 30:5, Is 36:6
30:4 Is 19:11
30:5 Is 20:5,
Is 30:7, Is 31:1;
Jer 2:36
30:6 Dt 8:15;
1 Ki 10:2;
Is 14:29

- <sup>21</sup>all who incriminate others wrongly, who entrap the judge in the gate, and pointlessly postpone justice for the innocent.
- <sup>22</sup>Therefore, proclaims the LORD, the God of<sup>m</sup> the house of Jacob, who redeemed Abraham:
Jacob won't be ashamed now,
and his face won't grow pale now.
- <sup>23</sup>When he sees his children among them,
the work of my hands,
proclaiming my name holy,
they will make holy the holy one of Jacob,
and stand in awe of Israel's God.
- <sup>24</sup>Those who wander in spirit will have understanding, and those who grumble will gain insight.

Help from Egypt is futile

- 30 Doom to you, rebellious children, says the LORD, who make a plan, which is not mine;
who weave a plot,<sup>n</sup> but not by my spirit, piling up sin on sin; <sup>2</sup> setting out to go down to Egypt without consulting me, taking refuge in Pharaoh's refuge and hiding in Egypt's shadow.
<sup>3</sup> Pharaoh's refuge will become your shame, hiding in Egypt's shadow your disgrace.
<sup>4</sup> Though their officials are in Zoan, and their messengers reach Hanes, <sup>5</sup> all will become shamed because of a people who can't assist them.
They are no help; they are no profit;
rather, shame and disgrace.
- <sup>6</sup>An oracle about the beasts in the arid southern plain.
Through a land of distress and danger, lioness and roaring<sup>o</sup> lion, viper and flying serpent, they will carry their wealth on donkeys' shoulders and their treasures on camels' humps to a people who won't profit, <sup>7</sup> for Egypt's help is utterly worthless.
Therefore, I call her Rahab Who Sits Still.<sup>p</sup>
- <sup>8</sup> Now go, write it before them on a tablet, inscribe it on a scroll,
so in the future it will endure as a witness.

<sup>m</sup>Or to <sup>n</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>o</sup>Or from them <sup>p</sup>Or Rahab the silent

29:23 proclaiming my name holy: Isaiah's preferred name for God, "holy one of Israel," is the subject of a pun in this verse, which repeats the word "holy" three times. When Jesus teaches his disciples to pray in Matthew 6:9, "uphold the holiness of your name" echoes the meaning of this verse very closely.

30:1–31:9 Explicit criticism of Hezekiah's administration. Visions of the future in which God deals with tyrants and restores safety for those buffeted by political storms are added to criticism of seeking an alliance with Egypt against Assyria.

30:1 rebellious children: This is a very serious accusation; compare with the sentence of execution for a rebellious son in Deuteronomy 21:18, and the accusations of rebellion in Isaiah 1:4, 23. who make a plan: Divine and human plans consistently clash in Isaiah. The prophet says human plans won't stand (Isa 8:10; 19:3; 29:15–16), but God's plans will (Isa 14:24–27; 23:9).

30:2 refuge... shadow: The expedition seeks from Egypt and Egypt's ruler what the psalmists seek in God alone.: They seek "refuge" (Pss 27:1; 28:8; 31:2, 4; cf. Isa 17:10; 25:4) in the "shadow" (Pss 36:7; 57:1) of Egypt.

30:4 Zoan: See note on Isaiah 19:11–15. Psalm 78:12, 43 placed God's signs and wonders against the Egyptians in Zoan, the same place where Judeans are now seeking Egypt's power instead of God's. Hanes: a second Egyptian city, whose location is uncertain.

30:6 flying serpent: Compare with Isaiah 6:2; 14:29.

30:7 Rahab Who Sits Still: The mocking name associates Egypt with Rahab, a mythical beast parallel to the chaos monster Leviathan (see note on Isa 27:1; cf. Isa 51:9; Ps 89:10; Job 26:12). In Psalm 87:4 the name Rahab stands for "Egypt."

30:8 write it before them on a tablet: See Isaiah 8:1, 16. It isn't clear what the prophet is to write, whether it is Egypt's name (Isa 38:7), the warning against seeking Egypt's help,

30:9 Is 30:1
 30:10 Jer 11:21;
 Am 2:12;
 Am 7:13;
 Ro 16:18; 2Ti 4:3
 30:15 Is 28:12;
 Hos 14:1
 30:17 Lv 26:8,
 Lv 26:36;
 Dt 28:25;
 Dt 32:30
 30:18 2Pr 3:9, 2Pr 3:15

- <sup>9</sup>These are rebellious people, lying children, children unwilling to hear the LORD's teaching, <sup>10</sup>who say to the seers, "Don't foresee," and to the visionaries, "Don't report truthful visions;
 tell us flattering things;
 envision deceptions; <sup>11</sup>get out of the way;
 step off the path;
 let's have no more 'holy one of Israel.'"

<sup>12</sup>Therefore, the holy one of Israel says:

Because you reject this word and trust in oppression and cunning and rely on them,

- <sup>13</sup>your sin will be like a crack in a high wall; it bulges, about to fall:
 suddenly, in an instant, it breaks!

- <sup>14</sup>Its breaking is like the breaking of a storage jar that is totally shattered.

No piece from among its fragments will be large enough to take fire from a hearth, or to dip water from a cistern.

- <sup>15</sup>Therefore, the LORD God,
 the holy one of Israel, says:

In return and rest you will be saved;

quietness and trust will be your strength—but you refused.

- <sup>16</sup>You said,

"No! We'll flee on horses"— therefore, you will indeed flee—

"and we'll ride off; on swift steeds we will ride"— therefore, your pursuers will be swift.

- <sup>17</sup>One thousand will flee at the threat of one, and at the threat of five you will flee, until you are left like a flagstaff on a mountaintop, like a flag on a hill.

- <sup>18</sup>Nonetheless, the LORD is waiting to be merciful to you, and will rise up to show you compassion.

The LORD is a God of justice;

happy are all who wait for him.

or the criticisms of rebelliousness that follow. Writing such as this may allow future generations to confirm the prophet's warnings.

30:9 rebellious people: The accusation that they are unwilling to hear the divine word concerning rest and repose was already sounded at Isaiah 28:12, and recurs in Isaiah 30:15.

30:10 "Don't foresee": Ironically, the words Isaiah imputes to rebellious Judeans seeking to keep seers from truth-telling echo those of God in Isaiah 6:9, "look carefully, but don't comprehend."

30:12 Therefore, the holy one of Israel says: The prophet immediately defies the people's refusal in Isaiah 30:11 to hear any more about the "holy one of Israel." trust in oppression and cunning: The connection between resorting to Egypt and resorting to oppression has already been made in Isaiah 28:17, where justice and righteousness enter the debate over the deals the leadership is cutting. It was also evident in Isaiah 29:18-21, where the vision of restorative reversals follows criticism of hiding plans from God.
 30:13 like a crack in a high wall: The word for "wall" used here is the same as in Isaiah 22:11, where the prophet criticized the policy of destroying houses to build up the city's defensive wall. While a crack may seem like an insignificant flaw, it can be the beginning of destruction for a city wall and for all who rely on its protection.

30:14 breaking of a storage jar: The city's defense wall will be no stronger than a clay pot. Trusting flawed policies for protection while removing the protections God intended for the poor results in the loss of all in which the wealthy trusted.

30:15 quietness and trust will be your strength: Trust in God is advocated not simply as individual piety but as a national alternative to political maneuvering, strengthened by the infrastructure of societal justice. "Strength" often describes God's mighty deeds for Israel (Pss 54:1; 66:7). The position being advocated isn't compliance with Assyria, but trust in divine defense (cf. Isa 36-37). This inviting saying is abruptly shattered by the final clause, but you refused, repeating the accusation of Isaiah 30:9 (cf. Isa 28:12).

30:17 One thousand will flee: See Leviticus 26:8, 17, 36; Deuteronomy 32:30.

30:19 Ps 50:15;
Is 58:9, Is 65:24;
Mt 7:7

30:20 1Ki 22:27;
Ps 69:1, Ps 74:9,
Ps 127:2;
Am 8:11

30:21 Is 42:16

30:23 Lv 26:4,
Lv 26:5,
Is 32:20

30:25 Is 2:15,
Is 41:18, Il 3:18

30:26 Is 60:19,
Is 60:20;
Rev 21:23

30:27 Is 10:5

30:30 Josh
10:11

30:33 2Ki 23:10

This is the way

<sup>19</sup>People in Zion, who live in Jerusalem, you will weep no longer. God will certainly be merciful to you. Hearing the sound of your outcry, God will answer you. <sup>20</sup>Though the Lord gives you the bread of distress and the water of oppression, your teacher will no longer hide, but you will see your teacher. <sup>21</sup>If you stray to the right or the left, you will hear a word that comes from behind you: "This is the way; walk in it." <sup>22</sup>You will defile your silver-plated idols and your gold-covered priestly vest,<sup>a</sup> and you will scatter them like menstrual rags. "Get out," you will say to them.

<sup>23</sup>God will provide rain for the seed you sow in the ground, and the food the ground produces will be rich and abundant. On that day, your cattle will graze in large pastures. <sup>24</sup>The oxen and donkeys that are working the ground will eat tasty feed spread for them with shovel and fork.

<sup>25</sup>On every lofty mountain, and on every high hill, streams will run with water on the day of the great massacre, when the towers fall. <sup>26</sup>The light of the moon will be like the light of the sun, and the light of the sun will be seven times brighter—like the light of seven days—on the day that the LORD bandages the people's brokenness and heals the wounds inflicted by his blows.

Assyria punished

<sup>27</sup>Look there! The LORD is coming from far away; his anger blazing, his smoke-cloud thick.

His lips are full of fury;
his tongue is like a devouring fire.

<sup>28</sup>His breath is like a raging river that reaches up to the neck, to shake the nations with a sieve of destruction, and to put a misleading rein on the people's jaws.

<sup>29</sup>There will be singing for you as on the night that people celebrate a festival.
The heart will be joyful
as it is when one goes with a flute to the LORD's mountain, to the rock of Israel.

<sup>30</sup>The LORD will unleash his majestic voice and display his crushing arm in furious anger, with a flame of consuming fire, in stormy rain and hail.

<sup>31</sup>The LORD's voice will terrify Assyria; with a rod he will smite it.

<sup>32</sup>And every crack that is made in the foundation wall, which the LORD will bring down upon him, will be accompanied by timbrels and lyres.
The LORD will raise his arm and fight against Assyria in battle.

<sup>33</sup>His place for burning<sup>a</sup> was arranged long ago;
it is indeed made ready for a king.

God has made its wood pile wide and deep, fire and wood in abundance.

The breath of the LORD, like a stream of brimstone, ignites it.

<sup>a</sup>Correction; Heb ephod <sup>b</sup>Heb Topheth

30:19-26 Several visions of restoration supplement the prophet's speech: (1) God will answer the people's cry of distress (30:19) and teach them through affliction (30:20-21), so that they will do away with idols (30:22); (2) climatic conditions will promote agricultural well-being (30:23-24); water will be found on every hill (30:25); and the light of moon and sun will dramatically increase (30:26a); and (3) blows inflicted by God will be healed (30:26b).

30:20 your teacher will no longer hide: The verb "teach" is fairly widespread in relation to God (Exod 4:12, 15; 24:12; 1 Kgs 8:36; Pss 25:8, 12; 32:8; Isa 2:3/Mic 4:2; Isa 28:26). Yet referring to God by the noun "teacher" is highly unusual (cf. only Job 36:22).

30:25 when the towers fall: The insertion of violence into what is otherwise a vision of widespread peace is puzzling, but may reflect the theme of the lofty falling in Isaiah 2:6-21; see specifically 2:15.

30:26 In a reversal of Isaiah 13:10, sun and moon shine unnaturally brightly.

30:27-33 In this final note contrasting Israel's and Assyria's fates, imagery of judgment is interwoven with imagery of pilgrimage and celebration. Much of the language of judgment against Assyria recalls—and reverses—earlier prophetic language concerning the empire. See, for instance, the raging river reaching up to the neck (30:28; cf. Isa 8:7-8; 28:2, 15-18); and the rod and "staff" that strike Assyria (30:31-32; cf. Isa 10:5, 15, 24, 26; 14:5; 28:27).

30:27 his anger blazing: Compare with Exodus 24:17; Deuteronomy 4:24; 9:3; Isaiah 33:14; Lamentations 2:3.

Doom to those going to Egypt

31 Doom to those going down to Egypt for help!

They rely on horses, trust in chariots because they are many,
and on riders because they are very strong.
But they don't look to the holy one of Israel;
they don't seek the LORD.

<sup>2</sup>But God also knows how to bring disaster; he has not taken back his words.
God will rise up against the house of evildoers and against the help of those who do wrong.

<sup>3</sup>Egypt is human and not divine; their horses are flesh and not spirit.
The LORD will extend his hand;
the helper will stumble,
those helped will fall,
and they will all die together.

<sup>4</sup>The LORD has said to me:
When the lion growls,
the young lion, over its prey,
though a band of shepherds is summoned against it, isn't scared off by their noise or frightened by their roar.
So the LORD of heavenly forces will go down to fight on Mount Zion and on her hill.

<sup>5</sup>Like birds flying aloft, so the LORD of heavenly forces will shield Jerusalem:
shielding and saving, sparing and rescuing.

<sup>6</sup>People of Israel, return to the one whom you have deeply betrayed! <sup>7</sup>On that day, you will each reject the idols of silver and the idols of gold, which you have sinfully made for yourselves.

<sup>8</sup>Assyria will fall, but not by a human sword—a sword not made by humans will devour them.
They will flee before the sword;
their young men will become forced laborers.

<sup>9</sup>In horror they will flee from their stronghold; their officers will be terrified at the signal, says the LORD, whose fire is in Zion and whose oven is in Jerusalem.

Righteous rule

32 See here: A king rules to promote righteousness; rulers govern to promote justice,

31:1-9 Jerusalem's leaders plan to seek help from Egypt. The prophet objects because only God is powerful enough to protect Jerusalem.

31:1-3 Nearly every word in 31:1 appeared in Isaiah 28–30. going down to Egypt recalls the ancestors who repeatedly went down to Egypt for help and refuge (Gen 12:10; 39:1; 42:2-3; 46:3-4; cf. Isa 30:2). Isaiah 31:3 echoes God's defeat of the pharaoh's chariots and horses at the sea (Exod 14:9, 23; 15:19; Deut 11:4; cf. Isa 43:17). What was once an article of trust in God's deliverance is now a stern warning.

31:4-5 When the lion growls . . . Like birds flying aloft: These verses are somewhat unclear: Isaiah 31:4 portrays God as predator and 31:5 as protector. They hold in common divine determination to let no other power encroach on Jerusalem. It isn't clear whether the lion refers to God's own attack on Jerusalem by means of the Assyrians (as in Isa 29:3) or whether the Assyrians themselves are shepherds repelled by the lion (cf. Isa 29:5-8). The nightmarish threat dissolves into motherly protection in 31:5.

31:6-7 A later addition (as indicated by the phrase "On that day") inspired by the theme of trust in God rather than others. For the phrase idols of silver and the idols of gold, see Isaiah 2:20 (cf. Isa 2:8, 18).

31:8-9 In contrast to the Egyptians, who are "human and not divine" (Isa 31:3), here the Assyrians are defeated by a sword not made by humans.

32:1 See here: In contrast to Isaiah 28; 29; 30; 31; 33, this one begins not with hoy ("woe" or "oh" or "doom") but See here, which gently draws attention to what follows. As a portrait of how kings ought to reign is spotlighted,

31:6 Is 1:5;
Is 30:15, Is 55:7;
Jer 3:12
31:9 Dt 32:31;
Is 18:3
32:1 Ps 72:1;
Is 9:7; Jer 23:5;
Zec 9:9

32:5 Is 5:20

32:6 Is 3:15

32:8 Ps 112:9;

Pv 11:25;

2Co 9:6

32:9 Is 3:16;

Is 4:1, Is 28:23;

Is 47:8; Am 6:1

32:10 Is 24:7

32:13 Is 5:6;

Is 22:2;

Hos 10:8

- <sup>2</sup>each like a shelter from the wind and a refuge from a storm, like streams of water in a wasteland, like the shade of a massive cliff in a worn-out land.
- <sup>3</sup>Then the eyes of those who can see will no longer be blind, the ears of those who can hear will listen, <sup>4</sup>the minds of the rash will know and comprehend, and the tongues of those who stammer will speak fluently and plainly.
- <sup>5</sup>Then a fool will no longer be called honorable, nor a villain considered respectable.
- <sup>6</sup>Fools speak folly;
their minds devise wickedness,
acting irreverently, speaking falsely of the LORD,
leaving the hungry empty,
and depriving the thirsty of drink.
- <sup>7</sup>As for the villain, his villainies are evil.
He plans schemes to destroy the poor with lying words, even when the needy speak justly.
- <sup>8</sup>But an honorable person plans honorable things and stands up for what is honorable.

Warnings to the carefree

- <sup>9</sup>Women of leisure, stand up! Hear my voice!
Carefree daughters, listen to my word!
- <sup>10</sup>In a little over a year, the carefree will shudder, because the grape harvest will fail;
the vintage won't arrive.
- <sup>11</sup>Tremble, all of you who are at ease;
shudder, all of you who are secure!
Strip yourselves, bare your skin,
and tie mourning clothes around your waist, <sup>12</sup>beating your breasts for the pleasant fields, for the fruitful vine, <sup>13</sup>for my people's soil growing barbs and thorns, for all the joyous houses in the jubilant town.
- <sup>14</sup>The palace will be deserted, the crowded city abandoned.
Stronghold and watchtower will become empty fields forever, suited for the pleasure of wild donkeys, and a pasture for flocks—<sup>15</sup>until a spirit from on high is poured out on us, and the desert turns into farmland, and the farmland is considered a forest.

contrasting sharply with all that the past several chapters have condemned, the heedlessness of the Judean leaders' ways is thrown into sharp relief. A king rules to promote righteousness: For parallels, see Proverbs 8:15-16. For the theme of just rule, see Isaiah 1:21-27; 9:6-7; 11:1-9; 16:4-5. Just divine rule is seen in Isaiah 4:2-6.

32:2 This verse contrasts sharply with the refuge and shelter sought by Jerusalem's rulers in Isaiah 28:17, and to Egypt's useless protection in Isaiah 30:1-7; 31:1-3. It parallels descriptions of God in the psalms (e.g., Pss 31:20; 63:1; 91:1; cf. Isa 25:4-5). The king functions here as in Psalm 72, as the regent through whom divine prosperity is available for all.

32:3-5 When righteous rule emerges, enlightenment abounds. In contrast to Isaiah 6:10 (cf. Isa 29:9-10), impediments are removed. Understanding replaces ignorance (cf. Isa 1:3; 6:9); eloquence replaces incoherence. With clarity renewed, foolishness will no longer pass as respectable.

32:6-8 Poor judgment isn't simply self-destructive. Folly leads to a practice frequently denounced in Isaiah (Isa 10:1; 29:20-21): twisting the law to benefit the powerful. Honorable leaders stand up for what is good for all.

32:9-14 Condemnations of the powerful in Isaiah 28–32: conclude with a call addressed first to women (32:9), and then to the general population (32:11), calls to fear and to mourn. The prophet Amos had accused Samaria's women: of participating in orgies of wealth (Amos 4:1; 5:23-24; 6:1). Here wealthy women are called to pay attention, but are not accused of any particular wrongdoing.

32:13-14 Urban civilization is envisioned as destroyed and deserted, replaced by the nonhuman and noncultivated natural world: thorns and briars, wild donkeys, and flocks (Isa 6:11-12; 7:23-25; 14:23; 17:1-2, 9; 27:10; 34:11-15).

32:15-20 spirit from on high: This section is filled with:

- <sup>16</sup>Then justice will reside in wild lands, and righteousness will abide in farmlands.
- <sup>17</sup>The fruit of righteousness will be peace, and the outcome of righteousness, calm and security forever.
- <sup>18</sup>Then my people will live in a peaceful dwelling, in secure homes, in carefree resting places.
- <sup>19</sup>Even if the forest falls<sup>a</sup> and the humbled city is laid low, <sup>20</sup>those who sow beside any stream will be happy, sending out ox and donkey to graze.

32:17
Ps 119:165;
Ro 14:17;
Jas 3:18
32:20 Ecc 11:1;
Is 30:23,
Is 30:24
33:2 Is 25:9,
Is 26:8
33:5 Ps 97:9
33:6 Ps 112:1;
Prv 1:7;
Prv 15:16;
Is 11:9; Mt 6:33

Judgment and hope for the righteous

33 Doom to the destroyer left undestroyed, you traitor whom none have betrayed:
when you have finished destroying, you will be destroyed;
and when you have stopped betraying, they will betray you.

- <sup>2</sup>LORD, show us favor;
we hope in you.
Be our strength every morning,
our salvation in times of distress.
- <sup>3</sup>At the noise, peoples fled;
on account of your roar, nations scattered.
- <sup>4</sup>They gathered spoil like insects;
they rushed upon it like a swarm of locusts.<sup>b</sup>
- <sup>5</sup>The LORD is exalted; he lives on high, filling Zion with justice and righteousness.
- <sup>6</sup>He will provide security during a lifetime:<sup>c</sup> a source of salvation, wisdom, and knowledge—fear of the LORD will be Zion's treasure.<sup>d</sup>
- <sup>7</sup>But then those in Ariel<sup>e</sup> cried out in the streets;
messengers of peace wept bitterly.

<sup>a</sup>Or it will hail when the forest falls <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Or your times <sup>d</sup>Or his treasure <sup>e</sup>Or the valiant; Heb uncertain hopeful reversals that are precisely keyed to the previous themes. Description of change in terms of divine spirit calls to mind Isaiah 4:4; 11:2; 28:5-6. Whereas in Isaiah 11 the spirit rested upon the king, here it comes out on us, the people as a whole. desert turns into farmland: Compare with Isaiah 29:17.

32:16-17 These verses echo the association between justice and prosperity spelled out in Isaiah 32:1-8: not false trust in Egyptian chariots (Isa 31:1-3) or in insulation for the wealthy (Isa 28:15; 29:20-21; 32:9-14), but secure trust supported by a social order sustainable for all.

32:18 secure homes, in carefree resting places: See Isaiah 32:9, 11.

33:1-24 This chapter is the first of three consecutive sections in Isaiah that together serve as hinges, joining the days of Davidic monarchy and the days of direct rule by Persia. Isaiah 34-35 and 36-39 form the second and third hinges. Isaiah 33 often echoes First Isaiah (Isa 1-39), but it more closely resembles the language of the Psalms. Its themes anticipate salvation. Accusations are reversed, and hopes for Jerusalem's future reinforced.

33:1 Doom to the destroyer left undestroyed: Like Isaiah 28-31 but unlike Isaiah 32, this one begins with the Hebrew word hoy, "woe" or "doom." Here it is aimed not at Jerusalem's elite but at the enemy, whose imagined destruction assures the security envisioned in Isaiah 32:20 and prayed for in Isaiah 33:2. Isaiah 21:2 and 24:16 used similar language to reflect on destruction's certainty, but this verse points out that the seed of self-destruction is inherent in the actors' own deeds.

33:2-6 Lord, show us favor: Compare with Psalm 123:3. Like many psalms, these five verses move from petition to praise to reassurance. we hope in you: Compare with Psalms 25:3, 5, 21; 37:9, 34; Isaiah 8:17; 26:8; 25:9.

33:3 nations scattered: For the theme of God arising to scatter enemies, compare with Numbers 10:35; Psalms 68:1; 89:10; 92:9.

33:4 They gathered spoil like insects: This likely refers to those whose enemies were scattered by God in the previous verse; compare with Isaiah 9:3-5.

33:5 The Lord is exalted: Compare with God's unique status in Isaiah 2:11, 17; 12:4; 57:15. filling Zion with justice and righteousness: Compare with Isaiah 1:21-27; 5:7, 16; 9:7; 28:17; 32:1, 16.

33:6 salvation, wisdom, and knowledge—fear of the Lord: Wisdom themes fill this verse; compare with Isaiah 11:2; Proverbs 1:7; 9:10.

33:7-9 All references to time in this chapter are relative, so it is best not to try to connect the poetry too closely to particular events. The verses may be intended more to create a mood than to recall events; compare with Lamentations 1:2, 4, 16. Much of the language in these three

33:10 Ps 12:5
 33:11 Ps 7:14;
 Is 5:24, Is 26:18,
 Is 59:4; Jas 1:15
 33:13 Ps 48:10;
 Is 49:1 33:14
 Heb 12:29;
 Rev 20:10
 33:15 Ps 15:2,
 Ps 24:4,
 Ps 119:37
 33:16 Dt 32:13;
 Job 11:18;
 Prv 1:33;
 Is 25:4, Is 49:10
 33:17 Is 6:5,
 Is 26:15,
 Is 33:22;
 Jn 17:24
 33:18 2Ki 18:14;
 Is 17:14;
 1Co 1:20

- <sup>8</sup>The highways were deserted;
 travelers left the road.
 The covenant was broken;
 solemn pledges<sup>m</sup> were rejected;
 no one cared for humanity.
- <sup>9</sup>The land mourned; it wasted away;
 Lebanon was ashamed; it withered.
 Sharon became like the desert, and Bashan and Carmel were dropping their leaves.
- <sup>10</sup>Now I will arise, says the LORD.
 Now I will exalt myself; now I will stand tall.
- <sup>11</sup>You conceive straw, give birth to stubble;
 your breath is a fire that devours you.
- <sup>12</sup>Peoples will be burned to lime, thorns cut up and set ablaze.
- <sup>13</sup>You who are far away, hear what I have done;
 and you who are near, know my strength!
- <sup>14</sup>Sinners became terrified in Zion; trembling seized the godless:
 "Who among us can live with the devouring fire?
 Who among us can live with the everlasting blaze?"
- <sup>15</sup>The one who walks righteously and speaks truthfully, who rejects profit from extortion, who waves away a bribe instead of grabbing it,
 who won't listen to bloody plots,
 and who won't contemplate doing something evil.
- <sup>16</sup>He will live on the heights;
 fortresses in the cliffs will be his refuge.
 His food will be provided,
 his water guaranteed.
- <sup>17</sup>When you gaze upon a king in his glamour and look at the surrounding land, <sup>18</sup>in dismay you will think:
 Where is the one who counts?

<sup>m</sup>Correction; or cities; DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>) witnesses verses echoes that of Isaiah 24. Beginning in Isaiah 33:10, God responds with purifying judgment.

33:7 Ariel: a synonym for Jerusalem; see note on Isaiah 29:1.
 33:8 The covenant was broken: This could refer to King Hezekiah's rebellion against Assyria, or more generally to the way humanity has polluted the earth (cf. Isa 24:5; 33:9).

33:9 The land mourned: Compare with Isaiah 24:4. Unlike the wilderness immediately surrounding Jerusalem, the four geographical regions named in this verse (to the north, west, northeast, and northwest of Jerusalem) were celebrated for their lush vegetation (Isa 2:13; 35:2; Song 2:1; 3:9; 4:11, 15; 7:5; Jer 50:19). The verse echoes the call in Isaiah 32:9-14.

33:10 Now I will arise: Compare with Isaiah 6:1; 57:15.

33:11 You conceive straw: For the image of the wicked giving birth to the fruit of their malice, see Isaiah 59:4; Psalm 7:14; Job 15:35. your breath is a fire: Compare with Isaiah 1:32; 5:24; 9:18-21.

33:14-15 Sinners became terrified in Zion: In the biblical tradition, terror and dread accompany the recognition of divine power (Exod 15:15-16; Pss 2:11; 48:6), especially among foreigners (Deut 2:25; 11:25), but also among ungodly individuals (Pss 14:5; 53:5; Isa 2:10, 19, 21) and even the godly (Ps 55:5; Job 4:14). The one who walks righteously: Isaiah 33:15 resembles the responses in a temple entrance ritual outlining acceptable moral behavior among those entering God's presence (see Pss 15:1-5; 24:3-5). But the questions preceding them in 33:14 seem far from routine. They ask not "Who can live in your tent?" as in Psalm 15:1, but Who among us can live with the devouring fire? Fire is associated with the mortally dangerous presence of God (Exod 24:17; Lev 9:24; 10:2; Num 11:1; 16:35), who is sometimes even identified with devouring fire (Deut 4:24; cf. Deut 9:3; Amos 1:4, 7). Like Isaiah 1:27-31; 65:8-15; 66:15-17, 24, this passage imagines not one common fate awaiting Jerusalem's survivors but separate destinies based on individual deeds.

33:17 When you gaze upon a king: Unlike Isaiah 32:1, this most likely refers to God as king; compare with Isaiah 33:22, "The LORD is our king," and Isaiah 6:1, 5; 24:23; Psalm 27:4.

33:18 in dismay you will think: or "You will muse on [for-mer] terrors." Translations disagree on whether "dismay"/

Where is the one who weighs?
Where is the one who counts towers?

33:19 Dt 28:49,
Dt 28:50;
Is 28:11
33:20 Ps 46:5,
Ps 48:12,
Ps 125:1;
Is 32:18, Is 54:2
33:22 Ps 89:18;
Is 25:9; Jas 4:12
34:4 Ps 102:26;
Mt 24:29;
2Pt 3:10;
Rev 6:13,
Rev 6:14

- <sup>19</sup>You will no longer see the defiant people, the people of speech too obscure to understand,
who stammer in an incomprehensible language.
- <sup>20</sup>Gaze upon Zion, our festival town.
Your eyes will see Jerusalem, a carefree dwelling, a tent that is not packed up, whose stakes are never pulled up,
whose ropes won't snap.
- <sup>21</sup>The LORD's majesty will be there for us:
as a place of rivers, broad streams where no boat will go,
no majestic ship will cross.
- <sup>22</sup>The LORD is our judge;
the LORD is our leader;
the LORD is our king—
he will deliver us.
- <sup>23</sup>Your ropes are loosened;
they can't hold the mast firmly;
they can't spread the sail.
Then abundant spoil will be divided;
even the lame will seize spoil.
- <sup>24</sup>And no inhabitant will say, "I'm sick."
The people living there will be forgiven their sin.

Vengeance against Edom

34 Draw near, you nations, to hear;
and listen, you peoples.
Hear, earth and all who fill it, world and all its offspring.

- <sup>2</sup>The LORD rages against all the nations, and is angry with all their armies.
God is about to wipe them out and has prepared them for slaughter.
- <sup>3</sup>Their dead will be cast out,
the stench of their corpses will rise, and the mountains will melt from their blood.
- <sup>4</sup>All the stars of heaven will dissolve, the skies will roll up like a scroll, and all the stars will fall,

"terror" should be understood as a present condition, as in the CEB, or as an earlier condition. According to the latter understanding, those left are amazed that the oppressor has disappeared; compare with Isaiah 33:19. In the chapter's remaining verses, themes of land security, health, and just divine rule are spun out at length.

33:19 who stammer in an incomprehensible language: This verse reverses Isaiah 28:11.

34:1–35:10 These two chapters together make the second hinge joining the prophecies from Assyrian times to those reflecting Babylonian and Persian times. Here two contrasting images describe two differing fates: one for Edom in Isaiah 34 and one for Judah in Isaiah 35. Edom is envisioned as destroyed, but Judah is envisioned as restored—its land fruitful, its people healed. God is seen delivering Zion from neighboring rivals and enemies within. The same two nations are likewise contrasted in Ezekiel 35–36 and Malachi 1. Isaiah 34 shares close ties with the prophecy against Babylon in Isaiah 13 and other words against Edom in Isaiah 63, while Isaiah 35 echoes Isaiah 40–55 so forcefully that some propose that it was written by the same prophet.

34:1 The section begins with a call to nations and to all the earth and its inhabitants (cf. Ps 96:1/Isa 42:10; Pss 24:1; 89:11; Mic 1:2) to pay attention. A summons like this can be an invitation to hear instruction (cf. Isa 28:23; Ps 49:2; Prov 4:1); a calling of third-party witnesses (cf. Isa 1:2; Mic 6:2); or a summons to those the caller intends to engage in dispute (cf. Isa 41:1; 21; Mic 1:2). Readers soon learn that the earth's inhabitants are summoned to witness destruction of one particular nation.

34:2–4 The LORD rages: Compare with Isaiah 63:3, 5–6. Descriptions here are extreme. wipe them out refers to killing an entire population, such as was decreed by God against the Canaanites (Deut 7:2; 13:15; cf. Jer 50:21, 26; 51:3). Divine destruction is on such a scale that the earth and heavens are ruined (cf. Isa 13:9, 10, 13; 24:1–6). Not only do the stars rot from the heavens like leaves from a vine, but

34:5 Is 63:1;

Jer 49:7;

Am 1:11

34:13 Is 13:22;

Jer 9:11;

Jer 51:37;

Mal 1:3

34:14 Is 13:21;

Is 13:22

34:15 Dt 14:13

like a leaf withering from a vine, like fruit from a fig tree.

<sup>5</sup>When my sword has drunk its fill in the heavens, it will descend upon Edom for judgment,
upon a people I have doomed for destruction.

<sup>6</sup>The LORD has a sword covered with blood;
it is soaked with fat from the blood of lambs and goats, from the kidney fat of rams,
for the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah,
a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

<sup>7</sup>Wild oxen will fall with them, steers with mighty bulls,
and their land will be drenched with blood;
its soil soaked with fat.

<sup>8</sup>The LORD has a day of vengeance, a year of payback for Zion's cause.

<sup>9</sup>Edom's streams will be turned into pitch, its dust into sulfur,
and its land will become burning pitch.

<sup>10</sup>Night and day won't be extinguished; its smoke will go up forever.
From generation to generation it will lie waste;
no one will ever pass through it again.

<sup>11</sup>Screech owls and crows will possess it; owls and ravens will live there.<sup>7</sup> God will stretch over it the measuring line of chaos and the plummet stone of emptiness over its officials.

<sup>12</sup>No Kingdom There, they will call it, and all its princes will disappear.

<sup>13</sup>Thorns will grow up in its palaces, weeds and brambles in its fortresses.
It will be a dwelling for jackals, a home for ostriches.

<sup>14</sup>Wildcats will meet hyenas, the goat demon will call to his friends, and there Lilith<sup>a</sup> will lurk and find her resting place.

<sup>15</sup>There the snake will nest and lay eggs and brood and hatch in its shadow.
There too vultures will gather,
each with its mate.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>7</sup>Species uncertain <sup>a</sup>Name of a demon <sup>a</sup>Species uncertain

the sky itself is packed away like a scroll no longer in use. This imagery inspires Mark 13:24-25 (cf. Matt 24:29) and Revelation 6:12-17.

34:5 descend upon Edom for judgment: Imagery of worldwide destruction emphasizes the forcefulness of the violence to be inflicted on Edom. It will reappear in similar terms in Isaiah 63:1-6. Edom was southeast of Judah and the Dead Sea, directly south of Moab. Edom is named in relation to Jerusalem's destruction by the Babylonians in Obadiah; Psalm 137:7; and Lamentations 4:21-22.

34:6-7 the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah: Compare with Isaiah 63:10. Bozrah was the principal city of Edom. These verses are rich with vocabulary of sacrifice: "blood," "fat," "kidney," and names of typical sacrificial animals.

34:8 day of vengeance: Compare with Isaiah 61:2; 63:4; Jeremiah 46:10.

34:9-10 Compare with Revelation 14:10-11.

34:10 it will lie waste: Compare with Isaiah 35:17; 13:20.

34:13-14 Thorns... brambles: As in Isaiah 5:6; 7:23-25; 32:13 (cf. Isa 55:13), dried vegetation takes over where humans once lived. As in Isaiah 13:21-22, jackals, ostriches, wildcats, hyenas, and goat demons take up residence. Lilith will lurk: Lilith is mentioned nowhere else in the Bible. The exact meaning and origin are uncertain. The name

- <sup>16</sup>Consult the LORD's scroll and read:
 Not one of these will be missing;
 none will lack its mate.
 God's own mouth has commanded;
 God's own spirit has gathered them.
- <sup>17</sup>God has cast the lot for them;
 God's hand allotted it to them with the measuring line.
 They will possess it forever;
 they will live in it from generation to generation.

34:16 Dt 17:19;
 Is 30:8; Jn 5:39
 35:1 Is 32:15,
 Is 51:3, Is 55:12
 35:2 Is 33:9,
 Is 40:5, Is 55:12,
 Is 60:13
 35:3 Job 4:4;
 Heb 12:12
 35:4 Is 25:9,
 Is 34:8, Is 40:9
 35:5 Is 29:18,
 Is 32:3, Is 32:4
 35:6 Is 32:4,
 Is 35:1, Is 41:18,
 Is 43:19;
 Mt 9:32
 35:7 Job 8:11;
 Is 13:22, Is 19:6,
 Is 34:13,
 Is 49:10
 35:8 Is 11:16,
 Is 40:3, Is 52:1;
 Zec 14:20

Fertile wilderness

35 The desert and the dry land will be glad;
 the wilderness will rejoice and blossom like the crocus.

- <sup>2</sup>They will burst into bloom, and rejoice with joy and singing.
 They will receive the glory of Lebanon,
 the splendor of Carmel and Sharon.
 They will see the LORD's glory,
 the splendor of our God.
- <sup>3</sup>Strengthen the weak hands, and support the unsteady knees.
- <sup>4</sup>Say to those who are panicking:
 "Be strong! Don't fear!
 Here's your God, coming with vengeance;
 with divine retribution God will come to save you."
- <sup>5</sup>Then the eyes of the blind will be opened, and the ears of the deaf will be cleared.
- <sup>6</sup>Then the lame will leap like the deer, and the tongue of the speechless will sing.
 Waters will spring up in the desert, and streams in the wilderness.
- <sup>7</sup>The burning sand will become a pool, and the thirsty ground, fountains of water.
 The jackals' habitat, a pasture;<sup>b</sup> grass will become reeds and rushes.
- <sup>8</sup>A highway will be there.
 It will be called The Holy Way.
 The unclean won't travel on it, but it will be for those walking on that way.<sup>c</sup>
 Even fools won't get lost on it;

<sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain may derive from lilitu, wind and storm demons in Assyrian mythology.

35:1-10 The contrast between Edom in Isaiah 34 and Judah in Isaiah 35 could hardly be starker. Edom was transformed into a dramatically uninhabitable place, but Judah is imagined bursting into bloom.

35:2 glory of Lebanon: In Isaiah 33:9 Lebanon, Carmel, and Sharon (as well as Bashan) were turned into desert. Now they symbolize renewal.

35:4 Don't fear!: Compare with Isaiah 7:4; 8:12. This is an especially important phrase in Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55; see Isa 40:9; 41:10-14; 43:1, 5; 44:2, 8; 51:7; 54:4). coming with vengeance: See Isaiah 34:8.

35:5 the eyes of the blind will be opened: See note on Isaiah 29:18-21. The reversal of disabilities, already anticipated in Isaiah 29:18; 32:3-4; 33:23, is prominent in this section. This concern will reappear in Isaiah 42:7, 18; 43:8.

35:6 Waters will spring up: See Isaiah 34:9, where Edom's streams are turned into pitch.

35:7 The jackals' habitat, a pasture: Compare with Isaiah 35:9. See Isaiah 34:11, 13-15, in which Edom becomes a habitat for wild animals, including the jackal. grass will become reeds and rushes: See Isaiah 34:13, which describes Edom's barren landscape.

35:8 A highway will be there: Compare with Isaiah 40:3; 42:16; 49:11; 57:14; 62:10. This contrasts sharply with Isaiah 33:8. The unclean won't travel on it: Compare with Isaiah 52:1, 11. In biblical ritual, "unclean" can refer not only

35:9 Is 62:12

35:10 Ps 126:5;

Is 25:8, Is 51:11,

Is 65:19;

Rev 21:4

36:1 2Ki 18:13,

2Ki 18:17;

2Ch 32:1

36:7 Dt 12:2;

2Ki 18:4

36:8 Ps 20:7;

Is 30:16

36:10 1Ki 13:18;

Is 10:5

36:12 2Ki 6:25

<sup>9</sup>no lion will be there, and no predator will go up on it.

None of these will be there;
only the redeemed will walk on it.

<sup>10</sup>The LORD's ransomed ones will return and enter Zion with singing, with everlasting joy upon their heads.

Happiness and joy will overwhelm them;
grief and groaning will flee away.

Sennacherib's message

36 Assyria's King Sennacherib marched against all of Judah's fortified cities and captured them in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah. <sup>2</sup>Assyria's king sent his field commander from Lachish, together with a large army, to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. He stood at the water channel of the Upper Pool, which is on the road to the field where clothes are washed. <sup>3</sup>Hilkiah's son Eliakim, who was the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and Asaph's son Joah the recorder went out to them.

<sup>4</sup>Then the field commander said to them, "Say to Hezekiah: Assyria's Great King says this: Why do you feel so confident? <sup>5</sup>Do you think that empty words are the same as good strategy and the strength to fight? Who are you trusting that you now rebel against me? <sup>6</sup>It appears that you are trusting in a staff—Egypt—that's nothing but a broken reed! It will stab the hand of anyone who leans on it! That's all that Pharaoh, Egypt's king, is to anyone who trusts in him. <sup>7</sup>Now suppose you say to me, 'We trust in the LORD our God.' Isn't he the one whose shrines and altars Hezekiah removed, telling Judah and Jerusalem, 'You must worship only at this altar'?"

<sup>8</sup>"So now, make a wager with my master, Assyria's king. I'll give you two thousand horses if you can supply the riders! <sup>9</sup>How will you drive back even the least important official among my master's servants when you are relying on Egypt for chariots and riders? <sup>10</sup>What's more, do you think I've marched against this place to destroy it without the LORD's support? It was the LORD who told me, 'March against this land and destroy it!'"

<sup>11</sup>Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah said to the field commander, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, because we understand it. Don't speak with us in Hebrew,<sup>4</sup> because the people on the wall will hear it."

<sup>12</sup>The field commander said to them, "Did my master send me to speak these words just to you and your master and not also to the men on the wall? They are the ones who will have to eat their dung and drink their urine along with you." <sup>13</sup>Then the field commander stood to animals the Judeans were forbidden to eat but also to people who were ritually impure due to contact with the dead, skin disease, sexual discharges, childbirth, and more. By extension, those who were morally impure, as well as non-Judeans who didn't practice Jewish instructions about ritual purity, were considered unclean.

<sup>4</sup>MT Judean, so also 36:13

36:1 See 2 Kings 18:13. The Assyrian king Sennacherib was son and successor of Sargon (Isa 20:1), who was killed in battle. Judah's revolt against Assyria was one of many following Sargon's death. The parallel account in 2 Kings 18 relates Hezekiah's payment of taxes to prevent further disaster. This incident is omitted from Isaiah 36. King Sennacherib's own historical annals relate the siege and destruction of "forty-six of [Hezekiah's] strong cities, fortresses, and countless small villages in their vicinity" and the capture of more than 200,000 people. His destruction of Lachish, Judah's second-largest city, is known from evidence at Lachish itself and from a large and elaborate wall sculpture, depicting the violent assault, which was found in Sennacherib's palace in Nineveh.

36:2 at the water channel of the Upper Pool: The field commander delivers his threat from the same location where Isaiah had delivered reassurance to Hezekiah's father, Ahaz, in Isaiah 7:3. This shows a contrast between Hezekiah's piety and his father's obstinacy.

36:3 Shebna and Eliakim appeared in different roles in Isaiah 22:15-25.

36:4 Why do you feel so confident?: The idea of "trusting," here translated as "confident," was a major theme in the prophecies associated with Hezekiah; see Isaiah 30:12; 31:1; 32:9-11, 17.

36:6 The field commander's opinion of Egypt's help is similar to that offered by Isaiah in Isaiah 30:1-7 and 31:1-3.

36:7 shrines and altars: 2 Kings 18:4 praises King Hezekiah for centralizing worship in Jerusalem by removing other shrines from the land. Here the field commander attempts to reverse the meaning of this act, portraying it as offensive to God.

36:8-9 two thousand horses: Compare with Isaiah 30:16; 31:1-3.

36:10 It was the LORD who told me: Isaiah's prophecies concerning God's use of Assyria as a weapon against rebellious Judah (Isa 10:5-6) sound different when repeated as foreign propaganda by the Assyrian official.

36:11 Aramaic, the language of ancient Aram, was an Narratives Concerning Hezekiah Isaiah 36–39, which narrates events during King Hezekiah's reign, is, with some exceptions, identical to 2 Kings 18–20. Isaiah 36 and 37 tell the story of the threat of King Sennacherib of Assyria against Jerusalem in 701 BCE, conveyed through his field commander to three of Hezekiah's officials. They tell what came of this threat after Hezekiah prayed for divine intervention. Isaiah 38 concerns Hezekiah's illness and recovery, which in many ways parallels the threat to Jerusalem and the miracle of its survival. Isaiah 39 points to the disastrous defeat by Babylon that will come after Hezekiah's death.

Together these chapters, along with Isaiah 33–35, connect the prophecies originating in Isaiah's 8th-century setting with those originating during and after the Babylonian exile, which begin with Isaiah 40. They offer a story of faith and faithfulness, and one accounting for Jerusalem's survival in 701 and its destruction in 587. Their flattering portrayal of King Hezekiah stands in some tension with what actually happened to the rest of Judah and with Isaiah's criticism of governmental policies in prophecies considered authentic in Isaiah 28–32.

up and shouted in Hebrew at the top of his voice: "Listen to the message of the great king, Assyria's king. <sup>14</sup>The king says this: Don't let Hezekiah lie to you. He won't be able to rescue you. <sup>15</sup>Don't let Hezekiah persuade you to trust the LORD by saying, 'The LORD will certainly rescue us. This city won't be handed over to Assyria's king.'

<sup>16</sup>Don't listen to Hezekiah, because this is what Assyria's king says: Surrender to me and come out. Then each of you will eat from your own vine and fig tree and drink water from your own well <sup>17</sup>until I come to take you to a land just like your land. It will be a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards. <sup>18</sup>Don't let Hezekiah fool you by saying, 'The LORD will rescue us.' Did any of the other gods of the nations save their lands from the power of Assyria's king? <sup>19</sup>Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Did they rescue Samaria from my power? <sup>20</sup>Which one of the gods from those countries has rescued their land from my power? Will the LORD save Jerusalem from my power?"

<sup>21</sup>But they kept quiet and didn't answer him with a single word, because King Hezekiah's command was, "Don't answer him!" <sup>22</sup>Hilkiah's son Eliakim, who was the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and Asaph's son Joah the recorder came to Hezekiah with ripped clothes. They told him what the field commander had said.

Hezekiah and Isaiah

37 When King Hezekiah heard this, he ripped his clothes, covered himself with mourning clothes, and went to the LORD's temple. <sup>2</sup>He sent Eliakim the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and the senior priests to the prophet Isaiah, Amoz's son. They were all wearing mourning clothes. <sup>3</sup>They said to him, "Hezekiah says this: Today is a day of distress, punishment, and humiliation. It's as if children are ready to be born, but there's no strength to see it through. <sup>4</sup>Perhaps the LORD your God heard all the words of the field commander who was sent by his master, Assyria's king. He insulted the living God! Perhaps he will punish him for the words that the LORD your God has heard. Offer up a prayer for those few people who still survive."

<sup>5</sup>When King Hezekiah's servants got to Isaiah, <sup>6</sup>Isaiah said to them, "Say this to your master: The LORD says this: Don't be afraid at the words you heard, which the officers of Assyria's king have used to insult me. <sup>7</sup>I'm about to mislead him, so when he hears a rumor, he'll go back to his own country. Then I'll have him cut down by the sword in his own land."

<sup>8</sup>The field commander heard that the Assyrian king had left Lachish. So he went back to the king and found him attacking Libnah. <sup>9</sup>Then the Assyrian king learned that Cush's King Tirhakah was on his way to fight against him. So he sent messengers to Hezekiah again:

international language during Assyrian, Babylonian, and Persian rule (see Ezra 4:7; Dan 2:4). It eventually replaced Hebrew as the language of Judah.

36:16-17 The official's promises ironically imitate biblical visions of peace and security (Mic 4:4; Deut 8:7-10).

36:19-20 The field commander here contradicts his own words in Isaiah 36:10, now equating Judah's God with those the writer considered nonexistent gods; compare with Isaiah 10:10-11. For Hamath and Arpad, see note on Isaiah 10:9. Sepharvaim was located somewhere along the Euphrates River, though its exact location is unknown (see 2 Kgs 17:24).

37:4 Hezekiah's message to Isaiah doesn't emphasize the threat to Jerusalem, but rather the insults and taunts of the Assyrians against God.

37:6-7 Whereas the field commander's message was lengthy and elaborate, Isaiah's is short and to the point.

37:8 Libnah: a Judean city west of Jerusalem. Its exact location is uncertain.

37:9 Cush's King Tirhakah: For Cush, see note on Isaiah

37:12 Gn 11:31;
2Ki 17:6;
2Ki 18:11;
Eze 27:23;
Am 1:5

37:16 Ex 25:22;
Isa 4:4; Ps 80:1;
Ps 86:10

37:20 Ps 46:10
37:22 Job 16:4

37:23 Ex 5:2;
2Ki 19:22;
Is 12:6

Eze 39:7;
Dn 7:25

37:24 Is 14:8
37:25 Is 19:6

<sup>10</sup>"Say this to Judah's King Hezekiah: Don't let the God you trust deceive you by saying, 'Jerusalem won't fall to the Assyrian king.' <sup>11</sup>You yourself have heard what Assyrian kings do to other countries, wiping them out. Is it likely that you will be saved? <sup>12</sup>Did the gods of the nations that my ancestors destroyed save them, the gods of Gozan, Haran, Rezepeh, or the people of Eden in Telassar? <sup>13</sup>Where now is Hamath's king, Arpad's king, or the kings of Lair, Sepharvaim, Hena, or Ivvah?"<sup>a</sup>

Hezekiah prays

<sup>14</sup>Hezekiah took the letters from the messengers and read them. Then he went to the temple and spread them out before the LORD. <sup>15</sup>Hezekiah prayed to the LORD:

<sup>16</sup>"LORD of heavenly forces, God of Israel: you sit enthroned on the winged creatures. You alone are God over all the earth's kingdoms. You made both heaven and earth. <sup>17</sup>LORD, turn your ear this way and hear! LORD, open your eyes and see! Listen to Sennacherib's words. He sent them to insult the living God! <sup>18</sup>It's true, LORD, that the Assyrian kings have destroyed all the nations and their lands. <sup>19</sup>The Assyrians burned the gods of those nations with fire because they aren't real gods. They are only man-made creations of wood and stone. That's how the Assyrians could destroy them. <sup>20</sup>So now, LORD our God, please save us from Sennacherib's power! Then all the earth's kingdoms will know that you alone are LORD."

<sup>21</sup>Then Isaiah, Amoz's son, sent a message to Hezekiah: The LORD God of Israel says this: Since you prayed to me about Assyria's King Sennacherib, <sup>22</sup>this is the message that the LORD has spoken against him:

The young woman, Daughter Zion, despises you and mocks you;
Daughter Jerusalem shakes her head behind your back.

<sup>23</sup>Whom did you insult and ridicule?

Against whom did you raise your voice and look on with disdain?
It was against the holy one of Israel!

<sup>24</sup>With your servants, you've insulted the Lord;

you said, "I, with my many chariots, have gone up to the highest mountains, to the farthest reaches of Lebanon.

I have cut down its tallest cedars, the best of its pine trees.

I have reached its most remote lodging place, its best forest.

<sup>25</sup>I have dug wells, have drunk water in foreign lands.<sup>f</sup>

With my own feet, I dried up all of Egypt's streams."

<sup>26</sup>Haven't you heard?

I set this up long ago;

I planned it in the distant past!

Now I have made it happen, making fortified cities collapse into piles of rubble.

<sup>a</sup>Or the king of the city of Sepharvaim; or the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah <sup>f</sup>Heb uncertain; DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>) in foreign lands

18:1-7. The kings of Cush were ruling Egypt at this time. Tirhakah was the fourth king in this dynasty.

37:10-13 Sennacherib's second message to Hezekiah, delivered by unnamed messengers, maintains the boastful tone of the field commander's speech in Isaiah 36:4-20, but it is much shorter. Some scholars believe it to be an alternate narration of the interactions between the kings during this crisis. Whatever its origins, in its present setting it is less powerful than the message in Isaiah 36.

37:12 the gods of Gozan, Haran, Rezepeh, or the people of Eden in Telassar: Gozan was northwest of Judah in today's northern Syria. Haran (Gen 11:31-32) was some 50 miles west of Gozan in today's eastern Turkey. The locations of Rezepeh and Telassar are uncertain. In denying that the foreign gods were unable to save their cities, Assyria's king implies that Judah's God is equally powerless.

37:13 Where now is Hamath's king: Sennacherib lists several cities that have already been conquered. For Hamath and Arpad (also mentioned by the field commander in Isa 36:19), see note on Isaiah 10:9. For Sepharvaim, see note on Isaiah 36:19.

37:16 You alone are God: Whereas Sennacherib's message pictured Judah's God as being just as helpless as the other gods, Hezekiah emphasizes God's uniqueness as the creator of all the earth.

37:19 Only man-made creations of wood and stone: Hezekiah distinguishes further between his God and the gods whose cities were conquered, characterizing them as being of no more substance than the human-made idols that represent them (cf. Isa 44:9-20).

37:22 The young woman, Daughter Zion, despises you: Just as Sennacherib and his field commander mocked Judah's God, now Isaiah portrays Jerusalem (personified as Daughter Zion) as boldly mocking Sennacherib.

37:24 Isaiah mocks Sennacherib's boastful speech; compare with Isaiah 10:8-14. Archaeologists have found boasts like these in the historical records of Assyrian kings.

37:26 I set this up long ago: According to Isaiah, even <sup>27</sup>Their citizens have lost their power;

they are frightened and dismayed.
They've become like plants in a field,
tender green shoots,
the grass on rooftops, blasted by the east wind.

<sup>28</sup>I know where you are, how you go out and come in,
and how you rage against me.

<sup>29</sup>Because you rage against me and because your pride has reached my ears,
I will put my hook in your nose and my bit in your mouth.
I will make you go back the same way you came.

<sup>30</sup>Now this will be the sign for you, Hezekiah: This year you will eat what grows by itself. Next year you will eat what grows from that. But in the third year, plant seed and harvest it; plant vineyards and eat their fruit. <sup>31</sup>The survivors of Judah's family who have escaped will put down roots and bear fruit above. <sup>32</sup>Those who remain will go out from Jerusalem, and those who survive will go out from Mount Zion. The zeal of the LORD of heavenly forces will do this.

<sup>33</sup>Therefore, the LORD says this about Assyria's king: He won't enter this city. He won't shoot a single arrow here. He won't come near the city with a shield. He won't build a ramp to besiege it. <sup>34</sup>He'll go back by the same way he came. He won't enter this city, declares the LORD. <sup>35</sup>I will defend this city and save it for my sake and for the sake of my servant David.

<sup>36</sup>The LORD's messenger went out and struck down one hundred eighty-five thousand soldiers in the Assyrian camp. When people got up the next morning, there were dead bodies everywhere. <sup>37</sup>So Assyria's King Sennacherib left and went back to Nineveh, where he stayed. <sup>38</sup>Later, while he was worshipping in the temple of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer killed him with a sword. Then they escaped to the land of Ararat. His son Esarhaddon ruled after him.

Hezekiah's illness

38 At about that time Hezekiah became deathly sick. The prophet Isaiah, Amoz's son, came to him and said: "The LORD God says this: Put your affairs in order because you are about to die. You won't survive this."

<sup>2</sup>Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD: "Please, LORD, remember how I've walked before you in truth and sincerity. I've done what you consider to be good." Then Hezekiah cried and cried.

<sup>4</sup>Then the LORD's word came to Isaiah: "Go and say to Hezekiah: The LORD, the God of your ancestor David, says this: I have heard your prayer and have seen your tears. I will add fifteen years to your life. <sup>6</sup>I will rescue you and this city from the power of the Assyrian king,

37:28 Ps 139:1
37:29 Is 10:12,
Is 37:34;
Eze 29:4,
Eze 38:4
37:31 Is 27:6
37:35 1Ki 11:12;
2Ki 20:6;
Is 31:5, Is 38:6,
Is 43:25
37:38 Gn 8:4;
2Ki 19:37;
2Ch 32:21;
Ezr 4:2;
Jer 51:27
38:5 1Ki 8:25,
1Ki 9:4;
2Ki 18:2,
2Ki 18:13,
2Ki 19:20

Assyria's conquests were planned and allowed by God (cf. Isa 52:6-30; 10:5-7, 15).

37:36 The LORD's messenger: Ironically, after all the messengers sent by Sennacherib to Hezekiah, this message, going out from God to the Assyrians, puts an end to the negotiations and to the crisis itself. This account resembles one recorded in the 5th century BCE by the Greek historian Herodotus: When Sennacherib attacks Egypt and Egypt's king goes to the temple to pray, a horde of field mice gnaws quivers, bows, and shield handles, disarming and defeating the Assyrians.

37:38 Fulfilling Isaiah's prediction in Isaiah 37:7, Sennacherib is killed in his own land. Ironically, the emperor claims that Hezekiah's God was powerless to save Jerusalem against Assyria, but the emperor is killed in the presence of his own god Nisroch, who is powerless to save him from his own sons. Assyrian records indicate that Sennacherib was indeed assassinated 20 years later.

38:1-22 The story of Hezekiah's illness and healing is apparently adapted from the account in 2 Kings 20:1-11 or from a common source. It differs slightly from the Kings account in its narrative sequence and emphasis, and includes a poetic prayer attributed to Hezekiah that isn't found in Kings. 2 Chronicles 32:24 refers to this event briefly. As in the much longer story in Isaiah 36-37, a crisis arises; the king responds with prayer; the prophet reassures; and a good outcome follows. This sequence, and the reference to God's promise to rescue the city in Isaiah 38:6, highlights the analogy being drawn between restoration of the nation and the monarchy: A king's prayer, when received by God, can save both himself and his city. In both cases this deliverance postpones the end of Hezekiah's life by 15 years; the end of the city by more than a century.

38:1 Hezekiah became deathly sick: The nature of his illness is left undescribed, except for the use of a salve of figs in Isaiah 38:21. Throughout these four chapters, Isaiah appears to be a friend and confidant to the king rather than his critic.

38:3 Hezekiah's plea for healing is based on his own integrity, which was shown in the narrative of Isaiah 36-37.

38:5 I have heard your prayer: Elsewhere in Isaiah divine plans are fixed (Isa 14:24-27; 37:26). Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55) will even claim that they have been determined from 38:7 1a 7:11,

1a 7:14, 1a 37:30
38:8 Josh 10:12;
2Ki 20:9,
2Ki 20:11
38:12 Job 7:6,
2Co 5:1
38:13 Job 10:16,
Ps 51:8,
1am 3:4,
1In 6:24
38:15 1Ki 21:27,
Job 7:11,
Ps 39:9
38:16 Dt 8:3

I will defend this city. <sup>7</sup>This will be your sign from the LORD that he will do what he promised: <sup>8</sup>“once the shadow cast by the sun descends on the steps of Ahaz, I will make it back up ten steps.” And the sun went back ten of the steps that it had already descended.

<sup>9</sup>A composition by Judah’s King Hezekiah when he was sick and then recovered from his sickness:

<sup>10</sup>I thought, I must depart in the prime of my life;

I have been relegated to the gates of the underworld<sup>g</sup> for the rest of my life.

<sup>11</sup>I thought, I won’t see the LORD.

The LORD is in the land of the living.

I won’t look upon humans again or be with the inhabitants of the world.

<sup>12</sup>My lifetime is plucked up and taken from me like a shepherd’s tent.

My life is shriveled like woven cloth;

God cuts me off from the loom.

Between daybreak and nightfall

you carry out your verdict against me.

<sup>13</sup>I cried out<sup>h</sup> until morning:

“Like a lion God crushes all my bones.

Between daybreak and nightfall

you carry out your verdict against me.

<sup>14</sup>Like a swallow<sup>i</sup> I chirp;

I moan like a dove.

My eyes have grown weary looking to heaven.

Lord, I’m overwhelmed; support me!”

<sup>15</sup>What can I say?

God has spoken to me;

he himself has acted.

I will wander<sup>j</sup> my whole life with a bitter spirit.

<sup>16</sup>The LORD Most High is the one who gives life to every heart, who gives life to the spirit!<sup>k</sup>

<sup>17</sup>Look, he indeed exchanged my bitterness for wholeness.<sup>l</sup>

You yourself have spared<sup>m</sup> my whole being from the pit of destruction, because you have cast all my sins behind your back.

<sup>g</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>h</sup>Or I lay down <sup>i</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>j</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>k</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>l</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>m</sup>Cf LXX, Vulg; MT loved long before (Isa 45:21; 46:10-11; 48:3-7). But here, as in Moses’ story (Exod 32:11-14), the divine mind is changed by human prayers.

38:7 your sign: Like his father, Ahaz, King Hezekiah is offered a sign of the restoration to come (Isa 7:11-14). Unlike his father, he isn’t asked to choose the sign, and unlike his father, he doesn’t reject it. In the account in 2 Kings, Isaiah asks him whether the shadow should advance or back up (2 Kgs 20:8-11). Hezekiah’s request for a sign is moved in Isaiah’s account to the very end (Isa 38:22), perhaps to emphasize that he not only accepted but asked for it. This placement, along with the placement of Isaiah’s prescription of the fig salve in Isaiah 38:21, shows readers that his prayer of gratitude in Isaiah 38:10-20 is offered while he is still waiting for recovery.

38:8 steps of Ahaz: Some early translators understood the shadow to have been cast on a sundial. But the Hebrew and Greek texts say it was on a stairway. The descent of the sun’s shadow symbolizes the descent of Hezekiah’s own life to the grave or the underworld. Like the shadow, Hezekiah’s descent is turned backward in time.

38:9-20 Unlike the king’s prayer for healing in Isaiah 28:3, the prayer here is both unusual in form and, at points, very obscure. Translations differ markedly in some verses.

38:10 The prayer begins with a retrospective of Hezekiah’s extended laments during his illness. As in many lament psalms, vivid images show a grief that defies simple expression.

38:12 My lifetime . . . shepherd’s tent: The translation “my lifetime” could instead be “my dwelling” (cf. Ps 52:5), and the second line might mean, “I have rolled up my life like a weaver.” The last line of this verse and the next (Isa 38:13) may read, “Between daybreak and nightfall you bring me to an end.”

38:15 Since Hebrew lacks punctuation, the end of the self-quotation is unclear. The implication here isn’t a bitter attitude but rather resignation before the heartache that has come.

38:16 who gives life to the spirit: Translation in this verse is difficult. The final line can also mean “You will restore and revive me.”

38:17 he indeed exchanged my bitterness for wholeness:

- <sup>18</sup>The underworld<sup>a</sup> can't thank you, nor can death<sup>o</sup> praise you;
those who go down to the pit can't hope for your faithfulness.
- <sup>19</sup>The living, the living can thank you, as I do today.
Parents will tell children about your faithfulness.
- <sup>20</sup>The LORD has truly saved me, and we will make music<sup>p</sup> at the LORD's house all the days of our lives.

38:18 Ps 6:5,
Ps 30:9,
Ps 115:17;
Ecc 9:10

38:19 Dt 4:9,
Dt 6:7, Dt 11:19

38:20 Ps 116:17

38:21 2Ki 20:7,
2Ki 20:8

38:22 2Ki 20:8

39:6 2Ki 24:13,
2Ki 25:13;
Jer 20:5

39:7 2Ch 36:10,
Dn 1:1, Dn 1:2,
Dn 1:3

39:8 Jgs 10:15;
2Ch 32:26;
Job 1:21;
Ps 39:9

<sup>21</sup>Then Isaiah said, "Prepare a salve made from figs, put it on the swelling, and he'll get better."

<sup>22</sup>Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "What's the sign that I'll be able to go up to the LORD's temple?"

The Babylonian king's messengers

39At that time, Babylon's King Merodach-baladan, Baladan's son, sent letters and a gift to Hezekiah, for he heard that he had been ill and had recovered. <sup>2</sup>Hezekiah was pleased, and he showed them his treasury—the silver and the gold, the spices and fine oil—and everything in his armory, all that was found in his storerooms. There wasn't a thing in his house or in all his realm that Hezekiah didn't show them.

<sup>3</sup>Then Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and said to him, "What did these men say? Where did they come from?"

Hezekiah replied, "They came to me from a distant land, from Babylon."

<sup>4</sup>So Isaiah said, "What did they see in your house?"

Hezekiah said, "They saw everything in my house. There was nothing in my storerooms that I didn't show them."

<sup>5</sup>Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD of heavenly forces: <sup>6</sup>Days are coming when all that is in your house, which your ancestors have stored up until this day, will be carried to Babylon. Nothing will be left, says the LORD. <sup>7</sup>Some of your sons, your own descendants whom you fathered, will be taken to become eunuchs in the king of Babylon's palace."

<sup>8</sup>Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "The LORD's word that you delivered is good," since he thought, That means there will be peace and security in my lifetime.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Sheol <sup>o</sup>Heb Maveth <sup>p</sup>Or my stringed instruments

Translation of this verse's first line is difficult. Another way to say it: "Truly it was for my welfare that I suffered such heartache."

38:18-19 The inability of those who have died to thank or praise God is a common theme in the Psalms; compare with Psalms 6:5; 30:9; 88:10-12. Here, however, it is stated not as a complaint but as praise, since it is said from the perspective of the living rather than of the dead.

38:21-22 See note on Isaiah 38:7. Given what will become of the temple within 10 verses, Hezekiah's question unintentionally offers poignant speech for all who subsequently prayed for the restoration of the temple.

39:1-8 The story that begins with a friendly visit by Babylonian envoys is the only one in this sequence that doesn't end on a hopeful note. Rather it occasions Isaiah's prediction of the exile of Judah's kings. Though peace and security reemerged in Hezekiah's own time (see 39:8), the very next verse (Isa 40:1) evokes a time much farther in the future, when affliction and suffering rule instead. Isaiah's words become a direct introduction to the leap from Isaiah 39:8 to 40:1, from Assyrian to Persian times, from deliverance from one threat, past a much more critical crisis, to promises of restoration once again. This narrative is quite similar to that in 2 Kings 20:12-21. 2 Chronicles 32:31 offers an alternative explanation for the Babylonian visit—that they were curious about the miraculous sign, most probably that of the sun's backward move. It claims a positive view of the king's actions in this episode.

39:1 Merodach-baladan was a sheikh (or chief) of the Chaldean tribe of Bit Yakin south of Babylon. He seized the Babylonian throne around 721 BCE and built up opposition to Assyria in Babylon and other regions. He was driven from the throne by Sargon in 710. After a new Babylonian king revolted against Assyria in 703, Merodach-baladan seized the throne again before being driven out once again by Sennacherib.

39:2-3 Hezekiah's naiveté in showing the visitors all the royal possessions matches his chillingly innocent reference to Babylon as "a distant land."

39:6 Just as all was seen and there wasn't a thing not seen (Isa 39:2, 4), all will be carried to Babylon and not a thing will be left (39:6).

39:7 Some of your sons: Earlier chapters expressed hope in terms of sons (Isa 7:14; 9:6; 11:1). But here the fate of the sons is a sign that all will go badly awry. As eunuchs they will be unable to carry on the royal line. Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55) proposes an alternative line through which God's blessing will continue: The promise to David will pass to the nation as a whole (Isa 55:4).

40:1 Is 49:13,
Is 51:3, Is 51:12,
Is 66:13

40:2 Jer 16:18

40:3 Is 11:16;
Mal 3:1; Mt 3:3;
Mk 1:3, Jn 1:23

40:4 Is 45:2,
Is 49:11; Lk 3:5

40:5 Is 1:20,
Is 35:2, Is 52:10,
Is 58:14

40:6 Job 14:2,
Ps 90:5, Ps 90:6,
Ps 103:15;
JPs 1:24

40:7 Ps 90:5,
Ps 90:6,
Ps 103:15,
Ps 103:16;
Is 40:6

40:8 Ps 119:89;
Is 55:11;
Mt 5:10

40:9 Is 25:9,
Is 41:27, Is 52:7,
Is 61:3

40:10 Is 9:6,
Is 59:16,
Is 62:11;
Rev 22:12

40:11 Is 42:3,
Is 49:10;
Eze 34:23;
Mt 5:4, Jn 10:11

Comfort for God's people

40<sup>1</sup> Comfort, comfort my people! says your God.
<sup>2</sup> Speak compassionately to Jerusalem, and proclaim to her that her compulsory service has ended, that her penalty has been paid, that she has received from the LORD's hand double for all her sins!

<sup>3</sup> A voice is crying out:
"Clear the LORD's way in the desert!
Make a level highway in the wilderness for our God!"

<sup>4</sup> Every valley will be raised up, and every mountain and hill will be flattened.
Uneven ground will become level, and rough terrain a valley plain.

<sup>5</sup> The LORD's glory will appear, and all humanity will see it together;
the LORD's mouth has commanded it.<sup>6</sup>

<sup>6</sup> A voice was saying:
"Call out!"
And another<sup>7</sup> said,
"What should I call out?"

All flesh is grass;
all its loyalty is like the flowers of the field.

<sup>7</sup> The grass dries up and the flower withers
when the LORD's breath blows on it.
Surely the people are grass.

<sup>8</sup> The grass dries up;
the flower withers,
but our God's word will exist forever.

<sup>9</sup> Go up on a high mountain, messenger Zion!
Raise your voice and shout, messenger Jerusalem!
Raise it; don't be afraid; say to the cities of Judah, "Here is your God!"

<sup>10</sup> Here is the LORD God, coming with strength, with a triumphant arm, bringing his reward with him and his payment before him.

<sup>11</sup> Like a shepherd, God will tend the flock;
he will gather lambs in his arms and lift them onto his lap.
He will gently guide the nursing ewes.

<sup>9</sup>MT; DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>), LXX /

40:1-31 Isaiah 40 functions as a two-part introduction to Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55). Isaiah 40:1-11 presents a series of voices announcing themes that will appear throughout the chapters that follow. Isaiah 40:12-31 launches an argument, based on God's unique power to create both the cosmos and the people of Israel. All that happened was planned by Israel's attentive God, for Israel's benefit.

40:1-2 The prophet shows God instructing unnamed hearers to comfort my people and to Speak . . . to Jerusalem, announcing an end to suffering and the beginning of redemption. Such announcements of comfort, which recur in Isaiah 49:13; 51:3, 12, 19; 54:11, directly answer the cries in Lamentations that Jerusalem has no comforter (Lam 1:2, 9, 16, 17, 21; 2:13). Readers throughout the ages have tried to identify those being addressed by these words, but the poetry itself offers no explanation. The message is more important than the messengers.

40:2 The city itself, envisioned as a woman suffering for her past sins, receives comfort. For the theme of double punishment, see Exodus 22:4-9; Jeremiah 16:18; Isaiah 61:7.

40:3 A voice is crying out: The source of this voice isn't named. More important is the command to make way for God's coming on the royal highway. Clearing obstacles to God's ways, including mountains, was a significant theme of Isaiah 2:6-21. For highways that return to Zion, see Isaiah 11:16; 62:10 (which echoes this verse); Jeremiah 31:21. 40:9 messenger Zion: Jerusalem, personified as a female figure, is told to convey the message of God's return to the other towns of Judah. don't be afraid: a frequent phrase in Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55; see Isa 41:10, 13, 14; 43:5; 44:2, 8; 51:7; 54:4, 14; see note on Isa 41:10).

40:10-11 Two contrasting images of God's coming: as a victorious warrior and as a compassionate shepherd. The first reflects the turning of the tide of international power.

The incomparable God

- <sup>12</sup>Who has measured the waters in the palm of a hand or gauged the heavens with a ruler or scooped the earth's dust up in a measuring cup or weighed the mountains on a scale and the hills in a balance?
- <sup>13</sup>Who directed the LORD's spirit and acted as God's advisor?
- <sup>14</sup>Whom did he consult for enlightenment?
Who taught him the path of justice and knowledge and explained to him
the way of understanding?
- <sup>15</sup>Look, the nations are like a drop in a bucket,
and valued as dust on a scale.
Look, God weighs the islands like fine dust.
- <sup>16</sup>Lebanon doesn't have enough fuel;
its animals aren't enough for an entirely burned offering.
- <sup>17</sup>All the nations are like nothing before God.
They are viewed as less than nothing and emptiness.
- <sup>18</sup>So to whom will you equate God;
to what likeness will you compare him?
- <sup>19</sup>An idol? A craftsman pours it, a metalworker covers it with gold,
and fashions silver chains.
- <sup>20</sup>The one who sets up an image chooses wood that won't rot<sup>f</sup> and then seeks a skilled artisan to set up an idol that won't move.
- <sup>21</sup>Don't you know? Haven't you heard?
Wasn't it announced to you from the beginning?
Haven't you understood since the earth was founded?
- <sup>22</sup>God inhabits the earth's horizon—its inhabitants are like locusts—stretches out the skies like a curtain and spreads it out like a tent for dwelling.
- <sup>23</sup>God makes dignitaries useless and the earth's judges into nothing.
- <sup>24</sup>Scarcely are they planted, scarcely sown, scarcely is their shoot rooted in the earth

<sup>f</sup>Heb uncertain

The second portrays the returning exiles as defenseless ewes and lambs.

40:12-31 An extended argument from creation. The section invites addressees to imagine Israel's God as the unparalleled creator and powerful protector of all creation, who gives strength to God's people.

40:12 All five elements mentioned in this verse—waters, heavens, earth's dust, mountains, and hills—appear repeatedly throughout Second Isaiah (Isa 40–55). For water that won't pose any barrier, see Isaiah 43:2, 16; 50:2; 51:10; 54:9; for water provided to the thirsty, see Isaiah 41:17–18; 43:20; 44:3–4; 48:21; 49:10; 55:1. For the heavens as example of God's creative power, see Isaiah 40:22; 42:5; 44:24; 45:12; 48:13; 51:13, 16; 45:18; 50:3. For sky invoked to praise God, see Isaiah 44:23; 49:13. The earth's dust will signal the coming conquest of the nations (Isa 41:2) and

Second Isaiah For the past century most scholars have understood Isaiah 40–55 in relation to the end of the Babylonian exile, an event that Isaiah 39 foreshadows. At this time (around 540 BCE), the victories of the Persians under King Cyrus allow nations who were relocated by the Babylonians some 50 years before to return to their own lands. These 16 chapters, often called Second Isaiah or Deutero-Isaiah, urge Judeans living in exile to see this circumstance as a continuation of Israel's story from the past. Judeans should view the opportunity to return to Judah as a second exodus, a chance to renew faithfulness to their ancient God, who is still at work. Though this section contains speeches of rebuke and correction, it is characterized most often by comfort and invitation. The exiled people are invited to imagine themselves once again as descendants of Jacob (also named Israel), as servants of God, and as children of Jerusalem.

- 40:12 Prv 30:4;
Is 48:13;
Heb 1:10
- 40:13 Job 15:8;
Job 21:22;
Is 11:2;
Ro 11:34;
1Co 2:16
- 40:14 Job 12:13;
Job 21:22;
Is 55:9; Col 2:3
- 40:15 Ps 62:9;
Is 29:5;
Jer 10:10
- 40:16 Ps 50:9;
Mi 6:6; Mi 6:7;
Heb 10:5
- 40:17 Dn 4:35
- 40:18 Ex 8:10;
Ex 15:11;
Is 40:25, Is 46:5;
Ac 17:29
- 40:19 Is 41:7;
Is 44:10, Is 46:6;
Hab 2:18
- 40:20 Isa 5:3
- 40:21 Ps 19:1;
Is 40:28;
Ac 14:17;
Ro 1:19
- 40:22 Nm
13:33; Job 9:8;
Ps 104:2;
Prv 8:27;
Is 42:5
- 40:23 Job 12:21;
Ps 107:40

their service of Zion (Isa 49:23), as well as Daughter Babylon's fall (Isa 47:1) and Jerusalem's restoration (Isa 52:2). The role of the mountains and hills in proclamation is seen already in Isaiah 40:9, and will return in Isaiah 42:11 and 52:7; their vulnerability to divine destruction will be revisited in Isaiah 41:15; 42:15; 49:11; 54:10. Like the other elements in this verse, mountains and hills sing praise to God (Isa 44:23; 49:13; 55:12).

40:13 God's plan figured prominently in First Isaiah (Isa 1–39; see Isa 5:19; 14:24–27; 19:17; 23:8–9; 25:1; 28:29; 8:10; 11:2; 16:3; 19:3, 11; 29:15; 30:1).

40:18–20 God's incomparability is frequently argued in Isaiah 40–48, specifically in contrast to other gods who are deemed as nothing more than human-made idols (Isa 41:6–7; 44:9–20; 46:6–7; 41:21–24, 29; 42:8, 17; 45:16, 20; 46:1–2; 48:5).

Approximate Date (BCE)
			Jehoahaz (816-800)
805	Assyria defeats Damascus, opening the way for sixty years of Israelite and Judean expansion, a growing luxury class, and economic and religious excesses			Amaziah (7)
			Joash (800-875)
		Jonah*	Jeroboam II (785-745)	Uzziah (7)
		Amos (760)		Jotham (7-742)
		Hosea (750-724)
745	Renewed Assyrian campaigns against Aram and Palestine		Zechariah, Shallum (745)		2 Kgs 15:10
745-724	Political unrest in Israel: assassinations of Zechariah, Shallum, Menahem, Pekahiah, and Pekah		Menahem (745-736)	Jehoahaz I (742-727)	2 Kgs 15
		Isalah of Jerusalem (738-701)	Pekahiah (736-735)
735-733	Syro-Ephraimite War; Ahaz pays tribute to Assyria		Pekah (735-732)		2 Kgs 16:5-8; Isa 7:1-8:15; 2 Chron 28:5-21
732	Damascus destroyed by Assyria; Aram becomes an Assyrian province; Israel made a vassal state	Micah (730-700)	Hoshea (732-723)	Hezekiah (727-698)	2 Kgs 16:2
722	Israel defeated by Assyria; Hoshea imprisoned				2 Kgs 17:3-4
721	Samaria destroyed by Assyria, population deported				2 Kgs 17:5-6; 18:9-12
713-711	Assyria defeats coalition led by Ashdod				Isa 20:1-6
705	Hezekiah joins coalition against Assyria
701	Coalition defeated by Assyria; Jerusalem spared				2 Kgs 18:13-19:37; 2 Chron 32:1-22
				Manshaph (697-642)
689	Babylon destroyed by Assyria
679-671	Assyrian campaigns against Egypt and Phoenicia

Year	Event	Scripture	King	Reference
626	Babylon gains freedom from Assyria; Josiah's "deuteronomiac reform"	Jeremiah (627-583)		2 Kgs 23:1-25; 2 Chron 34:1-33
614	City of Asshur destroyed by Medes
612	Nineveh destroyed by Medes and Babylonians	Nahum (612)
609	Josiah killed; Judah under Egyptian control; defeat of Assyrian and Egyptian forces at Haran	Habakkuk (609-597)	Jehoahaz II (609) Jehoiakim (608-598)	2 Kgs 23:29-30, 33-35; 2 Chron 35:20-24; Jer 46:1-12
605	Defeat of Egyptian forces at Carchemish and Hamath
604	Babylon gains control of Syria, Palestine, and Phoenicia
601/600	Egypt defeats Babylonian army; Jehoiakim withholds tribute			2 Kgs 24:1
598/597	Babylonians besiege Jerusalem; first deportation		Jehoiachin (598-597)	2 Kgs 24:18-17; 2 Chron 36:10
		Ezekiel (593-573)	Zedekiah (597-586)
590/589	Zedekiah withholds tribute			2 Kgs 24:20b; 2 Chron 36:13
587	Jerusalem falls; Gedaliah appointed governor; second deportation	Obadiah (?)	Gedaliah (586-581?)	2 Kgs 25:1-24; 2 Chron 36:17-21; Jer 52:1-30
582/581	Gedaliah assassinated; third deportation			2 Kgs 25:25-26; Jer 40:7-42:18; 52:30
561	Jehoiachin released from prison; remains in Babylon			2 Kgs 25:27-30; Jer 52:31-34
550	Cyrus the Persian begins campaigns against Lydia and Media	Second Isaiah (550-538)
538	The city of Babylon surrenders to Persia; Edict of Cyrus; first return of exiles led by Sheshbazzar; rebuilding of the temple begun, but soon halted			2 Chron 36:22-23; Ezra 1:1-2-70; Ezra 3:8-4:5
526/525	Persia defeats Egypt
522	Accession of Darius; temple rebuilding resumed	Haggai (520); Zechariah (520-518)		Ezra 5:1-6:12
516/515	Temple completed and rededicated			Ezra 6:13-18
		Malachi (?)

40:25 Is 40:18
 40:26 Ps 89:11,
 Ps 147:4
 40:27 Is 49:14
 40:28 Gn 21:33;
 Ps 147:5;
 Ro 11:33
 40:29 Is 41:10,
 Is 50:4;
 Jer 31:25
 40:31 Ex 19:4;
 Ps 103:5;
 Is 8:17;
 2Co 4:16
 41:4 Is 41:26,
 Is 44:6, Is 46:10,
 Is 48:12;
 Rev 1:17

when God breathes on them, and they dry up;
 the windstorm carries them off like straw.
25 So to whom will you compare me, and who is my equal? says the holy one.

Power for the weary

- 26 Look up at the sky and consider:
 Who created these?
 The one who brings out their attendants one by one,
 summoning each of them by name.
 Because of God's great strength and mighty power, not one is missing.
- 27 Why do you say, Jacob, and declare, Israel,
 "My way is hidden from the LORD my God ignores my predicament?"
- 28 Don't you know? Haven't you heard?
 The LORD is the everlasting God,
 the creator of the ends of the earth.
 He doesn't grow tired or weary.
 His understanding is beyond human reach,
29 giving power to the tired and reviving the exhausted.
- 30 Youths will become tired and weary, young men will certainly stumble;
31 but those who hope in the LORD will renew their strength;
 they will fly up on wings like eagles;
 they will run and not be tired;
 they will walk and not be weary.

Victor from the east

- 41 Be quiet before me, coastlands.
 Let the nations renew their strength.
 Let them approach and speak.
 Let's draw near for a judgment.
- 2 Who has awakened one from the east and has authority to summon him to serve—giving him nations, conquering kings, making them like dust with his sword, like scattered straw with his bow?
- 3 He pursues them and passes untouched, needing no path for his feet.
- 4 Who has acted and who has done this, calling upon generation after generation since the beginning?
 I, the LORD, was first, and I will be the last!

40:25 God speaks now, asking the same question as was posed in Isaiah 40:18.

40:26 Who created these?: Isaiah 40-48 discusses God's act of creation—of the physical world, of humans, and of Israel—more frequently than any other portion of scripture. See Isaiah 40:28; 41:20; 42:5; 43:1, 7, 15; 45:7, 8, 12, 18; 48:7; see also Isaiah 54:16; 57:19; 65:17, 18.

40:27 Why do you say, Jacob: For the first time the audience is directly named. It is Israel, the descendants of Jacob, who will often be addressed as a collective individual. The complaint attributed to Jacob here is answered in the next several chapters. A similar complaint against God will be voiced by Jerusalem in Isaiah 49:14.

40:28-31 The first reply to Israel's complaint is a promise of God-given renewal.

41:1-28 The prophet continues speaking directly for God. This continues through Isaiah 48 with few interruptions.

41:1 Let's draw near for a judgment: In response to Jacob's accusation in Isaiah 40:27 that God is ignoring justice, God issues a challenge, summoning the nations into a controversy to search out justice (see also Isa 41:11, 21).

41:2 Who has awakened one from the east: As in Isaiah 40:12-31, rhetorical questions prevail. one from the east is the first reference to Persia's King Cyrus, who will be named explicitly in Isaiah 44:28; 45:1, 13. Cyrus the Great was founder of the Persian Achaemenid dynasty, which ruled much of western Asia and some portions of Europe and Africa until the rise of Alexander the Great in the late 4th century BCE. Cyrus' peaceful conquest of Babylon occurred in 539.

41:4 Who has acted and who has done this: Cyrus' victories are not by chance but were planned long ago for Israel's sake. I, the LORD, was first: See Isaiah 41:6, 27; 44:6; 48:12. These words are echoed in Revelation 1:17; 2:8; 22:13. The

- <sup>5</sup>The coastlands see and fear; the ends of the earth tremble;
they draw near and arrive.
- <sup>6</sup>Each helps the other,
each saying to the other, "Take courage!"
- <sup>7</sup>The craftsman encourages the metalworker;
the one who smoothes with the hammer encourages the one who strikes the anvil, saying of the welding, "That's good,"
and strengthening it with nails so it won't move.

41:8 2Ch 20:7;
Is 44:1, Is 44:2,
Is 44:21;
Jas 2:23

41:10 Josh 1:9;
Ps 18:35,
Ps 37:17;
Is 41:13, Is 43:5
41:14 Job 25:6;
Ps 22:6;
Is 43:14, Is 44:6,
Is 47:4

41:15 Is 21:10;
Mi 4:13

41:16 Is 45:25;
Jer 15:7,
Jer 51:2

Israel as God's servant

- <sup>8</sup>But you, Israel my servant,
Jacob, whom I have chosen, offspring of Abraham, whom I love,
- <sup>9</sup>you whom I took from the ends of the earth and called from its farthest corners, saying to you, "You are my servant;
I chose you and didn't reject you":
- <sup>10</sup>Don't fear, because I am with you;
don't be afraid, for I am your God.
I will strengthen you,
I will surely help you;
I will hold you with my righteous strong hand.
- <sup>11</sup>All who rage against you will be shamed and disgraced.
Those who contend with you will be as nothing and will perish.
- <sup>12</sup>You will look for your opponents, and won't find them.
Those who fight you will be of no account and will die.
- <sup>13</sup>I am the LORD your God, who grasps your strong hand, who says to you, Don't fear; I will help you.
- <sup>14</sup>Don't fear, worm of Jacob, people of Israel!
I will help you, says the LORD.
The holy one of Israel is your redeemer.
- <sup>15</sup>Look, I've made you into a new threshing tool with sharp teeth.
You will thresh mountains and pulverize them;
you will reduce hills to straw.
- <sup>16</sup>When you winnow them,
the wind will carry them off;
the tempest will scatter them.

final phrase of this verse, I will be the last, could also read, "I am the one!" (cf. Isa 43:10, 13, 25; 45:19; 46:4; 48:12; 51:9, 12; 52:6).

41:6-7 Each helps the other: In contrast to God, the idols are dependent on humans, who encourage each other as they fashion objects for their worship (see Isa 40:18-20; 44:9-20; 45:20; 46:1-7).

41:8-10 The nations must strengthen themselves and their gods, but the Lord strengthens Israel. The idol-makers help each other (Isa 41:6), but God helps and upholds Israel (41:10). The woodworker chose his wood (Isa 40:20), but it is God who has chosen Israel (41:8, 9). The combination my servant and "my chosen" is repeated twice (41:8, 9), and recurs (as does the meaning "uphold" from the end of 41:10) in Isaiah 42:1; they also reappear together in Isaiah 43:10; 45:4; 49:6-7 (see also Isa 49:3, 5). The reassurances Don't fear and I will surely help you in 41:10 are repeated immediately in Isaiah 41:13, 14 (see also Isa 43:1, 5; 49:8; 50:7, 9; 51:7; 54:4, 14). All four terms are recombed in Isaiah 44:1-2. For servant, see also Isaiah 42:19; 44:21, 26; 48:20; 50:10; 52:13; 53:11. For chosen, see Isaiah 43:20.

41:9 and didn't reject you: See Lamentations 5:21-22.

41:10 Don't fear: a frequent reassurance in Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55; see Isa 40:9; 41:10, 13, 14; 43:5; 44:2, 8; 51:7; 54:4, 14). These oracles may have arisen in the context of worship, as a priestly response to prayers (Lam 3:57). They echo the story of Jacob (Gen 26:24). I am with you: See Isaiah 43:2, 5; 45:14; Jeremiah 30:11.

41:14 The holy one of Israel: A frequent name for God especially throughout First Isaiah (Isa 1-39) and Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55); see note on Isaiah 1:4. redeemer: originally a relative designated to assist family members in economic distress (Lev 25:25), or to avenge a murder (Num 35:19). From this usage arose the image of God as redeemer of worshippers from oppression (Prov 23:11), and especially as redeemer of Israel from slavery (Exod 6:6; 15:13). In Second Isaiah, God is repeatedly called Israel's redeemer from exile (see Isa 43:14; 44:6, 22-24; 47:4; 48:17, 20; 49:7, 26; 51:10; 52:3, 9; 54:5, 8).

41:15 I've made you into a new threshing tool: In Isaiah 40:24 the windstorm carried off the earth's judges like straw, but here the hills, standing in as obstacles, become like straw before Israel.

41:17 Is 30:19,
Is 44:3, Is 55:1
41:18 Ps 107:35,
Is 30:25, Is 35:6,
Is 35:7, Is 43:19
41:19 Is 35:1,
Is 51:3,
Is 55:13,
Is 60:13; Zec 1:8
41:20 Job 12:9,
Is 66:14
41:22 Is 42:9,
Is 43:9, Is 44:7,
Is 45:21, Is 46:10
41:23 Jer 10:5,
Jn 13:19
42:1 Is 11:2,
Is 52:13,
Is 61:1, Mt 3:16,
Mt 3:17

You will rejoice in the LORD and take pride in the holy one of Israel.

- <sup>17</sup>The poor and the needy seek water, and there is none;
their tongues are parched with thirst.
I, the LORD, will respond to them;
I, the God of Israel, won't abandon them.
- <sup>18</sup>I will open streams on treeless hilltops and springs in valleys.
I will make the desert into ponds and dry land into cascades of water.
- <sup>19</sup>I will plant in the desert cedar, acacia, myrtle, and olive trees;
I will put in the wilderness cypress, elm, and pine as well, <sup>20</sup>so that they will see and know and observe and comprehend that the LORD's hand has done this, and the holy one of Israel has created it.

Other gods challenged

- <sup>21</sup>Present your case, says the LORD.
Bring forward your evidence, says Jacob's king.
- <sup>22</sup>Let the idols* approach and tell us what will happen.
The prior things—what are they?
Announce them, and we'll think about them and know their significance.
Or proclaim to us what is to come!
- <sup>23</sup>Report things that will happen in the future, then we'll know that you are gods.
Do good! Or do bad!
Then we will all be afraid and fearful.
- <sup>24</sup>Look! You are nobody, and your deeds are nothing.
Whoever chooses you is disgusting.
- <sup>25</sup>I woke up one from the north and he came;
from the east, one who calls my name.
He tramples governors like mud,
as a potter treads clay.
- <sup>26</sup>Who announced this from the start so that we would know;
from an earlier time so we would say, "That's right!"
Truly, no one announced it,
no one proclaimed it,
and no one heard your words.
- <sup>27</sup>I first said it to Zion, "Look, here they are";
to Jerusalem I now send a herald.
- <sup>28</sup>But I look, and there's no one among them, no counselor;
and when I ask, no one can answer.
- <sup>29</sup>Look, all of them are frauds;
their deeds amount to nothing;
their images are a total delusion.

God's servant described

42 But here is my servant, the one I uphold;
my chosen, who brings me delight.

*Or them

41:18 streams on treeless hilltops: Wilderness is a recurring image in Isaiah (see Isa 29:17; 30:23-25; 32:15-16; 35:1-2, 6-7; 43:20-21; 44:3-4; 49:9-10; 51:3; 55:13). The image can be read literally to help the journey homeward and to provide sustenance in the drought-prone and war-decimated land itself. It can also be read as God's provision of spiritual renewal.

41:21-22 Present your case: By Isaiah 41:23 we learn that God is addressing other nations' deities. This section is designed to demonstrate to the Judean audience the incomparability of their own God, who not only knew but planned what was to come. For The prior things, see Isaiah 42:9; 43:18; 46:9; 48:3, 42:1-4 But here is my servant: Having demanded that the

I've put my spirit upon him;
 he will bring justice to the nations.
<sup>2</sup> He won't cry out or shout aloud or make his voice heard in public.
<sup>3</sup> He won't break a bruised reed;
 he won't extinguish a faint wick,
 but he will surely bring justice.
<sup>4</sup> He won't be extinguished or broken until he has established justice in the land.
 The coastlands await his teaching.
<sup>5</sup> God the LORD says—the one who created the heavens, the one who stretched them out,
 the one who spread out the earth and its offspring, the one who gave breath to its people and life to those who walk on it—<sup>6</sup> I, the LORD, have called you for a good reason.
 I will grasp your hand and guard you,
 and give you as a covenant to the people,
 as a light to the nations, <sup>7</sup> to open blind eyes, to lead the prisoners from prison, and those who sit in darkness from the dungeon.
<sup>8</sup> I am the LORD; that is my name;
 I don't hand out my glory to others or my praise to idols.
<sup>9</sup> The things announced in the past—look—they've already happened, but I'm declaring new things.
 Before they even appear, I tell you about them.

42:2 1Pt 2:23
 42:3 Is 40:11
 42:4 Is 11:11,
 Is 60:9
 42:5 Ps 24:2,
 Ps 102:25,
 Is 40:22,
 Is 44:24,
 Is 45:12
 42:6 Is 9:2,
 Is 49:6, Is 49:8,
 Is 51:4; Lk 2:32
 42:7 Is 29:18,
 Is 35:5, Is 49:9,
 Is 61:1; Lk 4:18
 42:8 Ex 20:3;
 Ps 83:18;
 Is 43:11,
 Is 48:11
 42:9 Is 41:22,
 Is 43:19,
 Is 46:10
 42:10 Ps 33:3,
 Ps 96:1,
 Ps 107:23;
 Is 42:4
 42:11 Is 21:16,
 Is 60:7

Warrior and mother

<sup>10</sup> Sing to the LORD a new song!
 Sing his praise from the ends of the earth!
 You who sail the sea and all that fills it,
 the coastlands and their residents.
<sup>11</sup> Let the desert and its towns shout aloud, the villages that Kedar inhabits.

foreign gods present their case, and having determined by their failure to respond that these gods don't exist, God now offers evidence for God's own case. This servant is described in vocabulary repeated from the previous chapter: chosen (Isa 41:8, 9/42:1); called (Isa 41:9/42:6); supported (Isa 41:10/42:1); and grasped by the hand (Isa 41:13/42:6) in righteousness (Isa 41:10/42:6) by the one who self-identifies as "I, the LORD" (Isa 41:13/42:6, 8). The prophet invites Jacob's descendants to take on the identity, self-understanding, and roles of leaders from the nation's past. The literary form resembles that of royal commissioning. The servant's primary responsibility, like those of the earlier kings, is administering justice (2 Sam 8:15; 1 Kgs 3:28; 10:9; Ps 72:1-2; Isa 9:7; 11:4; 16:5; 32:1). But his influence is much greater than that of Judah's kings: not the nation but the nations, plural.

Christian tradition tended to read this and other servant passages in Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55) as predictions of Jesus. The context of these passages shows that the servant was a model for returning Israel for Second Isaiah's earliest readers. Since Jesus also lived as a model Israelite in his time, it makes sense to understand him in terms of these passages without excluding the earlier understanding of the prophet's readers.

42:6 a covenant to the people: God doesn't simply make a covenant with the servant, but makes the servant the substance of that covenant. Israel functions as "a covenant/light to the people/nations" by being a sign of what God intends to do among all nations.

42:7 open blind eyes... from prison: It isn't clear whether the subject of all these actions is the servant or God. Though traditional Christian translations attributed these to the servant (often read as Jesus), all healing power ultimately comes from God, as Isaiah 42:8 attests. As in other parts of Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55), images of healing and liberation function on both literal and figurative levels. Failing to see and hear is a frequent theme in Isaiah; see Isaiah 6:10; 29:9, 18; 35:5; 42:16, 18-20; 43:8; 56:10; 59:10. 42:8 For discussion of idols, see note on Isaiah 40:18-20.

42:9 I'm declaring new things: See note on Isaiah 41:21. Having dismissed any other god's ability to know past or future (Isa 41:22-23), and having declared God the only one capable of announcing the future (Isa 41:26-27), the prophet builds on this argument to establish credibility for the new things now being said. With this verse a plural audience comes into view.

42:10-12 Sing to the LORD a new song!: The first of many recollections of praise psalms, particularly of Psalm 98. See also Isaiah 44:23; 49:13; 51:3; 52:9-10; 55:12. You who sail... fills it: Changing one Hebrew word in Isaiah 42:10 yields "Let the sea and everything in it roar" (cf. Ps 98:7).

42:11 Kedar: desert-dwellers of northern Arabia; compare

42:12 Is 24:15
 42:13 Ps 78:65;
 Is 37:32;
 Is 59:17;
 Jer 25:30;
 Am 1:2
 42:14 Ps 50:21;
 2Pt 3:9
 42:15 Ps 107:33;
 Is 44:27, Is 50:2;
 Na 1:4
 42:16 Is 30:21;
 Is 32:3, Is 40:4;
 Jer 31:8;
 Heb 13:5
 42:18 Is 29:18
 42:19 Is 26:3,
 Is 41:8, Is 44:26;
 Eze 12:2

On God and the Gods While earlier biblical writings reflect the Idea, common at that time, that other gods existed but Israel belonged to Yahweh ("the LORD"), Isaiah 40–48 develops the belief that Israel's God is the only living deity, and that the gods worshipped by other nations are nothing more than the idols created by humans to represent them. Second Isaiah celebrates God's exclusive acts of creation and ridicules the idols and their human creators. Such assertions directly dispute claims of the supremacy of Babylon's god Marduk.

Beginning in Isaiah 40:12, Israel's God is praised for acting alone as architect of the world's great structures. The world's creation is connected with the choosing of Israel (Isa 51:16). God, who made all things, knows both past and future, planning from the beginning things yet to be seen.

The prophet challenges the audience to find anyone who is God's equal (Isa 40:18, 25; 46:5). Gods of other nations are challenged to come forward to make their own case, but since they are only idols, they can't (Isa 41:21–29). The futility of manufacturing one's own saving god is ridiculed (Isa 44:9–20), as is the idols' need to be saved by humans since they can't move, let alone help their worshippers (Isa 46:1–7).

- Let the cliff dwellers sing;
 from the top of the mountains let them shout.
 12 Let them give the LORD glory and declare God's praise in the coastlands.
 13 The LORD will go out like a soldier;
 like a warrior God will stir up rage.
 God will shout, will roar;
 over enemies he will prevail.
 14 I've kept still for a very long time.
 I've been silent and restrained myself.
 Like a woman in labor I will moan;
 I will pant, I will gasp.
 15 I will wither mountains and valleys, and I will dry up all their vegetation.
 I will turn rivers into deserts,<sup>a</sup>
 and I will dry up pools.
 16 I will make the blind walk a road they don't know, and I will guide them in paths they don't know.
 But I will make darkness before them into light and rough places into level ground.
 These things I will do;
 I won't abandon them.

Blindness and deafness

- 17 Turned backward, utterly shamed are those who trust in idols, who say to a cast image, "You are our god!"
 18 Hear, deaf ones, and blind ones, look and see!
 19 Who is blind if not my servant and deaf like my messenger whom I send?

<sup>a</sup>Or islands

with note on Isaiah 21:13–17. Praise for God will come not just from Israel but from the east (Kedar) and from the west (coastlands), that is, surrounding nations.

42:13–14 like a soldier . . . Like a woman in labor: Two powerful images for God stand side by side, one male and the other female; one destroying life and the other creating it. The image of people being like women in the throes of labor often signaled helplessness (Ps 48:6; Isa 13:8; 21:3; Jer 4:31; 6:24; 13:21; 22:23; 30:6; 48:41; 49:22; 50:43; Mic 4:9–10). But here it shows the heroic strength of bringing a child to birth. The two images and the preceding verses are bound together by noise—the noise of praise, of battle cries, of God's childbearing.

42:15–16 As in Israel's founding story of the exodus, the drying of rivers and pools allows the people to cross to new land.

42:17 utterly shamed: Shame frequently characterizes idolatry in Second Isaiah (Isa 40–55) and other Prophets; see Isaiah 44:9, 11; 45:16–17; 49:23; Jeremiah 6:15; 11:13; 13:26–27.

42:18–25 The prophet justifies God's ways in the past, punishing Israel's refusal to see and hear (see Isa 6:9–10).

42:20 Jer 6:10
 42:22 Is 5:29,
 Is 14:17,
 Is 24:18,
 Is 24:22
 42:24 Is 5:24,
 Is 30:15
 43:1 Gn 32:28;
 Is 41:14, Is 44:2,
 Is 44:21, Is 45:4
 43:2 Ps 66:12;
 Dn 3:25,
 Dn 3:27
 43:3 Is 41:14,
 Is 45:15,
 Is 60:16
 43:4 Is 63:9

- Who is blind like the restored one,<sup>a</sup> blind like the servant of the LORD?
- <sup>20</sup> You have seen many things, but don't keep watch.
 With ears open, you don't hear.▼
- <sup>21</sup> The LORD desired for the sake of his righteousness to expand and glorify the Instruction.
- <sup>22</sup> But this is a people plundered and looted, everyone trapped in holes and hidden in dungeons.
 They have become plunder with no one to rescue, loot with no one to say, "Give it back."
- <sup>23</sup> Which of you will listen to this,
 will pay attention and respond from now on?
- <sup>24</sup> Who gave Jacob to the looter, and Israel to the plunderers?
 Wasn't it the LORD, the one we sinned against?
 They were not willing to walk in God's ways, and wouldn't listen to his teaching.
- <sup>25</sup> So God poured out on Jacob the heat of his anger and the fury of battle.
 It scorched him, and he didn't know it;
 it burned him, but he didn't give it much thought.

Don't fear

- 43 But now, says the LORD—the one who created you, Jacob, the one who formed you, Israel:
 Don't fear, for I have redeemed you;
 I have called you by name; you are mine.
- <sup>1</sup> When you pass through the waters, I will be with you;
 when through the rivers, they won't sweep over you.
 When you walk through the fire, you won't be scorched and flame won't burn you.
- <sup>3</sup> I am the LORD your God,
 the holy one of Israel, your savior.
 I have given Egypt as your ransom, Cush and Seba in your place.
- <sup>4</sup> Because you are precious in my eyes,
 you are honored, and I love you.

<sup>a</sup>Heb Meshullam, possibly a proper name ▼Or he does not hear

But as Isaiah 40:1-2 announced, and Isaiah 43:1 will announce again, the past is past, and redemption is now declared.

43:1-7 But now, says the LORD: Leaving behind the accusations of Isaiah 42:17-25, the prophet returns to positive promises for the future.

43:1 who created you . . . who formed you: For "created," see note on Isaiah 40:26. Now it is paired with "formed" (cf. Isa 43:7). The motif of God forming Israel will be prominent in Isaiah 44, where it contrasts with the claim that it is humans who create the other gods. Don't fear: See Isaiah 43:5; see note on Isaiah 41:10. I have redeemed you: See note on Isaiah 41:14. Here divine redemption is in the past tense. I have called you by name: See Isaiah 43:7; 45:3, 4; 49:1. In Isaiah 40:26, the stars were all called by name. you are mine: See Isaiah 41:9.

43:2 pass through the waters: a reminder of the crossing of the sea from Egypt (see Exod 14-15). Other exodus reminders will follow. I will be with you: See note on Isaiah 41:10. they won't sweep over you: The raging waters of enemy forces had been a concern in the days of Ahaz and Hezekiah; see Isaiah 8:8; 10:22; 28:2, 15, 17; 30:28.

43:3 I am the LORD your God: For "I am the LORD" (without the "your God"), see note on Isaiah 42:6. This is the first instance in Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55) of the full phrase reminiscent of the saying from the Pentateuch, "I am the LORD your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt" (Exod 20:2; Lev 19:36; 25:38; 26:13; Num 15:41; Deut 5:6). See also Isaiah 48:17; 51:15.

43:3 the holy one of Israel: See note on Isaiah 41:14. your savior: This is the first instance of this word in Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55); see Isaiah 43:11; 45:15, 21; 47:15; 49:26; 60:16. Although the psalmists often use "save" as a verb, the description of God as "the one who saves" is infrequent outside Second Isaiah (see Isa 63:8; Ps 106:21; Hos 13:4, which all refer to the exodus story). Cush and Seba: both in Africa, associated with Egypt. In Genesis 10:7, Seba was Cush's oldest male child.

43:4 I love you: See Isaiah 41:8, in which God loves either Abraham or his offspring (or perhaps both).

43:5 Is 41:10,
Is 44:2
43:8 Is 6:9;
Eze 12:2
43:10 Is 43:12,
Is 44:6, Is 44:8;
Ac 1:8
43:11 Is 49:21;
Hos 13:4
43:12 Dt 32:12;
Is 43:10
43:15 Is 43:1,
Is 45:11

I give people in your place, and nations in exchange for your life.

- <sup>5</sup>Don't fear, I am with you.
From the east I'll bring your children;
from the west I'll gather you.
<sup>6</sup>I'll say to the north, "Give them back!"
and to the south, "Don't detain them."
Bring my sons from far away, and my daughters from the end of the earth, <sup>7</sup>everyone who is called by my name and whom I created for my glory, whom I have formed and made.

- <sup>8</sup>Bring out the blind people who have eyes, the deaf ones who have ears.
<sup>9</sup>All the nations are gathered together;
the peoples are assembled.
Which of them announced this?
Who predicted to us the past events?
Let them bring their witnesses as a defense;
let them hear and say, "It's true!"
<sup>10</sup>You are my witnesses, says the LORD, my servant, whom I chose,
so that you would know and believe me and understand that I am the one.
Before me no god was formed;
after me there has been no other.
<sup>11</sup>I, I am the LORD, and there is no savior besides me.
<sup>12</sup>I announced, I saved, I proclaimed, not some stranger among you.
You are my witnesses, says the LORD, and I am God.
<sup>13</sup>From the dawn of time, I am the one.
No one can escape my power.
I act, and who can undo it?

Don't remember

- <sup>14</sup>The LORD your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, says, For your sake, I have sent an army<sup>w</sup> to Babylon, and brought down all the bars, turning the Chaldeans' singing into a lament.*
<sup>15</sup>I am the LORD, your holy one, Israel's creator, your king!

<sup>w</sup>Heb lacks an army. *Heb uncertain

43:5 Don't fear, I am with you: See Isaiah 43:1; see note on Isaiah 41:10. From the east: The exiles (children) will come not only from Babylon in the east but from all directions. See Isaiah 49:12.

43:7 whom I have formed and made: To "created" and "formed" the prophet now adds the synonym "made." See Isaiah 44:2, 24, and the contrast in Isaiah 44:13, 15, 17, 19, in which the idol-maker makes his god.

43:8-13 In Isaiah 41:21-29, the gods of the other nations were summoned to testify. Now the nations are summoned. The people of Israel themselves will be witnesses to God's sole existence and power.

43:8 Bring out the blind people: See Isaiah 42:18-19.

43:9 Which of them announced this?: See Isaiah 41:22-26, where the nations' gods are similarly challenged. past events: The Hebrew term used here, usually translated "prior things," is a key motif in this section; see note on Isaiah 41:21-22. witnesses: See Isaiah 43:10, 12; 44:8, 9.

43:10 my servant, whom I chose: a frequent description of Israel in Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55); see note on Isaiah 41:8. Those being addressed are called both witnesses (plural) and servant (singular). I am the one: See Isaiah 43:13, 25; see note on Isaiah 41:4. Before me no god was formed: Other gods don't exist; their representations are empty idols. See Isaiah 40:18; 44:6, 8; 45:5, 6, 14-22; 46:9.

43:14-21 This passage addresses a plural audience. The prophet compares the present time to the exodus, only to suggest that the ancient story will no longer define Israel, since this new one will replace it. See Jeremiah 16:14-15 (cf. Jer 23:7-8).

- <sup>16</sup>The LORD says—who makes a way in the sea and a path in the mighty waters, <sup>17</sup>who brings out chariot and horse, army and battalion;
they will lie down together and will not rise;
they will be extinguished, extinguished like a wick.
<sup>18</sup>Don't remember the prior things;
don't ponder ancient history.
<sup>19</sup>Look! I'm doing a new thing; now it sprouts up; don't you recognize it?
I'm making a way in the desert, paths† in the wilderness.
<sup>20</sup>The beasts of the field, the jackals and ostriches, will honor me, because I have put water in the desert and streams in the wilderness to give water to my people, my chosen ones, <sup>21</sup>this people whom I formed for myself, who will recount my praise.
- <sup>22</sup>But you didn't call out to me, Jacob;
you were tired of me, Israel.
<sup>23</sup>You didn't bring me lambs for your entirely burned offering;
you didn't honor me with your sacrifices.
I didn't make you worship with offerings;
I didn't weary you with frankincense.
<sup>24</sup>You didn't buy spices for me with your money, or satisfy me with the fat of your sacrifices.
Instead, you have burdened me with your sins and wearied me with your evil actions.
<sup>25</sup>I, I am the one who wipes out your rebellious behavior for my sake.
I won't remember your sin.
<sup>26</sup>Summon me, and let's go to trial together;
you tell your story so that you may be vindicated!
<sup>27</sup>Your first ancestor sinned, and your officials rebelled against me.
<sup>28</sup>So I made the holy officials impure, handed over Jacob to destruction and Israel to abuse.

43:18 Is 65:17;
Jer 23:7
43:19 Is 41:18,
Is 42:9, Is 48:6;
2Co 5:17;
Rev 21:5
43:20 Ps 148:10;
Is 13:22,
Is 34:13,
Is 48:21
43:21 Ps 102:18;
1Pt 2:9
43:23 Lv 21:1;
Am 5:25;
Zec 7:5
43:24 Ex 30:23;
Is 7:13; Jer 6:20
43:25 Is 37:35,
Is 44:22;
Jer 31:34;
Mi 7:18; Mk 2:7
43:26 Is 1:18,
Is 41:1, Is 50:8
44:1 Is 41:8

You are my witnesses

44 But now hear this, Jacob my servant, and Israel, whom I have chosen.

<sup>2</sup>The LORD your maker, who formed you in the womb and will help you, says:

†DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>); MT streams

43:16-17 who makes a way in the sea: See Exodus 14–15. Unlike God's people, who need not fear the waters (Isa 43:2), Pharaoh's chariots, horses, and armies are destroyed. 43:18 Don't remember the prior things: After this detailed and graphic reminder of the ancient miracle, the prophet ironically tells the audience not to remember it. It will pale in comparison to what God will do now. See Isaiah 46:8-9. 43:19-20 I'm making a way in the desert: Instead of a path through the sea (cf. Ps 77:19), God makes a way through the desert, paths (or streams) through the wilderness. The miracle of the exodus was turning the sea into dry land (Exod 14:21; Ps 66:6); the miracle now will be providing water in the desert—a feat that also recalls the exodus story (see Exod 15:22-27; 17:1-6; Isa 41:17-18; 44:3-5, 12; 48:21; 49:10). jackals and ostriches: residents of the unpopulated wilderness; compare with Isaiah 13:21-22; 34:13; 35:7. 43:22-28 you didn't call out to me: The accusing tone of Isaiah 42:22-25 returns, as Israel (now addressed as singular) is accused of improper worship. This section recalls Isaiah 1:10-20. God's forgetting of Israel's sin (43:25) is an act of pure grace; compare with Isaiah 44:21-22. 43:27 Your first ancestor sinned: This probably refers to Jacob, whose story is remembered ambivalently in Hosea 12 as well as in Genesis 25–50. 44:1-8 The prophet ceases judgment and proclaims redemption. Many of the arguments of Isaiah 41–43 are repeated once again here, and pushed a step further to prepare for the ridiculing of other gods in Isaiah 44:9-20 and concrete announcement of God's plans for Judah in Isaiah 44:24-28. 44:1-2 Key themes are repeated: the identification of Israel/Jacob as God's servant and chosen; God as the one who made or formed Israel. This sets up the contrast with the idol-maker's work of making or forming his god from wood (Isa 44:9, 10, 12, 13, 15, 17, 19; 46:6). 44:2 who formed you in the womb: Compare with Isaiah

44:3 Is 32:15,
Is 41:17; Jl 2:28,
Jl 3:18

44:4 Lv 23:40;
Job 40:22;
Ps 1:3; Is 58:11;
Eze 17:5

44:5 Ex 13:9;
Neh 9:38;
Ps 116:16;
Is 4:2; Zec 8:20

44:6 Is 41:4,
Is 43:10,
Is 43:14,
Is 48:12;
Rev 1:17

44:7 Is 41:22,
Is 41:26,
Is 45:21

44:8 Dt 4:35,
Dt 4:39;
1Sa 2:2;
Is 43:10, Is 45:5

44:9 Is 41:24

44:10 Jer 10:5;
Hab 2:18

44:11 Is 42:17,
Is 45:16

Don't fear, my servant Jacob,
Jeshurun, whom I have chosen.

<sup>3</sup>I will pour out water upon thirsty ground and streams upon dry land.

I will pour out my spirit upon your descendants and my blessing upon your offspring.

<sup>4</sup>They will spring up from among the reeds like willows by flowing streams.

<sup>5</sup>This one will say, "I am the LORD's," and that one will be named after Jacob.
Another will write on his hand, "The LORD's"
and will take the name Israel.

<sup>6</sup>The LORD, Israel's king and redeemer, the LORD of heavenly forces, says:
I am the first, and I am the last,
and besides me there are no gods.

<sup>7</sup>Who is like me?
Let them speak up, explain it, and lay it out for me.
Who announced long ago what is to be?<sup>a</sup>
Let them tell us<sup>a</sup> what is to come.

<sup>8</sup>Don't tremble; have no fear!
Didn't I proclaim it?
Didn't I inform you long ago?
You are my witnesses!
Is there a God besides me?
There is no other rock; I know of none.

Idol-makers mocked

<sup>9</sup>Idol-makers are all as nothing; their playthings do no good.
Their promoters neither see nor know anything, so they ought to be ashamed.

<sup>10</sup>Who would form a god or cast an idol that does no good?

<sup>11</sup>All its worshippers will be ashamed, and its artisans, who are only human.
They will all gather and stand, tremble and be ashamed together.

<sup>a</sup>Or Since I placed an ancient people and coming things <sup>a</sup>Or them

49:5; Jeremiah 1:5. Don't fear. See note on Isaiah 41:10. Jeshurun: a poetic name for Israel found only here and in Deuteronomy 32:15; 33:5, 26.

44:3-5 water upon thirsty ground: These verses reiterate the theme of water found most recently in Isaiah 43:20. But here its metaphorical significance becomes apparent: my spirit is also, like water, "poured out." Like Ezekiel (Ezek 36:26-27; 37:14; 39:29), the prophet envisions Israel's descendants flourishing (cf. Isa 66:14). Once again the audience is plural.

44:6-8 Israel's king and redeemer: See note on Isaiah 41:14. I am the first, and I am the last: See note on Isaiah 41:4. besides me there are no gods: See note on Isaiah 43:10. God's uniqueness is elaborated in this chapter and the two that follow. The other gods are powerless (Isa 41:21-29) because they don't exist. Only Israel's God and creator can know the future and communicate it to Israel's prophets.

44:8 Don't tremble; have no fear!: See Isaiah 41:10 and note. In contrast, Isaiah 44:11 envisions the worshippers and makers of idols trembling. You are my witnesses!: See Isaiah 43:9-12. "You" is plural. There is no other rock: See Deuteronomy 32:4, 18, 30-31, 37; Isaiah 26:4; Psalms 18:3, 31; 19:15.

44:9-20 An extended satire concerning the folly of worshipping the idols of one's own creation. Craftsmen "make" and "form" idols as God "made" and "formed" Israel. Whereas God stretched out heaven and earth (Isa 40:22; 42:5; 44:24; 45:12; 51:13), a metalworker spreads out gold on an idol (Isa 40:19) and a carpenter stretches a string. See Isaiah 40:18-20 and note (see also Isa 41:6-7, 21-24, 29; 42:17; 45:16; 46:1-7). See Jeremiah 10:1-16, which anticipates many of the themes found here.

44:9 Idol-makers are all as nothing: Not simply the idols but their makers are as empty as the earth was before creation (Gen 1:2; cf. Isa 40:17, 23; 41:29; 45:18-19). they ought to be ashamed: See note on Isaiah 42:17.

- <sup>12</sup>A blacksmith with his tools works it over coals, and shapes it with hammers, and works it with his strong arm.
He even becomes hungry and weak.
If he didn't drink water, he'd pass out.
- <sup>13</sup>A carpenter stretches out a string,
marks it out with a stylus, fashions it with carving tools,
and marks it with a compass.
He makes it into a human form,
like a splendid human, to live in a temple.
- <sup>14</sup>He cuts down cedars for himself, or chooses a cypress<sup>b</sup> or oak,
selecting from all the trees of the forest.
He plants a pine,<sup>c</sup> and the rain makes it grow.
- <sup>15</sup>It becomes suitable to burn for humans, so he takes some of the wood and warms himself.
He kindles fire and bakes bread.
He fashions a god and worships it;
he makes an idol and bows down to it.
- <sup>16</sup>Half of it he burns in the fire;
on that half he roasts and eats meat, and he is satisfied.
He warms himself and says,
"Ah, I'm warm, watching the fire!"
- <sup>17</sup>And the rest of it he makes into a god, into his idol, and he bows down, worships, and prays to it, saying,
"Save me, for you are my god!"
- <sup>18</sup>They don't know or comprehend, for their eyes can't see and their minds can't comprehend.
- <sup>19</sup>He doesn't think,
and has no knowledge or understanding to think:
Half of it I burned in the fire, and I baked bread on its coals,
and roasted meat and ate.
Should I make the rest into something detestable?
Should I bow down to a block of wood?
- <sup>20</sup>He's feeding on ashes;
his deluded mind has led him astray.
He can't save himself and say,
"Isn't this thing in my hand a lie?"

Promises to Jacob and Jerusalem

- <sup>21</sup>Remember these things, Jacob;
Israel, for you are my servant.
I formed you; you are my servant!
I won't forget you, Israel.
- <sup>22</sup>I swept away your rebellions like a cloud, and your sins like fog.
Return to me, because I have redeemed you.

<sup>b</sup>Species uncertain <sup>c</sup>Species uncertain

44:12 Is 40:19,
Is 41:8, Is 41:7;
Jer 10:3
44:13 Dt 4:16;
Jgs 17:4; Is 41:7
44:14 Is 40:20
44:15 2Ch 25:14
44:17 1Ki 18:26;
Is 2:8, Is 45:20
44:18 Is 6:10,
Is 29:10
44:19 Dt 27:15
44:20 Ro 1:25
44:21 Is 41:8,
Is 43:1, Is 44:1,
Is 44:2, Is 49:15
44:22 Is 43:1,
Is 43:25, Is 55:7,
Ac 3:19;
1Co 6:20

44:12-13 All the active verbs apply not to idols but to their makers.

44:14-17 Like Jeremiah and later apocryphal writings such as the Letter of Jeremiah, the prophet ridicules worship of idols, saying that the idol-maker expects his prayers to be heard by a block of wood that is suitable for burning. Babylonian texts describe a detailed rite of initiation in which the deity is invited to descend from heaven to dwell in a newly fashioned idol, indicating the worshippers' awareness of the distinctions between idols and the gods they represent. According to Exodus 20:4-5, Israelites are forbidden to represent God as an idol.

44:21-22 In direct contrast to the idols' passivity, God, who formed Israel, remembers, forgives, and redeems; compare with Isaiah 43:25.

44:23 Ps 69:34;
Ps 98:8; Is 49:3;
Is 49:13;
Is 55:12

44:24 Is 40:22;
Is 42:5; Is 43:14;
Is 44:2; Is 45:12

44:25 2Sa 15:31;
Job 5:12;
Ps 33:10;
Is 29:14;
Jer 27:9

44:26 1Ki 18:36;
2Ki 10:10;
2Ch 36:15;
Is 61:4; Zec 1:6

44:27 Is 11:15;
Is 50:2;
Jer 50:38

45:1 2Ch 36:22;
Ezr 1:1; Is 41:2;
Is 41:13;
Is 44:28

45:2 Ps 107:16;
Is 40:4;
Jer 51:30

45:3 Ez 33:12;
Is 43:1; Jer 41:8;
Jer 50:37

<sup>23</sup> Sing, heavens, for the LORD has acted;
shout, depths of the earth!
Burst out with a ringing cry,
you mountains, forest, and every tree in it.
The LORD has redeemed Jacob, and will glorify himself through Israel.

<sup>24</sup> The LORD your redeemer who formed you in the womb says:
I am the LORD, the maker of all,
who alone stretched out the heavens,
who spread out the earth by myself,

<sup>25</sup> who frustrates the omens of diviners and makes a mockery of magicians, who turns back the wise and turns their knowledge into folly.

<sup>26</sup> But who confirms the word of my<sup>a</sup> servant, and fulfills the predictions of my messengers;
who says about Jerusalem, "It will be resettled";
and who says about the cities of Judah, "They will be rebuilt, and I will restore their ruins";

<sup>27</sup> who says to the ocean depths,
"Dry up; I will dry your streams";

<sup>28</sup> who says about Cyrus, "My shepherd—he will do all that I want";
who says about Jerusalem, "She will be rebuilt";
and who says about the temple, "You will be founded once again."

Cyrus as God's anointed

45 The LORD says to his anointed, to Cyrus, whom I have grasped by the strong hand,
to conquer nations before him, disarming kings, and opening doors before him, so no gates will be shut:

<sup>2</sup> I myself will go before you,
and I will level mountains.
I will shatter bronze doors;
I will cut through iron bars.

<sup>3</sup> I will give you hidden treasures of secret riches, so you will know that I am the LORD,
the God of Israel, who calls you by name.

<sup>4</sup> For the sake of my servant Jacob and Israel my chosen,
I called you by name.

<sup>a</sup>Or his; also in next line

44:23 Sing, heavens: See Isaiah 42:10-12 and note. The inhabited world and the natural world join in praise (see Isa 44:14-17). For where heaven and earth witness Israel's rebellion rather than redemption, see Isaiah 12.

44:24-28 After all the buildup of arguments, a concrete announcement concerning Judah's future is issued. See Isaiah 48:20 for a similar strategically placed announcement.

44:24 who formed you in the womb: See Isaiah 44:2.

44:26 who confirms the word: The prophet argues on the basis of earlier prophecies that only Israel's God can foresee and bring about the future. These earlier prophecies could be predictions of doom made by 8th-century prophets such as First Isaiah, or Jeremiah's later warnings, or the Prophets' forecasts of restoration—or all of these. who says: God is speaking throughout this passage. Six statements are ordered so that the first and last correspond to each other, the second and fifth correspond to each other, and the two in the middle correspond to each other. In the outside layer, Jerusalem and the temple will be restored. In the second and fifth sayings, both the cities and Jerusalem will be rebuilt. In the innermost layer, God's act of drying the sea to set the Israelites free from Egypt is paralleled by God's bringing Cyrus to set the exiles free from Babylon. Cyrus has been discussed, though not by name, since Isaiah 41:2. Now, finally, he is named (cf. Isa 45:1, 13).

45:1 Cyrus: The Persian conqueror has been referred to since Isaiah 41:2, but was first named in Isaiah 44:28. God is the one arranging Cyrus' victories.

45:4 For the sake of my servant Jacob and Israel my chosen: See Isaiah 41:8 and note.

45:5 Is 44:8
 45:6 Ps 102:15,
 Ps 113:3;
 Is 37:20, Is 45:5;
 Mal 1:11
 45:7 Lam 3:38;
 Am 3:6
 45:8 Ps 72:6,
 Ps 85:11,
 Is 61:11,
 Hos 10:12;
 Jl 3:18
 45:9 Is 10:15,
 Is 29:16,
 Is 64:8; Jer 18:6;
 Ro 9:20
 45:11 Is 19:25,
 Is 29:23;
 Jer 31:9
 45:12 Gn 2:1;
 Neh 9:6;
 Is 40:22, Is 42:5,
 Is 44:24
 45:13 2Ch
 36:22; Is 41:2,
 Is 44:28, Is 52:3
 45:14 Ps 68:31;
 Is 14:2, Is 18:7,
 Is 43:3, Is 60:14

I gave you an honored title, though you didn't know me.

<sup>5</sup>I am the LORD, and there is no other;
 besides me there is no God.

I strengthen you—though you don't know me—

<sup>6</sup>so all will know, from the rising of the sun to its setting, that there is nothing apart from me.

I am the LORD; there's no other.

<sup>7</sup>I form light and create darkness, make prosperity and create doom;

I am the LORD, who does all these things.

<sup>8</sup>Pour down, you heavens above, and let the clouds flow with righteousness.

Let the earth open for salvation to bear fruit;
 let righteousness sprout as well.

I, the LORD, have created these things.

Potter and clay

<sup>9</sup>Doom to the one who argues with the potter,<sup>e</sup> as if he were just another clay pot!

Does the clay say to the potter, "What are you making?"
 or "Your work has no handles"?

<sup>10</sup>Doom to one who says to a father, "What have you fathered?"
 and to a woman, "With what are you in labor?"

<sup>11</sup>The LORD, the holy one of Israel and its maker,<sup>f</sup> says:
 Are you questioning me<sup>g</sup> about my own children?

Are you telling me what to do with the work of my hands?

<sup>12</sup>I myself made the earth, and created humans upon it.

My own hands stretched out the heavens.
 I commanded all their forces.

<sup>13</sup>I have a right to awaken Cyrus;
 I will smooth all his paths.

He will build my city and set my exiles free, not for a price and not for a bribe,
 says the LORD of heavenly forces.

<sup>14</sup>The LORD says:

Egypt will grow weary, Cush will be sold,<sup>h</sup>
 and the tall Sabeans will cross over to you.
 They will be yours, and after you they will go.
 In chains they will come;
 to you they will bow down.
 They will plead with you:
 "Truly God is with you;
 there's no other, no other God."

<sup>e</sup>Or maker <sup>f</sup>Or potter <sup>g</sup>Or about future things ask me <sup>h</sup>Heb uncertain

45:5-6 there is no other. The question of other gods who might have aided Cyrus' victories emerges again; compare with Isaiah 43:10 and note. The uniqueness of Israel's God is emphasized: "No other" is repeated in Isaiah 45:5, 6, 14, 18, 21, 22; 46:9.

45:9 Does the clay say to the potter. See note on Isaiah 29:16.

45:10 Here God is compared to both father and mother. See also Isaiah 42:13-14; 49:15; 66:13.

45:11 The audience is plural.

45:12-25 The remainder of the chapter repeats, as a finale, themes that have emerged throughout Isaiah 41-44: God's creation of heaven, earth, and humans; God's calling of Cyrus; God's uniqueness as savior; and the disgrace of idolatry.

45:14 They will be yours: This verse begins an unusual address to Jerusalem herself, who has receded into the background until now. there's no other: People from other nations recognize God's uniqueness as self-proclaimed in Isaiah 45:5-6.

45:15 Is 43:3

45:16 Is 42:17;
Is 44:9, Is 44:11

45:17 Ro 11:26

45:18 Ps 115:16;
Is 42:5, Is 45:5

45:19 Dt 30:11;

2Ch 15:2;
Is 48:16;
Jer 29:1345:20 Is 43:9,
Is 44:17, Is 46:1,
Is 46:7; Jer 10:545:21 Is 43:11,
Is 44:7, Is 44:8,
Is 45:5, Is 46:9

45:22 Is 49:6

45:23 Gn 22:16;
Is 19:18;Ro 14:11;
Phi 2:10;
Heb 6:13

45:24 Is 41:11

45:25 Is 41:16

46:1 Is 21:9;
Jer 50:2,
Jer 51:4446:2 Jgs 18:17;
2Sa 5:21;
Jer 48:7

46:3 Dt 1:13

15 Surely you are a god who hides himself, Israel's God and savior.

Idols contrasted with God

16 They will all be shamed and disgraced;
the makers of idols will end up disgraced together.

17 Israel has been saved by the LORD of everlasting salvation.
You won't be shamed,
and you won't be disgraced forever and always.

18 For this is what the LORD said, who created the heavens, who is God,
who formed the earth and made it,
who established it,
who didn't create it a wasteland but formed it as a habitation:
I, the LORD, and none other!

19 I didn't speak in secret or in some land of darkness;
I didn't say to the offspring of Jacob, "Seek me in chaos."
I am the LORD, the one who speaks truth, who announces what is correct.

20 Gather and come, draw near together,
fugitives of the nations!
Those who carry their wooden idols don't know;
those who pray to a god who won't save.

21 Announce! Approach! Confer together!
Who proclaimed this from the beginning, announced it from long ago?
Wasn't it I, the LORD?
There's no other God except me,
a righteous God and a savior;
there's none besides me!

22 Turn to me and be saved, all you ends of the earth,
for I am God, and there's no other.

23 I have sworn a solemn pledge;
a word has left my mouth;
it is reliable and won't fail.
Surely every knee will bow and every tongue will confess;

24 they will say, "Righteousness and strength come only from the LORD.
All who are angry with him will come to shame.

25 All the Israelites will be victorious and rejoice."

Babylon's idols can't compare

46 Bel crouches down; Nebo cowers.
Their idols sit on animals, on beasts.

The objects you once carried about are now borne as burdens by the weary animals.

2 They crouch down and cower together.
They aren't able to rescue the burden,
but they themselves go into captivity.

3 Listen to me, house of Jacob, all that remains from the house of Israel

45:17 You won't be shamed: The plural audience is reassured. Their enemies (Isa 41:11) will be shamed and disgraced, but Israel won't be (see Isa 50:7; 54:4).

45:20-25 Gather and come: An invitation is issued far and wide, since there's no other God by whom any can be saved.

46:1 Bel: meaning "Lord," refers to the Babylonian god

Marduk. Nebo: or Nabu, is Marduk's son. The entire chapter is addressed to the plural audience, who in Isaiah 46:8 are called "rebels," and in Isaiah 46:12, "bullheaded people."

46:3 whom I carried from the womb: In contrast to helpless Babylonian gods, Israel's God carries the people, and has done so since their beginning.

who have been borne by me since pregnancy, whom I carried from the womb 4until you grow old. I am the one, and until you turn gray I will support you.
I have done it, and I will continue to bear it;
I will support and I will rescue.

5To whom will you liken me and count me equal and compare me so that we are alike?

6Those who pour out gold from a bag and weigh silver with a balance hire a metalworker; then he makes a god.

They bow down; they worship;

7they carry the idol<sup>1</sup> on their shoulders and support it; they set it down, and it stands still,
unable to move from its place.

If one cries out to it, it doesn't answer.
It can't save people from their distress.

46:4 Ps 71:18;
Is 43:13
46:5 Ex 15:11;
Is 40:18,
Is 40:25;
Jer 10:6
46:6 Is 40:19

46:7 Isa 5:3;
1Ki 18:26;
Is 45:20, Is 46:1

46:8 Dt 32:29;
Is 44:21;
Eze 18:28;
Hg 1:7;
Eph 5:14

46:9 Is 45:5,
Is 45:21

46:10 Ps 33:11;
Prv 19:21;
Is 14:24;
Ac 5:39

46:12
Ps 119:50;
Is 48:4

46:13 Is 44:23,
Is 51:5; Ro 3:21

47:1 Dt 28:56;
Ps 137:8;
Is 3:26; Zec 2:7

Remember past events

8Remember this and take courage; take it to heart, you rebels.

9Remember the prior things—from long ago;
I am God, and there's no other.

I am God! There's none like me,

10who tells the end at the beginning, from ancient times things not yet done, saying, "My plan will stand;
all that I decide I will do,"

11I call a bird of prey from the east,
a man from a distant land for my plan.
As surely as I have spoken, I'll make it happen;
I have planned, and yes, I'll do it.

12Listen to me, you bullheaded people who are far from victory:

13I'm bringing my victory near—it isn't far,
and my salvation—it won't delay.
I will establish salvation in Zion and grant my splendor to Israel.

Daughter Babylon dethroned

47Go down and sit in the dust, virgin Daughter Babylon!
Sit on the ground without a throne, Daughter Chaldea, because they will no longer call you tender and pampered.

<sup>1</sup>Or it

46:4 I am the one: See note on Isaiah 41:4. Five repetitions of the pronoun "I" emphasize that the same God who carried Israel from the womb will carry them to their old age.

46:5 To whom will you liken me: This verse intensifies the question about comparability that was first asked in Isaiah 40:18, 25. This answer is "No one."

46:6-7 These verses repeat themes concerning the manufacture of idols; see note on Isaiah 40:18-20.

46:8-9 Remember: At Isaiah 43:18 Israel is told not to remember earlier things, since new events are now upon them. But this time Israel is instructed to remember. The phrase "prior things" recalls the exodus from Egypt, but it also includes God's ability to foretell and even to plan the future (Isa 46:10; cf. Isa 40:21; 41:4; 45:21). Other gods can't interpret either past or future (Isa 41:21-23).

46:10-11 God's "plan" is a theme sounded frequently in First Isaiah (Isa 1-39); see note on Isaiah 5:18.

46:11 bird of prey from the east: Cyrus of Persia; compare with Isaiah 41:2; 44:28; 45:1.

46:13 salvation in Zion: Nearly invisible since Isaiah 40:9, Zion here reappears, just before her enemy Daughter Babylon is addressed. Zion will be addressed further in Isaiah 49-54.

47:1-11 Just as the Babylonian gods were envisioned humiliated and crouched down (Isa 46:1-2), Babylon itself is envisioned removed from her throne, disgraced, and humbled. This chapter mirrors the earlier humiliation of Daughter Zion (see Lam 1:1, 8-9, 20; 2:10). It also anticipates Daughter Zion's own reversal of fortunes in Isaiah 52:1-2.

47:1 Daughter Babylon: Like Jerusalem and other cities, Babylon is personified as a woman. Despite the appearance of youthful beauty, Babylon is viewed as an oppressive mistress who deserves to lose her seat of privilege. For

47:2 Ex 11:5;

Jgs 16:21;

Mt 24:41

47:3 Is 34:8;

Na 3:5

47:4 Is 41:14;

Is 43:14;

Jer 50:34

47:5 Is 13:19;

Is 47:7

47:6 Dt 28:50;

Is 14:17;

Zec 1:15

47:7 Dt 32:29;

Is 47:5

47:8 Is 32:9;

Is 45:6, Is 47:10;

Zep 2:15;

Rev 18:7

47:9 Is 47:12;

Is 47:13; Na 3:4;

Rev 18:23

47:10 Ps 52:7;

Is 52:1, Is 29:15;

Is 47:8

47:11 1Th 5:3

47:12 Is 47:9

- <sup>2</sup>Take the millstones and grind flour!
Remove your veil, strip off your robe, expose your thighs, wade through the rivers!
- <sup>3</sup>Your nakedness will be exposed,
and your disgrace will be seen.
I will take vengeance;
no one will intervene.†
- <sup>4</sup>Our redeemer has spoken;
the LORD of heavenly forces is his name,
the holy one of Israel.
- <sup>5</sup>Sit silent and go into darkness, Daughter Chaldea, because they will no longer call you Queen of Kingdoms.
- <sup>6</sup>I was enraged with my people;
I made my inheritance impure and put them under your power.
You took no pity on them.
You made your yoke heavy even on the elderly.
- <sup>7</sup>You said, "I'm forever; I'm the eternal mistress."
You didn't stop and think;
you didn't consider the outcome.
- <sup>8</sup>So listen to this, luxuriant one who sits secure, who says in her heart, I'm utterly unique;
I'll never sit as a widow;
I'll never know childlessness:
- <sup>9</sup>Both of these will happen to you at once, on a single day:
childlessness and widowhood will envelop you in full measure, despite your many sorceries,
despite your very powerful spells.
- <sup>10</sup>You felt secure in your evil;
you said, "No one sees me."
Your wisdom and knowledge spun you around.
You thought to yourself, I and no one else.
- <sup>11</sup>Now evil will come against you, something you won't anticipate.
A curse will fall upon you, something you won't be able to dispel.
Destruction will come upon you suddenly, something you won't foresee.
- <sup>12</sup>Continue with your enchantments, and with your many spells, which you have practiced since childhood.

†Syr. cf Vulg; MT I won't meet a man

other bitter invectives addressed to Babylon as "Daughter," see Psalm 137:8; Jeremiah 50:42; 51:33.

47:2-3 Hardships and humiliations that ill befitted a princess await Babylon; compare with Lamentations 1:8.

47:4 This verse interrupts God's speech and interjects a refrain connecting three frequent titles for Israel's God. "Redeemer" and "holy one of Israel" appeared together at Isaiah 41:14; 43:14; and will reappear at Isaiah 48:17; 49:7. "Redeemer" and "LORD of heavenly forces" appeared together at Isaiah 44:6. This nearly unique plural interruption (see likewise Isa 42:24) celebrates Babylon's condemnation and Israel's redemption.

47:5 Sit silent: See Lamentations 2:10.

47:6 Though God takes responsibility for allowing Babylon to overthrow Jerusalem, Babylon is answerable for its own arrogant cruelty, just as the king of Assyria was; compare with Isaiah 10:5-6, 12.

47:7 you didn't consider the outcome: See Lamentations 1:9.

47:8 I'm utterly unique: or, "I and no one else," as in Isaiah 47:10. Israel's God has repeatedly claimed to be unparalleled (Isa 45:5, 6, 14, 18, 21, 22; 46:9). Babylon's boast can't compare with these claims.

47:9 Two terrible fates Babylon inflicted on Jerusalem and its people (Lam 1:1, 20) will now befall the oppressive city. 47:11 Destruction . . . suddenly: Predictions of Babylon's violent end suggest that these prophecies were composed before Cyrus entered Babylon peacefully (see Isa 13:1-22; 21:9). Although some Jews left Babylon, a Jewish community continued to flourish there until modern times.

47:13 Is 44:25;
Dn 2:2
47:14 Is 5:24;
Na 1:10; Mal 4:1
47:15 Rev 18:11
48:4 Ex 32:9;
Ac 7:51
48:9 Neh 9:31;
Ps 78:38,
Ps 103:8

Maybe you will be able to succeed.

Maybe you will inspire terror.

- <sup>13</sup>You are weary from all your consultations;
let the astrologers stand up and save you,
those who gaze at the stars, and predict what will happen to you at each new moon.
- <sup>14</sup>They are just like stubble; the fire burns them.
They won't save themselves from the powerful flames.
This is no warming ember or fire to sit beside.
- <sup>15</sup>Those with whom you have wearied yourself are like this,
those with whom you were in business from your youth:
each has wandered off on their own way;
none will save you.

New things from now on

48 Listen to this, house of Jacob, who are known by the name of Israel, descendants of Judah,<sup>k</sup> who swear by the LORD's name and invoke Israel's God dishonestly and unrighteously.

- <sup>2</sup>They are known as residents of the holy city, those who depend upon the God of Israel—
the LORD of heavenly forces is his name.
- <sup>3</sup>Past things I announced long ago;
from my mouth I proclaimed them.
I acted suddenly, and they came about.
- <sup>4</sup>Because I know that you are stubborn, your neck is made of iron,
and your forehead is bronze.
- <sup>5</sup>I informed you long ago;
before they came about I proclaimed them to you so you wouldn't say, "My idol did them; my wood statue and metal god commanded them."
- <sup>6</sup>You've heard and seen all this—won't you admit it?
From now on I'll tell you new things, guarded secrets that you don't know.
- <sup>7</sup>They are created now, not long ago;
before today you hadn't heard of them, so you won't say, "I already knew them."
- <sup>8</sup>You haven't heard, nor have you known;
as in ages past your ears are closed, because I knew what a traitor you were;
you were known as a rebel from birth.
- <sup>9</sup>For the sake of my reputation I control my anger;
for your sake I restrain my powerful radiance
so as to not destroy you.

<sup>k</sup>Or came out from the waters of Judah

48:1 The Israelites are called both house of Jacob (cf. Isa 46:3) and, uniquely in Second Isaiah (Isa 40–55), descendants of Judah.

48:2 holy city: Jerusalem (cf. Isa 52:1; Neh 11:1, 18; Dan 9:24).

48:3 Past things I announced long ago: In contrast to the other gods, who were unable to announce either past or future (Isa 41:22), Israel's God established long ago a reputation for announcing what was to come and fulfilling it (cf. Isa 42:9). This argument uses past prophecy and its fulfillment as proof of God's power to bring about things being announced now.

48:4 stubborn: The accusation of stubbornness goes back to Exodus 32:9 (cf. Exod 33:3, 5; 34:9). Here the people, rather than their God, are represented as having been made of cast metal (cf. Isa 44:12).

48:8 rebel from birth: See the initial accusation in Isaiah 1:2, which also can be translated, "I reared children; I raised them, and they rebelled against me!" (cf. Isa 1:28; 43:27; 46:8).

48:10 Dt 4:20;
Is 1:25;
Jer 9:7;
Zec 13:9; Mal 3:3
48:11 Is 42:8;
Eze 20:9
48:12 Is 41:4;
Is 44:6;
Rev 1:17;
Rev 22:13
48:13 Ex 20:11;
Ps 102:25;
Is 40:22;
Is 40:26;
Heb 1:10
48:14 Is 46:11
48:15 Is 45:1
48:16 Is 45:19;
Is 61:1
48:20 Is 52:9;
Is 52:11;
Jer 50:8;
Jer 51:6; Zec 2:6
48:21 Ex 17:6;
Nm 20:11;
Is 35:6; Is 43:20
48:22 Is 57:21;
Eze 7:25

- <sup>10</sup> See, I have refined you, but not like silver;
I have tested you<sup>1</sup> in the furnace of misery.
- <sup>11</sup> For the sake of my reputation, for my own sake, I will act, for why will my name be made impure?
I won't give my glory to another.
- <sup>12</sup> Listen to me, Jacob; Israel, whom I called:
I am the one;
I am the first and I am the last.
- <sup>13</sup> My hand founded the earth;
my strong hand spread out the heavens.
When I call to them, they all stand up.
- <sup>14</sup> Gather yourselves, all of you, and listen.
Who among you announced these things?
"The LORD loves him.
He will do what God wants with Babylon and with the descendants<sup>m</sup> of Chaldea."
- <sup>15</sup> I, I have spoken and told him the things that will happen to him;
I will make him succeed.
- <sup>16</sup> Come close to me; listen to this:
Since the very beginning I haven't spoken in secret.
Whenever anything happens, I am there.
(And now the LORD God has sent me with his spirit.)
- <sup>17</sup> The LORD your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, proclaims:
I am the LORD your God who teaches you for your own good, who leads you in the way you should go.
- <sup>18</sup> If you would pay attention to my commands, your well-being would be like a river, and your righteousness like the waves of the sea.
- <sup>19</sup> Your offspring would be like the sand, and your descendants like its grains.
Their name would never be eliminated, never wiped out from before me.
- <sup>20</sup> Go out from Babylon;
flee from the Chaldeans!
Report this with a loud shout, proclaim it;
broadcast it out to the end of the earth.
Say, "The LORD has redeemed his servant Jacob!"
- <sup>21</sup> They weren't thirsty when he led them through the deserts.
God made water flow from the rock for them;
split the rock, and water flowed out.
- <sup>22</sup> There is no well-being, says the LORD, for the wicked.

<sup>1</sup>Or I have chosen <sup>m</sup>LXX; MT his arm

48:10 furnace of misery: Slavery in Egypt was sometimes called the "iron furnace" (Deut 4:20; 1 Kgs 8:51; Jer 11:4). Ezekiel 22:18-22 claims that God in rage was refining the people of Jerusalem like silver (cf. Jer 6:27-30), but Isaiah 48:9-10 claims that God's refining of the people hasn't been in rage, and not as silver is refined.

48:12 I am the one; I am the first and I am the last: See note on Isaiah 41:4.

48:14 He will do what God wants with Babylon: another reference to Cyrus (cf. Isa 41:2; 44:28; 45:1; 46:11).

48:17 who teaches you: See Isaiah 30:20-21 (see also Ps 25:4-9).

48:19 like the sand: See Isaiah 10:22; Hosea 1:10. Similar promises were made to Abraham and his family in Genesis 22:17; 32:12 (cf. Gen 13:16; 15:5; 26:4; 28:14).

48:20 Go out from Babylon: In this most direct and concrete command, the prophet draws the conclusion to which Isaiah 40-48 leads. See Isaiah 52:11-12.

48:21 They weren't thirsty: God's provision of water in the wilderness; compare with Exodus 17:6. As in Deuteronomy 8:15; Psalms 78:20; 105:41; 114:8, it is God who split the rock. This story matters for Judeans contemplating crossing the desert again; compare with Isaiah 49:10.

48:22 Compare with Isaiah 57:21.

The servant speaks up

- 49 Listen to me, coastlands;
pay attention, peoples far away.
The LORD called me before my birth, called my name when I was in my mother's womb.
- <sup>2</sup> He made my mouth like a sharp sword, and hid me in the shadow of God's own hand.
He made me a sharpened arrow,
and concealed me in God's quiver, <sup>3</sup> saying to me, "You are my servant, Israel, in whom I show my glory."
- <sup>4</sup> But I said, "I have wearied myself in vain.
I have used up my strength for nothing."
Nevertheless, the LORD will grant me justice;
my reward is with my God.
- <sup>5</sup> And now the LORD has decided—the one who formed me from the womb as his servant—
to restore Jacob to God,
so that Israel might return to him.
Moreover, I'm honored in the LORD's eyes;
my God has become my strength.
- <sup>6</sup> He said: It is not enough, since you are my servant, to raise up the tribes of Jacob and to bring back the survivors of Israel.
Hence, I will also appoint you as light to the nations so that my salvation may reach to the end of the earth.
- <sup>7</sup> The LORD, redeemer of Israel and its holy one, says to one despised, rejected by nations, to the slave of rulers:
Kings will see and stand up;
commanders will bow down on account of the LORD, who is faithful, the holy one of Israel, who has chosen you.
- <sup>8</sup> The LORD said:
At the right time, I answered you;
on a day of salvation, I helped you.
I have guarded you, and given you as a covenant to the people,
to restore the land,
and to reassign deserted properties, <sup>9</sup> saying to the prisoners, "Come out," and to those in darkness, "Show yourselves."

49:1 Is 41:1;
Jer 1:5
49:2 Is 11:4,
Is 51:16;
Heb 4:12;
Rev 1:16
49:3 Is 44:23;
Zec 3:8
49:5 Is 49:1
49:6 Is 9:2,
Is 42:6, Is 55:5;
Lk 2:32;
Ac 13:47
49:8 Ps 69:13;
Is 42:6; 2Co 6:2
49:9 Is 41:1,8,
Is 42:7, Is 61:1

49:1-6 This is a turning point. For the first time, Israel speaks up as God's servant, echoing much of what has been said previously by God. This shows that the servant has accepted his role.

49:1 The Lord called me before my birth: The servant is modeled on Jeremiah, who likewise relates that God's call to him came while he was yet in the womb (cf. Isa 44:2, 24), and called himself a "prophet to the nations" (Jer 1:5; cf. Isa 49:6; 42:6). Although Jeremiah himself is never called God's servant, within his book both prophets in general (Jer 7:25; 25:4; 29:19; 35:15; 44:4) and Jacob (Jer 30:10; 46:2B) are so designated.

49:2 hid me in the shadow of God's own hand: See Isaiah 51:16; Jeremiah 1:9.

49:4 But I said: Like Jeremiah (Jer 1:6), the servant rehearses his own earlier objections to God's call. These objections concerned not youth but weariness; compare with Isaiah 40:27-31.

49:5 restore Jacob: The question "How can Israel [Isa 49:3] have a mission to Israel [49:5]?" has been raised by readers. It is indeed awkward. The servant who is speaking may represent those Israelites who accept this calling, while others are as yet awaiting restoration.

49:6 light to the nations: Compare with Isaiah 42:6. Concern with foreign nations is a recurring theme in Isaiah; see Isaiah 2:2-4; 11:10; 19:19-25; 25:6-9; 42:1-4; 52:15; 56:3-7; 60:3; 61:9; 62:10; 66:18-19, 23. The theme of God's salvation reaching earth's ends is consistent with the portrayal of God as the world's sole creator.

49:8 covenant to the people: See Isaiah 42:6.

49:12 Is 43:5.

Is 43:6

49:13 Is 40:1.

Is 44:23

49:15 | Ki 3:26;

Ps 27:10;

Is 44:21;

Lam 4:10

49:16 Song 8:6;

Is 62:6; Hg 2:23

49:17 Is 10:6.

Is 37:18;

Is 51:22; Is 62:5

49:18 Is 43:5.

Is 52:1; Is 60:4.

Is 61:10; Jer 2:32

49:19 Is 51:3.

Is 54:1;

Zec 10:10

49:20 Is 54:1

49:21 Is 1:8,

Is 5:13; Is 29:23;

Is 54:6; Is 60:8

Along the roads animals<sup>a</sup> will graze; their pasture will be on every treeless hilltop.

<sup>10</sup>They won't hunger or thirst;
the burning heat and sun won't strike them, because one who has compassion for them will lead them and will guide them by springs of water.

<sup>11</sup>I will turn all my mountains into roads;
my highways will be built up.

<sup>12</sup>Look! These will come from far away.
Look! These from the north and west, and these from the southland.<sup>o</sup>

<sup>13</sup>Sing, heavens! Rejoice, earth!
Break out, mountains, with a song.
The LORD has comforted his people, and taken pity on those who suffer.

Compassion for Zion

<sup>14</sup>But Zion says, "The LORD has abandoned me; my Lord has forgotten me."

<sup>15</sup>Can a woman forget her nursing child, fail to pity the child of her womb?
Even these may forget, but I won't forget you.

<sup>16</sup>Look, on my palms I've inscribed you; your walls are before me continually.

<sup>17</sup>Your builders<sup>p</sup> come quickly;
those who destroy and demolish you will depart from you.

<sup>18</sup>Look up all around and see:
they are all gathered;
they come to you.

As surely as I live, says the LORD, you will put them all on like ornaments,
bind them on like a bride.

<sup>19</sup>As for your ruins and desolate places and destroyed land—you will soon be crowded with settlers, and those who swallowed you will be far away.

<sup>20</sup>You will again hear the children who were born bereaved say,
"The place is too crowded for me; make room for me to settle."

<sup>21</sup>And you will think to yourself,
Who bore me these?
I was bereaved and desolate, exiled and sent off.
So who raised these?
I was left behind, I was alone; where were these?

<sup>a</sup>Heb lacks animals. <sup>o</sup>Heb Sinim <sup>p</sup>Or children

49:13 Sing, heavens: See note on Isaiah 42:10-12. The theme of divine comfort is reintroduced (see note on Isa 40:1). It will recur periodically throughout Isaiah 49-54.

49:14 But Zion says: Jerusalem states a complaint against God that closely resembles Israel's in Isaiah 40:27. This complaint echoes Lamentations 5:20. But important changes in context should be noted. A reassuring divine response follows, which is thick with answers to many complaints from Lamentations.

49:15 Can a woman forget: Jeremiah accused Jerusalem of forgetting God more easily than a bride forgets her jewelry (Jer 2:32; cf. Isa 49:18). Lamentations suggested that God's wrath was the cause of the most horrific form of maternal forgetting: eating one's own child (Lam 2:20). According to the prophet, God's memory is far longer than that of humans. Children that Jerusalem doesn't even recall bearing will soon crowd her streets.

49:16 on my palms I've inscribed you: Compare with Lamentations 2:18-19.

49:18 they come to you: Compare with Lamentations 1:4.

49:19 those who swallowed you: Compare with Lamentations 2:5.

49:21 I was bereaved and desolate, exiled and sent off: Compare with Lamentations 1:3, 20; 4:15.

49:22 Is 11:10,
Is 11:12; Is 14:2
49:23 Ps 25:3,
Ps 72:9,
Is 45:14,
Is 60:14,
Is 60:16
49:24 Mt 12:29;
Lk 11:21
50:1 Dt 24:1,
Is 52:3; Is 59:2;
Jer 3:8;
Mt 18:25
50:2 Nm 11:23;
Is 42:15; Is 59:1,
Is 66:4; Na 1:4

The Servant and Daughter Zion as Representative Figures In Second Isaiah (Isa 40–55) the people of Judah are addressed not only as a plural group, but also by the name of their ancestor Jacob (also named Israel), who represents them. After he complains that God “ignores my predicament” (Isa 40:27), Jacob is repeatedly reassured of God’s care: “You are my servant; I chose you and didn’t reject you” (Isa 41:9). Up to Isaiah 48, the exiled people of Judah are repeatedly reassured and encouraged to view themselves as God’s servant Israel.

In Isaiah 49 this servant is portrayed as speaking for the first time since his initial complaint. Taking the role offered to him, he repeats much of what was said to him in earlier chapters. Now attention goes to Jerusalem. Speaking as the city personified, she complains, much as Israel had, that “the LORD has abandoned me” (Isa 49:14). In three sections that follow, she is offered reassurance and encouragement. The city who has suffered (Isa 51:21) is now bidden to rise up (Isa 52:2) and to sing for joy (Isa 54:1), since God has reclaimed her (Isa 54:7). Interwoven with three major sections concerning Zion (Isa 49:14–50:3; 51:9–52:12; 54:1–17) are three sections in which God’s “servant” speaks or is described (Isa 49:1–13; 50:4–11; 52:13–53:12). Finally, in Isaiah 54:17, God’s servant becomes plural; they are the citizens who have returned to their mother city.

22 The LORD God says:

Look, I will raise my hand to the nations, and to the peoples I will lift up my signal.
They will bring your sons in their arms, and will carry your daughters on their shoulders.

23 Kings will be your attendants, and their queens your nursemaids.

With faces to the ground they will bow down to you;
they will lick the dust from your feet.
You will know that I am the LORD;
the one who hopes in me won’t be ashamed.

24 Can loot be taken from warriors?
Can a tyrant’s captives escape?

25 The LORD says:

Even the captives of warriors will be taken,
and the tyrant’s loot will escape.
I myself will oppose those who oppose you,
and I myself will save your children.

26 I will make your oppressors eat their own flesh; and as with wine, with their own blood they will be drunk, so that all flesh will know that I, the LORD, am your savior, and the mighty one of Jacob is your redeemer.

50 The LORD says:

Where’s your mother’s divorce decree,
with which I sent her away?
Or to which lender did I sell you?
On account of your sins you were sold;
on account of your transgressions your mother was sent away.

2 Why did I come and find no one?
Why did I call when no one answered?
Is my hand too small to redeem you?<sup>a</sup>
Don’t I have enough power to save?

<sup>a</sup>Heb lacks you.

49:23 the one who hopes in me: Compare with Lamentations 3:25.

49:25 I myself will oppose: Compare with Lamentations 3:58.

49:26 I will make your oppressors eat: Compare with Lamentations 2:20; 4:10, 21.

50:1 Where’s your mother’s divorce decree: According to Deuteronomy 24:1–4, a man who divorced his wife and sent her away wasn’t allowed to take her back after she married another. Jeremiah 3:1 invoked this instruction to deny that God could reclaim Jerusalem. But Isaiah 50:1 asks for evidence that the divorce occurred, blaming not Jerusalem, but her citizens. The marriage image reappears in Isaiah 54.

50:3 Rev 6:12

50:4 Is 40:29;
Mt 11:28

50:5 Mt 26:39;

Jn 8:29;

Jn 14:31;

Jn 15:10;

Heb 5:8

50:6 Lam 3:30;

Mt 26:67;

Mt 27:30;

Mk 14:65;

Lk 22:63

50:7 Is 41:10;

Eze 3:8, Eze 3:9

50:8 Is 41:1;

Is 45:25;

Is 54:17;

Ro 8:33;

Ro 8:34

50:9 Job 13:28;

Is 41:10, Is 51:8

50:10 Ps 25:12;

Is 26:4, Is 49:3;

Mal 3:16

50:11 Is 65:13;

Jn 9:39

With my rebuke I dry up the sea and make the rivers into wilderness.

Their fish stink from lack of water;
they die of thirst.

<sup>3</sup>I clothe the heavens with darkness and cover them with funeral clothing.

God's faithful servant

<sup>4</sup>The LORD God gave me an educated tongue to know how to respond to the weary with a word that will awaken them in the morning.†
God awakens my ear in the morning to listen, as educated people do.

<sup>5</sup>The LORD God opened my ear;
I didn't rebel; I didn't turn my back.

<sup>6</sup>Instead, I gave my body to attackers, and my cheeks to beard pluckers.
I didn't hide my face from insults and spitting.

<sup>7</sup>The LORD God will help me;
therefore, I haven't been insulted.
Therefore, I set my face like flint, and knew I wouldn't be ashamed.

<sup>8</sup>The one who will declare me innocent is near.
Who will argue with me?
Let's stand up together.

Who will bring judgment against me?
Let him approach me.

<sup>9</sup>Look! The LORD God will help me.
Who will condemn me?
Look, they will wear out like clothing;
the moth will eat them.

<sup>10</sup>Who among you fears the LORD?
Who listens to the voice of his servant,
who walks in darkness and has no light?
They will trust in the LORD's name, and rely upon their God.

<sup>11</sup>Look! All of you are kindling fire, igniting torches.
Walk by the light of your fire, by the torches you have ignited.
This is what will happen to you by my hand:
you will lie down in grief.

†Heb uncertain

50:4-9 Servant Israel speaks again (see Isa 50:10). As in Isaiah 49:1-6, he confirms the divine support promised to Israel in earlier chapters. Here he emphasizes that God sustains him even in conflict and crisis.

50:4 a word that will awaken them: According to the Hebrew, the first phrase concludes with "a word." The second phrase begins with a repetition: "In the morning he awakens, wakens my ear in the morning." Echoing the confidence expressed in Lamentations 3:22-23 that God's love and mercy are renewed every morning, the servant's alert ear contrasts with the willful deafness criticized in Isaiah 42:20; 48:8. Emphasis is on learning from God's voice. Attending to God's instruction prepares the speaker to stand strong in the midst of interhuman conflict and harassment.

50:6-7 Because of God's support, the servant withstands insults without disgrace or shame—a direct reflection of Isaiah 45:16-17, which pledges that though idol-makers will end up disgraced and ashamed, God's worshippers won't. Enduring physical assaults such as beard plucking and insults, the servant models word for word the patience recommended in Lamentations 3:30.

50:7 The speaker expresses confidence in God's help; see Isaiah 41:10-14; 44:2; 49:8.

50:8 Who will bring judgment against me?: God's attentiveness to Israel's cause was first addressed in Isaiah 40:27, echoing pleas for justice found in Lamentations 3:57-59. Here, using the same vocabulary, the speaker challenges anyone to stand against him when God's support is nearby (see also Isa 41:1, 21-22).

50:10 Who among you fears the LORD?: Another speaker invites hearers to follow the servant's example. As in Lamentations 3:2, the servant trusts God even while walking in darkness.

Look to Abraham and Sarah

51 Listen to me, you who look for righteousness, you who seek the LORD:

Look to the rock from which you were cut and to the quarry where you were dug.

<sup>2</sup>Look to Abraham your ancestor, and to Sarah, who gave you birth.
They were alone when I called them, but I blessed them and made them many.

<sup>3</sup>The LORD will comfort Zion;
he will comfort all her ruins.
He will make her desert like Eden and her wilderness like the LORD's garden.
Happiness and joy will be found in her—thanks and the sound of singing.

Salvation endures forever

<sup>4</sup>Pay attention to me, my people;
listen to me, my nation,
for teaching will go out from me,
my justice, as a light to the nations.

<sup>5</sup>I will quickly bring my victory.
My salvation is on its way,
and my arm will judge the peoples.
The coastlands hope for me;
they wait for my judgment.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>6</sup>Look up to the heavens, and gaze at the earth beneath.
The heavens will disappear like smoke,
the earth will wear out like clothing, and its inhabitants will die like gnats.
But my salvation will endure forever, and my righteousness will be unbroken.

<sup>7</sup>Listen to me, you who know what is right, people who carry my teaching in your heart:
Don't fear human scorn,
and don't be upset when they abuse you.

<sup>8</sup>The moth will eat them as if they were clothing, and the worm will eat them like wool,
but my righteousness is forever,
and my salvation for all generations.

Awake, arm of the LORD

<sup>9</sup>Awake, awake, put on strength, arm of the LORD.
Awake as in times past, generations long ago.

<sup>a</sup>Or for my arm

51:1 Is 51:7,
Is 55:6
51:2 Is 29:22;
Eze 33:24
51:3 Gn 2:8;
Is 35:1, Is 40:1,
Is 52:9; Jl 2:3
51:4 Ps 78:1;
Is 2:3, Is 42:6,
Is 49:6
51:5 Is 40:10,
Is 46:13
51:6 Ps 102:25,
Ps 102:26;
Is 34:4;
Mt 24:35;
2Pt 3:10
51:7 Dt 6:6;
Ps 37:31,
Ps 119:11;
Is 51:1; Mt 5:11
51:8 Job 13:28;
Is 50:9, Is 51:6
51:9 Dt 4:34;
Ps 74:13;
Is 27:1, Is 52:1,
Is 53:1

51:1-2 The prophet appeals to Abraham and Sarah, who were promised a huge number of descendants (see note on Isa 48:19). This is the only mention of Sarah in the OT outside Genesis. Abraham is seldom mentioned except as an ancestral name (but see Isa 29:22; 63:16; 41:8). This reference to Abraham and Sarah affirms a version of a saying that Ezekiel 33:24 rejected: "Abraham was just one man, and he inherited the land. We are many, so certainly the land has been given to us as an inheritance." Ezekiel addressed people he saw as having abandoned God, but Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55) specifically addresses the faithful. As the ancestors' example suggests, God is able to build a whole nation out of a few.

51:3 Eden: A rare reference outside Genesis, one used already by Ezekiel in 36:33-38; 36:35 (cf. Ezek 28:31; 31:9-18).
51:4 teaching will go out from me: See Isaiah 2:2-4; 42:6; 49:6.
51:6-8 See Isaiah 34:4; 40:8; 50:9; 54:10; Psalm 102:26. The endurance of God's word and intentions is repeated in Matthew 5:18; 24:35, and stands behind the visions of 2 Peter 3:10 and Revelation 6:14.
51:9 Awake, awake: The beginning of a climactic three-part section that dramatizes a call to action. The call to God's arm to awaken is echoed in Isaiah 51:17 and Isaiah 52:1 as calls to Jerusalem. This first section concerns God's saving role toward the world in general and God's people

51:10 Ex 14:21;
Ex 15:13;
Is 35:9; Is 43:16;
Is 50:2
51:11 Is 25:8;
Is 35:10;
Is 44:23;
Is 65:19;
Rev 7:17
51:16 Is 48:13;
Is 49:2; Is 59:21
51:17 Job 21:20;
Ps 60:3; Is 52:1;
Jer 25:15;
Rev 14:10
51:18 Ps 88:18;
Is 41:13;
Is 49:21

- Aren't you the one who crushed Rahab, who pierced the dragon?
 10 Didn't you dry up the sea, the waters of the great deep?
And didn't you make the redeemed a road to cross through the depths of the sea,
a road for the redeemed to pass?
 11 Then let those ransomed by the LORD return and come to Zion with singing and with everlasting joy upon their heads.
Let happiness and joy overwhelm them;
let grief and groaning flee.
 12 I, I am the one who comforts you.
Why should you fear humans who will die,
mortals who are treated like grass?
 13 You forgot the LORD your maker, the one who stretched out the heavens and founded the earth.
You were continually afraid, all day long, on account of the oppressor's wrath—
a fear by which they intend to destroy you.
Where now is the oppressor's wrath?
 14 The imprisoned ones will soon be released;
they won't die in the pit or even lack bread.
 15 I am the LORD your God, who stirs up the sea so that its waves roar—
the LORD of heavenly forces is his name.
 16 I put my words in your mouth and hid you in the shadow of my hand, stretching out† the heavens, founding the earth, and saying to Zion, "You are my people."

Wake yourself, Jerusalem

- 17 Wake yourself, wake yourself!
Rise up, Jerusalem, who drank the cup of wrath from the LORD's hand.
You drank; you drained the goblet of reeling.
 18 There's no one to guide her among all the children she bore;
there's no one to take her by the hand among all the children she raised.

†Or planting

in particular; see Psalm 93:1. Rahab . . . dragon: Near Eastern traditions of a battle between powerful gods are evoked. Common to these myths is the enthronement of the victor (cf. Isa 52:7). Though the Bible has no fully realized story of God fighting watery enemies, there are many references to the myth; see Isaiah 27:1 and note. For Rahab, see Job 26:12; Psalm 89:10; Isaiah 30:7. For the dragon, see Isaiah 27:1; Job 7:12; Psalm 74:13. Psalm 74, a prayer following the Babylonian destruction, is a particularly striking pattern for these verses. See its plea for God's action in the present based on this story from the past, especially in Psalm 74:12-15. See also Psalms 77:6, 27, 20-21; 44:2, 4, 24, 27.

51:10 Didn't you dry up the sea: The myth is specifically connected with the Hebrew slaves' crossing of the sea. The sea and the deep, while still evoking watery enemies in ancient myths, are also brought into the story as part of the great founding drama of salvation.

51:11 Compare with Isaiah 35:10, which repeats this verse almost exactly.

51:12 I am the one who comforts you: a response to the prayer of Isaiah 51:9-11. The motif of comfort has been developing throughout Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55), but this is the most definitive declaration, countering the complaint of Lamentations 1 that Zion has no comforter. See notes on Isaiah 40:1; Isaiah 41:4.

51:15 I am the LORD your God, who stirs up the sea: "Who stirs up the sea" is a direct quotation of Jeremiah 31:35, which argues for Israel's security on the basis of God's maintenance of the created order. As in Job 26:12 (which also uses the myth of divine combat found above in Isa 51:9) and the more common translation of this word, both Jeremiah 31:35 and Isaiah 51:15 can be translated: "I am the Lord who stills the sea, though its waves roar." Despite the raging of the sea (or the nations), God reigns over all; compare with Psalm 93.

51:16 Compare with Isaiah 40:22; 42:5; 44:24; 45:12; 48:13. 51:17 Wake yourself, wake yourself: Another form of the verb repeated in Isaiah 51:9 and Isaiah 52:1 appears here. For the motif of drinking a poisoned cup as suffering divine punishment in Isaiah 51:21-23, see Jeremiah 25:15; 51:7; Psalms 60:3; 75:8; Ezekiel 23:31; Zechariah 12:2;

- <sup>19</sup>These two things have happened to you—Who will be sorry for you?<sup>a</sup>—destruction and devastation, famine and sword—
who will comfort you?<sup>a</sup>
- <sup>20</sup>Your children passed out;
they lay at the head of every street like antelope in a net, filled with the LORD's wrath, with the rebuke of your God.
- <sup>21</sup>Therefore, hear this, suffering one, who is drunk, but not from wine.
- <sup>22</sup>The LORD, your Lord and your God, who contends for his people, says:
Look, I have taken the cup of reeling,
the goblet of my wrath, from your hand.
You will no longer drink from it.
- <sup>23</sup>I will put it in the hand of your tormentors, who said to you,
"Lie down so that we can walk on you.
Make your back like the ground,
like a street for those walking on it."

51:21 Is 29:9,
Is 51:17,
Is 54:11

51:22 Is 49:25,
Is 51:17,
Jer 50:34

51:23 Josh
10:24; Is 49:26;
Jer 25:26,
Jer 25:28;
Zec 12:2

52:1 Neh 11:1;
Is 35:8, Is 48:2,
Is 51:9, Is 51:17

52:2 Is 51:14,
Is 60:1

52:3 Ps 44:12;
Is 45:13, Is 50:1;
1 Pt 1:18

52:5 Ps 74:10;
Eze 36:20;
Ro 2:24

52:6 Is 49:23

52:7 Is 24:23,
Is 40:9, Is 61:1;
Na 1:15;
Ro 10:15

Awake, holy Zion

- 52 Awake, awake, put on your strength, Zion!
Put on your splendid clothing, Jerusalem, you holy city;
for the uncircumcised and unclean will no longer come into you.
- <sup>2</sup> Shake the dust off yourself;
rise up; sit enthroned, Jerusalem.
Loose the bonds from your neck, captive Daughter Zion!

- <sup>3</sup> The LORD proclaims:
You were sold for nothing,
and you will be redeemed without money.
- <sup>4</sup> The LORD God proclaims:
Long ago my people went down to reside in Egypt.
Moreover, Assyria has oppressed them without cause.
- <sup>5</sup> And now what have I here? says the LORD.
My people are taken away for nothing.
Their rulers wail, says the LORD, and continually all day long my name is despised.
- <sup>6</sup> Therefore, my people will know my name on that day;
I'm the one who promises it; I'm here.

Your God rules

- <sup>7</sup> How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of a messenger who proclaims peace,

<sup>a</sup>DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>), LXX, Vulg; MT How will I <sup>a</sup>Or how will I comfort you?

Lamentations 4:21. This section repeatedly evokes Lamentations 4, which described the sufferings of Jerusalem's citizens. Particularly prominent in Lamentations is the suffering and loss of children. Isaiah 51:18-20 recalls Lamentations 4:1-10 while steering around its most gruesome portrayals. It does so in part by distilling the sufferings of real people into that of the personified city, Daughter Zion, and in part by replacing the dead children with Jerusalem's returning exiles (Isa 43:6; 49:20-22, 25; 54:1, 13). 51:20 they lay at the head of every street: Compare with Lamentations 2:19; 4:1-2; Nahum 3:10. 52:1 Awake, awake, put on your strength, Zion!: The city parallels God's strong arm (Isa 51:9). Her past sufferings having been remembered (Isa 51:17-23), she is now invited to rise and receive her returning "children," the exiled community. In direct contrast to Daughter Babylon (Isa 47:1-15), Zion will be splendidly clothed, enthroned, freed, and repopulated. Lamentations 4:15 described the humiliation of being called unclean by the nations, but now the invading nations are called unclean. Nahum 1:15 is echoed here and in Isaiah 52:7. 52:3-6 These four verses, breaking the flow of the poetry, are likely an insertion by a later editor. 52:7-12 These climactic verses are filled with allusions to earlier passages of scripture. 52:7 How beautiful upon the mountains: Compare with Nahum 1:16, an oracle celebrating the earlier fall of Assyria's capital, Nineveh. Here it is applied to the

52:10 Is 45:22,
Is 51:9, Is 66:18;
Lk 3:6

52:11 Is 48:20;
2Co 6:17

52:13 Is 42:1;
Phi 2:9

52:14 Is 53:2,
Is 53:3

52:15 Is 49:7;
Ro 15:21

53:1 Is 51:9;
In 12:38;
Ro 10:16

53:2 Is 11:1,
Is 11:10,
Is 52:14

53:3 Ps 22:6,
Is 49:7, Is 53:4;
In 1:10, In 1:11

who brings good news,
who proclaims salvation,
who says to Zion, "Your God rules!"

- <sup>8</sup> Listen! Your lookouts lift their voice; they sing out together!
Right before their eyes they see the LORD returning to Zion.

- <sup>9</sup> Break into song together, you ruins of Jerusalem!
The LORD has comforted his people and has redeemed Jerusalem.

- <sup>10</sup> The LORD has bared his holy arm in view of all the nations;
all the ends of the earth have seen our God's victory.

- <sup>11</sup> Depart! Depart! Go out from there!
Unclean! Don't touch!
Get out of that place, purify yourselves, carriers of the LORD's equipment!

- <sup>12</sup> You won't go out in a rush,
nor will you run away,
because the one going before you is the LORD;
your rear guard is the God of Israel.

Suffering servant

- <sup>13</sup> Look, my servant will succeed.
He will be exalted and lifted very high.

- <sup>14</sup> Just as many were appalled by you,
he too appeared disfigured, inhuman, his appearance unlike that of mortals.

- <sup>15</sup> But he will astonish<sup>m</sup> many nations.
Kings will be silenced because of him, because they will see what they haven't seen before;
what they haven't heard before, they will ponder.

53 Who can believe what we have heard, and for whose sake has the LORD's arm<sup>a</sup> been revealed?

- <sup>2</sup> He grew up like a young plant before us,<sup>7</sup> like a root from dry ground.

He possessed no splendid form for us to see,
no desirable appearance.

- <sup>3</sup> He was despised and avoided by others;
a man who suffered, who knew sickness well.

<sup>m</sup>Or sprinkle <sup>a</sup>Or power <sup>7</sup>Or him

announcement of liberation from Babylon. God's reign is openly proclaimed (cf. Pss 93:1; 96:10; 97:1; 99:1; Isa 41:21; 43:15; 44:6).

52:8 Your lookouts lift their voice: Compare with Lamentations 4:17; Numbers 14:14.

52:9 Break into song: The first part of this verse echoes Psalm 98, which appears more fully in Isaiah 52:10; see note on Isaiah 42:10-12. The second part echoes again God's comfort of Zion; see notes on Isaiah 40:1; 51:12.

52:10 See Psalm 98:1-4, 8. In the Hebrew, the final phrase of this verse precisely repeats Psalm 98:3. The claim that the entire world will see what God does for Israel began at Isaiah 42:10 and reaches its climax here.

52:11 Depart! Depart! Go out from there!: As in Isaiah 48:20, the invitation to leave Babylon is made explicit. Here it is described as separation from the Gentile city. This reverses Lamentations 4:15, where the Israelites are rejected as unclean (cf. Isa 52:1). According to instruction in the Pentateuch, the shout unclean! was used to warn the healthy against those with skin disease (Lev 13:45).

52:12 You won't go out in a rush: In contrast to the hasty flight from Egypt (Deut 16:3), those leaving Babylon will join a stately procession, because God is going before them (as in Num 14:14) and behind them.

52:13-53:12 Look, my servant will succeed: For a third time in Isaiah 49-52, the servant reappears. As in Isaiah 50:4-11, the servant's suffering at the hand of others is reviewed. Unlike that poem and Isaiah 49:1-6, this one doesn't offer the servant's own words—in fact, his silence is noted (Isa 53:17). He is discussed by surprised foreign rulers (see 52:15). Their speech is preceded in 52:13-15 and followed in 53:11-12 by the divine voice.

53:1 Who can believe what we have heard: This verse is quoted, in different contexts, in John 12:38 and Romans 10:16.

53:2-3 possessed no splendid form for us to see: God's Like someone from whom people hid their faces, he was despised, and we didn't think about him.

<sup>4</sup>It was certainly our sickness that he carried, and our sufferings that he bore,
but we thought him afflicted, struck down by God and tormented.

<sup>5</sup>He was pierced because of our rebellions and crushed because of our crimes.
He bore the punishment that made us whole;
by his wounds we are healed.

<sup>6</sup>Like sheep we had all wandered away, each going its own way,
but the LORD let fall on him all our crimes.

<sup>7</sup>He was oppressed and tormented, but didn't open his mouth.
Like a lamb being brought to slaughter, like a ewe silent before her shearers,
he didn't open his mouth.

<sup>8</sup>Due to an unjust ruling he was taken away, and his fate—who will think about it?
He was eliminated from the land of the living, struck dead because of my people's rebellion.

<sup>9</sup>His grave was among the wicked, his tomb with evildoers,<sup>a</sup> though he had done no violence, and had spoken nothing false.

<sup>10</sup>But the LORD wanted to crush him and to make him suffer.
If his life is offered<sup>a</sup> as restitution,
he will see his offspring; he will enjoy long life.
The LORD's plans will come to fruition through him.

<sup>11</sup>After his deep anguish he will see light,<sup>b</sup> and he will be satisfied.
Through his knowledge, the righteous one, my servant, will make many righteous, and will bear their guilt.

<sup>a</sup>Cf Tg, MT and with a rich one in his deaths <sup>a</sup>Or if you place his life <sup>b</sup>DSS (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>); MT lacks light.

servant isn't attractive by human standards. He may have been ill (Isa 53:3) or disfigured (Isa 52:14). He is discounted and rejected; see similarly Lamentations 3:63.

53:4 It was certainly our sickness that he carried: This verse is quoted in Matthew 8:17 to describe Jesus' healing of the sick. we thought him afflicted: The onlookers understood the servant to bear punishment from God. They didn't realize he was carrying their sufferings. See similarly Lamentations 3:33-34.

53:5-6 He bore the punishment that made us whole: Like a sacrificial lamb, the servant suffers not only because of others but on their behalf, for their redemption. by his wounds we are healed: This phrase, as well as part of 53:6, is quoted in 1 Peter 2:24-25 to portray Jesus as a role model for those patiently enduring undeserved suffering.

53:7 Like a lamb being brought to slaughter: See Jeremiah's self-description in Jeremiah 11:19. When Philip interprets scripture to the Ethiopian eunuch in Acts 8:27-39, the eunuch is reading Isaiah 53:7-8. The eunuch, a mutilated man himself, may be drawn to a figure who likewise suffers deformity and ostracism. he didn't open his mouth: As in Isaiah 50:4-11, the servant resembles the suffering speaker in Lamentations 3. As Lamentations 3:28 prescribes, he doesn't speak. Others speak for him.

53:8-10 The servant suffers unjust and undeserved afflictions. But according to this writer, undeserved suffering can result in redemption for others. This allows divine justice to coexist with innocent suffering. Since not all the suffering caused by Jerusalem's destruction and Israel's exile was deserved, the concept of innocent suffering on behalf of others opens the possibility for meaning in pain. While the poem is most likely modeled on the experiences of exemplary individuals, the suggestion is that Israel suffered on behalf of the sins of surrounding nations.

53:4 Mt 8:17
53:5 Ro 4:25;
1Pt 2:24
53:6 Is 56:11;
1Pt 2:25
53:7 Mk 14:61;
Jn 1:29; Jn 19:9;
Ac 8:32;
1Pt 2:23
53:8 Is 53:12;
Dn 9:26
53:9 Mt 27:57;
Heb 4:15;
1Pt 2:22; 1Jn 3:5
53:10 Lv 5:15;
Ps 22:30;
Is 53:6;
Zec 13:7;
Heb 9:26
53:11 Is 45:25

53:12 Is 53:6,
Is 53:11,
Lk 22:37;
Ph 2:9;
Heb 9:28
54:1 1Sa 2:5;
Is 49:20, Is 62:4,
Is 66:7, Ga 4:27

54:2 Ex 35:18,
Ex 39:40;
Is 49:19,
Is 49:20,
Jer 10:20

54:3 Is 49:19

54:4 Is 45:17

54:5 Is 62:5,
Jer 3:14;
Hos 2:19

54:6 Is 49:14,
Is 50:1, Is 62:4

54:7 Ps 30:5;
Is 26:20, Is 43:5

54:8 Is 55:3,
Is 60:10

54:9 Gn 8:21,
Gn 9:11; Is 12:1

- <sup>12</sup>Therefore, I will give him a share with the great, and he will divide the spoil with the strong,
in return for exposing his life to death and being numbered with rebels, though he carried the sin of many and pleaded on behalf of those who rebelled.

Sing, barren woman

54 Sing, barren woman who has borne no child; break forth into singing and cry out, you who were never in labor, for the children of the wife who has been deserted will be more numerous than the children of the married, says the LORD.

- <sup>2</sup>Enlarge the site of your tent, and stretch out the drapes of your dwellings;
don't hold back.
Lengthen your tent ropes and strengthen your stakes.

<sup>3</sup>To the right and to the left you will burst out, and your children will possess the nations' land and settle their desolate cities.

<sup>4</sup>Don't fear, because you won't be ashamed;
don't be dismayed, because you won't be disgraced.
You will forget the shame of your youth;
you'll no longer remember the disgrace of your widowhood.

<sup>5</sup>The one marrying you is the one who made you—
the LORD of heavenly forces is his name.
The one redeeming you is the holy one of Israel,
the one called the God of all the earth.

<sup>6</sup>As an abandoned and dejected woman the LORD has summoned you;
as a young wife when she is rejected, says your God.

<sup>7</sup>For a brief moment I abandoned you, but with great mercy I will bring you back.

<sup>8</sup>In an outburst of rage, I hid my face from you for a moment, but with everlasting love I have consoled you, says your redeemer, the LORD.

<sup>9</sup>These are like the days<sup>c</sup> of Noah for me, when I promised that Noah's waters would never again cover the earth.
Likewise I promise not to rage against you or rebuke you.

<sup>10</sup>The mountains may shift, and the hills may be shaken,
but my faithful love won't shift from you,
and my covenant of peace won't be shaken, says the LORD, the one who pities you.

<sup>c</sup>Or for the waters

53:12 being numbered with rebels: Compare with Luke 22:37; Hebrews 9:28.

54:1 Sing, barren woman who has borne no child: Like mountains, hills, forests, and trees in Isaiah 44:23; 49:13; 55:12; and Jerusalem's ruins in Isaiah 52:9, Zion herself is invited to burst into song. In Isaiah 51:18-20 she has lost children, but here she never had them. This paves the way for Zion to accept the returning exiles as her children (cf. Isa 54:2-3).

54:2 Enlarge the site of your tent: This reverses Jeremiah 4:20; 10:20, in which Jerusalem's tent was proclaimed destroyed. The complaint in Lamentations 1:1, 4 is of an empty city, but here as well as in Isaiah 49:19-20, the happy problem is overcrowding.

54:7 For a brief moment I abandoned you: In Isaiah 49:14

Zion was heard complaining that God had abandoned and forgotten her, and in the next verse God denied forgetting her. Here God admits to brief abandonment, but claims that it was slight and momentary compared with the current reconciliation.

54:9 like the days of Noah: God briefly abandoned the earth, but afterward promised never to do so again. God promises not to punish Zion again.

54:10 The mountains may shift, and the hills may be shaken: Compare with Psalm 46:3-4, a psalm of reassurance of divine protection. Assurances that the city is once again a secure place serve not only to renew trust in God's protection and goodwill, but also to address the practical question of physical safety in a city that had been breached and burned.

- 11 Suffering one, storm-tossed, uncomforted, look, I am setting your gemstones in silvery metal and your foundations with sapphires.
- 12 I will make your towers of rubies, and your gates of beryl,
and all your walls of precious jewels.
- 13 All your children will be disciples of the LORD—
I will make peace abound for your children.
- 14 You will be firmly founded in righteousness.
You will stay far from oppression because you won't fear, far from terror because it won't come near you.
- 15 If anyone attacks you, it's none of my doing.
Whoever attacks you will fall because of you.
- 16 Look, I myself created the metalworker who blows the fire of coal and who produces a tool for his work.
And I myself created the looter to destroy.
- 17 No weapon fashioned against you will succeed, and you may condemn every tongue that disputes with you.
This is the heritage of the LORD's servants, whose righteousness comes from me, says the LORD.

54:11 Rev 21:19
54:12 Ex 28:19
54:13
Ps 119:165;
Is 48:18; Jn 6:45
54:14 Zec 9:8
54:15 Is 8:9;
Is 41:11; Zec 2:8
54:17 Is 45:24;
Is 50:8
55:1 Mt 5:6;
Jn 4:14; Jn 7:37;
Rev 21:6;
Rev 22:17
55:2 Ps 22:26;
Is 25:6;
Jer 31:14;
Hos 8:7
55:3 Is 61:8;
Jer 32:40;
Ac 13:34;
Heb 13:20
55:4 Dn 9:25;
Mt 5:2; Rev 1:5
55:5 Is 49:6;
Is 60:9
55:6 Dt 4:29;
Ps 32:6;
Jer 29:13;
Am 5:4;
Ac 17:27
55:7 Prv 28:13;
Is 43:25;
Is 44:22;
Eze 18:27

Invitation to the feast

- 55 All of you who are thirsty, come to the water!
Whoever has no money, come, buy food and eat!
Without money, at no cost, buy wine and milk!
- 2 Why spend money for what isn't food, and your earnings for what doesn't satisfy?
Listen carefully to me and eat what is good;
enjoy the richest of feasts.
- 3 Listen and come to me;
listen, and you will live.
I will make an everlasting covenant with you,
my faithful loyalty to David.
- 4 Look, I made him a witness to the peoples, a prince and commander of peoples.
- 5 Look, you will call a nation you don't know, a nation you don't know will run to you because of the LORD your God, the holy one of Israel, who has glorified you.
- 6 Seek the LORD when he can still be found;
call him while he is yet near.
- 7 Let the wicked abandon their ways and the sinful their schemes.

54:11 The imagery shifts from Zion as woman to Zion as city, rebuilt with precious stones.

54:13 peace abound for your children: Psalm 72:3-4, 7, which celebrated the peace abounding with righteous kingship, is evoked here. The prophet here foresees peace abounding in a kingless city (cf. Isa 55:3, in which the promises to David are given to the people overall).

54:17 the heritage of the LORD's servants: In this final verse addressed to Zion, God's servant (now plural) merges with her children, now envisioned living safely with their mother, the city of Jerusalem.

55:1-13 Scholars consider this chapter the end of the "exilic" section of Isaiah, or Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55), but no clear division separates it from what follows.

55:1-5 All of you who are thirsty: God's bounty, imagined as plentiful water, wine, milk, and rich food, is extended to all who will come (see Isa 25:6-8; Prov 9:1-6). Water is a powerful symbol of God's provision for the thirsty in Isaiah 41:17-18; 43:20; 44:3; 48:21; 49:10 (see also Isa 12:3; 32:2; 33:16).

55:3 faithful loyalty to David: This is the only mention of King David in Isaiah. It concerns God's covenant with Jerusalem's royalty (see Ps 89; 2 Sam 7:8-16; 23:5, where an "eternal covenant" is mentioned between God and David). Here, after the collapse of the kingship, the covenant is bestowed on the whole community (see also Isa 61:8; Jer 32:40; 50:5; Ezek 16:60; 37:26; Ps 105:10).

55:5 call a nation you don't know: As in Isaiah 2:2-4; 11:10; 42:6; 49:6; 60:3, other nations will be attracted to Israel because of the LORD your God. See Isaiah 49:7b.

55:6-7 God's mercy for those who return is generous (see Ps 103:3-4, 10-14; Isa 43:25; 44:22; Ezek 18).

55:8 Ro 11:33
 55:9 Ps 103:11;
 Ro 11:33
 55:10 Is 30:23;
 2Co 9:10
 55:11 Dt 32:2;
 Is 40:8, Is 44:26,
 Is 45:23,
 Is 46:10
 56:1 Is 1:17,
 Is 46:13, Is 51:5
 56:2 Ex 20:8;
 Is 58:13;
 Jer 17:21;
 Eze 20:12
 56:3 Dt 23:1;
 Is 14:1, Jer 38:7;
 Zec 8:20;
 Ac 8:27
 56:4 Ex 31:13;
 Is 56:2

Let them return to the LORD so that he may have mercy on them, to our God, because he is generous with forgiveness.

- <sup>8</sup>My plans aren't your plans, nor are your ways my ways, says the LORD.
- <sup>9</sup>Just as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my plans than your plans.
- <sup>10</sup>Just as the rain and the snow come down from the sky and don't return there without watering the earth, making it conceive and yield plants and providing seed to the sower and food to the eater, <sup>11</sup>so is my word that comes from my mouth;
 it does not return to me empty.
 Instead, it does what I want,
 and accomplishes what I intend.
- <sup>12</sup>Yes, you will go out with celebration, and you will be brought back in peace.
 Even the mountains and the hills will burst into song before you;
 all the trees of the field will clap their hands.
- <sup>13</sup>In place of the thorn the cypress will grow;
 in place of the nettle the myrtle will grow.
 This will attest to the LORD's stature, an enduring reminder that won't be removed.

Keepers of God's Sabbath

56 The LORD says:
 Act justly and do what is righteous, because my salvation is coming soon,
 and my righteousness will be revealed.

- <sup>2</sup>Happy is the one who does this,
 the person who holds it fast, who keeps the Sabbath, not making it impure, and avoids doing any evil.
- <sup>3</sup>Don't let the immigrant who has joined with the LORD say,
 "The LORD will exclude me from the people."
 And don't let the eunuch say,
 "I'm just a dry tree."
- <sup>4</sup>The LORD says:
 To the eunuchs who keep my sabbaths, choose what I desire,
 and remain loyal to my covenant.

55:8-9 My plans aren't your plans: The theme of divine and human ways, and divine and human plans, carries over from Isaiah 55:7 ("schemes"). As in Isaiah 5:19; 8:10; 14:26; 25:1; 29:15; 30:1; 46:10-11, God's plans rather than human ones will stand.

55:10-11 The enduring effectiveness of God's words are reaffirmed, as in Isaiah 40:8.

55:12 go out with celebration: The audience is called to leave Babylon, not as escapees, but as in a religious procession (see Isa 48:20; 52:11-12). As elsewhere, members of the nonhuman world praise God (Isa 42:10; 44:23; 49:13; 52:9; cf. Pss 96; 98).

55:13 enduring reminder that won't be removed: See Isaiah 56:5.

56:1 Act justly and do what is righteous: While much of First Isaiah (Isa 1-39) discussed human righteousness (or its absence; see Isa 1:27; 5:7; 28:17; 32:16-17; 33:15); and much of Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55) discussed divine righteousness (see Isa 45:23-24; 51:6-8; 54:14, 17), these verses connect the two. The God of justice pays attention to what humans do and will demand an accounting, delivering those who have not received justice.

56:2 who keeps the Sabbath: Concern for the Sabbath will recur in Isaiah 56:6 and Isaiah 58. It recurs at the book's end in Isaiah 66:23. Sabbath-keeping involves rest not only for the self and family but for employees and work animals (Exod 20:8-11; Deut 5:12-15), so that all may be renewed.

56:3-8 Reassurance for both immigrants and eunuchs is intertwined. Some had been explicitly excluded from the worshipping assembly in instruction found in the Pentateuch. Deuteronomy 23:1 (see also Lev 21:20-23; 22:24) banned men with damaged or missing sex organs from participating in worship; and Isaiah 56:2-3 excluded those born of illicit unions and the descendants of Ammonites and Moabites. Status before God isn't determined by ancestry or physical wholeness, but by behavior. Eunuchs who prove faithful will be given an everlasting name, and

Third Isaiah's Setting and Arrangement The clear shift in context that occurs with the beginning of Isaiah 40 isn't so sharply drawn at Isaiah 56, and for this reason some scholars argue against the existence of a "Third Isaiah." But most distinguish between the messages of Isaiah 40–55, which primarily call Judeans living elsewhere to return and rebuild, and those of Isaiah 56–66, which mostly address people living in Jerusalem. While Jerusalem remains the center of concern, the literary forms, voices, and messages found in the last 11 chapters are indeed more varied than those in the previous 16. In addition, these chapters recall elements of Isaiah 1–39 in a much more thorough way than Isaiah 40–55 does.

A particular sequence scholars call an "envelope structure" fits these chapters together, like Russian dolls, one inside another, which is inside of still another. Isaiah 60–62 (see sidebar, "Isaiah 60–62" at Isa 60) forms the center of this sequence, with discussions of God's enemies (Isa 59:15b–21; 63:1–6) on either side. Community laments are found outside these (Isa 59:9–15a; 63:7–64:12); and in the outermost portion, discussions of right worship and prosperity (Isa 56:1–59:8; 65:1–66:24). Such a structure imposes order on materials that may otherwise appear more diverse. Here the editor seems to have placed priority on the outermost and innermost layers as expressions both of Jerusalem's promise and of its mission.

56:5 Is 56:13;
Rev 3:12
56:7 Is 2:2,
Is 2:3; Mt 21:13;
Mk 11:17;
Lk 19:46
56:8 Ps 147:2;
Is 11:12, Is 60:3;
Jn 10:16
56:10 Jer 14:13;
Eze 3:17
56:11 Jer 6:13,
Jer 22:17;
Eze 34:2;
Mt 3:11
57:1 2Ki 22:20;
Ps 12:1; Mt 7:2
57:2 Gn 17:1;
2Ch 16:14;
Dn 12:13;
Lk 2:29;
Rev 14:13

<sup>5</sup>In my temple and courts,

I will give them a monument and a name better than sons and daughters.

I will give to them an enduring name that won't be removed.

<sup>6</sup>The immigrants who have joined me,<sup>d</sup> serving me and loving my name,<sup>e</sup> becoming my servants,<sup>f</sup> everyone who keeps the Sabbath without making it impure, and those who hold fast to my covenant:

<sup>7</sup>I will bring them to my holy mountain, and bring them joy in my house of prayer.

I will accept their entirely burned offerings and sacrifices on my altar.

My house will be known as a house of prayer for all peoples, <sup>8</sup>says the LORD God, who gathers Israel's outcasts.

I will gather still others to those I have already gathered.

Neglectful leaders

<sup>9</sup>All you beasts of the field, come and eat, all you beasts of the forest!

<sup>10</sup>The lookouts are blind;

they all lack sense.

They are all mute dogs that can't bark, dreamers, loungers, loving to sleep.

<sup>11</sup>But the dogs have monstrous appetites.

They never have enough.

They are shepherds who don't understand.

All of them have turned to their own ways, every last one greedy for profit.

<sup>12</sup>"Come! I'll get some wine!

Let's drink beer!

Tomorrow will be like today, or even much better."

57 The righteous person perishes, and no one takes it to heart.

Loyal people are gathered together, and no one understands that because of evil the righteous one passed away.

<sup>1</sup>They will find peace;

those who walk in straight paths will find rest on their burial beds.

<sup>d</sup>Or to the LORD <sup>e</sup>Or serving him and loving the LORD's name <sup>f</sup>Or becoming his servants better than children. Faithful immigrants are welcomed to worship and even to serve as priests (see Isa 66:19–21). In Matthew 21:13; Mark 11:17; and Luke 19:46, Jesus quotes 56:7, joining it to Jeremiah 7:11.

56:9–57:2 All you beasts of the field, come and eat: A society ruled by unfit leaders is vulnerable to predators, like a flock of sheep neglected by their guards. Even in death, however, the righteous find escape from present evil.

57:3 Mt 16:4

57:4 Ps 35:21;
Is 1:457:6 Is 65:11;
Jer 3:9, Jer 7:18,
Jer 19:13;
Eze 20:2857:7 Jer 3:6;
Eze 16:16

57:11 Ps 50:21

57:13 Jgs 10:14;
Ps 37:9, Is 56:7

57:14 Is 62:10

Accusations against idolaters

<sup>3</sup> Come here, you children of sorcery, offspring of adultery and prostitution!

<sup>4</sup> Whom are you mocking?

Against whom do you open your mouth wide and stick out your tongue?

Aren't you children of rebellion, offspring of lies,

<sup>5</sup> who console yourselves with idols under every green tree, who slaughter children in the valleys, under the rocky cliffs?

<sup>6</sup> You belong with the smooth talkers<sup>g</sup> in the valley;
they, they are your lot.

For them you poured out a drink offering, and presented a grain offering.

Should I condone these things?

<sup>7</sup> On a very high mountain you made your bed.

You went up there to offer a sacrifice.

<sup>8</sup> Behind the door and the doorpost you placed your symbols.

You abandoned me and lay down, making room in your bed and making deals for yourself with them.<sup>h</sup>

You loved their bed;

you saw their nakedness.

<sup>9</sup> You went down to Molech<sup>i</sup> with oil, and you slathered on your ointments;
you sent your messengers far away, sent them down to the underworld.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>10</sup> Worn out by all your efforts, yet you wouldn't say, "This is useless."

You found new strength;
therefore, you weren't tired.

<sup>11</sup> Whom did you dread and fear so that you lied, didn't remember me or give me a thought?

Isn't it because I was silent and closed my eyes that you stopped fearing me?

<sup>12</sup> I will bring evidence about your righteousness and your actions;
they won't help you.

<sup>13</sup> When you cry out, let those things you've gathered save you!
The wind will lift them all;
one breath will take them away.

but those taking refuge in me will inherit the land and possess my holy mountain.

Peace for the remorseful

<sup>14</sup> It will be said: "Survey, survey; build a road!
Remove barriers from my people's road!"

<sup>g</sup>Or smooth things <sup>h</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>i</sup>Or the king <sup>j</sup>Heb Sheol

57:3-13 Come here, you children of sorcery: This passage is dark in tone, and it isn't clear what it refers to. It calls a female figure, most likely Jerusalem, a sorceress and whore (see Isa 1:21 and, with a different word, Isa 47:9, 12). The language is sexual in nature, following traditions best known in Hosea 1-3 and Ezekiel 16 (see also Mal 3:5). Idolatry is described as adultery. It contrasts sharply with treatments of Jerusalem as the city's mother in Isaiah 49:14-50:1; 51:17-52:12; 54:1-17; as well as in Isaiah 60; 62; 66, in which sons and daughters are once again said to flock toward Jerusalem.

57:4 Against whom do you open your mouth wide: Unlike the worshipful, whose mouths are open in praise and whose tongues speak honorably, the addressees open mouths only to mock (see Ps 35:18-28). They contrast sharply with the suffering servant in Isaiah 53:7, who didn't open his mouth.

57:5 under every green tree: similar to the criticisms of idolatry in Deuteronomy 12:2; 2 Kings 16:4; 17:10; Jeremiah 2:20; 3:6, 13; Ezekiel 6:13. slaughter children in the valleys: Though scripture condemns human sacrifice, ample evidence shows that it was practiced in Jerusalem's Hinnom Valley (Lev 18:21; 20:2-5; Deut 12:31; 18:10; 2 Kgs 16:3; 21:6; 23:10; Jer 7:31).

57:9 Molech: a Canaanite god associated with child sacrifice.
57:14 build a road: an exact repetition of Isaiah 40:3.

57:15 Dt 33:27;
Ps 34:18,
Ps 51:17;
Is 66:2; Lk 1:49
57:16 Ps 103:9
57:17 Is 56:11;
Jer 6:13
57:18 Jer 3:22;
Hos 14:4
57:19 Ac 2:39;
Eph 2:17;
Heb 13:15
57:20 Job 18:5;
Jud 1:13
57:21 Is 48:22
58:1 Mi 3:8
58:2 Is 1:11,
Is 29:13, Is 48:1;
Ti 1:16
58:3 Ps 69:10;
Jer 14:12;
Zec 7:5;
Mal 3:14
58:4 Dt 1:12;
1Ki 21:9;
Prv 17:19;
Prv 26:21;
Is 59:2

- <sup>15</sup>The one who is high and lifted up, who lives forever, whose name is holy, says:
I live on high, in holiness, and also with the crushed<sup>k</sup> and the lowly, reviving the spirit of the lowly, reviving the heart of those who have been crushed.<sup>1</sup>
- <sup>16</sup>I won't always accuse, nor will I be enraged forever.
It is my own doing that their spirit is exhausted—
I gave them breath!
- <sup>17</sup>I was enraged about their illegal profits;
I struck them; in rage I withdrew from them.
Yet they went on wandering wherever they wanted.
- <sup>18</sup>I have seen their ways, but I will heal them.
I will guide them, and reward them with comfort.
And for those who mourn,
- <sup>19</sup>I will create reason for praise:<sup>m</sup> utter prosperity to those far and near,
and I will heal them, says the LORD.
- <sup>20</sup>But the wicked are like the churning sea that can't keep still.
They churn up from their waters muck and mud.
- <sup>21</sup>There is no peace, says my God, for the wicked.

Fasting from injustice

- 58 Shout loudly; don't hold back; raise your voice like a trumpet!
Announce to my people their crime,
to the house of Jacob their sins.
- <sup>2</sup>They seek me day after day, desiring knowledge of my ways like a nation that acted righteously, that didn't abandon their God.
They ask me for righteous judgments, wanting to be close to God.
- <sup>3</sup>"Why do we fast and you don't see;
why afflict ourselves and you don't notice?"
Yet on your fast day you do whatever you want,
and oppress all your workers.
- <sup>4</sup>You quarrel and brawl, and then you fast;
you hit each other violently with your fists.
You shouldn't fast as you are doing today
if you want to make your voice heard on high.

<sup>k</sup>Or contrue <sup>1</sup>Or contrue <sup>m</sup>Heb uncertain

57:15 The one who is high and lifted up: For the same language about God, see Isaiah 6:1; 33:10. For God's opposition to the proud, see Isaiah 2:12-17. For a similar treatment of God's exaltation yet tenderness toward the lowly, see Isaiah 66:1-2.

57:16 I won't always accuse: Compare with Psalm 103:9.

57:18 I will heal them: Compare with Lamentations 2:13; Jeremiah 3:22; 30:17; 33:6; Hosea 14:4.

57:19 utter prosperity: The words in Hebrew are shalom, shalom. This verse is quoted in reference to Jesus in Ephesians 2:17.

57:21 There is no peace: Compare with Isaiah 48:22. In contrast to the peace God gives to those who are mourning, the wicked who churn up trouble will find no peace.

58:1-14 A lesson on insincere and sincere worship: Devout rituals are meaningless when accompanied by self-serving practices. But fasting from injustice and actively pursuing the interests of those who are socially defenseless—the hungry, oppressed, naked, and homeless—benefits the whole society.

58:1-2 Shout loudly; don't hold back: The prophet is instructed to correct those expecting God to hear their prayers. For similar language, see Micah 3:8. The chapter's structure reflects not condemnation but ethical instruction.

58:3 Why do we fast and you don't see: Fasting often expressed mourning, petition, or a change of heart and mind, and carried hope for divine response (Judg 20:26; 1 Sam 7:6; 2 Sam 12:16-23; Ezra 8:21-23; Neh 1:4; 9:1-2; Esth 4:3, 16; Pss 35:13; 109:24; Jer 14:12; Dan 9:3; Joel 1:14; 2:12-17; Jon 3:5). The question suggests divine neglect: We are doing right; why does God fail to respond? The difficulties of life in the early decades of post-exilic Jerusalem may have led to such frustration—see, for instance, Haggai 1:6-11; 2:16-19; Zechariah 8:10. But the fact that people continue to act unjustly even on fast days suggests that

58:5 1Ki 21:27;
Zec 7:5
58:6 Neh 5:10
58:7 Job 31:19;
Is 16:4;
Eze 18:7;
Mt 23:5;
Mt 23:36
58:8 Job 11:17;
Is 52:12;
Is 58:10
58:9 Ps 122;
Ps 50:15;
Pev 6:13;
Is 30:19;
Is 65:24
58:10 Dt 15:7;
Job 11:17;
Pev 11:25;
Pev 28:27;
Is 58:8
58:11 Ps 48:14;
Ps 107:9;
Is 57:18;
Jer 31:12
58:12 Is 49:8;
Is 61:4
58:13 Eze 20:8;
Is 56:2;
Jer 17:21
58:14 Dt 32:13;
Job 22:26;
Is 1:20
59:1 Nm 11:23;
Josh 4:24;
Is 50:2, Is 58:9,
Is 65:24

- 5 Is this the kind of fast I choose,
a day of self-affliction, of bending one's head like a reed and of lying down in mourning clothing and ashes?
Is this what you call a fast,
a day acceptable to the LORD?
- 6 Isn't this the fast I choose:
releasing wicked restraints, untying the ropes of a yoke, setting free the mistreated, and breaking every yoke?
- 7 Isn't it sharing your bread with the hungry and bringing the homeless poor into your house, covering the naked when you see them,
and not hiding from your own family?
- 8 Then your light will break out like the dawn, and you will be healed quickly.
Your own righteousness will walk before you,
and the LORD's glory will be your rear guard.
- 9 Then you will call, and the LORD will answer;
you will cry for help, and God will say, "I'm here."
If you remove the yoke from among you,
the finger-pointing, the wicked speech;
- 10 if you open your heart to the hungry, and provide abundantly for those who are afflicted, your light will shine in the darkness,
and your gloom will be like the noon.
- 11 The LORD will guide you continually and provide for you, even in parched places.
He will rescue your bones.
You will be like a watered garden,
like a spring of water that won't run dry.
- 12 They will rebuild ancient ruins on your account;
the foundations of generations past you will restore.
You will be called Mender of Broken Walls, Restorer of Livable Streets.
- 13 If you stop trampling the Sabbath, stop doing whatever you want on my holy day,
and consider the Sabbath a delight, sacred to the LORD, honored, and honor it instead of doing things your way, seeking what you want and doing business as usual,
- 14 then you will take delight in the LORD.
I will let you ride on the heights of the earth;
I will sustain you with the heritage of your ancestor Jacob.
The mouth of the LORD has spoken.

Alienation from God

59 Look! The LORD does not lack the power to save, nor are his ears too dull to hear, religious devotion isn't causing worshippers to think about their treatment of others.

58:5-7 Displays of piety that simply draw attention to the practice of fasting produce nothing (see likewise Zech 7:5-10). As in earlier prophets' criticisms of religious practices, it isn't the fast itself that's in question but the spirit in which it's carried out (see Amos 5:21-25; Isa 1:12-27; Mic 6:6-8). The acceptable fast means refraining from taking economic advantage of others, and instead offering assistance necessary for health and dignity. Complaints mentioned in Nehemiah 5:1-8 suggest the economic des- peration of some Judeans during Persian rule.

58:8-12 Generosity toward others results in healing, com- munion with God, guidance, renewal, and restoration.

58:13-14 Self-serving piety is called trampling the Sab- bath. Those who honor Sabbaths and holy days do what pleases God on those days.

59:1-8 The hardships the community faces, and the gulf |

- <sup>2</sup>but your misdeeds have separated you from your God.
Your sins have hidden his face from you so that you aren't heard.
- <sup>3</sup>Your hands are stained with blood, and your fingers with guilt.
Your lips speak lies;
your tongues mutter malice.
- <sup>4</sup>No one sues honestly;
no one pleads truthfully.
By trusting in emptiness and speaking deceit, they conceive harm and give birth to malice.
- <sup>5</sup>They hatch adders' eggs, and weave spiderwebs.
Whoever eats their eggs will die.
Moreover, the crushed egg hatches a viper.
- <sup>6</sup>Their webs can't serve as clothing;
they can't cover themselves with their deeds.
Their deeds are deeds of malice,
and the work of violence is in their hands.
- <sup>7</sup>Their feet run to evil;
they rush to shed innocent blood.
Their thoughts are thoughts of malice;
desolation and destruction litter their highways.
- <sup>8</sup>They don't know the way of peace;
there's no justice in their paths.
They make their roads crooked;
no one who walks in them knows peace.

59:2 Is 1:15;
Eze 39:23
59:3 Is 1:15
59:4 Job 15:35
59:5 Job 8:14;
Is 11:8, Is 14:29,
Is 30:6; Jer 8:17
59:6 Prv 4:17;
Is 28:20; Jer 6:7
59:7 Prv 1:16;
Prv 6:17;
Mk 7:21;
Ro 3:15
59:8 Ps 125:5;
Prv 2:15;
Is 48:22,
Is 57:21;
Lk 1:79
59:9 Is 5:30
59:10 Dt 28:29;
Job 5:14;
Lam 3:6
59:11 Is 38:14;
Eze 7:16
59:12 Eze 9:6;
Jer 14:7

Injustice obscures vision

- <sup>9</sup>Because of all this, justice is far from us, and righteousness beyond our reach.
We expect light, and there is darkness;
we await a gleam of light, but walk about in gloom.
- <sup>10</sup>We grope along the wall like the blind;
like those without eyes we grope.
We stumble at noonday as if it were twilight, and among the strong as if we were dying.
- <sup>11</sup>All of us growl like bears, and like doves we moan.
We expect justice, but there is none;
we await salvation, but it is far from us.
- <sup>12</sup>Our rebellions are numerous in your presence;
our sins testify against us.

between worshippers and God, result from human injustice. God won't hear the prayers of those who are violent and deceitful.

59:2-3 As in Isaiah 58, religious piety doesn't bring practitioners of injustice any redemption or help.

59:4 trusting in emptiness: Those engaging in dishonesty are accused of placing their faith in what is (in Hebrew) tohu; that is, the very chaos that preceded God's original creation; see Genesis 1:2. This has been a key word in Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55), which calls the nations, idols, and idolmakers tohu; see Isaiah 40:23; 41:29; 44:9; 45:18-19; Jeremiah 4:23. Unlike God, who brought forth order, the people are imagined as giving birth to the very malice they are practicing; compare with Job 15:35; Psalm 7:14.

59:5-6 They hatch adders' eggs: The image of birth from Isaiah 59:4 becomes even more elaborate in this verse, as the worshippers are compared with snakes and spiders, which can only produce poisonous eggs. Their webs of deceit won't clothe them.

59:7-8 Their feet run to evil: The image shifts to that of the "path" taken by means of deeds. Rather than the level path of peace (cf. Isa 40:3; 62:10), they take the crooked road and perform destructive deeds. As in Isaiah 57:21, those who disrupt peace for others won't know peace themselves (see Prov 1:16; 6:18).

59:9-15a justice is far from us: The following lament mirrors the accusations of Isaiah 59:1-8.

59:9-10 In a deceitful society, moral vision is so lacking that the whole community lives as if in darkness (cf. Isa 29:9-10; 56:10). All the hopeful words about God's bringing light and healing blindness (cf. Isa 35:5; 42:6-7, 16) can't be fulfilled if the people insist on living under cover of darkness.

59:12 A confession of sins that mirrors the accusations of Isaiah 59:3-4.

59:13 Prov 30:9;

Is 5:7; Is 59:3;

Is 59:4;

Mk 7:21

59:14 Ps 82:2;

Ecc 3:16;

Is 1:21; Is 5:7;

Hab 1:4

59:15 Is 5:7;

Is 29:21;

Is 59:14;

Jer 7:28;

Hab 1:13

59:17 Is 9:7;

Eph 6:14;

Eph 6:17;

1Th 5:8

59:20 Job 19:25;

Eze 18:30;

Ro 11:26;

Ro 11:27

59:21 Jer 31:31

50:1 Is 52:2;

Is 2:32

50:2 1Sa 2:9;

Ps 82:5;

Jer 13:16;

Ac 26:18;

Col 1:13

Our rebellions are with us;
we're aware of our guilt:

<sup>13</sup>defying and denying the LORD, turning away from our God,
planning oppression and revolt, muttering lying words conceived in our minds.

<sup>14</sup>Justice is pushed aside; righteousness stands far off, because truth has stumbled in the public square,
and honesty can't enter.

<sup>15</sup>Truth is missing; anyone turning from evil is plundered.

God will intervene

The LORD looked and was upset at the absence of justice.

<sup>16</sup>Seeing that there was no one,
and astonished that no one would intervene, God's arm brought victory,
upheld by righteousness,

<sup>17</sup>putting on righteousness as armor and a helmet of salvation on his head, putting on garments of vengeance,
and wrapping himself in a cloak of zeal.

<sup>18</sup>God will repay according to their actions:
wrath to his foes, retribution to enemies, retribution to the coastlands,

<sup>19</sup>so those in the west will fear the LORD's name, and those in the east will fear God's glory.

It will come like a rushing river that the LORD's wind drives on.

<sup>20</sup>A redeemer will come to Zion and to those in Jacob who stop rebelling,
says the LORD.

<sup>21</sup>As for me, this is my covenant with them, says the LORD.

My spirit, which is upon you, and my words, which I have placed in your mouth won't depart from your mouth, nor from the mouths of your descendants, nor from the mouths of your descendants' children, says the LORD, forever and always.

Jerusalem's coming radiance

60Arise! Shine! Your light has come;
the LORD's glory has shone upon you.

<sup>2</sup>Though darkness covers the earth and gloom the nations,
the LORD will shine upon you;
God's glory will appear over you.

59:14-15a Justice is pushed aside: Where corruption prevails, even those who seek honest dealings are overrun and overruled.

59:15b-21 Many elements of this passage are paralleled in Isaiah 63:1-6, in which God returns from victory over Edom.

59:16 God's arm brought victory: Compare with Isaiah 63:5; 52:10; 40:10; Psalm 98:1. Battle imagery is used to describe God's actions to save the victims of injustice. 1 Thessalonians 5:8 and Ephesians 6:10-17 echo this description of God's battle array.

59:21 this is my covenant with them: Echoing Jeremiah 31:31-34 and Ezekiel 36:26-28 (cf. Ezek 37:26), God finally speaks, promising that the community will be guided by God's own spirit and word.

60:1-4 Arise! Shine! Your light has come: In contrast to the darkness described in Isaiah 59:9-15a, and perhaps as a response to divine appearance in Isaiah 59:15b-20, here are encouraging words for Jerusalem. It is addressed as a woman able to rise up (cf. Isa 52:1-2); lift up her eyes and look (cf. Isa 49:18); and receive her children (cf. Isa 49:22), who come carried in foreigners' arms (cf. Isa 49:23).

- <sup>3</sup>Nations will come to your light and kings to your dawning radiance.
- <sup>4</sup>Lift up your eyes and look all around:
they are all gathered; they have come to you.
Your sons will come from far away,
and your daughters on caregivers' hips.
- <sup>5</sup>Then you will see and be radiant;
your heart will tremble and open wide,
because the sea's abundance will be turned over to you;
the nations' wealth will come to you.
- <sup>6</sup>Countless camels will cover your land, young camels from Midian and Ephah.
They will all come from Sheba, carrying gold and incense, proclaiming the LORD's praises.
- <sup>7</sup>All Kedar's sheep will be gathered for you;
rams from Nebaioth will be your offerings;
they will be accepted on my altar,
and I will glorify my splendid house.
- <sup>8</sup>Who are these who fly like a cloud, like doves to their shelters?
- <sup>9</sup>I'm the hope of the coastlands.
Ships from Tarshish are in the lead to bring your children from afar, their silver and gold with them for the name of the LORD your God and for the holy one of Israel, who has glorified you.
- <sup>10</sup>Foreigners will rebuild your walls, and their kings will serve you.
Though in my rage I struck you down,
in my favor I have consoled you.
- <sup>11</sup>Your gates will be open continually;
day and night they won't close,
to bring to you the wealth of nations, and their kings led in procession.
- <sup>12</sup>The nation and the dynasty that won't serve you will perish;
such nations will be devastated.
- <sup>13</sup>Lebanon's glory will come upon you, cypress, elm, and pine, to glorify the site of my sanctuary, and I will honor my royal footstool.
- <sup>14</sup>The children of your tormenters will come bending low to you;
all who despised you will bow down at your feet.
They will call you The LORD's City,
Zion, of the holy one of Israel.
- <sup>15</sup>Instead of being abandoned, hated, and forbidden,
I will make you majestic forever, a joy for all generations.
- <sup>16</sup>You will suck the milk of nations, and nurse at royal breasts.
You will know that I am the LORD, your savior and your redeemer, the mighty one of Jacob.

60:3 Is 49:6;
Rev 21:24
60:4 Is 49:18,
Is 49:20
60:6 Gn 25:4;
Ps 72:10;
Jer 6:20;
Mt 2:11
60:8 Ps 68:13;
Is 45:22,
Is 49:21;
Lk 13:29;
Heb 12:1
60:13 1Ch 28:2;
Is 35:2, Is 41:19
60:14 Is 1:26,
Is 14:1,
Is 14:2, Is 49:23;
Rev 3:9
60:15 Is 54:6,
Is 65:18
60:16 Is 43:3,
Is 49:23,
Is 59:20,
Is 66:11

60:5-13 sea's abundance: As in the tribute to the Davidic king in Psalm 72 and the stories of Solomon's international renown in 1 Kings 9-10, wealth flows in from foreign nations. Specific mention is made of foreign places found in both Psalm 72 and 1 Kings 9: Sheba (60:6; cf. Ps 72:10, 15; 1 Kgs 10:1-13); Tarshish (60:9; cf. Ps 72:10; 1 Kgs 10:22); Lebanon (60:13; cf. Ps 72:16; 1 Kgs 9:19). The influx of foreign nations with their silver and gold was rebuffed in Isaiah 26:22 (including the ships of Tarshish, Isa 60:16; and the cedars of Lebanon, Isa 60:13), but here they are welcomed. The other place-names (Midian, Ephah, Kedar, Nebaioth) are associated with the Arabian desert.

60:10 Foreigners will rebuild: Compare with Zechariah 6:15.
Though in my rage: Compare with Isaiah 54:8.
60:12 Rather than serving other nations, Jerusalem will be served by them; compare with Isaiah 14:2.
60:14 all who despised you will bow down: Compare with Isaiah 49:23.

60:17 (Kj 10:21);
Is 9:7, Is 60:7,
Is 60:9
60:18 Is 26:1,
Is 51:19
60:19 Is 24:23;
Rev 21:23,
Rev 22:5
60:20 Ps 27:1;
Is 30:26,
Is 35:10,
Is 65:19;
Rev 21:4
61:1 Ps 45:7;
Is 11:2, Is 42:7,
Is 48:16,
Is 4:18

Isaiah 60–62 Positioned in the center of “Third Isaiah” (Isa 56–66), Isaiah 60–62 contains distinctive features. From one end to the other, these chapters proclaim salvation and forecast redemption, standing much closer than surrounding chapters do to the themes and vocabulary of Isaiah 40–55, the chapters that anticipated and paved the way for the Judean return to Jerusalem from exile.

Isaiah 60 addresses Jerusalem much as Isaiah 49 had, directing her eyes to see her children coming from afar, and with them, the wealth of the nations. In a strange mix of images, mother Zion herself is told, “You will suck the milk of nations, and nurse at royal breasts” (Isa 60:16). The motif of Israel as the one served and enriched by other nations continues in Isaiah 61:5–6, while other parts of this chapter particularly echo Isaiah 40:1–11. Isaiah 62 echoes and extends Isaiah 54, using its image of marriage in 62:4–5.

These three chapters adopt and adapt so much imagery from Second Isaiah (Isa 40–55) that some have thought them to have been composed by the same poet or poets. Emphasis has shifted, however, in subtle ways, and it is more likely that prophets living in the rebuilt (or rather rebuilding) city of Jerusalem are freely borrowing from earlier prophetic language.

- <sup>17</sup> Instead of bronze I will bring gold;
instead of iron I will bring silver;
instead of wood, bronze;
and instead of stones, iron.
I will make peace your governor and righteousness your taskmaster.
- <sup>18</sup> Violence will no longer resound throughout your land, nor devastation or destruction within your borders.
You will call your walls Salvation, and your gates Praise.
- <sup>19</sup> The sun will no longer be your light by day, nor will the moon shine for illumination by night.<sup>a</sup>
The LORD will be your everlasting light;
your God will be your glory.
- <sup>20</sup> Your sun will no longer set;
your moon will no longer wane.
The LORD will be an everlasting light for you, and your days of mourning will be ended.
- <sup>21</sup> Your people will all be righteous;
they will possess the land forever.
They are the shoot that I planted, the work of my hands, to glorify myself.
- <sup>22</sup> The least will become a thousand,
and the smallest a powerful people.
I am the LORD; at the right moment, I will hurry it along.

Joyful proclamations

61 The LORD God's spirit is upon me, because the LORD has anointed me.
He has sent me
to bring good news to the poor, to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim release for captives,
and liberation for prisoners,

<sup>a</sup>Cf DSS (1QIsa*), LXX; MT lacks by night.

60:19–20 The sun will no longer be your light: Compare with Isaiah 24:23. Revelation 21:23–25; 22:5 echo these verses, as well as Isaiah 60:11.

61:1–11 This chapter stands in the center of Isaiah's final 11 chapters. It echoes many themes of Isaiah 40–55, especially Isaiah 40, and emphasizes the ancient concept of the Jubilee, which entailed liberation from landlessness, slavery, and debt (see Lev 25).

61:1 The LORD God's spirit is upon me: The speaker is most likely a prophet. For other instances of God's spirit coming upon prophets, see Numbers 11:17–29; 24:2; 1 Samuel 10:6; 10:10; 19:20–24; Isaiah 59:21; Ezekiel 11:5. Luke presents Jesus's reading from Isaiah 61:1–2a in Luke 4:18–19, but including in his reading is a snippet from Isaiah 58:6, “setting free the oppressed, to bring good news: See Isaiah 40:9; 52:7, to proclaim release: See Leviticus 25:10, which says, “proclaiming

- <sup>2</sup>to proclaim the year of the LORD's favor and a day of vindication for our God, to comfort all who mourn,
- <sup>3</sup>to provide for Zion's mourners, to give them a crown in place of ashes,
oil of joy in place of mourning,
a mantle of praise in place of discouragement.
They will be called Oaks of Righteousness, planted by the LORD to glorify himself.
- <sup>4</sup>They will rebuild the ancient ruins;
they will restore formerly deserted places;
they will renew ruined cities, places deserted in generations past.
- <sup>5</sup>Foreigners will stay and shepherd your sheep, and strangers will be your farmers and vinedressers.
- <sup>6</sup>You will be called The Priests of the LORD;
Ministers of Our God, they will say about you.
You will feed on the wealth of nations, and fatten<sup>o</sup> yourself on their riches.
- <sup>7</sup>Instead of shame, their<sup>p</sup> portion will be double;
instead of disgrace, they will rejoice over their share.
They will possess a double portion in their land;
everlasting joy will be theirs.
- <sup>8</sup>I, the LORD, love justice;
I hate robbery and dishonesty.<sup>q</sup>
I will faithfully give them their wage, and make with them an enduring covenant.
- <sup>9</sup>Their offspring will be known among the nations, and their descendants among the peoples.
All who see them will recognize that they are a people blessed by the LORD.
- <sup>10</sup>I surely rejoice in the LORD;
my heart is joyful because of my God, because he has clothed me with clothes of victory, wrapped me in a robe of righteousness like a bridegroom in a priestly crown, and like a bride adorned in jewelry.
- <sup>11</sup>As the earth puts out its growth, and as a garden grows its seeds, so the LORD God will grow righteousness and praise before all the nations.

Jerusalem redeemed

62 For Zion's sake I won't keep silent, and for Jerusalem's sake I won't sit still until her righteousness shines out like a light, and her salvation blazes like a torch.

<sup>2</sup>Nations will see your righteousness, all kings your glory.

<sup>o</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>p</sup>Or your <sup>q</sup>Heb manuscripts, LXX, Syr, Tg; MT robbery with an entirely burned offering freedom throughout the land" in the 50th year, the year of Jubilee. On one level this verse reasserts the importance of Jubilee for restoring Judean society. On another level it interprets the people's release from Babylon.

61:2 the year of the LORD's favor: See Isaiah 49:8, which also points toward the Jubilee Year (see Lev 25). to comfort all who mourn: See Isaiah 40:1; 51:12; 52:9 (see also Matt 5:4).

61:4 rebuild the ancient ruins: See Isaiah 58:12.

61:6 Priests of the LORD: See Exodus 19:6. wealth of nations: See Isaiah 60:5, 11.

61:7 their portion will be double: See Isaiah 40:2.

61:8 give them their wage: See Isaiah 40:10; 49:4; 62:11; 65:7. an enduring covenant: See Isaiah 55:3.

61:10 The prophet is compared with both a bridegroom and a bride. like a bride adorned in jewelry: See Isaiah 49:18.

62:1-12 Jerusalem's expected restoration is announced in lofty terms.

62:1-2 Attention turns once again to the city. The prophet promises not to rest (see Isa 62:6) until its righteousness shines brightly. See Isaiah 1:21-26, where after Jerusalem's

61:2 Is 34:8;
Is 49:8; Is 57:18;
Mt 5:4

61:3 Ps 45:7;
Is 60:21;
Jer 17:8; Mt 5:4;
Heb 1:9

61:8 Ps 11:7;
Is 55:3

61:9 Is 65:23

61:10 Ps 132:16;
Is 25:9; Is 49:18;
Is 52:1;
Rev 21:2

61:11 Is 45:8;
Is 60:18

62:2 Is 60:3;
Is 65:15;

Rev 2:17;
Rev 3:12

62:3 Is 28:5;

Zec 9:16;

1Th 2:19

62:4 Is 54:5;

Is 54:6;

Jer 32:41;

Hos 2:19;

Zep 3:17

62:6 Is 52:8;

Jer 6:17;

Eze 3:17;

Heb 13:17

62:7 Is 60:18;

Is 62:1;

Zep 3:20;

1k 18:1

62:10 Is 11:10;

Is 11:12;

Is 11:16;

Is 49:22;

Is 57:14

62:11 Is 40:10;

Zec 9:9;

Mt 21:5;

Rev 22:12

62:12 Is 35:9;

1Pt 2:9

63:1 Is 34:5;

Is 34:6;

Jer 49:13;

Eze 25:12;

Am 1:12

You will be called by a new name, which the LORD's own mouth will determine.

<sup>3</sup>You will be a splendid garland in the LORD's hand, a royal turban in the palm of God's hand.

<sup>4</sup>You will no longer be called Abandoned, and your land will no longer be called Deserted.
Instead, you will be called My Delight Is in Her,
and your land, Married.

Because the LORD delights in you, your land will be cared for once again.

<sup>5</sup>As a young man marries a young woman, so your sons will marry you.
With the joy of a bridegroom because of his bride, so your God will rejoice because of you.

<sup>6</sup>Upon your walls, Jerusalem,
I have appointed sentinels.
Continually, all day and all night,
they won't keep silent.

You who call on the LORD, don't rest,

<sup>7</sup>and don't allow God to rest until he establishes Jerusalem, and makes it the praise of the earth.

<sup>8</sup>The LORD has promised with raised hand and strong arm:
I will never again give your grain as food for your enemies.
Foreigners won't drink your wine for which you labored.

<sup>9</sup>Those who harvest will eat it and will praise the LORD;
those who gather will drink it in my holy courtyards.

<sup>10</sup>Pass through, pass through the gates; prepare the way for the people!
Build, build the road;
clear away the stones!
Raise up a signal for the peoples.

<sup>11</sup>This is what the LORD announced to the earth's distant regions: Say to Daughter Zion, "Look! Your deliverer arrives, bringing reward and payment!"

<sup>12</sup>They will be called The Holy People, Redeemed By the LORD.
And you will be called Sought After—A City That Is Not Abandoned.

Vengeance against the nations

63 Who is this coming from Edom, from Bozrah in bright red garments, restoration it also receives new names: Righteous City, Faithful Town. As in Isaiah 60:1-3, 19-20, and elsewhere, light becomes a sign of spiritual and moral clarity (see Isa 2:5; 5:30; 9:2; 30:26; 42:6-7, 16; 51:4; 58:8-10; 59:9).

62:3 Jerusalem continues to be addressed. Though according to earlier passages we might have expected her to put on festive garments (Lam 1:9; Isa 52:1-2), instead she is the splendid adornment in God's own hand.

62:4 Naming (and often, renaming) to characterize a person or place is frequent in scripture (see Gen 17:5; 32:29; Hos 1:9-10; Isa 44:5; Zech 8:3). For similar imagery of Jerusalem's restored "marriage" to God, see Isaiah 54:1-8.

62:5 your sons will marry you: Some translations revise "sons" to "builder," which is spelled similarly (cf. Ps 147:2). "Sons" can also represent inhabitants.

62:6 Prophets were often compared with sentinels, watching over the welfare of the society (see Isa 21:6; Hos 9:8; Jer 6:17; Hab 2:1; Ezek 3:17; especially Ezek 33:1-9, where this image is explained). Here the sentinels aren't posted to warn, but to intercede with God on the people's behalf.

62:8-9 In elevated language God makes a solemn pledge to the city: The food the people grew won't be taken away as punishment for disobedience (see Lev 26:16; Deut 28:31-34; Isa 1:19-20), or through war or conquest (see Isa 1:7; Jer 5:17; Lam 1:11, 19; 2:19-20; 4:4, 9-10). As in Micah's vision of peace (Mic 4:4), inhabitants will have enough food.

62:10 prepare the way for the people: See Isaiah 40:3.

62:11 Your deliverer arrives: See Isaiah 40:10.

63:1-6 God is portrayed as a victorious warrior returning from battle against a neighboring enemy nation. Edom, located to the southeast of Judah in present-day southern Jordan, is presented in Genesis as descended from Jacob's twin brother, Esau, who forgave him for stealing this splendidly dressed one, striding<sup>r</sup> with great power?

 It is I, proclaiming righteousness, powerful to save!
 2 Why is your clothing red, and your garments like those of one who stomps on grapes?
 3 I have pressed out in the vat by myself—from the peoples, no one was with me.
 I stomped on them in my anger, trampled them in my wrath.
 Their blood splashed on my garments,
 and stained all my clothing, 4 because I intended a day of vengeance;
 the year of my deliverance had arrived.
 5 I looked and found no helper;
 I was astonished to find no supporter.
 But my arm brought victory for me;
 my wrath helped me.
 6 I trampled down nations in my anger and made them drunk on my wrath;
 I spilled their blood on the ground.

63:2 Is 63:3;
 Rev 19:13;
 Rev 19:15
 63:3 Rev 19:13
 63:4 Is 34:8,
 Is 61:2
 63:5 Ps 44:3,
 Ps 98:1,
 Is 40:10,
 Is 41:28,
 Is 59:16
 63:6 Is 51:17,
 Is 51:21
 63:9 Ex 14:19,
 Ex 23:20,
 Ex 33:14;
 Dt 1:31, Dt 7:7
 63:10 Ps 78:40;
 Ac 7:51;
 Eph 4:30
 63:11
 Nm 11:17,
 Nm 11:25;
 Ps 77:20; Hg 2:5
 63:13 Jer 31:9
 63:14 Is 63:12

Prayer of yearning

7 I will recount the LORD's faithful acts;
 I will sing the LORD's praises, because of all the LORD did for us, for God's great favor toward the house of Israel.
 God treated them compassionately and with deep affection.
 8 God said, "Truly, they are my people, children who won't do what is wrong."
 God became their savior.
 9 During all their distress, God also was distressed, so a messenger who served him saved them.
 In love and mercy God redeemed them, lifting and carrying them throughout earlier times.
 10 But they rebelled, and made God's holy spirit terribly sad, so that he turned into their enemy—
 he fought against them!
 11 Then they remembered earlier times, when he rescued his people.<sup>a</sup> Where was the one who drew them up from the sea, the shepherd<sup>b</sup> of the flock?
 Where was the one who put within them his holy spirit;
 12 the one who guided Moses' strong hand with his glorious arm;
 who split the water for them to create an enduring reputation for himself, 13 and who guided them through the depths?
 Like a horse in the desert, they didn't stumble.
 14 Like cattle descending to the valley,
 the LORD's spirit brought them to rest.
 In this way you led your people and made for yourself a glorious reputation.

<sup>r</sup>Or stooping <sup>a</sup>Or Moses, his people <sup>b</sup>LXX, Tg; MT shepherds their father's blessing (Gen 27:1-41; 33:1-16). See Isaiah 34:1-17, which likewise concerns Edom. For Bozrah, see note at Isaiah 34:6.

 63:3 Human victims of divine wrath are imagined as grapes, their blood as grape juice.
 63:4 Compare with Isaiah 34:8; 61:2.
 63:7-64:12 An extended prayer of longing addressed to God, whose deeds for Israel in the past are remembered, but who seems absent in the present despite overwhelming need and yearning. This prayer in many ways resembles psalmic laments (see Pss 74; 79). It pre-dates the rebuilding of the temple (see Isa 63:18; 64:11).

 63:7-14 The ancient story of divine redemption is recalled. God's mercy, the poet ruefully recalls, was complicated by Israel's rebellion, which in turn was quelled by recollection of God's deliverance of the people in the wilderness in Moses' time. Remembering God's graciousness in the face of past distresses (Truly, they are my people, cf. Deut 29:13;

63:15 Dt 26:15;
Ps 80:14;
Ps 123:1;
Lam 3:50

63:16 Ex 4:22;
Dt 32:6;
Is 41:14, Is 44:6,
Is 64:8

63:17
Nm 10:36;
Is 6:10, Is 29:13;
Jn 12:40

63:18 Ps 74:3;
Is 64:11

63:19 Is 65:1
64:1 Jgs 5:5;
Na 1:5

64:2 Ps 99:1;
Jer 5:22;
Jer 33:9

64:4 Ps 31:19;
Is 30:18;
1Co 2:9

64:5 Is 26:8,
Is 56:1

64:6 Ps 90:5,
Ps 90:6

15 Look down from heaven and see, from your holy and glorious perch.
Where are your energy and your might,
your concern and your pity?
Don't hold back!<sup>a</sup>

16 You are surely our father, even though Abraham doesn't know us,
and Israel doesn't recognize us.
You, LORD, are our father;
your reputation since long ago is that of our redeemer.

17 Why do you lead us astray, LORD, from your ways?
Why do you harden our heart so we don't fear you?
Return for the sake of your servants the tribes that are your heritage!

18 Why did the wicked bring down your holy place?<sup>b</sup>
Why did our enemies trample your sanctuary?

19 For too long we have been like those you don't rule, like those not known by your name.

64 <sup>c</sup>If only you would tear open the heavens and come down!
Mountains would quake before you

<sup>d</sup>like fire igniting brushwood or making water boil.

<sup>e</sup>If you would make your name known to your enemies, the nations would tremble in your presence.

<sup>3</sup>When you accomplished wonders beyond all our expectations;
when you came down, mountains quaked before you.

<sup>4</sup>From ancient times, no one has heard,
no ear has perceived,
no eye has seen any god but you who acts on behalf of those who wait for him!<sup>f</sup>

<sup>5</sup>You look after those who gladly do right;
they will praise you for your ways.<sup>g</sup>
But you were angry when we sinned;
you hid yourself when we did wrong.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>6</sup>We have all become like the unclean;
all our righteous deeds are like a menstrual rag.
All of us wither like a leaf;
our sins, like the wind, carry us away.

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>b</sup>Cf LXX, Vulg; Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>63:19b in Heb <sup>d</sup>64:1 in Heb <sup>e</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>f</sup>Heb uncertain Lev 26:12) helps the community to pray with hope in the present (see Lam 3:21-26; Pss 42:4; 74:11-17; 75:5-20; 80:8-14; 85:1-4; 143:5).
<sup>g</sup>Heb uncertain

63:15 Prayer begins with the plea that God Look down (cf. Deut 26:15; Ps 80:14) from heaven in pity to see the people's troubles.

63:16 In contrast to the Gospel of John, where God is called Father well over 100 times, the OT rarely uses fatherly language for God (cf. Deut 32:6; Ps 103:13; Prov 3:12; Jer 3:19; Mal 2:10). Though earlier biblical books outside the Pentateuch had seldom invoked Abraham, Second Isaiah (Isa 40-55) did so twice (Isa 41:8; 51:2). Here the poet bypasses Abraham and his grandson Israel in favor of a more direct affiliation with God. our redeemer. See note on Isaiah 41:14.

63:17-19 Though he confessed shortcomings in Isaiah 63:10, here the poet blames God for the ruptured relationship (see also Isa 64:5, 7). God not only has led the people astray but, as with Pharaoh (Exod 4:21; 7:3), has made them stubborn. Distress comes not only from the ruined condition of city and temple and God's apparent absence but also from the people's religious disengagement.

64:1-3 If only you would . . . come down! The poet invokes the motif of the divine warrior, who forcefully intervenes against Israel's enemies (Exod 15:3; Isa 42:13). When God goes to war, according to this tradition, even the mountains tremble (Judg 5:5; Ps 18:7; Ezek 38:20; Nah 1:5).

64:4 no one has heard: quoted in 1 Corinthians 2:9.

64:5 But you were angry when we sinned: Or "But you were angry and we sinned." In the Hebrew, the relationship between divine anger and human wrongdoing is unclear. Because of the accusations of divine responsibility in Isaiah 63:17 and 64:7, many scholars believe the poet is implying that God's wrath led to their sin.

64:6 all our righteous deeds: Even attempts at faithfulness fall short. For similar images, see Psalms 1:4; 90:5-6.

- <sup>7</sup>No one calls on your name;
no one bothers to hold on to you,
for you have hidden yourself from us,
and have handed us over<sup>b</sup> to our sin.
- <sup>8</sup>But now, LORD, you are our father.
We are the clay, and you are our potter.
All of us are the work of your hand.
- <sup>9</sup>Don't rage so fiercely, LORD;
don't hold our sins against us forever,
but gaze now on your people, all of us:
- <sup>10</sup>Your holy cities have become a wilderness;
Zion has become a wilderness, Jerusalem a wasteland.
- <sup>11</sup>Our holy, glorious house, where our ancestors praised you, has gone up in flames;
all that we treasured has become a ruin.
- <sup>12</sup>After all this, will you hold back, LORD?
Will you keep silent and torment us so terribly?

64:8 Is 29:16,
Is 45:9, Is 63:16;
Jer 18:6

64:10 Is 1:7

64:11 2Ki 25:9;
2Ch 36:19;
Lam 1:7,
Lam 1:10,
Lam 2:7

64:12 Ps 74:10;
Is 42:14;
Zec 1:12

65:1 Ro 10:20

65:2 Ro 10:21

65:3 Is 1:29,
Is 66:17

65:5 Prv 10:26;
Mt 9:11;
Lk 7:39,
Lk 15:2,
Lk 18:9

Judgment for idolators

65 I was ready to respond to those who didn't ask.
I was ready to be found by those who didn't look for me.
I said, "I'm here! I'm here!" to a nation that didn't call on my name.

<sup>2</sup>I extended my hands all day to a rebellious people walking in a way that isn't good, following their own plans;

<sup>3</sup>people who provoke me to my face continually, sacrificing in gardens and burning incense on bricks, <sup>4</sup>who sit in tombs and spend the night among rocks;<sup>c</sup> who eat swine's flesh with broth of unclean meat in their bowls;

<sup>5</sup>who say, "Keep to yourself!
Keep away from me! I'm too holy for you."
These people ignite my anger like a fire that burns all day.

<sup>b</sup>LXX, cf Syr, Tg, Vulg; MT melted <sup>c</sup>Or in guarded places

64:8 you are our potter. To the image of God as father (cf. Isa 63:16) is added one of God as potter (cf. Gen 2:7; Isa 29:16; 45:9; Jer 18:1-11; Rom 9:20). Other prophetic uses of this image suggest the potter's absolute right of decision-making concerning the clay, but this verse turns the issue around: The creator bears responsibility for the flaws of clay vessels.

64:9-12 The prayer closes with a request for forgiveness and a concrete description of the burned temple. Like the book of Lamentations, which also mourned Jerusalem's destruction, it leaves an unresolved question hanging in the air (cf. Lam 5:20-22).

65:1-7 This section, expressed as if from the divine viewpoint, laments a situation similar to the one in Isaiah 63:7-64:12. In Isaiah 64:7 the lamenter complained that "no one calls on your name," and in Isaiah 65:1 God complains similarly of those who don't ask or look for God. The passage describes people engaging in illicit worship (cf. Isa 57:3-13). Beginning in Isaiah 64:8, it becomes clear that condemnation doesn't extend to the whole community. Instead, a distinction is made between the faithful and the faithless within Jerusalem.

65:1 I was ready to respond: Very similar vocabulary of seeking, being found, calling on God, and human plans appears in Isaiah 55:6-9, which advises worshippers to seek and call on God when God can be found, and to abandon sinful plans. I'm here!: Compare with Isaiah 52:6. God uses the same word as Abraham, Moses, Samuel, and Isaiah had used (Gen 22:1, 7, 11; Exod 3:4; 1 Sam 3:4-8; Isa 6:8).

65:2 I extended my hands: More often it is humans who are said to extend their hands in prayer toward God (see, e.g., Exod 9:29, 33; 1 Kgs 8:22, 38; Ezra 9:5; Job 11:13; Ps 143:6; Isa 1:15; Lam 1:17). to a rebellious people: Despite all that has happened in the meantime, the condition of rebellion identified in Isaiah 1:23 (cf. Isa 30:1) remains. Paul uses this passage in Romans 10:20-21. But there, because of some features of the Greek translation, Paul draws a distinction between those who weren't seeking God (and yet found God), whom he identifies as Gentiles; and rebels who rejected God's outstretched hands, whom he identifies as Jews. Here the two groups are the same.

65:3-5 The exact nature of the idolatrous practices is not clear.

65:4 who sit in tombs and spend the night among rocks: to communicate with the dead (cf. Isa 8:19; Lev 19:31; 20:6, 27; Deut 18:11).

65:8 Gn 18:26;
Is 6:13, Is 17:6,
Is 48:9;
Jer 30:11

65:9 Is 27:6,
Is 45:19

65:10 Josh 7:26;
1Ch 27:29;
Is 33:9, Is 35:2;
Hos 2:15

65:11 Is 1:28

65:12 Psv 1:24;
Is 50:2, Is 66:4;
Jer 7:13

65:13 Is 1:19,
Is 61:7, Is 66:14

65:14 Mt 8:12;
Isa 5:13

65:15 Is 62:2;
Jer 29:22;
Zec 8:13

65:16 Dt 32:4;
Ps 31:5;
Is 19:18

<sup>6</sup>Look, this stands written before me.

I won't be silent, but I will repay;

I will repay in full measure

<sup>7</sup>your sins and the sins of your ancestors as well,

says the LORD.

Since they burned incense on the mountains, and mocked me in the hills,

I will count out to them full payment for their actions.

<sup>8</sup>The LORD proclaims:

As new wine is found in the grape cluster, and someone says, "Don't destroy it, for there is a blessing in it," so I will do for the sake of my servants and not destroy everything:

<sup>9</sup>I will bring out offspring from Jacob, and from Judah, heirs to my mountains.

My chosen ones will take possession;

my servants will dwell there.

<sup>10</sup>Sharon will become a pasture for sheep, and the Achor Valley a resting place for cattle, for my people who seek me.

<sup>11</sup>But you who abandon the LORD, who forget my holy mountain, who set a table for a god of good fortune, and fill cups of mixed wine for a god of fate:

<sup>12</sup>I will offer you to the sword.

You will all bow down for slaughter,

because I called and you didn't answer;

I spoke and you wouldn't hear.

You did what I considered evil, and chose what I didn't want.

<sup>13</sup>Therefore, the LORD God says:

Look, my servants will eat, but you will hunger.

My servants will drink, but you will thirst.

My servants will rejoice, but you will be ashamed.

<sup>14</sup>My servants will sing with contented hearts, but you will cry out from heartache;

with broken spirits you will wail.

<sup>15</sup>You will leave your name behind for my chosen ones to curse:

"May the LORD God kill you!

May he call his servants by a different name!"

<sup>16</sup>Those who pronounce a blessing in the land will do so by the God called Amen;

those who make a solemn pledge in the land will do so by the God called Amen.<sup>d</sup>

Past troubles will be forgotten and hidden from my sight.

<sup>d</sup>Or so be it

65:6-7 I will repay: As in Isaiah 59:18 and Isaiah 66:6, God will repay in kind those who act as enemies. Using the same vocabulary as in promises of reward for the faithful (Isa 49:4; 61:8), appropriate reward for faithlessness is promised.

65:8-16 A sharp distinction is made between those being addressed as you, who are disapproved by God, and those who are repeatedly called my servants (Isa 65:9, 13, 14; 66:14) and my chosen (Isa 65:9, 15, 22). Whereas all Israel together were called God's servants in Leviticus 25:42, 55, and "my servant" and "my chosen" in Isaiah 41:8, 9; 42:1, 19;

43:10, 20; 44:1, 2, 21; 45:4; 49:3, 6, here only the faithful are so designated.

65:10 Sharon: the sandy Mediterranean coastal plain. Achor Valley: a dry valley north of Judah that once formed its border with Benjamin to the north. The prophet envisions both of these regions as becoming life-sustaining (cf. Hos 2:15; Isa 35:2).

65:16 the God called Amen: "So be it"; compare the response to curses in Deuteronomy 27:15-26, and the liturgical conclusion to sections of Psalms 41:13; 72:19; 89:52; 106:48. God confirms the blessings of faithful servants.

New creation and new Jerusalem

- <sup>17</sup> Look! I'm creating a new heaven and a new earth:
 past events won't be remembered;
 they won't come to mind.
- <sup>18</sup> Be glad and rejoice forever in what I'm creating, because I'm creating Jerusalem as a joy and her people as a source of gladness.
- <sup>19</sup> I will rejoice in Jerusalem and be glad about my people.
 No one will ever hear the sound of weeping or crying in it again.
- <sup>20</sup> No more will babies live only a few days, or the old fail to live out their days.
 The one who dies at a hundred will be like a young person, and the one falling short of a hundred will seem cursed.
- <sup>21</sup> They will build houses and live in them;
 they will plant vineyards and eat their fruit.
- <sup>22</sup> They won't build for others to live in,
 nor plant for others to eat.
 Like the days of a tree will be the days of my people;
 my chosen will make full use of their handiwork.
- <sup>23</sup> They won't labor in vain, nor bear children to a world of horrors, because they will be people blessed by the LORD,
 they along with their descendants.
- <sup>24</sup> Before they call, I will answer;
 while they are still speaking, I will hear.
- <sup>25</sup> Wolf and lamb will graze together, and the lion will eat straw like the ox,
 but the snake—its food will be dust.
 They won't hurt or destroy at any place on my holy mountain,
 says the LORD.

65:17 Is 43:18,
 Is 66:22;
 Jer 3:16;
 ZPr 3:13;
 Rev 21:1

65:18 Ps 98:1

65:19 Is 25:8,
 Is 35:10,
 Is 51:11, Is 62:5;
 Jer 32:41

65:20 Job 5:26;
 Ecc 8:12

65:21 Dt 28:30;
 Is 37:30;
 Jer 31:5;
 Eze 28:26;
 Am 9:14

65:22 Ps 91:16,
 Ps 92:12

65:23 Is 49:4,
 Is 61:9; Ac 2:39

65:24 Ps 91:15;
 Is 58:9;
 Dn 10:12

65:25 Gn 3:14;
 Is 24, Is 11:6;
 Is 11:9; Mt 7:17

66:1 1 Ki 8:27;
 Mt 5:34;
 Mt 5:35;
 Ac 7:49;
 Ac 17:24

66:2 Ps 34:18,
 Ps 138:6;
 Is 40:26,
 Is 57:15; Mt 5:3

Where God may be found

- 66 The LORD says:
 Heaven is my throne,
 and earth is my footstool.
 So where could you build a house for me, and where could my resting place be?
- <sup>2</sup> My hand made all these things and brought them into being, says the LORD.
 But here is where I will look: to the humble and contrite in spirit, who tremble at my word.

65:17-25 Renewed Jerusalem won't suffer sorrow, death, displacement, and hunger. Contrary to the interpretation in 2 Peter 3:13, where the present heavens and earth pass away, the new heavens and new earth envisioned here and in Isaiah 66:22 continue life on earth. This is an earth free of invasion, violence, and suffering, where contentment and security reign, where life is long, work yields prosperity, descendants are born, and God hears prayers (see Isa 65:1-2).

65:25 Wolf and lamb will graze together: an echo of Isaiah 11:6-9, where just rule results in security. This verse also reflects upon Genesis 1:30, where all wildlife and birds are said at first to have eaten only plants for food. Only the snake is omitted from this peaceful scene (cf. Gen 3:14). The final line follows Isaiah 11:9a precisely.

66:1-2 Heaven is my throne: Though the temple represents a meeting place between humans and God, it doesn't contain God. Solomon acknowledged this even in the act of dedicating his temple (1 Kgs 8:27). In Acts 7:49-50, Stephen invokes these verses just before accusing his Jewish hearers of rebellion against God. For this and other reasons, Christians have remained dubious about the temple's value. In context, these verses recognize the temple's limitations as a symbol of the divine, but don't constitute opposition to its existence. Interest in the temple (Isa 2:2-4; 6:1-7; 37:1, 14; 38:20, 22; 56:5-7; 57:13; 65:11; 66:6, 20) and in its rebuilding (Isa 44:28, 60:7, 13; 63:18; 64:11) has been prominent throughout Isaiah.

66:2 to the humble and contrite: Compare with Isaiah 57:15. tremble at my word: See Isaiah 66:6. The phrase serves to describe the God-fearing, as opposed to rebels. This division, anticipated in Isaiah 1:27-31, becomes more and more prominent in Isaiah 65-66. See Isaiah 65:13-15; 66:14, 16, 17, 24.

66:3 Lv 2:2;
Is 1:11, Is 65:4
66:4 2Ki 21:2;
Prv 1:24;
Prv 10:24;
Is 65:12;
Jer 7:13
66:5 Ps 38:20;
Is 5:19; Mt 5:10;
In 15:18
66:6 Is 59:18,
Is 65:6; H 3:7
66:7 Is 54:1;
Rev 12:5
66:8 Is 64:4
66:9 Is 37:3
66:10 Dt 32:43;
Ps 122:6
66:11 Is 60:16
66:12 Ps 72:3;
Is 48:18, Is 60:4,
Is 60:5
66:13 Is 40:1,
Is 51:3; 2Co 1:3

<sup>3</sup>The one who slaughters an ox kills a person;
the one who sacrifices a sheep breaks a dog's neck;
the one who makes a grain offering offers swine's blood;
the one who burns incense blesses an idol.

All these have chosen their own ways, and prefer their detestable things.

<sup>4</sup>So I too will choose to punish them, to bring horrors upon them,
since I called and no one answered.
I spoke and no one heard,
but they did evil in my eyes.
What I didn't want, they chose.

<sup>5</sup>Listen to the LORD's word, you who tremble at his word:
Your family members, those who hate and exclude you because of my name, have said, "Let the LORD be glorified; let's see your joy."
But they will be ashamed.

<sup>6</sup>The sound of an uproar from the city! A sound from the temple!
The sound of the LORD repaying his enemies what they have earned.

Mother Zion

<sup>7</sup>Before she was in labor, she gave birth.
Before her pangs came upon her, she delivered a boy.

<sup>8</sup>Whoever heard of such a thing?
Whoever saw such things as these?
Can a land come to birth in one day?
Can a nation be born all at once?
Yet as soon as birth pangs came,
Zion bore her children.

<sup>9</sup>Will I open the womb and not bring to birth? says the LORD.
Will I, who create life, close the womb? says your God.

<sup>10</sup>Celebrate with Jerusalem; be happy with her, all you who love her!
Rejoice with her in joy,
all you who mourn over her,

<sup>11</sup>so that you may nurse and be satisfied from her comforting breasts, that you may drink and be refreshed from her full breasts.

<sup>12</sup>The LORD says:
Look, I'm extending prosperity to her like a river, and the wealth of nations like an overflowing stream.
You will nurse and be carried on the hip and bounced upon the knee.

<sup>13</sup>As a mother comforts her child, so I will comfort you;
in Jerusalem you will be comforted.

66:3 Both orthodox and illicit acts are being carried out by the same worshippers.

66:4 So I too will choose: Reacting to detestable human choices, God also chooses horrors. I called and no one answered: Compare with Isaiah 65:1-2. For a very similar sentiment, likewise emphasizing improper choices and shame, see Isaiah 1:27-31. Compare also with Isaiah 42:17; 44:9, 11; 45:16; 65:13-14.

66:5 Let the LORD be glorified: a sarcastic comment, as in Isaiah 5:19; 30:10-11.

66:6 repaying his enemies: Compare with Isaiah 3:11; 59:18; 65:6; 66:14.

66:7-12 Jerusalem, personified as Mother Zion, appears again; compare with Isaiah 40:9; 49:18-25; 50:1; 51:18-22; 54:1, 13; 60:4.

66:8-9 as soon as birth pangs came: In a reversal of the curse of Genesis 3:16, the pain of childbirth will be minimized for Zion. But just as Eve bore a man with God's participation (Gen 4:1), so likewise, Zion's son (Isa 66:7) comes to birth with the help of the creator of life.

66:13 As a mother comforts her child: Comfort has been a dominant theme since it was introduced in Isaiah 40:1; see also Isaiah 12:1; 49:13; 51:3, 12, 19; 52:9; 54:11; 57:18; 61:2. Like Jerusalem, now God is described with motherly

14 When you see this, your heart will rejoice; your entire being will flourish like grass.
 The LORD's power will be known among his servants, but his fury among his enemies.

15 The LORD will come with fire, God's chariots like a windstorm, to repay in hot anger,
 to rebuke with fiery flames.

16 With fire and with sword the LORD will judge all humanity;
 many will be slain by the LORD.

17 Those who became holy and purify themselves, following their leader into the gardens,* who eat pork, detestable animals, and mice, will meet their end together, says the LORD.

Worshippers gathered from the nations

18 Because of their actions and thoughts, I'm coming to gather all nations and cultures.
 They will come to see my glory. 19 I will put a sign on them, by sending out some of the survivors to the nations, to Tarshish, Libya, and Lydia, and to the archers of Cilicia and Greece—distant coastlands that haven't heard of my fame or seen my glory. They will declare my glory among the nations. 20 They will bring your family members from all nations as an offering to the LORD—on horses, in chariots, in wagons, on mules, and on camels—to my holy mountain Jerusalem, says the LORD, like Israelites bringing an offering in purified containers to the LORD's house. 21 I will select some of them as priests and Levites, says the LORD.

22 As the new heavens and the new earth that I'm making will endure before me, says the LORD, so your descendants and your name will endure.

23 From month to month and from Sabbath to Sabbath, all humanity will come to worship me, says the LORD.

24 They will go out and see the corpses of the people who rebelled against me, where their worm never dies, where their fire is never extinguished.
 They will be a horror to everyone.

66:14 Eze 8:22,
 Eze 8:31;
 Prv 3:8; Is 58:11;
 Zec 10:7

66:15 Ps 50:3,
 Ps 68:17;
 Is 30:27

66:16 Is 27:1,
 Is 30:30;
 Eze 38:22

66:18 Dt 31:21;
 Job 42:2;
 Ps 86:9,
 Ps 94:11; Is 2:2

66:19 Gn 10:2;
 Eze 27:10;
 Eze 27:13,
 Eze 38:2,
 Eze 39:1

66:20 Is 2:2,
 Is 11:9, Is 11:12,
 Is 14:2, Is 43:6

66:21 Ex 19:6;
 Is 61:6; 1Pt 2:5,
 1Pt 2:9

66:22 Is 65:17;
 Jn 10:27;
 1Pt 1:4;
 2Pt 3:13;
 Rev 21:1

66:23 Is 1:13,
 Is 19:21;
 Eze 46:1;
 Zec 14:16;
 Rev 15:4

66:24 Is 1:31,
 Is 14:11;
 Dn 12:2;
 Mk 9:44,
 Mk 9:48

*Heb uncertain

imagery; compare with Isaiah 42:14; 49:15 (see also Deut 32:11; Ps 131:2; Matt 23:37; Luke 13:34).

66:14 flourish like grass: This verse contrasts with Isaiah 40:3, where grass and flowers signify transience. among his servants: On the division between God's servants and God's enemies, see note on Isaiah 65:8-16.

66:18-24 The dividing line is now no longer between Israel and the nations but between the faithful among both Israel and the nations and those who rebel against God. As in Isaiah 2:2-4 (cf. Mic 4:1-3) and Isaiah 56:3-8, all nations will come to worship on God's holy mountain.

66:19 All the place-names listed in this verse are found in the "Table of Nations" in Genesis 10:2, 4, 6, 22. Tarshish: a coastal locale to the west of Judah (cf. Gen 10:4; Jon 1:3). In Isaiah 2:16 the tall ships of Tarshish represented, along with the cedars of Lebanon, oaks of Bashan, and lofty hills, mountains, towers, and walls, all that was lifted up against God. But ships of Tarshish have already contributed to the ingathering of refugees in Isaiah 60:9. Libya: Hebrew reads Pul, but most translations follow the Greek Put (cf. Gen 10:6; Jer 46:9, etc.), designating a region in Africa, either west of Egypt (as in Libya) or southeast of it (close to Ethiopia). Lydia: (Heb. Lud; cf. Gen 10:22) a region of Asia Minor, that is, Turkey. archers of: or Meshech: (cf. pairings with Tubal in Gen 10:2; 1 Chron 1:5; Ezek 27:13) in Asia Minor; called Phrygia in Greek sources. Cilicia: (Heb. Tubal, cf. Gen 10:2, etc.) north of Israel, but the exact location is unclear. Greece: (Heb. Javan; cf. Gen 10:2, etc.) frequently associated with Meshech and Tubal.

66:21 It is unclear whether those to be selected as priests and Levites are the Gentiles or the Israelites they bring with them. Isaiah 61:6 would suggest the latter.

66:22 new heavens: See Isaiah 65:17 and note.

66:23 From month to month and from Sabbath to Sabbath: In contrast to Isaiah 1:13-14, where the monthly new moon and weekly sabbath celebrations are rejected as hypocritical, here they depict continuity in a newly restored and inclusive world.

66:24 corpses: This verse, though continuous with the theme of rebellion that has developed in the final two chapters, concludes the book of Isaiah on a sour note. Jewish tradition designates that Isaiah 66:23 be repeated after this verse. Though the vision here is of the dead being burned in the Hinnom Valley (Heb. ge-hinnom; see Neh 11:30; Jer 7:31-32, 32:35), just to the south of the temple in Jerusalem, the imagery that later evolved from this was of hell itself (Gk. gehenna). See Mark 9:47-48.

JEREMIAH

Jeremiah is the longest and most complex prophetic book in the Bible. It's also the most deeply anchored in suffering. Written for survivors of war and exile, the book is filled with pain and trauma. It bears witness to three Babylonian military invasions (597, 587, 582 BCE), resulting in the destruction of the Jerusalem temple and the royal palace complex, the taking of land, and the death and exile of thousands of people. Although the precise nature of these events is disputed, the book of Jeremiah portrays these historical losses as the end of the life God's people had known. Undoubtedly, this series of military invasions destroyed Judah's social and political life and left survivors displaced and disillusioned. How could God allow such suffering? How did things go so terribly wrong? Has the God of Israel abandoned us? Can the flame of faith burn in the darkness? With vivid images and intense emotion, the book of Jeremiah struggles with such questions. This haunting book addresses the quest for theodicy: What answer do human beings expect from a powerful God in the face of unspeakable human suffering?

Jeremiah's understanding of suffering gives voice to multiple interpretations of the national tragedy. The dominant view grows out of a logical view of life. According to this view, the nation and its leaders sinned against God, so they are largely responsible for the disaster. Indeed, poetic oracles in the book accuse God's people of unfaithfulness and corruption. Sermons in Jeremiah often place the blame for the national crisis on Judah's rejection of God's commandments and disobedience to the message of the prophets. Still other texts affirm that the disaster is simply God's workings on earth. They portray a God who "digs up and pulls down, destroys and demolishes," as well as "builds and plants," in order to accomplish God's purposes in the world (Jer 1:10). Others refer to Judah's massive upheaval without any reference to God or Jeremiah. These texts seem to remove God and God's prophet from the excessive violence and brutality of these events (e.g., Jer 40:7–41:18).

Potter's wheel at the Ekron Museum of the History of Philistine Culture (Jer 18:1-6)
Ekron Museum of the History of Philistine Culture/BiblePlaces.com

Jeremiah's "confessions" (Jer 11:18–12:6; 15:10–21; 17:14–18; 18:18–23; 20:7–13, 14–18) are more at home with moral and social ambiguity. They speak of innocent suffering and suffering for God's sake. These various interpretations can be read as attempts by survivors to make sense of their fallen world. Their rich theological reflection keeps hope alive during times of great loss and confusion.

In addition to presenting several theological perspectives on suffering, the book of Jeremiah reenacts the traumatic violence of war and exile. Grief flows over the prophet, the people, the land, and God. All are flooded with pain, and all are drenched in tears. The lament, or song of mourning, is the dominant form of speech in Jeremiah 1. The prophet's judgment oracles and prayers (or "confessions") are lamentations. The longest section of the second half of the book, called the Baruch narrative, can be described as a story of suffering. So the book invites its readers to participate in a liturgy of loss.

The book of Jeremiah is disaster literature, then, but it is also survival literature. It serves as a survival guide for a suffering people, the historical losers of war. When the prophetic text names Judah's disaster and grieves its losses, when it refuses to let death and destruction have the final say, and when it imagines a future beyond destruction, it serves as a map for finding hope. In a world crushed with pain, the book imagines God shaping new beginnings from the ruins of fallen worlds.

The book of Jeremiah is well known for its complex and disorderly character, and modern readers can be frustrated if they come to it looking for coherence and linear thinking. Some recent interpreters suggest that the book's jumbled order reflects the lived chaos of a crushed and defeated people. Ironically, then, the meaning of the book may in fact be found in its lack of structure!

The book isn't entirely chaotic, though. We can identify literary collections united by common themes. For instance, Jeremiah 27–28 deals with prophetic conflicts and opposing interpretations of Judah's future. Jeremiah 30–33 is a collection of oracles of restoration and hope. Jeremiah 36–45, commonly referred to as the Baruch narrative, is a story of Jeremiah's ordeals and courage during the most trying of times. In Jeremiah 46–51, Jeremiah emerges as "a prophet to the nations," in fulfillment of his initial call. Even more far-reaching, the book breaks down into two major parts. Jeremiah 1–25 rehearses the dismantling of Judah's treasured beliefs and institutions and takes the reader on a painful journey through the debris of the nation's collapse, with only few traces of hope. Jeremiah 26–52 continues this lament but with glimpses of hope rising from the wreckage.

The book of Jeremiah shares much in common with the larger prophetic collection in the Bible. It urges God's people to practice social justice, faithfulness, and compassion, especially on behalf of the most vulnerable in society. It is rooted in Israel's ancient exodus and covenant traditions. It charges the nation's failed leadership with self-interest and neglect. It rejects worship that is unconcerned with the poor. It condemns the community for idolatry, disobedience, corruption, and greed. It speaks of divine judgment against those who act in such ways, especially for those within the household of faith. And it speaks of an approaching "enemy from the north," the reversal of creation, and the overthrow of Judah's temple, liturgy, covenant, dynasty, and land.

The book of Jeremiah also envisions life beyond the devastation. It speaks of God's saving intervention on behalf of those ravaged by war and captivity. It speaks of God's promise to restore the nation's Davidic king, to save Israel, to return exiles to their land, and to create a new covenant and new relationship (Jer 31:31–34). These promises depend more on God's sovereign and merciful purposes than on what Judah does or deserves. To use Jeremiah's own language, God resolves "to dig up and pull down, to destroy and demolish, to build and plant" (Jer 1:10).

In the book of Jeremiah, the prophet plays a central role. Often the lives of the prophets are overshadowed by their words. Here, though, the prophet takes center stage. In his call, prayers, harassment, struggles, and devotion to God, Jeremiah not only speaks for God, but also embodies the divine message. In fact,

Jeremiah becomes the word of God. This larger-than-life figure exemplifies righteous, or innocent, suffering, not unlike the biblical Job. The hostility he endures demonstrates to exiled readers that their suffering isn't shameful or punishing, nor is it a sign of God's powerlessness or neglect. To the contrary, suffering, as seen in the body of Jeremiah, is a consequence of service and devotion to God. As does Isaiah's suffering servant (cf. Isa 42:1-4; 44:1-2; 49:1-6), so the suffering prophet in Jeremiah prepares for the narratives of Jesus' suffering and death in the NT and, indeed, for the suffering of all God's people.

The sermons in Jeremiah are distinctive in style and function. They share a vocabulary, form, and theology similar to the book of Deuteronomy. Together, they insist that God will destroy the very pillars that have long supported Israel's cultural and religious worlds. In actuality, though, this destruction will serve the welfare of a war-torn and displaced community that can no longer cling to those cherished systems. If the Judean exiles are to survive the wreckage of war, they have to give up the old world and receive the new, with a different understanding of their new culture and with a new theology of hope.

I. Making Sense of National Tragedy:

The End of Judah's Known World (1:1–25:38)

- A. Introduction to the words of Jeremiah (1:1–19)
  - 1. Historical heading (1:1–3)
  - 2. Jeremiah's call and commission to be a prophet (1:4–19)
- B. Divine grief over a history of unfaithfulness (2:1–4:4)
  - 1. Unfaithfulness and betrayal (2:1–37)
  - 2. Longing for return and reunion (3:1–4:4)
- C. From grief to rage: God's declaration of war (4:5–6:30)
  - 1. Prepare for battle (4:5–31)
  - 2. Dreadful acts; dreadful consequences (5:1–6:30)
- D. The end of the temple and its culture of idolatry (7:1–10:25)
  - 1. Contaminated worship (7:1–8:3)
  - 2. Weeping and warning (8:4–10:25)
- E. The end of the covenant and its culture of self-determination (11:1–12:17)
  - 1. Breaking the covenant (11:1–17)
  - 2. Attack on Jeremiah's life (11:18–12:17)
- F. Signs of destruction (13:1–15:21)
  - 1. The linen undergarment and broken wine jars (13:1–27)
  - 2. Death, war, famine, and exile (14:1–15:21)
- G. The end of ordinary life (16:1–17:27)
  - 1. Present judgment, eventual restoration (16:1–21)
  - 2. Judah's enduring sin (17:1–27)
- H. The end of salvation history and its culture of privilege (18:1–20:18)
  - 1. Broken pots and foiled plots (18:1–20:6)
  - 2. Dashed hopes (20:7–18)
- I. The end of the nation's leaders and their culture of self-interest (21:1–24:10)
  - 1. Failed, fallen kings and prophets (21:1–23:40)
  - 2. Baskets of figs: Forced relocation as divine will (24:1–10)
- J. A world uprooted and overthrown (25:1–38)

- 1. Recap of Jeremiah's prophecy of judgment (25:1–14)
- 2. The cup of God's wrath (25:15–38)

II. Making Sense of National Tragedy: Glimmers of Hope, Strategies for Survival (26:1–52:34)

- A. A new beginning: Jeremiah's (second) temple sermon (26:1–24)
  - 1. Jeremiah's sermon and sentence (26:1–11)
  - 2. Jeremiah's defense and rescue (26:12–24)
- B. Prophetic conflict over Babylonian rule (27:1–28:17)
  - 1. Surrender to Babylon and live (27:1–22)
  - 2. Jeremiah versus Hananiah (28:1–17)
- C. Jeremiah's disturbing hope: Put down roots in Babylon (29:1–32)
  - 1. Jeremiah's letter to the exiles (29:1–23)
  - 2. Jeremiah's letter to Shemaiah (29:24–32)
- D. Healing and hope (30:1–33:26)
  - 1. Poetic book of comfort (30:1–31:40)
  - 2. Stories of restoration (32:1–33:26)
- E. Choices and consequences (34:1–35:19)
  - 1. An unfaithful king (34:1–22)
  - 2. A faithful community (35:1–19)
- F. The enduring word (36:1–32)
  - 1. A defiant king (36:1–26)
  - 2. A relentless word (36:27–32)
- G. The "Baruch narrative" (37:1–45:5)
- H. Jeremiah imprisoned and released (37:1–38:28)
  - 1. Last minute pleas and accusations of treason (37:1–38:6)
  - 2. Jeremiah rescued by Ebed-melech (38:7–28)
- I. The fall of Jerusalem (39:1–40:6)
  - 1. Babylon captures Jerusalem (39:1–10)
  - 2. Jeremiah's life is spared (39:11–40:6)
- J. Post-disaster Judah: Plots and bloodshed (40:7–41:18)
  - 1. Gedaliah's temporary government (40:7–16)
  - 2. Mutiny and murder (41:1–18)

K. The question of Egypt (42:1–44:30)

1. Don't go to Egypt (42:1-22)
2. Off to Egypt with Jeremiah and Baruch (43:1-13)
3. Jeremiah's final words to Judeans in Egypt (44:1-30)

L. Survival promised Baruch (45:1-5)*M. Jeremiah as prophet to the nations (46:1–51:64)

1. Oracles Against the Nations (46:1–51:58)
2. Performing the collapse of the empire (41:59-64)

N. Epilogue: The fall of Jerusalem

1. The end has come (52:1-30)
2. An open-ended future (52:31-34)

Louis Stulman

Introduction

1 These are the words of Jeremiah, Hilkiah's son, who was one of the priests from Anathoth in the land of Benjamin. 2 The LORD's word came to Jeremiah in the thirteenth year of Judah's King Josiah, Amon's son, 3 and throughout the rule of Judah's King Jehoiakim, Josiah's son, until the fifth month of the eleventh year of King Zedekiah, Josiah's son, when the people of Jerusalem were taken into exile.

Call of Jeremiah

- 4 The LORD's word came to me:
- 5 "Before I created you in the womb I knew you; before you were born I set you apart; I made you a prophet to the nations."
- 6 "Ah, LORD God," I said, "I don't know how to speak because I'm only a child."
- 7 The LORD responded, "Don't say, 'I'm only a child.' Where I send you, you must go; what I tell you, you must say."
- 8 "Don't be afraid of them, because I'm with you to rescue you," declares the LORD.
- 9 Then the LORD stretched out his hand, touched my mouth, and said to me, "I'm putting my words in your mouth."
- 10 This very day I appoint you over nations and empires, to dig up and pull down, to destroy and demolish, to build and plant."

Jeremiah's mission confirmed

11 The LORD asked me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

Prophetic Beginnings Prophetic books typically begin with a reference to the background, time, and location of the prophetic messenger. These headings function as historical markers, reminders that prophets addressed real people, facing real human problems, at particular moments in history. To separate the prophetic message from these local contexts is to read against the grain of the text and play down the memory of survivors.

1:1-19 The first chapter of Jeremiah presents the whole book in miniature. It introduces its main characters. It shows that Jeremiah is a prophet like Moses. It points forward to the many conflicts that will arise: between nations, between outsider Jeremiah and the religious and political leadership of Judah, and even within the prophet himself and with his God.

1:1-3 Historical heading. Anathoth: a small village a few miles north of Jerusalem where Solomon once banished the priest Abiathar (cf. 1 Kgs 2:26-27). Jeremiah is an outsider. He comes from a small town, yet God calls him to critique kings, priests, prophets, and legal scholars in Jerusalem. the thirteenth year of Judah's King Josiah... fifth month of the eleventh year of King Zedekiah: 627–587 BCE: the "forty-year" prophetic ministry of Jeremiah reminds us of Israel's 40 years in the wilderness. exile: Judah's present wilderness experience looms large and leaves a lasting mark on virtually every page of the book.

1:1-2 the words of Jeremiah serve as bookends (Jer 1:1; 51:64), and the phrase The Lord's word appears more than 50 times in the book. The Hebrew Bible (which contains the same books as the OT but arranged in a different order) concludes with a reference to the fulfillment of the Lord's word spoken by Jeremiah (2 Chron 36:22-23).

1:4-10 Jeremiah's call. This humble call story authorizes Jeremiah the prophet and Jeremiah the book. It says that Jeremiah isn't a prophet because of his own work or the force of his personality, but by God's design and power. Jeremiah's prophetic message won't be limited by local interests or party politics. God calls Jeremiah to be "a prophet to the nations" (see Jer 46–51). The report of this call (see sidebar, "Prophetic Beginnings") assures readers that Jeremiah is a truth-teller. Jeremiah's words and mission, although enormously troubling, are authorized by God. He is equipped and charged by God to dig up and pull down... [and] build and plant (e.g., Jer 12:14-17; 18:7-10; 24:6; 31:4-5, 28, 38, 40; 33:7; 42:10; 45:4), a description that defines the book's whole structure (Jer 1–25; 26–52). The call story shows that Jeremiah shares much in common with other great figures in the Bible. Like Solomon, he responds to the divine charge with reluctance: I'm only a child (see 1 Kgs 3:7). Like Moses, Jeremiah says he is inadequate and afraid: I don't know how to speak (Exod 4:10-17; see also Exod 3:1-6). Like Isaiah's "Servant of the Lord," Jeremiah is chosen and formed in the womb by God (Isa 44:1-2; 49:1, 5; see also Luke 1:15; Gal 1:15-16). And like the Servant of the Lord, Jeremiah's task is bigger than national interests (over nations; Isa 42:1; 49:6; see also Jer 46–51; cf. Isa 49: 7). To fulfill this mission, God puts God's own words in Jeremiah's mouth and promises to be with him (Deut 18:18; Exod 3:12). Yet even with God's empowerment, this prophet like Moses is conflicted from the outset. He struggles with his call, his community, and the God who created him. Much in the call report—and in the following sermons (e.g., Jer 7:1-15; 11:1-17; 21:1-10)—connects Jeremiah to Moses, Israel's great deliverer, teacher, and prophet.

1:11-19 Commissioned to be a prophet. Jeremiah's mission is substantiated and elaborated. He is summoned to see what he has already heard, touched, and most probably tasted—God's words (cf. Ezek 3:1-3).

1:1 Josh 21:18;
2Ch 36:12;
2Ch 36:21;
Jer 11:21;
Jer 32:7
1:2 2Ki 21:24;
2Ki 22:1;
2Ch 34:1;
Jer 25:3
1:5 Is 49:1
1:6 Ex 4:10;
1Ki 3:7
1:7 Jer 1:17;
Eze 3:17
1:8 Jer 15:20;
Eze 2:6, Eze 3:9
1:9 Is 6:7
1:10 Jer 18:7;
Jer 24:6;
Jer 31:28
1:11 Am 7:8

1:13 Eze 24:3

1:14 Jer 4:6,
Jer 10:221:16 Jer 2:13,
Jer 7:9; Jer 19:4

1:18 Is 50:7

1:19 Ps 129:2;
Jer 1:8; Jer 20:11

2:1 Jer 7:1;

Eze 1:3; Eze 7:1;

Mt 1:1; Heb 1:1

2:5 2K 17:15;

Jer 2:31; Mt 6:3

I said, "A branch of an almond<sup>a</sup> tree."

<sup>12</sup>The LORD then said, "You are right, for I'm watching over<sup>b</sup> my word until it is fulfilled."

<sup>13</sup>The LORD asked me again, "What do you see?"

I said, "A pot boiling over from the north."

<sup>14</sup>The LORD said to me, "Trouble will erupt from the north against the people of this land."

<sup>15</sup>I'm calling for all the tribes of great nations from the north, says the LORD, and they will set up their rulers by the entrances of Jerusalem, on its walls, and in every city of Judah.

<sup>16</sup>I will declare my judgment against them for doing evil: for abandoning me, worshipping other gods, and trusting in the works of their hands. <sup>17</sup>But you must prepare for battle and be ready to utter every word I command you. Don't be frightened before them, or I will frighten you before them. <sup>18</sup>Today I have made you an armed city, an iron pillar, and a bronze wall against the entire land—the kings of Judah, its princes, its priests, and all its people.

<sup>19</sup>They will attack you, but they won't defeat you, because I am with you and will rescue you, declares the LORD.

God's people abandon their God

2 The LORD's word came to me:

<sup>2a</sup>Go and proclaim to the people of Jerusalem,

The LORD proclaims:

I remember your first love,<sup>c</sup> your devotion as a young bride, how you followed me in the wilderness, in an unplanted land.

<sup>3</sup>Israel was devoted to the LORD, the early produce of the harvest.

Whoever ate from it became guilty;

disaster overtook them,

declares the LORD.

<sup>4</sup>Listen to the LORD's word, people of Judah, all you families of the Israelite household.

<sup>5</sup>This is what the LORD says:

What wrong did your ancestors find in me that made them wander so far?

They pursued what was worthless and became worthless.

<sup>a</sup>Heb shaqed <sup>b</sup>Heb shaqed <sup>c</sup>Or the love of your youth

1:11-12 There's a play on words in the first vision report of the book (see also Jer 24:3). Jeremiah sees an almond tree (Heb. shaqed) and is reassured that God is watching over (Heb. shaqed) the prophetic word to make sure it blooms. This assures Jeremiah and his readers that God's purposes will be realized through the prophet's ministry. God will see to it!

1:13-14 In the second vision, the danger lurking on the horizon, already a historical reality for the readers of the book, is brought into greater focus, although it is still portrayed in cryptic terms. Jeremiah sees a pot boiling over from the north, warning of a military assault from the north against Judah and Jerusalem. Disaster from the north is a major theme in the book (e.g., Jer 4:6; 6:1, 22; 10:22).

1:15-16 The attack by northern armies is all the more threatening because God is its architect. God uses the military campaign as a divine offensive against a disloyal and defiant nation. As is characteristic of the book of Jeremiah and ancient Near Eastern literature in general, the ravages of war and dislocation are rarely perceived as mere political events; rather, they are theologically charged events. Here and elsewhere in Jeremiah, readers are alerted that this series of tragic events signals neither God's lack of power nor God's injustice.

1:17-19 God warns Jeremiah that he, too, must prepare for combat. But Jeremiah's opposition will come from forces within the boundaries: kings, princes, priests, and people. They will wage war against him but won't prevail, for God will defend and deliver him.

2:1-13 The section opens with a reference to Israel's devotion to God in the wilderness. Note the many interpretations of Israel's wilderness wandering: see Exodus 16:1-17:16; Deuteronomy 1:6-3:29; Psalms 78:17; 95:8; Isaiah 43:19. This fond memory quickly turns into a charge of unfaithfulness and betrayal. The image of the broken marriage (or fractured family) (see also Hos 1-3; Isa 1:21; Ezek 16; 23) emphasizes Israel's fascination with other gods. It also reveals God's vulnerability and grief over unfaithfulness. The poetry that follows is erratic, mirroring the uncontrollable pain of a spurned lover. In an extended lament, God hurls at Israel a series of accusatory questions (2:5-11), all leading to the same conclusion: Israel has broken the covenant, mocked God's kindness, and worshipped other gods. Recalling God's gracious acts of deliverance out of Egypt, God's provision in the wilderness, and the gift of land makes Israel's disloyalty all the more serious.

2:2-4 Several words used in this section to describe once-faithful Israel occur earlier in the call narrative at Jeremiah 1:11-19 (see sidebar, "Prophetic Beginnings" at Jer 1). devoted: or "set apart" or "made holy."

2:2 love: loyalty and commitment.

- 6 They didn't ask,
 "Where's the LORD who brought us up from the land of Egypt, who led us through the wilderness,
 in a land of deserts and ravines,
 in a land of drought and darkness, in a land of no return, where no one survives?"
- 7 I brought you into a land of plenty, to enjoy its gifts and goodness, but you ruined my land;
 you disgraced my heritage.
- 8 The priests didn't ask, "Where's the LORD?"
 Those responsible for the Instruction didn't know me;
 the leaders rebelled against me;
 the prophets spoke in the name of Baal,
 going after what has no value.
- 9 That is why I will take you to court and charge even your descendants,
 declares the LORD.
- 10 Look to the west as far as the shores of Cyprus and to the east as far as the land of Kedar.
 Ask anyone there:
 Has anything this odd ever taken place?
- 11 Has a nation switched gods, though they aren't really gods at all?
 Yet my people have exchanged their glory for what has no value.
- 12 Be stunned at such a thing, you heavens;
 shudder and quake,
 declares the LORD.
- 13 My people have committed two crimes:
 They have forsaken me, the spring of living water.
 And they have dug wells, broken wells that can't hold water.
- 14 Is Israel a slave, a servant by birth?
 If not, why then has he become prey?
- 15 Lions roar at him; they growl.
 They destroy his land and make his towns desolate until nothing is left.
- 16 As well, the people of Memphis and Tahpanhes lay open your scalp.
- 17 Haven't you brought this on yourself by abandoning the LORD your God, who has directed your paths?
- 18 So why take the path to Egypt to drink water from the Nile?
 Why travel the path to Assyria to drink water from the Euphrates?
- 19 Your wrongdoing will punish you.
 Your acts of unfaithfulness will find you out.
 Don't you understand how terribly bitter it is to abandon the LORD your God and not fear me?
 declares the LORD of heavenly forces.
- 20 Long ago I broke your yoke;
 I shattered your chains.
 But even then you said, "I won't serve you."
 On every high hill and under every lush tree, you have acted like a prostitute.

2:6 Dt 8:15;
 Dt 32:10;
 Is 63:11;
 Hos 13:4;
 Hos 13:5

2:8 Jer 5:31;
 Jer 23:1, Jer 23:2;
 Jer 23:13

2:9 Jer 2:35;
 Eze 20:35;
 Eze 20:36;
 Mi 6:2

2:10 Gn 10:4;
 Gn 25:13; Is 21:16

2:11 Ps 106:20;
 Is 37:19;
 Jer 16:20;
 Ro 1:23; Ga 4:8

2:12 Is 1:2

2:13 Ps 36:9;
 Jer 1:16;
 Jer 5:19;
 Jer 17:13; Jn 4:14

2:18 Josh 13:3;
 Is 30:2; Jer 2:36;
 Hos 5:13;
 Hos 7:11

2:19 Ps 36:1;
 Is 3:9; Jer 4:18;
 Hos 5:5

2:20 Lv 26:13;
 Is 57:5; Jer 17:2

2:9 I will take you to court: God's charges against God's people become the basis for divine judgment. The "dispute," a charge against God's people for breaking the covenant, is used elsewhere in the Bible (Hos 4:1-4; Mic 6:1-5; cf. Exod 23:2; Deut 21:5). Here the elements of the dispute are made into a painful divine lament.

2:14-19 Rather than trusting the Lord for protection (2:17), Israel relies on the regional military powers of Egypt and Assyria. Rather than drinking "living water" (Jer 2:13), it prefers waters from the Nile and the Euphrates (2:18). While such acts may be politically expedient, they actually cost Israel its freedom. And they show national disloyalty. These claims and the accompanying rhetorical questions are clear: God's people brought defeat and captivity on themselves (2:17, 19).

2:16 Memphis and Tahpanhes: important cities in Egypt. 2:20-28 The lament recalls moments of God's generosity, which only emphasizes Israel's unfaithfulness and

2:21 Ex 15:17;
Ps 44:2, Ps 80:8;
Is 5:2, Is 5:4

2:22 Job 9:30,
Job 14:17;
Jer 17:1

2:25 Dt 32:16;
Jer 3:13,
Jer 18:12

2:27 Jgs 10:10;
Is 26:16;
Jer 18:17,
Jer 32:33;
Hos 5:15

2:30 Dt 32:37,
Dt 32:38;
Jgs 10:14;
Is 45:20;
Jer 11:13

2:29 Jer 5:1,
Jer 6:13, Dn 9:11

2:30 Neh 9:26;
Is 1:5, Is 9:13;
Jer 5:3, 1Th 2:15

2:31 Dt 32:15;
Jer 2:5, Jer 2:6

2:32 Dt 32:18;
Is 17:10,
Jer 3:21,
Jer 13:25;
Hos 8:14

- 21 Yet it was I who planted you, a precious vine of fine quality;
how could you turn into a wild vine and become good for nothing?
- 22 Even though you scrub yourself with soap or strong powder, the stain of your sin is still before me,
declares the LORD God.
- 23 How can you say, "I'm not dirty;
I haven't gone after Baals."
Look what you have done in the valley;
consider what you have done there.
You are like a frenzied young camel, racing around,
24 a wild donkey in the wilderness, lustfully sniffing the wind.
Who can restrain such passion?
Those who desire her need not give up;
with little effort they will find her in heat.
- 25 Don't run about until your feet are blistered and your throat is parched.
But you say, "What's the use? I have fallen in love with foreign gods, and I must pursue them."
- 26 As a thief is ashamed when caught in his tracks, so the people of Israel are ashamed—their kings, officials, priests, and prophets—27 when they say to a piece of wood, "You are my father," and to a stone, "You gave me birth."
They have turned their backs to me and not their faces.
Yet in their time of trouble they say, "Arise and save us!"
- 28 Where are the gods you have made for yourselves?
Let's see if they will come through for you in your time of trouble.
You have as many gods, Judah, as you have towns.
- 29 Why would you bring charges against me?
You have all rebelled against me,
declares the LORD.
- 30 I have disciplined your children in vain;
they have rejected my correction.
You have devoured your prophets like a hungry lion.
- 31 People of this generation, listen closely to the LORD's word:
Have I been a wasteland to Israel or a land of dense darkness?
Why then do my people say,
"We have wandered far away;
we'll come to you no longer"?
- 32 Does a young woman forget her jewelry or a bride her wedding dress?
Yet you have forgotten me days without end!
- 33 So skilled are you at pursuing lovers<sup>d</sup> that you instruct even the most wicked.<sup>e</sup>
- 34 Your garments are stained with the blood of the innocent poor, even though you didn't catch them breaking and entering.

<sup>d</sup>Or love <sup>e</sup>Or you have taught your ways to wicked women.

defiance. To drive this point home, image is placed on image to erect an almost comical structure of guilt: a prostitute, wild vine, one blemished beyond repair, a young camel in heat, a wild ass sniffing the wind (in heat), a bad thief. But this story is too painful to be amusing, because at its core is the scathing accusation and the agonizing acknowledgment that God's people have deserted God, which is grounds for divorce. That Israel participated in the worship of the fertility god Baal is a common accusation in the book and in the Bible in general. Jeremiah interprets the union of Baal worship, or that of any foreign god, with worship of the true God (see Jer 10:10) as a shameless act of unfaithfulness (2:23).

2:29-37 The divine accusation insists that God's people are not only skilled (i.e., street-smart) at pursuing its many lovers but they also trade in violence and injustice (2:33-34). One can see an increasing degree of regret in this section. God reflects on ineffective attempts to restore the broken relationship; Israel gives weak declarations of innocence and countercharges (2:29, 35). Perhaps Israel's

Yet, despite all this,<sup>f 35</sup> you still insist,
 "I'm innocent;
 as a result he will turn his anger away from me."
 Because you claim not to have sinned,
 I will pass judgment against you.
<sup>36</sup> You change sides so casually!
 But Egypt will shame you no less than Assyria.
<sup>37</sup> From there you will go out with your hands on your heads, because the LORD has rejected those you rely on;
 they won't help you.

3:1 Dt 24:1;
 Jer 2:20
 3:2 Gn 38:14;
 Jer 2:7, Jer 3:21;
 Eze 16:25
 3:3 Jer 6:15;
 Am 4:7
 3:4 Jer 2:2,
 Jer 2:27, Jer 3:19,
 Jer 31:9
 3:6 Jer 2:20
 3:7 Eze 16:46;
 Eze 23:2
 3:8 Dt 24:1;
 Is 50:1;
 Eze 23:11
 3:9 Is 57:6;
 Jer 2:27, Jer 3:2,
 Jer 10:8
 3:10 Jer 12:2;
 Hos 7:14
 3:11 Eze 16:51;
 Eze 16:52;
 Eze 23:11
 3:12 Is 31:6;
 Jer 3:22, Jer 4:1,
 Jer 31:20,
 Hos 14:1

Jeremiah's summons to change

3 If a man divorces his wife, and after she leaves him marries another,
 can he return to her again?
 Wouldn't such an act completely corrupt the land?
 Yet you have prostituted yourself with many lovers.
 Would you return to me?
 declares the LORD.

<sup>2</sup> Look to the well-traveled paths<sup>g</sup> and see!
 Where haven't you committed adultery?
 On the roadsides you sit in wait for lovers, like a nomad in the wilderness.
 You have corrupted the land with your cheap and reckless behavior.

<sup>3</sup> That's why the showers have failed and the spring rains have ceased.
 Still you act like a brazen prostitute<sup>h</sup> who refuses to blush.

<sup>4</sup> At the same time you say to me,
 "My father, my friend since youth, <sup>5</sup> will you stay angry forever?
 Will you continue to be furious?"

This is what you say while you do as much evil as you possibly can.

<sup>6</sup> During the rule of King Josiah, the LORD said to me: Have you noticed what unfaithful Israel has done? She's gone about looking for lovers on top of every high hill and under every lush tree. <sup>7</sup>I thought that after she had done all this she would return to me, but she didn't. Her disloyal sister Judah saw this. <sup>8</sup>She<sup>i</sup> also saw that I sent unfaithful Israel away with divorce papers because of all her acts of unfaithfulness; yet disloyal sister Judah was not afraid but kept on playing the prostitute. <sup>9</sup>She didn't think twice about corrupting the land and committing adultery with stone and tree. <sup>10</sup>Yet even after all this, disloyal sister Judah didn't return to me with all her heart but only insincerely, declares the LORD. <sup>11</sup>Then the LORD said to me: Unfaithful Israel is less guilty<sup>j</sup> than disloyal Judah.

<sup>12</sup>Go proclaim these words to the north and say:
 Return, unfaithful Israel,
 declares the LORD.

<sup>f</sup>Heb uncertain. <sup>g</sup>Or bare heights. <sup>h</sup>Or You have a prostitute's forehead. <sup>i</sup>LXX, Syr; MT I. <sup>j</sup>Or more righteous most devastating act against God is forgetting God for days without end (2:32)! The chapter ends with rejection and overwhelming despair.

3:1-4:4 Longing for return and reunion. This is God's longing.

3:1-5 Deuteronomy 24:1-4 is the basis for another charge against Israel. The instruction states that a husband who lawfully divorces his wife can't remarry her if she remarries and is divorced or widowed. Jeremiah applies this teaching to God and God's people (see also Isa 50:1), making the case that God's unfaithful wife, Israel, guilty of idolatry, can't return to her divine spouse. She can't return to God, and God can't return to (remarry) her. Reconciliation is impossible; the divorce is final, or so it seems!

3:6-11 A voice enters the dialogue to clarify how the image of a broken marriage relates to Judah/Israel's estrangement from God. The storyteller reflects on a time during Josiah's reign when the northern state of Israel had deserted the Lord and rejected God's pleas to change their hearts and lives. In response, God issued divorce papers (3:8). One would think, the storyteller imagines, that the idolatrous southern state Judah would have learned a lesson from Israel's mishap and returned with all her heart (3:10). But disloyal sister Judah only acts more boldly.

3:6 One of the few references to King Josiah, one of Judah's celebrated leaders (Jer 1:2-3; 22:11, 18; 36:2; see also 2 Kgs 22-23; 2 Chron 34-35).

3:12-14 As if to annoy Judah (or more likely to rekindle her love for God, the rejected divine lover/parent/spouse invites unfaithful Israel (not unfaithful Judah) to change

3:14 Is 54:5;
Jer 31:32;
Hos 2:19;
Hos 2:20

3:15 Jer 23:4;
Eze 34:23;
Ac 20:28;
Eph 4:11,
Eph 4:12

3:19 Is 63:16;
Jer 3:4

3:20 Jer 3:8;
Jer 5:11

3:22 Is 57:18;
Jer 3:12;
Jer 30:17;
Hos 6:1,
Hos 14:4

3:23 Ps 3:8,
Ps 37:39

I won't reject you, for I'm faithful,
declares the LORD;

I won't stay angry forever.

<sup>13</sup> Only acknowledge your wrongdoing:
how you have rebelled against the LORD your God, and given yourself to strangers under every lush tree and haven't obeyed me,
declares the LORD.

<sup>14</sup> Return, rebellious children,
declares the LORD,
for I'm your husband.

I'll gather you—one from a city and two from a tribe—and bring you back to Zion.

<sup>15</sup> I will appoint shepherds with whom I'm pleased, and they will lead you with knowledge and understanding. <sup>16</sup> And in those days, when your numbers have greatly increased in the land, declares the LORD, people will no longer talk about the LORD's covenant chest; they won't recall or remember it; they won't even miss it or try to build another one. <sup>17</sup> At that time, they will call Jerusalem the LORD's throne, and all nations will gather there to honor the LORD's name. No longer will they follow their own willful and evil hearts. <sup>18</sup> In those days the people of Judah and Israel will leave the north together for the land that I gave their ancestors as an inheritance.

<sup>19</sup> I thought to myself,

How wonderful it would be to treat you like children and give you a beautiful land, an inheritance unrivaled among the nations.

And I thought, You will call me father, and you won't turn away from me.

<sup>20</sup> But as a woman betrays her lover, so you, people of Israel, have betrayed me,
declares the LORD.

<sup>21</sup> A voice is heard on the well-traveled paths;<sup>b</sup> it's the crying and pleading of the people of Israel, who have lost their way and forgotten the LORD their God.

<sup>22</sup> Return, rebellious children, and I will heal your rebellion.

"Here we are; we come to you, for you are the LORD our God.

<sup>23</sup> Surely what happens on the hills<sup>c</sup> is a waste, as is the uproar on the mountains.

Only in the LORD our God is the salvation of Israel.

<sup>b</sup>Or bare heights <sup>c</sup>LXX, Syr, Vulg; MT from the hills

everything and return home. Return: The Hebrew word shub, translated "return," or "turn," is central here and throughout this larger section (occurring over 10 times in Jer 3:1–4:4; God calls Jeremiah to "return" in Jer 15:19; see also Deut 4:30; 30:2, 10). The question is open whether Judah can and will return to God. The call to the north in 3:12 is unclear. Does it refer to northern Israelites of long ago or to the Judean exiles who live in (northern) Babylon? In either case, God promises to gather and bring back rebellious children to Jerusalem (3:14).

3:15–18 The promise of restoration includes shepherds with whom I'm pleased (or "after my heart," i.e., "of his own choosing"). This recalls the description of David in 1 Samuel 13:14; shepherds refers to kings and those who rule with them. The appointment of good shepherds who lead with knowledge and understanding contrasts with rebellious ones in Jeremiah 2:8, with those who have lost their senses (Jer 10:21; see also Jer 12:10), and with those who destroy the sheep (=people) and ignore their needs in Jeremiah 23:1–2. (In Jer 23:3–4, God promises to shepherd God's people and to set over them rulers who truly attend to their needs; see also Ezek 34.) Residents of the new Jerusalem, or Zion, the returnees from exile in Babylon, won't need the LORD's covenant chest, i.e., the place of God's special presence (Exod 25:10–16) which housed the two tablets of the Instruction (see Deut 10:1–5; 31:24–29; 1 Sam 4:4; 1 Kgs 8:1–13). The text doesn't say why the covenant chest won't be mentioned or missed.

Divine Grief This initial collection of poetry, Jeremiah 2:1–4:4, contrasts Israel's guilt with a wounded God who is determined to restore the broken relationship. Both God and God's people are determined, and both make their counterclaims in a dispute before the readers, where God is ultimately cleared of any wrongdoing. This section, with its wide range of images, defends God against accusations of wrongdoing and powerlessness. It demonstrates that the national tragedy isn't beyond the reach of God's just governance.

3:19–4:4 The poetic voice returns to the earlier theme of God's reckless children and spouse. This section can be read as a dialogue: (1) God laments Israel's rejection (3:19–20). (2) The narrator reports hearing Israel weeping and praying (3:21). (3) God invites God's prodigal children home (3:22a). (4) God's rebellious people confess their sin

4:2 Dt 10:20;
Is 65:16;
Jer 5:2, Jer 9:24,
Jer 12:16
4:3 Hos 10:12;
Mt 13:7;
Mk 4:18
4:4 Dt 10:16,
Dt 30:6; Jer 9:26;
Ro 2:28, Ro 2:29
4:5 Josh 10:20;
Jer 6:1, Jer 8:14

<sup>24</sup>From our youth, shame<sup>m</sup> has devoured the fruit of our parents' labor—their flocks and herds, as well as their sons and daughters.

<sup>25</sup>Let's lie down in our shame.

Let our dishonor cover us, for we have sinned against the LORD our God, both we and our ancestors, from our youth to this very day.

We have disobeyed the voice of the LORD our God.”

4 If you return, Israel, return to me, declares the LORD.

If you get rid of your disgusting idols from my presence and wander no more,

<sup>2</sup>and if you swear by the living God in truth, justice, and righteousness, then the nations will enjoy God's blessings;<sup>m</sup>
they will boast about him.

<sup>3</sup>This is what the LORD says to the people of Judah and to the residents of Jerusalem:

Break up your hard rocky soil;
don't plant among the thorns.

<sup>4</sup>Dedicate<sup>o</sup> yourselves to the LORD; don't be thick-skinned.<sup>p</sup> people of Judah and residents of Jerusalem, or else my anger will spread like a wildfire.

It will burn, with no one to put it out, because of your evil deeds.

Disaster approaches

<sup>5</sup>Announce in Judah, in Jerusalem proclaim,
sound the alarm throughout the land,
cry out and say,
“Gather together! Let's flee to the fortified towns!”

<sup>6</sup>Set up a flag to Zion; take cover, don't just stand there!
I'm bringing disaster from the north,
massive devastation.

<sup>7</sup>A lion bursts out of the thicket;
a destroyer of nations advances.
He's gone forth from his place to ravage your land, to wipe out your towns, until no one is left.

<sup>8</sup>Put on funeral clothing.
Weep and wail,
for the LORD's fierce anger hasn't turned away from us.

<sup>m</sup>Or the shame <sup>n</sup>Or bless themselves in him or be blessed by him or will bless themselves <sup>o</sup>Or circumcise <sup>p</sup>Or remove the foreskins of your hearts

(3:22b-25). (5) God responds by clarifying the conditions for genuine life change (4:1-4). Judah's return to God—disallowed by the Instruction itself—is now possible, because God is willing to restore the broken relationship. In the ritual of changing heart and life (Jer 4:22b-25), do God's wayward children actually admit their sin and confess faith in God, as God desires? Is the sorrow fleeting or insincere (4:1-4), or is God only imagining the return of rebellious children (see Hos 2:8-9; cf. Hos 14:1-3)? The passage can be interpreted many ways.

4:3-4 Two dominant images for the changed life: break up... rocky soil (Hos 10:12) and Dedicate (or circumcise) yourselves—that is, open your hearts to God (see Deut 10:16; 30:6; 9:25-26).

4:5-6:30 From grief to rage: God's declaration of war. In this section, Israel's unfaithfulness and disobedience are the basis for the announcement of divine judgment. By the end of the section, God's disappointment and grief turn into rage and resolve. Despite this display of divine power, God's people remain stubborn and arrogant.

4:5-18 Battle alarms, funeral clothing, and references to war show that disaster is coming. The prophet urges Judah to prepare for the military assault. The unnamed northern attacker, made all the more threatening because it comes at God's bidding, is likened to a lion (4:7; see Amos 1:1; 3:4) that will ravage and completely destroy. The powerful invader advances with swift chariots and horses, evoking dread (4:13). Amid the wreckage, Jeremiah blames the Lord for deceiving the people into believing that peace was approaching when in fact the enemy was at the gates (4:10). Jeremiah's accusation might recall the false words of the prophets who insist in the Lord's name that “all is well” when in fact disaster looms (e.g., Jer 6:14; 8:1; 14:13; see also 1 Kgs 22:22). Jeremiah's claim, justified or not, is a daring act of protest on behalf of God's suffering people (see also Jer 27:18).

4:11 Hos 13:15
 4:14 Psv 1:22;
 Is 1:16; Jer 13:27;
 Jas 4:8
 4:16 Jer 5:15;
 Eze 21:22
 4:19 Is 22:4;
 Jer 9:1; Jer 9:10;
 Zep 1:16
 4:22 Dt 32:28;
 Is 1:3; Is 27:11;
 Jer 5:21; Jer 8:7
 4:25 Jer 9:10,
 Jer 12:4; Zep 1:3

- <sup>9</sup>On that day, declares the LORD, the courage of the king and his princes will fail,
 the priests will be stunned, and the prophets will be shocked.
- <sup>10</sup>Then I said, "LORD God, no!
 You have utterly deceived this people and Jerusalem by promising them peace even though the sword is at their throats."
- <sup>11</sup>At that time, this people and Jerusalem will be told:
 A blistering wind from the bare heights;
 it rages in the desert toward my people, not merely to winnow or cleanse.
- <sup>12</sup>This wind is too devastating for that.
 Now I, even I, will pronounce my sentence against them.
- <sup>13</sup>Look! He approaches like the clouds; his chariots advance like a tempest, his horses swifter than eagles.
 How horrible! We're doomed!
- <sup>14</sup>Cleanse your heart of evil, Jerusalem, that you may be saved.
 How long will you entertain your destructive ideas?
- <sup>15</sup>A voice declares from Dan; someone proclaims disaster from the highlands of Ephraim.
- <sup>16</sup>Warn the nations, proclaim it to Jerusalem!
 Armies are approaching from a far-away country, raising their war cries against the towns of Judah.
- <sup>17</sup>They hem her in like those guarding a field, because she has rebelled against me,
 declares the LORD.
- <sup>18</sup>Your own conduct, your own deeds have done this to you.
 This is your payment and how bitter it is,
 piercing into the depths of your heart.

Anguish over looming disaster

- <sup>19</sup>Oh, my suffering, my suffering! My pain is unbearable; my heart is in turmoil; it throbs nonstop.
 I can't be silent, because I hear the blast of the trumpet and the roar of the battle cry!
- <sup>20</sup>Disaster follows disaster;
 the whole land is ruined.
 Suddenly, my tents are destroyed,
 my shelter in a moment.
- <sup>21</sup>How long must I see the battle flags and hear the blast of the trumpet?
- <sup>22</sup>My people are foolish.
 They don't even know me!
 They are thoughtless children without understanding;
 they are skilled at doing wrong, inept at doing right.
- <sup>23</sup>I looked at the earth, and it was without shape or form; at the heavens and there was no light.
- <sup>24</sup>I looked at the mountains and they were quaking;
 all the hills were rocking back and forth.
- <sup>25</sup>I looked and there was no one left;
 every bird in the sky had taken flight.

4:19-31 This section expresses Jeremiah's or God's grief over the horror of war and the thoughtless deeds of God's people (my people in 4:22). Jeremiah 4:23-27 portray the destruction as though it were the collapse of creation, the world returning to chaos. Note the reversal of the order of creation—the earth ... was without shape or form ... [and] the heavens ... no light—as described in Genesis 1:1-5. In 4:28 earth and heaven join God, Jeremiah, and Daughter Zion in their grief over the wholesale destruction.

4:30 2K1 9:30;
Lam 1:2;
Eze 23:22,
Eze 23:40
5:1 Gn 18:32;
2Ch 16:9;
Eze 22:30
5:2 Lv 19:12;
Is 48:1; Jer 4:2,
Jer 7:9; Ti 1:16
5:3 2Ch 16:9;
Is 1:5, Is 9:13;
Jer 2:30, Jer 7:28
5:5 Ps 2:3,
Jer 2:20; Mi 3:1
5:6 Hos 13:7,
Hab 1:8; Zep 3:3
5:7 Dt 32:15,
Dt 32:21;
Josh 23:7;
Jer 2:11; Ga 4:8

- 26 I looked and the fertile land was a desert;
all its towns were in ruins before the LORD, before his fury.
- 27 The LORD proclaims:
The whole earth will become a desolation,
but I will not destroy it completely.
- 28 Therefore, the earth will grieve and the heavens grow dark because I have declared my plan and will neither change my mind nor cancel the plan.
- 29 As the horsemen and archers approach, the people take flight.
They hide in the bushes and escape to the cliffs.
Every city is deserted;
no one remains.
- 30 And you, devastated one,
why dress up in scarlet,
deck yourself in gold jewelry,
and color your eyes with paint?
In vain you get all decked out;
your lovers have rejected you and now seek your life.
- 31 I hear the cry of a woman in labor, the distress of one delivering her first child.
It is the cry of Daughter Zion, gasping for breath, her arms stretched out, and moaning,
"I'm about to fall into the hands of murderers!"

Futile search for a good person

- 5 Search every street in Jerusalem, comb the squares,
look far and wide for one person, even one who acts justly and seeks truth that I may pardon her!
- 2 Even when making a pledge—"As the LORD lives"— they swear falsely.
- 3 LORD, don't you look for integrity?
You have struck them down, but they didn't even cringe.
You have crushed them, but they have ignored your discipline.
They make their faces harder than rock and refuse to return.
- 4 Then I thought to myself,
These are the poor who don't know better!
They don't understand the LORD's way or the justice of their God.
- 5 Let me go and speak to the powerful people, for they will surely know the LORD's way and the justice of their God.
But they too have broken their yoke and shattered the chains.
- 6 Therefore, a lion from the forest will attack them;
a wolf from the desert will destroy them;
a leopard prowling around their towns will tear to pieces anyone venturing out—because of their many crimes and countless acts of unfaithfulness.
- 7 How can I pardon you?
Your children have forsaken me and swear by gods that are not gods.

5:1-9 God gives a command to search every street in Jerusalem... one who acts justly, a command suggestive of Abraham's request for enough righteous people to prevent divine judgment on Sodom (Gen 18:22-33). Pardon wasn't granted to Sodom. And with even more modest expectations here—one person who acts justly and seeks truth—it isn't granted to Jerusalem. As the LORD lives: a divine and solemn promise that occurs throughout the book (e.g., Jer 4:2; 12:16; 16:14; 23:7; 38:16). How can I pardon you?: a rhetorical question that demands a negative response. Yet God does eventually pardon (see Jer 31:34; cf. Hos 11:8-9).

5:8 Jer 13:27;
Jer 29:23;
Eze 22:11
5:9 Jer 5:29;
Jer 9:9
5:11 Jer 3:6;
Jer 3:20
5:12 Is 28:15;
Jer 14:13;
Jer 23:17
5:14 Jer 1:9;
Jer 23:29;
Hos 6:5
5:21 Is 6:9;
Jer 4:22;
Eze 12:2

Although I could have satisfied them,
they committed adultery,
dashing off to the prostitution house.

<sup>8</sup>They are lusty stallions roving about, snorting for another's wife.

<sup>9</sup>The LORD declares:
Shouldn't I confront these acts?
Shouldn't I take revenge on such a nation?

Contempt for God

<sup>10</sup>Climb through her vineyards and ravage them, although not completely.
Prune back her branches,
because they aren't the LORD's.

<sup>11</sup>The people of Israel and Judah have been utterly faithless to me,
declares the LORD.

<sup>12</sup>They have lied about the LORD and said, "He'll do nothing!<sup>9</sup> Disaster won't come upon us;
we won't see war or famine."

<sup>13</sup>The prophets are so much wind;
the word isn't in them.

Thus and so may it be done to them.

<sup>14</sup>Therefore, the LORD God of heavenly forces proclaims:
Because you have spoken this way,
I will put my words in your mouth as a fire;
it will consume the people, who are but kindling.

<sup>15</sup>I am about to bring a distant nation against you, people of Israel,
declares the LORD.

It is an established nation, an ancient nation,
a nation whose language you don't know, whose speech you won't understand.

<sup>16</sup>Its weapons are deadly;<sup>7</sup> its warriors are many.

<sup>17</sup>It will devour your harvest and food;
it will devour your sons and daughters;
it will devour your flocks and herds;
it will devour your vines and fig trees;
it will shatter your fortified towns in which you trust—with the sword!

<sup>18</sup>Yet even in those days, declares the LORD, I won't completely destroy you. <sup>19</sup>And when they ask, "Why has the LORD our God done all these things to us?" you must reply, "Just as you have abandoned me and served foreign gods in your land, so you will serve strangers in a land not your own."

Shouldn't you fear me?

<sup>20</sup>Declare this to the people of Jacob, announce it in Judah:

<sup>21</sup>Listen, you foolish and senseless people, who have eyes but don't see and ears but don't hear.

<sup>9</sup>Or not he <sup>7</sup>Or Its quiver is like an open grave

5:10-19 The image of Israel as a vineyard is common (Jer 2:21; 12:10; Isa 5:1-7; Ezek 19:10-14; Hos 10:1; John 15:1-11). In this instance, God instructs destroyers to prune Judah's vineyards. The prophet accuses the people of deceit and contempt—He'll do nothing! (5:12). Then he accuses the prophets of being windbags: the word isn't in them (5:13). Jeremiah repeats the threat that divine judgment would come as a military assault from the north. The fourfold use of the word devour (or consume) in 5:17 emphasizes the force and scope of the attack. Yet the LORD... won't completely destroy (5:18; see also Jer 5:10; 30:11; 46:28; 49:6, 39). Mercy will triumph.

5:20-30 New charges against the people of Judah: God's people don't fear God (5:22, 24; a prominent theme in the

- 22 Shouldn't you fear me, declares the LORD, and tremble before me,
the one who set the shoreline for the sea,
an ancient boundary that it can't pass?
Though its waves may rise and roar, they can't pass the limits I have set.
- 23 And yet the people have stubborn and rebellious hearts;
they turn and go their own way.
- 24 They don't say in their hearts,
Let's fear the LORD our God, who provides rain in autumn and spring and who assures us of a harvest in its season.
- 25 Your wrongdoing has turned these blessings<sup>a</sup> away.
Your sin has robbed you of good.
- 26 Criminals are found among my people;
they set traps to catch people, like hunters lying in wait.<sup>b</sup>
- 27 Like a cage full of birds,
so their houses are full of loot.
No wonder they are rich and powerful 28 and have grown fat and sleek!
To be sure, their evil deeds exceed all limits,
and yet they prosper.
They are indifferent to the plight of the orphan, reluctant to defend the rights of the poor.
- 29 Shouldn't I punish such acts? declares the LORD.
Shouldn't I repay that nation for its deeds?
- 30 An awful, a terrible thing has happened in the land:
31 The prophets prophesy falsely, the priests rule at their sides,<sup>c</sup> and my people love it this way!
But what will you do when the end comes?

5:22 Dt 28:58;
Job 38:11;
Ps 104:9;
Pv 8:29;
Jer 10:7
5:24 Gn 8:22;
Dt 11:14;
Ps 147:8; Jl 2:23;
Mt 5:45
5:30 Jer 23:14;
Hos 6:10
5:31 Jer 14:14;
Mt 2:11; Mt 7:15
6:1 Neh 3:14;
Jer 1:14; Jer 4:6

Prepare for war

- 6 Escape, people of Benjamin, get out of Jerusalem!
Blow the trumpet in Tekoa, sound the alarm in Beth-haccherem;
for disaster looms from the north, massive devastation.
- 2 You are like a lovely pasture, Daughter Zion.<sup>d</sup>
- 3 Shepherds come to her with their flocks.
They pitch their tents around her and graze in their place.
- 4 "Prepare for battle against her;
get ready; let's attack by noon!
Oh, no! Daylight is fading, and the evening shadows lengthen.

<sup>a</sup>Heb lacks  blessings. <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Or by their hands <sup>d</sup>Heb uncertain wisdom books; e.g., Prov 1:7; 3:7; 24:21; Job 1:1, 8, 9; cf. Eccl 12:13). Fearing the Lord, among other things, is the awareness of what God desires and the doing of it, the commitment not to do evil, being aware of the consequences of one's behavior. But the people of Judah are foolish and senseless; they don't get it (5:21; Jer 6:10; see also Ezek 12:2; Ps 135:15-18; cf. Isa 69-10; Matt 13:14-15; John 12:40), they don't recognize moral boundaries (5:22-24, 28), and they are unresponsive to those in need (5:28; see also Jer 7:6; 22:3). 6:1-8 War is on the horizon. Jeremiah urges God's people to escape while there is still time. Escape ... Blow the trumpet ... Prepare for battle ... Hear me out: commands that convey urgency. 6:2 lovely pasture or simply "lovely" occurs in Song of Songs (Song 1:5; 2:14; 4:3; 6:4). The text is complicated by the union of language of affection with the language of accusation, love, and hate. 6:4-5 The tension is heightened by listening in on the generals (that is, "shepherds" in Jer 6:3) from the enemy camp who are eager to attack.

6:7 Ps 55:9;
Is 57:20;
Jer 20:8;
Jer 10:12;
Eze 7:23
6:8 Eze 23:18;
Hos 9:12
6:9 Is 11:16;
Jer 11:23;
Jer 16:16;
Jer 31:7; Jer 49:9
6:10 Jer 20:8;
Ac 7:51
6:14 Jer 4:10;
Jer 8:11;
Jer 14:13;
Jer 23:17;
Eze 13:10
6:16 Is 8:20;
Is 28:12;
Jer 18:15;
Mal 4:4;
Mt 11:29

<sup>5</sup>Get ready, let's attack by night and destroy her fortresses!"

<sup>6</sup>The LORD of heavenly forces proclaims:
Cut down her trees, and build siege ramps against Jerusalem.
This city must be held accountable,¶ for there's nothing but oppression in her midst.

<sup>7</sup>As a well brings forth fresh water, she brings forth evil.
Violence and destruction are heard within her;
injury and wounds are ever before me.

<sup>8</sup>Hear me out,¶ Jerusalem, or else I'll turn away from you and reduce you to ruins, a land unfit to live in.

Unresponsive people

<sup>9</sup>This is what the LORD of heavenly forces says:
From top to bottom, let them harvest the remaining few in Israel.
Pick clean every last grape on the vine!

<sup>10</sup>To whom can I speak and warn?
How can I get someone's attention?
Their ears are shut tight,¶ so they won't hear.
They are ashamed of the LORD's word and take no pleasure in it.

<sup>11</sup>But I'm filled with the LORD's rage and am tired of holding it in.

Pour it out on the children in the streets and on the youths gathered together;
husband with wife will be trapped,
as will those old and gray.

<sup>12</sup>Their homes will be turned over to others, their fields and wives as well.
I will stretch out my hand against the people of this land,
declares the LORD.

<sup>13</sup>From the least to the greatest, each is eager to profit; from prophet to priest, each trades in dishonesty.

<sup>14</sup>They treat the wound of my people as if it were nothing:
"All is well, all is well," they insist, when in fact nothing is well.

<sup>15</sup>They should be ashamed of their detestable practices, but they have no shame; they don't even blush!
Therefore, they will fall among the fallen and stumble when I bring disaster, declares the LORD.

<sup>16</sup>The LORD proclaims:
Stop at the crossroads and look around;
ask for the ancient paths.
Where is the good way?
Then walk in it and find a resting place for yourselves.
But you<sup>a</sup> said, "We won't go!"

¶Heb uncertain ¶Or Accept correction ¶Or uncircumcised ¶Or they

6:9-21 God's people ignore the warnings. A frustrated God asks, How can I get someone's attention? (6:10). The description of the remaining few in Israel (or the "survivors of Israel") is also used in Jeremiah 31:7; Ezekiel 9:8; 11:13; Micah 2:12; Zephaniah 3:13. Here it conveys the idea of total destruction. The sins of God's people include greed, dishonesty, and indifference—"All is well, all is well"... when in fact nothing is well (see Jer 5:13-14; cf. Jer 8:11). The ancient paths and the good way may refer to the God's Instruction or covenant. At a crossroads the prophet implores God's people to remember God's saving acts. But they refuse, "We won't go!" The persistent God dispatches watchmen, likely a reference to prophets (6:17; Ezek 3:17; 33:7; Hos 9:8), to give warnings, but they go <sup>17</sup> Still, I have appointed watchmen to warn you.

But you<sup>a</sup> said, "We won't listen!"

<sup>18</sup> Therefore, pay attention, nations; take notice, assembly, what is ahead of them.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>19</sup> Pay attention, earth:

I'm bringing disaster upon my people,
the fruit of their own devices, because they have ignored my words and they have rejected my teaching.

<sup>20</sup> What use to me is incense from Sheba or sweet cane from a faraway land?

Your entirely burned offerings won't buy your pardon;
your sacrifices won't appease me.

<sup>21</sup> Therefore, the LORD proclaims:

I'm putting obstacles before this people, and both parents and children will stumble over them;
neighbor and friend alike will perish.

Panic-stricken Zion

<sup>22</sup> The LORD proclaims:

An army is on the move from the northern regions;
a great nation is roused from the ends of the earth.

<sup>23</sup> Equipped with bow and spear, they are cruel; they show no mercy.

Their horsemen sound like the roaring sea, arrayed in battle formation against you, Daughter Zion.

<sup>24</sup> We have heard reports of them and are panic-stricken; distress overwhelms us, pain like that of a woman in labor.

<sup>25</sup> Don't go out into the field!

Don't walk on the road!

The enemies' sword terrorizes at every turn.

<sup>26</sup> My people, put on funeral clothes and roll in ashes;
weep and wail as for an only child, because the destroyer will suddenly descend upon us.

Prophet as tester

<sup>27</sup> I have made you a tester of metals, to examine my people<sup>c</sup>

to know and prove their ways.

<sup>28</sup> They are tin<sup>d</sup> and iron;

they are headstrong and rebellious.

They live to slander.

They act corruptly—every last one!

<sup>29</sup> The bellows roar; the lead is consumed.<sup>e</sup>

Yet the refining fails;

the impurities<sup>f</sup> remain.

<sup>30</sup> They are called "rejected silver," for the LORD has rejected them.

<sup>a</sup>Or they <sup>b</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>c</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>d</sup>Or bronze <sup>e</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>f</sup>Or wicked

6:17 Is 21:11,
Is 58:1; Jer 25:4;
Eze 3:17

6:20 Ps 40:6;
Is 1:11, Is 60:6;
Jer 7:21,
Jer 14:12

6:29 Zec 13:9;
Mal 3:3

6:30 Ps 119:119;
Is 1:22;
Eze 22:18;
Hos 9:17

unheeded. So God's people have brought punishment on themselves. Religious offerings won't placate God and purge Israel's willful transgressions (6:20; Jer 7:21-22; see also 1 Sam 15:22; Isa 1:10-17; Hos 6:6; Amos 4:4-5; 5:21-24; Mic 6:6-8).

6:22-26 The army approaching from the north causes Daughter Zion to panic. My people: or, "daughter of my people"—must put on mourning clothes and lament as if she has lost her only child.

6:27-30 God assigns Jeremiah the task of refiner or tester of metals to determine the quality of God's people. The prophet finds little of value—only dross—so the Lord rejects them. The first major block of (mostly) poetry of the book ends with God's rejection of the people. Also the section contrasts the strong and obedient Jeremiah—whom God makes "an iron pillar, and a bronze wall" (Jer 1:18)—with the headstrong and rebellious people of God, who are tin [or bronze] and iron (6:28).

7:2 Jer 17:19,
Jer 17:20,
Jer 22:1, Jer 26:2
7:3 Jer 18:11,
Jer 26:13
7:4 Jer 7:8;
Mt 3:11
7:5 1Ki 6:12;
Is 1:19, Jer 4:1,
Jer 7:3, Jer 26:13
7:6 Ex 22:21;
Jer 5:28, Jer 22:3
7:11 Is 56:7;
Mt 21:13;
Mk 11:17;
Lk 19:46

7:12 Josh 18:1;
Jgs 18:31;
1Sa 1:3, 1Sa 4:3;
Ps 78:60
7:14 1Ki 9:7;
Ps 78:60;
Jer 26:6

7:16 Ex 32:10;
Dt 9:14;
Jer 11:14,
Jer 14:11,
Jer 15:1

7:18 Jer 19:13,
Jer 44:17;
Hos 7:4

7:21 Is 1:11;
Jer 6:20,
Hos 8:13;
Am 5:21

7:22 1Sa 15:22;
Hos 6:6

The Lord's temple

7 Jeremiah received the LORD's word: <sup>2</sup>Stand near the gate of the LORD's temple and proclaim there this message: Listen to the LORD's word, all you of Judah who enter these gates to worship the LORD. <sup>3</sup>This is what the LORD of heavenly forces, the God of Israel, says: Improve your conduct and your actions, and I will dwell with you<sup>a</sup> in this place. <sup>4</sup>Don't trust in lies: "This is the LORD's temple! The LORD's temple! The LORD's temple!" <sup>5</sup>No, if you truly reform your ways and your actions; if you treat each other justly; <sup>6</sup>if you stop taking advantage of the immigrant, orphan, or widow; if you don't shed the blood of the innocent in this place, or go after other gods to your own ruin, <sup>7</sup>only then will I dwell with you<sup>b</sup> in this place, in the land that I gave long ago to your ancestors for all time.

<sup>8</sup>And yet you trust in lies that will only hurt you. <sup>9</sup>Will you steal and murder, commit adultery and perjury, sacrifice to Baal and go after other gods that you don't know, <sup>10</sup>and then come and stand before me in this temple that bears my name, and say, "We are safe," only to keep on doing all these detestable things? <sup>11</sup>Do you regard this temple, which bears my name, as a hiding place for criminals? I can see what's going on here, declares the LORD. <sup>12</sup>Just go to my sanctuary<sup>d</sup> in Shiloh, where I let my name dwell at first, and see what I did to it because of the evil of my people Israel. <sup>13</sup>And now, because you have done all these things, declares the LORD, because you haven't listened when I spoke to you again and again or responded when I called you, <sup>14</sup>I will do to this temple that bears my name and on which you rely, the place that I gave to you and your ancestors, just as I did to Shiloh. <sup>15</sup>I will cast you out of my sight, just as I cast out the rest of your family, all the people of Ephraim.

<sup>16</sup>As for you, don't pray for these people, don't cry out or plead for them, and don't intercede with me, for I won't listen to you. <sup>17</sup>Can't you see what they are doing in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? <sup>18</sup>The children gather wood, the fathers light the fire, and the women knead dough to make sacrificial cakes for the queen of heaven. And to offend me all the more, they pour out drink offerings to foreign gods. <sup>19</sup>But am I the one they are really offending? declares the LORD. Aren't they in fact humiliating themselves? <sup>20</sup>Therefore, this is what the LORD God says: I'm going to pour out my fierce anger on this place, on humans and beasts, on the trees of the field and the crops of the fertile land. It will burn and not go out.

<sup>21</sup>This is what the LORD of heavenly forces, the God of Israel, says: Add your entirely burned offerings to your sacrifices and eat them yourselves! <sup>22</sup>On the day I brought your ancestors out of the land of Egypt, I didn't say a thing—I gave no instructions—about entirely

<sup>a</sup>Or I will let you dwell <sup>b</sup>Or I will let you dwell <sup>c</sup>Or place

7:1–10:25 The end of the temple and its culture of idolatry. This section focuses on worship and its abuses. It opens with Jeremiah delivering a sermon in the temple on the importance of obedience, and it concludes with a wholesale condemnation of idolatry. True worship, the text insists, is expressed in loyalty and love for God as well as acts of kindness and generosity to others.

7:1–8:3 The Lord's temple: contaminated worship. Jeremiah stands at the entrance of the temple and criticizes the kind of worship practiced there. True worship, the prophet proclaims, is expressed in a changed life, obedience to God, and love for neighbor, especially love for the vulnerable and disadvantaged. To exploit those created in God's image is to show disdain for God's most basic demands. God has nothing to do with worship that ignores justice. Put simply, love for God is linked to love for neighbor (e.g., Lev 19:18, 34; Deut 10:19; Amos 5:21–24; Matt 22:34–39; 1 John 4:16–21).

7:4 This is the LORD's temple!... The LORD's temple!: is perhaps part of Judah's entrance liturgy, conveying the belief that worshippers are safe from harm when entering God's presence (cf. Jer 7:10). The prophet mocks these words by referring to them as lies and by claiming that God is present in the temple only when worshippers reform their ways and treat people compassionately (Jer 7:5–7)

7:6 the immigrant, orphan, or widow: those located at the base of the economic system and therefore most vulnerable to abuse (see Exod 22:21–24; Deut 10:18–19; 24:17–22; 1Sa 1:17; Jer 22:3; Zech 7:10). Israel is to protect people who can't protect themselves. To abuse them is to outrage their divine guardian (Ps 146:9).

7:9–10 To violate five of the Ten Commandments and then seek safety in the temple is absurd.

7:11 a hiding place for criminals: that is, using the temple as a place to hide from God after committing acts against God and others (see Matt 21:13; Mark 11:17; Luke 19:46).

7:12, 14 Shiloh: an ancient sanctuary associated with God's presence (Josh 21:1–2; 1 Sam 1:1–9, 24; 2:14; 4:1–11), assumed to be in ruins because of Israel's transgressions.

7:16 The ban on prophetic prayer and intercession (see Jer 11:14; 14:11; 15:1) violates the core prophetic duty of praying for God's people (Jer 27:18).

7:18 queen of heaven: a title associated with the Assyrian-Babylonian goddess Ishtar, also known as Astarte (see Jer 44:15–30; cf. 2 Kgs 21:1–9).

7:23 Ex 15:26,
Ex 19:5; Dt 4:40,
Dt 5:33; Jer 11:4
7:24 Jer 3:17,
Jer 11:8
7:25 2Ch 36:15;
Jer 25:4,
Jer 35:15
7:26 Jer 7:34,
Jer 16:12,
Jer 17:23,
Jer 19:15
7:29 Job 1:20,
Jer 6:30;
Eze 19:1;
Mi 1:16
7:30 2Ch 33:7;
Jer 7:10,
Jer 32:34;
Eze 7:20
7:34 Is 24:7,
Is 24:8; Jer 16:9,
Jer 25:10;
Rev 18:23
8:1 Eze 6:5
8:2 Dt 4:19,
2Ki 9:37,
2Ki 23:5;
Jer 19:13;
Zep 1:5
8:4 Prv 24:16;
Mi 7:8
8:5 Jer 5:3,
Jer 5:6, Jer 7:24,
Jer 9:6

True and False Worship Jeremiah 7:1-15 is a sermon that is usually considered as an interruption in its narrative context. However, when read as a theological response to the haunting and elusive poetry of Jeremiah 2-6, it asserts that even the Jerusalem temple, the center of national life, won't save Judah from national disaster and divine judgment. Despite its standing and long association with God's presence, the temple won't provide unconditional protection and blessing. If God's people don't reform their ways, practice justice, and care for those in great need, God will destroy the great temple, and they will go into exile. Jeremiah appeals to historical examples to make this case. Thus the great sanctuary at Shiloh was destroyed because Israel failed to obey God's will.

burned offerings or sacrifices. <sup>23</sup>Rather, this is what I required of them: Obey me so that I may become your God and you may become my people. Follow the path I mark out for you so that it may go well with you. <sup>24</sup>But they didn't listen or pay attention. They followed their willful and evil hearts and went backward rather than forward. <sup>25</sup>From the moment your ancestors left the land of Egypt to this day, I have sent you all my servants the prophets—day after day. <sup>26</sup>But they didn't listen to me or pay attention; they were stubborn and did more harm than their ancestors. <sup>27</sup>When you tell them all this, they won't listen to you. When you call to them, they won't respond. <sup>28</sup>Therefore, say to them: This nation neither obeys the LORD its God nor accepts correction; truth has disappeared; it has vanished from their lips.

<sup>29</sup>Cut off your hair and cast it away;
grieve on the well-traveled paths.

The LORD has rejected you and has cast off a generation that provokes his anger.

<sup>30</sup>The people of Judah have done what displeases me, declares the LORD. They have corrupted the temple that bears my name by setting up their disgusting idols. <sup>31</sup>They have built shrines at Topheth in the Ben-hinnom Valley to burn their sons and daughters in the fire, although I never commanded such a thing, nor did it ever cross my mind. <sup>32</sup>So now the time is coming, declares the LORD, when people will no longer speak of Topheth or the Ben-hinnom Valley, but the Carnage Valley. They will bury in Topheth until no space is left. <sup>33</sup>The corpses of this people will be food for birds and wild animals, with no one to drive them off. <sup>34</sup>I will silence the sound of joy and delight as well as the voice of bride and bridegroom in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, for the country will be reduced to a wasteland.

GAt that time, declares the LORD, the bones of the kings of Judah and its officers, the bones of the priests and the prophets, and the bones of the people of Jerusalem will be taken from their graves and exposed to the sun, the moon, and the whole heavenly forces, which they have loved and served and which they have followed, consulted, and worshipped. Their bones won't be gathered for reburial but will become like refuse lying on the ground. <sup>3</sup>The survivors of this evil nation will prefer death to life, wherever I have scattered them, declares the LORD of heavenly forces.

Depth of Judah's wrongdoing

<sup>4</sup>Say to them, The LORD proclaims:
When people fall down, don't they get up?
When they turn aside, don't they turn back?

<sup>5</sup>Why then does this people, rebellious Jerusalem, persistently turn away from me?
They cling to deceit and refuse to return.

7:31-32 Topheth (or fire pit) or the Ben-hinnom Valley: the place associated with human (child) sacrifice (Jer 19:1-13; 2 Kgs 23:10; see also 2 Kgs 21:6), a practice strictly forbidden in Leviticus 18:21 and Deuteronomy 18:10 and said to be abolished by Josiah (2 Kgs 23:10)

8:4-10:25 Weeping and warning. The material in these chapters is diverse. The section begins with an accusation that God's people refuse to return (8:5-13); it then develops the charge of unfaithfulness in Jeremiah 8-9. Condemning words together with signs of the northern enemy's advance lead to a chorus of suffering voices that are difficult to tell apart (8:14-21, 8:22-9:12, 17-24). The first wave of grief comes from God's people, who finally realize that disaster is close (8:14-16): "The harvest is past, the summer has ended, yet we aren't saved" (8:20). Either God or God's prophet Jeremiah in darkness or despair grieves the wounds of [God's] people (8:18-9:12). The funeral song isn't complete until professional mourners lament a fallen world and urge others to do the same (9:17-22, especially 9:18). This diverse body of literature concludes with a reflection on the dangers of idolatry (10:1-25).

8:4-13 Jeremiah charges rebellious Jerusalem (8:5) with rejecting the Lord's ways. The prophet delivers the divine charge with grim force. Despite the claim to be wise, God's

8:6 Mt 7:2;
Mal 3:16
8:7 Is 1:3,
Is 30:14; Jer 4:22;
Jer 5:4
8:8 Ro 2:17
8:9 Jer 6:19
8:11 Jer 6:14,
Jer 8:21,
Jer 14:13;
Lam 2:14;
Eze 13:10
8:13 J1 1:7;
Mt 21:19;
Lk 13:6
8:16 Jer 4:15
8:17 Nm 21:6;
Dt 32:24;
Ps 58:4, Ps 58:5;
Is 14:29

- <sup>6</sup>I have listened carefully but haven't heard a word of truth from them.
No one regrets their wrongdoing;
no one says, "What have I done?"
Everyone turns to their own course, like a stallion dashing into the thick of battle.
- <sup>7</sup>Even the stork in the sky knows the seasons, and the dove, swallow,<sup>h</sup> and crane<sup>i</sup> return in due time.
But my people don't know the LORD's ways.
- <sup>8</sup>How can you say, "We are wise; we possess the LORD's Instruction," when the lying pen of the scribes has surely distorted it?
- <sup>9</sup>The wise will be shamed and shocked when they are caught.
Look, they have rejected the LORD's word;
what kind of wisdom is that?
- <sup>10</sup>Therefore, I will give their wives to others and their fields to their captors.
From the least to the greatest, all are eager to profit.
From prophet to priest, all trade in falsehood.
- <sup>11</sup>They treat the wound of my people as if it were nothing:
"All is well, all is well," they insist, when in fact nothing is well.
- <sup>12</sup>They should be ashamed of their detestable practices,
but they have no shame; they don't even blush!
Therefore, they will fall among the fallen and stumble when disaster arrives, declares the LORD.
- <sup>13</sup>I will put an end to them,<sup>l</sup> declares the LORD;
there are no grapes on the vine,
no figs on the tree,
only withered leaves.
They have squandered what I have given them!<sup>m</sup>

A lament for God's people

- <sup>14</sup>Why are we sitting here?
Come, let's go to the fortified towns and meet our doom there.
The LORD our God has doomed us by giving us poisoned water to drink, because we have sinned against the LORD!
- <sup>15</sup>We longed for relief, but received none;
for a time of healing, but found only terror.
- <sup>16</sup>The snorting of their horses can be heard as far as Dan;
the neighing of their stallions makes the whole land tremble.
They come to devour the land and everything in it, towns and people alike.
- <sup>17</sup>See, I'm sending serpents against you, vipers that you can't charm,
and they will bite you, declares the LORD.
- <sup>18</sup>No healing, only grief;
my heart is broken.<sup>n</sup>

<sup>h</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>i</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>l</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>m</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>n</sup>Heb uncertain

people lack all good sense. They betray the natural order (8:7), trade in greed and falsehood (8:10), and openly engage in idolatry (8:12). Although there's enough guilt to go around (From the least to the greatest), Judah's failed leadership bears most responsibility. Scribes (or wise ones), prophets, and priests betray their sacred obligations to the community.

8:4-6 turn: The Hebrew word shub, often translated "turn" or "return" in Jeremiah 2-6, reappears, emphasizing that God's people have turned away from God and not to God.
8:7 Unlike migratory birds that follow their instincts, God's people don't know the LORD's ways (cf. Isa 1:2-3)

8:10 Charges against prophets and priests are common in Jeremiah 2:8; 4:9; 5:31; 6:13; 14:18; 18:18; 23:11, 33-40; see also Jeremiah 26:7-11.

8:11 See Jeremiah 6:14.

8:14-21 The community cries out in despair, resigning itself to a terrible future (8:14-16). Although God doesn't relent, God is heartbroken and crushed (8:17-21).

8:14 The LORD our God has doomed us: See, e.g., Psalms 10; 13; 44; 74.

8:16 Dan: the northern frontier of Israel (see also Jer 4:15). Babylonian military troops would invade Israel or Judah by way of Dan. The army is close.

8:22 Gn 37:25;
Jer 46:11;
Mt 9:12
9:1 Is 22:4;
Jer 8:21;
Jer 13:17;
Jer 14:17;
Lam 3:48
9:2 Ps 55:6;
Ps 55:7, Ps 120:5;
Jer 5:7, Jer 23:10
9:3 Jgs 2:10;
Ps 64:3; Jer 4:22;
Jer 9:8; Hos 4:1
9:4 Ps 15:3;
Ps 50:20;
Prv 10:18;
Jer 6:28; Mt 7:5
9:5 Lv 6:2;
Ps 50:19;
Ps 116:11;
Jer 9:3; Mt 6:12
9:6 Job 21:14;
Jn 3:19, Jn 3:20
9:8 Ps 12:2;
Ps 28:3; Jer 9:3
9:10 Jer 4:25;
Jer 12:4; Hos 4:3

19 Listen to the weeping of my people all across the land:
“Isn’t the LORD in Zion?
Is her king no longer there?”
Why then did they anger me with their images, with pointless foreign gods?

20 “The harvest is past,
the summer has ended,
yet we aren’t saved.”

21 Because my people are crushed, I am crushed; darkness and despair overwhelm me.

What to do with God’s people

22 Is there no balm in Gilead?
Is there no physician there?
Why then have my people not been restored to health?

9<sup>o</sup> If only my head were a spring of water, and my eyes a fountain of tears,
I would weep day and night for the wounds of my people.

2<sup>p</sup> If only I could flee for shelter in the desert, to leave my people and forget them—for they are all adulterers, a bunch of crooks.

3 They bend their tongues like bows to spew out lies;
they are renowned in the land, but not for truth.
They go from bad to worse.
They don’t know me! declares the LORD.

4 Be wary of your friends!
Don’t trust your sibling!<sup>q</sup>
Every sibling is a cheater, and every friend traffics in slander.

5 One cheats the other; no one tells the truth;
they train themselves to lie; they wear themselves out by doing wrong.

6 You live in a world of deceit, and in their deceit they refuse to know me,<sup>r</sup> declares the LORD.

7 Therefore, the LORD of heavenly forces proclaims:
I’m going to refine and test them,
for what else can I do with my people?

8 Their tongue is a lethal arrow; their words are deceitful.
They wish their neighbors well,
but in their hearts plot their ruin.

9 Shouldn’t I punish them for this? declares the LORD;
shouldn’t I avenge such a nation?

10 I will weep and wail for the mountains, and lament for the grazing lands in the wilderness.
They are dried up and deserted; no sound of the flocks is heard;
no sign of birds or animals is seen; all have vanished.

11 I will reduce Jerusalem to ruins, a den for wild dogs.
I will make the towns of Judah a wasteland, without inhabitant.

12 Who is wise enough to understand this?
Who has been taught by the LORD and can therefore explain it?

<sup>o</sup>8:23 in Heb <sup>p</sup>9:1 in Heb <sup>q</sup>Or brother <sup>r</sup>Heb uncertain

8:22–9:16 A remarkable display of divine grief. God would weep uncontrollably for Israel. The pain is so overwhelming that even God would avoid it at all costs—even flee[ing] for shelter in the desert (9:2; cf. Ps 55:4–8). Does God lament because of Israel’s terrible suffering or because Israel has wandered so far from God? The two can’t be easily separated. God weeps day and night for the wounds of [God’s] people (9:1), but the list of the people’s transgressions (9:3–9) suggests that God is deeply wounded by the broken relationship. In addition, God is profoundly affected by the destruction of the land (9:10), although God is the one who reduces land, city, and town to rubble (9:11). Still the wise realize that the community, not God, is responsible for the ruin (9:12–16, 24).

9:17 2Ch 35:25;
Ecc 12:5;
Am 5:16;
Mt 9:23
9:18 Is 22:4;
Jer 9:1, Jer 14:17
9:21 2Ch 36:17;
Jer 6:11
9:23 1Ki 20:11;
Ecc 9:11
9:24 Jer 31:34;
Mt 7:18;
1Co 1:31;
2Co 10:17
9:25 Jer 4:4;
Ro 2:9, Ro 2:25
9:26 Jer 4:4;
Jer 25:23;
Jer 49:32;
Eze 44:7;
Ro 2:28

Why has the land been reduced to rubble and laid waste like a desert, with no one passing through?

<sup>13</sup>The LORD says: It is because they have abandoned my Instruction that I gave them, and haven't obeyed or followed it. <sup>14</sup>Instead, they have followed their own willful hearts and have gone after the Baals, as their ancestors taught them. <sup>15</sup>Therefore, this is what the LORD of heavenly forces, the God of Israel, says: I'm going to feed this people bitter food and give them poison to drink. <sup>16</sup>I will scatter them among nations about whom neither they nor their ancestors have ever heard. I will pursue them with the sword until all are gone.

<sup>17</sup>The LORD of heavenly forces proclaims:

Pay attention!

Summon the women who mourn, let them come;

send for those best trained, let them come.

<sup>18</sup>Hurry!

Let them weep for us so that our eyes fill up with tears and water streams down.

<sup>19</sup>The sound of sobbing is heard from Zion:

"We're devastated! We're so ashamed!

We have to leave the land and abandon our homes!"

<sup>20</sup>Women, hear the LORD's word.

Listen closely to the word from his mouth:

teach your daughters to mourn;

teach each other to grieve.

<sup>21</sup>Death has climbed through our windows;

it has entered our fortresses to eliminate children from the streets, the youth from the squares.

<sup>22</sup>Declare what the LORD says:

Dead bodies will lie like dung on the fields, like bundles of grain after the harvest, with no one to pick them up.

<sup>23</sup>The LORD proclaims:

the learned should not boast of their knowledge, nor warriors boast of their might,

nor the rich boast of their wealth.

<sup>24</sup>No, those who boast should boast in this:

that they understand and know me.

I am the LORD who acts with kindness, justice, and righteousness in the world, and I delight in these things, declares the LORD.

<sup>25</sup>The time is coming, declares the LORD, when I will deal with everyone who is physically circumcised: <sup>26</sup>whether they are Egyptians or Judeans, Edomites or Ammonites, Moabites or the desert dwellers who cut the hair on their foreheads. All these nations are really uncircumcised; even the people of Israel are uncircumcised in heart.

9:17-22 God calls professional mourners to participate in the national funeral song. Their presence signals death, again as a result of military actions. All must come to terms with the realities of a fallen world, and all must take part in this public ritual of grief.

9:23-24 These verses are frequently read as an interruption into the larger context of mourning, but they may be read as a response to it. If so, the immediacy of death and destruction refocuses national priorities. What once seemed vital to life and national security—knowledge, power, and wealth—is exposed as sorely inadequate. Readers, especially exilic readers who have suffered the loss of power and position, are to celebrate something far more essential: understanding and knowing the living God (cf. 1 Cor 1:26-31). To know God is to live in intimate relationship with God and to recognize that God's activity in the world is rooted in kindness, justice, and righteousness (see Jer 2:8; 4:22; 8:7; 9:3, 6; 24:7; 31:34). These three aspects of divine action are also lauded as basic virtues of community (I delight in these things). It's no accident that Jeremiah draws attention to King Josiah's defense of the rights of the poor as an example of what it means to know the Lord (Jer 22:16).

9:25-26 The special status of God's people is questioned, as is the practice of circumcision as a rite that averts divine judgment (see Gen 17:9-14; cf. Deut 10:16; 30:6-7). Judeans are included in a list of those who are physically circumcised, but not circumcised properly, that is, in heart (see Jer 4:4).

Living God or human handiwork

10 Listen to the word that the LORD has spoken to you, people of Israel!
 The LORD proclaims:

Don't follow the ways of the nations or be troubled by signs in the sky, even though the nations are troubled by them.

<sup>3</sup> The rituals of the nations are hollow:
 a tree from the forest is chopped down and shaped by the craftsman's tools.

<sup>4</sup> It's overlaid with silver and gold, and fastened securely with hammer and nails so it won't fall over.

<sup>5</sup> They are no different than a scarecrow in a cucumber patch:
 they can't speak;
 they must be carried because they can't walk.

Don't be afraid of them, because they can't do harm or good.

<sup>6</sup> LORD, no one is like you!
 You are great, and great is your mighty name.

<sup>7</sup> Who wouldn't fear you, king of the nations?
 That is your due;
 among all the wise of the nations and in all their countries,
 there is no one like you!

<sup>8</sup> But they are both foolish and silly;
 they offer nothing because they are mere wood.

<sup>9</sup> Covered with silver from Tarshish and gold from Uphaz, they are the work of a craftsman and the hands of a goldsmith.
 Clothed in blue and purple,
 all of them nothing more than the work of artisans.

<sup>10</sup> But the LORD is the true God!
 He's the living God and the everlasting king!
 When he's angry, the earth quakes;
 the nations can't endure his rage.

<sup>11</sup> Tell them this: The gods who didn't make the heavens and the earth will perish from the earth and from under the heavens.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>12</sup> But God made the earth by his might;
 he shaped the world by his wisdom, crafted the skies by his knowledge.

<sup>13</sup> At the sound of his voice, the heavenly waters roar.
 He raises the clouds from the ends of the earth.
 He sends the lightning with the rain,
 the wind from his treasures.

<sup>14</sup> Everyone is too foolish to understand;
 every goldsmith is dishonored by his idols,
 for their images are shams; they aren't alive.

<sup>15</sup> They are a delusion, a charade;
 at the appointed time they will vanish!

<sup>a</sup>10:11 is written in Aramaic.

10:1-16 This hymn of praise, located near the end of the first major section of the book (Jer 1-10), expresses deep and abiding devotion to the Lord. It contrasts the incomparable God of Israel the true God, the living God, the everlasting king with the idols of the nations. Referred to as gods (only in 10:11 in the Aramaic), the ways and rituals of the nations are worthless, ineffective, foolish, and absurd. They are mocked as nothing but a fabrication of human hands. At the heart of this text is the underlying concern: Who's in control? What's dependable? How can one be safe in a dangerous world? Such questions couldn't have been more pressing for exilic or post-exilic readers immersed in strange worlds with competing social systems and ways of understanding the world. This hymn celebrates the Lord as the only one worthy of admiration and allegiance. At the same time it warns the community to avoid the idolatrous practices of the nations.

10:5, 8 For similar caricatures, see Psalms 115:4-8; 135:15-18; Isaiah 44:9-20.

10:12 See also Jeremiah 51:15.

10:14 shams: a term used to describe the idols of the nations is a translation of the same Hebrew word used for false worship at the Jerusalem temple (Jer 7:4; cf. Jer 7:8; see sidebar, "True and False Worship" at Jer 7).

10:2 Lv 18:3,
 Lv 20:23
 10:3 Is 44:9
 10:4 Is 40:19,
 Is 41:7
 10:5 Ps 115:5,
 Ps 115:7;
 Is 41:23, Is 46:7;
 1Co 12:2
 10:9 1Ki 10:22;
 Ps 115:4;
 Is 40:19;
 Eze 27:12;
 Dn 10:5
 10:10 Ps 76:7;
 Na 1:6
 10:11 Ps 96:5;
 Is 2:18, Jer 10:15;
 Zep 2:11;
 Zec 13:2
 10:12 Gn 1:1;
 Job 9:8;
 Ps 104:24;
 Prv 3:19;
 Jer 51:15
 10:13 Ps 135:7
 10:14 Jer 10:8

10:16 Dt 32:9;
Ps 74:2;
Jer 10:12;
Jer 31:35;
Jer 51:19

10:21 Jer 2:8,
Jer 23:1, Jer 23:2;
Eze 34:6

10:23 Psv 16:1,
Psv 20:24

10:24 Ps 6:1,
Ps 38:1,
Jer 30:11

11:4 Lv 26:3,
Dt 4:20,
1Kg 8:51;
Jer 7:23

<sup>16</sup>Jacob's portion is utterly different because God has formed all things, including Israel, his very own people—the LORD of heavenly forces is his name!

Get ready for exile!

<sup>17</sup>Pack your bags and get ready to leave, you who live under siege.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>18</sup>The LORD proclaims:
I'm going to eject those who live in the land at this time;
I will badger them until they leave.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>19</sup>How terrible for me, due to my injury; my wound is terrible.
Yet I said to myself: This is my sickness, and I must bear it.

<sup>20</sup>But now my tent is destroyed;
all its ropes are cut, and my children are gone for good.
There's no one left to set up my tent frame and to attach the fabric.

<sup>21</sup>The shepherd kings have lost their senses and don't seek answers from the LORD.
That is why they have failed and their flock is scattered.

<sup>22</sup>Listen! The sound is getting louder, a mighty uproar from the land of the north;
it will reduce the towns of Judah to ruins, a den for wild dogs.

<sup>23</sup>I know, LORD, that our lives are not our own, that we're not able to direct our paths.

<sup>24</sup>So correct me, LORD, but with justice, not in your anger, or else you will reduce me to nothing.

<sup>25</sup>Pour out your wrath on the nations that ignore you and on the people who don't call on you, since they have devoured Jacob;
they have devoured him completely and ruined his country.

Judah's broken covenant with God

11 Jeremiah received the LORD's word: <sup>1</sup>Listen to the terms of this covenant and proclaim them to the people of Judah and the citizens of Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>Say to them: This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Cursed are those who don't heed the terms of this covenant <sup>3</sup>that I commanded your ancestors when I bought them out of the land of Egypt:

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>a</sup>Or find it

10:17-25 The reference to God's people is probably to Daughter Zion (see 10:20). They must prepare at once for exile (10:17-18). A disjointed reaction of grief follows. The Hebrew noun sheber, translated in 10:19 as wound, has a range of meanings in Jeremiah, including "devastation" (Jer 4:30), "disaster" (Jer 4:6), "crushed" (Jer 8:21), and "a crushing blow" (Jer 14:17). The painful language my tent is destroyed... my children are gone for good (10:20) recalls the destruction of homes and the disappearance or death of Daughter Zion's family. Harsh words for shepherd kings are found elsewhere in Jeremiah 22:13-23, 24-30; 23:1-2; Ezekiel 34:1-6; compare with Hosea 9:15. Their failures are made all the more poignant in light of the advancing Babylonian armies. devoured Jacob: likely a reference to the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BCE.

10:23 See Proverbs 16:9; 20:24.

10:24 See Psalm 6:2.

10:25 See Psalm 79:6-7.

11:1-12:17 End of the covenant and its culture of self-determination. This section is held together by the assertion that Israel and Judah have broken the covenant and must suffer for their disobedience. The people's disobedience is demonstrated both in Jeremiah's second sermon (11:1-17) and in the attempt on the prophet Jeremiah's life (11:18-23). Both Jeremiah and God lament the people's resistance to God and God's messengers (12:1-4, 7-13).

11:1-17 The second major sermon in the book. The LORD instructs Jeremiah to preach a sermon calling the Judeans to obey the terms of the covenant. Judah's future as God's people in the land rides on their response. The Hebrew word translated as heed, obey, or listen occurs nine times in this sermon, five of which are negated—such as they didn't listen, or they refused to obey, culminating in the frightening prospect of God not listening to the people's pleas. The sermon is less an appeal to the community than a charge that Judah has already broken its covenant with God. Many words and phrases in this sermon are identical to those found in Deuteronomy.

11:1, 2 Covenant curses are the consequence of breaking the covenant (Deut 27:26).

that iron crucible, saying, Obey me and observe all that I instruct you. Then you will be my people and I, even I, will be your God. <sup>5</sup>I will fulfill my solemn pledge that I made to your ancestors to give them a land full of milk and honey, as is the case today.

And I replied, "As you say, LORD!"

<sup>6</sup>The LORD said to me: Announce all these words in the towns of Judah and on the streets of Jerusalem: Obey the terms of this covenant and perform them. <sup>7</sup>I repeatedly and tirelessly warned your ancestors when I brought them out of the land of Egypt to this very day, saying, Obey me. <sup>8</sup>But they didn't listen or pay attention; they followed their own willful ambitions. So I brought upon them all the punishments I prescribed for violating this covenant—for refusing to obey.

<sup>9</sup>The LORD said to me: A conspiracy is taking place among the people of Judah and residents of Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup>They have returned to the sins of their ancestors who refused to obey my words. They too are following other gods and serving them. The people of Israel and the people of Judah have broken my covenant that I made with their ancestors.

<sup>11</sup>Therefore, the LORD proclaims: I will bring upon them a disaster from which they won't be able to escape. They will cry out to me, but I won't listen to them. <sup>12</sup>Then the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem will call upon the gods they worship,<sup>v</sup> but they won't save them when disaster strikes. <sup>13</sup>You have as many gods as you have towns, Judah, and you have as many shameful altars for worshipping Baal as you have streets in Jerusalem.

<sup>14</sup>As for you, don't pray for these people, don't cry out or plead for them, for I won't listen when they cry out to me on account of their distress.

<sup>15</sup>What are my loved ones doing in my temple while working out their many evil schemes?

Can sacred offerings cancel your sin so that you revel in your evil deeds?<sup>w</sup>

<sup>16</sup>The LORD named you,

"A blossoming olive tree, fair and fruitful";
but with the blast of a powerful storm he will set it ablaze, until its branches are completely consumed.<sup>x</sup>

<sup>17</sup>The LORD of heavenly forces who planted you has announced disaster for you, because the people of Israel and Judah have done evil and made me angry by worshipping Baal.

Jeremiah's lament

<sup>18</sup>The LORD informed me and I knew.

Then he helped me see what they were up to.

<sup>19</sup>I was like a young lamb led to the slaughter;

I didn't realize that they were planning their schemes against me:

"Let's destroy the tree with its fruit;
let's cut him off from the land of the living so that even any knowledge of him will be wiped out."

<sup>20</sup>LORD of heavenly forces, righteous judge, who tests the heart and mind, let me see your revenge upon them, because I have committed my case to you.

<sup>21</sup>This is what the LORD says concerning the men from Anathoth who seek your life and say, "Don't prophesy in the LORD's name or else you will die at our hands." <sup>22</sup>Therefore, the LORD of heavenly forces proclaims, I'm going to punish them. Their young men will die in war, and their sons and daughters will die by famine. <sup>23</sup>No one will be left because I will bring disaster upon the men of Anathoth when their time comes.

<sup>v</sup>Or to whom they burn incense <sup>w</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>x</sup>Vulg; MT broken

11:5 Ex 3:8,
Ex 13:5; Dt 7:12;
Ps 105:9;
Jer 32:22

11:8 Jer 3:17,
Jer 7:24,
Jer 7:26; Jer 9:14;
Eze 20:8

11:11 Psv 1:28;
Is 1:15; Jer 14:12;
Eze 8:18; Mi 3:4

11:14 Ex 32:10;
Jer 7:16,
Jer 14:11,
Jer 14:11;
1Jn 5:16

11:15 Eze 16:25
11:18 1Sa 23:11,
1Sa 23:12;
2Ki 6:9; 2Ki 6:10;
Eze 8:6

11:19 Ps 83:4;
Is 53:7; Is 53:8;
Jer 18:18

11:18–12:17 If read as a reaction to the sermon (Jer 11:1–17), a literary coherence emerges: At the instruction of the Lord, Jeremiah delivers an assault on the people's cherished beliefs and institutions—turning their covenant status against them. In retaliation the people try to silence God by silencing God's messenger. Then Jeremiah complains to God concerning the ensuing suffering. This is the first of Jeremiah's confessions (see intro). Jeremiah cries out to God, blames his adversaries for his distress, declares his own innocence, and prays for justice and retribution. When there is no relief, Jeremiah accuses God of not acting justly. God warns Jeremiah that things will only get worse.

11:21 Anathoth: Jeremiah's own village (Jer 1:1).

12:1 Eze 9:15;
 Job 12:6,
 Job 21:7; Ps 37:1,
 Ps 73:3
 12:2 Is 29:13;
 Jer 3:10,
 Jer 11:17;
 Mk 7:6; Ti 1:16
 12:7 Is 2:6;
 Jer 11:15
 12:8 Hos 9:15;
 Am 6:8
 12:9 Is 56:9;
 Jer 7:33;
 Eze 39:17
 12:10 Is 5:1

- 1 If I took you to court, LORD, you would win.
 But I still have questions about your justice.
 Why do guilty persons enjoy success?
 Why are evildoers so happy?
- 2 You plant them, and they take root;
 they flourish and bear fruit.
 You are always on their lips but far from their hearts.
- 3 Yet you, LORD, you know me. You see me.
 You can tell that I love you.†
 So drag them away and butcher them like sheep.
 Prepare them for the slaughterhouse.
- 4 How long will the land mourn and the grass in the fields dry up?
 The animals and birds are swept away due to the evil of those in the land.
 The people say, "God doesn't see what we're up to!"
- 5 If you have raced with people and are worn out, how will you compete with horses?
 If you fall down in an open field,‡ how will you survive in the forest along the Jordan?
- 6 Even your relatives, your very family, are planning to trap you.
 They are out to get you.
 So don't trust them, even if they appear to be on your side.

God's lament over Judah's destruction

- 7 I have abandoned my house;
 I have deserted my inheritance.
 I have given the one I love into the power of her enemies.
- 8 My inheritance has turned against me like a lion in the forest;
 she growls at me; therefore, I have rejected her.
- 9 My inheritance has become like a bird of prey, surrounded and attacked.‡ Go, gather all the wild animals for the feast.
- 10 Many shepherds have destroyed my vineyard;
 they have trampled down my field;
 they have reduced my treasured field to a desolate wilderness.
- 11 They have devastated her;
 desolate, she cries out to me in distress:
 "The whole land is desolate, and no one seems to care."
- 12 Over all the desert roads destroyers march;
 for the sword of the LORD devours from one end of the land to the other;
 no one is safe.

The End of the Covenant Jeremiah 11:1–12:17 opens the second major section of the book (Jer 11:1–20:18), a section that grapples with the meaning of the disastrous military blows suffered by the Judeans in the 6th century BCE. It offers insightful responses to the question, "Why has all this happened?" Jeremiah 11:1–12:17 makes the case that God's people have rejected God's covenant and therefore must face the dire consequences. As before, however, a dispute leads to lament. These accusations generate human and divine anguish. Jeremiah's laments, or "confessions," throughout the second major section of the book serve several purposes: (1) to bring evidence confirming the nation's guilt (by drawing attention to the rejection of God's messenger); (2) to reveal divine and prophetic suffering over and on account of Judah's awful circumstances; and (3) to show that some in the community, like Jeremiah, suffer innocently, even for God's sake. Jeremiah 11:1–12:17 emphasizes Judah's broken covenant, Jeremiah's lament over his mistreatment, and God's apparent indifference.

†Or You test my heart. ‡Or If you are at ease only when in a peaceful land ‡Heb uncertain

<sup>13</sup>They have sown wheat and reaped weeds; they have worn themselves out for nothing.

They will be ashamed of their<sup>b</sup> harvest on account of the LORD's fierce anger.

<sup>14</sup>The LORD proclaims: The evil nations have seized the land<sup>c</sup> that I gave my people Israel. I'm going to dig them up from their own lands, and I will dig up the people of Judah from among them. <sup>15</sup>And after I have dug them up, I will again have compassion on them and restore their inheritance and their land. <sup>16</sup>And then, if they will learn the ways of my people, to make a solemn pledge in my name, "As the LORD lives," just as they once taught my people to swear to Baal, then they will be built up in the midst of my people. <sup>17</sup>But if they don't listen, I will dig up that nation; yes, I will dig up and destroy, declares the LORD.

Jeremiah's symbolic acts

13 The LORD proclaimed to me: Go and buy a linen undergarment. Wear it for a while without washing it. <sup>2</sup>So I bought a linen undergarment, as the LORD told me, and I put it on. <sup>3</sup>The LORD spoke to me again: <sup>4</sup>Take the undergarment that you are wearing and go at once to the Euphrates and put it under a rock. <sup>5</sup>So I went and buried it at the Euphrates,<sup>d</sup> as the LORD instructed. <sup>6</sup>After a long time, the LORD said to me: Return to the Euphrates and dig up the undergarment that I commanded you to bury there. <sup>7</sup>So I went to the Euphrates and I dug up the linen undergarment from the place I had buried it. But it was ruined and good for nothing.

<sup>8</sup>Then the LORD's word came to me: <sup>9</sup>The LORD proclaims: In the same way I will ruin the brazen pride of Judah and Jerusalem! <sup>10</sup>Instead of listening to me, this wicked people follow their own willful hearts and pursue other gods, worshipping and serving them. They will become like this linen garment—good for nothing! <sup>11</sup>Just as a linen undergarment clings to the body, so I created the people of Israel and Judah to cling to me, declares the LORD, to be my people for my honor, praise, and grandeur. But they wouldn't obey.

<sup>12</sup>So deliver this word to them: The LORD the God of Israel proclaims: Every wine jug should be filled with wine. And they will answer you, "Don't we already know that? Obviously every wine jug should be filled with wine!" <sup>13</sup>Then you should say to them: The LORD proclaims: I'm going to fill everyone who lives in this country with wine that makes them drunk, including the kings on David's throne, the priests, the prophets, and all those living in Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup>And I will shatter every one of them, even parents and children, declares the LORD. I won't take pity; I won't have compassion; I will show no mercy when I destroy them.

<sup>15</sup>Listen closely, don't be arrogant, for the LORD has spoken.

<sup>16</sup>Honor the LORD your God, before it's too late, before you stumble on the mountain paths in the evening shadows.
Then you will hope for light,
only to find darkness and gloom.

<sup>17</sup>If you are too proud to listen,
I will go off alone and cry my eyes out.
I will weep uncontrollably because the LORD's flock will be dragged off into exile.

<sup>b</sup>Or your <sup>c</sup>Or inheritance <sup>d</sup>Heb Perath

12:14-17 As indicated in Jeremiah's call, God's purposes extend beyond the borders of Judah. God will eventually show mercy to the nations that attacked God's people. 13:1-15:21 Signs of destruction. A report of signs (13:1-11) accompanied by a proverb (13:12-14) and three poems (13:15-17, 18-19, 20-27) introduces this section. These level further charges against God's people and repeat warnings of approaching disaster, although a ray of hope is present in Jeremiah's appeal to honor the Lord before it's too late (13:16). The coming disaster leads to expressions of grief by the community (14:1-9; 14:19-22)—to which God responds (14:10-12; 15:1-4, 5-9)—and by Jeremiah (14:13; 15:10, 15-18) to which God also responds (14:14-18; 15:11-14, 19-21). This section is distinctive because of its conversational style, with all of the participants distraught over Judah's plight.

13:1-11 Prophets deliver the divine message through prophetic speech and symbolic action (e.g., Jer 16:1-13; 18:1-12; 19:1-15; see also Hos 1-3; Isa 20:1-6; Ezek 24:1-27). Jeremiah relates God's command to buy a linen undergarment (13:2), perhaps as a sign of priestly purity (see Lev 8:1-9; Zech 3:1-5). He puts it on and then buries it (symbolically not actually) under a rock near the Euphrates. Two different though related interpretations of the action are given: (1) just as the linen undergarment is ruined, so the Lord will ruin proud Judah and Jerusalem; and (2) the people of Israel and Judah are created to cling to God, the way a linen undergarment clings to the body, but instead they act arrogantly and stray far from God.

13:12-14 This is likely a familiar proverb with an unexpected interpretation (see Jer 25:15-29).

12:13 Dt 28:38;
Is 55:2; Jer 4:26
12:15 Dt 30:3;
Jer 48:47,
Jer 49:6
13:1 Jer 13:11,
Jer 27:2
13:2 Is 20:2;
Eze 2:8
13:4 Jer 51:63
13:5 Ex 40:16
13:9 Lv 26:19
13:10 Jer 3:17,
Jer 9:14, Jer 11:8,
Jer 16:12
13:11 Ex 19:5;
Is 43:21; Jer 33:9
13:12 Jer 25:15,
Jer 48:12

13:20 Jer 1:14,
Jer 6:22, Jer 23:2,
Hab 1:6

13:23 Is 1:5,
Jer 2:22

13:24 Lv 26:33,
Ps 134, Ps 83:13,
Jer 4:11

13:25 Job 20:29;
Ps 11:6, Jer 2:32,
Mt 24:51

13:26 Lam 1:8,
Eze 16:37

18 Tell the king and the queen mother:

Come down from your lofty place, because your glorious crowns will soon be removed from your heads.

19 The towns of the arid southern plain will be surrounded;

no one will get in or out;
all Judah will be taken into exile; everyone will be led away.

20 Lift up your eyes and see who is approaching from the north.

Where is the flock entrusted to you, your beautiful flock?

21 What will you say when he appoints someone as head over you:
your defenders, your trusted allies?<sup>a</sup>

Won't pain grip you like that of a woman in labor?

22 And when you ask yourself,

Why have all these things happened to me?

it is because of your many sins that you have been stripped and violated.

23 Can a Cushite change his skin or a leopard its spots?

Neither can you do good when doing evil comes so naturally.

24 So I will scatter you<sup>f</sup> like straw that is blown away by the desert winds.

25 This is the future that I have prepared for you, declares the LORD, because you have forgotten me and trusted in lies.

26 I myself will pull up your skirt over your face and expose your shame.

The Euphrates River (Jer 13:4)

Shutterstock

<sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>f</sup>Or them

13:18-19 the king and the queen mother: perhaps Jehoiachin and Nehushta (see Jer 22:24-27; 2 Kgs 24:8-17). The poem develops the theme that God humbles the proud (Jer 22:1-30; Isa 10:33; Zeph 3:11; see also Prov 16:18).

13:20-27 Accusations are hurled at Jerusalem for her many sins (13:22) and failure to do good (13:23). God isn't to blame for Judah's suffering. The city has brought the horrors of war on itself. To convey such disregard for God, the poet employs disturbing sexual imagery. As armies approach from the north, mother Jerusalem is separated from her children (flock and beautiful flock), exposed, and raped. The shocking language—to pull up your skirt, over your face and expose your shame is euphemistic language for rape—is likely associated with war crimes against women, horrors that the exiles witnessed firsthand. What makes the imagery all the more disturbing is its contention that God has committed this violence: (13:25-27).

13:27 Jer 2:20,
Jer 5:8; Eze 6:13;
Hos 8:5
14:1 Jer 17:8
14:5 Job 39:1;
Ps 29:9; Is 15:6
14:7 Ps 25:11;
Is 59:12;
Jer 2:19; Jer 3:25;
Jer 14:20
14:10 Jer 2:25;
Hos 8:13;
Hos 9:9
14:11 Jer 7:16;
Jer 11:14
14:12 Is 1:15;
Is 58:3; Jer 6:20;
Jer 7:21;
Jer 11:11
14:15 Dt 18:20;
Jer 20:6,
Jer 23:15,
Jer 28:16,
Jer 28:17

<sup>27</sup>I have seen your adultery and lust, your disgusting idols and shameless prostitution on the hills and in the fields.
How terrible for you, Jerusalem!
How long will you remain dirty?

Destruction on the horizon

14 The LORD's word to Jeremiah concerning the droughts:
<sup>1</sup>Judah mourns; her gates wither away.

The people fall to the ground in sorrow, as sobs of Jerusalem ascend.

<sup>3</sup>The rich send their servants for water, but the wells run dry.
They return with empty jars, ashamed, bewildered, and in despair.

<sup>4</sup>Because the ground is cracked due to lack of rain, the farmers too are ashamed;
they cover their heads.

<sup>5</sup>Even the doe in the field abandons her newborn, for there's no grass.

<sup>6</sup>The wild donkeys stand on the well-traveled paths, panting like thirsty dogs;
they go blind since there's nothing to eat.

<sup>7</sup>Even though our sins testify against us, help us, LORD, for your name's sake.
We have turned away from you and sinned against you time and again.

<sup>8</sup>You are the hope of Israel, its savior in times of trouble.
Why are you like a stranger in the land,
like a tourist spending only the night?

<sup>9</sup>Why are you like one taken by surprise, like a warrior unable to act?
Yet you are in our midst, LORD;
we are called by your name.
Don't give up on us.

<sup>10</sup>This is what the LORD proclaims about this people:
Since they have loved to wander off and haven't restrained themselves, <sup>11</sup>I won't accept them.

Now I will recall their wrongdoing and punish their sin.

<sup>11</sup>The LORD said to me: Don't pray for the safety of these people. <sup>12</sup>When they fast, I won't pay attention to their pleas, and when they offer entirely burned offerings and grain offerings, I won't accept them. Instead, I will devour them with war, famine, and disease.

<sup>13</sup>I replied, "LORD God, the prophets are telling them: 'You won't see war or famine, for I will give you lasting peace in this place.'"

<sup>14</sup>Then the LORD said to me: The prophets are telling lies in my name. I haven't sent them. I haven't commanded them. I haven't spoken to them. They are prophesying to you false visions, worthless predictions, and deceit they have made up on their own. <sup>15</sup>Therefore, this is what the LORD proclaims concerning the prophets who are speaking in my name when I didn't send them, and who are telling you that war or famine will never come to this land: Those very prophets will die in war and by famine! <sup>16</sup>And the people they are prophesying

<sup>6</sup>Or the Lord

14:1-10 A communal lament. The series of negations—no water, no rain, no grass, nothing to eat—signals the certainty of death. In response the community cries out to God and confesses its sins. It prays for God's deliverance and expresses trust in the Lord. Like many laments in the Psalms, it changes into a complaint against God. The language echoes Jeremiah's laments and produces a similar response (14:10; see also Jer 12:5-6; 15:19-21). For the exiles to survive, they must break all forms of denial and give up any immediate hope for the restoration of the old world.

14:11-16 God forbids Jeremiah to pray for the community. Nothing will change God's mind. Jeremiah complains that other prophets promise peace, but God tells him

14:22 Jer 16:19
 15:1 Ex 32:11;
 Nm 14:13;
 1Sa 7:9;
 1Sa 12:23;
 Ps 99:6

15:5 Is 51:19;
 Jer 21:7; Na 3:7
 15:6 Jer 7:24

to will be thrown into the streets of Jerusalem, victims of famine and war. There will be no one to bury them or their wives and children. I will pour out on them their own wickedness.

<sup>17</sup> So deliver this word to them:

My eyes well up with tears;
 I can't stop weeping—day and night, because my virgin daughter, my people, has suffered a crushing blow and is mortally wounded.

<sup>18</sup> If I go into the fields,

I see only the slain in battle.

If I enter the city,

I see only those suffering from famine.

Even both prophet and priest wander about aimlessly in ignorance.

<sup>19</sup> Have you completely rejected Judah?

Do you hate Zion?

Why then have you mortally wounded us?

We look for peace, but nothing good comes of it;
 for a time of healing, only to be terrorized.

<sup>20</sup> We acknowledge our sin, LORD, the wrongdoing of our ancestors,

because we have sinned against you.

<sup>21</sup> For your name's sake, don't reject us, don't scorn your glorious throne.

Remember your covenant with us;

don't break it.

<sup>22</sup> Can any of the false gods of the nations make it rain?

Can the sky by itself bring showers?

Aren't you the LORD, our God?

You are our hope, since only you can do such things.

Lamenting Jerusalem's dire circumstances

15 The LORD said to me: Even if Moses and Samuel stood before me, I wouldn't change my mind about these people. Send them away from me. Let them go! <sup>2</sup>And if they say "Go where?" tell them, This is what the LORD proclaims:

Those marked for death—to death,
 those marked for war—to war, those marked for famine—to famine, and those marked for exile—to exile.

<sup>3</sup>I will appoint over them four agents<sup>b</sup> of death, declares the LORD: soldiers to kill, dogs to drag off, and vultures and wild animals to devour and destroy. <sup>4</sup>Because of what Judah's King Manasseh, Hezekiah's son, has done in Jerusalem, I will make them an object of horror to all nations on earth.

<sup>5</sup>Who will pity you, Jerusalem?

Who will shed tears over you?

Who will stop and ask how you're doing?

<sup>6</sup>You have deserted me, declares the LORD.

You have turned your back on me.

<sup>b</sup>Or families that these prophets are lying. God hasn't authorized their words of salvation. Prophetic conflicts and denunciations are found elsewhere (e.g., Jer 23:9-40; 27:1-28:17).

14:17-18 Who is the speaker? Who can't stop crying? Some scholars think that God is the one lamenting over Israel, especially in light of the personal pronoun—my virgin daughter, my people. Others propose Jeremiah as the speaker. In either case, Israel's righteous judge doesn't stand off to the side in the midst of judgment but suffers as a good parent suffers for a child in distress.

14:19-22 The people complain that God has treated them unfairly. In hopes of preventing coming disaster, they appeal to God's reputation or character (For your name's sake), God's honor (glorious throne), God's covenant, and God's power. But even this prayer won't change God's mind. War and its terrible consequences are certain.

15:1-9 Nothing will change God's mind, not even Israel's famous intercessors, Moses (see, e.g., Exod 32:7-14; 33:12-23) or Samuel (see 1 Sam 12). Jeremiah 15:2-4 recalls the consequences of disobedience in Deuteronomy (see Deut 28:25-26). King Manasseh: See 2 Kings 21:1-18; 23:26-27; 24:3-4. Note several reversals of Israel's salvation history: Send them away . . . Let them go! not from disaster (15:1, cf. Exod 5:1; 7:16) but to disaster; Their widows will outnumber the sand on the shore. (15:8, cf. Gen 22:17); mother of seven (15:9, cf. 1 Sam 2:5).

- So I will turn my hand against you and destroy you.
I'm tired of holding back.
- <sup>7</sup>I will winnow them with a winnowing fork at the gates of their country.
I will bereave and destroy my people because they haven't changed their ways.
- <sup>8</sup>Their widows will outnumber the sand on the shore.
I will bring a destroyer in broad daylight against the mothers of young men.<sup>1</sup> Suddenly I will bring distress and terror upon them.
- <sup>9</sup>The mother of seven will grow weak and gasp for air;
her sun will set while it is yet day;
she will be ashamed and disgraced.
I will deliver the survivors to the sword, to the power of their enemies, declares the LORD.
- <sup>10</sup>I wish I had never been born! I have become a source of conflict and dissension in my own country. Even though I haven't lent or borrowed, still everyone curses me.
- <sup>11</sup>The LORD said:
Haven't I taken care of you?
Haven't I helped you with your enemies in time of trouble and distress?<sup>2</sup>
- <sup>12</sup>Can a person shatter iron, iron from the north, or bronze?
- <sup>13</sup>Your wealth and belongings I will deliver as plunder, without a fee, because of all your sins throughout your territory.
- <sup>14</sup>I will make you serve your enemies in a land you don't know, for my anger blazes like a fire that won't go out.
- <sup>15</sup>You understand, LORD!
Remember me and act on my behalf.
Bring judgment on those who torment me.
In your mercy, spare my life.<sup>3</sup>
Consider how I'm insulted on your account.
- <sup>16</sup>When your words turned up, I feasted on them;
and they became my joy, the delight of my heart, because I belong to you, LORD God of heavenly forces.
- <sup>17</sup>I didn't join the festive occasions;
I took no delight in them. I sat alone because your hand was upon me and you had filled me with curses.
- <sup>18</sup>Why am I always in pain?
Why is my wound incurable,
so far beyond healing?
You have become for me as unreliable as a spring gone dry!
- <sup>19</sup>Therefore, the LORD proclaims:
If you return to me, I will take you back and let you stand before me.
If you utter what is worthwhile,
not what is worthless,
you will be my spokesman.
They will turn to you, not you to them!
- <sup>20</sup>I will make you a sturdy bronze wall against these people.
They will attack you, but they won't triumph, because I am with you to protect and rescue you, declares the LORD.
- <sup>21</sup>I will rescue you from the hand of the wicked;
I will redeem you from the grasp of the violent.

15:7 Jer 51:2
15:9 1Sa 2:5;
Jer 21:7;
Lam 1:1; Am 8:9
15:10 Ex 22:25;
Jer 1:19;
Jer 20:14
15:14 Dt 28:36;
Dt 32:22;
Ps 21:9; Jer 4:4;
Jer 17:4
15:15 Ps 69:7;
Jer 11:20;
Jer 12:3
15:16 Job 23:12;
Ps 119:72;
Ps 119:103;
Jer 14:9; Eze 3:3
15:17 Ps 1:1;
Ps 26:4; Jer 6:11;
Jer 16:8;
Lam 3:28
15:18 Job 6:15;
Job 34:6;
Jer 30:12;
Jer 30:15; Mi 1:9
15:19 Ex 4:16;
Jer 15:1;
Eze 44:23;
Zec 3:7
16:2 1Co 7:26

Loss of hope

16 The LORD's word came to me: <sup>2</sup>Don't marry or have children in this place. <sup>3</sup>This is what the LORD proclaims concerning children who are born in this place and their mothers and fathers who give birth to them in this place:

<sup>1</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>2</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>3</sup>Heb uncertain

15:10-21 The second of Jeremiah's confessions is composed of two laments (15:10, 15-18) followed by divine responses (15:11-14, 19-21).

16:1-17:27 The end of ordinary life. For the writers and readers of Jeremiah, the prewar and pre-exilic world had ended. The most pressing questions for survivors were

16:9 Jer 7:34.

Jer 25:10.

Eze 26:13.

Hos 2:11.

Rev 18:23.

16:10 Dt 29:24.

Jer 5:19; Jer 22:8.

16:16 1Sa 26:20;

Am 4:2; Mi 7:2.

Hab 1:14.

Hab 1:15.

16:19 Is 2:2.

Is 25:4; Jer 3:17.

Jer 17:17; Na 1:7.

<sup>4</sup>They will die of horrible diseases.

No one will mourn for them or bury them.

They will be like refuse lying on the ground.

They will die from the sword and by famine, and their corpses will be food for birds and wild animals.

<sup>5</sup>This is what the LORD says:

Don't enter a house where there is mourning;

don't grieve or lament for them, for I have taken away my blessing, kindness, and mercy from this people,

declares the LORD.

<sup>6</sup>From the least to the greatest, all will die in this land, and there will be no funerals or time of mourning.

No one will gash themselves in grief or shave their heads in sorrow.

<sup>7</sup>No one will bring food<sup>1</sup> for the mourner as comfort for the dead.

No one will offer a cup of consolation for the loss of father or mother.

<sup>8</sup>Don't enter a house where there is feasting and sit down to eat and drink. <sup>9</sup>This is what the LORD of heavenly forces, the God of Israel, proclaims:

Before your very eyes and in your own lifetime, I will silence in this place the sounds of joy and gladness and the voices of the bridegroom and the bride.

<sup>10</sup>When you proclaim all these things to the people, and they ask you, "Why has the LORD pronounced such massive devastation against us? What have we done wrong? How have we sinned against the LORD our God?" <sup>11</sup>then you should tell them: It's because your ancestors have deserted me and followed other gods, declares the LORD. They have served and worshipped them, while abandoning me and refusing to keep my Instruction. <sup>12</sup>And you, you have acted worse than your ancestors, each of you following your own willful, evil hearts and paying no attention to me. <sup>13</sup>So I will banish you from this land to a place that neither you nor your ancestors have known, and there you will serve other gods day and night, for I will show you no mercy.

<sup>14</sup>But the time is coming, declares the LORD, when no one will say, "As the LORD lives who brought up the Israelites from the land of Egypt"; <sup>15</sup>instead, they will say, "As the LORD lives who brought up the Israelites from the land of the north and from all the lands where he has banished them." I will bring them back to the land that I gave to their ancestors.

<sup>16</sup>I'm going to send hordes of fishermen to catch them, declares the LORD. Afterward I will send a party of hunters to hunt them down on every mountain, hill, and cave. <sup>17</sup>I am watching their every move; not one is hidden from me. Nor is their sin concealed from my sight <sup>18</sup>I will initially pay them back double for their evil and sin, because they have corrupted my land with their disgusting, lifeless idols and have filled my inheritance with their detestable practices.

<sup>19</sup>LORD, you are my strength and my stronghold;

you are my refuge in time of trouble.

The nations will flock to you from the ends of the earth, and they will say:

"Our ancestors have inherited utter lies, things that are hollow and useless."

<sup>1</sup>LXX; Heb break for them

why it had all happened, what did it mean, and how could they cope as God's people in a new and dangerous world. This section sorts out these matters in varied ways, but always under a dark shadow of death and divine judgment. The prophetic mission "to dig up and pull down, to destroy and demolish" (Jer 1:10) is well under way.

16:1-13 God's instructions to Jeremiah not to marry or have children are especially disturbing given the divine mandate in Genesis to "be fertile and multiply" (Gen 1:28) and the divine promises of fertility and abundance (e.g., Gen 15:5; 22:17). The command not to attend weddings or funerals is equally chilling. Both imply that the end has come; all forms of ordinary life will cease. Such utter destruction, and particularly such dreadful divine judgment, evokes the painful question, why? (16:10-13). God's answer is clear: Israel's suffering is neither arbitrary nor random. God has acted justly and wisely in bringing judgment. The people's long history of unfaithfulness bears witness against them.

16:14-21 Although there is "no mercy" (Jer 16:13) on this side of judgment, mercy will indeed be granted. The Israelites will eventually return to the land from which they have been deported (16:14-15). For the present people of God, however, there is no respite. God goes on a search-and-find mission, not to rescue but to hunt down and destroy. The image of God sending fishermen and hunters to search out people for judgment, in retaliation for destroying God's land, contributes to the terrifying tone of this chapter. Providing further emphasis is the dialogue between Jeremiah and the Lord (16:19-21), which concludes with an affirmation that the nations will one day recognize (or know) the Lord.

- <sup>20</sup> Can humans make their own gods?
If so, they are not gods at all!
- <sup>21</sup> Therefore, I will teach them;
this time I will teach them my power and my might.
They will understand that I am the LORD.

17 Judah's sin is engraved with an iron pen.
It's etched with a diamond point on the tablets of their hearts and on the horns of their altars.

<sup>2</sup> Their children remember their altars and sacred poles<sup>m</sup> by the lush trees and high hills.

<sup>3</sup> Because you have committed such sins throughout your country,
I will give to your enemies my mountain in the land, as well as your wealth and all that you treasure.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>4</sup> You will lose the inheritance that I gave you.
I will make you slaves of your enemies in a land you don't know,
for my anger blazes like a fire that won't go out.

<sup>5</sup> The LORD proclaims:
Cursed are those who trust in mere humans, who depend on human strength and turn their hearts from the LORD.

<sup>6</sup> They will be like a desert shrub that doesn't know when relief comes.
They will live in the parched places of the wilderness, in a barren land where no one survives.

<sup>7</sup> Happy are those who trust in the LORD, who rely on the LORD.

<sup>8</sup> They will be like trees planted by the streams, whose roots reach down to the water;
They won't fear drought when it comes;
their leaves will remain green.
They won't be stressed in the time of drought or fail to bear fruit.

<sup>9</sup> The most cunning heart—it's beyond help.
Who can figure it out?

<sup>10</sup> I, the LORD, probe the heart and discern hidden motives, to give everyone what they deserve, the consequences of their deeds.

<sup>11</sup> Like a partridge gathering a brood that is not its own, so are those who acquire their wealth corruptly.
By midlife it will be gone; afterward they will look like fools.

<sup>12</sup> Splendid and exalted throne, the place of our sanctuary from the beginning!

<sup>m</sup>Heb asherim; perhaps objects devoted to the worship of Asherah <sup>a</sup>Heb uncertain

16:20 Ps 115:4;
Is 37:19; Jer 2:11;
Ga 4:8

16:21 Jer 33:2

17:1 Ex 28:16;
Job 19:24;
Prv 3:3; Prv 7:3;
2Co 3:3

17:5 2Ch 32:8;
Ps 146:3; Is 2:22;
Is 30:1; Is 31:1

17:6 Dt 29:23;
Job 39:6; Jer 48:6

17:7 Ps 2:12;
Ps 34:8; Ps 40:4;
Ps 84:12;
Ps 125:1

17:8 Ps 1:3;
Ps 92:12;
Jer 14:1;
Eze 47:12

17:9 Ecc 9:3;
Mk 7:21

17:10 1Ch 28:9;
Ps 62:12;
Jer 11:20;
Jer 32:19;
Rev 2:23

17:11 Jer 22:13;
Lk 12:20

17:12 Jer 3:17;
Jer 14:21

17:1-4 engraved with an iron pen (cf. Job 19:24) and etched with a diamond point: Judah's wrongdoing is unforgettable, related above all to its idolatrous practices (17:2; cf. 17:3-4 with 15:13-14). A diamond point was used to carve stone inscriptions. tablets of their hearts: an image representing inner motives and disposition (see Prov 3:3, 7). The horns of their altars are commonly associated with mercy and forgiveness of sins (see, e.g., Exod 29:12; 30:10; Lev 4:7), but here they mean the opposite.
17:5-8 A wisdom voice enters the dialogue with the observation that trust in humans—perhaps a reference to manufactured idols—rather than in the Lord leads to ruin (see also Ps 40:5a; Matt 6:1-12; cf. Pss 1; 62:10-13; 146:3-4). Although these verses deal with rewards and punishments, they are not rigid cause and effects. For instance, relief (or “good”) comes to those who trust in humans, but they just don’t recognize it. And those who trust in the Lord face drought, but they weather it well.

17:9-10 God probes heart and mind and discerns hidden motives. Underlying these sayings are probing questions about divine justice and human suffering.
17:11-13 Unidentified voices enter the conversation. A

17:13 Is 1:28;
Jer 2:13, Jer 14:8;
Is 4:10

17:14 Dt 10:21;
Ps 6:2, Ps 109:1

17:15 Is 5:19;
2Pt 3:3, 2Pt 3:4

17:16 Jer 18:20

17:18 Ps 35:4;
Jer 11:20

17:21 Nm 15:32;
Neh 13:15

17:22 Ex 20:8;
Ex 31:13;
Dt 5:12, Is 56:2,
Is 58:13

17:23 Jer 7:24,
Jer 7:26,
Jer 19:15

17:24 Ex 15:26;

Dt 11:13;

Jer 17:21;

Jer 17:22

17:25 Is 9:7;
Jer 22:4; Lk 1:32

18:1 2Ch 36:12;

Jer 1:1, Jer 7:1;

Jer 11:1, Jer 25:1

18:2 Jer 19:1

18:3 Zec 11:13

13 LORD, the hope of Israel, all who forsake you will suffer disgrace;
those who turn away from you<sup>o</sup> in the land will be written off,<sup>p</sup> for they have abandoned the LORD, the fountain of living water.

14 Heal me, LORD, and I'll be healed.
Save me and I'll be saved, for you are my heart's desire.

15 See how they harass me: "Where's the LORD's word? Let it come now!"

16 Yet I didn't urge you to bring disaster;<sup>q</sup>
I didn't want the calamity to happen.
You know what comes out of my mouth;
it's always before you.

17 Don't terrorize me;
you are my refuge in time of disaster.

18 Let my tormentors be disgraced, but not me;
let them be terrorized, but not me.
Bring on them the time of disaster, as they deserve;
destroy them repeatedly.

19The LORD proclaimed to me: Go and stand by the People's Gate where Judah's kings go in and out, and then by all the gates of Jerusalem, 20and say to them: Listen to the LORD's word, you kings of Judah, all you people of Judah, and anyone living in Jerusalem who passes through these gates. 21The LORD says: Be on guard not to carry a load on the Sabbath day or conduct business at the gates of Jerusalem. 22Don't carry a load from your houses or do any kind of work on the Sabbath day. Rather, keep the Sabbath day holy as I commanded your ancestors, 23although they didn't listen or pay attention. They were stubborn and wouldn't obey or accept correction. 24If you are careful to obey me, declares the LORD, and don't conduct business at the gates of this city on the Sabbath day, if you keep the Sabbath day holy by not working, 25then through the gates of this city will come kings who occupy the throne of David and their officers, all riding on chariots and horses. They will be accompanied by the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem. And this city will always be inhabited. 26Others will come from the towns of Judah and Benjamin, from all around Jerusalem, and from the western foothills, the highlands, and the arid southern plain—they will come bringing entirely burned offerings, sacrifices, grain offerings, incense, and thanksgiving offerings to the LORD's temple. 27But if you don't obey me by keeping the Sabbath day holy, if you carry your loads and conduct your business at the gates of Jerusalem as usual, then I will set fire to those gates that will completely engulf the fortresses of Jerusalem; it will not be put out.

God the potter

18 Jeremiah received the LORD's word: 2Go down to the potter's house, and I'll give you instructions about what to do there. 3So I went down to the potter's house; he was voice from the wisdom tradition affirms that justice may be delayed but it can't be avoided (17:11). And a voice from the worshipping community affirms the truth of the earlier statements (Jer 17:1-4, 5-8): those who turn (the same Hebrew word used in Jer 17:5) from God, the fountain of living water (see Jer 2:13) will suffer dishonor.

<sup>o</sup>Or me <sup>p</sup>Heb uncertain <sup>q</sup>LXX; Heb uncertain

17:14-18 The third of Jeremiah's confessions, like the others, follows many of the formal characteristics of the lament: a cry for help (17:14), a description of suffering (17:15), a statement of innocence (17:16), an affirmation of trust (17:17), and a petition for payback to adversaries, that is, a cry for justice (17:18). The customary ending of praise is missing. This is the first prophetic confession in Jeremiah that isn't followed by a divine response.

17:19-27 The future of the nation depends on its devotion to the Sabbath (see Gen 2:1-3; Exod 20:8-11; 31:12-17; Deut 5:12-16). Many scholars date this sermon to the exilic (or post-exilic) period, when Sabbath observance became a defining feature of community life (see Isa 56:1-8; 58:13; Ezek 46:1-3; Neh 13:15-22). If this dating is correct, then the text—and those responsible for it—blames the destruction of Jerusalem on the nation's failure to keep the Sabbath.

18:1-20:18 End of salvation history and its culture of privilege. This section makes the case that chosen Israel has become rejected Israel. The image of God as potter and God's people as clay holds this section together. However, unlike other texts in the Bible that employ this imagery, the emphasis here is on shattering the pottery and thus the irreparable character of the relationship between God and Israel. No wonder this section concludes with two confessions in which Jeremiah expresses powerlessness and loss of hope.

18:1-12 The images of God as potter and people as clay

An Assault on Israel's Election Tradition The book of Jeremiah has already rejected belief in the unconditional protection of the Jerusalem temple (Jer 7:1-15) and Israel's sacred covenant (Jer 11:1-17). Soon it will confront the sure claims of dynasty and kingship (Jer 21:1-10). Jeremiah 18:1-12 disputes another core belief of God's people: the election tradition. This is the supposed certainty that God has chosen Judah and will shield the nation from harm. The potter-clay image challenges this position of privilege. It insists that God the potter can do whatever God wishes, even reverse divine decrees, depending on what people do. The focus is on divine authority, although not to the exclusion of human freedom. Both authority and freedom are paradoxically affirmed in this key text.

working on the potter's wheel. <sup>4</sup>But the piece he was making was flawed while still in his hands, so the potter started on another, as seemed best to him. <sup>5</sup>Then the LORD's word came to me: <sup>6</sup>House of Israel, can't I deal with you like this potter, declares the LORD? Like clay in the potter's hand, so are you in mine, house of Israel! <sup>7</sup>At any time I may announce that I will dig up, pull down, and destroy a nation or kingdom; <sup>8</sup>but if that nation I warned turns from its evil, then I'll relent and not carry out the harm I intended for it. <sup>9</sup>At the same time, I may announce that I will build and plant a nation or kingdom; <sup>10</sup>but if that nation displeases and disobeys me, then I'll relent and not carry out the good I intended for it. <sup>11</sup>Now say to the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem: This is what the LORD says: I am a potter preparing a disaster for you; I'm working out a plan against you. So each one of you, turn from your evil ways; reform your ways and your actions. <sup>12</sup>But they said, "What's the use! We will follow our own plans and act according to our own willful, evil hearts."

<sup>13</sup>Therefore, the LORD proclaims:

Ask among the nations:

Have you ever heard anything like this?

Virgin Israel has done the most horrible thing.

<sup>14</sup>Does the snow on the mountains of Lebanon ever melt entirely off their rocky cliffs?

Do the cool mountain streams ever dry up?"

<sup>15</sup>Yet my people have forgotten me; they have offered sacrifices to a lie.

And so they have stumbled along the way, even along the ancient paths.

They have taken side roads, not the main roads.*

<sup>16</sup>They have ruined their country and brought utter shame on it.

All who pass by are shocked and shake their heads.

<sup>17</sup>Like a strong east wind, I will scatter them before their enemy.

When disaster strikes them, I will show them my back, not my face.

<sup>18</sup>Then they said, "Come, let's unite against Jeremiah, for the priest's instruction won't fail, nor will the sage's counsel, nor the prophet's word. Come, let's silence him and pay no attention to his words."

<sup>19</sup>Pay attention to me, LORD; listen to what my enemies are saying.

<sup>20</sup>Should evil be returned for good?

Yet they have set traps for me.

Remember that I stood before you, begging you to be merciful and not to punish them.

*Heb uncertain; or be dug up *Heb uncertain are found elsewhere in scripture (e.g., Isa 29:16; 45:9; 64:8; Rom 9:19-21; Sir 33:13; Wis 15:7-8). Most of these references, if not all, convey divine privilege and authority to act and human frailty. In this story, God's power is affirmed (18:6) but qualified by human freedom to do good or ill (18:7-10). Divine authority emphasizes the Lord's intent to bring disaster on Jerusalem, and human freedom emphasizes Judah's total rejection of the Lord (18:12). The proverbial saying of the book (Jer 1:10)—"to dig up and pull down... to build and plant"—occurs in 18:7, 9. The key Hebrew word shub, often translated "to turn" or "return," occurs in 18:4, 11. The phrase willful, evil hearts (18:12) also appears in Jeremiah 16:12.

18:13-17 Three rhetorical questions show the outrageous nature of Judah's actions and the depths of God's pain. Divine sorrow swiftly turns to rage.

18:18-23 This fourth of Jeremiah's confessions begins with a quotation of the words of Jeremiah's enemies. They are planning ways to silence Jeremiah because they think he is a grave threat to the nation and its

18:4 Jer 13:7
18:6 Is 29:16,
Is 45:9, Is 64:8;
Ro 9:20, Ro 9:21
18:7 Jer 1:10
18:8 Jer 26:3,
Jer 26:13,
Jer 36:3; Jl 2:13;
Jon 3:10
18:9 Jer 1:10,
Jer 31:28
18:10 1Sa 2:30,
1Sa 13:13;
Eze 33:18
18:11 2Ki 17:13;
Jer 7:3, Jer 25:5
18:12 Dt 29:19;
Is 57:10;
Jer 2:25, Jer 3:17,
Jer 16:12
18:13 Jer 2:10,
Jer 2:11, Jer 5:30;
Hos 6:10
18:15 Is 57:14;
Jer 2:32, Jer 6:16,
Jer 10:15

18:21 Ps 109:9;

Jer 11:22

18:22 Ps 140:5;

Jer 6:26

18:23 Neh 4:5

19:1 Jer 18:2;

Jer 19:10; Eze 5:1

19:2 Josh 15:8;

2Ki 23:10;

2Ch 28:3;

Jer 7:32

19:3 1Sa 3:11;

2Ki 21:12

19:5 Lv 18:21;

Nm 22:41;

Dt 12:31;

2Ki 3:27;

Jer 7:31;

Jer 32:35

19:9 Lv 26:29;

Dt 28:53;

Lm 4:10;

Eze 5:10

19:11 Ps 2:9;

Is 30:14; Jer 7:32;

Lam 4:2

20:2 Jer 37:13;

Jer 37:15;

Jer 38:6; Jer 38:7;

Zec 14:10

21 Enough! Let their children starve; let them die by the sword.
Let their wives be barren widows;
let their men be slaughtered and their youth struck down in battle.

22 Let screams be heard from their homes when you suddenly bring armies against them.
They have dug a pit to capture me, set traps for my feet.

23 But you, LORD, you know all their sinister plots to kill me.
Don't overlook their wrongdoing;
don't cleanse their sin from before you.
May they stumble before you;
when you become angry, do something about them.

Broken beyond repair

